C. E. INSTITUTE ANNOUNCED BY UNION WORKERS

T. C. U. People Prominent on Program for the Day.

A One Day Institute for Christian Young People's Workers and their friends will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Fort Worth, Texas, Monday, February 7th, 1921, under the auspices of the Fort Worth District Christian Endeavor Union.

Speakers for the day will be Stanley B. Vandersall, Alumni Superintendent of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, and formerly General Secretary of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union, of Boston, Mass. and Jack Cecil, Associate Secretary of the Southwestern Christian Endeavor Federation, who will bring great messages to Fort Worth. Mr. Vandersall has had years of experience in the work, and is known as one of the ablest of the specialists of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. All Oklahoma and Texas Endeavorers know Jack Cecil. He is a live wire and knows how to bring a forceful and enthusiastic message. This Institute will be just a little different from any meeting that Christian Endeavorers have heretofore known. The meeting will be filled with life and power and enthusiasm. Some of the State Officers of Texas Christian Endeavor Union will also visit Fort Worth on this occasion.

Every one expecting to attend this Institute should register as soon as possible. Buttons are on sale at each society for ten cents or registration may be sent direct to Miss Clara Conlee, General Registration Chairman, 1205 South Jennings Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas. Any one can register for the Institute whether a member of a Christian Endeavor Society or not, by paying the required registration fee of ten cents. Every Society (Junior, Intermediate and Senior) that registers as many as there are members of the Society will be awarded a special honor pennant at the evening session of the Institute. One-half of the registration fees will be retained by the District and the remaining half will go to the team for expenses.

Prominent among the features of the institute will be a "Fellowship Supper" that evening at 6 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at 75 cents, and may be obtained from Miss Myrtle Brooks, 1623 College Ave., or Miss Elma Wheatley, at the First Presbyterian Church, and the affair will be open to all former and active Endeavorers, it is announced. Colby D. Hall, Dean of the University, will preside. Several other T. C. U. people, among them Homer Payne and Bryan Blalock, will be active in the program of the institute.

Southwestern University has cancelled her scheduled debate with Baylor University, according to the Baylor Lariat.

R. B. Stöcking, a citizen of Belton, has offered a gold medal to the winner of an inter-society contest in Baylor-Belton.

CAST CHOSEN BY DIRECTOR FOR COMEDY

Miss Iris Kingsbury to Be Leading Lady in Clever Farce.

It took Rodney Martin twenty-five years to discover that he had within him the stuff of which a man is made, but when his father and the girl he loved conspired to pitch him out on his ear as an experiment the lounge cootie shaved the down from his upper lip, secured some sensible clothes, rolled up his sleeves, went into business, made a fortune, married the girl, and forced the old man to take off his hat to him.

Briefly, this is the story that threads its way through the three-act farce, "It Pays to Advertise," which will be produced by members of the Footlights Club within a few weeks. The major characters of the cast were chosen by Miss Todhunter at a meeting of the club Monday, and rehearsals were begun at once. The plan is to get the play out of the way this term and to prepare for another production during the spring term, according to Miss Todhunter.

Miss Iris Kingsbury, who was chosen in the Horned Frog Popularity contest last year as the most beautiful girl in T. C. U., will take the leading woman's part in the play—that of Mary Grayson, Rodney's secretary, finance, and general stabilizer. She will be supported by a cast of characters, the majority of whom are experienced in amateur dramatics.

The dramatic organization has been somewhat dormant this year, but with the inauguration of rehearsals for the coming farce it is expected that the Footlights club will be one of the most active organizations of the school.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES WILL BE BANQUETED.

The art rooms of the Administration Building will be the scene of an unusual affair Tuesday evening, February 8, when the Board of Trustees of the University will be banqueted by members of the faculty. The occasion will be the regular semi-annual meeting of the Board.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the women of the faculty to make the event a success. According to present plans the personnel of the party will consist not only of the board members and faculty but of the students as well. A program made up of addresses and other entertaining numbers is being prepared by the committee.

MISS TODHUNTER TELLS STORY IN CHAPEL.

Miss Elliott Todhunter, director of the School of the Spoken Word, entertained during Fine Arts period in chapel Wednesday with a humorous story. It was in the form of a dialogue between two Scandinavian women, and Miss Todhunter affected the dialect in a charming manner. Her readings never fail to entertain.

"BROTHER MC." REVERSES AGE; MAKES 17 OF 71

Entertained by Admiring Students and Friends.

By an Admirer.

On Thursday, January 20, at 6 o'clock the students of Brite College of the Bible honored Brother McPherson of the Brite College faculty with a dinner to make happy his seventy-first birthday.

The dining room in Goode Hall was made especially attractive for the occasion with ferns and flowers, shining linen and the delicious odor of baked chicken. In the center of the room on a table was Brother McPherson's first surprise, a large birthday cake in pink and white, with "Brother Mac", the name the students love to call him, on the top in pink. Around the edge were seventeen pink candles. The seventeen candles were not a mistake, for Brother McPherson firmly contends, backed by his students, that he is not seventy-one, but seventeen. We know that the numbers have gotten mixed and have come out wrong.

During the dinner the "Pep Table" kept a lively spirit in the air with their songs and yells for Brother Mac. Such calls as:

Who's all right?
Bro. Mac
Who said so?
We did
What do you say?
Stand 'em on their heads
Stand 'em on their feet
Bro. Mac is hard to beat, rang in the air. The opinion of all was expressed when they shouted:
How long has Bro. Mac been with us?
Seventy-one!
How old is Bro. Mac?
Seventeen!

Bryan Blalock was toastmaster of the occasion. He recited some very interesting events in the life of the beloved pastor, teacher and friend. Mr. M. A. Buhler, who for nearly six years has been a student of Brother McPherson gave some beautiful words of appreciation from the old students. Freeman Heath told him of the already warring love of the new students. Miss Sarah Williams told of his influence and winning personality as a teacher, and Miss Ethel Kemp of his unflinching smile that says the big words, "I am your friend." Bro. Colby D. Hall gave a tribute of friendship and admiration for his almost life-long friend. Brother McPherson gave expression to his full heart by telling the "lads" and "lassies" that he loved them without end—and he nearly said that he loved the "lassies" best. Miss Laura Dangleisen entertained with readings.

Brother Mac is one of the majestic, yet very tender souls whom we meet few times in life. In the words of one of the speakers he is "part of the great infinite-brother to the mountains and seas." He is one to whom we look up with admiration because of the towering height of his soul. He is also one to whom we may take our smallest troubles and

SELECT FOUR IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE PRELIM

Buhler, Hamlin, Sweet, and Blalock Make the Team.

What is considered one of the strongest teams ever selected to represent T. C. U. in debate was picked from ten contestants in the tryout held in the auditorium Tuesday evening. Four men—M. A. Buhler, Cedric Hamlin, Floyd Sweet and Bryan Blalock—were chosen and will represent the institution in the Annual Triangular Debate with Southwestern University and Trinity University in February.

The subject for debate this year is, "Resolved that all immigration should be prohibited from the United States for a period of five years." The group of debaters selected will be divided into two teams of two men each, and the finals will be held simultaneously with the two schools. Many good points were brought out on both sides of the question by the ten men who tried out, and with this mass of material in hand it is expected that T. C. U. will emerge a winner.

Each of the contesting schools will defend both sides of the question, and the institution winning both tilts will be declared champion of the triangle. T. C. U. won her debate with Southwestern last year, but lost to Trinity. The winning team was composed of Blalock and Hamlin, both of whom placed in the tryout Tuesday night. Sweet represented the institution in the Triangular several years ago, and Buhler defended the affirmative of this year's question in a debate with Phillips University last year.

FACULTY TAKE-OFF STAGED BY SENIORS

The Annual Faculty Take-Off will be staged by the Senior Class in the auditorium Friday night, according to an announcement just published. A meeting was held recently and plans were completed for the event.

The take-off is one of the most entertaining events of the year and one in which every one connected with the institution feels more than an ordinary interest. Every member of the faculty is "taken off" by a student, often with great fidelity, and it never fails to create enthusiasm. It has not been announced just what form the take-off will assume this year. Last year the entertainment consisted of a chapel meeting in which every member of the pseudo-faculty took an active part.

The affair is given under the auspices of the Senior Class and the proceeds are used to apply on the expense of the Horned Frog. find sympathy in his great warm heart and in that smile we love. We find him ready to share our troubles, and we take to him our largest joys.

Those who were invited to enjoy the evening with Brother McPherson were: Mrs. McPherson, Miss Hallie McPherson, Brother Colby D. Hall and Mrs. Hall.

FROGS NEARLY TRIM MUSTANGS IN CLOSE GAME

Lack of Teamwork Was Result of Little Practice.

Methodist fans who went to the S. M. U. gym Saturday night expecting to see the Mustangs walk away with an easy victory over the Horned Frog cagemen were handed a wallop which almost proved to be a death blow, when the followers of Wesley were able to defeat the Christians by only one point scored in the last two minutes of play. In fact, the sure goal shooting of Cross and Douglass, and the excellent defense work of the remaining trio, Meyer, Ogan and Levy, came near defeating the Mustangs, and it was only through rallying with a burst of teamwork, in which the locals were lacking, that the opposing quintet won the game, 19 to 18.

The Frogs' lack of team work can very readily be excused when it is contemplated that the men had been practicing together only since the preceding Wednesday. Consequently, it was necessary to depend mainly on individual work, which the T. C. U. men did, to the terror and admiration of the Mustang supporters. Due to the fact that the majority of the basketball men had been in training for the Centre College football game Coach Driver is making no attempt this year to produce a cage team, although a few games were scheduled at the request of other schools which desired practice games. There is no doubt that the Frogs could have a winning team this year if allowed to practice consistently together, despite the fact that Douglass is the only available man of last year's line-up, Haire and Prinzing being unfitted because of injuries.

The evident equality of Texas college cage teams this season has been marked, none of the conference quintets being able to chalk up a very large score against an opponent.

NEW VENTURE EXPECTED TO WAX POPULAR

Class in Singing to Meet Each Thursday at 6:30 P. M.

An unusual opportunity is being offered to students of T. C. U. who are interested in singing. The unique venture was inaugurated Thursday evening, and if the opening evening can be accepted as an augur, it will prove both profitable and entertaining. The plan originated in the music department of the School of Fine Arts, and is being worked out by Lawrence D. Andrews, instructor in Piano. Prof. Andrews promises, even guarantees, that all who attend the class regularly and make an effort to assimilate what is taught will at the end of the year be able to "see" music. The class will meet every Thursday evening at 6:30.

The opinion is expressed by many that the new class is one of the happiest innovations of the year. About seventy-five students attended on the opening meeting, and the majority of them took a keen interest in the procedure. Mr. Andrews thoroughly understands music and presents a lesson in an interesting and entertaining way. The prime purpose of the instruction, he says, is to teach the individual to feel the rhythm of music, to appreciate, to understand and to read music.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB GREATLY IN DEMAND.

The Men's Glee Club continues to be in great demand. Monday evening, in response to an invitation from the management, the entire club were guests of the Fort Worth Record Food and Textile Show, which was held in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church. The club sang "Sorter Miss You," "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "Go Ask Papa," and "She Felt of Her Belt at the Back." In spite of the confusion which necessarily was on all sides, the numbers by the young men were enthusiastically received. The club also assisted in a community sing-song conducted by Holt Hubbard.

The Glee Club is planning to go to McKinney Saturday, February 5, to give their regular concert. The male quartet will remain over Sunday and will sing in the church there. Efforts will be made to get an engagement at Texas Woman's College, Fort Worth.

MISS PETTEY RECOVERS FROM TEMPORARY BLINDNESS.

Friends of Miss Nellie Mae Pettey are glad to learn that she has entirely recovered from the temporary blindness with which she was seized just prior to the Christmas holidays. Letters written by the young lady herself convey the information that she is planning to return to T. C. U. for the spring term. All who knew Nellie Mae while she was here were her friends, and these hope to have her here again. She is now at her home in Durant, Okla.

Devoted to the promotion of a wholesome spirit of co-operation within the walls of Texas Christian University first, last, and all the time. Pledged to the support of high ideals. Committed to the task of reflecting the progress of the school in such a way that the outside world may be convinced that T. C. U. is the center of real and broadening culture.

ON POLITE PROCEDURE.

The self-made man of today likes to boast that he was the defiant free-lance of yesterday. He likes to tell how he used to throw discretion to the winds and laugh in the face of conventionality. Betcherlife, HE had his own little way of doing every thing, and HE didn't do things just because it was the convention to do them. No sirree. HE was a man of his own, HE was. And just look at him now. He's self-made, too.

What if he is? What if he has amassed great "piles of brick, and stone, and gold," and owns fifty-one per cent of the capital stock of the universe? If he grates on the nerves of his fellow men, he is yet a failure. If his conduct in public is so uncouth as to make him repulsive, he gets a wide berth—and millions can't buy what unalloyed attractiveness commands.

It is not a mistake for the youth of today to study to make himself agreeable anywhere, with the rich or the poor, the famous or the unknown. After all is said, what is conventionality but another name for convenience? We acknowledge that Dame Fashion often goes wild, but those little niceties of speech and action that have survived the strokes of Old Graybeard's scythe are but the outgrowth of a desire to make one's self agreeable to one's associates.

To be explicit, in the first place why shouldn't the youth of today develop a regard for polite procedure which will be for him capital of greater value than bubble shares in the uncertain ventures of the business world? It is true, our cafeteria is hardly designed for use as a "charm school," but at any rate we do have the use of knives and forks, and there is nothing to hinder our learning the proper manipulation of these necessary tools. What if Sam Johnson did bolt his food? He happily was able to do something else to offset his bad habits, and now he's dead. We are not dead, and if we don't happen to stumble into a recipe that will make us famous, our faults will come up as a memorial. We are convinced, too, that with all of his repulsive table manners, even Dr. Johnson balked at throwing bread playfully at his contemporaries. He indulged in the more refined art of mud-slinging, a la the quill.

Politeness, if it stands alone, is repugnant, but when it is combined with the other graces of which men are capable, it becomes a priceless jewel. The diamond in the rough is undeniably a diamond, but not until it is cut and polished does it attain the pinnacle of service. There may be incalculable lustre and brilliance within, but what good is it if there is no outlet?

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS and STAGNANT STANZAS.

Varsity girls are offered "Ts" for walking and doing other worth-while things now. When every co-ed in T. C. U. becomes willing to swap her "pink tea" for a "Purple T", then civilization will be bettered to the extent that T. C. U. has an influence on it.

It is without our province to theorize, but our venture is that many a man who despises water in this world will wish in the next that there was a water wagon to ride.

Reverses.

"Nope," said Rufe Johnson, sadly; "Pete ain't in these parts no more. Y'see, he met with reverses. He wuz runnin' a still, but the revvynew fellers cum, an' now Pete's still a-runnin'."

Another thing: If a fellow's sweetheart were a Bolshevik could he Russia? And how much did Romeo for what Juliet?

THAT'S DIFFERENT; OR WATCHMAN, WHAT OF THE NIGHT?

Scene: The band stand on a balmy winter's evening. There is no sound—or if there is, it can't be heard. The moon is full, no doubt enjoying a night out. It shines. Its moonshine is intoxicating, lending realism to the still-y night. The Big Dipper looks down and winks knowingly. Brave Orion gives Venus a dry smile as he turns his back resolutely upon the Milky Way. Silence continues to be heard above the din of dinner.

At Rise of Curtain: The Man and The Woman are discovered seated on the band stand. They appear to be moonstruck. Their thoughts are abstract, although the bandstand is patently concrete. The man says nothing—which is strange. The woman says nothing—which is miraculous. They appear to be thinking—which is unlikely. Enter The Watchman.

Watchman: What, ho! Who-zis?

The Man: (Wheeling abruptly) Whatchamean whoozis?

The Woman: (Wheeling ditto) Thassour bisness.

Watchman: Smy bisness to bust up such parties azziss. (To The Man) Diddencha heerat bell?

THE ANTI-ALCOHOL SITUATION IN EUROPE.

College "Dry" Returns After Touring Universities of Europe Eight Months and Reports Increasing Activity on the Part of Students in the Anti-Alcohol Movement.

"European opinion is one of great surprise concerning America's attitude toward prohibition. The majority cannot grasp it." Thus Mr. Harry S. Warner, general secretary of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, summarized the European attitude upon his very recent arrival in the United States. Mr. Warner has just returned from an eight months' tour of ten European countries, where he studied the alcohol situation, and visited the various university student anti-alcohol organizations.

Every country visited has one or more student movements directed against alcohol. These are increasing in membership and some are making large progress toward arousing public opinion in the matter. Some of these organizations lay the emphasis on creating a student social life of a thoroughly enjoyable sort which shall be free from drinking customs and traditions. Others merely encourage the matter of personal abstinence. A third classification of such student bodies are those who study the problem in its broad economic and social aspects with a view of getting a comprehensive understanding of the question. A few such groups take part in active propaganda and political movements for legal prohibition.

That the students were eager to get at the facts of the matter was indicated, according to Mr. Warner, by a meeting at King's college. There the students who had "ragged" Pussyfoot Johnson were anxious to make amends and in a prohibition debate gave close attention, took part in a general discussion, and were insistent for an American speaker. When questioned regarding his own kidnaping at Sheffield university, Mr. Warner laughed and said it was a very enjoyable student prank.

In interviewing the leaders of European industries and intellectual improvements, Mr. Warner declared that the great opinion was that if America enforced prohibition for a period of three years, it would have a dynamic influence toward furthering the progress of the prohibition movement throughout that continent.

In Spite of Prohibition.

Teacher (to a class of Kentucky youngsters)—When the sun goes down in the West, what comes up behind those hills?

Like a flash, a dozen hands were raised.

"Well?" queried the teacher, greatly pleased by this manifestation of alertness.

"Moonshine!" chorused the twelve youngsters.

The College Press

A new class in journalism has been organized in Phillips University with a large attendance. It is said that the course offered is in line for entrance to the Columbia School of Journalism.

Clarendon College claims the gridiron championship of the Panhandle Section.

While engaged in a laboratory experiment in chemistry, Richard Young, 18, Freshman in the University of Denver, inhaled toxic nitric acid fumes and died the following day.

Of the ten who won places on the College Dramatic Club of Oklahoma A. & M., nine were freshmen, while of the twenty-four who tried out, only eleven were wearers of the green.

John F. Maulbetsch, formerly of Phillips University, has just taken up his duties as head coach of athletics in the Oklahoma A. & M. College. From all reports "Maulie" is going to make a success at Stillwater.

Declaring that the Southwestern Conference rulings on freshmen deprive that institution of an equal chance with the other members of the conference, athletic officials of Southern Methodist University are discussing the advisability of retiring from that league. In the event such a step were taken, the Mustangs would of course retain their membership in the T. I. A. A.

Mrs. Automobilist—"Oh, John what a heavenly stream."

Mr. Automobilist (out of fuel and 20 miles from nowhere)—"Huh, I don't see anything so darn heavenly about it. 'Taint gasoline and 'taint beer."—Judge.

THE "RITZ"

American designers have come to the aid of the well dressed woman with an inspired creation in the form of a slim suede slipper. The "Ritz" has felt the French desire for novelty, and features two narrow straps of patent leather. Their fastenings are dull buckles at the extreme side. The combination of patent leather on suede is very smart and quite attractive. "The Ritz" has charming Baby Louis Heels.

New Footwear For Spring

Never was footwear for a new season so interesting.

Already, the new styles which are to complement fashionable apparel of Springtime, are appearing in our display.

Quiet elegance and refinement is the keynote of these new styles; fashion has delightfully turned to low footwear, which has been developed in a variety of clever effects of pleasing symmetry and charm. Take advantage of this early opportunity

"The Lille"

The "Lille" is a barred two-strap slipper of black satin (plain or beaded) and grey suede ooze. It is one of Laird-Schober's newest creations.

"The Dardanelle"

The "Dardanelle" is a black satin, one-strap model, cut out under the ankle. Built on graceful lines, it is one of the season's most popular styles.
