COLLEGE HARMONY

The collegiate thought of the country has been recently focused upon an event connected with the campus of a comparatively small university in one of our neighboring states. The newspapers and various tribunals over the country caught up the item and seeing the possibility of an excellent news story, broadcasted the occurrence at great wave lengths.

The facts are these: The faculty at the referred to institution had cause to believe that a youth in the school, who by chance happened to be the football captain and leader in student activities, attended a social affair in an intoxicated condition. The consideration extended the case by the school authorities is in doubt. Anyway, the boy was expelled. Then came the reason for the publicity. The student body, indignant to the man, went on a strike, demanding his reinstatement.

Enough for the details of the case. We will not consider here the injury done to that particular college or the harm inflicted on all colleges by this one piece of poisonous publicity.

Harmony is an absolute requisite of any successful college or university; in fact, of any successful organization. Harmony between the students themselves, harmony between the students and faculty, a well developed democratic spirit, a spirit of mutual benefit and endeavor, must exist before satisfactory relations and satisfactory conditions can be brought about in any university.

It is not at all necessary to smother personality and individuality to secure harmony and co-operation. Anyone who projects his or her personality beyond the harmonious limits of co-operation is working a detriment to the organization or institution with which they are affiliated.

T. C. U. is fortunate in having a student body and a faculty with such high democratic ideals and with such a clear and appreciative understanding of all matters arising in our university life. We have numerous things surrounding our campus of which to boast, but in our estimation this phase of co-operation and adjustment exceeds all else.

HONOR SYSTEM

Mid-terms are now upon us drawing out, like a sea voyage, all that is in us. These exams will not only test our knowledge but our moral status as well. As everyone knows the Honor System is employed in T. C. U., but it will rest with the students whether or no this system is properly worked out and lived up to. Mid-term exams will serve to test the actual significance of the Honor System to each individual. Practically all the major universities employ this system and surely by the time a student reaches the university he should be ready and capable of carrying out and settling his affairs according to the accepted ideas of honor and truthfulness. Students, it is up to you this year to make the Honor System here an active and working organization. Live up to it in the spirit and letter and it can't but be effective.

Let each student take upon himself the responsibility of carrying out the provisions set down in the system and we will soon have in action a system that will not only be our pride and joy but the envy of other colleges.

THE "GET THERE" GUY.

No matter how little he's getting;
No matter how little he's got,
If he wears a grin, and is trying to win—

He's doing a mighty lot!
No matter how humble his job is,
If he's trying to reach the crest,
The world has a prize for the fellow who tries—

The man who is doing his best!
Today he may be at the bottom
Of the ladder to wealth and fame;
On the lowest rung, where he's bravely clung—

In spite of the knocks—dead game!
And slowly he's gaining a foothold;
His eyes on the uppermost round;
It's a hard old climb, but he knows
in time—

He will land—and be looking down!

The fellow who never surrenders,
And is taking things as they come;
Who never says "quit," and exhibits
grit,

When the whole world's looking glum;

The fellow who stays to the finish,
That nothing can hinder or stop,
And who works like sin, is the chap
who'll win—

And some day he'll land on top!

—Exchange.

FREE VERSE

I built me a cabin in a forest
Of sturdy logs I made it,
Strong logs,
And the logs were beautiful,
But I did not trim the logs;
I wanted to be different,
I wanted to be unique,
I desired to stand out as an exponent
Of novelty,
And the logs were of different lengths
Some stuck out too far
Like spring boards over a lake,
Like canons over the ramparts.
It was not a beautiful cabin
But it was a strong cabin, in places,
And it was a curiosity
And created a sensation
When I made it,
And I liked it for it showed
My individualistic tendency,
But I liked it best
Because I was too lazy
To take the time
To finish the house.

—Smythe Lindsay.

THE DESERT

The Moon is an old witch
In love with the Desert;
At night she casts her spell upon it:
The misty moonlight silts down
And hides the harshness and dryness.
The brown turns to a shimmering yellow
And the shadows drift out
And hide the dry water holes and the bones
For the Moon is making love to the Desert.

—Smythe Lindsay.

Three Captains Return For Game

Among those present at the game last Saturday were Fowler, Green, and Cherry, all past captains of the Purple and White grid warriors. The three sat on the sidelines and reminisced of years past when they themselves were playing for the old school.

Fowler recently returned from the Cincinnati Reds, where he has just finished a very successful season. Green, along with Bill Shirley, drove in from their farm at Muleshoe, Texas. Cherry slipped off a day from his high school team at Ranger, a runner-up towards State title, but recently eliminated by Cisco in a close game. Roy Mack, a great linesman of last year, came in from Ballinger for the game.

LIONS CLUB TO BANQUET FROGS

The Lion's Club of Fort Worth has extended to the Horned Frog squad a dinner invitation, the date being set immediately following the game with the Arkansas Razorbacks. The Lions have for several years been staunch supporters of the Purple and White, standing by the team through thick and thin. While the Frog squad has not had such good luck this year, the team always put up a clean, hard fight and has gone far towards making Fort Worth a lover of the greatest of college sports.

It is in this spirit that the Lions extend this invitation to the Christian squad.

The Lions' Club, it will be remembered, placed the silver football trophy up for the winner of the best two out of three games between T. C. U. and S. M. U.

VARSITY CIRCUS SCORES A HIT

PERSONALS

The Varsity Circus, sponsored by the Junior Class last Friday night, November 14, went over with a bang—a howling success in other words. The sideshows, first features of the evening, drew the crowds like an open saloon in pre-Volstead days. Who could resist their possibilities, however, with such perfect "barkers" as Edward Berry and Carlos Ashley on the job? Both these young men must have had experience in former days to have caught so neatly that wheezy, nasal, whang of side show barker. Among the big favorites of the evening were "Naughty Nina," the Naughty Nile Maiden, the "Ghostly Ghoul from Ghostly Guinea," and "Trilby Twinkle Toes, the Midget Dancer."

The main attraction of the evening, featuring seven big acts, took place on the main floor of the gym at eighty-thirty. The splices of life were offered there. They included everything from song and dance to a breath-taking demonstration of Herculean strength—"all for ten cents, all for ten cents, ladies and gentlemen!" Miss Monette Duncan was especially pleasing as a little Japanese maid and shared the honors of the evening with Shenna Hill's "Hat Box Revue." The music for the torpid, sizzling "Hat Box" presentation was furnished by a sweat band. The Peerless Quartet was no less entertaining with its melody of songs and brought down the enthusiastic appreciation of the house with its T. C. U.—Texas interpretation of various songs. Johnny Roberts, perpetrated a mean tumbling and balancing act with the aid of his young daughter, Jean. Cecilia Reyer, artistic dancer supreme from town, played "It Had To Be You" on her "violent." Various persons among the audience wondered why. The crowning feature of the evening was a Holy Roller Exposition by the Clown Chorus composed of freshmen frails.

The proceeds of the circus will be used in a fund for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

Dear Editor

This column is given over each week to the opinion, criticism and suggestions of the individual student regarding University life. Address signed letters to The Skiff, T. C. U.

Dear Editor.

In reading through your paper this week I noticed the article written by a dissatisfied Jarvisite, and immediately the thought struck me: why not? Many of the residents of Clark hall go to town just to have some place to go and if something like that were supplied, many of them would not go and yet have a good time.

Do think it would be fun to have a forty-two party. No, I do not think it would, I know it would. And I assure you that if such a movement is started it will receive my support.

A CLARKITE.
"Bill Thompson."

Class Tilts Will Be Staged on Monday

The classes should be out in force to support their clubs. It will be a treat of the rarest order and a lot of importance should be attached to it by the classes.

Last year the Slimes succeeded in whaling the slats out of the Sophs only to have their honors removed by the Juniors-Seniors. There is always a strong spirit of rivalry and this year it should wax warm because it is taking the place of the competition that existed between the literary societies. Never in the history of this institution have the Slimes been known to win the championship. They have conquered one of their foes on several occasions, but they are never equal to the task of whipping the Junior-Senior team.

Miss Nelson—"Maxine, you stood out on the porch quite a while last night."

Maxine—"Why, Miss Nelson, I only stood there for a second."

Nelson—"But I'm sure I heard a third and a fourth."

"You say she's very old-fashioned?"

"Yeh, very modest."

"Kinda strict and proper, huh?"

"Yeh, when she want a drink she calls for 'boot-limb' whiskey."

Who's Who?

Each week several new girls will be introduced to the student body by this column.

Genevieve Abrams is a freshman from Lufkin. While in high school her senior year she was treasurer of the football club, she was in the senior play, member of a music club and interested in all musical organizations and is working for a B. M. degree.

De Rue Armstrong is from Alba, Texas, and is a freshman here. She was valedictorian of her class, editor-in-chief of the high school annual and in 1923 was editor of the school paper. She was secretary and treasurer of the senior class and had the leading role in the senior play. She was elected most popular girl her senior year and received a certificate in expression from Coeck school of Expression in Dallas. She is interested in fine arts and is working for a B. A. degree.

J. Edward Evans, '13, minister of the Christian Church at Sulphur Springs, was the speaker in the University Church Sunday morning. It won't be many years until his three young daughters will be coming to T. C. U.

The class of 1924 was well represented at the game Saturday. Among those present were: Roy Scott Mack, Jewel Armour, Hattie Rue Hartgrove, Kit Carson, Wilburn Page, Judge Green and Lena Shirley.

The class of 1923 also had its representatives here for the game in the persons of Floy Schoonover, Ruth Wiggins, Lorraine Shirley, Faye Williams and Adelia O'Meara. Nona Boegeman, '08, is teaching in Hillsboro where she has been for eight years. Her address is 222 South Houston Street.

The Dallas crowd was here again Saturday, thus showing their loyalty to the old school. We are hoping that they will be just as loyal when the baseball season opens. We need their support.

Shirley Collins of Dallas was a visitor on the campus Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer McCartney of Waxahachie drove over for the T. C. U.—Texas game Saturday.

Mrs. Frankie Miller Mason, '13, is visiting her parents in the city. Her home is in Independence, Kansas, but she returns to Texas about twice a year. She says that Texas is not very well represented in Independence, there not being enough to organize a Texas Club.

Robert Hill of Plainview, '24, who is teaching at Brookeland, Texas, was a week-end visitor on the Hill.

Listen, you Exes! Please send in some news items to the Secretary. She is finding it mighty hard to collect enough news to fill the space allotted each week. The Skiff is going out each week to hundreds of Ex-students, and it will not be of very much interest to them if it contains no news of the ones they know.

Prof. (in Freshman Science class): "Who is the greatest inventor the world has ever known?"

Freshman: "An Irishman by the name of Pat. Pending."

CAGE PROSPECTS POINT TO BIG SEASON

Lawrence Tankersley, who broke his leg in football, may not be able to start with the others, but he says his underpinning will be steady as ever and that he will be ready to go from the first. Tank improved more than any man on the club last year and gives great promise of becoming one of the flashiest basket-ters ever turned out by T. C. U. Paired with Homer Adams he becomes a wall of defense that is almost invulnerable.

Big Tom George, who received the unanimous choice as All-Southern center last year is tugging at the rein as his running mate, Frank Cantelmi, also All-Conference choice for forward. Jim Cantrell, last year's captain, should have his best season. He is anxious to get under way.

He was clear and had ample interference to negotiate the remaining distance to the goal, but hard luck again camped upon the trail of the Bell Boys.

The game was cleanly played with comparatively few penalties. Texas was taxed for holding on several occasions, but at no time was it costly.

For T. C. U. the stellar performer was Little Herman Clark, the nifty quarterback. He bore the burden of the punting, passing, sprinting with the ball, and running the club. He was ably supported by all his teammates, but their shattered ranks were not equal to the task of stopping the rapidly improving Steers.

Sprague, Texas tackle, undoubtedly earned himself at least honorable mention for an all-southwestern position, as did Berry, also a tackle, and Captain Marley, the plunging fullback.

Several lads played their last game before a home crowd. They are Ayres, Adams, Honey, McConnell, Cantrell and Nicholson.

(Continued from page 1) be the first game in the history of the school in which the professors are working for the invading team. In fact it has been reported that several profs have been caught sitting up late into the night working out a system of signals and a set of tricky plays for the Mid-term squad.

If these pre-game reports are at all indicative of the respective strength of the two teams then our sympathy is extended to Frog student body which composes the local squad for this particular battle. We are in no way familiar with the line-up of the Mid-termers. This is their first game of the year and all has been saved for the game. It is certain that no injuries exist on the invading squad; in fact, reports indicate that it is in the best of condition. They not only have one but several "Red" Granges on the team.

Hence it seems imperative that the home eleven develop an impregnable defense in order that these chesty mid-termers may be turned back.

Though our games may lead far, far apart,
That S. M. U. game will linger in memory,
'Tis the game that I keep in my heart.

Minnesota whips Illinois' line to death and makes Red Grange look like thirty cents with the three off. We recall a time this season when the Frogs performed a like feat and who has heard of Cort-meglia as the terror of the Conference since that game?

All the boys are aching for the basketball season to get under way so we can step out and show the conference something. This is one pastime in which the Frogs do not have to make apologies. It is no small distinction to have two members of your team unanimously chosen for all-Southwestern positions the first year in the circuit. Big Tom George, Center, and Frank Cantelmi, forward, did just that last year.

Football in T. C. U. does not check out when the Varsity schedule is over. The class games always grab off the spotlight for a short week before bidding the pigskin its final adieu. In the Intramural contests the Slimes are given their only chance of the year to triumph over their august superiors. They always anticipate this golden opportunity with the wildest exuberance, for couched in the coverts of their embryonic mind lurks the leering visage of revenge. These games are most conducive to a sense of humor. Come out and see them.

The slightest reversal of form or lessening of enthusiasm will serve to relieve Baylor of a conference championship, when they tangle with Rice on Turkey Day. Eight weight, and a foxy coach won all their games thus far and if they desert

"Frogland" saw many an old-timer or ex-student strolling through its halls or over its campus last week end. It is always refreshing to see those lads and lasses who have left school to become obsessed with their quest of the yen, or to insert their hand into the pocket of the confiding public. May they come often.

STUDENTS CRAM TO DOWN PROF ATTACK

(Continued from page 1) be the first game in the history of the school in which the professors are working for the invading team. In fact it has been reported that several profs have been caught sitting up late into the night working out a system of signals and a set of tricky plays for the Mid-term squad.

If these pre-game reports are at all indicative of the respective strength of the two teams then our sympathy is extended to Frog student body which composes the local squad for this particular battle. We are in no way familiar with the line-up of the Mid-termers. This is their first game of the year and all has been saved for the game. It is certain that no injuries exist on the invading squad; in fact, reports indicate that it is in the best of condition. They not only have one but several "Red" Granges on the team.

Hence it seems imperative that the home eleven develop an impregnable defense in order that these chesty mid-termers may be turned back.

Several lads played their last game before a home crowd. They are Ayres, Adams, Honey, McConnell, Cantrell and Nicholson.

The line-up:

Texas	Position	T. C. U.
Penny	Left end.	Ayres
Sprague	Left tackle.	W. McConnell
Pfankuche	Left guard.	Levy
M. Thompson	Center.	Washmon
Berry	Right guard.	George
Homan	Right tackle.	Ward
Newell	Right end.	Nicholson
Wright	Quarterback.	Clark
T. Thompson	Honey	Honey
Slover	Left half.	Carson
	Full back.

Officials: Sweeney (St. Mary's), referee; Braun, umpire; Venec (Seewanee), head linesman.

Will you go with me to the dance tonight?"

"I'd like to but my trunks haven't arrived yet."

"Oh, it isn't that kind of a dance."
