GRADS' TENDERED BIG FEED.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET MOST
PRETENTIOUS CLASS FUNC-TION OF YEAR.

The Junior-Senior banquet has always been a red letter date on the social activity calendar of Texas Christian University. During the year the banquet was not given, and this year everyone rejoiced to hear that this custom would be revived.

Saturday evening, Feb. 22, the most pretentious social function ever given by T. C. U. was held in the peacock dining room of the Westbrook hotel. American Beauty roses were scattered in profusion over the table. Place cards bearing hatchets, berries, and colonial ladies, symbolic of the occasion, marked the places of about seventy-five guests. Purple programs stamped in gold completed the color scheme. A seven course dinner was served.

A five-piece orchestra furnished music during the evening.

Mr. Ben Hill, president of the Junior Class, presided as the toastmaster, while Mr. Morrow Boynton represented this class with an appropriate toast to the guests of the evening. Miss Thelma Smith, Senior president, responded in a most gracious manner. Mr. Shelby Faulkner spoke on "Our Duty to Civilization." Mr. Alexander, professor of the Senior class presented, in his talk on "Finishing Up the Job", very forceful, yet, humorous ideas of future needs and deeds, and in "Something to Do Next Year", Mr. Winton, Junior class professor, elaborated on the needs of today. A beautiful vocal selection, the "Prelude," from the "Cycle of Life," by Ronald, was

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TAKES PROGRESSIVE ACTION

The Christian Endeavor Society, under the leadership of its wide-awake president, Eugene Douglas, has been making wonderful progress since the Christmas holidays.

The society has two goals ahead, toward which to work: First, to win the Christian Endeavor Shield for efficiency, at the next local union of the Fort Worth societies to be held in about two months. So to do this it will be necessary to nearly double the present enrollment, and obtain as high a per cent of attendance as possible at the union assembly.

The other goal is to enroll a large majority of the actual membership in the Tenth Legion, a band of tithers, and in the comrades of the Quiet Hour, the consecrated young people pledged to spend at least fifteen minutes a day in Bible study and prayer.

When these two goals have been reached, the society will be a long way toward the goal that was set by Roy Breg, the state Secretary. This was "for the T. C. U. society to make of itself a model so that

THIRTY CANDIDATES REPORTED TO COACH CAHOON'S
CALL.

That the war has had little effect upon college athletic activities in Texas Christian University may be proved in concrete form this season by the extensive sport calendar arranged by the athletic department. Athletic spirit is running high on the campus. Not in years has play been so skillful and interest so keenly manifested as in athletics this year. The university officials have strongly fostered the post-bellum athletics and their co-operation has done much toward development of the intense enthusiasm.

A dearth of material seems to be no obstacle in the path of success for T. C. U. this year. The school has garnered a raft of young college athletes; many of which are veteran Purple and White players. Probably never in the Frogs' baseball annals have there been as many old men back to don the Purple and White unies. Coach Cahoon found an embarrassment of riches when the gong for baseball practice was sounded Thursday afternoon. Over twenty-five candidates for the varsity team responded to the call for the initial workout. Fully thirty players are expected in the squad this week when practice will begin in earnest. Most of the aspirants have been throwing ball on the campus for several weeks and have passed through the period of soreness. Practice last week was restricted to throwing the ball and catching knockouts. This week Coach Cahoon will start the men trying out at various positions, and practice games will be started soon. Coach Cahoon will probably arrange a number of games with other local teams.

Prospects look good for this season since most of last year's team is back. The whole infield, which was such a telling feature last season, is back and two of the old pitching staff are also here. A second catcher must be developed and several outfield places are vacant.

Announcement of the baseball schedule for this season has been made. Eleven inter-collegiate con-

VARSITY TO HAVE BIG 1919 TRACK SEASON

Interest in track work at T. C. U. this year has come to a limelight and present indications point to one of the most successful track seasons in the history of the school. Little interest, heretofore has been directed toward this collegiate sport, due to several reasons. A dearth of materials has handicapped the school from entering the field of track. Last year the athletic department did not provide an athletic director for field and track athletics, probably because there seemed to be little or no interest manifested among the track men. Such will not be the case this year. The athletic department has taken a marked interest in track and many new provisions have been made for a splendid track team.

A. M. Tipton will coach the track team this year. If the little mentor possesses the ability to turn out a track team equal to last year's crack football machine little probability will be withheld but that Texas Christian University will have one of the best representative track teams in the state. Coach Tipton has had considerable experience in track work. He has been coaching a number of distance men, who represented T. C. U. in the annual five mile cross country run, held in Fort Worth on Washington's birthday.

Stressing the fact that at least thirty men should be available as material from which to select a Varsity team, Coach Tipton stated Friday afternoon that there is less than one-sixth of this number now reporting for practice.

This response is far below what it should be," Coach Tipton said. "The number of men reporting for practice thus far is entirely insufficient for the progressive development of a Varsity team."

Less than two weeks remain before T. C. U. will take part in a dual meet with Southern Methodist University of Dallas, March 14, at the Fat Stock Show. The meet will be held in the arena of the coliseum.

The events, have been announced.

Relay races will feature the meet. Mile, two mile and four mile relay races will be held. In these events T. C. U. will contend strongly for honors. Other events for the meet will be running broad jump and high jump.

A number of beautiful prizes will be given. Cups will be awarded winners of each event and medals for highest individual scores.

Athletic Director Higgins announced last week that preparations for the largest athletic meet ever held on T. C. U. campus have been made for April 1, Field Day. Three universities have been invited to participate in the meet. It will be the largest assembly of college athletes ever held in North Texas.

CHRISTIANS LOOK TO GRID WEALTH FOR NEXT FALL

When the gridiron season for next fall opens Texas Christian University will have on hand more old players than ever in the pigskin annals of the school. Aside from practically all last year's letter men several veteran Purple and White pigskin warriors, who held up the traditions of the school on the gridiron before the war will again be back to don a Varsity uniform. Among those who will return are two three letter men—Astyx Douglas and "Dutch" Meyer, and Will Hill Acker, captain of the 1919 team. The former two stars left school last year to enter the service. Both were awarded commissions in the army. Incidentally, which only goes to show the college athlete's chances in securing the best offered to man.

There are fourteen "T" men of last year's crack eleven who will return, barring unforeseen circumstances. While Bryan Miller's name is included in this list, only faint hopes are being withheld for the re-

UP FOR GOVERNOR HOBBY'S SIGNATURE

The great bell of the future law success, which has been hanging in the dome of Texas Christian University for the past for years, waiting for the master sexton to pull its clapper, has at last pealed, sending forth a mighty note of victory over the state. Its master sexton was none other than Dr. E. R. Cockrell, father of the law school of Texas Christian University.

Dr. Cockrell spent over two weeks at the state capitol working with the congressmen before he succeeded in getting it passed by both houses. He was in Austin five days during the second week of the legislature working on the bill. Shortly afterwards he returned and spent three days more there. Having gotten the bill finally prepared, Dr. Cockrell left for Austin Feb. 21, where, through his untiring efforts and his wonderful influence, he finally persuaded our law makers to realize the value of the Law School, and grant to it the authority to give a law student a license to practice the legal profession, upon receiving an L. B. degree from this institution.

Here's what the new "law" will mean to Texas Christian University:

"A new law; many new friends, and growing opportunities invite our law school to have its graduates licensed to practice law without an examination to the bar. The same law gives to the Supreme Court authority to appoint a committee of five examining boards to examine all applicants who have not been graduated from a recognized law school.

"It also does away with the present nine examining board. In other words, says its author, the standards for admittance to the legal profession have been raised so far as Texas is concerned."

Dr. Cockrell pointed out that the standards have been raised for the medical teaching professions; ministers are being better trained than they ever were in the past. Even the barbers are raising their standards. This new law is in harmony with the anticipations of those who desire to see the law remain recognized as "The Learned Profession."

The University of Texas and Texas University presently are the only two law schools of the state.

Saturday morning during the regular chapel period, Dr. Cockrell told the members of the law department, of his experience and difficulties in getting the bill through the legislature.

Dr. Cockrell met with a little opposition in the Senate, contrary to his expectations. He was expecting some opposition, said the author, in

STUDENTS REFLECT FACULTY TRAITS

A chapel scene such as is seldom found on the usual chapel mornings, occurred Tuesday night when the annual "Faculty Take Off" staged under the auspices of the Senior Class, was held. The orchestra was there, accompanied by Miss Wright, (Dorothy Barber). Dr. Colby Hall (B. M. Britton), led the morning song, "Long Boy". The meeting was impressively opened by Dr. Waits, (Herschel Upton) Dr. Lockhart, (Paul Boynton) announced Pres. Charles Harrold of the Lingerer Embrace Club and called for a special meeting. The address of the morning was made by Mr. Winton, (Dick Bailey) on the new scientific subject "Cows Plus Music Equals Milk." He was followed by two fine arts numbers by Miss Mosey (Carrie Crisp) and Mrs. Cahoon, (Loriene Hamilton.) Dewey Lawrence, who impersonated Mr. Bryson, was the best character in the Take Off. From the overhanging lock of hair to the armload of books—he was typically Mr. Bryson.

The chapel scene was followed by a short meeting in Dr. Waits' office with Dr. Waits and Mr. Durrett, (Ernest Ligon), discussing school problems. Their conversation was interrupted by Thelma Smith and Dorothy Barber, who were questioned concerning the disappearance of the uniform hats. Mr. Higgins, (Cecil Bradford) brought in Joe Wilson for eating two pieces of pie.

The last scene was laid in the back office of Jarvis Hall. Mrs. McDiarmid, (Beatrice Mabry) was giving Weir a piano lesson, while Mr. McDiarmid, (Riley Aiken) was grading papers. Mrs. Doughty, (Colby De Stivers) came in with a terrible story of distress, but was quickly quieted, and remained to assist Mr. McDiarmid in making out the demerits. The meeting was broken up when Mr. McDiarmid left to go to a "smoke" at Dr. Cockrell's.

BIBLE CLASS.

The Red Triangle department of the University Bible school met Sunday morning in the Y. M. C. A. reading room with a large attendance. Prof. Alexander, head of the university mathematic department, has charge of the class.

NATIONAL Y W C A WORKER LECTURES

An unusual opportunity for enlightenment in problems concerning themselves was afforded the young women of the university last week, when Dr. Caroline Creosdale, representing the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association, delivered four lectures. Dr. Creosdale, with a number of other women physicians, are visiting the leading schools of the United States, in the interest of the peace program of the Y. W. C. A. Her lectures covered the physical, psychological, and sociological aspects of social relations.

CARD OF THANKS.

DEFENDING T. C. U.

For some reason, not easily explained, Texas Christian University does not always receive the amount of student "advertising" that other colleges and universities do. At present much is heard on all sides of the war work done by others—with T. C. U. frequently left in the background. Under these circumstances, it is up to T. C. U. men, when they are called upon to defend their university, to know what the Purple and White has done and to tell of it, not in a spirit of bravado, but in justice and fairness to their Alma Mater.

Tell them, you T. C. U. students, that T. C. U. in proportion to its student body size, had more enlisted men in the service, more sons in the first and second series of Federal Training Camps last year than any other college or university in Texas, and that virtually every T. C. U. man that attended an Officers' Training Camp won a commission. When they boast of their Students' Army Training Corps, tell them quietly and seriously, that T. C. U. was reputed by Government officials who made an investigation of the organizations, as having done better school work than any other S. A. T. C. in this section of the country.

Tell them of the numerous entertainments the university girls tendered the men located in the army camps surrounding Fort Worth; tell them of the countless number of woven articles—socks, gloves, knithelmets, and sweaters, the T. C. U. girls made for the Red Cross Society; tell them of our 100 per cent liberty loan bond subscription record and successful war savings stamp campaigns. These and many other activities can you tell of, if called upon to defend the name of T. C. U.

Do not go about airing these things when there is no occasion for it. Simply bear in mind that YOUR Alma Mater "Carried on" and is still "carrying on" on a scale far exceeding in amount and diversity the deeds of others. Do not "blow." Do not get the deservedly disliked "college rah-rah spirit." But remember that you can hold your head as high as the student of any other university or college. Remember that T. C. U. is DOING THINGS.

ARMENIAN RELIEF.

Pleas for economy and thrift when directed to the individual will always be less effective than when entertained collectively by the members of a social organization. To a great extent the petty spendings of a college man are determined by the amount which his associates spend. If all the members of a social group agree to forgo some luxury, it is an easy matter; but should one man try to give up some item of his expense account, he is left "out of the gang" in that instance.

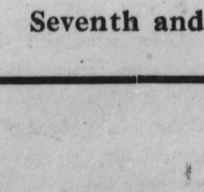

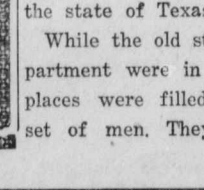

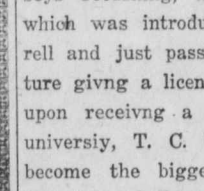

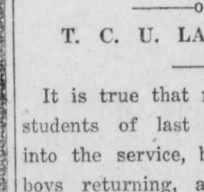

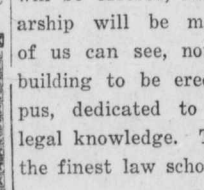

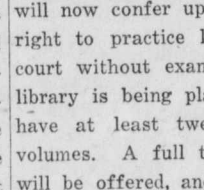

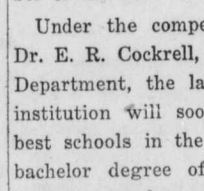

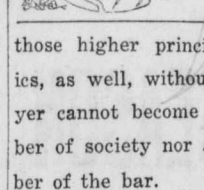

This principle can be of great service in a eurtbneoleov service in a true benevolent cause. There are millions of starving and destitute Armenians in the Near East whose plight is most pitiable. Our government has pledged itself to raise twenty millions of dollars.

Through the organization of benevolent societies among the various natural social groups in the University a large fund can be raised. Such a society may be formed and the members agree to save a certain amount a week. The organizations meeting at regular intervals of one to two weeks. The reports can be submitted at the regular meetings, and thus little extra time will be taken up by the mechanical administration of the details.

College men can do this by spending less for the things which they do not need immediately. Patriotism of a practical and active sort will find in an organization of this kind a worthy outlet.

those higher principles—Legal Ethics, as well, without which the lawyer cannot become a valuable member of society nor a respected member of the bar.

Under the competent guidance of Dr. E. R. Cockrell, dean of the Law Department, the law school of this institution will soon be one of the best schools in the Southwest. The bachelor degree of the department will now confer upon its holder the right to practice law in any state court without examination. A new library is being planned, which will have at least twenty-five hundred volumes. A full three year course will be offered, and a higher scholarship will be maintained. Many of us can see, not far off, a new building to be erected on the campus, dedicated to the pursuits of legal knowledge. Then we can have the finest law school in the South.

T. C. U. LAW FUTURE.

It is true that nearly all the law students of last year were called into the service, but, now with the boys returning, and the new bill, which was introduced by Dr. Cockrell and just passed by the legislature giving a license to practice law upon receiving a degree from this university, T. C. U. is destined to become the biggest law school in the state of Texas.

While the old students of this department were in the service, their places were filled with a younger set of men. They have taken the place of those who volunteered for the service and with no little enthusiasm and sincerity, they have spoken well for Texas Christian University. They have been leaders in the college athletics in university debates, literary societies and glee club. They are the leading workers on The Skiff and Horend Frog, the official college publications. We mention these matters with pride, for this institution of learning was handicapped, as were all other universities, during the past year by the S. A. T. C., and our law department has held its own with any other law school.

The new bill passed, puts this Law School on an equal footing with the law school of Texas University. It not only puts us on an equal footing, it puts us several notches above. Fort Worth is more centrally located than Austin, it furnishes greater advantages for the student, and is a much better commercial center. The law department is already making plans for a greater law school and the outlook for the future is indeed bright.

Cockrell Bill Passes Legislature

the House of Representatives, but but here he received encouragement. The State University joined in with Dr. Cockrell in his fight, and credit is given the State University for securing its passage. An amendment to the original bill was offered by the State University. The amendment added much to import of the bill and was afterward passed. The amendment made by the State University provided that the number of examining boards be reduced from nine to one and this one board have five members.

A law school of the recognized standing must meet the following state requirements: ten hours of law study a week with frequent examinations; twenty-five hundred volumes of law books, and morally good students.

It was Dr. Cockrell himself, who went before this body of law makers of the state of Texas, and with the assistance of several senators and representatives, secured the passage of this bill, which now places this university on an equal basis with any other law school of this state.

But don't lean back in your chair and think that the big job is done—don't think for one minute that such a man as Dr. Cockrell would stop at this step alone. For, with the assistance of such men as Sterns, Daniels and over, he shall build this school, until it is second to none. Most men would stop at this, thinking their duty is done, but not until this school is placed upon such a plane, that it shall never be surpassed, shall he sit down and with a smile of victory upon his face, say, "that the big job is done!"

It is true Dr. Cockrell is loved and admired by every student in this university, but they have not yet realized what he really is. The most we could say in his behalf, would be too small to express his value to this school.

He is to us, that which no other could be; he is a man that is a M-A-N.

T. C. U. STUDENTS ATTEND HEIFETZ CONCERT IN DALLAS.

Jascha Heifetz, violinist and artist, and the marvel of the age, appeared at his best in a concert in Dallas Wednesday evening. While only in his teens, Heifetz has achieved the success long sought by mature musicians and produces tones almost unbelievable. He is, indeed, a rare artist and one to be appreciated by students in general.

Mrs. Cahoon, Miss Wright, Grace Jones, Dorothy Barber, Beulah Bell, Mary Hefner, Homer McCartney and Muriel Turner were among the Fort Worth people who attended the concert.

T. C. U. will be represented in Tennis circles this year as it has been in the past. In the spring of '17 T. C. U. won the state championship in Tennis, both in doubles and singles. We were represented by Parksp brothers. They are not in school this year but we have other valuable material.

Easily and Faulkner have had some experience in Tennis, and will show some good stuff when the season is in full sway. Other good men who will try for places on the team are Caton, Boynton, McCutcheon, Harris, Paschal and Johnson. Some of these men are new to Texas Christian University and there will likely be some keen surprises to the followers of the game.

FINALS REACHED IN SECOND CHECKER TOURNEY.

The final matches of the second checker tournament, conducted by the University Young Men's Christian Association are scheduled to be played this week. Only six players now remain in the contest. Three games are to be played before the winner of the second division of the tourney is determined. Rainey is scheduled to meet Ogilvie and Berry will play Hudson. The winner of these two matches will play for divisional honors.

Only one match remains to be played in the first division. Coach Cahoon, winner of the first tourney, will meet Boynton. The championship match of the tourney will be played between the winner of the first and second divisions. The date for this match has not been announced as yet.

POOL TOURNEY.

The opening match of the pool tournament, to be conducted under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A., will be played Wednesday afternoon, Secretary Eastwood announced Monday. The contest will open with about thirty entrants. Call shot will be played. Prizes will likely be awarded the three best players, said Secretary Eastwood. Athletic director Higgins will officiate in all scheduled matches.

The following players have signed up for the tourney: Higgins, Glenn, Carlton, Lusher, Cahoon, Faulkner, Watt, Power, Kemble, Reese, Ogilvie, Crunk, King, Stovall, Sturgeon, R. Berry, Johnson, and McCutchen.

Saved to Some Effect.
In Greenville, N. H., a man who believes in saving coppers and nickels paid his taxes with $119.55 in buffalo nickels, $11.50 in old-style nickels, $6 in Lincoln cents and Indian-head cents. Buying a buggy, nearly new, at auction, he paid for it in coppers, and he also paid $27 in cents for a purchase made away from home.

Interpreted.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TAKES PROGRESSIVE ACTION.

The social committee has already been at work and promises each of the students the "time of their lives" if they will attend the "county fair". This fair will be conducted after the fashion of a small town carnival. The best of available talent will be represented. The time and place will be announced later. Every one should look forward with high anticipation to this entertainment.

This society challenged the Trinity University, society to a contest. The society is evidently afraid to accept, as it has not yet replied to the challenge.

A hearty welcome awaits all who will attend the interesting meetings conducted every Sunday night at 6:15 in the "Y" room. Every one come out and help us build up the society, so we can beat Trinity.

CHRISTIANS LOOK TO GRID WEALTH FOR NEXT FALL

(Continued from page 1) turn of the all-state quarter. For two years Miller was the sensational quarter of the Varsity team and a member of the mythical All-Texas eleven. It was Miller's sensational play that accounted for the close defeat over the Baylor Bears last Thanksgiving Day. Miller recovered a fumble near mid-field and sped sixty yards around the Bears' right wing for a touchdown.

Frank Ogilvie, member of the 1918 team, has returned to school and will again don a T. C. U. uniform. Ogilvie recently received his discharge from the army. He was a first lieutenant in the artillery. Ogilvie forsook his Alma Mater, like the other members of T. C. U.'s honor roll, only for the patriotic sake of his country.

Big Bradford, last year's captain, a guard on whom the sport sanctums were lavish with their praise last fall; Henderson, one of the famous backfield men; Singletary, another backfield man who gave considerable promise; Hill, Crunk, Ervin, Cunningham, Haire, Rutherford, and Prinzing, all on the 1918 eleven, will return. In addition to the foregoing men a number of other football players have signified their intention of reporting for pre-season practice.
