TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXI. FORT WORTH, TEXAS, OCTOBER 24, 1922. NO. 6

CYCLONE CONGRESSMAN BLEW THROUGH WITH FRITZ LANHAM

Fritz G. Lanham, Congressman of Texas and the "Georgia Cyclone" Congressman, Will D. Upshaw, were speakers in chapel Tuesday morning.

FRITZ G. LANHAM

President E. M. Waits introduced Mr. Lanham as one of our foremost Christian statesmen, a friend of T. C. U., a citizen of Fort Worth, and a Texan whose name in Congress always stands for progress.

Following a few complimentary remarks to the student body in which he made note of the increased number of boys in school and the "sweet domination of women" in the present generation, he said, "I come this morning to introduce a very distinguished gentleman, who is my friend. His life should be an inspiration to every American boy. The fact that he has acquired such greatness, both in head and heart will point the way to us that we may reach the same goal he has attained after so many tribulations."

At this point the T. C. U. cheer leaders took charge and an impromptu pep meeting was staged. Following several snappy yells for the visitors, Mr. Upshaw came forward. He did not permit this high student spirit to cease for over an hour. In beginning one of the snappiest speeches made this year before the student body he said, "I am delighted to renew acquaintances with this institution. It is the first time I have spoken to you on Fort Worth soil, but as I meet you this morning and remember the faculty, it touches a spring that unlocks the past and I remember those grand old men, Addison and Randolph Clark of old Add-Ran Christian College and the speech I made there one morning in 1886."

Here he brought in a bit of mirth much of which permeated his entire speech. "I have not been able for a long time to speak to you, so long since, that I think I ought to make up for lost time (cheers). I have no engagement at all until the noon hour." Turning toward the faculty he continued, "There be more of us than there be of them, and I am a Democrat and I believe in the rule of the majority (Cheers). And as long as you will endure, I will speak."

"I think the first fundamental in making your college life count for the most, remembering the most of

WILL D. UPSEAW

LIONS MADE A JOYFUL NOISE

With the idea of helping T. C. U. in every manner possible, the Lions Club of Fort Worth visited the school in a body on last Tuesday evening.

Each Hears a Belle. The girls of Jarvis acted as escorts to the men. They first visited the athletic field where the greatest football squad on earth was at practice scrimmaging with Central High. Next each Lion with his feminine guide took a sightseeing tour of the campus and the buildings.

The auditorium was the next stop where the mighty pep meeting was in session. Students and Lions vied to see who could show the best brand of pep and in the end it was agreed to work together to make the peppiest school on earth out of T. C. U. I. N. McCreary instituted the idea of forming a Lion pep squad with uniforms similar to the T. C. U. pep dispensers.

When the pep meeting adjourned, the Lions were left in the chapel to be entertained with a short program.

Short Entertainment. The college orchestra began to play and entertained the guests two selections. The Girls Quartette sang and of course had to respond to several encores. Miss Moutray sang two delightful songs. President Waits in a short talk told the club how pleased we were to have them visit us and invited them to all adjourn to the dining room where the most important business of the evening awaited them.

Lions Have Manners. The Lions expressed it as being "fit for a king" in talking of the banquet that had been prepared for them. When the men had despaired of eating any more they were introduced to the football team and Coach McKnight. Talks were made by President Hyer of the Lions, President Waits, and Coach McKnight.

Resolutions were made to work together for the best interests of T. C. U. which would in the long run be for the best interests of Fort Worth and the country at large. Roar, Lions, roar!

COMMISSIONERS ORDER GRADING

Bids for bitulithic paving from Forrest Park to Harvard Street, two blocks beyond T. C. U. will be advertised for immediately by the city secretary in compliance with the order issued by the Fort Worth Commissioners, Oct. 17. When this work is completed the bitulithic driveway will be continuous from Main Street to Texas Christian University.

Tarrant County Commissioners' Court passed an order, Oct. 17, authorizing the county to pay for and superintend all the grading. The city of Fort Worth will pay for the paving of the street crossings, and the property owners will pay all other expenses. This improvement comes as the result of the effort of property owners of T. C. U. Hill. A written petition with all their signatures affixed was presented to the City Commissioners several days ago. At the same time another petition bearing the names of more than five hundred citizens, who are residents of T. C. U. Hill was given to Mayor Cockrell. The latter petition stated that a road, such as the one proposed, had been promised by the city several years ago, that the road was badly needed, and that it would be an asset to the university and to the people of Fort Worth.

On the day these petitions were received all paving in the city was ordered stopped due to shortage of finance, but the fact that this construction would be paid for mostly by the county and the property owners caused the commissioners to except it from the order.

The county will begin grading immediately.

BRO. MC'S ANNUAL PARTY BIG SUCCESS

Friday the thirteenth was not an unlucky day, for the members of Brother McPherson's Bible classes. No! it was a very lucky day indeed.

The McPherson home at 1825 College Avenue was ours from eight to eleven. Brother Mc, his wife, and daughter, all very graciously made it ours. We found our partners for the evening by matching the name of the capitol to the state it belonged to. In the contests that followed, as Brother Mc said, the boys did the thinking and the girls the writing. Guessing the names of songs from pictures and pantomimes was worlds of fun. A kangaroo court was one of the events of the evening. Now take our word for it it's worth lots to see a young minister charging through a host of Brother Mack's guests rearing, snorting, and cavorting like the fiery steed the jury had decreed he should become. It was quite pitiful though to see his lady love in tears nearby.

Miss Edna Darrow and her partner won beautiful chrysanthemums, the prize for the song contest. Beautiful victrola and piano music delighted us throughout the evening. Despite the fact that Brother Mc had said there would be only tooth-picks, delicious brick cream and devil's food cakes were served. The hour for leaving came all too soon and it was with many enthusiastic cheers that we boarded our specials and started home.

People say every year that Brother Mc's parties just couldn't be any better but this ninth annual one was the biggest and best ever! Three cheers for the Mc's!

Davis-Williams

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Frances, to Mr. Armon Williams at high noon on the 22nd of October, 1922.

A small group of relatives and friends witnessed the beautiful home wedding solemnized by Rev. Raymond A. Smith.

Mrs. Williams graduated from Central State Teachers' College, Edmond, Okla., in 1918; was a student in T. C. U. 1919-1920, and a student in Oklahoma University, where she graduated in 1922.

Mr. Williams is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. He is now with the Western Adjustment and Inspection Company of Chicago, in which city Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home after November 1.

PROMINENT TEXAS BUSINESS MEN LEADING IN CAMPAIGN

Outstanding leaders in big business affairs of Texas, who figure conspicuously as ardent personal workers and heavy donors in the present endowment campaign in behalf of Texas Christian University are, Ross S. Sterling, Harry H. Rogers, David C. Reed, Malcolm H. Reed, Van Zandt Jarvis and Mike H. Thomas.

LEGION HEAD'S T. C. U. SISTER

Miss Charlotte Owsley, professor of Home Economics, went to her home in Denton last night to be with her brother, Alvin Owsley, elected commander of the American Legion in the national convention at New Orleans Friday. Mr. Owsley will leave Denton tonight for Legion headquarters in Indianapolis where he will assume his responsibilities. Miss Charlotte will return to T. C. U. tonight or tomorrow.

Hogan Told Shirleys About a Few Things

Prof. Hogan was followed by Earl Dudley, who rendered several vocal solos. Walter Knox gave a talk, from his experience with "The School," and then "Cowboy" Ogan manfully handled subject, "Men." Hogan is a man that T. C. U. is proud to have among her faculty for he is a living example of our windy Georgians motto: "No matter what happens, never give up!"

Sang for Radio

Miss Moutray sang Sunday afternoon for the Dallas News Radio in connection with the chapel service which was held by William H. Anderson Jr., of the First Presbyterian church of that city.

FROGS ERECTED HORSE SHOE SHRINE TO THE HILLBILLIES

SAM J. McFARLAND President of the Board of Trustees and one of the heaviest givers to T. C. U.

Student's Mother Passes to Beyond

Miss Sarah Williams was last week called to Muskogee, Okla., where her mother was very ill. Reports were received by friends here Saturday morning that the maternal breath had expired. The Skiff joins the student body in expressing our sympathy to Sarah in her grief.

VAN ZANDT JARVIS Who pledged $50,000 for himself and citizens of Fort Worth.

King and Brass Band Getting Tooted Up

J. E. King is making splendid headway with the T. C. U. band. He says, "I have some splendid material and am looking forward to producing a band which T. C. U. will be more than proud of." There are now about twenty-one pieces, and meetings are held on Monday and Friday evenings in the chapel of main building. Next Friday night there will be an election of officers, therefore Mr. King wants everyone who can play an instrument to be out.

The band will accompany the football team to Sherman when we play Austin College, and also to Waxahachie for the Trinity game.

Mr. King got his start in T. C. U. at Waco, and since then has been associated with bands of repute. He was organizer of the famous Waxahachie band which made a tour of many states and was called on to play before the President at the White House. He is now director of the Rotary Boys' band in Fort Worth.

Investment business at Dallas, was not at the San Antonio meeting, but he has raised his $10,000 pledge to $25,000, and will serve as a personal worker in the campaign. He agrees to go anywhere in the United States in the interest of T. C. U.

Texas Christian University has many other liberal donors and personal supporters of long standing, who have made the progress of the university possible in the past, and the university students and officials are not unmindful of them in their expression of gratitude to those who are leading in this campaign.

Making two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play the Daniel Baker Hillbillies of Brownwood answered the victory too confidently reckoned by the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs last Saturday at Panther Park. Various explanations have been offered, but the facts as seen from across-grid indicate that LeMay and his aggregation were a second quicker in covering breaks, which in itself could not have altered the victory had it been for Hillbillies. White, to whose kicking and intercepting ability we attribute the phenomenal success of the men who bucked a line which showed its superiority in every minute of the game. Daniel Baker didn't use "lucking" tactics, however she showed a reliability that permitted the Frogs to erect a horse shoe shrine to her with a pass in Frog territory.

Take it from me, there was championship material wearing the purple and white in that game, and all the Frogs need in order to present a different picture at Tulsa Saturday is another week of teamwork with a stable and self-conscious lineup, and one second clipped off of each play. We've got the men. We've got the coach. We've got a championship team which will make its first real appearance on the field in Tulsa next Saturday. What we want now is a little bit more pep from the grandstand.

The lineup:

T. C. U.—	Daniel Baker—
Green (C.)	Tabor
Left end	Irby
Left tackle	Lane
Left guard	Craig
Center	Stringer
Right guard	Blair
Right tackle	Witherspoon

Substitutes—Daniel Baker, Huffman for Lane, Henley for LeMay, LeMay for Henley, E. Stringer for Peavy, Johnson for Craig, Denny for Tabor. T. C. U., Fender for Honey, Honey for Fender, Camp for Carson, Camp for Ogan, Fender for Camp, Tomme for McConnell, Estes for Jacks.

Score by periods:
T. C. U. 7 0 6 0—13
Daniel Baker 7 0 0 14—21
Scoring: Daniel Baker, Touchdowns, LeMay 2, White 1; extra point after touchdown, White 2. T. C. U., touchdowns, Honey 2 extra point after touchdown, Carson 1.
Officials: Referee, Cawthon (Southwestern); umpire, Bell (A. & M.); headlineman, Reichenstein (A. & M.). Time of periods, 15 minutes.

WHY I LIKE T. C. U.

My reasons for liking T. C. U. are many. It is no easy task to say, "I like this feature," or "I do not like this," when one is referring to a place like T. C. U. One might like the school for the attractiveness of its campus, for the smoothness of its tennis courts, for the simple beauty of its architecture, for its splendid gymnasium; and at the same time be impatient because he is obliged to walk several hundred yards across that attractive campus between classes, because the sun-glare on the tennis courts hurts his eyes, because the halls are too narrow, or because he is obliged to report at the gymnasium for an undesired course in physical training.

One might like the promptness with which classes are taken up and dismissed, and dislike the manner in which the chapel period is allowed to interfere with the class period immediately following. One might think it a fine thing to have compulsory chapel attendance, giving the entire student body an opportunity to get together for a brief period, and still at times be bored to the point of extinction by some "pin-headed" speaker who starts his talk with the intention of stopping as soon as he says something good, and as a result never comes to a stopping place. One might like the T. C. U. spirit in athletic contests and be proud of the past record of games honorably won or lost, and still dislike the constant conflict between laboratory periods and training hours.

Putting generalizations aside, I can state briefly a few of my reasons for liking T. C. U. I like the fine spirit of good-fellowship that characterizes the student body. I like the spirit of the teachers, whom I have found appreciative of independent thought and always willing to allow a student to present his own opinions, if those opinions are founded on facts. I like the spirit of the University, which is that of liberality in all things mental and spiritual. I do not think that T. C. U. can be excelled anywhere in these three points, which are of the greatest importance in determining the character of a school.

MR. WILSON OF BAYLOR.

The Lariat receives our approbation for their newspaper. T. T. Hunt, the editor-in-chief, is a tolerant man. He ceded to the law school of his institution a corner called "Law Notes," and left the editing thereof in the hands of one Frank Wilson, a member of the law department, which is progressing in its second graduating year. We regret to note that Mr. Wilson is without courteous discretion in his newly and perhaps topheavy responsibility. He lets this one get by him:

"Many pointed to the unsuccessful attempt of T. C. U. to install the same treatment in their school as a president to the folly of such an attempt, but there is a wide difference in the two schools."

We admit there is a "wide difference in the two schools," for if there were not we should have considered attending neither one. Mr. Wilson, being of that caliber which seeks to thrust a gentle jab under shield of the press, is not to be condemned by us. That is up to his editor. It is the desire of the Skiff to keep our university rivalry on the field of actual contest, and not muddle in politics of which we are not familiar. We wish the law school of Baylor University the greatest of achievements, among them the training of a discrete reporter.

"NIX ON JELLYBEANS."

Let first floor men who do ascend
Upon the third floor stair,
And loudly boast to "pooch" the "fish,"
Whom they find loafing there,
Beware of basket, book or brush,
Or swiftly hurtled chair.

For "fish" agreed that all who feed
On freshman viands rare,
Must pass a test would they suggest
Such a delicious fare;
And those who fail to make the grade
Will find the cupboard bare.

Strong men and true of T. C. U.
We call you one and all,
To "pooch" at night or early dawn
The "Fish" of third floor hall.
All others then who try are due
A hard three-story fall.

No more, from now, will "shines" allow
"Cahounds" or "jelly beans,"
To wield a wicked brush or broom
To dust their tattered jeans,
All sports and gents are welcome still
But nix on jelly beans.

"FISH" ASHLEY.

LETTERS TO THE SKIFF.

Four years ago in Europe, the American soldier's mind drifted over the waves of the ocean back to the land of liberty which he loved; the images of home, school, friends, and the waving flags. The Stars and Stripes which has been the brooding tender mother of a thousands men as they lay dying upon the field of battle, was a ruling passion of his mind. That flag which has been bathed in the blood of our forefathers; that flag which Arnold, the arch traitor, begged might be his cloak of honor in his dying hour, was indeed sacred to him. This soldier turned his eyes toward America and blessed the coming day that he would see the flag wave secured within its folds.

Some of these soldiers were from T. C. U. They remembered the flag that waved over the campus in 1917 when they left Clark and Goode halls over his native land with loved ones to serve their countrymen. The class of that memorable year made it possible for the Stars and Stripes to bid the boys goodbye by erecting a flagpole upon the campus.

Through an accident the flagpole was demolished by a swooping aeroplane.

Several years the soldiers of T. C. U. have been returning to this campus expecting to see the flag once more flaunting its message to the world from its standard bearer at

Women Formally Meet New Faculty Members

The University Women's Club entertained Wednesday evening, Oct. 18, in Jarvis parlors, complimentary to the new members of the faculty and their families.

After a time spent in meeting one another a short program was rendered by students of the university:

Floy Schoonover, piano selection; girls' quartet with their stringed instruments; boys' quartet, songs; and Sarah Binney, reading.

After an hour of conversation, refreshments of chicken salad, bread and butter sandwiches, iced tea and mints were served.

MIDTERM EXAMS NOVEMBER 3 AND 4

Well it's all off, gang! Here they come telling us that midterm exams will be held November third and fourth. It's a awful life, mates.

But joy, joy, they also tell us that maybe we can pass them if we'll get down to work and memorize the text books.

Well, anyway, we'll be on hand at the regular class hour on the third and fourth and show these faculty up.

DR. MARTIN WILL TALK TO JARVIS HALL GIRLS

Dr. Martin, head of the public speaking department of T. C. U., will address the Y. W. C. A. Thursday night in Jarvis parlors. His subject will be "Principles of Health and Food." When asked to talk on this subject Dr. Martin said, "There is nothing I'd rather talk on. There's one thing I require—an audience." Y. W. has promised him every girl in Jarvis for his audience.

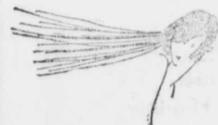

Dr. Martin has had the training that especially fits him to talk on this subject. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland and received his Ph.D. from Glasgow University. He came to the United States before the civil war and made Virginia his "adopted state," as he styles it. For a number of years he taught in state universities where he further prepared himself as a food specialist. Then he toured the world. For several years he was connected with the U. S. educational system in the Philippines. For the last three years he has taught in T. W. C.

Beatrice Talks Frogs

Beatrice Mabry Stack, A. B. '20, who is private secretary to Mayor Cockrell, spoke in her usual clever way in chapel Friday, upon the subject of "The Advantages of Having a Horned Frog," taking the ex-student's viewpoint.

"There are only a few tangible things we take away from school, she said, "such as text books, a vaccination, if there's a smallpox epidemic, a sweater, a trunk full of clothes which soon have to be replaced, a class ring if you happen to graduate or an engagement ring if you don't, and a Horned Frog. The Frog renews acquaintance with faculty and students, recalls forgotten pranks and friends of your college days. It keeps you in closest touch with the school and extends the pleasure you have had over the greatest period of time." In closing, she left with the students this slogan, "You miss it if you miss it."

Add-Ran Message

In Hebrew history we are told that every fiftieth year was a "jubilee" year. At that time debts were cancelled, land redistributed, people started their life affairs all over again and no doubt many made new resolutions.

Here we stand at the threshold of T. C. U.'s jubilee year, marking the fiftieth year of unparalleled progress and a record that can be read in the fruitful lines of its alumni and ex-students. We stand, not with our faces turned backward, though we can and take pride in the past, but we stand with our faces forward and "using the experiences of the past as tools for the present" we press onward to shape the future.

Add-rans, our greatest work is yet to be done. This year is our "jubilee." The year of 22-23 is to find us with the largest membership in our history, it is to find us doing a definite piece of library work, programs alive with thought and development, programs meeting the four-fold needs of man. Let us prove our worth by what we do, let us succeed because we merit it, let us say little but be ever in action and most of all let us work in the open and claim our right to live because we live for the right.

To our Clark Sisters, greetings! May our purposes and our efforts be in accord with the spirit of the men whose names we hear, Addison and Randolph Clark, brothers, the founders of our institution, 50 years ago, and whose names we carry to posterity.

To our Shirley-Walton friends and fellow students, Greetings! May this year be a year that will bring to us all in years to come the happiest memories because of our unity in resolution and because of our harmony in action. It is our sincere wish and earnest hope that this anniversary year will also be your greatest year of accomplishment and may the four of us all join hands and hearts for a greater and finer and a nobler T. C. U.

YOUNG men like the smart touch of style in clothes "Tailored to Measure by Born".

Good style depends upon skill in adapting a fashion model to the lines of the individual figure; it can best be done in made-to-measure clothes.

You will like our way of carrying out your own style ideas; you will like the fit, the clean needle work, and the price of your Born Tailored Suit.

Why, then, accept a suit of the common "die cut" variety?

ELIZABETHAN LITERATURE STUDIED BY WALTONS.

In pursuing their course of programs as it was outlined in September, the Waltons have come to that period of illustrious works and men known as the Elizabethan Era. It was Ethel Kemp, who as the first speaker on the program, told of the "Elizabethan period, the perfect art of its literature and music."

Addie Gray, with her violin, gave a delightful appreciation of the musical compositions of that period.

Ruby Walker told us of the life and works of William Shakespeare, and Sybil Black described the beauty and loveliness of the place, Stratford—on Avon, where the famous man was born. Miss Black has but lately returned from these regions.

"Hark! Hark! the Lark," a poem by Shakespeare which has been set to music was sung by Bernice Gates.

Floy Schoonover, as gallant Romeo in a senabucking sevard, and Lena Sherley, as sweet Juliette presented Act II, Scene II of that favorite love tragedy, "Romeo and Juliette."

This concluded the program for the evening, and after a short recess the Waltons met in regular business session.

Young Women Pulled Holdog Stuff Again

Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock, thirty girls, guests of the

Y. W., hiked to the river where they enjoyed a wienie roast.

The girls sang and played as they hiked through the brisk autumn air. Soon after they reached the river bright fires were burning. Then the business of roasting the wienies began. After a prolonged feast on "hotdogs," mustard, pickles, rolls and jelly doughnuts, the girls held a singing and set out for home.

HORNED FROG SPORT NEWS

"ALEX" ALEXANDER, Editor

Frogs to Take Her Vengeance on Tulsa

Undaunted by the defeat at the hands of the Daniel Baker Hill Billies the Horned Frogs are going into a week of hard training with the determination to put it over the University of Tulsa next Saturday at Tulsa. The men are in fine shape physically, shown by the fact that there were no injuries in the Daniel Baker game, but there are many rough places in the machine that must be smoothed over before the team can get into the best running condition.

The Frogs are showing plenty of fight, and lots of ability, so there is no reason why the team should not be a winner when they get to going at their right pace. There is a wealth of material to draw from. There are ten letter men, Cherry, Camp, Jacks, Cantrill, Ogan, Alexander, Green, Honey, Adams and McConnell, and besides, many of the new men have shown that they have the stuff that makes good football players. The Frogs have as good a coach as is to be had anywhere, in the person of John McKnight, and with such a combination, a losing team is impossible. The Frogs will not be a losing team. They are tackling the hardest schedule that a T. C. U. team has ever faced, and the hardest of any team in Texas this year, and while the opening games have not gone off as they should have, and as has been expected, the Horned Frogs are more than ever determined to make a clean sweep of the rest of the schedule. With this determination there abides a very full realization of the task that lies before them.

The Frogs believe they can do it, when they once get started.

Hard practice will be held this week, and when the Frogs go to Tulsa, they will go with more fight and more teamwork than they have displayed yet this year. McKnight is hard at work trying to straighten out the kinks, but it is a hard job, and takes time.

It's a long lane that knows no turning, as the old saying goes, and the time for the turning has come! The Horned Frogs are in as good shape as could be asked, and the problem now is to get the machine to working as a unit.

A few minor changes will likely take place in the lineup during the week, but what they are, Coach McKnight is not willing, as yet, to disclose.

The Frogs' defensive game is strong so far this year, and the offense is just as strong except in a few points, and it is on these points that McKnight expects to spend the time and work of this week.

With the few weak points strengthened, either by new men or by perfection in the working of the old men, the Texas Christian University eleven should present as formidable front as any team in the State, and should make as big a name for themselves when they play the Kansas Aggies Thanksgiving Day, in the Missouri Valley Conference, as they have made in Southwestern circles during the past year, by defeating the University of Tulsa, Phillips University and the Arkansas State.

The University of Tulsa is putting an unusually strong team in the field this year, and their season so far has been very successful. They are determined to avenge the defeat administered by the Horned Frogs last season, and are putting their every effort into getting into shape for this game.

The Horned Frogs are going to Tulsa with the determination to duplicate the drugging and with the running condition which they shall have acquired by that time, they should be successful in the effort.

Mr. Pirkle is to be congratulated on his fine spirit and everyone is urged to go down and help the pep squad out next week.

KOMMENT KOLUMN

Beat Tulsa!
You know, before the Fort Worth-Mobile series for the Dixie Championship, Billie Bee said that if Fort Worth lost there would be no allis. If you read his "Buzzing Around" you'll notice he's still making them, consciously or not!

We sent a little story to another school the other day, and in it we mentioned Jim Cantrill, the 190-pound end. They got the figures backward, or thought we meant them backward and put it "Jim Cantrill, the 109-pound end." Very well, let them keep thinking it!

The Austin College Kangaroo that came out just before the game with S. M. U. bore the motto, "Beat S. M. U., and they did. Maybe the same charm will work for T. C. U. At any rate the Kommenter believes in trying it!

The real charm is just pure old hard work and consistent teamwork, folks!

We saw "Pluto" LeMay, the famous captain of the Hill Billies after the game. He said they expected to win, before the game. On being asked if there was any time during the game when he didn't expect to win, Pluto moved his immense chew of tobacco from one jaw to the other and grunted. That was all!

Kangaroos Now Happy After Late Victory

BY C. R. CALDWELL, A. C. Special to The Skiff.
SHERMAN, Oct. 23.—With "No-Hii" Robertson as head coach and Pena, an ex-Texas U. star as assistant, the Austin College Kangaroos expect to have the most successful season in the history of the institution.

The Kangaroos were not at all discouraged by their defeat at the hands of the Texas University Longhorns, and considered that they did well to hold them to so close a score.

On Oct. 14, they came back strong and defeated the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets, who had previously beaten A. and M., and completely upset the dope by defeating S. M. U. last Saturday.

A fast and effective backfield is being built around Hollis, a three-letter man and a hard-hitting fullback.

MUSTANGS FORCED TO SHIFT GEARS IN HURRY

BY C. GUNTER, S. M. U. Special to Skiff.

With a victory over the Louisiana State Tigers to their credit, the Southern Methodist Mustangs met with severe reverses when they encountered defeat at the hands of Austin College Kangaroos last Friday. The Mustangs expected a battle, as the Kangaroos had administered to them decisive defeats for two years straight.

The famous Louisiana State team proved easy meat for the Mustangs the previous week, with Rowson, Hoff, Walling, Odom, Stevens, Smith and Captain Brooks all playing a stellar brand of ball. A spirit of fight and punch was shown by the Mustangs that has been lacking in previous years.

A few of the Mustangs are out of the game at present on account of injuries, but they are of minor importance and the men will soon be able to get into the harness again.

Coaches Morrison and Freeland report that they are well pleased with the showing made by the team thus far, but there yet remain a number of rough edges to be polished off before the team can be said to be in tip-top form.

Judge C. E. Coombes of Abilene, is in Fort Worth visiting Beth and Charles and attending court.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer McCartney visited their Alma Mater Saturday and attended the Daniel Baker-T. C. U. game.

Hollis will be the backbone of the Kangaroo backfield this year, if not of the whole team. A heavy and formidable line is now in shape and improving daily under the expert supervision of coach Pena.

MISSION CIRCLE GIVES INTERESTING PROGRAM.

The Girls' Mission Circle gave an interesting program on "Missions and Missionary Work" last Sunday evening in Brite Chapel.

Edrine Tyson, president of the Circle, led the program and gave some idea of what the Mission Circle stands for and is trying to do.

The devotional service was led by Constance Smith.

Following this Mary Murrell gave an enthusiastic talk on "The Future of the Circle."

Lillian Hinson presented the facts and plans of the Mission Study Class and invited those interested to join.

Then Mrs. Hart gave a very complete and interesting review of the conditions in India.

The songs which were sung, led by Etta Williams were, "I'll Go Where You Want," "If Jesus Goes With Me," and "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning." Lola Smith acted in the capacity of pianist.

In conclusion Miss Shipman pronounced the benediction.

Carnival to Be Given by T. W. C.

T. W. C. senior class is to stage a full fledged carnival Saturday night in the basement of the new Methodist Church, just south of the Dan Waggoner building. Hot dogs, dolls, snake tamers, tight rope walkers, hula dancers, ginger ale, and many other side shows and stands will be featured.

Students of Texas Christian University are invited to attend this affair.

T. W. C. girls have been loyal supporters of T. C. U. They usually turn out in full force for the various lectures. Last Friday night thirty-five of them attended the Will D. Upshaw lecture.
