

FROGS ADD THREE GAMES TO ITS LIST

BAYLOR, TRINITY, AND BANNER CONE COMPANY VICTIMS OF WEEK'S WORK

This week the Frogs added three more victories to their list by defeating Baylor, the Banner Cone Co., of Fort Worth, and Trinity U.

Monday the team went into the Bears' den and took his hide for second time this season to the tune of 13 to 1. Meyer, captain of the Frogs, who has been out of the box for some time on account of his arm, came back strong. He let the Baylor club down with only one hit, while Turner, the little pitcher that Baylor boasted of so much, allowed the Frogs only fourteen hits. Credit for the victory must be distributed however, for every member of the team starred. Meyer's support was excellent.

Cone Team Downed.

The second event of the week was a practice game with the Banner Cone Co. team of the Major City league Wednesday afternoon. The Frogs outhit the Cones by only one blow, but they made them come where they counted. Prinzing was the star at the bat for T. C. U., taking three wallops out of four trips to the plate. Arduous Social Life and Annual Duties Swamp Annibel

Well, it is now a. m. 1:25 and I have just got in from helping one of the seniors over at the Horned Frog room. She said I was a willing Freshman and so she took me along to dictate birthplaces, accomplishments, etc., of people on her type-writer. And believe me Ethyle, I'm as tired and sleepy as if I were writer-in-chief and had to dictate to myself.

And when we came home, it was all dark, and Mrs. McDiarmi had given us the key to lock the front door with, and we couldn't locate it, and so we just piled all the furniture we could find against the door and came on. If you never receive this letter, dear Ethyle, you may know that villainous burglars came in thru the barricade and killed my young life away. More'n likely I wouldn't 'kno' it, I'm so sleepy.

We had a big picnic out on Lake Worth Thursday. Everybody went. I. E. nearly everybody went 'cept me. But it cost 60 cents to go and I didn't have any 60 cents, and didn't anybody ask me to go like they did the other girls, and so I just showed my spunk and stayed at home. Glad I did, too, 'cause I'm not half as freckled and blistered and sore as those who went, and I wasn't lonesome here by myself.

The night before the picnic the boys had a regular shirt-tail parade (one of the girls called it a Pa-JAM-a parade—jam like marmalade, you 'kno'. I didn't like the sound of it that way,—doesn't seem consistent with night clothes. Everybody from Mr. Higgins to Briscoe was there in their Parade Clothes, I do believe. I never saw such a crowd, and we tho't they were going to take Jarvis

BALDWIN ELECTED CITY ATTORNEY OF CLEBURNE

The law department of Texas Christian University can boast of a city attorney among her last year's graduates. He is none other than Jewel Baldwin of Cleburne. Young Baldwin enlisted in the navy last spring, and, by a special dispensation, was permitted to remain in school until after his graduation in June. After receiving his discharge from the navy a few months ago, he went actively into law with his father. In the recent election, he won the office of city attorney by a big majority over several experienced opponents.

Ed Baldwin, a brother, who also was graduated from the Law School last spring, returned from the navy in time to assist in the campaign. Jewel was a prominent student in T. C. U. both in debating clubs and in the law department, being at one time president of the Bar Association. He has just recently been selected as Secretary of the Advisory Board of the T. C. U. College of Law.

SCOTT VISITS T. C. U. ENROUTE FROM FRANCE

Congratulation and much hand-shaking were in order when Gayle Scott, T. C. U.'s outstanding hero of the western front, appeared on the campus for a few hours Saturday. Strong and hearty he looked, with his jaunty over-seas cap, his silver bars, his three gold chevrons and most prized of all—his handsome medal, "Le Ordre de Carrona" awarded him by the King of Belgium for gallantry in action. Twice "Scotty" was cited for heroism, once in the Toul sector and once in the Second Battle of the Marne; but so modest is he about his honors that his friends are left to imagine just how his bravery manifests itself.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Scott of Lamkin, joined him here to accompany him home.

SOCIETIES PRESENT ARTISTS IN RECITAL

An unusual treat is promised students and faculty by the Shirley-Walton Literary Societies. They will present Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon and Miss Wright in recital Tuesday evening in the main auditorium. A vocal and violin program similar to that presented by this trio last week in Paris will be given. Everybody on the hill is cordially invited to attend the concert.

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS."

Miss Ruby Jones was presented in post-graduate recital by Miss Leila Long Powell, director of the department of oratory, Tuesday evening, April 29. She rendered most skillfully an arrangement of the well-known favorite, "Polly of the Circus," by Margaret Mayo. Each character was cleverly conceived by the reader and endowed with distinct individuality. Polly, in her innocence and simplicity, won the hearts of the audience as well as the minister, who was, himself, very admirably portrayed. The dear old negro "mammy" stood out from the story in her distinctly humorous fashion, making the reading well rounded and highly entertaining.

Corporal Sam Bliss of Houston, who served three years on the border and went over with the Rainbow Division early in the war, was permanently crippled on Sept. 12 at St. Mihiel when shot by a machine gun bullet in the leg. Two inches of the bone had to be removed, making one leg shorter than the other. He says:

"It was midnight, Sept. 11, when I went into the front line under rain and shell fire. We spent the next few hours fighting—cooties—and trying to keep warm.

"At 5:30 we went over the top and advanced two kilometers, taking the German front line. Tanks had gone before us, clearing out machine gun nests. But they missed one 'pill box'. We saw a dead Boche hanging over the machine gun, and thought he was the gunner. So we advanced. But it was only a camouflage. The gun opened do come, dear Ethyle, for thee I pine.

I nearly snored then, must go to bed.

Goodnight!

MAY CONTESTS OFFER ALLURING PRIZES

One of the most important and beneficial oratorical and essay contests of the entire year is slated to be held in a little more than two weeks. It is the contest on "Church Stewardship in Property," in which members of Rev. Mr. McPherson's Bible classes alone are eligible to compete. In order to stimulate interest in this event, Arthur A. Everts of Dallas awards two prizes annually, a very attractive gold medal for the best oration, and a handsome gold watch for the best essay.

Another interesting and profitable contest which will close May 21, simultaneously with this one, is based on assigned Bible themes. This contest is made possible by ten friends of Brite Bible college who have given a sum of $350 to be awarded in prizes ranging from $25 to $75.

These prizes are well worth the time of any student with the slightest aptitude for either oratory or essay writing, and the contests are sure to create much interest. Let us show these good people who have made them so alluring just how deep is our appreciation by entering them with a zest and making the most of such an opportunity to win honors and valuable prizes.

TENDENCIES OF NEW FRANCE EXPLAINED

Professor J. K. Richards gave the students a comprehensive glimpse into "The New France" in his chapel talk Friday morning. He touched on the present political situation, and contrasted the ideals of the French with those of the German people. He also pointed out the conciliatory policy of this nation, illustrating his point by numerous extracts from current and classical French literature.

The next chapel talk will be on "The New Internationalism," by Mr. H. P. Stearns of the law department. The last of the series will be delivered May 16 when Mr. E. R. Cockrell, head of the art department, will speak on "The New Movement in Art."

ed up on us. A bullet hit my leg and threw it out from under me. I jumped in a shell hole and remained there, in mud and water, for three hours."

"At the base hospitals in France, Sergeant Bliss said, the wounded men were always cheerful.

"They'd brag about their native states, and get into great wrangles. Then they'd try to fight each other. One chap had both arms shot off, and shrapnel wounds in his legs. We'd offer him candy, and when he'd open his mouth for us to drop it in, we'd eat it ourselves. They were always joking...It wasn't safe to feel sorry for any of the fellows, no matter how mused up they were.

"One boy, who came back on the ship with me, was brought over in a basket. Both arms were gone to shoulders, and both legs at the hips. 'I can't even commit suicide,' he often said. His mother came from San Francisco to New York to meet him, and when she saw him dropped dead."

"This is the way that some of the soldiers paid for the war. You are asked to pay only in money. Invest in the VICTORY LOAN.

LAKE WORTH SCENE OF MUCH ACTIVITY ON MAY DAY PICNIC

MURDER TRIAL AGAIN STAGED BY "LAWS"

With the poise and self-confidence of full-fledged attorneys, eleven students of the law department appeared at the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce Thursday night and again staged the mock trial on which they have worked so diligently for several weeks. Again, the notorious Heywood was hailed before the bar of justice to face the charge of murder, and again eloquent speeches were made, both for the state and the defense. While the audience was not so large as might have been expected, the performance afforded splendid experience for the embryo lawyers, and it put the T. C. U. law department before the people in a forceful way. The program was varied by selections by the university orchestra. Plans are being made to stage the trial in at least four north Texas towns in the next few weeks.

"V. V'S EYES."

In the auditorium on the evening of April 25, Miss Carolyn Crisp, post-graduate of the T. C. U. department of Oratory, rendered an excellent interpretation of Harrison's novel, "V. V's Eyes." Miss Crisp displayed unusual ability and insight in the portrayal of the characters. The predominant character was Dr. Vivian of the slums. His Christ-like personality and compassionate eyes influenced all who came in contact with him to turn from their wrong doings to higher ideals.

Miss Crisp's interpretation inspired her listeners to the greatest degree.

KU KLUX KLAN REVIVED

About fifty galloping inhabitants of Clark Hall, artistically garbed in pajamas a la negligee, circled around the home of the Fair Sex, making the beat seven times, in the cool still hours of Wednesday night.

In place of blowing trumpets as in ancient Jericho, however, ice water (at least it felt thusly) was gracefully pitched into open windows by the besiegers, successfully sprinkling both downy couch and the slumbering maiden thereon. At the end of the grand march, which was led by Mr. Merrill Turner, becomingly gowned in flesh-colored Billy Burks, an over-grown bon-fire was erected, and the various Indian dances, such as the "chimmy" and "Hula" and others too wicked to mention, were executed.

As the charge of the 600 was renewed on the veranda of the Girls' Hall, the besieged maidens rallied and met the attack with buckets full of water a la "Drippings Spring," which was violently thrown from the balcony above. It was extremely comical to see Dewey Lawrence, charmingly arrayed in pajamas most elaborately camou-

There is no longer any doubt of the fact that the May day picnic has been established as an annual date on T. C. U.'s calendar. It is a joyous occasion, and affords a very happy relief from the every day grind.

More than two hundred students availed themselves of the opportunity to see the Lake on last Thursday. Special cars carried the picnickers away from the Hill at eight o'clock. Perfect connection was made all along the trip and the Lake was reached early in the forenoon.

Most everyone took to water at once, either in a boat or in a bathing suit. We don't think that "Dan" had a very good time, we heard he had no time to enjoy himself picking up after us; but we will certainly vote him a blue ribbon cook when it comes to picnic dinners. We didn't know ham sandwiches could be so good.

The attraction for the afternoon was a ride around the lake on the big boat, Panther City, followed by more boating and swimming. Supper was spread at five-thirty, and in another half an hour the beach was deserted.

It wasn't hard to tell in chapel the next morning who had gone on the picnic. Blistered faces were very much in evidence, but not a single regret for having gone was heard expressed.

Friends of Prof. C. I. Alexander will be sorry to learn of his severe illness at his home on University Hill. He has been unable to meet his classes for over a week.

Miss Golden Kennemur is visiting the university. She has just recovered from a prolonged illness which caused her to drop out of school several months ago.

flaged with mother earth, which was caused by various contacts during the fray, giving the snappy orders that produced various military movements by the ghostly procession.

It was also noticeable that in most cases the modern 1919 son has replaced father's nightshirt with the more modern sleeping robe, pajamas. An artistic color scheme was carried out by Joe Wilson, who was gracefully attired in baby blue "crepe machines," and girls, he was a veritable modern Apollo.

The climax of the midnight assault was reached when Mary Melton, returning from a visit home, was completely inundated while giving the customary pass word in the form of repeated "bangs" at the door. She was forced to endure the liquid bombardment until the benevolent sisterhood hidden within produced the necessary key and unlocked the side door.

The lull that always comes after the storm eventually followed, and, with a few scattered whoops of joy over the prospect of a holiday, the conquerors retired to their cells for the remaining three hours of the morning.

Late News:

Hazelle Dean was awarded a one-year scholarship in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music at the meeting of the Texas Federation of Music clubs in Sherman, May 2-3, according to news received here Saturday. Miss Dean, who is a pupil of Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, won the state Scholarship last year. Upon going to press, it could not be ascertained whether Dorothy Barber or Sannie Andrews would be awarded the T. C. U. scholarship.

LET'S FALL IN LINE.

For weeks our mail box has been "chuck full" of literature setting forth the advantages of Uncle Sam's gigantic War Savings Stamp crusade. It is good stuff, too, in newspaper parlance, and nearly every day we have happened upon a story or two that we meant to enlighten our readers with in the very next issue. But, despite our intentions, every week the unforeseen has happened. Local events have taken place so thick and fast that our W. S. S. clippings invariably have been crowded out to make room for them. We might go even further and say that somebody on the campus is perpetually peeved because a cherished bit of local matter was forced out because of lack of space in our four-pager.

But we were made to repent our indiscretion in allowing everything else to take precedence over Uncle Sam's program when, a few days ago, we were pounced upon in a personal letter from Chauncey C. Brown, district publicity director, who happens to be an old and trusted friend. He started his reprimand with a little poem from the recesses of his fertile brain, and continued further along with a paragraph after this wise: "Honestly, if you love your fellow men (or women) here's a chance to be a real missionary. Won't you see if you can't put a little dope on the humble Thrift Stamps in your paper? Thrift is a mighty good habit and the T. C. U. bunch will never learn any younger." We just want to add that we agree with Mr. Brown so thoroughly that henceforward we mean to encourage the purchase of War Savings Stamps every time the chance is presented. The thrift habit IS a good one, and it ought to take root in the pocket book of every student in this school. We have a Thrift Society already organized. Let's get behind it and BUY OUR THRIFT STAMP TODAY.

How Others Have Solved It.
Members of the Low Second Grade War Savings Society of the O. M. Roberts School of Dallas made savings records in March which is quite unusual for children of their age. There are 23 members of the Society and they invested a total of $55.00 in Thrift Stamps, or an average of $2.39 apiece. At this rate, each member of this Society will have saved and invested $28.68 in the course of the year.

The six members of the Liberty Store War Savings Society in El Paso bought $15.00 worth of War Savings Stamps during March.

The Pelican Chapter D. A. R. War Savings Society of Shreveport, La., reports investments of $170.90 in War Savings Stamps for February and March.

Every pupil in the public schools at Oakwood, Texas, has begun investing in Thrift Stamps, making the school 100 per cent from a saving standpoint and every pupil belongs to a Savings Society.

Miss Kate S. Schenck, principal of the Robert E. Lee School, San Antonio, is organizing 14 Societies among the 575 pupils.

ANNUAL SOCIAL EVENT.

Last Friday evening Rev. and Mrs. Chalmers McPherson entertained the students in Rev. Mc. Pherson's classes at their home on College Avenue. This is an annual social event among the Brite College students, and is always looked forward to with the greatest pleasure for the hosts are well known for their genuine hospitality.

Some very clever and unusual forms of entertainment were indulged in by the guests. For one thing, the guests were permitted to learn the Manifest and various doings of their classmates thru the Brite College Bulletin, which told of those things that they thought entirely unknown to their fellows, and even some things that they did not know themselves. Then the future (with a small mixture of the past) was unfolded by blind chance. Strange to say a heart's affinity was sometimes found in a person sitting in the same room on one's deadly rival. Was the girl occupying the next chair.

Other diversions and music, followed by lovely refreshments, completed an extremely enjoyable evening.

Besides the guests from the city, those attending from the University were:

Misses Ethel Ellis, Mary Melton, Margaret Forsythe, Mary Jane Williams, Hallie Strange, Erin Jones, Callie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Beuhler, Miss Correll; Messrs. Miller, Spreen, Phillips, Norris, Fitzgerald, McElroy, Reeder, Bradley, Badgett, Boultinghouse, Hearn, Douglas, Nevil and Mr. and Mrs. McReynolds.

BRUSHES TENDER SHOWER.

The Art Studio in main building furnished an ideal setting for a very pretty social event Friday afternoon, when Mrs. E. R. Cockrell and members of the "Brushes" honored Miss Anna Mae Tanner with a surprise shower. Miss Tanner became the bride of Captain C. L. Drenon of San Antonio, who recently returned from overseas service, Saturday. Miss Tanner has been an assistant in the art department this year.

Quantities of wild flowers and trailing vines converted the studio into a veritable garden. A long clothes line from which were suspended the dainty gifts for the bride-to-be followed a winding, blossom-bordered path. A large clothes basket held the gifts as they were gathered from the line.

Following an enjoyable flower contest, chocolate ice cream was served in tiny flower pots from which sweet pea sprays were "growing." More than thirty guests enjoyed the occasion.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED THIS YEAR.

College students are always interested in anything that pertains to the Rhodes scholarships. The following extract from a recent issue of the Houston Post showed, therefore, claim the attention of T. C. U. men and women:

"Students of American colleges are especially interested in the resumption of regular classical work in Oxford University, England, because of the announcement that the Rhodes scholarships will be offered again this year. Oxford, the ancient seat of learning of England, has been an army training camp during the war, but it is now back on a pre-war basis. Competitive examinations in every State in this country will be held this fall, and two men from Texas will be appointed.

"The will of the late Cecil Rhodes, South African developer and capitalist, provided for two American college students from each State at Oxford constantly, each scholar to remain three years and to receive a stipend of 300 pounds a year of expenses. Before the war, students in this country considered the award of a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford as one of the greatest honors in the collegiate world, and they were stimulated to a greater activity in their studies, in sports and in character development by the hope of winning this distinction.

"The closer relations between England and America which have developed during the war, will create new interest in this scholarship among American students, and a new and closer relation between English and American universities.

In the third game the Frogs made a strong biff for second place in the T. I. A. A. by defeating Trinity U. on the home ground by a score of 6-1. The Tigers have been playing good ball but in this game they were no match for the Frogs, who took the game with no apparent effort. A good size bunch of boosters did all they could to bolster up the team but their courage oozed away as the score mounted up to 6-1 in favor of the Toads.

Ogilvie and Prinzing did the most damage for the home players and, together with Stovall, made all the runs for the horned Frogs.

LT. WILLIS MC GREGOR RECENTLY OVERSEAS BACK IN T. C. U.

Lieut. Willis McGregor, one of the first students to be accepted for the Leon Springs Officers' Training School, is a recent arrival from overseas.

McGregor was ordered to Leon Springs May 8, 1917, where he received five weeks training in the infantry, after which he was sent to Fort Monroe for training in artillery. He was commissioned second lieutenant on August 15, 1917, upon the completion of this course of intensive training in infantry and artillery.

Ordered to Fort Morgan, Alabama, he did post duty until May 15, 1918, when he was assigned to the 3rd Anti-Aircraft Section which had just been organized.

The next month following his assignment to Battery C, he was sent to the Fort Monroe Anti-Aircraft school where he remained until ordered to France August 1st, 1918.

McGregor's organization sailed from New York on the "Empress of Russia", a Canadian Steamer, formerly the biggest ship on the Pacific coast. They took the northern route and icebergs were a familiar sight enroute. Arriving at Liverpool, Lieut. McGregor was sent thru De Havre to an anti-aircraft school at Fort DeStains, ten miles north of Paris where he remained until October 1. On this date the battery was ordered to the front on the Verdun sector where they saw continuous action for several weeks, being ordered back for rest a few days before the armistice was signed.

On Nov. 10 they were again on their way to the front, but were ordered to return and embark for America. During this brief period of rest they were billeted at Sarceles near Paris.

The battery was at Brest over three weeks before embarking on the "Kansas" a cruiser, bound for Newport News. McGregor said his contingent received fine treatment at the hands of the crew of the "Kansas" enroute to the states.

Arriving at Fort Monroe the men were mustered out and McGregor immediately returned to T. C. U. to continue his work.

Lieut. McGregor graduated in 1918 and was one of the most popular men of the university, being a leader in debating and oratorical circles and a diligent student in the Law School under Dr. Cockrell. He expects to complete his law course next year.
