PREMIER FUNSTERS SLATED TO PERFORM IN SENIOR MAJESTIC

"How many, please?"

"What's the closest you have?"

"All the reserved seats are sold, I'm very sorry. You might be able to crowd into the balcony." And they will be, too. Say, this Senior Majestic that is to be pulled off on the nineteenth is a peach. Wait 'till you see those Seven Star Acts of home talent in chapel; one week from Friday night. There will be a Musical Review, those celebrated Walla Walla Hot Dogs, the T. C. U. entertainers, a black faced act and more. They're all head liners.

Miss Leona Crain and Mr. Homer McCartney have had unknown trouble and worry in finding these celebrated artists and they intend to put all other "vodevil" way back in the shade.

Remember, Friday night, May 19th, in the University chapel. Come and see if you can crowd inside to see the show.—Bill McBee.

Last Laugh Is Best Laugh, So Runner Finds

By PARKS WEAVER.

The truth of the motto "He who laughs last, laughs best," was proven in the Junior College Track Meet Saturday.

The last lap of the one mile race started with Munsey of Texas Military College and Hooper of John Tarleton fighting for the lead. When they reached the straightaway, Hooper was slightly in the lead; Munsey was weakening. Nearing the tape, Hooper turned his head, smiled at his opponent, and then broke his stride. The apparently defeated runner gave a burst of speed. Hooper placed second.

LECTURER TOUTS VAST RESOURCES OF ALASKA IN ILLUSTRATED TALK

EDGAR C. RAINE COMES UNDER AUSPICES OF SHIRLEY LITERARY SOCIETY

Edgar C. Raine of Fairbanks, Alaska, arctic traveler and lecturer of nation wide fame, coming under the auspices of the Shirley Literary Society as a messenger from that wonderful country of the northwest, addressed an interested audience in the main auditorium of the University, Friday evening. This was Mr. Raine's second visit to Texas Christian University since September. His subject on both occasions was "Alaska," a subject that he portrays in a most entertaining way because of his firsthand knowledge of the country.

Illustrated throughout with stereopticon pictures, the greater part of the time he spoke of the enchanting views and magnificent scenery of Alaska. Alaska with an area of 586,400 square miles, the greater part of which remains unexplored, is a veritable wonderland in many ways, according to Mr. Raine. He spoke of the natural resources of the territory, of the opportunities for mining, commerce and industry, of the agricultural advantages and possibilities in a country where plant life never stops growing from the time the seed is planted until the fruit is harvested during the long day of continual sunshine in the summer time of the Arctic world. According to Mr. Raine, what tends to become the greatest factor in opening that country to the homeseeker is the great United States Government railroad which when completed will extend from Seward on the coast to Fairbanks on the Tanana branch of the Yukon river. The building of this road insures the development of immense coal fields in the Mantanuska and Nenana sections and will undoubtedly be the key opening to public use the treasures of mineral wealth now inaccessible.

Mr. Raine knows intimately all the leading men and women of Alaska and is a personal friend of the late Archdeacon Stuck, who was rector of St. Mathew's Episcopal church in Dallas before going to Alaska. Aside from his home in Alaska, Raine has a home in Seattle, Washington. He spends several months each year traveling and lecturing throughout the United States.—Alfred McAfee.

bly of the Texas Christian Missionary Convention. "Brother Mac" is scheduled to address the convention, as are also President E. M. Waits and Dean Colby D. Hall. Several Brite College students are attending the convention.

EMINENT MISSIONARY AND AUTHOR DELIVERS SERIES OF LECTURES

SAMUEL G. INMAN GRADUATE FROM OLD ADD-RAN COLLEGE

Reverend Samuel Guy Inman, graduate of Texas Christian University and now a noted missionary and author, gave a series of three lectures on Latin America, her people, and her problems, Wednesday evening at the First Christian church and Thursday morning and evening at Texas Christian University. These lectures were made in the interest of closer relations between Anglo and Latin America.

The speaker told his audience that we were paying more attention to the Orient than we were to our close neighbors on the south. Outside of an occasional dispute, we have totally ignored Latin America until now. The Panama Canal has awakened us, the United States must cultivate friendship and good will among these people who are to play a great part in the future.

The eyes of the world are now focused on South America on account of its countless undeveloped resources and the lack of capital among the natives.

There are 80,000,000 people south of the Rio Grande River. Among these there are three classes socially and two classes economically.

One fourth of these people are Indians, who are in the same stage of development as they were when America was discovered, as the Aztecs and Incas who were really civilized have long since ceased to exist, with their Art and Architecture greater than that of Rome.

One half of the population is mixed between Indian, Spanish, and Negro, uneducated, and untrained. They have lived in poverty and ignorance for hundreds of years. They are a race that is yet in the primitive stage. Time alone will tell what they will do.

The other class society is composed of Spaniards, and Portuguese, who have always owned the land and governed it. They are well educated, masters of the poverty stricken peons and have no interest other than an income to support them in luxury in some city.

Economically there are two classes, the rich and poor.

For Latin America to advance, she must have redress in education, government and finance. Education must be universal, government must be by the governed, and capital must be furnished in part by the wealthy class.—George Berry.

MISSIONARY TELLS STUDENTS OF NEEDS OF SOUTH AMERICA

Dr. C. M. Morton, Christian Missionary of Asuncion, Paraguay, delivered a highly interesting and instructive lecture, Friday morning, May 5, in Brite chapel, on the intellectual, moral, political, and religious life of South America.

He stated that the educated class in South America is very highly intellectual, and that the next fifty years will see a market influence upon the entire world from their thinking.

"The entire country," he said, "is turning against the church, and having no better Christian religion taught to them than that of the Catholic church, they are turning to atheism."

In conclusion he said, "If we of the United States do not Christianize South America, then South America will, in the next fifty years, paganize the United States."

"My conscience, am I seeing things right? Isn't that strawberry short cake that Jimmie's eating?"

"Catch her, she's fainting!"

"Well, that's enough to make anyone faint, or want to."

This was about the best surprise I ever had for it really was strawberry short cake Jimmie was eating. We have had it once again since Ruth fainted and it has been promised again, soon.

OGAN DELIVERS FIRST "SERMON" IN PROGRAM OFFERED BY LOCAL "Y"

BISHOP AND SLAYTER DISCUSS "SERVICE AS MEANS TO HAPPINESS"

"Cowboy" Ogan preached his first "sermon" and Melvin Bishop and James Slayter delivered extremely helpful speeches Sunday evening in the University church service which was in charge of the Young Men's Christian Association. Edwin A. Elliot was chairman, and Etta Williams song leader.

Mr. Bishop and Mr. Slayter convincingly advanced the idea that "Service is a Means to Happiness." They said that before a man can become happy he must combat sin and try to live a Christian life wherever he may be; and that once he has lived such a life, he will be the happiest of men.

"Cowboy" in a general way presented the challenge of the hour which the young man makes to himself, to his home, to his church, and to American institutions. He pinned his discussion to a concrete exposition of conditions that exist here in T. C. U. and more especially in Goode and Clark Halls.

Mr. Ogan is the kind of man who believes in making things better than have been before, and with a ditch-digging illustration he forcibly impressed on the minds of the ministerial students that the boys in Clark Hall have been ready and are still ready to promote a stronger spirit of friendship between the dormitory students of both halls. He said:

"Because of the responsibility that you of Goode Hall have taken in entering the ministry, we believe that it is your place to take the first step in creating more friendly relations between the two halls. If you are not able to do this—well, I won't say what kind of a preacher I think you are going to make when you get out where you don't have the spiritual surroundings of Goode Hall. Your greatest opportunity for mingling with men is right here in T. C. U. Even though we believe it is your first move, Mr. Bishop, Mr. Slayter, and I take this opportunity to extend to the fellows of Goode Hall an invitation to come over and visit in Clark Hall oftener. Our doors will be wide open and you will be welcome."

In conclusion Mr. Ogan said that he always liked to look at the church as a mother to whom he could always go for comfort in times when he was down and out and in need of spiritual help.

LETTERS PROMISE GOOD ATTENDANCE OF T. C. U. MOTHERS

Mrs. Beckham, matron of Junior hall, has received many letters during the week from the mothers of the dormitory students, accepting the invitations recently sent to them, to be the guests of T. C. U. on Mothers' Day, May 14.

It is not definitely known how many mothers will be here for that week-end, but a large number of guests are expected.

Last year there were 61 mothers here, and the event was one long to be remembered by T. C. U.

If plans for this year's program materialize the visit of the mothers in May, 1922, will be equally historical.

The Footlights club, directed by Miss Erskine Long, will present two one-act plays: "The Neighbors," and "The Maker of Dreams," on Saturday evening, May 13. A reception will be given in honor of the mothers immediately following, in the Jarvis hall parlors.

Sunday morning, May 14, Prof. F. E. Billington, pastor of the University Place church, will deliver a special sermon for Mothers' Day.

The Y. W. C. A. girls will conclude the events by giving a "tea" and song service Sunday evening in honor of the visiting mothers.

"Skifflet" Makes Stride; Gets In Print

Students of Freshman English are developing that peculiar characteristic known to the newspaper fraternity as a "nose for news." For substantiation of this statement witness the efforts of Miss Rebecca Smith's spring term classes of English 11 in this issue of the Skiff. Practically all the "copy" for this number sprang from the prolific brains of those embryonic "newshounds," of Miss Smith's Freshman classes, of which there are two, are now enthusiastically engaged in the publication of the "Skifflet." But blackboard publicity is devoid of the punch which the magic of printer's ink lends to journalistic endeavor. Hence the coalition between Miss Smith and the Skiff editor to dignify the "Skifflet" by putting it in print.

VACHEL LINDSAY, POET AND ARTIST, COMING TO FORT WORTH SATURDAY

PREACHES "GOSPEL OF BEAUTY"—H. A. S. PUBLISHED SEVERAL VOLUMES.

Vachel Lindsay, one of the foremost living American poets, will give a lecture and recital of his poems in Fort Worth Saturday, May 12, under the auspices of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. He is well known on the lecture platform, having traveled and lectured extensively throughout the United States during the past ten years.

In the summer of 1912 he walked from his home in Springfield, Ill., to New Mexico, distributing "rhymes" and preaching "The Gospel of Beauty" on the way. Unlike many other poets, he believes in a close contact with the people. Some of his best known poems, such as "General William Booth Enters Heaven" and "The Congo" are intended primarily for reading in public.

At one time Mr. Lindsay aspired to be a painter, and with this uppermost in his mind left his other studies behind him at Hiram College, where he was a student from 1897-1900, and entered the Chicago Art Institute, going from there to the New York School of Art in 1903 where he studied under the famous teachers, Chase and Henri, until 1905. From that time until the appearance of his first volume of poetry in 1913, he was known as a painter and lecturer.

He has several volumes to his credit. He published "General William Booth Enters Heaven," 1913; "The Gospel of Beauty," 1914; "The Congo and Other Poems," 1914; "A Handy Guide for Beggars," 1916; "The Chinese Nightingale," 1917.

His first volume commanded attention from various quarters of the world, and immediately placed him among the great living poets. A banquet in Chicago shortly after its publication, the distinguished Irish poet and critic, William Butler Yeats, honored Mr. Lindsay by addressing his after dinner speech directly to him as a fellow writer. He said of his "General Booth":

"This poem is stripped bare of ornament; it has an earnest simplicity, a strange beauty, and you know Bacon said, 'There is no excellent beauty without strangeness.'"

Vachel Lindsay was born in Springfield, Illinois, on November 10, 1879, and still lives there. He is unmarried.

COMMENCEMENT AND THE UNDERGRADUATE.

To most under graduates Commencement is merely a few more days of school. I wonder how many of us have ever stopped to consider what commencement really means. How many of us stop to think that we will some day be graduating? Would we not feel bad if every one left and only our mothers and fathers came to see us graduate? After all we owe the seniors a little respect. Let's all try and make this commencement the best ever.—John Halsell, Jr.

CLASS OF 1923 SCORES HEAVILY WITH UNIQUE SERIES OF GALA DAYS

REST OF UNIVERSITY LISTENS WHILE JUNIORS OCCUPY FLOOR

Juniors spoke—the rest of the university listened.

This in brief is the history of a week—a week designated by the calendar as the first week in May—las week—"Junior Week."

Without a hitch the class of 1923 carried out its plans to the letter, beginning with the girls literary society meetings Monday evening and continuing throughout the week, all student activities being conducted under auspices of the Juniors.

Juniors had a finger in every pie—except, perhaps, the pies stolen by the Fish Saturday night.

CLASS PROFESSOR ENTERTAINS

E. W. McDiarmid, class professor of the Juniors, started the entertainments of Junior week when he gave a party at his home Tuesday night. At eight o'clock the "peppy Juniors" met at Professor "Mack's" home and their good time began. The host and hostess entered into the spirit of the evening and made their guests feel at home.

Most of the evening was spent in playing games both in the house and on the lawn. The students showed their knowledge of the dictionary by the charades which they had. Everyone wanted to outshine the others and many stunts were pulled off.

Purple and white were carried out in the cream, cakes, salted almonds, and mints which were served.

All the Juniors had a splendid time and appreciate what their class professor has done for them.—Verda Jarrell.

SHIRLEY PROGRAM.

The Junior Class had charge of the regular meeting of the Shirley Literary Society last Tuesday evening in the Shirley room of the Administration building. Following a short business session the meeting was turned over to Mr. Robert F. Chapler chairman of the Junior Class program committee. The program rendered was as follows:

Reading, "Soldier, Soldier Come from War"—Kipling—Judge Green. Song, "The Bells in the Light House"—Ashley Robey.

Reading, "Mandalay"—Kipling—Martin Epton. Novelty Musical Stunt, Chapler and Robey.

CHILDISH ANTICS IN CHAPEL.

By WM. McBEE.

"I'll tell you what we'll do! When I give the signal, we'll all drop a penny." This was the last of a conversation that was overheard by one of the editorial staff of this paper the other morning, just before a group of boys went into chapel.

It was during prayer. A coin dropped to the floor, and, resounding all over the still chapel, rolled off to silence. Another and another, and another, all in rapid succession. There was a murmur, a laugh, and chapel was almost in a turmoil before the prayer was over.

Fellows, this is a college. We are a bunch of grown young men and women, and are in chapel to worship. This is merely one of the many childish antics that make our chapels ridiculous. Let's try sitting up and acting like real men and women, and see how much better they will be.

BORROWING.

Borrowing tooth brushes, caps, books, fine combs, and the like without the owner's consent or knowledge has no place in the modern university, and the Skiff recommends to the powers of T. C. U. that janitors, students, and professors be instructed to leave all articles of private property wherever they find them, whether they be in the student's room, in the class room, in the library, in the hallway, on the door step, on the campus, in or on any other place. Sunday or week days, rain or shine, no one should deviate from this rule. If note books, umbrellas, caps, and love letters should be washed away, blown away, or eaten by the crows, it would be the owner's fault and the owner's loss.—Norman Spencer.

KNOCKERS.

There are "knockers" in college just as in every walk of life. Fortunately, they are in the minority. They are never pleased with anything that is done, and they let this discontentment be known by finding fault and saying unpleasant things.

This is just a natural trait in some people which ought to be overcome. We have observed that it is the same people who complain about the food and the way it is prepared, the rules and regulations of the school, and chapel exercises.

The T. C. U. cafeteria is under most efficient management, and anyone who is accustomed to eating in the fashionable hotels and clubs will testify that the meals served in the cafeteria is the best for food-value.

The rules and regulations of the school are the result of well thought-out plans by those in authority, and they are for the benefit of all.

If those who are antagonistic would stop to think, they would realize that the fault is with themselves.—Lillian Hinson.

EVERYDAY PATRIOTISM.

Fellow students, how many times this past year has the flag been hoisted on its staff here at T. C. U.?

Upon due consideration you will agree that you have not seen it flying in the breeze from its staff more than three or four times.

Is not our university as patriotic as any other in the country? Should not we show our love for the national colors as well as our love for the purple and white? Should not each one see to it that the flag is up at least every national holiday and memorial day of the year?

Let us not wait for the other person to feel a stir of patriotism first, but let us feel it.

If T. C. U. did not have a good flag pole in a conspicuous place, we no doubt, would be asking and demanding one. As we do have one, and a good flag, let us wake up and see to it that the stars and stripes are raised at sunrise every morning and lowered at sundown. By so doing we will be displaying our patriotism to all those who pass by, instead of just to the few people with whom we come in contact.—Marjorie McDonald.

We wish to commend the Women's Athletic Association in its progress this year in college. Last year there was no form of athletics for the girls, while today we have sixty interested young ladies who are on their way toward an athletic letter. Much of the progress may be attributed to our capable instructor, Miss Shoemaker, who has worked with the girls in organizing. These athletics have caused a great change in the school. We find a different attitude has supplemented the old one as to the ability of the girls.—Wm. McBee.

It seems there could be some arrangement made by which the town students might park their cars at the extreme north end of the campus. This plot of ground is not used and the change would stop the congestion of traffic and the ragged appearance in front of the Administration building. Also it would do much toward the enforcement of the faculty's ruling that the students should not sit in cars during class hours.—Wm. McBee.

Now that the girls can make their own letters, there will be no use in their wearing men's athletic sweaters. If they want one they can make it.—Wm. McBee.

ADD-RAN-CLARK
SPICE BOX

Well, boys and girls, we've got the old hall fixed up now, and we're ready to live like royalty. If you haven't seen the hall yet, why you had better run up and look it over. You will be proud of it.

But we can not let our work stop here. We've got lots to do so up and at it. Now is the time for us to start making and carrying out as far as possible our plans for the next year. Maybe you aren't coming back but you will be interested in the work of the Add-Ran-Clark Literary Societies always, so concoct your own ideas and present them at the meetings. Next year will be the greatest year in the history of the school, and it also should be the greatest for the Add-Ran-Clarks. What are your suggestions?

Owing to the crowded calendar last week, the A. R. L. S. was unable to hold its regular meeting. The Juniors were to have had charge of this session, and we are very sorry to have missed it, but we will give them a chance in the future, if they still want it.

We are promised an interesting program Wednesday evening, and it will be different from the usual run. Be there at 7:30.

CLARK LITERARY SOCIETY.

On every Monday night the Clarks have the most interesting and enthusiastic meeting that anyone has ever attended. There is nothing lacking with the Clarks, every member is full of pep and wanting to do the most for the society.

Clarks are now studying our American magazines, and it has proved to be very interesting as well as beneficial to the members. Magazine articles, written on the subjects which interest us most today, are read and discussed.

Because the Add-Ran-Clark hall is being remodeled the Clark meetings are being held in the Farris Hall parlors.

The Add-Ran-Clarks are now putting on the last touches in remodeling their room. They have planned for some time to make their hall more comfortable and they are now carrying out their plans.

Nothing has been left undone that would add to the beauty and comfort of the room. The walls, ceiling and floor have been re-tinted, new draperies for the windows, and new rugs for the floor. An interior decorator was consulted, and with his aid the colors all blend and the room has been transformed.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS.

One of the most interesting programs that has ever been presented by the Y. W. C. A. was the Social Service program. Hattie Rue Hartgrove, the chairman of the Social Service committee, read the devotional. Ethel Kemp spoke of the "Woman of Today." Bernice Gates of the "Woman of Tomorrow," and Ruby Walker spoke of the "Relations of Women to Politics." Each of the speakers gave us interesting thoughts which set us to thinking.

The Society Service committee has a very vital part in the Y. W. C. A. This committee has already started its good work, for during the flood the chairman collected clothes to send to the relief association. All things pertaining to Social Welfare are looked after by this committee. Are you in financial straits? If so, buy your new sport clothes from the Y. W. You save about a third of the Fort Worth price and what's more the clothes come from New York. Orders are now in order. See any cabinet member and they will see that you get what you want.

CABINET LAYING PLANS.

The members of the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet are showing their interest and enthusiasm of their officers in their plans for the remainder of this term and also for next year.

The chairman of music and her committee have planned a big singing to be held in front of Jarvis Hall Tuesday night. Mr. Taylor is going to take charge of the singing. All the boys and girls are invited to come and enjoy a good, old fashioned, "get-together" singing.

Come on, people, grab a song book and join us!

This cabinet is laying big plans for next year, but they are not yet completed. One that they are working on now is to raise money to send a delegate to the Y. W. C. A. conference.

The Y. W. was glad to postpone their program this week in order that every one could attend the Inman lecture.—Wilma Pyron.

Y. W. NEWS.

Miss Edrine Tyson and Miss Blanche McVicker were chosen by the Y. W. Society Service Committee to be the Sunday school teachers of the New Mexican Mission on the south side.

A World's Fellowship program will be given by the Y. W. in Jarvis Hall next Thursday at 7:30 o'clock. Those to take part in the program will wear costumes of the different nations. All the girls are invited.

The Y. W. is planning to fit up a reading room at Jarvis Hall for both the dormitory and town girls. The books, lamps and the other things necessary are to be furnished by the members. There is every indication that the plans will be carried out.—Rosaline Feregar.

KANGAROO NETMEN MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF T. I. A. A. HONORS

Austin Coogle defeated all comers in the tennis tourney Friday, winning the T. I. A. A. championship in both singles and doubles. Yeager and Johnson were the A. C. representatives.

In the singles, Simmons College was eliminated by T. C. U. Austin College was then the only college for the Horned Frogs to play. By accurate and quick placing, Yeager of A. C. won two sets from Ralph Holmes by 6-3, and 6-2. The Kangaroo, Johnson, also won two sets out of three from Tomlinson by 6-3, 3-6, and 6-2. Johnson then defaulted to Yeager for first place.

The winners in the singles came back in the afternoon double strong and beat Badgett and Tomlinson 6-3, and 6-4. The Kangaroos came back at the Simmons boys and won by a score of games 6-3, and 7-5.

As the T. I. A. A. track meet took all the audience from the tennis playing, there were no spectators until the last set was being played. Everyone commented on the good placing on the part of both sides.—Kathryn Haden.

T. M. C. Cadets Nose Out By One Point In Junior Track Meet

The annual State track meet of the Junior College Athletic Association was won by Texas Military College of Terrell at Clark Field, Saturday, May 6. The cadets scored 55½ points, while Clarendon College of Clarendon game a close second with 54½ points. The third contestant, John Tarleton College of Stephenville, scored 14 points.

Jackson of Clarendon was easily the star of the meet. He scored a total of 26 points, taking first place in the broad jump, pole vault and hop-skip and jump, and second place in the high jump, shot put and discus throw. He crowned his achievements by bringing his relay team from behind and winning first place in that event.

It was decided, at a meeting of the association to abandon district meets next year, and hold one annual state meet with all junior colleges participating.

SMISERS MAROONED ON SOUTH TEXAS TRIP BY WATERS OF FLOOD

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Smiser and Roy Olliver, who accompanied them, returned to the office Monday from a two weeks' fishing trip down on the San Saba river. They were marooned during the recent flood, but escaped uninjured from the storm and high waters.

They pitched their tent on a plateau near a rancho owned by Mr. Bob Ellis. The rain started soon after they arrived there. Although the ranchman assured them that they would not be in danger, as the river had never been known to rise that high, they became uneasy when the water kept steadily rising and decided to spend the night on higher ground. The next morning when they started to the camping grounds to prepare breakfast they saw the tent in deep water with a coffee-pot, boxes, and other articles floating around it. It was necessary for Mr. Smiser to wade in water over waist deep to rescue what remained of the camping outfit.

The hospitable ranchman took them into his home where they stayed the remainder of the time. In order to send a telegram to her mother, Mrs. Smiser rode 35 miles to town on horseback. Mr. Smiser spent part of the time punching cattle.

After the rain was over there was a heavy downpour of hail which completely destroyed young garden plants and fruit. Only three plums were left on a heavily laden plum tree. The stock loss was great also. Many hogs were drowned, but most of the cattle wandered back. As there was no way to get ice from town, hail was gathered and packed around the fresh meat.

Mr. and Mrs. Smiser report that they found plenty of fish. After the water had subsided it was only necessary to take sacks and pick the fish up off of the ground.—Lillian Hinson.

Freshman Tells How Captain Weems Won Last Race for T. C. U.

The eleventh annual track meet of the T. I. A. A. was held on Clark field last Friday. The feature of the meet was the running of captain Weems of the local university.

In the eight hundred and eighty yard dash eight men entered. With the crack of the starters pistol the run was on and every entrant sprinted at top speed around the circular track. Several good men including Captain Weems were in the front rank at the end of the first lap. It was a very pretty race and every entrant had a good chance to win.

When the official fired his pistol indicating the last lap the men increased their speed. Captain Weems was running his last run and he realized that he must win, for if he won T. C. U. would be tied for first place. With added determination he sprang forward, and with a fresh burst of speed he passed man after man until only one remained between him and the coveted finish. Captain Weems ran with the stride of a deer and seemed to have the endurance of a racehorse. Every muscle in his body seemed to vibrate and with a superhuman effort he sprang forward and crossed the tape several paces ahead of his nearest rival.

Captain Weems had won his last race and in doing so he broke the state record for the half mile run. In committing his last deed and testament he had brought honor to himself and school, and he will long be remembered as one of the greatest distance runners ever produced in the south.—Frank Huckaboy.

MAY BREAKFAST FRIDAY.

Friday morning T. C. U. was awakened by a chatter of voices which sounded very much like magpies, but on looking from the windows it was found to be only a bunch of Juniors. Where were these Juniors going and what was the occasion? Why surely you knew that it was Junior week and these Juniors were going for a sunrise breakfast.

The sun was already on its journey before the Juniors, accompanied by their class professor, Mr. McDiarmid, and Mrs. McDiarmid, started on their journey to Forest Park, chosen as a favorable site for these celebrities to take breakfast. Although they might have been a little late in their arrival upon the scene of action, there was no lateness in the serving of their meal. How was it served? Why in courses to be sure, the first course consisting of bananas and oranges, the second of eggs, bacon, and hot buns, and the third of coffee and doughnuts.

After this very delicious and appetizing breakfast, these same Juniors went for a stroll through the park to look at the animals. They reached T. C. U. about 10:30 just in time to blend Junior loyalty with that old T. C. U. fighting spirit at the track meet.—Dorothy Brown.

Town Juniors Entertain.

The culmination of Junior Week was celebrated last Saturday evening in the nature of an "out-of-date" lawn party at the home of Robert F. Chapler, 1808 Hurley avenue, Mr. Chapler being the big Belshazzar of the occasion. The evening was punctuated with great hilarity owing to the novel program that was worked out by the down-town students who honored the dormitory Juniors.

The stellar attraction of the evening was a Christmas tree and presents for those present. Mr. Ashley Roby dressed in the most fastidious summer attire acted the part of Santa Claus; little programs were passed around dated December 25th. The next event was April Fool's day, and numerous pranks were played on the guests. Another set of programs were passed around which were dated May 5th, featuring a track meet. Relay races, broad jumping and everything that goes to make a track meet complete was carried out.

Miss Elizabeth Wayman dressed as George Washington made the next event on the program very attractive. Her costume was very striking in its colonial appearance. For this number little programs in the shape of hatchets were passed around representing George Washington's birthday. While the guests were waiting in a watch party representing December 31st, Miss Florina Lasker came bounding out dressed as an Easter rabbit. She furnished much amusement for those present.

The last event of the pseudo "track and field meet" was to have been a pie-eating contest, but when the Juniors went to get their pies they were gone. The most logical conclusion immediately came to the minds of the Juniors, as to what became of the pies. One of them suggested that the Freshmen must have got them. They kept an eagle eye on the byways for the Freshmen to return to the scene, and in a few minutes a few Freshmen boys were by the house in a Ford. Hyal Brown, a Junior, took a bunch of Juniors in his high-powered Haines and started in pursuit of the Freshmen, but just about the time that he got his car running at a high rate of speed, the Freshmen stopped the Ford quickly, but the big Haines could not stop in so short a distance, therefore, the Freshmen turned a corner and lost the Juniors. In a few minutes they drove back by the house where the Junior party was in session and one of the Juniors ran out to catch them. They drove just fast enough to let him jump on the running board of the Ford then they grabbed him and took him out toward Texas Woman's College. When they got him in the car they discovered that it was their old college chum Homer Childers. The Freshmen then had him to bend over the fender of the car while they in turn administered the paddle to him, and then let him walk back.

The Juniors say that they only lost the pies and the presence of Mr. Childers, otherwise the party was a tremendous success. Mr. McDiarmid, Junior class professor, and his wife; Miss Shumake of the Department of Physical Training, and Mr. Gettys of the Department of Political Science were guests from the faculty.

Warm Weather Will Affect Faculty In Various Ways Here

"Scattered to the four corners of the earth" will the T. C. U. faculty be this summer. Miss Mabel Major of the English department will probably be farthest from T. C. U. in her trip abroad. She is going with the Taylor expedition, which will leave Fort Worth June the first, tour England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, and Germany, visiting all the places of special note therein, and return August 25.

Our mathematics department will have departed also, before many warm summer days. Mr. Hargett will enjoy his vacation in Boulder, Colorado, and Mr. Tucker will take advanced work in some university of the East.

Mr. Hoblit, foreign language professor, will teach in the University of Southern California this summer,

Brag of Prowess But Is Taken Into Camp

No. 31 looked formidable, and talked in like manner.

"I have never been beaten in a race," he said, "I expect to be sent to the Olympiads in 1924."

"Do you figure to beat Weems today?"

"Easy! I've run the mile in 4.42 minutes and the half mile in 1.59. I'm going to show you fellows what running really is."

"Call for No. 31."

No. 31 responded, "I have decided not to run the half mile so I will be fresh to set a new record in the mile."

Eddie Weems ran the half mile, and set up a new T. I. A. A. record, and then set such a hot pace in the mile race that the formidable No. 31 fell far behind.

Thus our track captain closed his service for T. C. U. in a blaze of glory. After running two of the hardest races on the field he took his place on the relay team and, with five men leading him, he cut the lead rapidly and finished third.

As one excited spectator put it, "If we just had another Weems we would have a whole track team."—J. W. Archer.

The Secret of Captain Weems' Track Success

Would you know the secret of Captain Eddie Weems' success on the track? If you would, read on.

"Training did it," he declared, "systematic training. Every morning of the year I take setting up and breathing exercises. I do not know whether the breathing exercises or the running did it, but I have a chest expansion of nearly seven inches. I do these exercises all during the winter.

"I do not smoke, nor eat any confections. I only eat what is good for me, not what I just like."

In answer to a question why other men who trained had failed when he won, he replied:

"I follow the coach's instructions. I follow them to the letter. If he says run a mile, I run a mile; if he says run a quarter, I run a quarter. This, I think, is the reason I won when others failed."

Captain Weems is most modest in appearance and manner. He takes his wonderful success in a matter-of-fact way, quite like the Europeans do. He has a charming personality and is an all-round good fellow. T. C. U. has every reason to love him as she does.

and reports that he will not be back for the coming school year.

Mr. Smith will be with the active T. C. U. faculty until August the twenty-eighth, when he will take a two weeks vacation and return to his work at the opening of the fall term.—Ada Allbright.
