OUR LAW SCHOOL AND ITS FUTURE

(By E. R. Cockrell, Dean of the Law School.)

Law schools are almost entirely men's schools, therefore the war has influenced them tremendously. Every law school in America has without regret seen itself depleted by the exodus of its young men to the colors. The law school of T. C. U. has been no exception in this respect. Its faculty and its student body are thoroughly patriotic, and each has given of its number to our army. Probably 50 percent of last year's law group now wear the Khaki.

But at T. C. U. a remarkable thing has happened. In spite of the tremendous answer to army colors, the law school has held its own. The new men who have taken the place of those who volunteered for service are of a younger group, but they are all enthusiastic and earnest, and Texas Christian University is proud of them. Their seniors have been leaders in all athletic sports; in the University debates, the literary societies, and the Glee Club, and they are the leading workers on the Skiff and Horned Frog. We mention these matters with pride because under the adverse condition of these war times, we feel that they are indicative of the inherent ambition and strength of the law school.

Four young men will take the Bachelor of Law degree this June, and three of these are already admitted to the bar. As we think of these four seniors we also think of their comrades of last year who are now in our army, either on this side or the other of the Atlantic. We trust that when the war is over these young men will return to us and follow their earlier ambition for a professional career.

The present splendid law faculty of five members will continue their services for the coming year and another member may be added to the number.

An advisory committee for the law school composed of strong lawyers and friends of T. C. U. in various parts of the State is now being formed. Among the good friends of T. C. U. who have just accepted positions on this committee are: Judge Ben M. Terrell and Judge H. L. Small of Fort Worth, E. R. Bentley, superintendent of schools of Alpine, Mr. C. B. Reeder, an attorney of Amarillo, and Douglas Tomlinson, editor of the Fort Worth Tribune and president of T. C. U. Alumnae Association. Plans are being developed for the forming of a library and for advertising the school. Friends of T. C. U. rejoice in the present success of the law school and the brightness of its outlook.

T.C.U. STUDENTS RESPOND GALLANTLY TO WAR SAVING STAMP CAMPAIGN

As quarters, dollars and "fives" in large numbers passed over the W. S. S. tables in the hall of T. C. U. for the purpose of buying those "little baby bonds" it made every patriotic student who had helped feel that they had done their part.

This movement was conducted by the world democracy leaders and they have gained much to their credit, Dr. E. R. Cockrell being at the head of this organization. This campaign was held in the form of a contest, each teacher of a democracy class being captain of a team, there being seven teams. This contest started Monday, March 25, and ended Wednesday, the 27th, at 12 o'clock. Captain Biggerstaff's team won the contest with a total of $215.61, with Captain Hartgrove second with $162.40.

The following are the different captains and the amounts:

WHAT THE LAW DEPARTMENT MEANS TO T. C. U.

If someone desiring information about the Law Department were to ask me about it, the best answer I could give him would be as follows: First, it is the most lively and energetic department in the University. It is composed of the choicest students of the University and is not confined to young men alone as one would naturally expect, but its courses have been made so attractive that several young women have entered its ranks. The students who have done things, have nearly all come from the Law Department or have been closely allied with it. From it we have chosen the president of the student body, the president and vice-president of the Oratorical Association, the editor, business manager, circulation manager and assistant business manager of the Horned Frog; the editor and business manager of the Skiff. From the Law Department have come the best orators and athletes that have represented the school for several years. The captain of the baseball, basketball and football team is

GLEE CLUB PREPARING FOR CLEBURNE TRIP

On last Saturday, Director Cahoon sent one of the Glee Club men down to the neighboring city of Cleburne to secure a date and make all necessary arrangements for the

S. M. U. Defeated at Dallas in Good Fast Game.

Some say that Mustangs cannot be tamed but by the time the Horned Frogs got through with the S. M. U. animals last Saturday they were as gentle as lambs. From the time that Judge as first man up cracked out a two-bagger until Wrenshaw wheezed out for the last out the game was all T. C. U.'s. Meyers had everything that the Mustangs couldn't handle and our fellows took kindly to the offerings of King and Forree. Fourteen fell before Meyer's pitching while four went down before King and two before Forree.

The first two innings T. C. U. got men on bases but by a little misjudgment and lack of the final punch the men withered on their stations. In these two innings S. M. U. went down in one, two, three order. However, after Stovall had gone out on a fly to center in the third, Hale walked, stole second, was advanced to third on Haden's sacrifice, and came in on Preznig's single. The S. M. U. got a man on base in their half of the inning—they could not do anything dangerous because McKnight went out from pitcher to first and the next two could not locate Meyers' shoots.

In the fourth a hit by Wiggins, sacrifice by Sewell and hit by Meyers netted another score. Shadie was the last up in this inning and Judge was on base. There was one strike and two balls on him. It was right here that the Ump got his wires crossed and called Hale out on two strikes. The Methodists tried to retaliate but with two out and two men on bases their pinch hitter, Pringle, went down for the count and retired the side.

Both teams slowed up in the fifth but T. C. U. came back and ran in another in the sixth, and the Mustangs went one, two, three. In the seventh Stovall got hit, Hale flew out to left, Haden went out to first and then Prinzing connected with one of King's fast ones and sent it almost to the city while he and Stoggie raced in for the last two runs. Shorty then hit, but Wiggins went out from second to first. S. M. U. again went by in order.

The eighth opened with Sewell striking out and Meyers and Raley went from second to first. However, the Dallasites were determined to scratch at least. McKnight struck out, McCrea went out to Stovall and McCrea came in on Beavers' single. Forree then doubled to left, but Beavers was held on third. With two outs and two on Maxwell, the Mustangs' heaviest hitter came up. Dutch was signaled to walk him and take no chances on Bigger, but after getting three balls and no strikes Meyers turned the tables and got two strikes. Then Maxwell got too anxious and struck at one that curved into him and went out.

In the ninth both sides had only three men at the bat, although Stovall did get a two-bagger.

HOW T. C. U. S. LAW DEPARTMENT COMPARES WITH OTHER LAW SCHOOLS

This year marks the third one of the existence of the law department of Texas Christian University and to that extent it is comparatively new. Ordinarily, that fact would suggest the idea that the work done would not be up to the usual standard of the leading law schools. For the above named reasons the writer wishes to make a few observations for the benefit of those who are not familiar with some of the details of this branch of the University. Our faculty consists of graduates of some of the greatest American law schools; the Universities of Drake, Chicago, Mississippi, Yale and Texas being represented. All of these men have been in the past and most of them are at present engaged in the actual practice of the profession, thus affording instruction in the practice as well as the theory of the law.

We believe the training furnished law students in this institution is more thorough than that in schools where the enrollment is much larger than it is here. The small number in each class gives the instructor an opportunity to do personal work. Most law schools attach little or no importance to practice in moot-courts. Our students are not only given an opportunity to act as attorneys in the trial of cases in the lower courts but also to prosecute appeals to the higher tribunals as well.

The members of our senior class began the study of law when the new department was first created. At the end of the second year, three of them applied to the state board of examiners of the Second Supreme Judicial District of Texas for examination for a license to practice law before all of the courts of this State. All were admitted with creditable grades and two of the number tied for first honors over all of the other applicants, notwithstanding the fact that one of their competitors was a graduate of the law school of the University of Ohio.

And I listen for a footepp on the stair.

Every time I hear a creaking,
And a ray of hope comes sneaking,
And I think there is a prospect of a fee,

In there walks a bill collector,
Me to worry and to hector,
But a client I do very seldom see.

On my trousers there are patches,
On my desk are bills in batches,
And I have a gaunt and lean and hungry look,
On the stairs I hear a patter,
And I think of legal matter,
But an agent call to try to sell some book.

Or, those stairs will drive me crazy,
And my brain is faint and hazy,
Every time I hear a wandering footepp fall,
And they stop before my door sill,
While my hopes will rise once more, till
They inquire about some fellow 'cross the hall.

But I try to be persistent,
If I still can be insistent,
Maybe some fine day in future times I'll see,
Without any hesitating,
While my heart is palpitating,
Some good client looking in the door for me.

So I'll just keep on a plugging,
To my hopes and visions hugging,
Just assured that everything will come out right,
And I'll keep right on a working,
Always busy, never shirking,
And I'll wait and smile and grin with all my might.

And when everything in humming,
And my clients in are coming,
And success stands at the threshold of my door,

I won't have that sneaky feeling,
Sort of come to me a stealing,
And the creaking steps will bother me no more.

A. & M. TAKES A PAIR OF GAMES

A. & M. invaded Fort Worth and purloined two perfectly good baseball games before they could be put aboard an outgoing train. They had a well-balanced club that at times showed signs of good ball, but it was chiefly a reversal of form on the part of the local boys that accounts for the dual win.

The first game was somewhat of a farce as far as real baseball is concerned. Jones who started for T. C. U. was unsteady and could not locate the plate very consistently. He gave up six walks and two hits in three innings. Hair relieved him in the fourth and pitched good ball for the rest of the game, especially when one considers the lead he went in against.

The second game was marked by much better baseball. In this T. C. U. set the pace up until the ninth inning when the score was tied, and then in the tenth A. & M. came back and put over a one-run lead, which proved sufficient to win the game.

In both of these games there were several examples of ivory in the upper story. This was especially true in the first game when things went wild and the men apparently forgot at times that they were playing ball.

First Game.

A. & M. opened with a rush and as the stands gasped for breath they put three scores over the pan in the first inning, then came back in the second and chalked up once more. They were still unsatisfied, however, and therefore with three bases on balls, a fielders' choice, two errors, and an infield out they ran in three more. This gave them a seven run lead.

During the first two innings T. C. U. went out in order in the infield with the exception of Vaughn's one-base hit. In the third, however, a base on balls, Haire's three-bagger and Rigney's failure to handle Hale's grounder clearly gave us two runs.

In the fourth the Aggies poled two hits of Haire and got one run. In the last part of the frame Prinzing was hit, but forced at second on Vaughn's grounder to short. Wiggins and Sewell struck out. In the fifth both sides went out in order, but in the sixth two hits and two infield outs gave the Farmers another run. In T. C. U.'s part things were looking good with two men on bases and a life through an error when a little misjudgment and a double-play by Glezen and Rothe blew things up and took the fight out of our fellows.

What pep there was in the game passed out at this stage and the A. & M. annexed one more in the eighth; both sides rocked along in a rather listless manner.

Second Game.

Two men went out from Meyers to first, then Rigney put one in the plowed ground, and lit on third. Had it not been for Prinzing hurdling the left field fence he would have made a homer on this. McMurrey next up could only place one down third base and fall an easy victim from Wiggins to Vaughn. T. C. U. came up and after making two outs Hale hit and came home on Haire's double. Prinzing flew to center.

In the second the Aggies tied the score on a hit, stolen base and error. The Horned Frogs could not stage a comeback and the score was tied. The third again opened with two infield outs and Rigney next up. The Farmer shortstop again worked his jinx on Meyers and laced out another three cushion shot to left. McMurrey, as before, went out in the infield. Meyers came up for the Christians and went from pitcher to first. Raley singled, and Stovall struck out. Here Shadie grew jealous of the fame of his opposing short and took unto himself a triple of his own, and at the same time scored Judge.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth uncovered nothing startling, and neither side added to its score.

In the ninth, however, a hit batsman, two stolen bases, a sacrifice bunt netted the tying score, and T. C. U. was unable to fathom the crooks of Higginbotham, who had gone in for Higdon; so the score was tied. In the tenth two base hits and three stolen bases tells the tale of another run; and two strike-outs and an infield out retired the Christians as 3 to 2 losers.

T. C. U. LAW DEPARTMENT'S FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Since establishing the Law Department in T. C. U. three years ago it has grown rapidly in size and influence. At the beginning only a two-year course was provided for, but on account of the great success of this department, and the demand by its students, it was deemed necessary by those in charge to offer a three-year course, and grant the degree of Bachelor of Law.

Its faculty is one of the strongest men in the State. Dr. E. R. Cockrell is Dean of Law, and it has such men on its faculty as Judge Marvin H. Brown, George M. Conner, R. E. Rour, Judge R. M. Rowland, Morris Rector. It also has a number of special lecturers, among them being Judge R. H. Buck, Judge Ocie Speer, Judge F. O. McKinsey, Judge S. C. Paddelford of Cleburne. Nearly all of these men are actively engaged in the practice of law, or sitting on the bench, in Fort Worth, or in towns in this vicinity.

Its students come from all parts of the State, and is not composed of young men alone, but includes two young women who are fitting themselves for the practice of law. There are about twenty students taking full law courses, and a like number taking one or more courses in the department.

Five young men who will have completed the three-year course at the close of this term will receive the first Bachelor of Law degrees given by this department. Those who will receive them are: J. A. Raley, J. E. Martin, S. H. Vaughn, W. E. Baldwin and J. N. Baldwin. Three of this number have already received their licence to practice law, and at the conclusion of this term will probably enter into active practice.

AVIATOR HITS FLAG POLE

An aeroplane, driven by a cadet from Benbrook, hit the flag pole and crashed to the vestibule of the north entrance to the main building Monday at 1:30 o'clock. The aviator was practically uninjured and the machine was badly shattered. Some of the girls happened to be in the revolving doors when the vestibule was crashed and narrowly escaped death.

The control of the elevating wings was broken and he was unable to rise above the flag pole to avoid the crash. The machine was traveling at full speed when the left wing hit the flag pole. This caused him to swerve to the left and the propeller hit the fire wall of the northeast corner of the main building. Just for a second he seemed to cling there and then the machine slid down the side of the wall. The front part of the machine hit the vestibule and the rear end hit the iron frame work of the arbor, leading to Jarvis Hall. In this way the fall was broken twice and this is the only reason that the life of the cadet was spared. The aviator was upside down when the machine finally lit. The machine was badly shattered, in fact the only part of the machine was the rear seat in which the cadet was seated.

Considerable damage was done to the main building and the flag pole was bent entirely to the ground. About twenty-eight feet of brick were knocked off of the fire wall. The vestibule was totally destroyed and the flag pole is practically beyond repair.

The debris was cleaned up Monday night by men from Benbrook.

A fool there was, and he studied law.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR INK-LINGS

Sunday afternoon's meeting at Camp Bowie proved almost equally helpful to the soldiers and civilians present. A program of religious nature had been arranged, including special music by Misses Wilhite, Holmes and Davies, and a reading by Miss Davies, which seemed to be very much enjoyed by the men. Mr. Jennings in a brief and forceful way, spoke to the men in khaki especially, though what he said certainly came home to us all. The words of "Mother" Ross, however, were what touched every one present most deeply. Her quoting of "The Service Flag" was never more apt or more thoroughly appreciated. After the service many of the boys had the privilege of meeting her, and to all of them she seemed "just like mother."

The attendance at the Sunday evening service seemed to benefit by the attraction offered in the special C. E. program. Christian Endeavorers, did you come just because you happened to have an individual part in the evening's worship? Stand by your pastor all the time.

That business meeting after church was the liveliest thing that ever happened! You didn't suppose it would amount to much? Well, why didn't you come to see that it did? Just to give you a taste of what you missed: The Dixie Standards of Excellence were adopted as our program. That means that we have laid out for ourselves a "jolly lot" of work. Seven new members were received into the Army of Universal Patriotic Service, and one new member, Miss Merne Nail, into the society. James Wright was elected president for the spring term with Margaret Forsyth as vice-president, Mary Lou Keirse as secretary and Ben Hill as treasurer. The retiring treasurer made a most creditable report, showing our pledge to state work paid in full and money in the treasurer. By-the-way, are you meeting your share of expenses or are you "slacking up?" We have some special missionary work ahead that will take a lot of money.

After the meeting was adjourned, Mr. Dingman played for us and we all sang until it was "time to go home." We are very grateful to Mr. Dingman for his playing. Mr. Campbell is to conduct our Easter meeting, using the topic: Lessons from the Risen Christ's Forty Days. See John 21:10-17. Misses Elsie and Elva Baxter have promised us a musical number and by special request Miss Thelma Smith has consented to read Arnold's "Resurrection." Study your lesson, and come early. Make this a real devotional meeting. Have you invited anyone to come with you?

Mrs. W. B. Higgins, who is recognized as one of the best Junior superintendents in the State, is to have charge of the Junior society, which is to be organized immediately. The C. W. B. M. auxiliary has assured us of its desire to co-operate in this project, but we Seniors must not forget the responsibility rests on our shoulders.

TO BE A LAWYER

The luxury of pleasing others, enjoyed alike by actors, singers and lecturers, is shared by lawyers. They show it in looks, express it in words, and tell it in tones of speech that thrill and captivate hearers, and inspire the young with an early desire to be like such leaders.

To be a lawyer requires the skill of a stairbuilder, the art of an engineer, the eye of an artist, the voice of an actor, and the genius of an experienced machinist; it is more, it is to be all of these in one.

In the light of this combination of quality is it a marvel that men succeed only seldom in the legal profession? Is it not rather a high and noble calling that demands such diversity of talents and such tireless energy in fitting the mind and body for so great a part in life's business?

The lawyer of all men should know much of life, and much of human nature. He should be a novice in nothing, and broad-minded in all things. Not a genius in everything but ripe in broad knowledge and general experience. When he is this, if he fails, it will be no fault of his own, and like Clay said of the Presidency, that he had "rather be right than President," one had better be fitted for a lawyer, and if I should give one rule of fitness to the young person who desires to study law, or to one who has already commenced its study, it would be that innate feeling that you are born for the law, and if after reading the record of other men's struggles and triumphs you still feel undaunted and courageous, and possess a voice and a body, and constitution for such life of study and perplexity, then adhere to your convictions like the old martyrs did their religion, giving their whole life to the contest.

SECOND SPRING BAND CONCERT

Tuesday evening, the second band concert of the spring was given by the T. C. U. band. That these concerts are enjoyed to the fullest extent by the student body is evinced by their lively interest and attendance and by their eager anticipation for the next concert. T. C. U. is very fortunate in having such a talented organization to represent her. For the organization and maintenance of this splendid band, unlimited credit should be given to Coach Cahoon.

This concert was also made the occasion for a War Savings' Stamp rally. After two highly enjoyable selections by the band, three short rally talks were made. Mr. H. C. McCart, a Fort Worth "Four Minute Man," spoke of the value of doing our bit in this crisis by giving even 25 cents per week and showed how our saving was a matter of patriotic duty to our government. John Sturgeon, in the course of a very forceful talk said: "A person who can't buy a 25-cent War Saving Stamp in this cause has very poor American blood in his veins." Dr. Cockrell gave in short sentence form some of the reasons why we ought to buy War Savings Stamps. Among them were the following: "Our 203 T. C. U. boys in Uncle Sam's service," "The invasion of Belgium by Germany;" "The inhuman warfare of Germany as practiced in the sinking of neutral and Red Cross ships."

The concert was closed after several other meritorious numbers by the band.

T. C. U. STUDENTS RESPOND GALLANTLY TO WAR SAVING STAMP CAMPAIGN

Making a total of$666.26
The reason for the purchase of these war saving stamps is because our country is at war. It needs every penny which every man, woman and child, can lend in order to feed, clothe, arm and equip the soldiers and sailors of America, and to win this war in defense of America.

Tuesday evening there was a rally held on the band stand in behalf of this movement. There were three addresses given, Dr. Cockrell representing the faculty, John F. Sturgeon the student body, and Judge representing the city. The band played several pieces, which were very appropriate for the occasion.

If we are to win this war we are to win it as a united people. This means that every student, every person, must save together, and our savings are absolutely necessary to the government if we are to hasten the victory of our country. Our quarters look small alone, but an institution would look small with only one student, therefore, we can readily see the importance that T. C. U. could be if every student would do their bit.

Besides only helping our country, these stamps have an additional advantage. They are the safest investment one can buy, and they steadily increase in value from the date of purchase until date of maturity, and this increase is guaranteed by the government. It will teach us to save and economize, which will be a great thing to the American people.

For the convenience of investors, a thrift card is furnished to all purchasers of twenty-five cent stamps. This card has spaces for sixteen stamps, making a total of four dollars, when full. When this card is filled, it may be exchanged for a five dollar certificate, at the post-office, bank or any authorized agency, by adding twelve cents in cash, prior to February 1st, 1918, and cent additional for each month thereafter. These automatically increase one cent per month until January 31, 1923, at which date the United States government will pay $5.00 to the holder.

Notice—All five dollar certificates must be registered with the postmaster before the first of April, 1918, or will not draw interest for a month. Also additional one cent will be charged per stamp.

If at any time the holder of these certificates should find it necessary to realize cash on same before maturity, they may, by giving ten days' written notice to the postmaster, to whom it was registered, or any money-order postoffice, receive for each stamp affixed to said certificate, the amount paid therefor, plus one cent for each calendar month after the purchase of each stamp.

In other words this plan is simple, straightforward and certain, and there is no reason why every patriotic student in this university should not willingly purchase some of these stamps. He is buying the safest security in the world, besides the aid he is rendering to his country.

The different leaders worked hard and faithfully in this campaign, and the figures show that the students stood by them. If all the students had had the spirit (as well as the money) that Mr. A. B. Reynolds, who gave $100, and Miss Hartgrove, who gave $50, we feel certain that the war would be over in a short time. If all the colleges of this country will respond as gallantly as T. C. U. in this call for aid, we are confident the Kaiser will make a hasty departure.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Whispering Chorus," appearing at the Hippodrome will be of special interest to lovers of the photoplay.

The dominating note of the play is self-sacrifice and its depicts vividly the measure of real heroism in human life. Its theme of men's supreme sacrifice and dramatic realism makes this a most notable photoplay.

From every standpoint this will be one of the finest pictures ever seen in this city.

of any local organization and will show in the auditorium of the Carnegie library.

Nobody can know the real joy derived from these Glee Club trips, other than a member of this organization. It is always a great day for the club when Coach Cahoon announces another trip and it has brought an unusual amount of joy in this instance because of the fact that several of the T. C. U. girls are going to make the trip also. Miss Ruby and Grace Douglas have invited a large number of the friends to visit their home town on this occasion and spend the week-end. Miss Hallie McClung and other Cleburne girls who are attending the University will also return home taking friends. The girls from the University who will probably go down and attend the concert of the Glee Club are: Ruth McFadin, Ava Maude Wester, Ellen Hartgrove, Lulu Elkin, Genevieve Goff, Lucile Routh, Thelma Routh, June Rhodes and others.

As the club is going independent and without any assistants, Coach Cahoon has deemed it proper to arrange for an extra amount of advertising. The University's Quartette will drive down Friday morning in the coach's car and will sing at the chapel services of the Cleburne High School Friday morning. These four men, better known in T. C. U. circles as, Martin, Sweeney, Sturgeon and Lawrence, will not only have their part of the fun, but it is hoped will do the club much good. The entire club will go down some time in the afternoon and will return that night on the Interurban line and they are desirous that as many of their University friends as possible will make the trip with them.

WHAT THE LAW DEPARTMENT MEANS TO T. C. U.

Another organization so closely allied to the Law Department that it is almost identically the same organization is the Bar Association. This organization is composed of all those men and women who are taking law courses, or who intend ultimately to make law as their profession. The Bar Association is designed to keep the lawyers in a united co-operative bond, and frequent regular meetings are held to further their interests. The law department and the Bar Association working hand in hand will in the years to come mean more to Texas Christian University than all the other departments combined.

CONCERT AT CAMP IS GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION BY BOYS

As music charms the savage breast, so it soothes the mind of the tired soldiers who, after their day of drilling, trench work and other duties of preparing themselves as a fighting man for Uncle Sam, make their way to the Y. M. C. A. huts for the evening's recreation and entertainment.

Standing room was at a premium at Y. M. C. A. hut No. 62 last Wednesday evening when Miss Gertrude Davies took out a party composed of T. C. U. students for a concert.

Appreciation seems to be the middle name of each of the boys who heard the program. They sat very still with a quiet smile on their faces during a number and when it was finished they burst into such enthusiastic applause as you never heard. It was very easy to see that they enjoyed every minute of the program, and insisted on encores after each number.

Those appearing on the program were: Miss Mary George, pianist; Miss Nannie Carter, reader; Miss Prigmore, soloist; Miss Elsie Baxter, violinist, and Miss Davies, Miss Elva Baxter and Mrs. Prigmore were accompanists for several numbers.

FIVE OF MISS MOSEY'S ORATORICAL PUPILS APPEAR IN RECITAL

Last Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock five of Miss Mosey's pupils appeared in a recital before a large crowd of T. C. U. students in the auditorium. The recital showed work on behalf of both students and teacher, as every number was excellent and recited in such a way that the audience was well pleased.

Miss Leah Traylor recited, "Billie Brad and the Big Lie," which was very interesting. Miss Marie Betts gave two short selections from Dunbar: "Discovered," and "Jealousy." Miss Burness Axtell recited "Ann of Green Gables," and received much applause. Miss Boise Baker gave a selection from Riley: "Prio to Miss Bell's Appearance." The program was concluded by a humorous selection from Miss Carter, "An Object of Love."
