PASTORAL WORK.

The Lecture by G. L. Bush.

"How to Have a Working Church" was the subject of one of the most helpful of all the lectures of the course now being given to T. C. U. by distinguished visitors. The aim of the course as explained by Dr. Lockhart, is to give to the students the viewpoints of present day problems as they appear to the men who are actively engaged in the affairs and who have attained success in their chosen fields. This lecture was especially directed to those who are interested directly or indirectly in the work of the pastor of a church. Hence the notebooks of the Bible students were busy. It was of greater value because the lecturer himself by his unvarying success in several pastorates has proven himself to be one of the few "best pastors" in the state.

"How to Have a Working Church" was answered by calling first for the prepared, busy, energetic preacher. "No man who is lazy has any business trying to be a preacher," he said emphatically. A preacher should know thoroughly of his parish and be acquainted with every member of his flock, especially the poorer and humbler ones.

Second, he should expect his people to work, and give each one something to do. "Some preachers try to run the Sunday school, Endeavor, prayer meeting, officers, etc., and once in a while you find one who, even dares to try to run the Ladies' Aid. He generally tries only once.

Bro. Bush made a plea for a higher standard of life and service for the officers of the church. He said that modern conditions of living made it as a rule impossible for the elders to do the work as it was done in Scripture times, and hence much of their work devolves upon the preacher.

His plea for a larger place for the Sunday school in the life of the church was as convincing as it was earnest. The figures he quoted showed that the great majority of converts came from the Sunday school, but he said, the greater per cent of the average preacher's toil and tears were invested in the other departments which bring the smaller per cent of results.

The lecture was brimful of practical plans and pointed sentences. Every ministerial student must have loaded himself with practical notes for future use.

"Whenever you can come into contact with live men—really live men—lay aside your books," said a wise old professor to his class one time. Bro. Bush's lecture was such an occasion. We hope he will come again.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.

An Evening of Conivality at Girl's Dormitory, Most Pleasant Event of the Year..

On Friday evening of last week a reception was given to the students by the Y. M. C. A. in the parlors of the Home. As occasions of this sort have been rare during this school year there was a large and "interested" gathering of young people.

At 8:00 p. m. the McKinney Reception Hall was opened and as the young men and young ladies arrived they were welcomed by the Y. M. C. A. receiving line which was composed of the members of the cabinet. The ladies' rooms of the first floor were opened and being nicely decorated with pennants, pictures, cushions, etc., they presented inviting places for "casual remarks." It was not long until every "cozy corner" in the halls was occupied by young people and for those who had not yet become acquainted there was music and singing in the parlors. About 9:00 p. m. refreshments consisting of cream and cakes, were served by Miss Jackson with the assistance of some other young ladies, and some young men. Heretofore when the night was pretty young people have promenaded on the campus but on account of the "dampness of the atmosphere" the students remained in-doors.

Events like this are always welcomed by T. C. U. "co-eds" as it keeps alive old acquaintances and induces new ones. An occasional social gathering is undoubtedly necessary to the best development of college spirit and discipline and the students are hoping that on this account that the authorities will commend at least one reception a month. The reception of Friday night will be remembered as one of considerable enjoyment.

PROHIBITION LEAGUE MEETS

Arrangements for Preliminary Oratorical Contest Perfected—Competitors Elected.

On last Thursday a meeting of the T. C. U. Prohibition League was called to make final arrangements for the preliminary contest which is to be held the latter part of this month. A large number of young men and Miss McClintic, teacher of oratory, were present. The Prohibition League is Intercollegiate in character and is an organization of national scope, having smaller, or tributary leagues, in the colleges of a majority of states. It will be remembered that T. C. U. won first place in the State Prohibition contest year before last and judging from the interest and enthusiasm which was manifest at the local meeting Thursday, T. C. U. will make a strong fight for first honors in the State contest to be held this spring.

The meeting was called to order by Vice-President A. J. Sanders and Messrs. Welch and Sturgeon were elected president and secretary, respectively, to fill existing vacancies in those offices. The following names were then nominated and elected to represent the League in the preliminary contest: Messrs. Welch, Yewell, Sturgeon, Buck, Knight, Saunders and Tomlinson.

The above list presents a strong array of speakers and the rivalry for first honors promises to be very keen. The winning of this event is one of the highest honors which can come to a speaker for he not only represents the local League but he represents his University. Each man seems to be determined to make the other fellow work to win and this spirit will no doubt bring an exhibition of oratory which will be looked forward to with interest.

THE BLUES VICTORIOUS.

Game Last Friday Ended With Score of 3 to 0 in Favor of Blues.

Again the Blues have demonstrated their superior strength in Association football, raising their percentage considerably.

The game Friday was the fiercest and best played we have had in Association football at T. C. U. The Blues played an aggressive game from the beginning, the half-backs following close behind the forward line keeping the ball in their opponents' territory almost constantly only three times during the entire game did the Maroons come near scoring.

The first half resulted in no scores for either side but still it was clearly seen that the Blues were playing with a consistency that could not help but win the game. A good crowd of students witnessed the contest which accounts in a measure for the splendid playing of some of the individuals.

The second half opened with vigorous charging and heady passing. Soon a penalty for a foul was imposed on the Maroons on their forty-five yard line. Then it was that Mr. Williams executed the most wonderful kick we have seen in Association football. He dug his toe into the ovoid and sent it sparsely between the goal post, just touching the bottom of the cross-bar. It was a magnificent kick and brought forth hearty applause from both players and spectators. Before the game was ended the Blues had scored two more points making a final of 3 to 0.

Y. W. C. A.

Last Thursday night was held the regular missionary meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and it was decidedly the most interesting meeting we have had yet. For several days a poster was on the black board in the Home calling the attention of all as they passed by. The picture was a young Chinese with a parasol over his head. Above this was printed, "A Study of China," and below the date and the words, "You can't afford to miss it." We wish to thank Mr. Brown for his kindness in drawing it for us.

The intense enthusiasm on the part of those who were going to lead the meeting was quickly spread among all the girls—and when seven o'clock came the room was crowded—sixty-eight being present.

Miss Mabel Shannon presented each girl with a Chinese souvenir as she came in the door. This was pinned through a paper on which were the words, "My first we hope you are; my second we see you are; my third we know you are." After singing a song, the leader, Miss Smith, asked how many girls had not received a souvenir, as they were all gone. She then furnished them with one of a slightly different type, being a miniature Chinese umbrella. Then she asked us to make out the word that the puzzle stood for, and we finally saw that it meant "Welcome."

After this Miss Smith told us several interesting things about China, read a letter from a friend of hers who is a missionary in China, and then several clippings were read. By the kindness of Mrs. Cockrell, Mr. Stone-wall Brown and several other friends, a large collection of Chinese articles had been gathered. These were passed around, with some kodak pictures taken by Miss Smith's friend, above mentioned.

After Miss Jacqueline Norwood, dressed in a real Chinese suit, assisted by Miss May Belle Smith, dressed in a Japanese kimono, sang a Chinese song, which was enjoyed by all. Soon after this these little ladies and Miss Freda Wirtz, also dressed in a Japanese kimono, served those present with tea, cakes and Chinese candy.

As a great deal had been said about the Chinese famine, it was decided for us to help in the relief fund. Pledges were taken which amounted to thirty dollars.

The meeting was held from seven until eight, and every girl left feeling that she had been well repaid for coming.

To purpose well is important; but to accomplish your purposes is absolutely necessary to greatness.

The January exams are over. The monthly shaking up that a good stiff exam gives is stimulating and we are glad the system has been adopted here.

We see some people who seem to go to church for only one purpose, and that is to criticize and laugh. Everything seems funny to them and the least blunder by the choir or others seems to provoke fits of laughter. We will be glad when these people can behave intelligently.

WHAT IS AN EDITOR?

An editor is somewhat complex; being hard to define because of the many characteristics of this "peculiar type" of man. Everything known in the gamut of human existence is common to an editor.

Mr. Webster says that an editor is one who edits. This explanation is wrong; wrong because it is incomplete. The definition is highly misleading—it is too tame—it does not tell the half—an editor is something more.

In the first place an editor is a quibbling prevaricator, guilty of collusion and fraudulent expressions, commonly known to the general public as "white lies." This has become inherent in this particular class who tries to eke out an existence with his pen. An editor evades the truth as a woman would a mouse. He tries to get around the exactness of representation by the use of words that have a double meaning. He will talk all around a question without disclosing anything.

Then an editor is perfidiously dishonest; not entirely destitute of prob-ity; but still exercising a disposition to deceive. He makes things appear his own when they are not.

An editor is also a princely grumbler. He utters his murmurs of discontent as often as his unworthy, miserable sheet appears. This is another quality inherent in the profession. If you do not pay your subscription, advertise, or patronize those who do advertise in his paper, he grumbles. He magnifies his perplexities to such abnormal dimensions, that he himself cannot recognize the semblance. If people do not support his paper that is nothing to worry about—truly no one would be perplexed but an editor.

Another characteristic—an editor bubbles over with vanity. He possesses the quality of being vain or elated with a high opinion of his own accomplishments and achievements.
He likes to make a gaudy display which is more showy than valuable.
An editor has empty pride inspired by an overweening conceit of his own personal attainments which causes him to be morbidly anxious for the notice and admiration of others. He presumes a degree of superiority in his editorials, fondly courting the applause of all his readers. He takes every opportunity to display his supposed excellence of talent. His mind is supposed to be subservient to his readers; but the supposition is incorrect; his mind is subservient to his vanity.

Thus far have I come and whence might I go on with the enumeration of qualities of an editor but I will desist and look at an editor from another viewpoint, which may throw some light upon his peculiarities. If he publishes jokes people say he is rattle-headed. If he don't he is a fossil.
If he publishes original matter, they say he doesn't give them enough selections. If he gives them selections, they say he is too lazy to write. If an editor don't go to church he is a heathen; if he does he is a hypocrite. If he remains in his office he ought to be out hunting news items. If he goes out he ought to be attending to his business. My, but it is a glorious thing to be editor of a college paper.

To sum up all here is what an editor is: He is a plain darned fool, with emphasis on the darned.

The Three Things.

Three things to love: Courage, gentleness and affection.

Three things to admire: Intellect, dignity and gracefulness.

Three things to hate: Cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to delight in: Beauty, frankness and freedom.

Three things to like: Cordiality, good humor and cheerfulness.

Three things to cultivate: Good books, good friends and good humor.

Three things to govern: Temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to avoid: Idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Three things to contend for: Honor, country and friends.

Two things to think of: Death and eternity.—Henry van Dyke, D. D.

A Liberal Education.

That man, I think, has a liberal education whose body has been so trained in youth that it is the ready servant of his will, and does with all ease all that, as a mechanism it is capable of, whose intellect is a clear, cold, logic engine, with all its parts of equal strength and in smooth running order, ready, like a steam engine, to be turned to any kind of work and to spin the gossamers as well as forge the anchors of the mind; whose mind is stored with the knowledge of the great fundamental truths of nature and the laws of her operations; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions have been trained to come to heel by a vigorous will,
the servant of a tender conscience,
one who has learned to love all beauty, whether of nature or of art, to hate all vileness, and to esteem others as himself.

—Thomas Henry Huxley.

Cash! Cash! Cash! The word has become quite familiar to T. C. U. students since the first of February.

prising 3000 miles of traveling. The Yale schedule consists of twenty-nine games to be played.

A Resolution Adopted at the Meeting of the Bryan Club Saturday Night.

"Be it resolved, That 'Willie Ambro-sia' Martin, of Spartansburg, South Carolina, has been a faithful member and diligent officer of the Bryan Club;
that we regret to see him leave us;
and that we wish him all the gladness, pleasure, and happiness that belong to the noble, the true and the brave."

The Bryan Club met in regular session Saturday night and busied itself for two hours in the consideration of important matters. Aside from the interest in the topics discussed excellent training is being received in extempore speaking and the members are rifle in the fundamental principles of parliamentary law. As the membership of the club increases the greater will be the interest in its work and the more beneficial will be its results.

AMONG OUR PATRONS.

The Temple District Convention.

The coming District Missionary Convention at Belton March 23-25 is of great importance to the members and friends of the T. C. U. family. This district embraces about a dozen counties around Bell, McLennan and Williamson and is known as the Temple district. Since T. C. U. is located in the district she is interested in the work thereof.

If any difference, the people of T. C. U. should be more interested than an ordinary church in this mission work. For she is herself a part of the missionary organization. There is no greater force for evangelization than the school that gives a Christian influence to the educated people of the coming generations, and turns out the men who shall fill the ranks of the ministry. The work of Christian Education and Christian Missions is the same work, and these are only various departments. So every friend of education should be an ardent mission supporter and every missionary enthusiast should be a supporter of education.

T. C. U. should be interested in the district work also because as a center of education she is rightly expected to be a radiating center of missionary zeal and information. A university is a watchtower for the people. Upon her the busy men and women of the world depend for their wider views of larger movements. And one of the characteristic world movements of today is missions. It is the spirit of Christ working through the forces of the modern organized life. Our schools as leaders of thought and as inspirers of ideals must disseminate this interest and popularize it. District missions is the local application. We must to be in the very midst of it.

Help Both Ways.

T. C. U. can help not only missions in general, but Temple district in particular. The Bible College has in her growing number of preacher students a potentiality for evangelizing the surrounding country that must not be overlooked or wasted. A close cooperation with the district missionary work will secure the proper and economical use of this force, and will turn it into channels of evangelization.

And this will react in good for T. C. U. Every preacher who can secure mission of work of this kind is thereby given an opportunity to make his way through school. It is a means of self-help to the preacher, and of growth to the school.

The district work all over the state is proving itself immensely valuable. It gives play to that most beloved Anglo-Saxon principle of local self-government and therefore reaches the American and especially the Texas heart. And we think also it reaches the situation.

Never have so many good and well attended district meetings been held as during the past year. As a consequence some districts that have been barren as mission fields are blossoming and bearing fruit. There is splendid soil and suitable season in this, our district. Shall we be faithful husbandmen and to the planting and the tending.

Let this message be an appeal to every Christian in the district to be present at the Belton convention February 13-25. Be there in the spirit of Christ to do his will.

Let no church suffer itself to be without representation. Rather let many come from yours. Truly the Lord has great things for us to do if we will open our eyes and us our hands.

Report on Education Day.

Some are asking how the offering came out. We are glad of this interest. Wish we could tell them, but we cannot.

The answer cannot be given now because the churches are slow in reporting. Some are waiting to collect up the pledges made. Some delayed the offering. Report of all amounts will be made in due time.

How Education Day resulted cannot be told now for another reason. It is a time of seed sowing in this work and the first meagre fruit bearing cannot be counted an adequate measure of the real good done.

Fact is, a large truth is just now beginning to be realized by the churches, that is their dependence on the church school and their consequent obligation to it. While the college has been a part of the church's pride all the while it has never in any way been taken into the life of the church as an integral part of its organized force. This must be done. And this truth is just beginning to be learned. One purpose of Education Day is seed sowing along this line. The result will continue to come for years.

Has your church taken the offering? Now's the time.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Wednesday Miss Ila Fletcher delighted the student body with a beautiful piano solo.

Thursday Mr. Greer of the Second Presbyterian church of the city, made his second address in chapel. The first was so good that he was urgently requested to return and we were in no way disappointed for Mr. Greer not only upheld his record as a speaker of great ability, but he added new laurels to his reputation as a speaker, philosopher and a poet.

Unassuming, the speaker propounded philosophical questions and showed himself to be a man of deep insight and erudition. After much equivocation he finally arrived at his subject, which after all was one of the greatest subjects known. He gave his reason for discussing this subject: because it had never been intelligently discussed before.

We might say just here that his subject was "Love." Any attempt on our part to discuss the subject would be futile so it will ever stand that Mr. Greer handled his subject in an able manner. Sparkling wit ran all thru his talk and everyone was well pleased. We hope Mr. Greer will come again.

Friday the Prohibition League of T. C. U. and Texas was put before the student body by the officers of the league. The names of the speakers elected to contest in the state preliminary were read.

He put his arm around her waist,
The color left her cheek,
But upon the shoulder of his coat,
It showed up for a week.—Ex.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Two Association Football Teams Will Contest for Local Championship in Three Match Games.

The association football season ends February 22 and the Blues and Maroons are getting ready for the event. Much more interest is being manifested in this game at T. C. U. than ever before. The Captains of each team have decided to set the Fridays in each week for the final games.

It is not safe to draw conclusions as to the winners of this championship, but we can say that every game will be hotly contested.

Prof. McCully and Prof. Hunter deserve much praise for their interest and guardianship. Who will be the winners; the Blues or the Maroons?

A Profitable Meeting.

The Young Men's Christian Association met in its regular place of meeting yesterday at 4 o'clock. The service of the hour was lead by Mr. Procter. Subject: "Man the Purpose of the Y. M. C. A." The meeting was made interesting and profitable from the beginning to the end, by short, pointed, talks. Miss Salee, accompanied by Miss Spence, gave a much enjoyed solo.
