INTERCOLLEGIATE PROHIBITION ASSOCIATION

The fight for prohibition has been one of the longest fought social and political battles that has ever taken place in our country. The victory has finally been unanimously won.

Despite the fact that the prohibition question is no longer one of the great issues of the day, the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association of Texas, as well as that of other states, is going to carry out its program for the year.

It has been the object of the Association to promote broad and practical study of the liquor problem and the related social and political questions, to advance the political application of the principles of prohibition and to secure the enlistment of students for service and leadership in the overthrow of the liquor traffic.

Interest has been maintained chiefly through the associations which have been organized and kept alive in the various colleges and universities of the state.

The State Association meets the first Thursday morning of April each year in State Convention for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other necessary business.

The Association conducts an oratorical contest on the first Friday night in April, in connection with the regular annual convention.

Each local association is entitled to one delegate for each ten members or major fraction thereof, and each shall have at least one delegate. The speakers from each college are regarded as ex-officio members of the convention.

In order to have membership in the State Association, a seat in the convention, and a speaker on the program, each local association contributes twenty-five cents per member as dues, with a minimum of five dollars.

The contestant winning the first place in the State contest will represent Texas in the Inter-State contest of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, and will receive a cash prize of fifty dollars and a gold medal known as the "Events Oratorical Medal, T. I. P. A."

In addition to this the T. C. U. Oratorical Association offers two rewards. The contestant winning first place in the preliminaries receives a "T" ring and ten dollars in cash; the contestant winning second place receives five dollars in cash.

This ought to be an incentive to our T. C. U. orators to get into the contest and win the first place.

Our orator won the first place in the State contest last year by a unanimous decision of the judges. We must and will keep our reputation for oratory strong. The other colleges envy us on account of our victory, and are expecting us to send a strong man to the contest.

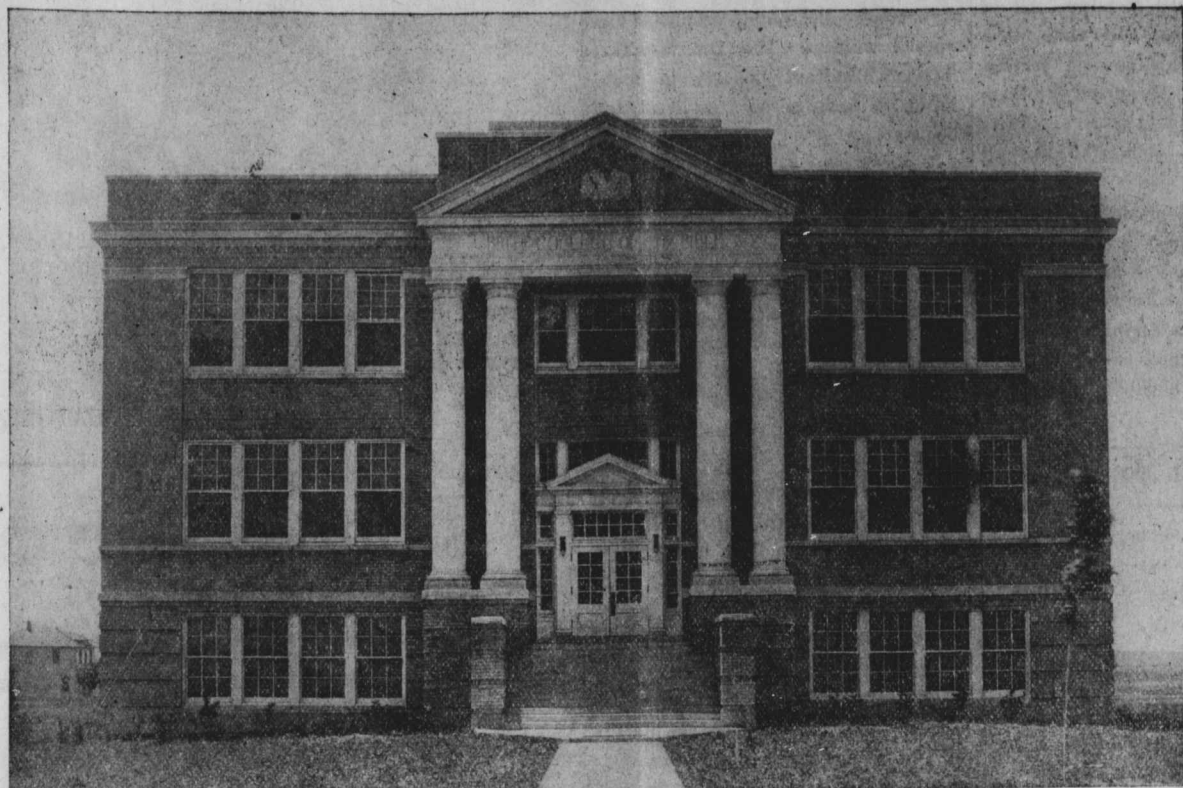

This contest will be held on the night of April 4, at Peniel College, Greenville, Texas.

Lets get behind our speaker and help him to win honors for the University again this year.

A well known pastor in an Eastern town on a recent rainy day turned up his trousers and trudged his way to church. Being of an absent-minded nature he forgot to turn them down upon arriving at the church. His good wife from her pew noticed the trouble and dropped a note into the collection basket. The pastor took the note, thinking it was an announcement, and read in loud and distinct tone.

"John, turn down your pants."

MISS RUTH MUSGRAVES

It is a befitting custom to pay tribute to those who are heroes of battle, and we would add laurels to those already bestowed upon our victorious soldiers. But there has recently gone from Texas to the dark continent of Africa, one whose heroism is equivalent to that of the most gallant soldier that ever crossed No Man's Land. The person to whom we refer is Miss Ruth Musgrave, one of our own T. C. U. girls.

Ruth spent four years in T. C. U. and one year in the College of Missions at Indianapolis, Indiana, preparing for the work that she is now entering.

The party with which Ruth sailed for Africa left New York November 9. On account of unusual transportation the party was detoured by the way of France, where they arrived at Thanksgiving and remained until after Christmas. While there they did canteen service among the soldiers in the hospitals. At Christmas they aided in the decoration of the Christmas trees, and helped to distribute presents to the soldiers.

A cablegram has been received that the party has safely arrived on the Congo River.

The station at which Ruth is to be located is at Lotumbe, in the very heart of Africa. Her work is to be especially devoted to the interests of the women and girls.

This brave young woman is truly giving her life to the service of humanity—greater love has no one than to give life in behalf of those who are in need. She has nobly buried herself in the heathen interior of Africa for the sake of the natives who are just beginning to see the dawn of civilization. We are proud to know that this heroine is an alumnus of T. C. U.

A train of thoughts is the real thing in rapid transit.

Welcome to Brite Building

Brite College claims the handsomest building in the group on this hill. If you do not know this come over and see.

But Brite College is not at all selfish and its beautiful building. It is here to serve. So here is a welcome held out to those who wish to find shelter under its roof.

Welcome, of course, to the chapel for Prayer Meeting and for Church Service. Welcome also to the Girls' Gym. Two rooms on the third floor resound with many a muscular delight nearly every morning of the week.

Welcome, also to the women of the University Neighborhood—for they hold their weekly meetings in the beautiful mission room on the first floor of the building. Welcome also to delightful social occasions in this same room where the pupils themselves sometimes gather.

Welcome, also, to the Fort Worth Public School, T. C. U. Ward, for the branch of the public school is held in the building for the benefit of the little tots in grades one to three. This is just the beginning to make possible a new public school building in this neighborhood.

Welcome to the University Pastor whose study is on the first floor of the building. He is glad to see you there at any hour.

Welcome to the Library room with its valuable collections of Government Documents and many other works that are of interest as a whole as well as to the ministerial students.

With these various interests housed here, in addition to the classes of the Bible College, and some of the Arts College, does not the Brite Building have a right to claim to be somewhat of a "Community House?" This is carrying out the spirit of the new day, in which the churches recognize as a means of serving the whole community, and not merely preaching theological service.

BRITE COLLEGE CHAPEL.

Prior to this year the students of the College of the Bible have had two regular meetings each week. One was the Ministerial Association, which was a student's organization for the mutual help and encouragement of all. The other was the regular Thursday morning chapel exercises.

Since it was seen not to be advisable to have two meetings each week it was decided to merge the two into one which would serve the same ends that the two hitherto had. These assemblings are known as "The Upperoom Meetings."

The plan is carried out of having both faculty members and students have parts in the program. Outside speakers are used as often as they are available.

An unusual and interesting meeting was conducted a few weeks ago when four of the young men who are doing regular preaching spoke four minutes each on "The Problems and Progress of the Work Where I Preach." These men very ably sketched some of the different problems which they had met and solved. The meeting proved to be a very helpful one.

Two weeks ago Dean Hall delivered an interesting and inspiring address on "The Need of Workers and Supplying the Need." In his address he spoke of the campaign that is being put over the state to secure the one hundred ministerial students which were expected last year, but which were not available on account of the war.

A short time ago we had with us one of Fort Worth's most distinguished pastors, Dr. A. E. Holt, who has been pastor of the First Pres-

CLASS RIVALRY REACHES CLIMAX IN DOUBLE HEADER

Girls Play Basket-Ball First Time This Year in Fish-Soph Game.

The climax of class rivalry occurred Friday in a double-headed basket-ball game between the "Fish" and "Sophs."

The girls of the two classes went on the ground for the first time this year, and their enthusiastic playing rivaled that of their brothers—in snap and vigor, and that is saying volumes. Lusty cheer from the side lines added pep to the contest, which was the culmination of the challenges recently exchanged by the two classes.

The games were played in thirds, the boys taking their turn first. It would be hard to pick out any particular stars, for every player was on his mettle and fighting hard. The Soph boys were victors by a score of 27 to 17. The Freshmen, though new at the job, seemed to be unflinching believers in the motto: "Never say die."

In the girls' contest, Mary Hayden and Elizabeth Oberthier forwards, played brilliantly for the Freshmen. The goals piled up in rapid succession, bringing the final score to 33-2 in favor of the first year class.

the Devil in his Program for the Twentieth Century."

We count ourselves fortunate to have had such a gifted man as a neighbor in our city, and to have had him with us on this occasion. Although he is soon to leave the state we hope to have him with us again some time.

The meeting this week was in the hands of three ladies of the College, who presented the need of missions in the foreign lands. They gave us some interesting information on the conditions of the people in the heathen lands. It was shown by them that hundreds of people are dying annually because of the lack of medical treatment. The speakers emphasized the fact of our responsibility to them in the matter of sending them culture and teaching them what religion is.

CAN A PREACHER BE A "GOOD SCOUT."

(This article is not written by a ministerial student, but by a friend who observes.)

It should be remembered that most churches educate their preachers in Theological Seminaries which are located separately from their colleges; so that a preacher spends at least three years, sometimes more, associating with no other students than preachers. In T. C. U. our ministerial students take the rough and tumble of all college life along with the other fellows who are preparing for all walks of life—and why not.

They have no separate literary societies, but take their part in the literary societies of the university. In fact the Shirley Society was organized by ministerial students and every charter number was a preacher. For several years a separate dining hall was had for the ministerial students, but the purpose of this was strictly for financial saving and never for any separation of students. This year even that separation is done away with.

Another fact that should be remembered in measuring their contribution to the general life of the school is that a number of the ministers are married men and have their life in addition to their school life. These cannot be expected to put so much time in the social and general life of the school as others.

Perhaps the biggest thing that could be borne in mind is the fact that every ministerial student in the university is working to pay his expenses through school, either in part or in whole. The most of them are doing it in whole. A number of the men spend two or three days of the week away from school ministering to the churches where they are serving as pastors. Some of them leave Friday night and do not get back until Monday. All of these are carrying full time work in addition to this outside service. It is not possible, therefore, for them to spend the time in general affairs so much as the man who has all his time at his disposal.

In spite of these limitations, the group of ministerial students could very well afford to challenge any other group of students (not merely mitriculates) to a comparison of its achievement in matters of oratory, athletics, and all public affairs of the university.

THE CALL TO YOU.

To you duty is calling,
Do not turn away;
Before you opportunity is falling,
But will not stay.

To you nations are turning,
Do not step aside;
Before you unity is coming,
But unaided, will not abide.

To you life is pleading,
Do not refuse the cry;
Before you humanity is kneeling,
But will not accept a lie.

To you God is looking,
Do not betray the trust;
Before you Christianity is growing,
But neglected will not last.

To you Heaven is inviting,
Do not turn it down;
Before you Christ is writing,
That Faith wins the crown.

MISSION WORK BEING DONE BY STUDENTS.

In addition to the regular routine of school work practically all of the older students of the College of the Bible are serving as ministers of churches that are in reach of the University. Much good is being done by these young men, and very gratifying reports are sent in from time to time concerning the progress of the work at the places where they serve.

M. A. Buhler divides time with the churches at Gober, Cottage

Bend, and Vashti. He reports that his audiences are becoming larger and that interest is increasing in a very marked degree.

S. P. Miller, who is a new man in Texas, having recently come from Virginia, preaches for the church at Bowie and Pendleton. It is his plan to spend the summer with these churches.

W. J. Spreen is the popular pastor of the church at Grand Prairie. During his pastorate there the attendance has almost doubled. His work among the young people is an especial success. The Intermediate Christian Endeavor society in that church is said to be the liveliest in the state.

James Todd, Jr., who is pastor of the Ross Avenue Church, Dallas, reports that the work is progressing in a very encouraging manner. During the eight weeks he has been ministering for that church there have been sixty new pupils added to the Bible school, and nine additions to the church. He is to begin an evangelistic campaign there the first Sunday in June.

J. W. Boultinghouse, who is pastor of the Boulevard church, North Fort Worth, reports that during his ministry the membership has increased almost fifty per cent, and that all departments of the church are progressing steadily.

Glenn Hutton has also been doing some splendid work on the field but has recently resigned to assist in the Bible school and to direct the Boy Scouts of the First Christian Church of the city.

John Luck, who has recently been called by the church at Cumby, is well pleased with the prospects there.

Dóvert McElroy, the youngest preacher with us in point of service, has taken up active preaching work since his dismissal from the S. A. T. C.

THE OUTLOOK FOR BASEBALL.

We have all the material necessary to make a champion team this year. The prospects are exceedingly good for a winning nine.

In addition to the old men we have a large number of new men, many of whom have been stars on the high school teams from which they came.

When the first call was made for those who wished to try out for a place on the team about thirty men responded, and began serious work.

Dutch Meyer, one of the best all-around varsity athletes in the state, is captain of the team this year. No man could have been chosen to lead the varsity team to victory who is more universally popular than this man. He is an all-around college man, a good student, and knows every word in the catalogue of college athletics. He is a clean sport and a gentleman.

Behind the bat Rube Berry is making a good start. He was a star on the Vernon High School team last year. Astynax Douglas, an old man in the game, is also

"SILVER THREADS AMONG THE BLACK"

(The most popular song in the Army of Occupation.)

Darling I am coming back,
Silver threads among the black.
Now that peace in Europe nears
I'll be back in seven years;
I'll drop in on you some night
With my whiskers long and white,
Yes the war is over, dear,
And we are coming home I hear.

Home again with you once more,
Say by nineteen twenty-four,
Once I thought by now I'd be
Sailing home across the sea,
Back to where you sit and pine
But I am stuck here on the Rhine,
You can hear the gang all curse,
War is hell, but peace is worse.
When the next war comes around,
In the front ranks I'll be found,
I'll rush in again, pell mell,
Yes I will, like hell, like hell.

This song was recently sent to Robert Badgett by his brother, Corporal Aubra Badgett, a former T. C. U. boy, and who is now with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

Corporal Badgett was one of the first men to enlist to fight for his country. He was not sent overseas until July, 1918.

He has recently sent a dairy home from which a few extracts are taken.

"On July 27, the officer gave us cards on which to write our final messages to our loved ones. The good Red Cross women served us hot coffee. We then boarded the ship that took us across. The ship on which we made the trip was an Italian ship that has seen many wars—The Caserto. They put us in the steerage; we all thought that we would smother at first but they let us on deck as soon as we were out from the pier.

I managed to keep down all the hash that they had served us, but the water was terrible. We were on the ship eleven days, but it seemed like eleven months.

After we had a good start orders were given to keep our life belts on. We then had life-boat drill.

The first few days we were out seemed long, but we soon learned to move about and see the different games.

On August 1. The sub bell rang and we got to the life boats as the gunner was about to fire at a whale, (supposed to have been a Sub.)

August 3. Entered the danger zone. Sighted a Sub which was sunk by the destroyer.

August 4. Met seven destroyers coming to meet us.

August 5. Slight storm and rough sea as we enter Bay of Biscay.

August 6: Landed at Brest. We stayed on the ship over night.

August 7. We unloaded the ship and started on a five-mile hike to the old Napoleon Barracks. On the way we began to see what these poor people had suffered. All the women wore black. It was almost impossible to buy anything to eat from them. While we were at this place we learned how to change and count French money.

August 11. We departed from the Barracks to hike five miles to the French Railroad. We reached Tours on the 12th then we moved to Garries.

August 13. The 317 Supply Co. was broken up and we landed in the Casual camp.

August 18. We were loaded into box cars and shipped to Issurville, where we slept in "pup" tents. Here the French women worked as K. P.'s and did the other dirty work as all the soldiers were needed for other duties. We also saw many German prisoners working there.

August 20. We moved to Londres where we slept in "cootie" barracks and some of the boys got drunk on French wine.

August 21. We left for Toul and arrived as they were having an air raid. There were air raids during the night and we learned how to sleep with our clothes on and get into the dug-out when the siren blew. When the church bells began to ring we knew that the Huns were coming. There were air raids every night.

August 29. We opened the Commissary, and on September 3, we moved to a larger building.

September 12. Big drive Mt.-Sec. Continued till the 20th. Then we moved nearer the front to Minelatur, while here we slept in an old theatre. We saw here our first military funeral—that of three young men who had fallen. We visited the trenches and the wire entanglements.

October 10. We moved, again nearer the front, to Bouc. Here slept in an old barn with the cows and got our first cooties.

October 27. Drive started on Metz, which continued until the Armistice was signed.

November 17. All leave for Germany but mate and me. We were left to guard the ware-house. 25th we started for Germany. Landed at Luxemburg where we remained a week while the 4th Corps was resting. It is a large mining city. Next was Hesperange where we all had a big time and where the dutchmen tried to buy all the boy's shoes. Then we stopped at Grauenmacher, and here the Germans gave us good beds and treated us well. Next we arrived at Cochem, where we are now waiting orders to go home or to Russia. We have found some nice families here but we are not allowed to speak to them on the streets."

Corporal Badgett states that he spent the Christmas Holidays in that city and is now billeted with a Germany family who treat him with all the respect and kindness that one could desire.

CHURCH BUILDING ASSURED.

All those who have attended the services of the University Church have been impressed profoundly with the need of a separate building in which to meet for the regular Sunday services.

We are now assured that the day is not far distant when actual building will begin.

Transactions are soon to be made whereby a beautiful lot adjoining the University campus is to become the property of the University Church. On this lot is to be built a magnificent building which is to be the home of the community church.

Pastor Jennings is very enthusiastic for the new building and it is due largely to his untiring zeal that such progress has been made in this direction.

The plans of the building have not been finally made, but it is the purpose of the pastor and board to make it the most beautiful and completely equipped church in the city. It will be built to harmonize with the University buildings, and will stand majestically as the most imposing edifice in this part of the city. It is to have a warm, worshipful, and inviting atmosphere within and without.

A splendid pipe organ will be installed that will add in an inestimable degree to the musical part of the services.

The entire cost of the building will be at least $100,000.

This is not to be strictly a University church for T. C. U. folk alone, but a community church designed to serve the interests of all

SHIRLEY-WALTON MEETING.

Last Monday night the Shirley Literary Society had its regular weekly meeting. The meeting was taken up completely in a discussion of the basketball trips of the year. The South Texas trip was described very vividly by "Dutch" Myer. He told of their victories and of their defeats as well. Then came Astranx Douglas with the Oklahoma trip. He told of their entire trip from the time they left the Hill to the time they came dragging home after the trip was finished. Next on the program was Cecil Bradford who told of the games which were played at home this year. This concluded the program on basketball and then Ernest Ligon spoke on New Men's contest. About twelve men signified their intentions of entering the New Men's contest. This is very encouraging and the prospects are very pleasing for the Shirleys toward the New Men's contest. We are going to stay behind our men and encourage them to do their best in the contest which takes place in the early part of April. Many Waltons were present which shows that our Walton sisters are with us in our every enterprise. Come again Waltons.

Everything is looking good for a clean up in the finals for T. C. U. McCutcheon and Hamlin should have little trouble in downing Southwest on our own territory. According to history Boynton and Martin have quite a task before them. Trinity claims the distinction of never having been beaten at home, since the Triangular Debate was inaugurated. Now is the time for these men to come to the aid of their university, and we feel sure that they will roll old Trinity in the sod.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE.

If you chance to see McCutcheon, Hamlin, Boynton, and Martin strolling down the hall with their arms full of books, conversing in a mysterious tone, or standing near the waters edge juggling pebbles on the end of their tongues, trying to develop the voice of a Demosthenes, don't think that they are I. W. W.'s or Bolsheviks, because they have something on their minds. They are hard at work on the annual triangular debate which takes place March 17th. For the past week these men have been searching high and low for debating material. There is not a book in the T. C. U. or Carnegie library which they have not explored relative to any dope on the Railroad Question.

BOYS OVER SEAS.

When the war was declared and the opportunity for volunteers given a large number of the students of Brite College enlisted in the great fight for the freedom of the world. A goodly number of those men are now over seas, but our definite data concerning them is very meager.

Edwin O. Elliott, who was assistant secretary of the Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. while in T. C. U. went across as a sergeant. He went over the top three times, and distinguished himself with such valor that he was decorated for bravery in action. Near the close of the war he was given a commission as First Lieutenant. He is now chaplain for the 39th Infantry, A. E. F.

James A. Crain, M. A. 1917, was commissioned as First Lieutenant in the summer of 1917, and assigned to the 133 Field Artillery as chaplain. Before being sent over seas he was instructor in the School for Army Chaplains at Louisville, Ky.

John W. Shockley, M. A. and B. D. 1918, enlisted in the Army Y.

M. C. A. in August after his graduation, and was sent to France in September. He was on his way to the front line when the Armistice was signed. He is now Divisional Secretary for the American Y. M. C. A. in France, with headquarters in Paris. He writes that he is going to stay in Europe as long as his services are needed, then he expects to spend several months in traveling.

E. M. Reeder, a student in 1916-17 enlisted with the 133 Field Artillery at the beginning of the war and is now with that division "over there."

James Wright and Homer Payne, who were students at the same time are also with the 36th division.

Irving Hefner who was here in 1914-15, joined the Navy early in the war. He is now in foreign waters, but the place is not known to us.

Jack Hammond is in the Headquarters company of the 12th Field Artillery, 2nd Division. He is at present at Honninger, on the Rhine. In a recent letter he states that he has encountered an attack of rheumatism and frozen feet, otherwise all is well. He says that the German people show them every courtesy, and have entertained them royally. He assures us that he is anxious to get back to the States and to resume his work in the T. C. U.

We are looking forward with eager anticipation when these, and other men who have gone from the University shall return to us.

GLEE CLUBS PRACTICE ON EACH OTHER AND ENJOY PARTY.

Mutual praise and criticism (favorable, of course) were exchanged by the Mens' and Girls' Glee Clubs when they had an opportunity to display their respective attainments to each other at an enjoyable evening party with Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon as hosts, Thursday night. Each club appreciated the chance to "practice" on the other, in preparation for the opening Glee Club season.

At the close of a thoroughly delightful evening, a sandwich course was passed to nearly fifty assembled songsters.
