ENTIRE PROCEEDS OF RECENT CAMPAIGN WILL BE USED TO FURTHER ATHLETICS

"Football Men," "Letter Men" are Presented Gold Footballs by Athletic Association.

At a general meeting of the student body held Tuesday, President Waits announced that the entire amount allotted to the university proper from the fund collected in the recent Fort Worth campaign for T. C. U. was to be expended in the improvement of Athletic equipment and the construction of a thoroughly modern gymnasium.

"It is the purpose and intention of the board of trustees to have one of the best athletic stadiums in the country and a well equipped gymnasium that will be the pride of all who have the welfare of T. C. U. at heart," said President Waits. "Enough money to put the ground just purchased in excellent condition and to begin the erection of a gymnasium immediately is on hand and from time to time as contributions come in more money will be expended in making improvements of our athletic equipment."

It would be a hard matter to find a better tract of land for use as an athletic field than that just purchased by the T. C. U. trustees. The land is a sandy loam which will not pack too hard for use as a football gridiron after it has been well sodded and it can be made into one of the best baseball fields in the state. The field has a slight slope which will insure good drainage. For two years this land has been leased by the school, but no permanent improvements have as yet been made on the field proper.

At the meeting Tuesday at which announcement of the plans for the betterment of athletic conditions were made the sixteen men who won football letters last fall were presented with gold footballs as a trophy from the school for their good work. After reviewing the football season President Waits called out the names of the players who were given footballs and the presentations were made by Miss Ruby Douglas.

The names of the players honored are Nelson, Martin, Vaughn, Calvert, Berry, Elliott, Hawes, Douglass, Bradford, Kornegay, Stangl, Berry, Broadley, Willie, Greines and Ogilvie. Coaches Daniel and Cahoon and Manager Tudor were also given trophies.

MR. MIKE THOMAS MAKES INTERESTING TALK IN CHAPEL

Tuesday morning the students were treated to one of the best and most interesting chapel talks that has been delivered there in many years. The talk was somewhat of a surprise to the students and therefore was enjoyed the more for the fact itself, as those unexpected things that come to us are usually the ones that are most enjoyed. The talk was made by Hon. Mike Thomas of Dallas, Texas, who is one of the most successful business men in this state. He gave some of his early experiences and some of his trials in early life in a very interesting and striking manner.

At the end of his discourse everyone was convinced that he was not only a successful business man but one of the most forceful speakers that has ever spoken from our forum. Mr. Thomas has shown his interest in this institution in a more substantial way on other occasions. During the last campaign he gave one of the largest private contributions of any individual in the state. We sincerely hope that he will visit us again soon.

BASKETBALL CAPTAIN FOR NEXT YEAR ELECTED

At a meeting of the letter men of the basketball team Monday afternoon, George Dickinson of Okalona, Arkansas, was unanimously elected as captain of the baskeeters for 1918. This is Dickinson's second year in College basketball and at all times "Dick" was a hard and earnest fighter. Dickinson played guard and forward on this year's team. Howard S. Vaughn was unanimously re-elected manager of basketball for next year. Vaughn has one more year on the team and he has played center for three years.

NORTH TEXAS TRIP PROVES A SUCCESS FOR GLEE-CLUBBERS

The T. C. U. Glee Club returned Sunday from a concert tour which included the towns of Paris, Sherman and Van Alstyne. From the lonesome expressions on the faces of the boys, to say nothing of the black rings under red eyes, coupled with enthusiastic expressions that seemed to come from somewhere down around their very "souls" it is easy to believe them when they say that they had a glorious time.

In each town the Club was given a warm reception and the concerts were given an abundant number of enthusiastic demonstrations of appreciation by the audiences.

Thursday at noon, when the clubbers stepped off train at Paris in a downpour of rain and hail, their spirits as well as their clothes were somewhat dampened. However, thoughts of this kind were soon dispelled by the good old southern hospitality shown to the club by John Sturgeon and his parents, in his home; to which the whole club was conducted. When they repaired to the dining room they found awaiting them the most appetizing sight that ever aroused that dormant craving for sustenance, which is a characteristic of real musicians.

In Sherman, Genevieve Goff, who was visiting Miss Helen Matthews, entertained the Club in the Matthews home.

Another exciting thing that happened, or at least it was exciting for the Quartette, was the little concert that was given in the Kidd-Key auditorium in the afternoon. After the concert, while the boys were getting acquainted with the girls as fast as time and propriety would permit, they were approached by one of the matrons and asked to leave the campus, in order that the classes might be resumed.

In Van Alstyne the Young Men's Club of that city showed the Glee Clubbers what a real reception was like. It began a few minutes after the club arrived, was suspended only long enough for the concert, after which it was resumed to last until twelve o'clock Saturday night. One of the boys said that he never talked so much in his life as he did at the three receptions that were given at these towns, he even went so far as to say that he talked so much that his feet were sore. We do not understand this but suppose that this would be the natural result of earnest conversation with a good looking young lady.

PROF. R. J. CANTRELL RESIGNS FROM FACULTY

Prof. R. J. Cantrell has handed his resignation to Mr. H. M. Durrett, the same to take effect at the close of the Summer Term, 1917.

Mr. Cantrell holds three degrees from Texas Christian University, and A. B., B. O., and M. A. His thesis for Master's degree, "Contributions of the Ancient Classics for the Basis of Modern Mental Development," was accepted last year. It was pronounced by Dr. Clinton Lockhart, head of the Ancient Language Department, as a work of clear, ingenious insight.

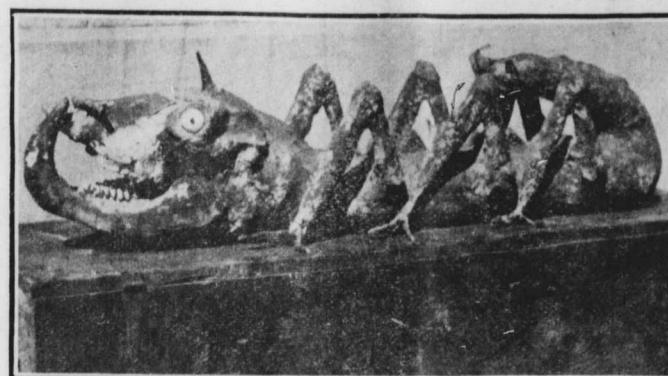

For three years Mr. Cantrell has been instructor of Academy-Latin and assistant-professor of College Greek in T. C. U. He has always taken an active interest in the affairs of University life. As a member of the Public Speaking Committee he was the originator and chairman of the T. C. U. Interscholastic League, a recent organization that promises to be a valuable work of extension in Tarrant County public schools.

Prof. Cantrell has under consideration the acceptance of the joint management—together with another prominent graduate of T. C. U. of a very important school of Texas. Those who have been associated with him feel sure that he will be successful in whatever work he takes up next year.

CONSTITUTION OF CLARK HALL COUNCIL WILL SOON BE READY

The committee that is drawing up the constitution that will regulate self-government in Clark Hall has just about completed its task, and the instrument will be placed before the young men for approval in the next week. The committee has realized the responsibility of the task, and has been framing the by-laws and the constitution carefully and thoughtfully. Mr. W. L. Thornton is chairman of this committee.

OUR PATRON SAINT

Radamanthus, Judge of Hades, Has Been Secured by the Laws and Chosen as Their Patron Saint and Protector.

Guided by some hidden influence of which they were not aware, the members of the Law Department have within the last few days acquired the physical, corporeal possession of their God of Law, revealed to them in the form of an animal. As proof positive that this temporal being is not a creature of this earth the above likeness has defied all zoologists, not only in finding another of its kind but also in classifying the specie from which he could have originated. The long felt need of the Laws has been solved by the appearance in earthly form of the spirit of "Radamanthus," the "Discoverer of hidden sins," "God of Law" and He who presides at present as judge of Hades. Radamanthus was born on the Island of Crete, where his reputation soon spread to every part of the Greek world. Born of Zeura and Europa, his ability to decide cases was unparalleled and when the jealousy of some of his brothers made it unsafe for him to longer abide in the little island, he was spirited away and his earthly likeness changed into an animal to forever preserve him from his enemies. His spiritual being now presides over the courts of the Infernal Region where all souls are brought for judgment. Those who have followed him faithfully, pass to the Elysian Fields, while those who have faltered in their trust must be sent into eternal darkness.

The advent of Radamanthus into Texas Christian University was a part of no human agency. Strange to say that he made his appearance almost immediately following the announcement that the Law Department would grant a degree. In tracing his history the last year it was found that he was discovered by a British soldier in the crater of a shell hole on the Gallipoli Peninsula, who, upon the evacuation of that place carried with him the above form. He was later sold to an Italian shipping vessel on its way to America, and made his appearance at Galveston some time last year. Since that time he has been carried to different places in the State, unidentified and exhibited only as a curio in the hands, first of a beggar and then a fugitive from justice.

There was great rejoicing among the Laws when his presence was first revealed here. There was an immediate assembling of all members and Radamanthus was unanimously adopted as Patron Saint of all Laws and complete plans for his safety were made. At present forever more he will hibernate around T. C. U., his place of abode known only to his followers and guarded by our vows more durable than steel and by oaths more sacred than life. The following men have been selected to always keep and never reveal the presence or whereabouts of His Majesty, except on stated occasions when others who have been converted to his cause desire to look upon his physical likeness: Jesse Martin, J. M. Baldwin, J. A. Raley, H. S. Vaughn, R. D. Martin, C. B. Gunter. These men, or some of the other followers of "Rhadam" have already appeared upon the campus with their idol and are even now ready to make affidavit to the fact that the picture is the actual likeness of the being in their possession and that his physical personage is now either resting within the walls of a T. C. U. building, or in their vicinity. At stated intervals he will visit the Brite College of the Bible and Jarvis Hall and the trustees defy a member of any other organization to truthfully say that they ever seen, heard, touched or felt of him personally.

Radamanthus will, within the near future, explore every corner of the campus unheralded and unannounced. Let those interested be on the lookout. His only manifestation will be in the following yell:

Rah, Rah, Rah!
Rah, Rah, Russ,
Cockrell, Cockrell
Rhadamanthus

GRADUATE OF T. C. U. TO ENTER LAW DEPARTMENT.

T. C. U. BASKETEERS IN Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE

Four of the members of our University basketball team have been in league with the "high cost of living." This statement demands an explanation.

The High Cost of Living is the name of a basketball team which played in the basketball league held in the Y. M. C. A. court. The T. C. U. men who played on this team were Frank Ogilvie, forward; H. Vaughn, guard; Bob Baker, forward; and Rayford Hills, center.

All four of these men were letter men on the T. C. U. team, and in this new league, continued to play their usual good game. The H. C. L. team had a successful season, at one time defeating the strong Walk-Over team by six points. They were once beaten by Washer Bros. team by only three points.

MRS. B. S. SMISER NOW IN HOSPITAL.

Mr. B. S. Smiser, President of the Junior Class, has found it necessary to take his wife to the hospital. Mrs. Smiser has been sick for several weeks. The many friends of this couple wish Mrs. Smiser a speedy recovery.

Personally you can put me down as one who will enter T. C. U. next year as a candidate for the L. L. B. degree."

ALUMNI MEDICS ATTENTION

ALUMNI BANQUET AT THE DALLAS MEETING OF THE STATE MEDICAL ASS'N.

All the fellows realize the State Medical Association holds its next meeting in Dallas during the early part of May. For full and specific information concerning the State meeting your attention is directed to the current issues of the State Journal. If we hold a banquet in Dallas we must hold a "good one." I know you would not be one of any sort of a "jumped up affair." I know you will want one that is worthy of you and your alma mater. Banquets that are really worthy can not be arranged in two or three minutes or two or three days, so far as that is concerned. To arrange a little luncheon for you and two or three friends can be arranged in just so many minutes, but to arrange a banquet for some two or three hundred fellows is another question. Do not overlook the fact that one night is assigned to banquets and that every Medical College and every little crowd will try to get theirs in on that night. You realize what this means. Just to be a little plain it means all the desirable available places will be secured early. Applied to our banquet it means if we wish a desirable banquet hall and a desirable caterer we must seek early. We must give approximately the number of banquets. A caterer can not provide for two hundred and have three hundred seated, neither can he provide for three hundred and have only two hundred seated. As the time is short it behoves each alumnus to make definite arrangement to be on hand. In order that the caterer may know definitely what to expect we must inform him as to the number. To facilitate matters it is advisable every fellow send me his check. Make the check for two dollars a plate. Date the check May 1st, 1917. State on the face of the check it is for one plate at the banquet of the M. D. T. C. U. to be held in Dallas, Texas, during the meeting of the State Medical Association. By such a procedure we will know definitely who will be present and just how to proceed. A check dated and made as stated can be used for no other purpose, so that if the fellows do not want a banquet your check will be returned, but if we do "pull" a regular banquet your name will be in the pot. There is no reason under the sun why we should not have the best banquet of the meeting. We have the fellows and the location is not too far from base and our alma mater. We wish to arrange for some real good toasts. None of these things can be arranged until plans are definitely arranged. Act promptly and let your check, dated as stated, come by return mail. We can "put a good one over" if you fellows just say the word.

T. C. U. got eleven hits, including a double by Hale, triples by Nelson and Beckworth and a home run by Vaughan. These drives were enough to win any ball game, but the scoring of the Christians was boosted by the fielding misplays of the Presbyterians, eleven bobbles being charged to the team at Waxahachie.

While Lee's work on the mound was far better than that usually flashed by a college twirler, the Trinity team has had little practice this spring. The Presbyterians were taking waves at high and wide serves and had they made the southpaw hold the ball into the zone where strikes are counted his whiffing record would doubtless have been far less.

The Presbyterians looked bad at the plate but far worse in the field. The garden guardians found it almost impossible to judge the flight of long drives and the infielders cut loose many wild throws. The form shown by the visitors was conclusive proof that they have had but few workouts.

Carl Ferguson, the husky right-hander whom Jennings has been watching at Waxahachie, opened on the hill for Trinity and pitched a much better game than is indicated by the box score and summary. Only two of the runs made by the Christians while Ferguson was working were earned.

The Christians started the counting in the first inning, McKee reaching second on an error and wild pitch and scoring on Christenberry's single to right. In the second Stangl reached the half way station on two errors and scored ahead of Shorty Vaughn, who drove a long drive to deep center and made the circuit due to slow handling by the Trinity players.

Hale opened the third inning by slapping a double down the left foul

LAWYERS HOLD LAW CHAPEL THURSDAY.

All the law students and a number of those students who have expressed their intention of affiliating themselves with this department for the next year held chapel Thursday morning at the regular chapel hour. Dr. Cockrell, the dean of the law department, presided.

The meeting was opened by a talk from Dr. Cockrell in which he reviewed the development in the past and the possibilities for the present of the law department. All the professors present made short talks. They being: Mr. Conner, Mr. Rouer, Mr. Daniel, and Mr. Clark.

When Mr. Daniel called the name of "Radamanthus," the newly adopted and newly found Patron Saint of the Law Department every one burst into loud applause. This same pep and enthusiasm was in evidence throughout the whole period and it was made evident that every one present was widely awake to the situation and keenly interested in everything that was said and done.

LAWS

THE LAW SKIFF.

It is a marked characteristic of all the class Skiffs that have been published that the publishing class has picked out the class of whom they were the most envious and have proceeded to direct a large part of their time and space in humbling the pride of this unfortunate or fortunate class, as the case may be. However this has not been the design nor the desire of the lawyers in publishing this issue. There is no class in the University of which the Lawyers are envious and therefore they would be at a loss to find some one class against whom these expressions of petty class feeling might be directed.

Our idea of a College paper is that it should have for its purpose the giving of the most interesting news to the largest number interested in our welfare and to create an interest in the affairs of the University among those who are not already interested in the affairs of the University family. We have tried to keep this in mind throughout our efforts on this issue.

We have also taken this opportunity to make known a few facts about the law department of T. C. U. which is probably not the common property of every one. We realize that this is a comparatively new department in the University and that we are just now beginning to ripen into a fuller strength that will make itself felt in all the activities of the University. We therefore, offer no apology nor make any boast for the Law Skiff but offer it to you merely as a chronology of the week's happenings.

A BALANCED EDUCATION FOR A BUSINESS MAN.

(By Prof. C. E. Cockrell.)

A balanced education for a business man must include courses in English, in mathematics, in history, in the natural sciences, in economics, in government, and in law. The history of our statesmen clearly demonstrate that a knowledge of law is a tremendous aid in a public career. Also a knowledge of law in its relation to ones own personal rights and to his rights in and to properly tremendously aid one in a business career. The study of law, too, develops one's reasoning faculties and teaches him to think logically from cause to effect. It is not to be wondered that lawyers are often called to be the managers of great corporations. Then, it is clear why a knowledge of law is essential in a balanced business education.

Watch for Senior Majestic! Practice has already begun. A treat is in store for you. Coming soon.

Some have been wondering why C. B. Gunter visits Mr. Daniel so frequently. Let it be remembered a very young lady has domicile in the same house.

WHAT THE LAWYERS HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE UNIVERSITY.

Realizing, that if we do not toot our own horn no one else will toot it for us, and inspired by the modest admissions of the freshmen, in regard to their importance in the various fields of University activities, which appeared in last week's Skiff, we of the Law Department are going to do likewise and take advantage of our right to howl by springing some of this conceit stuff.

Did you know that out of the football men playing on the 'Varsity, this year, seven of these men were full law students; that the entire basket ball team was composed of men from the law department; that ten of the baseball squad that so ably defeated Trinity bunch Wndesday were law students, that every captain and manager of every athletic team of the University were supplied by the law department? No? Well then just glance at the record of these teams for the past season. While we admit that this is not sufficient to prove that they were largely composed of law men, we would ask you to consider who the men are on the athletic teams and what they have done on the athletic field. After doing this you can more readily understand why we cannot remain silent when the other classes are advertising what they have done for Old T. C. U. We submit the following names for your consideration as men who have fought for Old Varsity: John Nelson, "Gish" Martin, "Shorty" Vaughn, Astanyx Douglas, Lee Willie, Harry Lee, Frank Ogilvie, Keggie Calvert, Clarence Gunter, Denton Hawes, and Judge Raley. Have you witnessed an athletic contest this year in which you did not see one of these men sacrifice his own self-interest for the colors he has been intrusted to him to defend, or have you not seen them day after day, when they could have been enjoying the same hours of leisure that you were enjoying, shivering, while the coach explained some play or running around the field until they were exhausted, in order that they might be in better condition to place Old Varsity on a higher plane in the athletic world and consequently in University standing.

Thn look at the other branches of activities and you will find such men as Jesse Martin winning laurels for the school both in the oratorical and musical organizations which represent us over the state.

Our last howl is that we have no apologies to make but we are proud and justly proud of the record that the lawyers have made.

SONG TO AN OCTOBER DELIGHT.

Sweet October Delight
With thy petals of white,
In late autumn how canst thou be fair?

Wilt thou glitter and glow
In the moonshine or snow?
Thou art here when the flowers are rare.

Oh, my flower so bright,
Thy own beauty tonight
Lifts my soul to a loftier plane;
And thru sunshine and storm
Thou hast changed not thy form.

Yet, I know thou canst not long remain.

—E. R. COCKRELL.

DR. E. R. COCKRELL
Head of Law Department

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

That there is a demand in North Texas for a Law School was recognized at T. C. U. in 1914. At that time the T. C. U. Bar Association was formed. The Association was composed of young men who were taking work in the political Science Department but who expected to enter the legal profession. Their hope was that they might be given instruction in law at T. C. U., they felt also that if college training in law should be offered in T. C. U. young men of similar purposes from various parts of North Texas would be attracted by the offer.

The trustees of the University believing that the aspirations of the Bar Association should be encouraged opened the Department of Law September, 1915. The Department was begun as a two years' course but with the desire that at the end of the two years the new Department would show such strength that a third year and the degree of LL. B. might be offered in 1917. 1917 is here, the department has developed strength, the third year of instruction and the degree are offered and the hope of the Bar Association of 1914 is realized.

Since its inauguration in September, 1915, the Law Department has not ceased to grow. It has accumulated a respectable library and has the promise of further accessions. Its men have taken a leading part in college debates, oratory and athletics, and it is recognized by the University as a growing force.

For the success of the Law Department credit must be given to the fine spirit and earnest work of both the law faculty and law students. The regular law faculty now consists of five men, viz: Mr. E. R. Cockrell, A. M., LL. M., Judge Marvin H. Brown, A. M., LL. B., Mr. Milton Daniel, A. B., LL. B., Mr. George Conner, LL. B., and Mr. R. E. Rouer, LL. B. and a staff of special lecturers. For the school year 1917-18 at least one and probably two teachers will be added to the law faculty. Each of the men of this year's faculty will be at his old post and ready for duty in September, 1917. Each of this year's senior class expect to re-enter next September and take their degrees in June, 1918. The Law Department has developed team work and team work brings success. —E. R. COCKRELL.

Dr. Cockrell: What has been the dominant character of America's military program up, to the last three years?"

McGregor: (Who was on a party the night before) "Noe prepared, sir." Dr. Cockrell: "Correct."

two errors, a passed ball and two singles by Lee and Hale gave the Christians two runs in the sixth. T. C.

U. counted four times off Creel in the four tallies.

In order to see most of his men in
