ANNUAL MEETING

Of Council and Football Squad—Meet and Hold Reception

The regular annual meeting of the football squad and Athletic Council convened in the President's reception room last Saturday night and with the President of the University spent a delightful evening, summing up the year's work, recounting our victories and closing with delightful refreshments.

The Athletic Council were all present, and most all of the squad. The coach and manager met with them.

Prof. Long, president of the Athletic Council, presided and the whole meeting was characterized by good fellowship, loyalty and appreciation.

Dr. Lockhart spoke many encouraging and complimentary words to the Council and the team, thanking the former for their capable management and decided improvements which they had wrought out during the season, contrasting the present efficiency with the sad state of affairs a few years ago. He stated that the present management had been the best and most successful during his administration; he also expressed in strongest terms his appreciation for the splendid work of the team and for their great victories and especially for their conduct and good attitude for clean athletics, which they have maintained all during the season, either at home or away on their tours of the state.

Prof. Long, representing the Council, made a brief address thanking the faculty, team and students for their great loyalty to the chairman and encouragement to the council and squad. He stated that there had not been the slightest friction between council, officers or team and that the year's work had been of the pleasantest sort.

Profs. Hart and Alexander, faculty members on the council, both made brief and interesting addresses complimenting the local champion and college champion team for their great season's work. They expressed their appreciation for the support given to the council.

Manager Allen addressed the meeting and in a few well chosen words expressed his appreciation of the team and for the support given him in the management of the team. Mr. Allen has managed the team in an exceptional way this year, not only bringing the council out of a heavy debt but placing a neat balance in the treasury. This is a position of honor, but requires a great sacrifice of time and energy on the part of any student and Mr. Allen is deserving of much praise and credit for making the sacrifice in interest of the team and University. His management has never been called in question and the books turned in are correct, encouraging and show the best season for many years.

Coach Langley, the "Little Corsican" of the gridiron, who has so efficiently coached the team, made a short address, full of interest to the boys and expressing his appreciation for the kind treatment and favors shown him while at work developing the team.

All members of the squad present were called upon and responded to the good fellowship and spirit of the meeting.

The main purpose of the meeting was to elect a captain for next season. J. W. Massie, star player in all the games of the year and an inimitable center was elected.

The University should congratulate itself upon having such a successful year in football, for having such a splendid management and council and for the good reputation obtained over the state by our team and honest management. We are local champions and if we beat state and A. & M. from the Association (and they do not claim to belong to the College Association) we are state champions as well. Think on it a little bit. Local championship is one big victory and state championship is another. Think on it a bit!

COACH LANGLEY LEAVES

With the season's work now completed and a record enviable from many standpoints Coach Langley leaves us for his home in Oklahoma City. 'Tis with regret that we see him leave us, but the season is closed and he goes to other work.

His jolly good nature, deep interest in the welfare of T. C. U. and his superior work as coach for our great team and the pride that he has taken in developing such a team has endeared him to the team and student body. As a coach he has no superior and a perfect gentleman in all his dealings with the individuals of the team.

We only wish that we had other work to offer him that we might keep him thru the year, but his work, so cheerfully begun and so successfully completed, is over and he leaves with our best regards as a fellow among us, and with our deepest thanks for his efficient service.

We dub him to the public as the "Little Corsican" when it comes to generalship and ability to lead and develop gridiron warriors.

Massie to Lead

'10 Football Team

Plucky Center Elected Captain—Hard Work and Skill Bring Coveted Honor

On last Saturday night the Athletic Council and football squad held their annual meeting and reception and elected William Massie as captain of the '10 football team.

Massie has just closed his third year of successful gridiron work and brings to his new position the skill and training of three years experience. No one questions the selection made for he is recognized as the star player of all the games of the year. He has all the qualification of a good football player. His tackling for the year has been steady, sensational at times, his goal kicking has been well high perfect and for his position at center he has played it beyond the peradventure of a criticism. All this combined with his reputation for being a jolly good fellow, aided in awarding him the coveted honor.

J. W. Massie, Captain Varsity Eleven, 1910

He is considered by all to be the best all round player now in prospect for the '10 team.

He follows one of the best captains in the state in the person of L. C. Wright, and the students, alumni and friends of the University rejoice together that such a worthy man is to succeed such a splendid captain, and that such an efficient player is to head Varsity on the gridiron next year. May Bill lead his team next year to victory on many a gridiron and himself punt as famously as he has in the past season is the wish of his many friends and supporters.

Letter From Mr. Perkins

Many friends of "Cy" Perkins, '08, will be interested to know of his continued kindly interest in T. C. U. students and faculty. In a recent letter he sends kindly greetings to the faculty and student friends and special congratulations to the football team.

"Cy" is in school at Ann Arbor, Mich., and while favorably impressed with the Michigan University, says that he misses something that was manifest at all times at T. C. U. Again and again in the letter he expresses his love for T. C. U., environs, influences and college spirit. "Cy" was a favorite among the student body here for many years, a star baseball and football player. He played quarter on Varsity with the greatest speed and headwork to be found in Texas. In baseball he was the sure and speedy shortsop.

We count him as one of the ablest, loyalst of our alumni.

THE WALTON-SHIRLEY RECEPTION

Societies Make Merry at the President's Home

On last Tuesday evening the Walton and Shirley Literary Societies held a joint reception at the home of the president. This event had been contemplated by the two societies for some time, and when, after all difficulties had been surmounted and their plans were actually realized, there was none who could have hoped for a more enjoyable occasion. The close relationship of the two societies made the occasion all the more pleasant and all joined in the merry making with the true spirit of brothers and sisters. The merry host was greeted at the door by the smiling faces and warm handclaps of the president and his wife, and welcomed in a way as to make each one feel that it was good to be there. The colors and pennants of each society were much in evidence thruout the house. The large fireplace shed a glow over all that was entirely bewitching, and what Shirley boy there whose heart did not beat with joy and gladness as he led some fair damsel to a convenient seat and there discussed with her some topic of mutual interest, or perchance told her of his hopes and ambitions?

After "talking" had been engaged in for a time, Miss Gladys Hudson, in her own charming and attractive manner, read for the company. After more talking and piano selections by Misses Wolford, Lockhart and others, Mr. Leron Gough read a humorous selection which was enjoyed by all. But one of the best pleasures of the evening was yet to be partaken of, and soon all were served to dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake. Alas, the hour had now come for parting, and all too soon the lights had "blinked" their warning. So with many expressions of mutual pleasure and good will and with kindest gratitude to the president and his good wife for tendering their home, the merry crowd departed. May the pleasures of the evening long remain in the minds of every Shirley and Walton, and may the future hold in store many such events.

Dr. Greer's Address

Dr. J. J. Greer, one of the ablest men of the city and without doubt the most popular speaker that visits T. C. U., gave us another of his matchless addresses on last Tuesday morning. His subject was the "Alchemy of Influence."

Dr. Greer has the happy combination of humor and philosophy and in this address he effectively blended the two. His thoughts were deep, conservative and inspiring and with a weight of humour to sink them into the soul of every listener. He graphically traced influences from their sources, the mystery of the transmutation of the power, and its relative importance to the character and worth of any man and closed with climatic effect with that influence that proceeds from Jesus Christ our Lord.

MONDAY'S DELAYED GAME

"Fish Fin Sophomores"

In the midst of torrents of rain and showers of applause, the "Freshies" and "Sophs" locked horns last Monday evening on Varsity's gridiron.

The field proved to be too heavy and during the second half the game was called off on account of heavy field.

The first half belonged to the "Fish" to amount of a touchdown and goal kick. The "Fish" were in their element, the rain and water enabling them to swim and slip around on the field and "fin" the Sophomores many times.

Denton for Freshmen covered a punt from Rattan and getting easily away went for a long run and a touchdown. Rattan kicked goal. No score in second half played. Game called off with the advantage with the Freshmen, to be played over again.

The College Joker is Doomed!

The college joker is doomed. He is nipped in the bud. No more can he attach his bubbings to the Bulletin Board. The decree has gone forth. Ambition and inspiration has received a mortal shock. Alembi!

"Let the budding humorist of the institution remember that this is a bulletin board and not a comic daily."

No more can the warbling youth with a heart overflowing with sweetens leave to posterity and the public a permanent record of his soulful yearnings. He must shut all his music within him, go down to the grave unhonored, unrecognized and unwarded—with his sweetness not scattered along the struggling path of his fellow man, but shut in and soured in his own decaying frame. Alembi! The college poet is dead. The joker is no more. Selah!

Miss Grace Hackney rendered a beautiful piano solo at chapel hour Thursday morning. Prof. Cockrell made a strong appeal in behalf of the Horned Frog. Everyone realizes the worth of this publication and should do all in his power to forward the enterprise. The enior class appeals to the student body and organizations to aid them.

THE FATERNAL SPIRIT

"Man's inhumanity to man has made countless millions mourn" is the theme of the saddened poet. Full many and eloquent have been the discourses on the mournful theme, yet there are but few of us who ever stop to consider the vast importance of the question, "What is my duty to my fellow man?" The reason for this, we do not know and why it has for so long a time been left unanswered, we can not tell—yet it is so.

As we travel our own flower strewn path, we glance neither to right nor left, thinking only of ourselves,—we care not to share the sorrows of our fellow beings—let him fight his bloody battle alone; if he conquers and comes out victorious in the fight, then gladly we extend to him our hand and gladly do we call him brother; yet if he fails to succeed, we deign to recognize him—he is below our class, and, as the cur beneath his master's lash, we spurn him with contempt. We forget that he has tripped and fallen in the strife and is perhaps more deserving of praise than the man who succeeded. I believe in that great day when the great Rewarder comes, he will call to him many an outcast and give him a golden horn, while the great Success turns away empty handed and unwarded, for the great Rewarder is also a great Equalizer.

Surely in life there is something higher, something nobler than to merely live, to barely exist for self. We wake, when the first streaks of dawn lighten the eastern sky; we rise from our beds of peaceful slumber and count ourselves lucky that we have lived to see the light of another day. Yet this is all—we do not think of the countless thousands who, in the same night, have tossed on their heaps of straw, unsecured and uncared for.

Man's inhumanity to man has caused him to do this. The countless millions of earth's deserted attest the solemn fact.

Here is the message: Be a friend to man.

"In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of this life;
Be not like dumb driven cattle,
Be a hero in the strife."

For we can all be heroes in that we keep our fellow man, live not only for ourselves but for others. When we have passed thru this life—this short day—when we have finished our course on earth and we lay down to die—let it not be as a convicted criminal, but as one who has fought a good fight and has been proclaimed victor; and "wrapping the drapery of his couch about him lies down to pleasant dreams," leaving behind no richer legacy than that he was a criterion to his fellow man, true and just, a blessing to humanity, an honor to his country and a glory to his God.

COLLEGE SPIRIT

College spirit is that which causes a boy to come and stay at a university to get an education, instead of going off into the woods and building him a hut and there with his books about spend a year or two in appropriating the wealth of the ages. Take away or quell college spirit and I would rather seek the sanctuary in the woods to get my education.

THE WORK OF THE SHIRLEYS

The editor had the happy opportunity to slip away from his duties on last Monday morning and pay a visit to the Shirley Literary Society. He found them a loyal bunch of the "Society Fraternity," working skillfully at their trade. The program of the morning was of a high order engaging a variety of talent and diversity of questions.

A part of the program was prepared for in advance and a part was impromptu. Several good papers were read and a recitation by Jack Farmer were especially interesting. The impromptu work was good, showing the ability of their men to speak "ad libitum" at call. Carl Homan was intensely interesting on the "Beginning and End of a Cigar." He gave it as his honest opinion that the best part of the cigar was neither the beginning or the end but was the middle part. Grady Twyman developed a humorous vien on the subject of "My Ideal Wife."

MEMORIES

(Dedicated to the Visiting Girls.)

It was on the 24th of Nov., 1909, When all was happiness for a short time; As friends were here of the long ago, That we all loved and admired so.

But on the 25th our hearts were sad, For old Baylor put us to the bad; But as the moon casting its light on us from over the way, We went to our President's home, for a few hours stay.

Here all was love and bliss, For each girl had a beau and each boy a miss; The time soon passed and the hour came For each boy and girl to give up their love game.

Across the campus again we strolled, Thinking of what we had just been told; Then to our room we slowly came, Think of the passing time—for shame.

And on the morn we were bright and gay, Till we saw our fellows with visiting girl slowly walk away; The day passed just like this— We wondering who the last girls were kissed.

This brings us down to the 27th, We wishing that we could even be the eleventh;

But to our sorrow and surprise, At visiting girls they continued to wink their eye.

But on Sunday morn some of them went away, Leaving us wishing that they would stay; On Monday afternoon they say, Each boy had his old girl in the usual way.

The Voice of the School

"There's a breathless hush in the close tonight,

Ten to make and the match to win; A bumping pitch and a blinding light; An hour to play and the last man in; And it is not for the sake of a ribboned coat,

Or the selfish hope of a season's fame, But his captain's hand on his shoulder smote,

'Play up! play up! and play the game!'

"The sand of the desert is sodden red, Red with the wreck of the square that broke;

The gathings jammed and the colonel dead,

And the regiment blind with dust and smoke;

The river of death has brimmed her banks,

And England's far and honor's a name;

But the voice of a schoolboy rallies the ranks,

'Play up! play up! play up an—

'Play up! play up! and play the game!'

"This is the word that year by year, While in her place the school is set, Everyone of her sons must hear,

And none that hears it dare forget. This they all, with a joyful mind,

Bear thro life like a torch in flame, And falling, fling to the host behind,

'Play up! play up! and play the game!'

—Rudyard Kipling.

Prizes for Art Department

The Art Department scored a great success with its exhibits at the Dallas and San Antonio Fairs. In all eleven prizes were obtained, many of them first prizes.

Mrs. Cockrell, principal of the department, took first prizes in miniature, porcelain and ivory at both fairs. First prize was also received by a dresser set and vases. A tankard and monogram dinner set by Miss Jack Moore also took a prize. Most everything exhibited from the department secured first prizes or blue ribbons. A beautiful punch bowl also took a prize.

In all six prizes were won at the Dallas Fair and five at San Antonio. The University should feel highly complimented by the honors won by this department.

Juniors Organize

The Junior class met last Monday and organized a football team from their class and issued a challenge to the winners in the "Freshie-Soph" contest. William Massie was elected manager and captain. The Junior class no doubt can defeat any class organization in school. They are a class that do things and their contestants will find worthy antagonists.

Where You Should Have Your Suits Made

STYLISH TAILORMADE SUITS OR TROUSERS

when they are made to fit are a credit to the wearer as well as to the tailor who made them. Anyone who has ever worn a genuine tailormade suit can tell at the first glance if your suit is made by hand or in a factory. I am doing a tailoring business and employ the best workmen and cannot afford to have flashing ads everywhere, but try to make my work do the advertising for me. It will justify you to invest a few dollars more and wear a suit made by MIKE ADAM. He has a large, well assorted stock of the latest designs in woollens to select from.

Classmen

Of all classmen I had rather be either a freshman or a senior, one extreme or the other. Everything a freshman does is overlooked on the grounds that he is just an ignorant freshman. And so it passes by, student body, public opinion and sometimes the faculty.

Of a senior, everything he does is supposed to be right without the burden of questioning. No one would have the audacity to criticize the doings of a senior.

The one has his imperfections passed by on account of ignorance and the other escapes calumny and criticism by reason of dignity and station. God pity the poor sophomore and junior, who know too much to do the one and not enough to be able to perform accurately the other.

To Those Who Buy for Men

RELIGIOUS NOTES

Sunday School Next Sunday

250 present next Sunday.

A big motto to reach, but it can be done. Everybody aid in reaching it.

Last Sunday Bro. Hall announced that the attendance a year ago was 111, and we had almost doubled it, that day, having 200 present. He proposed that next Sunday we double the past year's record. Since it was 125 we must have 250 to double it.

How can it be done?

Let each class bring its entire enrollment, allowing a few off for out of town and sick, but none for late sleepers.

Let each class bring a ten per cent. increase in new pupils.

And it will be done.

On time next Sunday.

A souvenir of some sort will be given next Sunday to every one who comes on time. We have been getting in very late. Let every one arrive at 9:45 or earlier. Listen for the bell.

Church Notes

There were six additions to the church Sunday night, four by letter, one by confession and one from the Primitive Baptist church.

The rain Sunday evening kept away most of the people who live outside the campus, but the students turned out in the best numbers yet, making a splendid audience. The service was inspiring and helpful throughout. The evening song service of a half hour is proving a great feature.

University Church Announcements December 5th

The Sunday morning service will be in the interest of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, this being their regular day on the calendar. Mrs. J. J. Hart, the local president, and some of the other members will present different phases of the work and Bro. Hall will explain about the "Living Link." An offering will be received for the work.

At the evening service Bro. A. J. Bush, field secretary of the Benevolent Work of the Christian church, will preach. Bro. Bush is one of the veterans in the Texas ministry, having preached all over the state for years as evangelist and state secretary of missions. He is as active and enthusiastic as ever, and is giving his days to the care of the orphans and aged. Every one will be blessed by hearing his good message.

C. E. Society

There will be a general report of the Moody Convention by the delegates.

On account of the absence of several of the Juniors the graduation exercises were not held last Sunday, but will be held on the 5th.

Topic: Life lessons from First John 4:7-21. (Consecration meeting.)

Leader, Ruth Rayburn.
Reviewer, J. E. Evans.
Piano Solo, Melrose Jones.

Mr. Sam Hamilton of the city of Waco spoke to the Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday evening in interest of Mexican missions in the city. The society at his suggestion are soon to take up such work in Waco.

William Stevenson, Earl Calloway and Miss Ruth Rayburn returned Monday from the Christian Endeavor Convention at Moody. They report a great convention and pleasant trip.

The Red Corpuscle

Do you belong to the red corpuscle? Is your blood red? Do you live, or do you exist in mediocrity?

To each and every member of the red corpuscle gang there is always a plate for you on the world's banquet table. She shares her feast with you. Are you a hero in the strife so strenuous? Does your blood surge to the music of activity? If so, count your self earth's chosen one. Ye are of the gods. The world hive is thinning out her yellow drones. Is your blood yellow? Do you belong to the effete east?

The west is calling her own into an inheritance. The red corpuscle are the heirs. Examine your blood.

A Week End Party

Miss Norma Ellis entertained several of her friends at her beautiful home near West from last Saturday till Monday. Everyone had a splendid time and wish for an opportunity to repeat an occasion so delightful. Besides those from Hillsboro, Mart, West and Waco, Sue Webb and Noel Carr of T. C. U. were in the merry crowd.

One Answer

In answer to one of the questions put in last week's Skiff, to-wit: "Which is the most active class in school?" we received seven notices that the Seniors were the most active. What a joke! (They put in the answers themselves.) The Junior class was the correct answer.

Miss Viola Carpenter of Dallas visited her cousin, Miss Ora Carpenter, Thanksgiving. Miss Carpenter was formerly of T. C. U., but is now studying expression with Mr. Lemuel B. C. Josephs of New York City.

Overheard in the Southland Cafe: "Say, is anybody looking? I see the cutest little pair of tweezers I ever saw in my life. I am just crazy to take them home with me," said one of the girls with her eye fixed on the sugar tongs.
