JUNIORS AND SENIORS ENTER-TAINED.

President and Mrs. Zollars Give Annual Reception.

On Tuesday evening President and Mrs. Zollars gave a reception to the Senior and Junior classes, post-graduates and the Seniors of special departments. It is customary with the President to give a reception at the close of each scholastic year and this is the eighteenth consecutive time that President and Mrs. Zollars have received the Seniors and Juniors of educational institutions over which Mr. Zollars has presided. It is traditional, in college life, that Seniors and Juniors are enemies all through their college courses and this is for the purpose of nullifying this traditional enmity that the two classes are brought together under such pleasant auspices at the close of each year.

At 8 p. m. the "grand old Seniors," wrapt in their robes and dignity, left the Girls' Home and marched to the home of the President. At 8:30 p. m. the Juniors wrapt in envy and silence, arrived. The Juniors were met at the door by President and Mrs. Zollars and they then passed into the reception hall, where the Seniors were standing in the form of a circle, and the traditional antagonism was tacitly dissolved in handshaking. The demeanor of the Seniors was expressive of the Juniors, repressive.

After enjoying the delightful refreshments, the evening was passed in promenading on the electric-lighted gallery and in listening to music and readings. President Zollars made a very appropriate talk to the two classes, in which he expressed his pleasure at their presence and his hopes for their future. It was nearly 12 o'clock when good-byes were said and as the upperclassmen went away it was with feelings of closer fellowship, of nobler ambitions and of a greater love for their Alma Mater.

STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION IN SESSION.

Holds Interesting Convention—Reports Show Growth.

The fourth annual meeting of the Texas State Library Association was held at the Carnegie Library in Waco on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Considerable business relative to library management in the school and public libraries of the state was considered and transacted, and foundations and plans were laid for an increased work in the future.

Before the formal opening of the convention the visitors were escorted by Mrs. House of the Carnegie Library in the city to the local libraries. The party spent an hour at Texas Christian University. They were received and entertained by Mrs. Gibbons, assisted by the President, faculty, library committee and Misses Ratten, Wolford, Brown, Wood, Andrews and Kinnard. An inspection of the library was made and many comments were heard in praise of the excellent services of Mrs. Gibbons in so completely introducing the Dewey system of classification and cataloguing. A marked progress was vividly noted during the short period in which Mrs. Gibbons has had charge of the T. C. U. library. The party visiting T. C. U. was composed of Mrs. Christian, Houston, Misses Edwards, San Antonio, Hallie Walker, Waco, Mary A. Osgood, Tyler; Odo Surratt, Baylor; Mrs. Price, Mrs. W. B. Davis, Waco; Hon. A. P. Wooldridge, Austin, and Hon. W. J. Clay, of Austin.

Interesting and beneficial meetings were held which laid the basis of a great improvement in the library system of the state and a fellowship received that means combined forces in their future progress.

The following officers were elected the last meeting Tuesday: Mrs. Chas. Scheuber, Fort Worth, President; Mrs. J. C. Ferrell, Fort Worth, and Mrs. William Christian of Houston, vice-presidents; P. L. Windsor, of Austin, secretary; and J. C. Read, of El Paso, treasurer.

The catalogue committee has been hard at work instituting many changes in the T. C. U. catalogue. The curriculum has been somewhat strengthened and an entire revision of the catalogue was necessary.

ATHLETIC MEETING MONDAY.

Association Officers and Football Manager Elected.

A meeting of the Texas Christian University Athletic Association was held Monday at a call of the president. The most important business transacted was the annual election of officers of the association and the choosing of the football manager for the season of '06. For this position Gordon B. Hall was elected, and Bonner Frizzell was re-elected president of the association with Noah C. Perkins as secretary.

Football prospects were briefly discussed and from the comments made and indications at hand a stronger team than has ever graced T. C. U.'s gridiron will be defending the purple and white next fall. The additional strength is counted for by the return of six or more of the team of '05, two of the team of '04 and some possible new material. Negotiations are now under way to secure the services of Coach Hyde again. In all probabilities he will be signed up and this speaks victory for 'Varsity '06.

'Varsity Goes to A. and M. Monday.

'Varsity leaves Monday morning for College Station, where the hardest fight of the season on the diamond will be waged with the team of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The usual line-up will go on the trip, with the possible exception of Shirley, who is now confined to his room. Tyson will fill the initial sack in case of his inability to go. Burnett and Moulden will be the battery for the game Monday and on Tuesday Moulden and Gallaher will make up the battery for Tuesday. Bush, Kinnard, Clark, Shirley or Tyson, will compose the infield line-up. Carnes, Procter and Gallaher or Burnett will cover the outfield.

Manager Shirley will accompany the team and conduct the trip. J. B. Frizzell will go as a substitute.

Commencement Program.

So far as can be ascertained at present the following is the program for commencement week:

The Press Association annual banquet, Thursday evening, May 24th; Graduating exercises of School of Oratory, May 25; Annual Commencement Concert by the University Glee Club, May 26; Baccalaureate Sermon by President E. V. Zollars, Sunday, May 27; Granville Jones Oratorical Contest, May 28; Graduating exercises of College of Music, May 29; Art Reception, Wednesday, May 30, 10 a. m. to 12 p. m.; Alumni Reunion, Wednesday May 30, 2 to 4 p. m.; Annual Joint Open Session of the Add-Ran, Shirley and Walton Literary Societies, Wednesday evening, May 30; Commencement exercises, Thursday, 10 a. m., May 31.

Examinations will be given May 25, 26, 29. A full report of the week's exercises will be made later.

James B. Baker, of Haskell, was a visitor of friends at the University on Monday. Mr. Baker is a former student and spoke in glowing terms of the vast improvements noticeable in T. C. U.

The monthly soiree was as usual, immensely enjoyed by the student body on Saturday evening.

The club has been preparing to render a creditable entertainment to the public and a treat is insured to all of its hearers. Prof. Hamner has shown a superb ability as a director and through his work the Club has reached a high plane in glee singing.

Harvard Will Resume Football Game.

Authority to resume the game of football at Harvard, which was ordered to be discontinued on account of the brutality of the contest, was given this week by a vote of the board of overseers of Harvard College, though the decision to permit the game was by no means unanimous. Nine members of the board, including President Eliot, registered themselves as opposed to the continuance of football. The overseers in favor numbered fifteen.

Bring all the big, husky fellows back with you this fall. The gridiron needs them.

Impromptu Oratorical Contest.

An impromptu oratorical contest will be given in chapel Monday evening, May 14th, under the auspices of Shirley Literary Society.

Nothing of the kind has ever been held at T. C. U. and this contest promises to be undoubtedly interesting. Eight speakers will participate in the contest. The speakers will not be told the subject of their speeches until they appear before the audience and then they are supposed to speak ten minutes. A prize will be given the winner. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

Baylor Calls Off Baseball Games.

The baseball games scheduled to be pulled off Monday and Tuesday between the teams of Baylor and T. C. U. were cancelled by Baylor, who for certain reasons satisfactory to themselves declined to play the matches. With the failure to play these games the season is closed so far as games in Waco are concerned. 'Varsity has games scheduled with A. and M. Monday and Tuesday at College Station and with Trinity University on Monday and Tuesday week at Waxahachie.

Pointers for College Men on Securing
A Position.

By H. J. Hapgood, President of Hapgoods.

In these days of prosperity when every business of any size can always use additional men of brains and energy it is not difficult for the young college man to secure work. But to secure right work—that for which he is best fitted and which will give him the most favorable opportunity for advancement—is a different matter. A large percentage of the failures of college graduates to make good is due to not finding the right opportunities.

Before accepting a position, the young graduate should look the field over carefully, make sure in just what direction his talents lie and seek the advice of experienced friends. It is a serious matter to miss getting the right work at the start and be forced to make several changes during the first few years out of college.

All business positions divide themselves roughly into two classes, outside and inside, and you must first choose between these two. Many men are prejudiced against outside work, feeling that it is below their dignity and savors too much of the book agent. This is a great mistake, for there is no position offering better opportunity to acquire broad experience and earn a large income than that of salesman. To succeed at it, however, a man has to have a magnetic personality, quick wits and unbounded grit and energy. Unless you possess these qualities or can develop them, you had better take one of the less attractive places in inside work.

Having decided what line of work to take up, you must seek out an opportunity and having found that you must convince the employer that you are the right man for it.

Personal solicitation is one way of finding the place you want, but unless you have letters of introduction or know that a vacancy actually exists, it is usually a poor one. Your request savors too much of those which large firms are constantly receiving from the "ne'er do well" and "always out of a job" classes.

A man seeking a position should not fail to use his friends and business connection, but he should not try to get a place through pull alone, as positions secured for any reason except merit rarely lead to success. If you acquaint your friends fully with what you want, they can help you by keeping an eye out for chances.

Still another method of finding an opportunity is through one of the organizations of employment experts.

These are really clearing houses of ability, where employer and employee are brought together, and many college men find them a quick, cheap and sure means of securing a high grade position.

A written application is usually the next step on the road to a good position and many college men make it difficult through their inability to put their records clearly and forcibly on paper. A Pittsburg employer says that not one college man in a hundred knows how to write a proper letter. "If they could state their experience and ability clearly on paper," he says, "it would insure them prompt consideration and often save them expense of a personal interview before being engaged." Whether you use the machine yourself or not, your application should always be typewritten, with perhaps a postscript added in pen and ink to show your penmanship.

To put your case clearly and concisely is not the easiest thing in the world, and you may have to reiterate your application several times before it is in the best possible form. It should be in the form of an abstract of your qualifications and should be brief.

Testimonials and references are valuable only to back up your personality and statements. They should be typewritten, but not printed, as when printed they indicate that you are perpetually in the market for a position. Former employers are the strongest references you can give; teachers are the next best; friends, relatives and acquaintances carry the least weight. If you are wise you will give long, careful thought to preparation for the interview. Learn all you can about the employer's business so that you can answer his questions intelligently, and about his personality so that you can adapt yourself to his whims.

Last, but not least, attend carefully to your personal appearance. A smoothly-shaven face, clean nails, neat neckwear, fresh linen, well polished shoes—these are essential and are better than expensive clothing, lacking them. If you cannot go to an employer without the fumes of tobacco or liquor on your breath, you had better not go at all, for ninety-nine times out of a hundred they will prove fatal to your chances. With neatness in your dress, a cheerful face, and nothing about you to suggest the down-and-out man, you have the way well paved for a fair consideration of your merits.

Once inside the employer's office, you face the most difficult part of your task, and the part on which it is hardest to give advice. To win out, you will have to keep cool, think quickly and bring your best judgment into action. Above all, talk on the subject; don't talk too much and don't introduce unnecessary personalities. The employer is considering you, and will not care to talk of foreign matters. What you are expected to give is a frank, concise, conservative statement of your experience, education and ability.

Whatever the result of your quest of a right opportunity, do not get discouraged or lose for a minute confidence in your ability. No man with a down-and-out feeling in his heart has ever yet won success, or ever will. In spite of rebuffs and repeated failures, in spite of everything adverse, keep your enthusiasm up, and remember that every man has been confronted by similar troubles at the beginning of his career.

COLLEGE CULLINGS.

The Sophomores of Barnard College (Columbia co-eds) have laid down rules of conduct for the freshmen. Among them are these:

1. No Freshman shall wear French heels on the campus.
2. Freshmen shall not chew gum in the lecture rooms. Furthermore, it is forbidden to stick gum on the college furniture.
3. Freshmen must not appear on the college grounds in the company of young men.

Columbia is to have an athletic field that will be the largest and the most magnificent in the world. It is to be built right at the gates of the university and is to entail an expenditure of $1,000,000 or more to erect. The ground on which it is to be built does not exist, but is to be reclaimed from the Hudson river. A retaining wall is to be built at the extreme limit permitted by the United States government, and the enclosure thus created will be filled. On this will be erected three athletic fields, one for the use of the Columbia University, and two on either side of this, north and south, for the use of school boys in the Public Schools Athletic League and for a public playground. On the roof of the stands to surround Columbia's field will be erected recreation piers for the public.

Robert Francis Harper, brother of the late President William R. Harper, of the University of Chicago, has been appointed by the trustees of the university as acting head of the department of Semitic languages and literature, left vacant by the death of President Harper.

One-third of the 900 midshipmen at the Naval Academy have been guilty of hazing, was the report made to the House Committee on Naval Affairs by the sub-committee which went to Annapolis to investigate. In addition to the physical hazing the midshipmen have a system of fagging borrowed from the English colleges, under which the underclassmen are made to do menial services for the upperclassmen. Fagging is the worst form of hazing, according to the report, because of its tendency to degrade the younger cadets, causing them to lose their self-respect. Hazing is divided into physical hazing, fagging, running and rates. The present law, which prescribes dismissal as the only punishment for hazing, is a hindrance to breaking up the practice because of its severity. The committee recommends that hazing be punished with dismissal in cases of exceptional brutality, but that ordinary cases be punished by demerits, the curtailment of liberty and other privileges.

THE RIGHT CARD.

Nor faint, nor fall, but hastening on,
Should be our daily aim;
That we might turn the card that wins,
That wins the final game,
That trumps the card of strife,
And wins the game of life.

With courage strong, and purpose bold,
Deal out to each, his hand;
Deal out the card of truthfulness,
And see where you will stand,
With those who have a flush,
And try, the truth to crush.

With zeal, keep looking through your hand,
Choose well, the card you play;
Don't play your ten spot on a trump,
But trump without delay,
If trumping wins the game,
And winning brings you fame.

Don't play the card of self conceit,
For egotism falls;
But play the card of equity,
For which your honor calls,
And press your every claim,
If you would win the game.

HIGH GRADE CLOTHING

The kind of suits you'd feel comfortable in—feel you were making a good appearance so far as clothes go— then there's that satisfaction in knowing the price paid was less than you could buy so good a suit elsewhere.

$16.50 AND $18.50

DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS
SINGLE BREASTED SACK SUITS

Suits that ordinarily sell at $18.50 and $20.00. They're suits built to sell at those prices—material, fit and workmanship all tend to prove them $18.50 and $20.00 suits.

According to custom the literary societies will award diplomas from the respective society to each graduate of the College of Liberal Arts. These diplomas have been granted to four graduates from the Add-Ran Society and the matter will be brought up before the other societies Monday. The medals given to the best society worker in each lit, will also be awarded during the next two weeks.

At recent elections in the literary societies, the following officers have

College Training.

Five sons had Mr. Wilberforce, And, being keen on knowledge, He took it as a thing of course To send them all to college.

(Poor man, who'd no one to proclaim His quite misinformation! He thought mere wisdom was the aim Of higher education.)

John Jasper was the oldest son— He made the school eleven— Now (thanks to duty nobly done) John Jasper is in heaven.

The Sophomores caught William Fritz, Old Wilberforce's next 'un. They kicked him playfully to bits, And passed him to the sexton.

George James was bound upon the track (Sing college frats so merry-) And what they found of him, alack! Was scarce enough to bury.

Sam Jack excelled at Fisticuff (One higher branch they taught 'em)—

What though the sport were somewhat rough Jack passed a fine post-mortem.

The fifth son, Tom, still lives—of course He didn't go to college— (By this time Mr. Wilberforce Had got enough of knowledge.)

And Tom, unlearned, stints hard and says

The money that he's earning, To place this tablet o'er four graves; "They Died of Too Much Learning." Richmond Times-Dispatch.

It was on a crowded street car. The conductor gave two jerks on the bell- rope. As he did so, voice from the rear of the car yelled, "Wait till I get me clothes on." The men on the plat- form turned as one man and looked. The women turned as one woman and looked—the other way. But there was no cause for a shock. The washer- woman's little boy was endeavoring to get his basket on the back platform. —Ex.

A Woman's Soliloquy.

(Apologies to Hamlet.)

To teach or not to teach,
That is the question,
Whether 'tis easier in the school to suffer

The sauce and spit balls of unruly pupils,
Or to take arms against these childish instincts

And by harsh measures, crush them.
To make to shake, no more,

And by these means we say we kill
The evil instincts of a childish nature.

To strike, to shake,
To shake, perhaps to punch,

Aye, there's the danger.
For in that punch so harsh what fear there lies;

When we have sent the victim quickly home

To tell fond parents of the teacher's act,
And stir them up to vows of great re- venge,

That make the teachers shake for very fear;

Aye, there's the respect,
That makes forbearance in us so long lived.

And makes us rather bear the snow and balls

Than fly to other troubles more un- safe

Wherein our lives and fortunes lie at stake,

To be upheld or trodden on by those
Whose offsprings suffered tortures at our hands.

A Tip.

If it happens that you're taking a course in English 2

Here are a few bits of advice I'd like to give to you:

Don't bother about when a map was born or when he died;

Whether his works were good or bad don't trouble to decide;

Don't waste your time in learning what and when an author wrote

The things that really count are these —so please take note:

What kind of toothbrush did he use?
Who half-soleed all his walking shoes?

What was his favorite kind of booze? and if so, why

What kind of trousers did he wear
Tell briefly how he combed his hair;

And was he ever known to swear
And if so, why?

And if it chances that you read a few of his choice gems,

Be sure to count the double a's, the h's and the m's;

Don't waste your time in finding what an author's driving at,

There are so many points much more significant than that—

For instance, in line twenty-two, "Turkeys," it says, "are turquoise-blue."

Now is this statement really true?
And if so, why?

And when this knowledge you have got,
Do you think it's worth while or not?

Perhaps you think it's tommy-rot—
And if so, why?

Mama (to her boy in bed)—Johnny, why have you got that sack over your head.

Johnny—Didn't you tell me not to lose any sleep?

To the Incoming Staff of the Collegian, Skiff and Horned Frog:

We have endeavored to serve the outgoing Staff of these Journals faithfully and promptly in printing the publications of Texas Christian University. We have purchased much new material for these journals, and believe we have been successful in delivering the best looking papers in the South (so we are informed by those in charge of the publications.) We will be still better equipped by next season. At the present writing there is no office in Waco which can duplicate the class of work we are turning out, so don't waste your time hunting a cheap printer, but come to see us and make your contracts before you leave for home, and then be ready for business when schools opens up in September.
