PROMINENT Y.W.C.A. WORKERS ATTENDED CABINET CONFERENCE

Forty-five Delegates Entered by T.C.U. Association--Miss Burner Chief Speaker

Monday, April 19, forty-five cabinet members of Young Women's Christian Associations from several different schools in North Texas assembled in T. C. U. for a student cabinet conference. The meetings were held in the Shirley-Walton Hall in the Administration building. Miss Annie Kate Gilbert of Dallas, Chairman of the Student Committee of the Southwestern Field, presided. The delegates arrived on the ten-thirty car and went at once into the first session of the conference.

Miss Oolooah Burner, National Student Secretary from New York City, addressed the meeting on cabinet work in general, what the cabinet is, what it means, why it exists, etc., and gave each girl a broader view of her individual work in the cabinet as a whole.

Mrs. W. F. Barnum of the city association gave a talk to the girls on China, the work which is being done there and the work which lies open to be done. As is usual Mrs. Barnum's talk was full of inspiration and beautiful thought. She introduced to the meeting, Miss Reynolds of New York City, who was the first World Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., with headquarters in London. The inspiring, wholesome, heart to heart talk of Miss Reynolds on the work of the association as a whole, will live in the memory of each who heard it as a force to better and more efficient work.

At the afternoon session Miss Marguerite Stuart, Student Secretary of the Southwestern Field Committee, spoke on "Membership," giving a more complete idea of what membership in the association should mean. Miss Burner again addressed the meeting on the more technical questions of cabinet work.

At 4 o'clock the girls adjourned to the parlors of Jarvis Hall where an informal reception was given.

The last session of the conference and the one perhaps which was most meaningful in drawing the girls together as co-workers in a great and noble cause, was the vesper service conducted by Miss Burner from 4:30 until 5:15. Her appeal for earnest, thorough work, showing the great privilege and purpose of cabinet members in the association, seemed to unite each in a common tie and to bring the realization that after all, service is one of the biggest things in life.

In every detail the conference was a success. Delegates from the following schools were here: College of Industrial Arts, Denton; Trinity University, Waxahachie; Texas Presbyterian College, Milford; Texas Woman's College, Fort Worth; North Texas State Normal, Denton.

The association here wishes to take this means of thanking those who were so kind to help and cooperate in welcoming and entertaining the guests of the day.

WELL ACTED COMEDY IS STAGED BY WALTONS AS OPEN SESSION PROGRAM

Presentation of "Mennemen Inn" Shows Ability Among Society Members

Sparkling with the vivacity of seventeen pretty girls who composed the cast for "Mennemen Inn", the three act comedy presented in the auditorium last Friday as the opening program of the Walton Literary Society proved to be one of the most delightful entertainments of the year.

The play chosen was very appropriate to the occasion. It combined with the wit and humor of the production enough seriousness to make the lesson of the play stand out forcefully. The choice of characters for the play showed excellent judgment on the part of the director. Miss Powell and Miss Humphrey of the oratory department coached the girls for the performance.

It would be an impossibility for a mere man to pick the star. The only way the question can be settled is to say that the entire cast were stars. The only fault of the performance was that the voices of the actors failed to carry to the back of the auditorium.

Miss Mary Grace Muse as Miss Honesty Bragg, the New England landlady who never found any "Gold Dust Twins" to do her work, kept the audience in laughter all the time she was on the stage. Her make-up and humorous acting made an instant hit with the audience.

The finer bits of acting were done by Miss Ruby Walker, who, as Helena Strong, the school teacher who was supposed to be a rich girl from Labrador, Maine, was the heroine of the play. Although an amateur, her work did not appear at all amateurish. In the scenes with Josephine Morrison, where she showed her true self, her work displayed real talent along artistic lines. Anna McLendon as Josephine Morrison, the radiant Miss just 18 and eager to take part in the pleasures of the older people, acted the part with a liveliness of spirit that suited the character to perfection.

Miss Vestal Tompkins as Helena's aunt, Miss Masal Jeffers as Viva Delancey, the rich girl from New York City, Miss Margaret Forsythe as Francis Morrison, Miss Mary Hanan as Mrs. Weatherbee, a gay widow of 35, Miss Vera Lewis as Dorothy Morrison, and Miss Myrtle Goforth, as Mrs. "Colonel Carter", Miss Delancey's chaperon, forming the group of summer boarders at the Mennemen Inn, aided in the development of the plot. Each of them had her part well worked up and acted it with an ease and gracefulness that were marks of good training.

Some of the best character acting was done by the girls representing the helpers at the Mennemen Inn. Miss Frances Thompson as the Irish chamber maid and Miss Anna Jo Pendleton as the cook, afforded much of the amusement.

Support of Student Body Only Thing Needed to Make Horned Frogs Win

The two games scheduled to be played between T. C. U. and the Texas Longhorns were cancelled Thursday by mutual agreement. Texas plays Baylor Saturday and since the Longhorns would have to lie over till Monday, it was thought that it would be better, for financial reasons, to call off the games here.

A contract has been signed for two games to be played on the local field on the fifth and sixth of May between T. C. U. and Baylor.

T. C. U. will play A. and M. two return games Wednesday and Thursday April 28 and 29 on the Varsity field. These two games will largely determine the Horned Frogs' final ranking in the T. I. A. A.

A. & M. defeated Texas 4 to 3 last Thursday, which gave the Aggies a ranking near the top. The Horned Frogs lost both games to the Aggies on the road trip, and the games in Fort Worth next week will be T. C. U.'s last chance to "come back." Errors and wild throws cost T. C. U. both games last week. Baseball critics say the Horned Frogs have as good a nine as the Aggies, and the T. C. U. men believe they can beat them on home grounds. They can if we get behind them.

A. & M. alumni in Fort Worth are backing the Farmers with full strength and will be on hand next week to root for their team. They expect to make the games between T. C. U. and A. & M. in Fort Worth the big athletic events of the year. If T. C. U. students ever hope to see their team play the best games of the season on the home field, they must support them to the last man. Only the undivided support of the student body will make it possible to land the big games for Fort Worth.

The seventh game of the road trip

RANDOLPH CLARK TALKS TO STUDENTS AT SAN JACINTO DAY MEETING

One of Founders of Institution Gives Review of Early Texas History

Though T. C. U. did not enjoy a holiday April 21, San Jacinto Day was celebrated by an appropriate Chapel program. The students assembled while the orchestra played an excellent medley which combined all the patriotic airs and martial strains of Texas and the United States. By the time this snappy--yet beautiful--piece was completed, the whole student body had caught the "San Jacinto Spirit", and were prepared for the stirring address that followed. Brother Randolph Clark, the speaker of the morning, needed no introduction to the University people, as his long and faithful work in the interest of T. C. U. is well known to all. He began his talk by expressing his love and gratitude to the old pioneers of Texas, the men whose earnest, self-sacrificing efforts made it possible for this state to reach its present state of development. He spoke of the noble undertaking of Moses Austin, and the earnest work of his son, Stephen F. Austin, in carrying out the plans of his father. The real credit for the victory of Texas, Brother Clark stated, should not go to the generals of the army, but to the home-builders.

The speaker was intimately acquainted with many of the old Texans who fought in the Revolution. He introduced us in a very interesting way to the battle ground of San Jacinto, and showed that history was mistaken somewhat in the details of the battle. In fact, he said it was not really a battle, but a "killing."

Brother Clark concluded his address by drawing valuable lessons from Texas History. He showed that the Lone Star State could never have succeeded, had not its early leaders given up their personal ambitions and lived only to serve their fellowmen.

Mrs. J. J. Jarvis followed Bro. Clark and related some interesting anecdotes connected with Texas History.

MOULDERS CLUB TO GIVE SCHOLARSHIP AT T. C. U.

PROGRAM FOR T.C.U. DAY AT CONVENTION IN DALLAS ARRANGED

Special Excursion on Education Day, May 6--Students and Glee Clubs on Program

Two excursions and special rate have been secured for those who intend to go to the Texas Christian Missionary Convention which meets in Dallas from May 3 to May 6. One excursion will leave Tuesday, the first day of the meeting, and the second will leave here Thursday morning.

Efforts will be made to get enough students in the university to go over on Thursday, May 5, which is Education Day, to insure a holiday for the entire school. The local committee in charge with Dean Hall at the head, wants several hundred students and faculty members combined to go over and boost for T. C. U. Thursday will be designated as T. C. U. Day, and the entire morning session will be turned over to the university. A number of students and teachers will appear on the program. The Orchestra and Glee Clubs will furnish music for the morning program.

The devotional service will be conducted at 9 a. m. by W. P. Jennings of McKinney. At 9:40 a. m. the presentation of the work of Brite College of the Bible will take place. Following this the Preachers' Quartette will sing.

Seven five minute talks by ministerial students will be one of the features of the program. The subjects and the men who will conduct the five minute discussion are as follows:

- "Students as Evangelists," James A. Crain.
- "Students as Pastors," J. W. Shockley.
- "Students and Foreign Missions," Miss Ruth Musgrave.
- "Students' Preparation in the Bible," F. W. Strong.
- "Becoming a Part of the Brotherhood," William Jones.
- "Students in Local Mission Work," W. B. Higgins.
- "Helping the Problem of Ministerial Supply," Patrick Henry.
- Colby D. Hall, secretary of the Convention, will give a general summary of the topics discussed by these students.

At 10:30 the reports of the various colleges in the university group will be read. T. E. Tomlinson, president of the board of trustees of Texas Christian University, will give the financial report for T. C. U. Following this, president F. D. Kerschner will give his report to the convention. President F. G. Jones of Midland College will give the report for his school and Judge Jesse F. Holt, chairman of the board of Carr-Burdette-Carlton College, will read the report for that college.

COLLEGE HOSPITALITY.

The spirit of a college and its students is reflected to a great extent in the hospitality which they show their visitors.

When a group of students, or non-students for that matter, visit another institution, they judge it almost entirely by the manner in which they are received by the students of the school. If they are greeted with a hearty handshake by the students whom they meet and are made to feel that they are as welcome as they would be at home, they leave that school full of praises for its excellent spirit. If they are not received with a ready cordiality and entertained as they should be, they spread the news to others whom they meet from all parts of the state. They would tell the story related by the boy who, in answer to a question as to what he had had for dinner, replied that he had had poke and grits. He poked his feet under the table and gritted his teeth.

Although it would be superficial to judge the work and standing of a college by the reception and entertainment which it gives, its hospitality is certainly a gauge for its spirit and the spirit of its student body.

When the recent Cabinet Conference of the Young Women's Christian Associations of five Texas Colleges met here, the delegates were profuse in their expressions of appreciation for the royal treatment shown them during the day they were here. It is the T. C. U. spirit to make visitors as much at home here as if they were in their own homes.

Students should realize their responsibility in this matter and do all in their power to make T. C. U. hospitality stand for something. The University's reputation with the people and especially the young people over the state depends largely on its hospitality.

Any member of any of the various athletic teams which have made trips to the other colleges of the state can tell you just exactly what kind of a school each institution he has visited is. The reputation a school gets for the treatment shown a team on such occasions spreads. If its students show a genuine hospitality the news will spread, and the school will gain a reputation and good name over the state which will be of inestimable value to it. If its students lack a hospitable spirit, the news spreads still faster, and a bad reputation will be established.

Next week T. C. U. will have as her guests the baseball teams of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. While here these men should be shown every courtesy that can be extended them by the students of the University. Just as our own players appreciate the consideration which they received on their trip, so these men will appreciate and remember any gentlemanly courtesies, which we show them.

Although T. C. U. may not always win on the athletic field, she can always win in exhibitions of hospitality and fair play.

ADVERTISING T. C. U.

One of the biggest advertisements ever given Texas Christian University will be the special train which Prof. Cockrell is to direct to the great Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco this summer. It will be known as the T. C. U. Special and will carry mostly T. C. U. students and friends to the World's Fair. During the three week's tour which the train makes, those on the train will have the opportunity to spread the name and fame of varsity among thousands of people.

If any student is contemplating going to the exposition, this town will offer him many advantages which he cannot get by any other means. For a very reasonable cost the traveler will be afforded the best accommodations that can be secured, the congenial, entertaining company of many of his friends and acquaintances, a most delightful tour from the scenic side and a visit to the exposition all combined.

How About It, College Editors?

Last year at a meeting of the college editors the intercollegiate news service was instituted, and the editors present entered into a mutual agreement to stand responsible for sending a budget of news from their college in exchange for news from the other schools. They enthusiastically ratified the college press service idea.

In talking about the college editor's meeting for this year, The Daily Texan had the following editorial last week:

Close association of the college publications of the state would do more than anything else to promote the right kind of feeling among the colleges. The college publication forms the chief connecting link between the students of the colleges. If these newspapers can be brought into close connection through an inter-collegiate news service, there will be a better understanding between the various student bodies.

To come around to the point, the Press Club wishes to hold the meeting again this year.

College editors of the state, let us hear from you.

There seems to be quite a difference of opinion in regard to the value of the college press news, and there is certainly a decided slackness in the use of the exchange service.

The editor of the Megaphone at Southwestern University does not see where he can get any good out of the service and makes no use whatever of it, either in his own paper or in sending news neostyle each week by the boys of the state juvenile training school at Gatesville. All the work connected with editing and publishing the sheet is done by the boys themselves. One peculiar point about the paper is that when a boy leaves the institution, the paper always says that it is glad he is gone, and when a new one comes in, it is sorry he has been sent there.

J. H. Monk, a T. C. U. student, assisted in establishing the paper while he was there in the interest of Christian Endeavor work.

to other papers. The Baylor Lariat editor appreciates the value of it to his paper and gives what space he can to it, but on the exchange side of the proposition furnishes an exclusive news service for the Daily Texan, giving the other papers of the state no consideration whatever.

The A. & M. Battalion publishes news from other schools whenever it has the space to spare without cutting out items of local interest, but its efforts at sending out a weekly bulletin are rather spasmodic.

In fact, the Daily Texan and the C. I. A. Lass O, are the only papers which send out their exchange news with any show of regularity. Also they give more space to inter-collegiate news than the other papers.

This matter of the college press service has come to the point where a settlement is needed. The various college press agents do their work merely for the joy (?) they get out of it. Only three of them enjoy the work enough to tend to it every week. If the college papers are not going to make use of the service, it should be discontinued.

If the college editors are not going to stand by their agreement to support it, they should drop it and absolve themselves.

How about it, College editors?

NEW LARIAT EDITOR
Terminating what was one of the warmest student political battles ever seen in Baylor, W. H. Walker of Dallas, present news editor of the Lariat, was elected to the editor's chair for next year over the young woman's candidate, Miss Irene Lacey, at a meeting of the Self-Government Association, attended by four hundred students last Thursday night.—Baylor Lariat

Greetings to the new editor of the Lariat. You want to look out for these women suffragists, though, for they'll be hot on your trail next year. For your sake, we hope that they won't adopt any of the methods used by the English militarists. Better go easy and not get them aroused.

Anyway, Jim is some orator. He used to stir the air in the old T. C. U. chapel when he spoke for the Shirleys in the inter-society contests and in the oratorical preliminaries. T. C. U. has turned out some mighty good stuff in the way of speakers, only to see them go to Austin to take up the study of law. This will be changed next year. Our men can stay here and get their law work and employ their forensic powers for the glory and honor of old T. C. U.

Dan Williams, present managing editor of the Daily Texan, was nominated by the staff for editor-in-chief next year. At Texas merit and experience are the deciding factors in naming the editors of the paper. The naming of Williams for this substantial promotion came as a result of his evident editorial and managing ability. It is expected that there will be opposition to his election.

A writer in the "Firing Line," the students' column in the Daily Texan, suggests that it be changed from "Firing Line" to "Student Opinion." He claims that the present name has too much suggestion of war and discontent. His idea is certainly worth consideration.

SENIORS PLANT IVY AROUND BUILDINGS AS THEIR MEMORIAL

Genuine old English ivy was planted around the five buildings on the University campus this week by members of the Senior class as a gift to their alma mater. Exercises accompanying the presentation of the gift to the school, were held on the steps of the main building Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the Seniors and members of the faculty on the program appearing in caps and gowns.

Regular chapel exercises were suspended, and the student body gathered on the campus in front of the building to witness the planting of the ivy. The orchestra opened the program with a selection.

Professor E. R. Cockrell, Senior class

professor, made an address in which he praised the class for their work and interest in the school. E. R. Bentley, president of the Senior class, made the speech of presentation. He discussed the value of university traditions and expressed the hope that the gift of the 1915 class would stand for all time to come as a fitting memorial to the University.

Following his speech, the first twig of ivy was planted by the class.

Clyde Tomlinson, vice president of the Student Association, with remarks appropriate to the occasion, accepted the gift on behalf of the student body. Dean Colby D. Hall made the speech of acceptance for the faculty. The exercises were closed with a benediction by Dr. Lockhaat.

It is expected that it will take about three years for the moss to completely cover the front of the buildings around which it was planted. The ivy used is a direct descendant of that which decorates the college buildings of old Oxford University in England.

AUSTIN COLLEGE ORATOR WINS STATE CONTEST; T.G.U. MAN COMES THIRD

Association Will Meet Here
 Next Year—Local Men
 Are Officers

In the eighteenth annual convention of the State Oratorical Association held at Austin College, Sherman, last Friday, L. J. Sherril, of the local school won first place and a prize of a $40 watch and $35 in cash. His subject was "America's Opportunity at the Cost of Blood." The other contestants and their standing is as follows:

O. W. Moerner, Southwestern, and L. D. Dollahite, Baylor, 2nd place tie. Alden Evans, T. C. U.,—3rd place. W. Lipscomb, Texas U.,—4th place. E. Tidwell, Trinity U.,—5th place. R. Haley, Simmons College—6th place. J. N. Land, Daniel Baker—7th place.

It is of especial interest to note that Alden Evans of T. C. U. tied Moerner of Southwestern for second place on manuscript, while his ranking of fifth place on delivery and the tie of Baylor and Southwestern gave him the final grade of third place. Mr. Evans had an excellent stage appearance and, although not the lucky one in the judges' decision, represented T. C. U. in a most praiseworthy manner.

The delegates and orators were the guests of Austin College Friday at dinner. This occasion was rendered doubly enjoyable by after dinner speeches from the variously business representatives. John Keith in his talk upon "The Orators in the European War" won applause and extended a hearty invitation to the students of the other Texas Colleges to become the guests of T. C. U. during the 1916 convention. The dinner was followed by a pleasant spin to Dennison in autos, the whole party returning in time for the Contest Friday evening.

Upon the nomination by John Keith, agent for the T. C. U. Oratorical Association, Horace Jones was unanimously selected by the convention at Austin College as president of the Texas Intercollegiate Oratorical Association for the year 1915-16.

Another act of the convention was to make a constitutional amendment providing for the selection of the judges by correspondence instead of by a preliminary business meeting as has been the custom heretofore. Denton Normal was refused admission to the association on the grounds that the constitution allows only eight members.

James H. McBride was elected corresponding secretary. C. V. King of Trinity is the new vice-president.

"A BEAUTIFUL AND FINE EVENING" SPENT AT GLEN GARDEN BY T.C.U. BOYS

The Glee Club boys' trip to Glen Garden Country Club as guests of the Korosophian Literary Society of Texas Woman's College last Tuesday evening, terminated in a walk alone down the railroad tracks home. The boys, through lack of patience to wait for a car to take them away, left a few minutes after they had arrived at the club and they immediately began to step the railroad ties all the way to the city car line tracks, singing: "If that's what you call a wonderful time, take me home."

The singers sallied forth in the cool of the evening, arrayed in full-dress, each of their faces radiant with beams of joy on account of the nice warm reception they would receive from the fair sex hailing from the city's eastern border. Alighting from the interurban their faces grew brighter and brighter and each heart grew lighter and lighter as they came nearer and nearer the club house which lay several hundred yards over the hills. The boys enjoyed the walk from the car line through the pasture and at last came to the end of the board walk which led to the back door. After finding the front entrance the boys disposed of their opera coats by placing them on the floor and in other available places.

 So far, so good. Then they began to look for a receiving line, but in vain. They did see, though, about three hundred persons, all boys except a few in the house and on the porches. Groups of ten and fifteen boys were scattered here and there smoking to pass the time away or else just standing still with a weird kind of wonder-why-we're-here look on their faces. Boys and girls sitting together or promenading with each other were rare, singular and extraordinary sights, and girls by themselves were as scarce as hen teeth.
 The Glee Clubbers were asked to come out at eight-thirty o'clock, which necessitated their catching the first car after eight to Glen Garden. The boys reached there shortly before nine and stayed about fifteen minutes, then "pulling their caps down over their brows, they began their slow and painful journey."
 "A beautiful, large evening was had by all."
 The boys are counting on taking an extra pair of shoes along next time for walking purposes.

THE FAIR

Well Acted Comedy Staged by Waltons

ment of the evening. They kept the inn in a constant uproar and the landlady in a perpetual bother.

The delineation of the characters of the landlady's niece by Miss Monette Whaley, of Miss Delancy's maid by Miss Mollie Jones, of the little girl who delighted in teasing her mother by Miss Gladys Richards, of the up-to-date waitress by Miss Minnie Proctor, of the butter and eggs girl by Miss Winnie Limbaugh and of the Manicure girl by Miss Irene Carson, were also skillfully performed and aided in the elimination of any amateur appearance about the comedy.

A number of young ladies from Texas Woman's College and Polytechnic Hill were present and enjoyed the play.

Roland Billingsley went home Saturday to spend a few days.

Last Games of Road Trip

played last Thursday at Austin was taken by the Longhorns 8 to 0. Five of the Texas men's scores came the first inning. T. C. U. got only two hits, both in the ninth inning, but the Horned Frogs were held on the bags.

Errors, mostly wild throws, from the first to the ninth inning, cost T. C. U. a game at A. & M., 14 to 2, last Friday afternoon. The game was slow and uninteresting until the Aggies started a batting fest in the sixth inning which netted five more runs.

Cherry of A. & M. was the star player, making himself obnoxious to the Horned Frogs with his two and three base hits.

Batteries W. Skeeler, L. Skeeler and Russell for A. & M., and Vaughn and Christenberry, T. C. U.

T. C. U. ended the last game of the road trip with a loss to the A. & M. team 4 to 0, last Saturday. Olson struck out sixteen Horned Frogs and allowed only two to get hits.

T. C. U. never got a man as far as third base.

Crotty got two strikeouts and Shelburne three. T. C. U. made nine errors.

The first scores were made when Shelburne walked Cherry and Coleman drove out a three base hit and scored on an overthrow. Berniger got a single stole second and third and scored on Olson's single. In the sixth Beringer brought in the final point.

Batteries, Olson and Coleman for A. and M. and Shelburne, Crotty and Miller.

NEW LEADING LADY WITH BEN GREET NOTED ACTOR

Miss Elsie Herndon Kearns, the leading woman in the plays to be given by the Ben Greet Players in Forest Park on May the 10 and 11, is one of the few making up the original English Company which came to this country twelve years ago. Miss Kearns has had many flattering offers to go into opera but she prefers the natural woodland surroundings which can be had with the open air performances. She is truly a child of the woods, pretty, vivacious, and altogether one of the best little actresses ever seen on a local stage. All who saw her interpretations last year and especially those who met her are enthusiastic over her return this year in the leading roles.

Besides Miss Kearns and Ben Greet himself there are about 25 other players. A quartette and an orchestra also accompany the troupe.

The management this year expects every ticket to be sold before the nights of the performances. Every seat was taken at the night bill last year and most of them at the matinee show.

Season tickets, with reserved seats will be on sale within about a week. The admission is surprisingly low for this quality of the Shakespearean interpretation.

O. W. Moerner of Southwestern spent Monday with Homer Tomlinson. Moerner represented his school in the state oratorical contest last week.
