POLITICAL CAMPAIGN STIRS UP MUCH PEP AND ENTHUSIASM

HEFNER AND STURGEON TO BE IN FINAL RUN OFF

MARY HEFNER HAS SUB- STANTIAL LEAD IN PRIMARY.

The political war which has been raging in T. C. U. for the past few days seems to be almost over, although the final vote has not yet been taken. When it was decided to turn this race for the office of vice-president of the student body into a political campaign there was no one in the university who could foresee many of the things that came up during the campaign. It is needless to say that the past four days, in which all kinds of campaigning has been carried on, have been some of the most interesting times that have been experienced in the university.

The real campaign was opened up in earnest on Saturday afternoon when John Sturgeon, the candidate for the Progressive party, held a campaign rally in the auditorium of the main building, at which time he set forth the different planks in his platform, and also the reasons why he felt that he should be considered as a man for the place in question.

Miss Hefner was away from the university at that time, as she was attending the Press Club convention at Baylor University, in Waco. The Democratic party, under which Mr. Shelby Frulkner had announced as candidate, waited until Miss Hefner's return to the university before they began their active campaign.

Miss Hefner reached the university Saturday afternoon, and at that time began to make immediate arrangements for a rally that evening, at which time she spoke to a number of the voters who were gathered there. The first general rally of the campaign was held in the auditorium of the administration building at 10 o'clock. The first speaker was Mr. Sturgeon, the candidate running on the Progressive ticket. The second speaker was Miss Mary Hefner, who was the candidate for the office of vice-president under the Girls' party, they having given their party no name. The third speaker was not a candidate for the office, but a representative from the Democratic party. Mr. Faulkner, the candidate from the Democratic party being sick in bed, his campaign manager, Jesse Martin, took his place in setting forth his platform, and also the things for which he would stand in case he was elected by the popular vote of the students.

There were several other rallies between the time of the general rally and the time for the election, and each rally became warmer than the one preceding, until at last things looked pretty close. However, the election was held in due course between the hours of 10:30 and 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Immediately after the polls had closed the officers of the election took the ballot box over to Good Hall to Mr. B. S. Smeiser's room, for the vote to be count-

MISS MARY HEFNER ELECTED

VICE PRESIDENT OF T. C. U.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN ENDED FRIDAY WITH ELECTION

Mary Hefner Gets 162 Votes to Sturgeons' 117.

The big political campaign that has been so interesting to all the students in T. C. U. was brought to a close Friday afternoon when the final vote was taken in the run off between Miss Mary Hefner and John Sturgeon.

Mary Hefner received 162 votes while Sturgeon received 117. This is the last of the first political campaign that has ever been staged in T. C. U.

Practically all the campaigning was done before the primary, which was held Tuesday between 10:30 and 2 o'clock. It seems that all the respective qualities of the candidates had been brought before the students before that time, and there was nothing left for the supporters of the two candidates to do but to try to line up the supporters of the candidate that had been eliminated in the primary.

There is no doubt that Miss Hefner is a very capable young lady, and it goes without stating, with all those who know her, that the girls could not have selected a better candidate than Miss Hefner. Every one

T. C. U. STUDENTS SUFFER FROM EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA.

During the last week or ten days the boarding halls of T. C. U. have been little short of hospitals. The epidemic of influenza that has affected so many started about a week ago.

Part of the time this week there have been as many as thirty-five or forty students in Clark and Jarvis halls in bed at one time. It seems that the malady does not last over a few days. Some of the students are more severely affected than others. Some are in bed only a day or two, while others are confined to their rooms for a much longer period.

The disease does not seem to be dangerous, but very unpleasant, and some of the patients have been very sick. However, the epidemic seems to be running out at present, and it is hoped and thought that by this time next week all the patients will be over their illness, and the whole thing will be cleaned up.

This epidemic has made it very difficult for the students to keep up with their class work. Although they have not been dangerously ill at any time, most of them have been confined to their rooms for two or three days at a time and also have not felt like working on their school studies.

It was a real laughable matter to see these semi-patients get up out of bed and wobble over to the voting polls on Tuesday afternoon, or have their friends carry them over, in order that they might exercise their right of suffrage in selecting their choice for the office of vice-president.

Dr. Winton thinks that the epidemic is almost at an end, and since all precautions are being taken to prevent others from becoming infected, it is felt that it will all be over in a very few days.

WOULD AMERICA FIGHT ON ALONE?

There is a passage in the speech which President Wilson delivered at Baltimore which should be read and digested by every American, and its full meaning grasped. In this perilous hour it is important that every American should appreciate all the implications of the President's stand. A grave military crisis has been reached in France, and while trusting that it will end with the allies triumphant, Americans must be prepared for the worst and resolve now how it shall be faced. As much military help as it is possible to supply is being sent by America. But, unfortunately it is not as much as we could wish for. If it should turn out—which God forbid—that the Germans should succeed during the summer, before effective American help can be rendered, in destroying the striking power of the British and the French, it may be that Americans will be put to the test. We may be called upon to prove that President Wilson has been interpreting the deep conviction and high resolve of America in his public utterances.

The particular passage of the President's speech which we have in mind has to do with the significance of Germany's pangs in the East to us. The President said:

"Their purpose is undoubtedly to make all the Slavic peoples, all the free and ambitious nations of the Baltic peninsula, all the lands that Turkey has dominated and misruled, subject to their will and ambition and build upon that dominion an empire of force upon which they fancy they can erect an empire of gain and commercial supremacy—an empire as hostile to the Americans as to the European which it will overawe—an empire which will ultimately master Persia, India and the peoples of the Far East. In such a program our ideals, the ideals of justice and humanity and liberty, the principle of the free self determination of nations upon which all the modern world insists, can play no part. They are rejected for the ideals of power, for the principle that the strong must rule the weak, that trade must follow the flag, whether those to whom it is taken welcome it or not, the peoples of the world are to be made subject to the patronage and overlordship of those who have the power to enforce it.

"That program once carried out, America and all who care or dare to stand with her must arm and prepare themselves to contest the mastery of the world, a master in which the rights of common men, the rights of women and of all who are weak must for the time being be trodden under foot and disregarded and the old, age-long struggle for freedom and right begin again at its beginning. Everything that America has lived for and loved and grown great to vindicate and bring to a glorious realization will have fallen in utter ruin and the gates of mercy once more pitilessly shut upon mankind!"

Notice particularly the words "America and all who care or dare to stand with her must arm and prepare themselves to contest the mastery of the world." That means, if it means anything, that if there are none who dare to stand with her, America must stand alone.

THE present high cost of footwear has impressed everyone with the importance of selecting shoes wisely. We have all learned that one pair of good shoes, of a well known make, even though the first cost is more, cost less in the end than cheaper shoes. We have proved that value is measured by the number of days wear and the satisfaction received and not by the price—that selecting a shoe of quality assures correct fit, lasting style and long service.

THE KAISER ASKS FOR INFORMATION

The kaiser called the devil up
On the telephone one day;
The girl at central listened
At all they had to say.

"Hello, there," said the kaiser,
"Is 'Old Man Satan' home
Just tell him it is 'Kaiser Bill'
That wants him on the phone."

The devil said "hello" to Bill,
And Bill said, "How are you?"
"I'm running a hell here on earth,
So tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" asked the devil,
"My dear old 'Kaiser Bill,'
If there's a thing I can do
To help you, sure I will."

The kaiser said, "Just listen,
And I will try and tell
The way that I am running
On earth this modern hell.

"I've saved for this for many years,
And I've started out to kill;
That it will be a modern job,
You leave to Kaiser Bill.

"My army went through Belgium,
Shooting women and children down;
We tore up all her country
And blew up all her towns.

"My Zepps dropped bombs on cities,
Killing both old and young,
And those the Zeppelins didn't get
Were taken out and hung.

"I started out for Paris
With the aid of poisonous gas,
The Belgians, darn them, stopped us,
And wouldn't let us pass.

"My submarines are devils,
Why, you should see them fight!
They go sneaking through the sea
And will sink a ship at sight.

"I was running things to suit me
Til a year or so ago,

When a man called Woodrow Wilson,
Wrote 'em to go a little slow.

"He said to me, 'Dear William,
We don't want to make you sore,
So be sure to tell your U-boats
Not to sink our ships any more.

"We have told you for the last time,
So, dear Will, it's up to you,
And if you do not stop it
You've got to fight us, too."

"I did not listen to him,
And he's a coming after me
With a million Yankee soldiers
From their homes across the sea.

"Now, that's why I called you, Satan,
For I want advice from you;
I knew that you would tell me
Just what I ought to do."

"My Dear Old Kaiser," answered Satan
"There's not much for me to tell,
For the Yanks will make it hotter
Than I can for you in hell.

"I'll be ready for your coming,
And I'll keep the fires bright;
I'll have your room all ready,
When the Yanks begin to fight.

"For the boys in blue will get you;
I have nothing more to tell,
Hang up the phone and get your hat,
I'll meet you here in hell."

CLARKS SEND DELEGATES TO CONVENTION AT MINERAL WELLS.

Ruth McFadin and Genevieve Goff represented Clark Literary Society Tuesday and Wednesday at the district convention of the Texas Federated Women's Clubs held at Mineral Wells. While there they had the privilege of hearing very inspirational lectures by the leading women of the state on the work which women are doing throughout the country.

The especially emphasized lines of work were those of food conservation and production and the establishing of canteens and other comforts for the soldiers. On the latter subject, Mrs. Bacon Saunders of Fort Worth described the canteen here, which it was her pleasure to have initiated, and she vividly pictured the happiness and comfort it furnishes the boys.

This district federation pledged $25,000 for carrying on the war work, both in the United States and in France. The Clarks contributed toward this fund the $10 which Miss Lena Gardner gives yearly for the medal to be awarded to the girl who has done the best work in the society.

T. C. U. Goes Hog Wild Over Rice

Worth lads happened to find his floating curve. It was then just a question of how long it would take him to sing his swan-song. In the third and fourth innings the Horned Frogs made home plate look like a first grade blackboard as they chalked up 11 runs. The Houstonians felt sorry for their fellow athlete Morgan, and relieved him of first line duty by sending in a freshman, Duffy. It must be said that his poor fellow had courage. If this were not true an ambulance would have had to come to carry him off of the field, since all those of the batters he could not walk, hit his offerings to all parts of the diamond and plowed ground. Atkinson, the pitcher of the previous day, tried to stem the tide, but T. C. U. was stampeding and he had to be removed. Heywood, the captain, finally went in and ended the game.

In the fourth and fifth both teams fought time. T. C. U. was wanting to get credit for the game before a promised rain and Rice was trying to prolong it in an effort to keep it from counting. The result was that both teams pulled some glaring "bones" and misplays intentionally.

Batteries—T. C. U., Meyers, and Hill; Rice, Morgan, Duffy, Atkinson, Heywood and Mathewson, Gerlack.

Score: T. C. U., 10; Rice, 3.

for the Owls, was wild at times and got touched for ten hits, but up until the last inning he was able to slow down the Horned Frogs, when a hit or even a sacrifice fly would have put over a run.

For ten innings both side rocked along without being able to chalk up a run. Then came the eleventh. It has been said that a good beginning presages a bad ending. Rice is evidently acquainted with that fact now. Nash, first up for the Owls in the eleventh, connected for a hit but was forced at second by Vilbig, catcher. Heywood, captain of the team, then banged out his second hit of the afternoon, and M. Heywood sent a fly to the field, which was misjudged and Vilbig raced home. Harlan and Bell retired the side on infield outs. In T. C. U.'s half of the frame Preznig went from pitcher to first. Shorty then got his third hit, and Wiggins, with malice aforethought and intent to kill, stepped up to the plate and laced out his second bingle—a three-bagger. Vaughn of course came home and tied the score. Then Baker, who was taking Rat's place in right field, delivered with a safe bunt and Wiggins came in for the winning run.

Last Friday afternoon the Christians met them on the local diamond and administered such a defeat to them that they will never forget it. Both teams played good ball for the first 5 innings, but finally the Christians became so strong the boys from Baylor could not hold their pace, and the game from then on became a hitting exhibition by the Christians. Every man on the team was hitting the ball at will. If the Christians

The hitting features of the day go to McKee, Vaughn and Wiggins. Each of these batters got three hits out of five trips to the plate.

Wiggins was again the special feature of the day, by proving himself capable of handling the fast liners and grounders that came down the third base line. Wiggins is one of the best men that has ever wore a T. C. U. uniform.

ed. Mr. Smeiser had been sick in bed for a couple of days, his place being filled by Mr. Lokey, who was elected to act as temporary chairman of the meetings during Mr. Smeiser's illness. The vote was counted and duly checked up by the officers of the election, and it was found that Miss Hefner led with a total of 121 votes; Sturgeon was second in the race with 87 votes, and Shelby Faulkner was third with 77 votes.

The final election that is to decide between the two highest candidates will be held Friday between 10:30 and 2 o'clock. This election will close the first real political campaign that has ever been held in T. C. U.

There have been some real personal animosity created during this political fight, but on a whole there has been a spirit of real generous competition. It is safe to say that this one thing has created more pep in the student body than anything that has happened since the Baylor-T. C. U. football game. It has put every one on edge, and it is felt that it will be a real stimulus to greater activity by every one of the students during the next six weeks of school.

It will be only a short time until there will be another race for the offices in the student body for the coming year. This race that is just now in progress was made possible by the fact that Mr. Charles Butts, who was vice-president of the student body, joined the colors, thus leaving the office of vice-president open.

feels that Miss Hefner is thoroughly capable to fill the office to which she has been elected.

Miss Hefner is a Junior in the University and has made an extraordinarily fine record during the three years that she has been in T. C. U.

Miss Hefner's home is in Forney, Texas, from which town so many fine T. C. U. students have hailed.

At present Miss Hefner is sick in bed, and up to this time has not been able to be out of her room to fully enjoy the privilege of being the first girl to be vice-president of the student body of T. C. U. However, she seems to be much improved over yesterday, and it is hoped that she will be up and about again in a few days.

GLADYS RICHARDS' FATHER DEAD

It was with a feeling of deep regret that the students learned late Thursday after noon that Gladys Richards' father was dead. Gladys withdrew from school quite a little time back on account of the ill health of her father. All students of T. C. U. wish to extend to Gladys and her family their sympathy in this hour of sadness and bereavement.

T. C. U. NOSES OUT GAME FROM OWLS.

Contest Runs Eleven Innings Before It Is Decided.

In one of the prettiest played games ever staged on the local diamond, T. C. U. edged out a victory from Rice Institute by a 2-to-1 score. There were few actual thrills and sensational plays, but the consistency of each team made it one of the most evenly matched games seen here this year.

Several times during the game Rice got men on bases and with just a little punch would have scored, but Haire tightened up each time and pulled out of the hole. Atkinson, pitching

Once more have the Chris-had waked up before the fifth inning and come to their natural senses, the game would have had a different score at the end. The game, really and truly, should have been 15 to 0.

Meyers, star pitcher for the Christians, had everything that a Texas League pitcher might enjoy. His hooks had the opposing batsmen swinging as though they had been on a
