

BIG TIME VAUDEVILLE TO-NIGHT

Bentley Named Alumni Secretary

WIDELY KNOWN THROUGHOUT THE STATE

T. C. U. has been fortunate in procuring as alumni secretary and high school visitor Mr. Ed R. Bentley, former superintendent of the McAllen public schools. Mr. Bentley is not only widely known in Texas but holds a high place in educational circles outside the state. He resigned his position at McAllen where he served as superintendent for five years to accept his office at T. C. U. His work here will consist of organizing the T. C. U. alumni and in visiting the different high schools over the state for the purpose of interesting the graduates and undergraduates in T. C. U.

Mr. Bentley is a former student of T. C. U., receiving his degree here in 1915. He is also an alumnus of North Texas State Normal and of California State University. He is now serving as a member of the state school text board.

Bentley has made a splendid record as a school man since leaving Texas Christian University in 1915, according to President Waits, having gone from Fort Worth to Alpine where he raised the school to one of the highest standard small schools of the South. He built the McAllen schools from a 13½ credit to a 27-unit system, and led in the erection of three modern school buildings.

Texas Christian University will begin a general program of expansion this year, according to President Waits, and the employment of Bentley is expected to inaugurate the enrollment campaign at once.

STUDENT RECITAL TUESDAY NIGHT

The Fine Arts department presents Misses Rachel Shields, Martha Morris and Eva Derden in an expression recital Tuesday night in the main auditorium. These young ladies will read respectively the following selections:

Rachel Shields—"Littlest Rebel."
Martha Morris—"Helene Thame."
Eva Derden—"Molly May's Morals."

Calendar of Famous Artists Appearing Here This Season

The following world famous artists will appear in concert here throughout the remainder of the musical season:

- February 18—Euterpean Club concert.
  - February 29 and March 1—Chicago Grand Opera Company.
  - March 6—The Salezdo Harp Trio.
  - April 2—Amelita Galli-Curci.
  - April 10—St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, Rudolph Ganz, conductor.
- The world's greatest violinist, Fritz Kreisler, will not appear in Fort Worth this season, but he is to appear at the Coliseum at Dallas next Thursday evening, February 21.

Brother Mc. Lectures on Healers

Chalmers McPherson will give two lectures this week on "Healers and Their Healings—Ancient and Modern." Some, who are widely advertised as "healers" by special divine power, have created great commotion. Is their claim a genuine one? The lectures will be given in room 104 Brite College at 9 a. m. Wednesday and Thursday of this week. They are free to all who care to study the subject.

Washington Man Favors T. C. U. As a National Christian University

"Make Texas Christian University the greatest Christian educational center in America," advocates the Rt. Rev. Harry Baker Smith, pastor of the Columbia Heights Christian church of Washington, D. C. A nationwide campaign should be started to make this Southern university the lodestone of all the Christian church educational activities, avers Rev. Smith.

The very bigness and freshness of the state wherein T. C. U. is located, reasons this widely known ecclesiastic, is having a tendency toward making this institution large, and the virgin soil whereon its foundations rest still bespeaks of the pioneer spirit of development and strength.

Many of our nation's universities are hampered by religious agitation of contrary opinions, asserts Rev. Smith, but Texas Christian University is free from denominational controversies and should be the logical center of Christian educational activities.

Waltons Have Unique Meet

The Walton Literary Society at its last meeting studied Robert Service. The setting of the program was that of a girl's room in the dorm and a number of girls gather together to study for the same exam. A brief sketch of his life was told by Sarah Williams, several poems read by Eugenia Shephard, Kitty Davey and Lena Shirley. The lights went out. There was a knock at the door. There was silence, but after a few short minutes a criticism of his works was given by Edrine Tyson.

FROGS TAKE 2 T. C. U. STUDENTS FROM S. M. U.: MEET BAYLOR MONDAY

By defeating the Mustangs in two games the Frogs took a firmer grip on the second ring of the championship ladder. The first victory was to the tune of 27 to 13, while the second game, characterized by much roughness, resulted in the more thrilling score of 19 to 17.

To name the individual luminaries for either side would be difficult. The squad played their usual five-man team work and both games were evidence of the fact that the Frogs are in excellent physical condition.

Both Adams and Tankersley played their brilliant game at guard. It was Adams who began the scoring the first night with several uncanny leaps. George, at center, played two powerful games, while Cantelmi and Cantrell also came in for their share of the glory.

In the final game, with the score a tie and 50 seconds left to play, Cantelmi broke loose and rang the basket from an almost impossible angle.

Bell sent in substitutes the first night, but the close scoring in the second game forced him to hold to the original five throughout.

A large representation from T. C. U. saw the second game, and accounted for themselves valiantly with much rooting.

There will be no game this week, giving the Frogs ample time to prepare for the Baylor clash next Monday and Tuesday at Waco.

Band to Go to Brownwood

"Texas Christian University will be well represented in the College Band Contest which is to be held in Brownwood during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention next May," says James E. King, director of the T. C. U. band.

Mr. King intends to take a forty-piece band to the convention for the contest. Twelve or more bands from other colleges over the state will compete for various prizes amounting to $3,000.

This organization is a new institution in T. C. U., but due to Mr. King's ability as a director it has made rapid progress. The only thing lacking to make this a first-class musical organization is uniforms. But Mr. King hopes to overcome this handicap before May.

T. C. U. STUDENTS ELIGIBLE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

T. C. U. students are eligible for scholarships in the leading universities in the United States or abroad to pursue graduate work, according to Dean C. E. Seashore of the University of Iowa, who arrived here Thursday to be the guest of T. C. U. Mr. Seashore is a member of the national research council, which was organized during the war by President Wilson for the purpose of promoting research work in chemistry, but which was extended after the war to include graduate work in any field. Dean Seashore came to T. C. U. as a representative of this body to present its plan and to interest those students who are desirous of pursuing graduate work. The council has under its control a foundation of $50,000,000 which is used entirely as scholarships for worthy students.

Mr. Seashore was entertained with a supper in the domestic science hall in the administration building Thursday night, the guests including President Waits, Dean Hall and the heads of the different departments of the university. Friday, Mr. Seashore spent in conference with the different students interested in the scholarship plan as offered by the national research council.

President E. M. Waits and Dean Colby D. Hall were hosts to Mr. Seashore during his visit here, and Dr. Raymond A. Smith, Prof. W. M. Winton and Dr. John Lord were on the entertaining committee.

No Co-ed Baseball

The girls of Texas Christian University will not have inter-class baseball this spring, it was learned at the gymnasium of that school yesterday. No, the girls don't dislike this major sport, but they took advantage of last fall's good weather and had their baseball season when everyone else was concentrating on football.

This does not mean that the girls will be idle in an athletic way. Inter-class hockey may be played. However, it is more probable that inter-class volleyball will demand the attention during the spring. Later on, tennis will be popular, and since the boys are attempting to make this a major sport of T. C. U., the girls will help with arousing interest in inter-class games. However, no definite plans have yet been made.

MAJ. PROMOTED BY SENIORS; SIX SNAPPY ACTS ON BILL

Big-Time Vaudeville of Ziegfeld conceptions will be presented in the university auditorium Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the senior class. The program as scheduled promises to be quite the snappiest ever presented here, elaborate preparations having been made for its presentation. The cast is composed of students chosen from the entire university who have shown unusual theatrical talent. "We are trying to make this the best senior Majestic that has ever been produced," stated Miss Dorothy Reed and Roy S. Mack, directors of the Majestic.

TRUSTEES MEET TODAY; ELECT FACULTY FOR NEXT YEAR

The board of trustees of T. C. U. began its annual business session Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. During this session teachers for next year will be elected, the annual budget submitted and decided upon, and the location of the new library will be settled. The meeting of the board was scheduled for February 12, but it was necessary that it be postponed because the Association of Bankers was holding a convention in Dallas, and many of the trustees attended.

It is understood that plans for the new library are completed and will be submitted to the board. After Mrs. Burnett's gift to T. C. U. a call meeting of the trustees was held, and at that time it was decided to begin as soon as possible on the construction of the library. Resolutions of thanks written on sheepskin have been drawn up and signed by each trustee and one copy will be presented to Mrs. Burnett.

The head of each department has given a report of what he considers necessary funds to be used in his department next year, and the board will decide what amounts to appropriate to each department.

It is the opinion of some that the majority of the teachers will be re-elected for next year, although a few changes may be made, and several new teachers added to the staff.

Amelita Galli-Curci, the world famous singer, will appear in concert at the Baptist auditorium Wednesday evening, April 2. She will appear under the management of Evans and Salter of Fifth Avenue, New York, and she is to be assisted by the artists, Schipa, D'Alvarez and Lhevinne. The concert given here will be under the direction of the Harmony Club of the city.

The program in its comprehensive scope includes every type of stage amusement; original and versatile in every sense. Problems of heart and home will be solved by Madame Fifi, "The Incomparable," whose inspiration has meant much to Betty Brown and Annie Laurie. Music whose charm would soothe the most savage breast will be presented by Dick Gaines and his Orchestra Supreme. Kit, Shenna and Dick are providing a versatile act highly entertaining. Lena Shirley, whose ability as a skilled actress is known far and wide, will present a one-act play, "Roberts and Roberts," the surprise of the evening, bids fair for headline honors. Pauline Reeder's "Love Is Love" is a colorful skit filled with pretty girls and such boys from Clark hall who have sand sprinkled around their rooms to make them feel at home.

The program in the order of its presentation is as follows:

- A. Roberts and Roberts, "A Few Stunts."
- E. Kit, Shenna and Dick.
- C. Madame Fifi, "The Incomparable."
- D. Pauline Reeder, "Love Is Love," a skit.

- E. One-act play, Lena Shirley.
- F. Popular melodies, Dick Gaines and orchestra.

The proceeds from the Majestic will be used by the class in issuing the "Horned Frog" and for other activities.

Pre-Medics Visit Clinic

Dr. Samuel Jagoda of the Fort Worth Clinic gave an X-Ray demonstration Tuesday evening, Feb. 12, to the Pre-Medic Society of T. C. U. The president, Ivan Alexander, with about twenty members, visited the clinic for the demonstration work. Throughout the term such laboratory trips are substituted for the regular meetings. All Pre-Medic students, whether members of the society or not, are privileged to take these trips.

Third Sermon of Series Is Being Given Sunday

The third in the series of four Sunday morning sermons on "Fundamental Truths" will be given at 11 o'clock on Sunday. The subject will be "The Holy Spirit." In the minds of many great confusion exists concerning this Divine Person. He has a mission on earth today. You are invited to attend.

The National Chorus of Ukraina, which is among the most famous organizations of singers on the globe, will appear before Fort Worth music lovers at the Baptist auditorium Wednesday evening, March 26. With the possible exception of the Sistine Chapel Choir from Rome, Italy, the National Chorus of the country of Ukraina has received greater success in its tour of the United States this year than any other similar musical organization. All of the singing will be done in the native dialect of Ukraina.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Rudolph Ganz, is to appear in concert at the auditorium of the Baptist church on April 10 in matinee and evening concerts. This orchestra appeared here last year to a very responsive audience. The auditorium was packed at both the matinee and night performances.

FORUM DECLARES FOR POPULAR ELECTION OF SKIFF EDITOR

Appoint Committee to Draw Up Resolutions to Present to Faculty

"A resolution shall be drawn up concerning the popular election of the editor of The 'Skiff' and presented to the faculty," said the Romans of T. C. U., leaders in university activities, who congregated last Saturday in the amphitheater for the open transaction of local business, and they accomplished some of the things which will tend toward amelioration in existing conditions at our university, conditions which are being made better at every meeting of our Student Forum.

Before a capacity house, Mr. James Slater, president of the forum, called the meeting to order and stated in clear cut terms the question of the day, "Shall the editor of T. C. U.'s weekly publication, 'The Skiff,' be elected by the student body?" Emerson Holcombe was the first to respond to the call for speakers on the subject and in no uncertain terms he expressed his opinions, some of which were later to be voted on by the assembly. The main point in Mr. Holcombe's speech was the method of procedure that he proposed should be taken in a popular election of a "Skiff" editor. Any candidate for the editorial position should be allowed to announce his candidacy and be passed on by the departments of English and Journalism as eligible or non-eligible according to his qualifications, asserted Mr. Holcombe. If the candidate is eligible, continued the speaker, he is then to be allowed a democratic chance in the popular election. Mr. Holcombe voiced the opinion of almost the entire group when he stated that although democracy is not the best policy in some instances, that it should be and of a right ought to be in the case of university students, many of whom have reached their years of majority and wish to have a paper which is representative of the student body as much as they wish to vote for the representative man in our state gubernatorial race.

After he had read a letter from an alumnus of T. C. U. in which was asked the question, "What in the world is the matter with The 'Skiff'?" It comes and goes and grows worse and worse." Mr. Holcombe concluded his plea to the assembly and received an ovation from the forum.

Nimmo Goldston, the present editor of The "Skiff," affirmed the statements made by Mr. Holcombe and wished to know if the "sentiment is general." He was followed by Mr. Charles Coombes, who stated that the leaders in T. C. U. activities had never had their due support under any conditions and called the assembly's attention to the fact that absolute co-operation would be needed in the support of an editor elected by the student body.

Weems and Crump, ministerial students, represented their group with two short speeches in which they both affirmed the above statements and in which their general ideas coincided with those of the previous speakers.

Morris Parker, who gained the floor next, spoke briefly on university, democracy and our past and present weekly publication.

Mr. James E. Dering made motion that these various facts and methods of procedure be drawn up by a committee to be selected by the chairman of the forum in the form of a resolution to be read before the forum and presented to the faculty. The motion was seconded and Mr. Slater appointed Mr. Dering chairman of the committee to be supported by Morris Parker, Phillip Ayres and Roy Mack.

The blanket tax discussion was begun by Mr. Mack, but on account of the limitation of time had to be postponed until next Saturday's meeting of the forum.

College life is—and necessarily so—a composition of numerous character-building elements. These elements fall under two general heads: The scholastic life and the social life. Both are fundamental factors in the development of the real college man or woman. With some, the one is exaggerated and the other neglected, with others, vice versa. The difficulty arises in striking the happy medium. College is no place for the social dabbler who attends merely for the social end alone and who looks towards his degree as a means of obtaining social prestige. Neither is college the place for the inveterate bookworm who refuses to develop his social nature, who isolates himself from his college fellows and refuses association in their activities.

However, we must take for granted that the great majority attend college for full, all around development. This majority comes from refined homes and have already had instilled in them the ideals of American manhood and womanhood. These ideals—already with basic foundation—must be developed and not dwarfed. Everything that is alive is subject to some form of danger. Our colleges are throbbing with life, hence they are peculiarly subject to dangers.

A danger, particularly peculiar to college life is "authority." It is a delicate weapon whose indiscreet use may produce serious results. A certain amount of authority is necessary, but too much of it is deadly. Colleges should open the minds of the young; point towards certain ideals; guide towards the proper goal, AND THEN respect the student's reason and discretion. Numerous limitations and restrictions, not only become ineffective, but breed discontent and inconsistency. The college cannot be placed on a reform school basis. Those in authority are dealing—not with the masses—but with the rational "two per cent," the reasoning, consistent thinking people of the nation. These men and women must be LED by an example, by an ideal, and not DRIVEN towards it. Driving an intelligent person poisons his attitude and often results directly contrary to that which was intended. The authoritative hand is certainly necessary—but must be used with discreet pressure.

Every man, no matter how able, at some time meets his Waterloo. Luther Burbank is now working on a non-squirt grapefruit.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

The Skiff staff, on behalf of the student body, wishes to extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Edwin A. Elliot and W. C. Leveridge on the death of their father. Mr. Leveridge has been suffering with a lingering illness for several years, and while his death brings sorrow to his relatives and numerous friends, the passing brings relief to a pain worn body and allows his God-fearing soul to enter the peaceful beyond where earthly ills cannot enter.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS TAKES PROMINENT PLACE IN SCHOOL

Girls' athletics are beginning to have a more prominent place in the T. C. U. life, due to the efforts of the Women's Athletic Association, which was organized in 1921. At the end of this year sweaters will be awarded those girls who have made 900 points during the year from being on any ball team, hiking certain distances or participating in swimming contests. The letter "T" will be given to all girls who have made 600 points during the year.

Last week four basket ball games were played. The junior-senior team lost one game to the freshmen and another to the sophomores. The junior-senior team played one game in the city Sunday school league and the varsity team played the Broadway Baptist team Tuesday night. At some of the games admission is charged, which goes into the fund for sweaters for the winners of the 900 points. The W. A. A. plans to sell sandwiches every Friday and Saturday night in Jarvis hall. Each week a different girl will have charge of the making and selling of the sandwiches. The money which the girls will make from the sandwiches will also be used to help pay for the sweaters.

WONDERFUL ONE

Wouldn't she be perfect with:
 Bernice Gate's hair,
 Ruby Walker's brain,
 Chet Hagler's wit,
 Alice Taylor's blush,
 Dot Reed's eyes,
 Dot Lemond's smile and Franny Wayman's pep?

AND

Wouldn't he be terrible with:
 Charlie Coombes' hair,
 Tom George's grin,
 Wayne's Weldon's wit
 Ava Nicholson's nose,
 "Jew" Levy's voice and Eugene Briscoe's necktie?

Frog Croaks

Soph—How many subjects are you carrying?
 Frosh—I'm carrying one and dragging three.

Prof (to student reading in class)—Are you learning something, sir?
 Stude—Oh, no, sir. I was listening to you.

Are you a good dancer?
 Well, not scrupulously.

Our opinion of a hero is the man in Pennsylvania who just married a woman who has been official stenographer in a divorce court for twelve years.

Who is that homely looking girl over there?
 Sir, that is my sister!
 Boy, she sure can dance!

Soph—What is the height of your ambition?
 Junior—Oh, she comes about up to my shoulder.

Senior—Don't you take anything off for cash?
 Saleslady—Sir!

Captain (to lady leaning over rail)—Weak stomach, madam?
 Woman (real insulted like)—Why, ain't I putting it as far as the rest of 'em?

"I can't stand that chap," she griped as she rubbed the menthalatum on her lips.

English shark—Did you ever read "To a Field Mouse"?
 Math whiz—Naw, how do you get them to listen?

Co-ed—Your overcoat is rather loud isn't it?
 Co-eddie—It's all right when I put on my muffler.

Say, ain't you the fellow I met in Philadelphia?
 Philadelphia? I've never been there.
 "Well, neither have I. It must have been two other fellows.

Stage hand (to manager)—Shall I lower the curtain, sir. One of the living statues has the hiccoughs.

The other day when hopping over to Ye Tonsorial Parlors to have my horns trimmed I stopped at T. C. U. to look over the situation. Imagine my surprise to see "Big Jim" with a fair haired lass, but I guess after his intensive training this season he fairly knows his court.

All around I noticed Flo Ziggie advertising his senior presentation de luxe. I've already seen the Lyric this week, but this looks too good to miss.

Down at the amphitheater I noticed the students Roman around and as for the things they're agitating I'm Forum too. I heard the trustys of the institution are to have a board meeting Tuesday. Since this report classes are lasting a full hour and library work has increased 100 per cent.

Friday there are to be no classes—students will have to get their sleep in bed. Also skating parties are taboo this year—the Columbia rink must go unmapped due to previous disapproval of the powers that be, studes might get desperate and clean up on something else.

Well, I journeyed on up to the parlors and I might add that the barber fairly knew his lather.

The closing number on this wonderful concert was Mozart-Liszt's "Don Juan Fantasia" and it was characterized by interpretative force, beauty of tone and technical surety.

SLAYTER TO EDIT 1925 HORNED FROG;

At a called meeting of the junior class, James E. Slayter of Dallas was elected to the editorship of the 1925 Horned Frog. The new election came as a result of the resignation of Miss Elma Smith from the position. A heavy course next year was the reason given by Miss Smith for her withdrawal.

Mr. Slayter immediately linked himself with the present staff in order to gain as much experience as possible before he assumes the major responsibilities.

The 1925 book will be managed by Mr. Hubert Robison of Georgetown.

Greatest Violinist of the World to Play This Week

The world's greatest violinist, Fritz Kreisler, will appear at the Coliseum in Dallas Thursday evening, February 21, under the direction of MacDonald-Mason. Unfortunately, this artist and genius will not appear in this city during the season. For this reason a large number of the T. C. U. students will go over to Dallas to hear him Thursday.

Shining Lights In The Moo-Tray-Moo Club

"You've made us what we are today, we hope you're satisfied," thus caroled the several members of the Moo-Tray-Moo Club to their courageous and ambitious leader, Miss Mary Elizabeth Moo-Tray. Indeed, the soaring success of this worthy group is all due to Miss Moo-Tray, who at first of the year when looking over the situation and examining her material, was so reduced to a state of excitement by the material at hand as to accord it three rousing cheers—Raw, Raw, Raw. Yet not to be turned aside by the coming ordeal and with her left ventricle throbbing with the hope of all that might be accomplished Miss Moo-Tray started an extensive campaign so that the caroling of her club might fall with favor on the ears of ye unsuspecting but anxious hearers. So great has been the success of this club that all who came to "scoff" but not, however on the onions, cabbages and eggs of an age old enough to know better, which they had brought in case of—well, anyhow, even those anxious hearers remained to praise.

Among the bright and shining lights of this club most prominent are Miss Dorothy Dowdy, Miss Ingenious Shepherd and Miss Julia McGee, the inspiration of the famous "When You and I Were Young, McGee," song. When Miss Dowdy favors the audience with her piece de resistance "Oh, Dry Those Tears," contrary to her vocal plea, the whole audience is reduced to tears, even the four-eyed guys are forced to use an extra hanky.

Not to be overlooked are Miss Don Juan of the House of Billington, Miss Alice the Taylor girl who suits you, Miss Sarah Howl Williams, Miss Dorothy Reed, who also sings, and the little Baker girl who puts out quite hot stuff. Then there is "One" whose versatility and originality is equally comparable to her proportions. As for the trials and tribulations of younger sisters, Miss Pearl is quite free with her views on them. Then there is little "Puss" Reeder, whose vocal apparatus is so constituted that almost every attempt to attain ye notes of high and mighty positions are accomplished without a struggle. Of such is the Moo-Tray-Moo Club.

REAL PROFESSIONALISM

Greet him with that "Oh, aren't you wonderful" smile.

Say nothing until he has run out of platitudes.

Then ask him if he plays golf.

Gradually lead him to tell you about that wonderful shot he made four years ago. (You won't understand him, but you can look amazed.)

Let him finish!

Ask him if he is as strong as he looks! Admire his shoulders!

Let him tell you about his ailment. And let him tell you "how he suffers."

Ask him how the Tea Pot Dome scandal has affected his business.

Let him tell you about his troubles at the office and how unreasonable the boss is, and what a lot of "dubs" the office force are.

Murmur sympathetically. Call him "poor boy."

Ask him who really wrote "The Young Visitors." What he thinks of Sir Oliver Lodge; ask him about the Russian situation; what he thinks of the administration; what he thinks of feminism.

Agree with him absolutely!

Let him tell you "all he knows about women." Encourage him to confide in you. (You know where these Platonic heart-to-heart talks lead.) Inspire him to confess his "sentimental affairs."

Ask him to let you read his palm. Tell him what a wonderful thinking faculty he possesses; what marvelous judgment!

Tell him he should have been a lawyer!

Tell him he "ought to write a book about his life!"

Tell him he is too kind hearted for his own good!

Get out the chafing dish—and feed him!

During the process try to look cute and awfully domestic.

Tell him that "mother" is teaching you how to cook; that you are "dreadfully old fashioned" you guess that you make your own clothes.

That you never, never, never intend to marry! (This is the mustard gas!)

After a while tell him that the lights burst your eyes—and let him turn out all the lights except the rose colored lamp beside the piano. Play something soft and low and sad.

Or, better still, put a Mischa Elman record on the Victrola.

Sigh—a little.

Glance up at the clock, and with a look of consternation tell him he simply must run along; you didn't dream it was so late. How time flies!

Insist on holding his overcoat for him. Ask him why he didn't wear a muffler.

Pat him with that impersonal "you poor, neglected boy" air.

If this doesn't bring something

CLARKS TURN SCIENTISTS

"Science as a Career for Women" was the subject of the Clark program last Monday night. Science is one of the latest fields to open up to women and within the last few years much has been done to develop women's interests in it. Some of the Clark's who have already had some experience in science as a profession gave accounts of the work.

The program of the meeting was as follows:

"The opportunities for a woman as a biologist," Tyler Wilkinson.

"Bacteriology as a career for women," Angeline Thompson.

Piano solo, Esther Moon.

"A new field for women's career—chemistry," Thelma Collins.

"Experiences—pleasant and otherwise," Mildred Penry.

T. C. U. WILL RECIPROCATE

We will discriminate neither the great nor small, the selfish peddle nor the magnificent concern without a conscience.

We are acquainted with our advertisers and will be responsible for the manner in which our readers are treated when they patronize them.

T. C. U. students have a policy of returning good for good, and we mean to see that merchants not advertising in the Skiff shall hold the sack.

To prove we know whereof we speak, ask the three most consistent advertisers in the Skiff if it pays to play fair with us and the student body.

We do not expect to discriminate. The manager has acquaintances in business in Fort Worth, just the same as you have.

ADD-RANS RING COW BELLS

The Add-Rans entertained Tuesday night with a snappy revue of songs, dialogues and orations.

McLeod scored with a solo, "They Didn't Play Cards On the Ark Because Noah Sat On the Deck."

Carlos Ashley, feeling his synonyms rising within him, delivered his oration "Spartacus to the Gladiators."

"Honest John" Shivers and Roy Mack featured in a dialogue entitled "Extracts from Vanilla."

In the absence of "One-Round" Parker, Tom George presided over the meeting. Tom readily took advantage of this chance to become more familiar with parliamentary usages.

FACULTY TAKE THAT PICTURE

acquaintances are not advertising in the Skiff. We do not trade with these people, because they are not truly our friends.

For the benefit of those men and women who might be misguided by concerns not using the Skiff as a medium, this newspaper in all its departments will be responsible for our advertisers, and we feel sure that in the end you will find our patrons are cheaper than the baiters.

INDIA

A. J. Saunders, a former student of T. C. U. who received his degree here in 1910, has just been elected a member of the Senate in Madura, India.

99° IN THE SHADE

"Dick Gaines and His Orchestra," one of the big features of the "Men's Glee Club," which is now on a tour of South Texas, has a personnel of men which forms one of the rarest and best musical combinations ever known in the history of T. C. U.

Robert Baxter, a former student of our state university from Dublin, Texas, is positively cruel to all deivities of the old time darkey's plantation banjo.

A favorite bedtime story and stock joke which circulates in the inner circles of this merry band is Dick's search for a skilled player of percussive instruments.

Thursday and Saturday, who sat on the east side of a pile of smoking ribs, were playing their drums no more furiously than Monday, Wednesday and Friday, who sat on the opposite side of the African cafeteria lunch a la mode.

Robert Ford of Bellview and Joseph Sharp of Wolfe City, old timers in King Tut's rag time band, have reached the zenith in the art of producing that fantastic, weird, gyrating and thrilling music, that ages ago wafted across the shimmering waters of the moonlit Nile.

Before going further in this essay it would be well to mention a certain member of his band of smile givers who not only carries out his portion of the performances including the cauliflowers but has also an exceptionally keen ear for and execution of the best and most difficult "Paul Whiteman" and "Cotton Pickers" arrangements and orchestrations.

JAPAN

T. C. U. is to have a real Japanese boy next year to drink at her Pierian Spring. Joe Boone Hunter, an Allen, Texas, boy, who is now a missionary teaching in the American college at Tokio, has written saying he is sending a Japanese boy to T. C. U.

Mr. Hunter holds the distinction of being the "Babe Ruth" of Japan and also has been decorated by the Japanese government for bravery in a fire at Tokio.

Basketball Still Holding Many of Nance's Hopes

With the opening of T. C. U.'s first complete baseball season in the Southwestern Conference only a matter of some five weeks away, Coach Nance is already beginning to put pressure behind his charges and will have batterymen and fielders in shape to venture a few practice games in a week or two.

The coming baseball season marks the end of the Frogs' first complete year in the Southwestern Conference. Last spring they were admitted in the middle of the diamond schedule.

Basketball is proving a great interference with Nance's work at present for a number of prospective first-stringers are now laboring for that coveted second niche in the cage race.

George, lanky and always-in-there star of Bell's cage machine, is to be one of the candidates for moundsman. Several years ago he set himself to be a professional pitcher and although he has had no real opportunity to work much to that end he has some stuff that will come in handy when the need arises.

Cantelmi will be out, probably with his longing gray eyes turned upon second. He fields as flashily as he covers the basketball court and is the kind of a prayer that will work well with any keystone combination Nance may put together.

Another of the true and tried stars of baseball now too valuable to leave the cage court is Homer Adams. He made good at the job of being a left-handed first baseman last year.

Froggie Lovvorn will captain the team. He is still working at basketball but will be ready to step into the outfield any time now.

Tankersley and Harry Taylor, the former of whom was chief catcher of '23, are being kept by Bell in his worthy campaign. They will put up a pretty fight for the mask's job.

In 1914 when New York City had 10,000 open saloons there were 4,793 intoxicated women committed to the various institutions of that city.

face it to say that from the first note to the last he is there, with that mystical, mythical, method of producing that makes you know that every little note has a meaning all its own.

This is not a small town, burg, villi or embryonic city orchestra by any means. Already the fame of the followers of Jubal has been broadcast throughout the length and breadth of the entire land, and the orchestra, in all seriousness, is now negotiating and completing preparations for a trans-Atlantic trip during the summer months.
