NUMBER 7

17 PRIZES AWARDED T. C. U. ARTISTS AT TEXAS STATE FAIR

Expected That More Awards Will Come to Mrs. Cock- rell's Students by Later De- cisions in Amateur Contests

Up to date seventeen prizes have been awarded to the students of the T. C. U. Art Department at the Texas State Fair at Dallas in the amateur art contest. T. C. U. students have a large number of exhibits in the display of fine arts students' work and for china work, but prizes have not been awarded for exhibits in these classes.

Last year T. C. U. art students won thirty-five prizes at the State Fair. It is expected that when the final decisions are made the number of prizes for this year will greatly exceed that of last year.

Dura Louise Cockrell, the 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. E. R. Cockrell, head of the T. C. U. Art Department, won four prizes for amateur art work.

Some of the winners and their prizes are:

Dura Louise Cockrell, winner of first prize for the best original design for book cover.

Dura Louise Cockrell, winner of second prize for design for table cover, curtain or scarf.

Dura Louise Cockrell, first prize in original pencil drawing.

Dura Louise Cockrell, second prize for original charcoal drawing.

Annie Mae Tanner, first prize for the six best drawings in water colors, charcoal and pencil.

Fay Wilcoxon, first prize in specimen drawing from still life in charcoal; Annie Lee Harris, second prize, and

FRESHMEN CHALLENGE SOPHS FOR FOOTBALL GAME; ELECT CAPTAIN

Professor H. B. Dabbs Chosen Class Professor; Other Officers Elected

An organization has been effected in the freshman football realm with Lorraine Dutton manager and Paul Pirkle captain. A challenge was issued to the sophomores for a pre-Thanksgiving football game. Negotiators of the sophomores may make arrangements by seeing either Dutton or Pirkle.

Other business at the freshman meeting was the election of Errett Williams, sergeant-at-arms; Charley Butts, class historian and Prof. H. B. Dabbs, class professor.

COMPLETION OF PROPOSED ATHLETIC FIELD ON CAMPUS WILL MAKE T. C. U. A CENTER FOR HIGH SCHOOL MEETS

Definite plans for a campaign to raise $10,000 among the alumni of T. C. U. for the erection of an athletic field on the campus are being rapidly worked out by supporters of T. C. U. athletics.

First official announcement of the alumni's purpose to build an athletic field for the University was made this week by Milton E. Daniel, one of the staunchest friends of Varsity athletics and the man who originated the idea and has done most of the work in the interest of raising the money for the project.

Daniel, who is organizing the movement, intends to make a whirlwind finish of the proposition. He will choose a number of earnest and enthusiastic co-workers and together they will make an effort to raise the necessary money in a few days.

Besides the great boost which a modern, up-to-date athletic field will give to local athletics the chief advantage of the new field will be the opportunity it will give T. C. U. of being the center of all athletic meets held in North and Northwest Texas. When the new field is completed the directors of T. C. U. athletics will invite all the high schools and prep schools in this section of the state to gather here for their annual competitive contests.

REPORTED THAT PRES. KERSHNER WILL BE EDITOR

First notice of the acceptance by Dr. Frederick D. Kershner, president of the University who is in Washington, D. C. on leave of absence, of the editorship of the Christian Evangelist was received here through a news article in the Record of Tuesday, Oct. 26.

Since his marriage last July to Miss Elsie Martin of Fort Worth, a former student of T. C. U., Dr. Kershner has been in Washington writing for a publishing house for Sunday school literature.

Although it was generally understood that he would not return to T. C. U., it was not known what his plans for the future were.

The Christian Evangelist, of which he takes charge as editor Dec. 1, is the official weekly publication of the Disciples of Christ with headquarters at St. Louis.

Dr. Kershner has recently been engaged in conducting a revival in the city of Washington. His present address is 1646 1-2 New Jersey avenue.

No word has been received from him by the business office for three weeks.

T.C.U. DEFEATS SEMINARY IN CLOSE TOURNAMENT

T. C. U. men won the majority of sets in a tennis tournament with the racqueteers from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Tuesday on the campus courts.

Tomlinson lost one set to Wither- spoon and won the next two. Pettus lost one set to Bates and won two. Pirkle and Pettus defeated Bates and Knight, 6-3 and 6-love. Tomlinson and Payne broke even with Wither- spoon and Williams in the doubles, winning one and losing one.

Efforts will be made to promote among the high school students a desire to gather here for all their meets and thus establish a custom among them of making T. C. U. their center.

If T. C. U. can get several hundred high school athletes together here every year and show them a royal welcome by entertaining them in real T. C. U. style and sending them home with the feeling that T. C. U. is the only place in the world for them to go to school, a perceptible increase in the enrollment and especially in the number of athletes gained would be the result.

The athletic field which is being planned will be complete in every respect. A spacious grandstand and a first-class gymnasium will be built in connection with it. A gridiron, baseball diamond, track and basketball courts will all be provided.

With the erection of a gymnasium on the campus it is expected that every student in the University will be required to take a certain amount of physical training during his freshman and sophomore years. This system is being followed at a large number of schools.

HALLOWEEN GHOSTS TO RULE THE HILL SATURDAY NIGHT

Something's Going to Happen But Nobody Knows What: Come and See

Halloween is the time when the young folks are supposed to frolic and flirt with one another and with the future. All the young people around T. C. U.—which includes everybody on college hill—are invited to the big Halloween celebration which is to be held under the auspices of the University Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s in Jarvis Hall and on the campus Saturday night beginning at 8 o'clock.

A merry spirit of fun is to reign supreme that night. The frolicsome stunts which have been planned for the occasion are being kept secret, but those on the inside say that All Hallow Eve at T. C. U. this year is to surpass any previous Halloween known, which is saying a great deal.

In order to make to make the affair as ghostly as possible all students are asked to appear wrapped in sheets. Among other things a huge bonfire will be built to throw light on the proceedings. A few really entertaining ghost stories will add interest to the evening's enjoyment.

In the Monday Waco Times-Herald we read of the death of the father of one of our former students and a graduate of the Art Department, Sue Webb of Mart. The Brushes and all her other many friends extend heartfelt sympathy to Miss Webb.

6 STUDENTS WILL REPRESENT T.C.U. IN BIG PAGEANT

Plans for T. C. U.'s representation in the pageant which is to be held in Fort Worth Nov. 18 when the famous old Liberty Bell of Philadelphia passes through the city have been almost completed by Mrs. E. R. Cockrell, member of the general committee on arrangements, and John Keith, president of the Students' Association.

Keith has procured a large, flat auto truck and Mrs. Cockrell has worked out the design for decorating the float.

Six students will be needed to take part on the float to typify different periods of American history. A senior couple, a junior couple, sophomore boy and a freshman boy will be elected for these places.

Keith has announced that these classes must choose their representatives by next Monday afternoon.

The seniors have selected Miss Pansy Bozeman and Mr. Thornton as their representatives.

The part that the general student body will take in the celebration will be announced later.

BOTH AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION PASSED

Two amendments to the honor system constitution were ratified by the Students' Association at a meeting Wednesday morning in chapel. One allows the Law School a representative on the Student Council and the other provides that the classes must elect their members for the council within the first month of school.

Miss Vickrey Teaching

A card has been received by Miss Naomi Lockhart from Miss Winnifred Vickrey, Academy English teacher of last year, that her father had died at his home in Austin, was on her way home to attend the funeral. Her many friends among both faculty and student body will regret to learn of this sad news, and we desire to extend to the family our sincere sympathy.

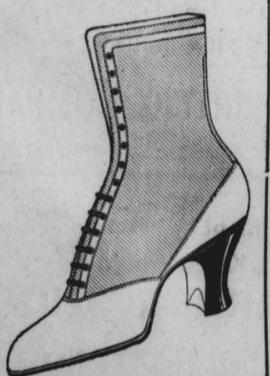

Miss Vickrey is teaching this fall in the public school at Alice.

Only Beginners

The Daily Texan has issued an objection to other college papers making verbatim use of its intercollegiate news notes. That's right College papers fail in what should be one of their objects when they run clipped stuff instead of having members of the staff write the articles. A college paper should serve as a training ground for students who want to learn reporting and should hold their space open for their own reporters rather than use the work done by students of other schools than their own.

Of course clipped stuff may be better. But at the risk of causing its readers to suffer somewhat because of the style and content of a beginner's story, the college paper ought to give this beginner a chance to practice up in its columns until he attains proficiency.

Consider The Skiff for instance. We are all beginners in newspaper work and realize it. We also admit that we are practicing on the readers of The Skiff in an effort to improve our style and become really experienced and capable writers. If your sense of propriety is ever shocked by what you read in The Skiff, remember that it's due to the unknowing mistake of a beginner and forgive him for his ignorance.

Why Not Hiking Clubs?

A college press bulletin from the College of Industrial Arts says that a Hike Club has been organized for the girls as a phase of college athletics. The hikes are directed by the athletic instructors and are conducted three times a week, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Walking is the simplest but most popular and one of the most effective forms of exercise that one can take. In a school where a large and well-equipped gymnasium is not available for the use of the students, hiking should be resorted to as a substitute for the usual gym exercises.

That is the situation in T. C. U. The majority of our students do not take enough systematic exercise. The University ought to require some form of regular athletic work from every student. As hiking offers a mode of exercise which is both healthful and pleasurable, clubs could be organized among the student body for the purpose of developing the walking habit.

Since T. C. U. is a coeducational school, it would not be out of place to have mixed hiking groups. Surely enough long-winded chaperones could be found. However, if this plan is not acceptable, separate clubs could be made the rule and joint hikes taken only at intervals.

"Our Men"

Greater than the exultant feeling of victory after a successful but hard fought football game, greater than the spirit of enthusiasm we feel in backing a winning team, greater than these is the pride we take in the fact that our men play a clean game in every contest and against every foe.

To know that the sturdy men who have the honor of the purple and white in their hands on the gridiron are playing a clean game causes us to delight in calling them "our team," "our men" and "our players."

Football players are in the limelight of college life and nearly every student looks to them as the men who should set the highest ideal of physical manhood for their fellow students.

When one of these men fails to lead a clean personal life it is rapidly spread among the students that he is not true to his colors and is not deserving of the support of his fellows.

When one of our players breaks the training which is so necessary for successful work on the field, students feel that he is disloyal to his school and to them whom he represents on the gridiron. Those who have the true interests of the school in athletics at heart feel a tinge of disgrace that one of our men should so far forget himself as to disregard the rules which are so fundamental in retaining the honor of the school.

Living a clean life is as important as playing a clean game.

Proud of Them

T. C. U. is proud of the record made this year at the State Fair by members of the art department. A large number of prizes were awarded Mrs. Cockrell's students for the exhibits which they entered in the display contests. This is not all. T. C. U. work has won numerous prizes at other fairs and in other contests of art work.

Some of our folks do not realize just what the art department is accomplishing. This is because they have not seen the actual work which the artists turn out. All the prize-winning paintings, drawings, designs and china work should be placed on exhibit here when they are returned in order that every one can view the work.

Peaceful Hallowe'en

The time is past when destructive mischief in connection the observance of Halloween should be countenanced. Merrymaking is in keeping with the customary practice of celebrating the night of Oct. 31, but wilful destruction is not.

The plans outline for the celebration of Halloween here at T. C. U. should result in a thoroughly enjoyable and yet a thoroughly peaceful night for all. The plan is to have a good time but not to leave any stigma attached to it. It is to be hoped that such will be the result of our evening's entertainment.

Regulating T. C. U. Traffic

Why doesn't the faculty adopt a traffic ordinance for the regulation of pedestrianism in the halls of the University and appoint a traffic cop to compel observance of the law?

Why not also pass a move-on ordinance to prevent students congregating in the halls and making it unlawful for the boys to talk to the girls in the halls or for the girls to promenade in the passageways?

Fort Worth has model laws in these respects and the city officials would be glad to offer advice as to the adoption of such regulative measures in T. C. U.

University Library Gets Valuable Set of Science; May be Only One in South

By PROF. W. M. WINTON

The library of Texas Christian University contains one of the very few files of the first series of the Science Magazine in the world. The file, which was obtained after the librarian, Miss Neil Andrews, had hunted for it throughout the United States, contains twenty-three volumes.

The magazines in the life date back from the first week of the publication in June, 1883, and extend through 1894. It was found by an old book dealer in Boston a few days ago and has just been forwarded to Texas Christian University.

It is believed that the file is the only one of its kind this side of St. Louis and perhaps the only one besides the one in that city in existence, except the one in the library of Columbia university, New York City.

The magazine is the official publication of practically every learned scientific society in the United States. The files contain treatises of all the early inventions and discoveries in the world of science and besides has the abstracts and articles of all the subjects presented in written form to the American Medical Society and the National Academy.

The magazine is looked upon by all scientists as being one of the most valuable possessions a library or museum could contain. A number of the leading universities in Texas and other western and Southern states have tried for years to get a file of the old magazines but none have succeeded except the Fort Worth School. Scientists have been known to go hundreds of miles to do research work in the magazines, and it is believed that frequent trips will be made to the city to study the Texas Christian university file.

The file will be kept under lock and key in the Texas Christian university library. Visitors will be cordially received and will be offered the free use of the magazines. However, all research work must be done in the Texas Christian university library, as no person will be allowed to take any of the volumes out of the university library.

The Texas Christian university library will look up references for scientists who will be unable to come to this city to do their research work in person.

While containing a complete history of modern science, of interest mainly to specialists, many subjects which can be found in the older volumes are of considerable popular interest.

One of these is the first description of what at the time was considered an interesting scientific toy, the "telephone"—please note the hyphen. A very full description of this invention is given. It is interesting to learn that the modern instrument has very few more parts than the original one, as the first telephone, unlike the first steam engine and other modern industrial inventions was produced in a highly perfected form. Even in its beginning it was thought to be of some "practical value. It was suggested that it could be used in sending messages from one part of a large building to another, and it was believed that its greater range would cause it to supplant the speaking tube. It has.

Another interesting scientific device is the "motion picture." The first motion pictures were made by Muybridge of California, and were simply a series of photographs taken with a long battery of cameras of objects moving before a black background. These pictures were considered of great interest, because by moving such a series of pictures rapidly along under an aperture a very "plausible semblance of motion of the objects" could be produced. Dr. Marey, a French physiologist, saw certain possibilities in this device, and the next volume contains descriptions of his analysis of muscular movements, such as those of men walking and of horses running.

As this is relatively recent, it is possible that many will recall the fact that studies caused a storm of protest from the artists because the pictures showed clearly that the old postures of running horses seen in paintings were wholly incorrect. Needless to say, the artists very sensibly yielded; as anyone can see by comparing paintings of running horses made before the early eighties with those made since that time.

Other interesting subjects which may be found are descriptions of the early polar expeditions, the explorations of northern Asia, Japan, etc., the discovery of the hairy Anious of Japan, the originals of the "dog-faced boys" which had such a vogue in the side shows of the past generation.

LOCALS and PERSONALS

Mrs. Luse, mother of Venice Luse, was a pleasant visitor on the campus Saturday.

Among the late matriculates in the University are Walker and Walter Stallings of Newport, Ark., and Agnes C. Byrne of Fort Worth.

You might think we recommending the Stogie from reading these personals. We're not, we're just repeating what our friends say about the Stogie.

Lawrence Cheek, who has been selling aluminum during the summer, has returned and will enter upon his school work next week.

Aaron Griffing '15 is now a regular member of the Record editorial force doing reportorial work. He is still living on the hill.

Miss Lurline Boone, who attended T. C. U. the year we were in the downtown flats, met us with her glad smile at the game in Dallas.

"Dad" Tennil of Taylor, student in T. C. U. in 1912, was on the campus Saturday. Mr. Tennil had been attending the Dallas Fair.

A splendid rendition of a trio by Reisseger was given Frederick M. Cahoon, Lewis Casperson and Frederick L. Dotten in chapel Friday morning of last week.

Revolving doors are being installed in the Main Building. Mr. Durrett is planning to keep comfortable classrooms this winter and also to minimize the fuel expense.

Everyone was happy to see old fat "Jimmie" McFarland of Ladonia at the game in Dallas, as he brought with him that old famous laugh of his. We just naturally couldn't help but win with this old booster there.

PROF. COLBY D. HALL TAKES PROMINENT PART IN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION

Prof. Colby D. Hall, dean of the Brite Bible College, took a prominent part in the Christian Endeavor convention of the Fort Worth district at Mineral Wells last week. He was one of the principal speakers at the Friday night session.

Patrick Henry, formerly of T. C. U., spoke on "The Fort Worth District and its relation to the Campaign of Millions." B. S. Smiser also attended from T. C. U.

C. I. A. NOTES

C. I. A., Oct. 27, 1915.—The requirements for admission to the Freshman Class of the College of Industrial Arts, this year, are fourteen High School units. This raising of requirements for admission, together with the addition of the fourth year of full college work, makes the College of Industrial Arts a "class A" College. It also enables it to issue the bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees and puts it out of the class of Junior Colleges.

Miss Vera Foreman from the M. Eleanor Brackenridge Club and Miss Rosalie Kirkpatrick from the Chaparral Club were elected delegates to the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held in Brownwood on Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

President and Mrs. F. M. Bralley entertained Thursday evening in honor of the members of the faculty with an informal reception.

Monday evening the old faculty entertained the fourteen new members at Highland Park. Supper was cooked over bon-fires and served in picnic style.

Members of the Young Women's Christian Association entertained in honor of the new girls. Saturday night.

Saturday morning at Chapel, Miss Jessie Scheid and Miss Vera Foreman were elected yell and song leaders.

C. I. A. Oct. 27, 1915.—The college curriculum has been strengthened this year by the addition of two new courses; the Normal Art Course and the Manual Art Course. Both courses have large enrollments.

SKETCHING PARTY

Last Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Cockrell, Annie Lee Harris, "Billie" Wells and Alice Long formed a sketching party and visited Forest Hill on the Cleburne interurban.

Mrs. Cockrell being desirous of finding an unpicked cotton patch to sketch sent the young ladies to a nearby farmhouse to make inquiries. Later when Mr. and Mrs. Cockrell arrived they discovered that the farmer had mistaken the reason for the young ladies interest in his cotton patch and had offered the young artists jobs as cotton pickers.

Another incident which happened to the amusement of all was when a kind old lady inquired of Professor Cockrell if he was a country schoolmaster taking work out on the hill. The group had a big time and intend to have another sketching party.

FORMER DEAN OF MEDICAL COLLEGE WRITES TO DABBS

Prof. R. H. Needham Is Now Connected With Kansas Institution

Mr. R. H. Needham, who was Dean of the Pharmacy department of T. C. U. in 1913, is now Associate in Stock Food and Stock Remedy Analysis in the Kansas State Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kansas. The following letter was written to Prof. Dabbs, who was Professor of Chemistry for T. C. U. Medics at that time.

Dear Dabbs:

How are you by this time and how is old T. C. U.? I suppose everything is in good running order by this time and that the freshmen have all learned to enter the dining room with proper decorum.

Now Dean Parks is back you should have a little time of your own. Is Mr. Dacus still with the University? Tell Coach Cahoon that we have a fair football team. They defeated the Methodist bunch from Winfield, Kansas, last Saturday and will next play at Lincoln, Nebraska, where they will meet their Waterloo. Our coach is John Buidier, former University of Nebraska star. By the North Fort Worth Sunday news I see that T. C. U. fellows are picking up.

Dr. Chas. Carter wrote me that Professor Winton was teaching part of the time at Medical College. I also learned some time ago that Dr. Kershner had married Elsie Martin. She was cut out for a preacher's wife and as I have known her since she was a little girl, I venture to predict that the marriage will be a happy one. Who knows, your turn may come yet. This is a large school, over 20 buildings, over 200 faculty, over 3200 students. My work is pleasant and very satisfactory.

Regards to all my friends.

Very truly,

R. H. NEEDHAM.

HOW DO YOU PREFER YOUR MEALS? RUSSIAN, ENGLISH OR COMPROMISE

Girls who take domestic art in T. C. U.'s department of domestic economy will be taught three different ways of serving meals. The method which they employ when they begin sure enough housekeeping will depend on the number of servants they have at their command.

The three plans of serving and entertaining guests are the Russian, the English and the compromise.

If the wife has numerous servants at her beck and nod, she serves by the Russian method. This means that she is the same as a guest at her own table and the servants do the work.

If she has only a few servants to attend to the culinary duties of her household she uses the English method of serving. This method is not on such an elaborate scale as the Russian.

If the hostess has no servants and serves the meals herself, she makes use of the compromise system.

A special course for married women in cooking and management of the home in all departments is being conducted by Miss Moore on Wednesday from 9 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

WALTONS ELECT OFFICERS

The following officers have been elected by the Walton Literary Society to serve for the next six weeks: Minnie Proctor, president; Cleo Self, vice-president; Monette Whaley, secretary; Margaret Forsythe, treasurer; Ora Leveridge, first critic; Maude Keith, second critic; Viola Coldwell, sergeant.

Every old student and friend who was ever in Waco at a Baylor-T. C. U. game must plan to meet the T. C. U. special, which will be strong at the Baylor Thanksgiving game, to "hang old Baylor to a sour apple tree." Bring the old time pep with you, for we are going to beat old Baylor.

Athletic Field Being Put in Better Condition

Coach Cahoon has had the campus dodgers at work on the foot ball field for the last few days getting it in shape for practice.

The north fence has been moved back farther from the goal which was erected Saturday afternoon and the field has been cleaned of most of the small rocks. Also the edges of the tennis court are being cleared of weeds and will soon be in excellent condition.
