T. C. U. MEN ARE DETERMINED TO BEAT RICE OWLS

Coach Boles Takes Eighteen Men to Houston for Game with Institute Saturday.

TEAMS ARE EVENLY MATCHED

Coach Boles and Manager Hooper, with eighteen chosen men, will depart to-night for Houston to meet Rice Institute on the gridiron Saturday afternoon.

Our men are all in good condition and each man is determined to win the game. No man on the squad is discouraged over the defeat at the hands of the Farmers, but each one has renewed his determination, and this defeat will only go to strengthen the men for the coming conflicts. Rice Institute has a good team and it will be hard to beat. The men of the purple and white realize this, and are going into the game knowing they have a hard fight on their hands. Each one is determined to play better football than he has ever played before, so T. C. U. is bound to win.

Rice Institute is at present enjoying her second year in the T. I. A. A. and little is known of her real strength. Her record on the gridiron last year, however, was remarkable, considering her infancy. Rice lost only two letter men of last year's squad. It is claimed that these places have been well filled by prep school stars. The Owls have been divided into two squads and have been scrimmaging every day for the past few weeks, getting in shape to meet the Christians. The first team is under the direction of Coach Arbuckle, one of Texas' greatest coaches. The scrubs are under the direction of Coach Shipps.

Word comes from Houston that the Owls are confident of victory. The Christians, on the other hand, are just as determined. When it comes to weight the teams are about evenly matched. Comparing the results of the games the two teams have played this season, one is about as strong as the other. The chances are it will be a hard game.

Returns of the game will be given at Washer Bros., at Eighth and Main streets, by quarters. The game in Houston will start at 3:30.

CLARK GIRLS, IN JAPANESE KIMONOS, SERVE TEA TO HONORABLE GUESTS

Monday morning from 9:00 to 11:00 the Clarks, as Japanese ladies, were hostesses to their honorable American guests. Their hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion, transforming it into a veritable Japanese room.

The Clark girls, wearing Japanese kimonos, and with their hair dressed a la Japanese, gave the last touch to the purely Japanese scene. Guests were seated on pillows on the floor and a pleasing little Japanese program was rendered.

Miss Ada Veale opened the program with several piano selections. Miss Lola McFarland read story of "Madame Butterfly," after which Mrs. Cahoon delighted the guests by singing "One Fine Day," from the opera, "Madame Butterfly," and a "Japanese Love Song," as an encore. Two pleasing

T. C. U. Man Addresses Student Bodies of College of Industrial Arts and State Normal

Henry Hagemier Speaks on Successful Life to Denton Students--Is Royally Received by C. I. A. Girls--Invited Back.

Henry Hagemier, a student of T. C. U., addressed the student bodies of the College of Industrial Arts and the North Texas State Normal on Friday and Saturday of last week. Hagemier is pastor of the First Christian church of Denton, and it was in connection with his work there that he was asked to speak before the students of the two institutions.

This is probably the first time that a student in one college has been honored by being asked to address the student body of another college. The T. C. U. man spoke to the Denton students along the line that men and women succeed, not because they are talented, but because they apply themselves to the tasks which are before them in the world. He pointed out where talented people failed in life because they did not apply themselves, and then showed cases where men, who were not at all brilliant, made a success of their life because they had will power and the courage to work and stick at a thing until they made good at it.

Hagemier made a good impression on the students and faculty members of the two colleges which he visited. Miss Price, teacher of expression at C. I. A., complimented him very highly on his powerful speaking voice. She told her class of forty students in oratory that he possessed a great voice.

Hagemier said that it was a beautiful sight to see the six hundred C. I. A. girls at chapel in their uniforms. President Bralley, who introduced him to the girls, said that they were delighted to have a T. C. U. man speak to them, and invited Hagemier to visit the college regularly--at chapel time.

Hagemier, however, took advantage of the invitation before next chapel time, and went out to the girls' home that night, where he was royally entertained.

Members of the church of which Hagemier is pastor are trying to get him to give up his school work and accept the full-time pastorate of the church there. It has five hundred members.

FRESHMEN GIVE RECEPTION AT HOME OF MISS GALLAHER

One of the most enjoyable receptions of the year was given by the freshman class at the home of Miss Percy Gallaher in the city Saturday night. Although not a freshman, Miss Gallaher opened her home to the first year students for their first entertainment of the year.

Bunco and forty-two were the diversions of the evening. A pleasant evening was spent by all, and the freshman became better acquainted with each other during the party. Before leaving, everyone present voted Miss Gallaher a royal hostess.

Refreshments were served to the following:

Misses Kate Casteel, Ruby Parks, Mary Goss, Gladys Richards, Ruby Douglass, Mabel McLarry, Vera Jeffries, Mary Biggerstaff, Mollie Jones, Mary Melton, Ruth McFadin, Helen Chaudoin, Pauline Tedley, Clara Russell, Ester Hannan, Lois Wilcox, Anna Joe Pendleton and Percy Gallaher.

Messrs. Van Caldwell, Frank Wright, Harry Stovall, Roland Billingsley, Hugh Brewster, Guy Tittle, Robert Bloom, George Wheeler, Jesse Martin, J. H. Leveridge, Gayle Scott, Aubrey Leveridge, Shirley Sweeney, David Tudor, Howard Vaughn, John Nelson, Fletcher Fisher and S. A. Myatt.

Little Japanese stories, "The Magic Tea Kettle" and "The Woodcutter," were read by Miss Una Stark. Little Miss Dell Cahoon more than delighted the guests with a little Japanese song and willingly responded to the hearty applause with the encore "The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl Who Lisperd." Miss Ethlyn Bowman rendered several piano selections while tea and rice wafers were served to the guests.

The occasion won much praise from all present and was numbered as one of the most unique and enjoyable in the history of the Clarks.

Robert J. Overton spent Sunday and Monday at his home in Lewisville.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS STAGE TACKY PARTY

Glen Hutton and Vestal Tompkins win Tacky Prize for Looking Tacky.

Last Saturday night the T. C. U. Christian Endeavor staged a "tacky party" in the parlors of Jarvis Hall. Here the T. C. U. Christians endeavored to look tacky, and did not fail. The preachers came over from Goode Hall looking natural--a living prayer for the increase of ministerial salaries. Other people who are not preachers evinced phenomenal endowments for looking tacky. Rural costumes prevailed. Many assumed a rural dialect, and others did not need to.

In the middle of the floor there was a little hay stack--the prettiest little hay stack ever you did see--and the green grass grew all around. The via veritas was soon strewn with hay, which caused many a country swain and and demure to sneeze fit to kill, thus proving hay to be a good vacuum cleaner. A right smart of apples and grapes were also scattered thereabouts, and of these the natives partook in goodly quantities. At one end of the room there was a churn full of honest-to-gosh buttermilk, which the Freshmen explained to the old students and induced them to surround it.

After sufficient gluttony had ensued, the barn was called to order and each little rube spoke his little piece. Daniel Boone Keith and Kutey Kiddo Shelburne starred. After this the congregation indulged in such pastimes as "wink'em" and "Clap in and clap out." This being an infinite source of disappointment to some, everybody and his girl was asked to promenade around room premises while his and her tackiness was passed upon by the umpires. G. Silas Hutton and V. Mariah Tompkins were proclaimed the most disgraceful looking couple present. They were adorned to represent nobody knows what, which they did with great success. "Verily, Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." Thus was proved the Scripture, "And the ugliest shall be prettiest, and the prettiest shall be ugliest." Mr. Hutton and Miss Tompkins stalked off in great triumph with the just awards of their awful, aged ugliness, singing to each other as they went, "Yes, my darling, you will be

T. C. U. GIRLS BEGIN BASKETBALL PRACTICE PROSPECTS GOOD

Minnie Proctor is Manager and Captain--Cahoon is Coach--New Material is Good.

A meeting of the basket ball girls was called in chapel immediately after dinner Wednesday to discuss plans for the coming season. The prospects for a good basketball season are very bright. With Mr. Cahoon as coach and Minnie Proctor as manager, the girls are expecting to have a winning team. Vestal Tompkins, Venice Luce and Minnie Proctor are the only members of last year's team to return, but the new girls have made good records elsewhere and came to T. C. U. full of enthusiasm, and are anxious to make the T. C. U. team champion team of the State.

Last year our girls played a number of matched games, but this year they are planning to play the leading universities in the state. A hard schedule is being arranged, but several dates are still open.

Regular practice began Thursday, Oct. 15. Those who have reported for practice are: Ruby Parks, Irene Carson, Venice Luce, Vestal Tompkins, Helen Chaudoin, Ahta Harris, Percy Gallaher, Vera McKinnon, Elva Baxter, Louise Cabiness, Alma Simmons, Mary Ingalls, Minnie Proctor, Mattie Harrell and Mabel McLarry.

An echo from Texas Woman's College on the city's eastern border, tells us of the organization of a girls' basket ball team. Between fifteen and twenty fair damsels of that institution report each afternoon for practice. Prospects for a good basket ball year are very bright. The girls are enthusiastic over the outlook and more than anxious to play some matched game. Miss Edna Gallaher has been elected manager and is at present arranging a schedule for her team. Miss Tabby Smith, athletic director, is coaching the team. It is hoped by the girls of T. C. U. and T. W. C. that some games can be played between the basket ball teams representing the two schools. The girls of the purple and white are ready for them. Are the T. W. C. girls ready?

Question--What is the latest answer for a compliment?
Answered by a young freshman--"I know it."

Ever young and fair to me."
Protests of rank discrimination on the part of the referee arising, more refreshments were served, and the savage breasts were soothed. Just as the charm of personality was beginning to make itself felt through the awe-inspiring costumes, the curfew tolled the knell of parting time, and the lowing herds wound slowly down the lea toward Goode and Clarke Halls.

Summary--Everybody seemed to be happy. Many promised to come to Christian Endeavor. They ought to have to do it.

BIG ENDOWMENT FOR T. C. U. RAISED BY INSURANCE MAN

Life Insurance Policies Written by W. F. Reynolds of Dallas Made Payable to University--Agent is T. C. U. Graduate.

MANY ALREADY WRITTEN UP

W. F. Reynolds of Dallas, an alumnus of the 1903 class of Texas Christian University, is engaged in raising an endowment of several hundred thousand dollars for T. C. U. among the alumni of the institution, in the form of endowment policies, which are made payable to the University on the death of the alumnus who has the policy written.

Reynolds' plan is to have as many of the alumni and students of T. C. U. as possible take out a policy of $1,000 or more in favor of the university. At their death the amount of the policy will go to the endowment fund of the school. He has already written more than $30,000 of the amount which he is aiming at.

Among those at T. C. U. who have taken out policies are Dean Colby D. Hall, Prof. E. R. Cockrell and Prof. H. B. Dabbs. Herbert Bozeman of Fort Worth, a 1912 graduate, has also taken out a policy.

Reynolds announces that almost every member of the T. C. U. alumni chapter in Dallas has been written up. He had several of the policies with him when he spoke in the chapel Saturday morning.

Reynolds was one of the four men in the south who wrote more than $1,000,000 worth of life insurance in 1913. This fact makes it certain that his plan of raising a big endowment for T. C. U. will be a success. He has been one of the most liberal subscribers to T. C. U. to be found among the alumni. He has given much money in cash, and has many times pledged himself to give money when he had nothing and did not have the slightest idea where he was going to get it. But he always got it.

DOCTORS MAY AND GRISSO TREAT MANY

During the past few weeks Drs. May and Grisso, practicing physicians, have treated many football men, following their offer of free treatment to all pig-skin followers of the purple and white.

Among those treated are, Cox, Miller, Tudor, Burger, Garrett, Bradford, Broadley. All the boys have recovered quickly under the skillful treatment and are always able to get back into the game with very little delay.

Guy Rozar spent Sunday and Monday with his parents at his home in Childress.

Cullen Graves, '11, was visiting friends in the University this week. No doubt we will see Cullen often now.

R. Ledbetter spent Sunday with his son, Loy.

GIVE US SOME VARIETY.

The girls at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton are required to wear uniform dresses throughout the year. The regulation outfit to be worn during school hours by the entire student body is made as simple as possible. The latest demand on the vanity of the C. I. A. girls was that they should not wear silk hose—carrying out the idea of simplicity in school girls' dresses. This rule brought the young lady students up in arms; such an infringement of their personal liberties was out of the question. But the rule holds.

Now it doesn't seem that the girls at the normal should object to this requirement since there are no boys around the college. In fact, it is a good thing to have simple uniform dresses for the girls at these exclusive schools. But such a thing should not be tolerated in a co-educational institution. For a little variety is necessary there to keep up the interest of the boys. One observant T. C. U. student counted six different varieties of colored hose—and all silk too—in one class the other day. If all of the T. C. U. girls were dressed in the same uniform every day, he thinks that the sight of them would soon become monotonous, especially to the boys. A little variety adds to the spice of life.

HONOR SYSTEM IN THE SUPERLATIVE DEGREE.

The honor system has reached the superlative at the University of Texas. Two students in the University have established a stand in the gymnasium which contains all the confections and candies that one's heart could desire, and everyone is at liberty to take as much as he pleases, providing he leaves in the cash box the amount which is stamped on the package. Each student is left on his honor to act as the clerk and pay for whatever he takes. Another student has started a Saturday Evening Post stand, and the papers are being sold on the same basis as the candy. The success of such a system speaks very highly of the honor of the student body of the University. It certainly proves the practical working of the honor system among all classes of students. Here's a good idea for some T. C. U. student to adopt. He will need no clerk, and it will require only enough of his time to replenish his supply of goods and count the money which comes in.

SOME MANAGER, SURE.

That fellow who said he entered T. C. U. with $10, stayed there for six years, and left with $9.50, was sure some manager. We intended to interview him and find out how he did it, but were afraid he would hit us for a $1,000 life insurance policy. Conditions certainly must have been different when he was in school; or probably he had taken a course in economics on how to cut the cost of living in college. We suggest that the trustees employ him to give a series of lectures on "The Art of Going Through College without Visiting the Business Office."

We learn in psychology that some things grow annoying through being continued. This is true of stories and moving pictures.

"This water hot is tommy-rot,"
Bespoke the warm trustee,
"Of course good form: must have it warm,
Fer sech old gents as me—"

Testing people by psychology for occupations is developing marvelously. Those who are devoid of paid and pressure spots make excellent football players, while those who are deficient in cold spots are enabled to take a bath in Clark Hall.

"But I dew vum when I wuz young
I swan I 'low as how
The pledged water wasn't no hotter

Deutsche geschichte: A German boy once walked into a Fort Worth restaurant. He could not speak English, but this did not affect his German appetite. Quickly said he: "Ich bin sehr hungig." entirely loud, yes. "What will you have?" said the waiter, "eggs?" "Nein," said the German boy. "We only serve five at a time," said the waiter. "Raus mit du!" roared the German boy like a Krupp gun, and kicked the waiter out into the street, where he was run over by Mr. Dacus' auto truck and seriously annoyed. Moral: If you want to be a waiter in a Fort Worth restaurant, take German in T. C. U.

Thus cogitating and renovating,
His bath was finally through;
A little later he saw in the paper,
"Ten deaths in T. C. U."

Following the Quaker custom, we wonder if the Philadelphia baseball which Mr. Gowdy knocked out of the Boston city limits asked to be smitten on the other cheek.

"The deaths, we're told were caused by cold,
Both in the air and water.
Survivors say they'll leave to-day,
If both are not made hotter."

Some enterprising buccaneer built a grand stand overlooking the Star-Telegram's star ball player, and charges two bits a seat. In view of his success why not build a mechanical war fighter for the big war and stick foreigners $10 a seat?

At once phoned he to J. A. D.,
"Hot water, naughty grafter!"
And T. C. U. and the whole blamed crew
Lived happily ever after.

We believe the curse of betting ought to be stamped out of T. C. U. We lost a Hersheys and a sack of salted peanuts on Philadelphia last week.

200 Girls and Not a Fellow.

Could such a thing ever happen in T. C. U. We hope not. If it should, it would be time to start a matrimonial bureau in the cozy parlors of Jarvis Hall.

The story came out Monday. The matrons at the Texas Woman's College granted a suspension of rules Sunday afternoon, giving the junior and senior girls the privilege of having young men friends call on them. The girls at the exclusive woman's school had been trying ever since the opening of school to get such an opportunity.

But, unbelievable as it may seem, Sunday afternoon came and passed and not a single caller was welcomed in to the girls' dormitory. Whether mere man was afraid to venture into the midst of so many girls or whether the co-eds enjoy female company more than male company is not known.

Anyway it must have been a lonesome afternoon at the college. Some one ought to tell the girls that T. C. U. has more than enough boys to go around out here, and that they are gallant enough to help out their friends on the neighboring hill.

The freshmen and sophomore girls will be granted privileges next Sunday.

ANOTHER T. C. U. LOVE AFFAIR ENDS IN A HAPPY WEDDING

By Nell Andrew.

Mary Riter and Burl B. Hulsey of '11 United in Marriage by Prof. E. R. Cockrell at Forney.

Another college courtship, which had its beginning in T. C. U., was happily ended last week, when Miss Mary Riter and Burl B. Hulsey, both of the class of 1911, were married at Forney, Texas. Prof. E. R. Cockrell, who taught them while they were students in T. C. U., performed the ceremony.

Hulsey was one of the most popular students in T. C. U. while the school was in Waco. He was actively engaged in most of the student activities. Miss Riter had been teaching school at Forney since her graduation.

Their marriage recalled to the minds of some of the old timers many love affairs which began in T. C. U. and ended at the marriage altar. This latest marriage added to T. C. U.'s reputation as a rendezvous for cupid in his match-making expeditions.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB PREPARING FOR TRIPS

Mr. Cahoon and Prof. Hamner Coach Twenty-Five Men Doing Good Work.

The Texas Christian University Glee Club, which meets every Wednesday and Friday afternoon at 3:30, is fast rounding into good form. Professors Hamner and Cahoon are supervising the work, and much interest is being shown by the young men who are attending the rehearsals. The membership has already reached twenty-five, and judging from the quality of music the boys are making, it is thought that they will soon appear in public.

Prof. Hamner and Mr. Cahoon, who are leading the club, are well qualified for the work, Prof. Hamner having had charge of the glee clubs in T. C. U. for several years past, and taking part in the glee club and quartette when a student here many years ago. His voice has not yet lost its richness. Prof. Cahoon, who organized the T. C. U. band and orchestra soon after coming to this institution, is singing with the basses. His rich baritone voice greatly strengthens the basses.

As is customary every year, the glee club will probably make several trips to nearby points and give programs.

Members of the club are: First tenors, Hefner, Luck, Hill, Stevenson, Ledbetter, McNamara; second tenors, S. Sweeney, Broadley, Rupley, Frizzell, Tomlinson; first bass, Jones, R. Bradford, T. P. Sweeney, Prof. F. H. Cahoon; second base, Shockley, H. Tomlinson, Smith, H. Bradford.

PREP SOCIETIES ACTIVE

The two literary societies of the Academy have been organized and have started the years work with the old time ginger.

The Jarvis society was first organized in the spring term of 1914 and reorganized at the beginning of the school year. Meetings are held each Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in Miss Vickrey's classroom. The average attendance has been about thirty-two. Officers of the Society are: President Rollin Garrett Secretary and treasurer, Maude Keith.

The Roberts Literary Society was organized several years ago, and held the first meeting of the fall term Thursday October, 8, with thirty five present. They meet in Prof. Roberts classroom at 3:30 each Thursday afternoon. Boyd Clayton is President; May Owen, vice-president and Ellen Hartgrove, Secretary and treasurer.

Among the Academy students are some excellent debaters and inter-society debater are being planned in order to pick a team to debate outside schools of Preparatory standing.

Trinity University, Oct. 22, 1914.—The Trinitonian Supplement was published for the first time last week. The Supplement is a small four page weekly. Though it looks rather small to be called a weekly edition of a university, it is thought best to put out only what we are sure we can maintain in a financial way. Heretofore the students of Trinity have maintained, besides their annual, the Trinitonian. The Trinitonian is published monthly, and consequently is a poor medium for news. Despite every effort the news is from one to two weeks old when the readers get it. The Trinitonian staff are attempting to remedy this by publishing a weekly supplement. At present the Supplement is dependent on the Trinitonian.

Marrying Parson Performs

J. W. Stockley, the marrying parson at T. C. U. missed his breakfast Tuesday morning in order to unite another happy couple in the bonds of bliss, at Mineral Wells. Shockley was returning from an appointment at Whitt when he was hailed by the bride-to-be and pressed into service.

Cullen Graves, '11, was visiting friends in the University this week. No doubt we will see Cullen often now.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF T. C. U. HOLD MEETING

Important Matters Attended to. Education Secretary Elected

About twenty members of the Executive Board were present at Texas Christian University Tuesday to attend a call meeting of the Board. President Kershner presided, and several matters of importance were acted upon.

The executives took dinner in the dining room of the main building, and were treated to a brief concert by the T. C. U. orchestra while dining. The visitors were favorably impressed with everything they saw in every line of College life, and the school organizations. The orchestra, especially, was the subject of much favorable comment.

Following were those present at roll-call Tuesday forenoon: Executive members: President Kershner; H. W. Stark, Gainesville; F. G. Jones, Midland; S. P. Bush, Plano; C. W. Gibson, Waxahachie; George Cole, Belton; Dr. Bacon Saunders, Rev. E. M. Waits, Dr. Needham, Dr. R. H. Gough, J. L. Cassell, H. M. Durrett, Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth; T. E. Tomlinson, Hillsboro. Advisory Members:—Rev. J. O. Shelbourne, Dallas; Dr. S. A. Woodward; Rev. F. Bradford, Fort Worth.

At this meeting Rev. H. M. Bandy, of Ballinger, was elected educational secretary for the western part of the state. Plans were made for stressing the education day offering among the Texas churches, and many large gifts for the institution are expected as a result.

Kershner and Hall Elected to Offices; Former Student Speaks on South America

CHRISTIAN UNITY FAVORED

Two T. C. U. men were honored at the convention of the Disciples of Christ at Atlanta, Ga., which closed last week. President F. D. Kershner was elected secretary of the commission of Christian Union, the body that has the power of bringing before the world the plan for Christian Union. He has been known in the work of the commission before.

Colby D. Hall, dean of the university, was reelected secretary of the general convention. Other persons present at the convention from Ft. Worth were Mrs. Terry King, state secretary of the Woman's Missionary work; Mrs. Colby D. Hall and daughter, Beta May; Rev. L. D. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian church and Rev. E. M. Waits, pastor of the Magnolia Avenue Christian Church.

JACKSONS

SIXTH AND HOUSTON

The attention of the delegates was turned chiefly to the European war and its relation to the church, the unity of the churches and the prominence of Latin America in world affairs. Many speakers, who had been abroad during the war, spoke before the convention on various phases of the conflict.

The theme of Christian union, which is always prominent in a convention of Disciples, was emphasized in the Atlanta program. Speakers representing almost every religious denomination went on record as favoring the union of the churches.

S. G. Inman, a former student of T. C. U., addressed the body on the missionary work in South America. He had just returned from extensive travel on the southern continent, having been sent for the purpose of investigating and reporting conditions.

The next convention will be held in Los Angeles, July 21 to 28, during the time of the Panama Exposition.

THE FORUM

(Students' Editorial Column)

GENTLEMEN ARE POLITE.

Ravings and snortings come forth from the mouths and throats of our chivalrous gentlemen (?) when negroes usurp the seats of our Forest Park conveyance on their way to Little Africa's Country Club; yet blissful silence and smiling contentment shine on their countenances when white ladies are compelled to stand while white men sit.

Clothes may make a man; but clothes do not make a gentleman. The fact that workmen, clothed in overalls, have outdistanced some T. C. U. students, clothed in the dressiest style, in the race for the title of "gentleman" substantiates this statement. Coming from the city to their daily task on the new Bible College building, or returning to their homes, weary and worn by the day's strenuous labor, these workmen seldom fail to give up their seats to T. C. U. and other ladies when the street car is crowded; while our own dressed-in-the-most-up-to-date-spick-and-span-looking, near gentlemen, stolidly sit, allowing the ladies to stand.

More system is needed to our honor.
A. M. H.

Miss Nona Boegeman, a former student of T. C. U., who has recently returned from India, is a welcome guest in Jarvis Hall for a few days.

Mrs. C. B. Reeder of Anarillo is visiting in the University this week.

Ray Murray, a student in the university last year, was a visitor one day last week.

J. H. Harris of Midland, visited his daughter, Ahta, this week.

Judge Goss of Seymour was here this week to see his daughter, Mary.

Raymond E. Fox spent Sunday and Monday with his parents in Denton.
