VOLUME XIX.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY, FORT WORTH, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1920.

NO. 4.

FROGS TAKE FIRST MELEE 20-0

OKLA. S. E. N. IS FIRST VICTIM OF CHRISTIANS

Making use of no other football tactics than straight line plunges, and outweighed on an average of fifteen pounds to the man, the Horned Frogs defeated the eleven of Southeastern Normal of Durant, Okla., on the local gridiron Saturday, by a score of 20 to 0. The game was marked by its slowness and lack of interest. The Normal team was exceedingly weak and unable to hold even the second-string men used by the Christians in the greater portion of the game.

The first scoring came in the first six minutes of play, when the Frogs, aided by a fifteen-yard penalty assessed on Normal for unnecessary roughness, pushed the ball over the line for a touchdown, Fowler carrying the ball. Acker failed to kick goal. Second blood was drawn in the same period of play, when the ball was carried over for another touchdown by means of steady line plunging. This time the goal was kicked, and the score was 13 to 0.

This ended the scoring until the last quarter of play. Second-string men were given a chance during the interval, and the game was characterized by loose playing. Penalties were frequent for both the Christians and the Normals, mostly for undue roughness. The only way the Normal could gain any ground whatever was by means of a punt or by a penalty for the Frogs. Twice the Christians narrowly missed scoring—once when they had the ball within a foot of the enemy's goal line and were given a fifty-yard penalty, and another time when Acker missed a field goal by a matter of a few inches. Another time the Frogs pushed the pigskin right under the enemy's goal line and missed making a touchdown on the fourth down by a hair's breadth.

The final scoring, which came in the last period of play, savored of the sensational. Douglass, star Christian center, neatly blocked a Normal kick, and "Dutch" Meyer covered the ball behind the line for a touchdown. The goal kick was successful, bringing the final count to 20-0.

Summary: Time of quarters, 10 minutes; officials, Keisker, referee; Richenstein (Texas A. & M.) umpire; Grieb, headlines man; Vaughn, timekeeper. Substitutions: T. C. U., McAfee for Harris, Cherry for Green, Ogan for Douglass, Jackson for Fowler, Mack for Fulcher, Alexander for Mack, Camp for Ogan, Green for Cherry, Harris for McAfee, Ogan for Camp, McFarland for Douglass; Normal, McCurtain for Abbott, Cain for Mackin, Strickland for Henry.

The Line-Up.

The lineup of the teams was as follows:

TAKING GAME FROM AUSTIN WILL BE TASK

Kangaroos Have Best Team in History of School.

That the Horned Frogs will have no trouble in winning all their other games if they defeat the Austin College Kangaroos here Saturday is the consensus of opinion on the campus. The A. C. men are reputed to be stronger than they have been before, and are putting up a stiff fight for Texas honors. The Kangaroos defeated Southeastern Normal two weeks ago to the gruesome tune of 62 to 0, and were beaten last Saturday by Baylor only in the last period of play and, some say, by a lucky fluke.

It is said that the Kangaroos have developed the short forward pass to a surprising degree and are able to "get away" with the greater per cent of these. It is reported that the team that is able to break up these passes is the team that gets next to their style of football.

Coaches Driver and McKnight are expecting a stiff game Saturday. They are carefully selecting the men whom they are going to pit against the Austin College stars, and it is rumored that there are Frogs who were just cut out for breaking up forward passes.

BUY THAT FROG.

Have you bought your Horned Frog yet? If not, do it today. Beginning Monday, October 11, the Frog photographer will be on the hill and will be ready for you to pose for the annual. Pictures will be made in the chapel and the photographer will be on the campus for a period of only six weeks, which means that you must get that picture made today.

Do you want to get your Horned Frog FREE? Yes sir. And six complimentary pictures of yourself from the photographer too? Then when you have your photo made for the Frog, draw a number which will be in a box where you have your picture made, and the two who draw lucky numbers (the numbers to be drawn later) will receive their Frog free and six pictures in a University seal folder FREE. Get busy and have that picture made now. Get it off your mind. It means that if you do this the annual will be off the press much sooner than if you wait.

That Other 50 Per Cent

By A FOOTBALL MAN.

You know what? I went over to a "pep" meeting the other night and if it had not been that Mr. Diffie was red in the face with working with that bunch trying to get them to shell out with a little "pep" and enthusiasm, I would not have known what was going on.

Personally, I was too tired to yell, and besides, it ought not to have been necessary. I had just finished one of Driver's work-outs with the trimmings that McKnight puts on it. It's great—come out some time and try it. You, too, girls (that is, if you are not professionals). But as I was saying, Mr. Diffie's antics had informed me of the fact that a "pep" meeting was in progress so I thought I would "set in" for a short space. Mr. Diffie was frantically calling for an effort on the part of the students to write some new yell. He made known the fact that there was a prize of Five Dollars for the best yell turned in. Now, when it comes to the point that there has to be a reward offered for a T. C. U. man, woman, or child to do something for the old school, I WANT OFF. Now that reward is NOT for the effort you are to put out, it is merely an inducement to add a little energy to the task. When a student body gets so pepless that any man on the team (with "Dutch" Meyer) can make more noise in an hour than they can in a week, there is something wrong. Fellows Do You Believe In Us? Coach says that after the old squad has done all that they can do there will have to be a big fifty percent come from some where else. There is one question I want to ask: ARE YOU GOING TO FIGHT, OR TRUST TO LUCK?

If Diffie asks you to move over and leave your "little-ol'-sack-o'-sugar" in order to put a little more "pep" in the noise you are making, do it. You are not establishing a precedent—they do it in the best of schools. Give the fellows out there on the gridiron a thought. They are representing YOU. What kind of representation do you want? Listen, bunch! This old squad will promise you that they will WIN every game that you will support them in. You know what I mean by SUPPORT. Give them all you've got; that's what they are doing.

PRESIDENT HUNTER'S SUCCESSOR NAMED.

President Arthur Hunter's tenure of office was brought to an abrupt termination Thursday morning when the Freshman class met at chapel period to elect officers and a representative to the Honor Council.

Edwin Kane of the Junior class acted as chairman. He made a few preliminary statements relative to the necessity of the immediate election of a member of the Honor Council from the Freshman class and impressed his hearers with the seriousness of the office. Mr. Kane then called on Mr. Boultinghouse, president of the student body, to define the nature of the Honor Council's work. Mr. Boultinghouse stated that the success of the complete honor system soon to be installed, depends largely on the way the class of 1924 works for its interests.

Mr. Kane then called for nominations and a few moments later Alfred McAfee was chosen to represent the class on the Council.

The election of class officers was the next number on the program, but owing to lack of time only the president was chosen, Harold Pyle being the man who will steer the ship of state. At a meeting to be held in the near future the other class officials will be elected.

The class of 1924 starts the year with bright prospects. It is the largest class in School and one of the largest Freshman classes the school has ever had. Its personnel is of the highest quality in every respect that is possible, and it is expected that great works for T. C. U. will be wrought by the young men and women it counts as its own.

The University of London has fifty-three constituent colleges.

GLEE CLUB IS ORGANIZED BY NEW DIRECTOR

New Organization Will Be Restricted to 20 Voices.

With a personnel of twenty members, and with an enthusiasm equal to that exhibited at the beginning of last year, when T. C. U. had one of the best clubs in the state, the Men's Glee Club was organized at a meeting Thursday night, and plans discussed for the year's program. Although handicapped by the loss of some of the best voices, it is expected that the new organization will go forward in excellent condition.

Dan Baker, of Chicago, who recently arrived to accept the position of instructor in the Department of Voice, will direct the club. Mr. Baker is a young man with a pleasing personality and with years of experience behind him, both in directing organizations of this nature and in actual performance on the chautauqua platform. It is expected that he will be able to work admirably with the men and get good results.

A concert program is planned by the club to include trips to various parts of the state as well as concerts in Fort Worth, Dallas, and other nearby towns and cities. Nothing will be left undone to create interest in the organization, it is announced, and the Glee Club is expected, as of old, to prove a material advertising card for the University.

Officers elected at Thursday night's meeting are as follows: Bob McFarland, president; Merrill Turner, vice president; A. S. Douglass, secretary-treasurer. All of these men are Glee Club men of the old days, and are expected to prove valuable officers. Work will begin immediately, it is announced, rehearsals being set for twice a week. The club will be limited to about twenty of the best voices.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY SENIOR CLASS.

To act as skipper of the class of 1921 is the duty of Forrest McCutcheon, who was elected president of the senior class in a recent class meeting. Tony Peccora was elected vice president and Miss Margaret Stuckert, secretary-treasurer. Will Hill Acker was elected as honor council representative. The class of '21 is about the same size as that of last year, but indications point to the fact that there is more real work and pep being exhibited by the members of this class than there has ever been before. The rings for the class are being ordered and the graduation programs have already been prepared. Work on the Horned Frog is well underway and we are expecting some great things from this class.

NEW SOCIETY LEGISLATION IS NOW IN EFFECT

New students will not be taken into the literary societies of T. C. U. until after December 1, according to an agreement entered into by members of the Add-Ran-Clark and Shirley-Walton Societies Monday night. Admission then will be open only to students in good college standing and will be only by petition from the student himself, and it is thought that this plan will place the organizations on a much more dignified plane than they have been heretofore with their indiscriminate "rushing" of new students at the beginning of each school years.

The new plan came as the fruit of efforts which have been put forth with more or less inconsistency from year to year. A committee was appointed from each of the four societies to discuss the matter, and by agreement of this body a sub-committee was formed to draw up the articles of agreement, with the result that it was pushed through to completion within a few days. The articles of agreement went into full force and effect October 4, will be effective this year and each succeeding year. The agreement follows:

Preamble.

We, the Shirley-Walton and Add-Ran-Clark Literary Societies of Texas Christian University, in order to add dignity to and raise the standards of our respective organizations, do hereby agree to the following:

1. That no pledges to membership in any of the above societies shall be taken until December 1st of this year and each succeeding year.

2. That no member of said Societies shall urge one or cause one to promise to become a member of their respective societies.

3. That candidates for membership in said societies must obtain formal application blanks from the secretary of said society and file same for consideration by the society with said secretary.

4. That no application for membership will be considered from any student who is not in college standing and passing in two-thirds of his college work.

5. It is furthermore agreed that any member of any of the aforesaid societies who is known to violate any part of the above agreement shall be automatically dropped from the roll of his respective society.

The following articles being agreed to in open session of the Shirley-Walton-Add-Ran-Clark Literary Societies is hereby and duly signed by their respective presidents in the presence of the President and Dean of the University, a copy of said Articles of Agreement being placed with the Shirley-Walton and Add-Ran Clark Literary Societies, and one copy being placed on file in the office of the President of the University.

THOS. E. DUDNEY, Editor
FORREST McCUTCHEON, Bus. Mgr.

Entered as second-class mail matter at the postoffice at Fort Worth, Texas.

Devoted to the promotion of a wholesome spirit of co-operation within the walls of Texas Christian University first, last, and all the time. Pledged to the support of high ideals. Committed to the task of reflecting the progress of the school in such a way that the outside world may be convinced that T. C. U. is the center of real and broadening culture.

SLOW TO ANGER.

The Book of the Universe says something about the man who is slow to anger. And what a Universe this would be without the seasoning influence of those persons who take life with calm, unruffled composure, regardless of the weather, regardless of the taunts and jeers of their neighbors, and regardless of the fact that someone unwittingly transgresses a law laid down by them for the conduct of that someone.

Anger never yet accomplished anything lasting—except ruin. The man who in a fit of frenzy hurls a stone at his neighbor will feel the force of the rebound far more than the object of his wrath can possibly feel the thrust. In battle, give us the man who lends his strength to the parry and thrust with the same unruffled demeanor that the polished gentleman uses in wielding his knife and fork at a Junior-Senior banquet. We have seen many a combatant enter the conflict and lose, not because of the prowess of his opponent, but because he himself couldn't hold his temper. We have seen dormitories in upheaval like the crater of Vesuvius, simply for the reason that those in charge failed to appreciate the art of keeping a smooth front.

It is an art. It is something to be cultivated. Every normal human being is born with a certain amount of "high temper." He is not responsible for this. But at the same time every n. h. b. comes into the world with a degree of self-control. From childhood there is a struggle for supremacy—self-control vs. temper. If the individual gives way to every impulse of anger, he develops a magnificent temper—and at the same time dwarfs the nature intended for him and loses his influence over his fellows.

It is something to think about. The wise skipper steers his craft clear of the floating spars and other evidences of wreckage lest he drive his own vessel on the rocks.

Incomplete registration from Columbia University indicate that their enrollment this year will exceed 31,000, a gain of over 35 per cent over last year. Columbia will then be the larg est educational institution in the world. Their enrollment at the past summer session was over 10,000, the largest in the history of the university.

New heads of institutions to be seen this academic year are Frederick C. Hicks, University of Cincinnati; William W. Henderson, Brigham Young College; John E. Cousins, Tufts College; H. M. Gage, Coe College; Harry W. Chase, University of North Carolina; and F. W. Hixsen, Allegheny College.

The only reason we wish we were bald-headed is that we could shine in our classes without going to the trouble of studying so hard.

Our advice to prospective bachelors is: Be sure you have the right girl—then break the engagement.

The ding-dong dings the dong of parting day,
The cooing couples o'er the campus flee;

My best girl goo-goo's with a giggle gay—
And leaves the world to darkness and to me.

Three Years Ago and Now

By HEINE PRINZING

Quite naturally the first thing that impressed the new student in 1917 was the campus scene. To us then, this was beautiful in its scant flower beds and small shade trees. Any old student will tell you how very much he liked the campus, especially so in the early mornings and evenings. There was just the same feeling of beauty this year, only it seemed to carry with it that idea of "wise" old beauty. The campus lawn is everywhere more green, and is decked here and there with many-colored and odd-shaped flower beds. There are a number of electric lights on the campus drive, which will make the campus seem a real scene of activity when lighted, even though they are not so well liked by some of the lovers of moonlight, etc.

We shall leave the campus and pass to the dwelling places of the students. Clark Hall was the same in structure as it is now, of course, but it is different in its inner relations. Then there was a proctor and two matrons over the boys. One couldn't find two more generous, high-minded, motherly women than these two, but there was no relation between the proctor and boys.

Just look at the great change. Now we have several student monitors, and the dean of men in charge, Mr. Edwin Elliott. One couldn't ask for a finer, square man, who is a friend of every man or boy in Clark Hall. He willingly gives one the proper encouragement and kindly words of wisdom for advice. All of the boys should appreciate Mr. Elliott and the good fortune which makes him one of their number. There is far more satisfaction and content, as well as far less noise, than in '17; and those of us who are here for business appreciate this fact alone.

In '17 there came to T. C. U. a green bunch of Freshmen to try out their prowess on the athletic field. Not one knew what the other could do, and none knew he was sure of a place on the team, until the season had ended. Undaunted, "Good Old Dan" (Milton Daniels), a former star of T. C. U., took the youngsters and made of them a powerful football team, and it was given out by critics that they could have beaten even all-powerful Texas A. & M. The school was lucky to have one like Dan to coach, although they haven't realized it. Dan never was heard to "cuss" a man out, nor to have a harsh word for him. He was a thorough gentleman, and had his team act as such whether they were or not. In other words, the writer has the greatest respect and admiration for him, and still thinks he is the best ever.

This year we have a fine coaching staff, better than anything in the state, and we have Under big bows of pink and white and red tulle were hidden "cures for nostalgia," but how could such cures as Friends, Letters, Pep and other unfailing remedies remain hidden? Very soon couples were seen strolling over the campus, proving the efficacy of the cures.

Flowers and palms were everywhere and Shirley-Walton colors were used in the most attractive ways. Delicious fruit punch was served throughout the evening from booths arranged on either side of the main entrance, which bore the same good old colors which have thrilled the hearts of the Shirleys and Waltons since time immemorial.

The "cures" were made more delightful because they were taken with music. Johnnie's

Jazz Orchestra was the donor of the most excellent harmonies and they were applauded most vigorously, especially when "your eyes have told me so."

A receiving line had been planned, but the new students were so anxious to find out what awaited them that by the time the participants had gathered their robes about them preparatory to extending the "glad hand" the hall was crowded to the limit and the plan had to be abandoned.

The Shirleys and Waltons were, however, just as glad to see them as if they had taken their hands and murmured their name.

Miss Bertha Hensley, Miss Carolyn Crisp and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tomlinson felt the call of former days and came back to be a part of the festivities "just for tonight."

Many of the faculty members were there, and we heard that President Waits and Professor McDiarmid had dances with such renowned persons as Clara Kimball Young, Eva Torquay, Marie Prevost and Mrs. Carrie Colt.

When the orchestra played "Home, Sweet Home," there was nothing to do but sigh regretfully and depart. Just as we went out the door we heard someone just behind whisper "Goodnight, with honest gentle hearts,

And kindly greeting go away."

How a baldheaded man does sneer at a woman who dyes her hair!

NEW OLD POETRY.

If your sun is the lamp of scholarship, there is nothing new to be found under it, says a New York Tribune writer, who seems to take pleasure in Prof. John Erskine's puncturing of new poetic bubbles. In his book "The Kinds of Poetry," the Professor says the "Spoon River Anthology" is "a translated counterpart of the Greek Anthology," and Robert Frost "a sort of twentieth-century Wordsworth." Our advanced versifiers have "borrowed the methods of realistic prose." Thus:

"Their art is the product of much novel reading... A generation of readers and writers has grown up which sooner or later would be sure to transfer the methods of prose realism to verse... The main point is that the new poetry inherits its style from a prose ancestry and takes its methods and its subjects from the tradition of the novel; and we who like or dislike what we see are none the less witnessing one of those mutations by means of which from time to time literature reinvigorates itself, pouring old wine into new bottles or new wine into old bottles."

"Professor Erskine regards the new tendency as a wholesome manifestation, but he deplores the propaganda of its spokesmen, who try to interpret it as an offshoot of French metrical experiments or of imagistic obsessions... We like particularly the manner in which Professor Erskine punctures certain of the pretensions of Miss Amy Lowell."

WANING.

Wild wind, west wind, wind that sweeps the sky,
Tossing the ragged clouds about in a gipsy revelry,
My throat has ached to drink your wine for many a windless day—
But I am caged in a cheerful house, and can not get away.

Tall trees, pine-trees, that march around the hill,
Swaying in a stately dance to the wild wind's piping shrill,
My heart cries out for the joyous days that in your lodge I've spent—
While my good wife nods by our well-kept fire, nor dreams of my discontent.

Swift water, white water, plunging down the falls,
Pushing with impatient hands at the caging canon walls,
There's a call in my breast to strive once more against your rough waves cold—
But my old dog lies on the hearth and sleeps—am I, too, growing old?

POLLYWOGS LOSE TO DECATUR BAPTISTS.

The Pollwogs lost their first game of the season to Decatur Baptist College, at Decatur, Thursday, by a score of 23 to 13. The Pollywogs constitute the scrub team. SEVERAL ADVANCED COURSES OFFERED.

Several advanced courses are being offered this year in the College of Arts and Sciences, according to Dean Colby D. Hall.

One of these is in the new Department of Religious Education of Brite College of the Bible, and is a course in advanced Seminary. Miss Margaret Forsyth, teacher of Academy French and English, and candidate for the degree of Master of Arts, is writing her thesis in this course.

Then there is an advanced Seminary course being offered by Prof. Thornton in the department of Political and Social Sciences. This course is open only to those who are majoring in that department.

Prof. W. M. Winton, of the Department of Biology and Geology, is offering six new advanced courses. He is enabled to do this because of the fact that he has secured the services of Profs. Gayle Scott and Lorraine Dutton, who are thoroughly proficient in that department. The latter, who writes his thesis in Geology this year, is attempting to solve a geological problem that has been given up by some of the greater authorities. If he succeeds, he will completely change the geological history of this section of the state.

CLASSES HAVE BEST ORGANIZATIONS EVER.

Classes have never started out running so smoothly in the first two weeks of school as they have this year, according to Dean Colby D. Hall. There has always been more or less confusion.

This year, before classes had begun to meet, every teacher had in his possession a list containing the name of every student who had matriculated for his class, and in this way he was able to keep tab.

It was reported by one instructor a few days ago that out of 175 freshmen matriculated for one class, only three had failed to report promptly. This is phenomenal, in view of the confusion which has always heretofore marked the opening.

Classes have lost no time in getting down to business, it is reported.

TO OUR OFFICERS—PASSED ON.

They are not dead—not really, they are living—Leading their columns, as they led before,

Leading their comrades up to Heaven's door.

They are not dead, not they!

Why, they are giving Strength, as they gave it on the battle-line—

Courage to do the hardest task, and fine
Manhood to meet the test . . .

They were our best—
They, and the ones they led into the fight!

They were the ones who challenged terror's night,
They were the men who won, at last, to rest . . .

They are not dead—not really; they are striving

Just as they did on earth, across the way;

And we must show them that we are reviving

Visions of all they suffered—yesterday.

We who are left must keep their spirit glowing.

We who are left must keep their memory clear.

We who are left must feel that they are knowing—

We who are left must feel that they can hear!

—Margaret E. Langster.

Y. W. C. A. WEDDING.

All the new girls at Jarvis Hall were issued invitations to the marriage of Mr. Old-Girl to Miss New-Girl Thursday evening in the parlors of Jarvis.

Beautiful cut flowers and green vines decorated the altar, while a large bell covered with wild flowers and ribbon hung above it. The aisle was marked off by colored ribbons of purple and white.

Before the ceremony Thelma Reagan sang very beautifully, "I Love You Truly," after which two white gates were opened by Dura Louise Cockrell and Ione Rigney. The bridal party entered to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Kathryn Pickens and Margaret Crumley.

Mildred Stroud and Helen Scherz, the flower girls, were followed by the bridesmaids, Bernice Gates, Jewel Roon, Viida Jones, Ruby Walker, Leona Hood, Elsie Jones, with their attendants, Celeste Coursey, Ruth Wiggins, Marjorie Hoffman, Margaret Glasscock, Helen Phoebe and Lena Sherley. The maid of honor, Nellie Mae Petty, preceded the bride, Wayne Millican, who was accompanied by her father, Madeline Jones. Little Billie Doering acted as ring bearer. The groom, Marylee Pinkerton, came in with the best man, Edwina Day. Leona Crain, the minister, performed the ceremony with great solemnity. The couple promised to work with a united purpose and do all possible for the good of T. C. U. Music was played softly during the ceremony, after which a white dove flew down from the bell.

Many congratulations and best wishes were showered upon the newly wedded couple. Punch was served after the wedding by Margaret Stuckert.

What We Hear at a Reception.

I am simply crazy about dancing.
I was petrified when I saw him. I'm absolutely consumed with envy.
The lights are so dazzling, they make me blind.
Can't you shut the window? I'm frozen stiff.
I'm so hot I perspire torrents.
He makes me sick.
I nearly had a fit when he told me that joke.
The last partner I had drove me insane.
I simply died laughing.
I was perfectly dumb.
I'm so tired, I'm just dead.
She is terribly pretty.
Some huskies, these modern girls. —Lehigh Burr.

The formation of a world student anti-alcohol organization is the probable result of the recent international student anti-alcohol conference held at Karlstad, Sweden. Delegates were present from abstinent, temperance or prohibition student organizations of Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Germany, Switzerland, Estonia, and the United States. The American representative was Harry S. Warner, educational secretary of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association.

RECEPTION OF ADD-RAN-CLARKS

Novelty featured the Annual Add-Ran-Clark reception to the new students last Tuesday night from start to finish. First of all the guests were greeted with unique programs featuring the gridiron in every dance. The entire game was played from the kick-off to the touchdowns.

The first number was the kick-off in the first quarter. Then came the second quarter with its thrills and excitements with the end run and then the line plunge. After these three dances the fourth number of the program was the football special in chapel. Miss Mary Lee Pinkerton sang "Peggy" and received a very hearty applause. Little Miss ——— then gave a very beautiful interpretive woodland scene dance which was enjoyed by all. The fifth and sixth numbers were the forward pass and then the touchdown. An Add-Ran special followed.

A salad course with cheese wafers was served by the Clark girls from the Domestic Science hall. Music was furnished by the Cahoon Orchestra and many compliments were paid it. The hall of the Main Building was beautifully and artistically decorated with pot plants, roses and other flowers. The Society pennants and colors were to be seen floating everywhere with the old purple and white artistically placed here and there. From every standpoint the reception was a success in every sense of the word.

FORT WORTH DISTRICT C. E. CONVENTION

The Fort Worth District Christian Endeavorers will hold their semi-annual convention at Cleburne, Texas, October 15th, 16th and 17th, 1920. All meetings will be held at the Anglin Street Presbyterian Church, and the entire convention will be presided over by Homer H. Payne, President of the District.

The theme of the convention is "Forward March." The Motto: "This Year for Christ," The Text: "And the Lord said, 'Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward.'—Exodus 14:15.

The song services will be led by Mr. Glen Hutton, formerly of Fort Worth, now of Breckenridge, Texas. Mr. Hutton is very talented along this line of work, and it is believed that under his leadership, the song services will be one of the main features of the convention.

The convention opens at 7:30 p. m. Friday, October 15th, with a pre-convention prayer service led by Rev. James R. Wright.

Devotional services will be led by Miss Lizzie Clack, Rev. Wm. T. Reviere, The Junior Christian Endeavorers of the First Presbyterian Church of Cleburne, Miss Catherine Wisdom, of Denton, and Mr. Arthur Lester, of Fort Worth.

The address of welcome to the delegates will be delivered by Rev. G. N. Thomas, pastor of the Anglin Street Presbyterian Church, Cleburne, and the response will be made by Mr. Blalock, president Fort Worth C. E. Local Union.

Miss E. Hope Finfrock, State C. E. Life Work Recruit Superintendent, of Houston, and Miss Beth Muir of Fort Worth, will be in charge of the Life Work Recruit Services during the convention.

Among those who will deliver addresses at the Convention are Rev. G. N. Thomas, Rev. Sam P. Jones, Rev. Wm. T. Reviere, of Cleburne, Dr. Bernard L. Rice, and Dr. Colby D. Hall of Fort

The Massacre.

Just after the Indians of New Mexico had been put on their reservation there was an uprising led by an ambitious young chief, and a wagon train was attacked and the men killed. This happened in the Magdalena Mountains near Magdalena, N. M. The particular canyon was known as "Blue" Canyon.—Writer's Note.

You ask me why I frown, young man,
And blood comes in my eye
When we meet a Redskin on the street.
See that arm, that withered hand?
Both good in days gone by—
But it's lunch time now, I'll tell you while we eat.

It were out in Magdalena,
(That were forty year ago),
We were freightin' hides an' bones to bigger towns.
Reports said that old "Ma-

dena"
With his men were on the go,
And bloodthirsty as a pack o' hungry hounds.

Now, I never gives much credit
To these blasted gossip-yarns,
'Cause they mount to 'bout a little hill o' beans;

But the little missus fretted,

So we oiled our shootin' irons

And stuck some extra powder

in our jeans.

There was three boys on the waggin,

'Sides the wrangler and myself,
An' we had a little licker with us too;

As we came down old "Blue Canyon"

My big steer (I called him "Neff")

Stopped and snorted as only a steer can do.

The driver's name was Carson,
And 'way up there on the box

He was cussin' like a sailor scrubbin' decks.

For that snort were Neff's last one,

Cause from up among the rock
Came a rifle shot, and Neff passed in his checks.

Well, the varmints saw they had us,
To do the bloody work that they'd begun.
So right there where the old steer dropped
We waited for the lark
(The driver wrote a letter to his son.)

We all shook hands and said goodbye,
The kid just like a man;
For when they come, it's each man for himself.

There were no tears in any eye
When we all took our stand,
For a fightin' chance was all that we had left.

The devils started prowlin' round
Among the rocks above,
Firin' now and then a restless shot or two.
I was kneelin' on the ground a-thinkin' of my love,
When a bullet hit my arm an' went clean through.

Well, I knew I couldn't fight
(My arm went dead, you see),
So I told the boys I guessed I'd try their guard.

Under shadow of the night
I sneaked down through the trees,

Right out amongst the devils—it was hard.

They got the other fellows,
Yes, they killed them in their way—

Put slivers in their skins an' worse they did;

But they were game—no yell—

I've heard the Indians say
There wan't a howl, not even from the kid.

I've stopped doin' freightin';
I'm gettin' pretty old,

And I've taken up a little bit o'

land.
But them devils I'm a hatin'
Like a miser loves his gold,

And I'll hate 'em till I hit the promised land.

—Colvern Henry, '22.
