Two Speakers For Ministers

Walter W. Van Kirk and Homer Carpenter Head Program for Feb. 11-15

Walter W. Van Kirk, executive secretary of the department of international justice and good-will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and the Rev. Homer Carpenter, minister of the First Christian Church of Louisville, Ky., will be the guest lecturers for the annual Minister's Week to be held at Brite College of the Bible, Feb. 11 to 15, inclusive.

Van Kirk will speak at three of the four general evening services to be held at the University Christian Church, Carpenter at the fourth service.

Faculty for the week will be made up of these two, brought to the campus by the Wells and McFadin lectureships, Dr. Cecil Cheverton of the Brite College faculty and the Rev. Roy C. Snodgrass, minister of the First Christian Church, Amarillo.

Called off last year at the request of the ODT, because of difficult travel conditions, this year's meeting will present virtually the same program as planned for 1945.

TCU Cafeteria Chosen For DDT Experiments

The T. C. U. Cafeteria has been chosen by the City Health Department as one of the places in which to carry on experimental work in the use of DDT for controlling flies and roaches in small areas.

W. R. Hardy and P. E. Griffith sprayed for flies during the Christmas holidays and the flies are practically under control. Experimentation on roaches is still underway. The first spraying was done on Jan. 21 by Mr. Hardy and Doyle Davis.

Prof. C. R. Sherer Cabled To Return to T. C. U.

Prof. C. R. Sherer, head of the Mathematics department, now teaching at the G. I. University, Biarritz, France, has been cabled to return to T. C. U., according to President M. E. Sadler.

Prof. Sherer's return was requested because of the increasing number of students. He is expected back soon after March 1.

Scientific Murder In Dracula's Den Is Biologists' Lot

There's one place on the campus where you can get away with murder!

That's not figuratively speaking, either.

Any student looking for said mayhem department can find it in the basement of Clark Hall — a harmless biology laboratory—well, harmless as far as human beings are concerned, anyway.

But, where animals are involved, that's an amoeba of a different color. Any day in the lab one can find students chasing innocent paramecia across microscope slides or following the digestive tract of an earthworm.

Those are all in a day's work, though, according to Lanelle Butterfield, who is a medical technology major. "After, all, what's one ex-fishing worm compared to the cause of science?" she asks. (Incidentally, she fishes with minnows, so she wouldn't know.)

Edward McCarty knows the Dracula tendencies of the lab firsthand, too. He still remembers the class that included dissecting a frozen cat as part of the curriculum.

But why be too hard on the poor biology majors? They aid the cause of animal protection, too. One year they even rescued a horned frog (the animal variety) from freezing to death by putting him in a special cage in the lab.

"We grow fruit flies, too," adds Lanelle.

There's just one thing in the lab that needs explaining, however. With all the cutting up and experimenting going on, just what is the origin of those skulls and that skeleton on exhibit? After all, a guy can't be too careful these days.

Annual $200 Scholarship Given for Worthy Student

The annual $200 scholarship gift for some worthy T. C. U. student was presented to President M. E. Sadler by the Business and Professional Class of the First Christian Church at a banquet Wednesday evening.

The student will be chosen by the scholarship committee of the University.

President Sadler was guest speaker at the banquet.

Ranch Week "Prevue" To Be Aired Over KFJZ

Dave Randall Will Emcee Program at 9:15 Tuesday

A "prevue" radio broadcast of Ranch Week is the latest event to be scheduled for the annual cowpunchin' session, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The program is scheduled for 9:15 p. m. Tuesday over KFJZ and will be emceed by Dave Randall, who, with Roy Jo Cates, is co-director of the broadcast. The T. C. U. Quartet —Carter Johnson, Lem Taylor, Perk Cahoon and Dude Neel—will sing; Ranch Week's king and queen—Bill Craft and Jerita Foley—will be interviewed; and the three-day social calendar will be revived, along with some "extra" features, says Dave.

The social calendar has nine events scheduled at present, beginning with a chuckwagon breakfast at 7:30 a. m. Thursday south of the Library. It's for free, and Pat Perkins is "wagon boss" for the starter activity.

Thursday
7:30 a.m.—Chuckwagon Breakfast, south of Library
1 p.m.—Parade, forms at T. P. Reservation
7 p.m.—Cowtown Cabaret, Pioneer Palace
Friday
3 p.m.—Rodeo, Western Arena, Pecan St.
6 p.m.—Barbeque
8 p.m.—Barn Dance
Saturday
1 p.m.—Judge Roy Bean Trial, Auditorium
2 p.m.—Contests, south of Gymnasium
8 p.m.—Dance, Pioneer Palace

The parade will form at 1 p. m. Thursday at the T. P. Reservation, back of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on South Main St., says Boss Lady Ann Barham. "It will be strictly western," she says. "No horseless carriages will be allowed."

The annual "Cowtown Cabaret" will be held this year at the Pioneer Palace. It will get under way at 7 p. m., and the admission price is 50 cents a person, which includes the charge for the rootbeer and pretzels which will be served during the olio acts and the melodrama, "The Drunkard."

A rodeo will feature Friday's events. It will be at 3 p. m. at the Western Arena on Pecan St., and admission will be 25 cents. Following the rodeo is the barbecue at

Bruce Fallis Is Chess Club Head

Bruce Fallis was elected president of the Campus Chess Club and Jimmy Lyon, secretary-treasurer, last week.

A constitution was drawn up and accepted after the election of officers.

Membership dues were set at $1. Money collected for dues will be used for the purchase of chess sets.

"Experienced chess players are wanted by the club as well as those who wish to learn," President Fallis says. "We are drawing up a tournament, the winners of which will represent T. C. U. as a chess team."

The club will meet at 1 p. m. today in the physics lab.

TCU Graduates Receive Recognition for Poetry

Three T. C. U. graduates have received recognition recently for their poetry.

Everett Gillis, A. B. '36, has been awarded first place in the Alamo Prize Contest, sponsored by the Poetry Society of Texas, for three sonnets, "Growth of Violin." He received second place in the Texas Prize Contest for a ballad based on Texas.

Lt. A. L. Crouch, B. S. in Commerce '36, now stationed in Shanghai, had the entire back page of the China edition of a recent issue of Stars and Stripes for his ballad, "The Shooting of Nine Months' Pay."

Miss Siddie Joe Johnson, A. B. '32, has received the Kaleidograph Press award for her new volume of poems, "Gallant the Hour."

Granville Walker to Give Baccalaureate Sermon

The Rev. Granville Walker will give the baccalaureate sermon for the February graduating class. The services will be held 11 a.m., Sunday, Feb. 24, in the University Christian Church.

Commencement exercises will be held at 3 p. m. Feb. 24 in the Auditorium. The speaker has not yet been decided upon.

Mrs. P'Pool Resigns As Assistant Registrar

Mrs. Sterling P'Pool has resigned her position as assistant registrar, effective the first of this week, according to Registrar S. W. Hutton. Mrs. P'Pool is now secretary to Dr. Warren Johnston at the First Methodist Church.

She was presented with a desk lamp last Friday by the staff of the registrar's office.

Mrs. L. W. Ramsey has been promoted to office manager.

Mrs. Margaret Pearce, whose husband is a veteran and ministerial student on the campus, has been added to the office staff.

Orchestra Will Offer Mixed Program Feb. 17

Two American, one South American and three modern numbers will make up the program for the next concert of the Symphony Orchestra, scheduled for 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 17, according to Dean T. Smith McCorkle.

Soloist will be Miss Frances Hall, senior voice student, who will sing an aria from Verdi's "La Traviata."

arc Antony (Fine Arts Ball) Still Has 'It'!

masquerade may be over, t will be remembered for a time!

record turn-out for the Fine Costume Ball Wednesday resulted in antics high, wide handsome, by students and ty members, in the gaily dec- l Gymnasium.

Everyone who was anyone attended—everyone from Little Bo Peep to Marc Antony. Dorian Gray (nee Clinton Henderson) attended with his music hall singer (Doris Mahon, A. B. '45); Moit and Boit (Sammye Ziegler and Pucker Barse) dropped in from the Bowery to look the "jernt" over; and a poor butterfly, in the person of Don Stalling, fluttered about in vain, searching for a place to land.

Most companionable couple of the evening was Jack and Jill, complete with bandaged head and "pail of water," portrayed by L. W. Bridges and Betty Easley.

A near riot greeted Prof. Arthru Faguy-Cote, who ventured forth as Mephistopheles, and Mrs. Faguy-Cote, who presented an uninhibited version of "Cheese Dream," by Dali.

Prizes for best costumes were won by Miss Mahon and E. W. Harrison, art major, who came as Marc Antony—armor, toga, shin-guards and all!

Student Government Reconverts . . .

There's a rumor afoot that the war's over. That means that T. C. U. is going back to its pre-Pearl Harbor curriculum of summer vacations and band trips and even Easter holidays, come next year.

There's another reconversion problem that faces the students, however, other than the one of adjusting to chocolate candy and cokes at the Bookstore again.

That problem is a reconversion of student government back to the semester plan.

During the war, the student body constitution has been a provisional one that worked—the word is used laughingly—on a trimester basis, with student officers changing more often than the guards at Buckingham Palace.

Now that reconversion has set in, a new constitution will have to be adopted to fit a new situation. The Student Council is at work on just such a document.

But a new constitution, to be of real value to students as a whole, must also be read, studied and criticized intelligently by those students. It can't be given out a week before the voting, and be accepted or rejected with any degree of understanding by even the most "straight-A" individual.

The proposed constitution should be printed and be made easily available to everyone. Suggestions by any student as to possible changes should be given attention. Some of the proposals may help the fathers of the document to write a constitution that will really "hit the spot" instead of one that will have to be amended as soon as the ink is dry.

Punch My Card!

So you could vote, I waded through hip-deep mud on Okinawa and built air strips in spite of snipers' bullets. I ate spam in Siam until my ulcers had ulcers. I rode ships through mine fields and Kamikaze attacks. I dodged flak and fighters over Berlin and Tokyo. I made more beach-head landings than that well-known man has well-known pills. I chipped icicles off my nose in Alaska. I lost an arm, eye, leg or life. I sweat out that beautiful line for that beautiful button. I entered college under the G. I. Bill to get an education—and, brother, I'm getting it!

I find that all the freedoms I fought for, the right to vote among them, are gaily ignored by college students.

Student body officers are to be elected soon, and all indications are that less than a third of my fellow knowledge seekers will vote!

I'm a sad sack!

Won't someone punch my card?

"You know, Ranch Week may be the solution," Miss Marguerite Potter, instructor in history, has decided. Miss Potter has always, she firmly avows, cherished the fond hope of owning two pistols. "Ranch Week could be the excuse. Wouldn't that be handy?" she dreams. "You could just carry them to class, rest them on the edge of your desk, tell the class 'Let's get down to business!'"

Prof. Ralph Garrett may have a sure-fire method of curing students who are habitually absent on the day their oral reports are due. He suggests that they all be made to pay a fine, and then the money be used to finance a party. The only hitch is that everyone likes the idea, and every student may take off when his report comes up, just to make certain they get a party. But don't tell Prof. Garrett, he hasn't thought of that!

It is not how people pronounce—or mispronounce—his name that worries Dr. Walter Volbach. What really troubles him are all those white and red class cards. Informed the other day that he should keep all these cards, Dr. Volbach wailed, "I didn't know they were important. I threw them all away!"

Track Sessions Start Monday

Track Coach Poss Clark starts his thinly clads around that old familiar trail—from the Library, around the golf course and back to the Library—Monday afternoon, in the opening workout for the 1946 season and possibly Laredo's Border Olympics March 8 and 9 if the boys are in shape.

Some 16 lads are expected to be on hand for Clark's initial session on the cinder path. Last week there were 15, the new addition being Tommy Hudgins, who will hurl the discus. Clark looks for another good boy or two from the March 1 registration.

Other meets on the menu at present include the Fat Stock Show competition March 15 and 16 at Farrington Field and the Texas Relays in Austin, April 6. Dual meets with S. M. U., Baylor and Denton are in the planning stage. The Conference meet is slated for May 8, 9 and 10 at Texas A. & M.

Saving Lives Is "Just a Hobby"—

Bill Smith Keeps 13 People From Davy Jones' Locker

Bill Smith, a government major from Cleburne, has saved the life of thirteen people in the past five years. Saving people from drowning and being a swimming instructor is, as Bill puts it, "just a hobby."

Two of his rescues were made down on the gulf coast at dusk when the tides were coming in. Although both persons were saved in a space of 30 minutes Bill regards it as his toughest rescue. "At this time of day," he says, "the high waves are sucking you in and out, and sometimes it's hard to tell if you are going backward or forward."

Bill has been swimming for 10 years. He was head life guard in Cleburne for three years. He has attended two acquatic schools, and, as a water safety instructor, he holds the highest certificate awarded to life guards. Last year, Bill coached the Paschal High swimming team and won fou in the state finals.

Frog Flashes

General verdict seems to be that reserved seats for the basketball games worked out o. k. Students got a center section for themselves, reserved from outsiders. Downtown fans were able to buy a ticket in advance, from a downtown office, if they really wanted to make sure of a good seat.

Only complaint came from a few late-comers who bought general admission tickets. There isn't much space for these g. a. fans, and what space there is, isn't too well located. But (so far at least) they can always spend another 70 cents and get a reserved seat!

Coach Dutch Meyer is getting anxious for March 4 to roll around, so he can start those spring practice sessions. There's a lot of grid talent enrolling for the spring trimester, and the Dutchman wants to see it in action. With that flying trip to Miami on the schedule for next fall, some of these high school stars may decide to come to T. C. U. and get a buggy ride.

Spud Cason, Ed Rivercomb, Jack Smith and Web Walker head Coach Tom Prouse's roster as the 1946 wood and iron wielders most likely to represent the Frogs in conference competition in golf. Prouse hopes to get two additional low scorers when the spring trimester opens. Southwest Conference Golf Meet is scheduled for May 8, 9 and 10, with Texas A. & M. as the host at College Station.

The boys are tossing baseballs indoors now. Come decent spring weather, and there'll be an eruption of bats, gloves and balls around the campus. Feeling around the campus is that Coach Roach will have a pretty fair bunch of candidates for the 1946 varsity.

It may not be basketball, but it is action, with a capital "A"—an intramural cage contest. The object of the game—or at least of some of the games—seems to be: "If you can't chalk up a bucket, chalk up an opposition player!"

* * *

It will be just too bad if Mutt Pasco's injuries should keep him out of competition now, just as the Frogs are scheduled to go up against the Baylor Bears and the Arkansas Razorbacks, strongest fives in the loop. Sure, Coach Hub's other players would carry on, and how! But it would be a tough job to find someone who could regularly turn in 14 points a contest, as Mutt has been doing.

Last-Minute Bucket By Cox Sinks Frogs

Lucky Steers Lead as Gun Gives Them 48-46 Victory

Something ought to be done about a Longhorn basketball player by the name of Roy Cox! He's only 5 feet, 8 inches tall, and he weighs not more than 150 pounds, but he has broken T. C. U.'s back twice now.

Cox it was who Saturday night, with the score 46-all, entered the Frog-Steer game with a little more than a minute of play left. As soon as he got the ball, Cox took dead aim and fired. The ball went through the hoop, for the only basket he made that night—and for the two points that spelled defeated for the Frogs!

A week earlier, in Austin, this Cox boy poured nine buckets and one free throw through the basket, to make certain the Longhorns would take that one.

The Frogs jumped right into the lead in Saturday night's affair here, and picked up a 9-point advantage at about the 10-minute mark. Howard Overbeck swished the net four times out of four in those early minutes, and Purple fans settled back comfortably and observed to themselves, "This is gonna be a cinch!"

Steers Overtake Frogs

Maybe somebody whispered that to the T. C. U. players! Anyway, the visitors began to catch up, and for a fleeting five seconds were one point ahead, about four minutes before the rest period. The Frogs, however, left the floor with the long end of a 32-to-30 count.

The Steers turned on the pressure, but the Purple five kept ahead. About midway in the final period, the Frogs began to weaken, and the visitors tied the count at 36-all.

Texas managed to get a little lead then, at one time building their margin up to six points. T. C. U. whittled that down and tied things up again. So it went, with the score matched four times in that final 10 minutes.

Cox Does It!

As noted, the count was 46 to 46, about 70 seconds to play—then this Mr. Cox entered the plot. That did it! The final count was Texas 48, T. C. U. 46.

Overbeck took high-scoring honors for the contest, with 15 points. Leroy Pasco got 13.

Three Texas players scored 10—Al Madsen, Vilbry White and Ron Pearson.

In the final analysis, the battle was decided from the free-throw line. The Frogs made 14 out of 26. The Steers converted 16 of 25 attempts. There are the two points difference. Both teams scored 16 field goals.

Conlin 5 Earns Play-Off Berth

With only one more week of play left in the intramural basketball tournament, Adrian Conlin's five has cinched itself a berth in the Intramural Open House finals to be held in March. Conlin's team has four victories and no defeats, with only one more game to play.

Wednesday, Conlin's strong quintet trounced Dearl Richardson's entry 51 to 9. Bob Jones, who was hitting the basket from every angle, scored 27 points for the victors.

In the second game, James Porter's five won a close game from Fred Pool's team by a count of 32 to 27. H. C. Carl, one of the top players in the tournament, made 13 points for the winners.

One of the best games of the season will be played next week, between Merle Gibson's and Conlin's entries. Although Gibson's five is charged with one game lost, it was because of a default. Both teams have plenty of skill on the hardwood and they know how to hit the basket.

Jimmy Paschal, ex '45, seaman 2/c, has completed boot leave in San Diego and spent part of his leave with friends on the campus.

Baseball Schedule Released

A tenative conference baseball schedule has been released by Coach Walter Roach, with official workouts to begin March 1.

The Purple nine will open its conference play against Texas A. & M. at College Station April 4 and 5. It meets Rice in Houston April 6, and makes its initial home appearance April 12 against Baylor.

Roach is seeking several practice games to prime the Frogs during the March workouts.

The schedule becomes official today, unless changes were requested before midnight last night by other members of the league. Arkansas does not enter conference baseball competition.

The Frog baseball schedule:

April 4—Texas A. & M., College Station
April 5—Texas A. & M., College Station
April 6—Rice, Houston

Baylor Bears Are Growling

Coach McQuillan Admits Saturday Game Tough But Frogs Shoot for Kill

Baylor tomorrow night—and are those Bears dangerous!

Leroy Pasco, who injured his back in the Texas fray Saturday, and again in practice Monday, isn't likely to be in top form. Jackie Robinson, Baylor's freshman flash from Paschal High, is definitely in top form!

T. C. U.—barring a miracle—is out of the flag chase in the Southwest Conference. The Frogs have won four and lost three, leaving five to play.

Of these five, two are with Arkansas, in Fayetteville; two with Baylor, home and home; one with S. M. U. here.

The Frogs will have to play

Pistol Packin' Campus Ready for Ranch Week

"Oh, give me a home where the wolves always roam, where the telephone rings off the wall—."

Yep, pardner, that's the T. C. U. version of "Home on the Range" as Ranch Week gets ready to take over the campus and the Law West of the Pecos comes north for its annual visit.

LIBBY DUNCAN has a tradition to back up her ranch regalia. Her grandmammy smoked a corn cob pipe. "We've still got it, too," Libby says, "but I'm going to get a new one for Ranch Week. Have to keep in style, you know."

An added attraction to the Cowtown Cabaret will be MARTHA HAWKINS, who will go "south of the border" as she sings an aria from "Carmen." Her only costume worry is, "Do you think I should carry a rose in my teeth or just sing, period?"

The three Frog cheerleaders, THERYLENE KNOX, NEL EPPERSON and BENA SELLARS, wil be teamed up again during Ranch Week, but this time they'll be in the chorus line of the can-can. JACKIE CLARDY is directing the dance.

LARRY FARMER, jitterbug king of the campus, will be dancing on horseback next week as a "hoofer" in the rodeo quadrille.

A man who takes his showmanship seriously, LA VERNE KEY, spends all his spare time practicing a deathlike, dead-pan expression for his role as undertaker in the Jedge Roy Bean Trial.

MORTON WALKER will supply his own beard when he plays the villain in "The Drunkard," but his handlebar moustache will have to be a genuine imitation.

There's one girl who should feel quite at home during Ranch Week. DEE WALKER and her twin brother, WESLEY, used to ride in al the rodeos in Ranger, their home town.

Turning out in an Indian costume next week will be EVELYN WATSON. The beaded headband, robe and moccasins were all made by Evelyn during her Camp Fire Girl days.

JACKIE TODD intends to take pictures of the Ranch Week doin's to send to friends in the North to prove that Texas is still the wild and wooly place they think it is.

BETTY WILKES and BEN MATHESON will wear identical green and gold gabardine shirts and will ride black and white paint horses in the Ranch Week parade.

Size is a large problem in the matter of Ranch Week regalia, for KAY NOBLES at any rate. Kay's boots—"They're really my father's"—will be size 11, five sizes too big. "If I die with my boots on, it'll be some accomplishment," she admits.

Everyone has his own source for his Ranch Week outfit, but MARIE CONNER's donator is a little unusual. She's getting her duds from her preacher. No, she's not coming dressed in black with the "Good Book" tucked under one arm. Her preacher, it seems, is a western fan and really has some dude-clothes.

GENE HOARD and JO DILLIHEY have eliminated their No. 1 worry about Ranch Week. They both bought a pair of cowboy boots this week. No. 2 worry for the cowgirls is getting the right paraphernalia to go with the boots. No. 3 worry is how to explain to dad that the bill for boots and accessories is a prerequisite for a college education.

Students from ranches aren't anything new to Frogland, but ELAINE GALLOWAY gives a new answer to what to wear for Ranch Week. "I'll probably stick to saddle oxfords," she says, "because I got enough of boots during the summer while I was going to all the rodeos!"

And don't think that those S. M. U. Ponies won't be all fired up and playing over their heads when they come here Feb. 13!

Coach McQuillan has worked his boys hard on all angles this week. Nobody likes to win 'em better than that Hub—and nobody hates more to lose 'em!

But Hub frankly admits, "Bear hunting looks like a dangerous sport this season. But we're going to take dead aim and shoot for a kill!"
