BY LEROY STEINMAN

The nations of the world are getting to be pretty big boys to be still getting into rough and tumble fights over the possession of the marbles.

There were days when "Sammy" said to himself, "Guy, you've just gotta get mad and tear into this d—so and so." Today, I think (at least I hope), "Sam" is showing more maturity.

Keeping our objectivity, let us delve a little more deeply into the reasons for some of the problems that are playing a part in this great international fight.

The economic problem is so important because man is first economic. We can not hope to have a peaceful world any more as long as some people do not have the essentials of life.

The important point here, harrng technicalities, is to point out that this war is a symptom of sickness and not the disease itself. It is a disorder to which all the nations have contributed.

America has something to contribute to the world in its democratic form of government. We will have to improve it to make it truly worthy of our praise of it as being the highest form of political system so far developed.

After thinking about the causes of this war, perhaps our motives in fighting it should be looked at. They are based upon whether we think that this war is a symptom of an unadjusted world or that it is the result

Lesson One In Sabotage

Every campaign needs a leader like MacArthur; sometimes even two leaders, like the Student Council and The Skiff.

There is some difference in this grass campaign on the campus and that of General MacArthur. The enemy is not known, no force can be used, and some of the generals themselves are found doing sabotage work without realizing it.

The forces do not rally behind their leaders in the true military fashion. They do not follow the military orders which are repeated time and again. "Keep of the grass." They sing the song of praise to their Alma Mater and then knife her in the back by dashing across the grass.

The Student Council, co-operating with The Skiff, proposes to put signs in vulnerable spots, to warn the enemy within the ranks. Follow orders for the good of the campus.

Post Office Popularity

Ten o'clock in the morning, and time for all good students to investigate the possibility of a letter or two at the Post Office.

Conversation emitting from the students as they swarm around the mail boxes is a splendid indication of their private lives and personalities.

The town students saying, "Yes, I called home and the letter I get every day is waiting for me."

The freshmen, looking longingly in the new box, "Oh, I did hear from him today!" and "Here's the home town paper!" Comparing love notes, exchanging home town news.

The sophomores, coming in twos and threes, looking for a letter eagerly, trying not to look anxious, watchful to meet any special friend who "happens" to come for the mail at the same time.

The juniors, walking hand in hand, oblivious of the crowd. Glancing nonchalantly into mail boxes. The home check interests them, but they have each other. Life is pretty swell.

The seniors, meaning mostly the girls, coming with the eagerness of freshmen, exchanging comments, "Yes, I heard from him." And it is their pride to add, "Oh, you remember him. He's in the service now."

New Cars Will Wear Tires Less

"What will I do when these tires wear out?"

That's a question which defies solving, for synthetic rubber, eagerly awaited by motorists as a solution to the problem, has already been contracted for by the government.

But T. C. U.ites who park their cars for the last time—tires in shreds—have a surprise in store for them when the next new-model automobiles are produced.

Automobiles will then be all aluminum, say manufacturers, with chair-and-table interiors, instead of the familiar two-seat arrangement. Bodies will be sleek, low and amazingly light in weight, with four-cylinder motors as standard equipment and six-cylinder autos for the ultra-ultra.

Tires will then last many times their usual number of miles, since the automobiles will be lighter.

Until then—there's always the bicycle!

Contests Are Good Psychology

Prof. A walks into his classroom and announces forlornly, "I assign the class to do a research paper, to be not less than 5000 words nor more than 10,000, due in two months."

The students groan. "This work is designed to improve your minds and make you appreciate your subject," the professor explains, "is not the work its own reward?"

Silence. "You will have a feeling of achievement, of a task well done, as you delve into the mysteries of research. What more could you ask?"

Prof. B's technique is different. He reads an announcement of a contest, saying, "This contest is for the best paper on this particular subject I am teaching. The prize is substantial, and entrants are so limited there is a chance of placing. How would you like to enter a term paper in it?"

His students are eager to hear more about a project that offers a tantalizing prize, and he offers to let them try for it.

He knows that contests arouse competitive spirit and create interest. His students will work harder for such a tangible result as a contest prize. And, perhaps, the teacher has a secret hope that HIS student will win.

Uncle Sam to Say So Sorry Please

Uncle Sam rolled up his sleeves Tuesday. With the third draft lottery drawn, a military aide sent to China and General Douglas MacArthur dispatched to Australia, the people of the United States apparently have decided it is time to take the long thought of offensive.

"So sorry, Mr. 'Yellow' Jap."

Buying bonds is not only saving for a rainy day, but behaving in a "sane" way.

Lucky Student Knows Profs

Johnny goes to a large college, famous for its difficult courses and businesslike attitude. There, professors know only a few of their students, even in advanced courses. Each pupil is merely a number.

Johnny graduates, full of knowledge he received from books. Not once did he talk to his teachers; never was he in their homes. He may not know their real opinions at all.

Jimmy attends a small school, one-tenth the size of Johnny's alma mater. He doesn't spend as much time studying, because he is too busy learning outside of class, in extra discussions and "bull sessions" with his professors. Jimmy's major professor knows his particular talents thoroughly at the end of four years, and assists in getting Jimmy placed in the work he likes best. Jimmy corresponds with some of his teachers, now that he has graduated.

Students are not the only ones who benefit by these associations. Teachers in small universities get a satisfaction their fellows in larger schools can never have. Each time June comes, these professors see "their" students receive diplomas. They think of a green high school kid grown into a gracious man or woman, and they know they have helped in the miracle.

"Women in Defense" Becomes Signal For Practical Action by Campus Girls

By MARGARET RAMAGE

"Women in defense" is more than a new term on the T. C. U. campus. It is a signal for action, and has been put to practice by the girls through their classes, habits and everyday life.

Hardly had the bombers sounded over Pearl Harbor than the transformation took place. Drug store addicts found their leisure time filled by knitting, making candy for the boys in camp, taking first aid courses and talking about the war.

When the civilian registration was held on the campus, the girls turned out "en masse" to sign up for first aid, motor corps and ask, "What more can I do to help?"

The CPT ground school courses have included girls since their advent. This year Miss Ethel Rae Cheatham took the primary course. She is planning for a career as ground school instructor.

Over in the Gymnasium physical education classes were reorganized. Two P. T. classes were added, and girls might take one of them in place of their regular playing. They are taught by Prof. Tom Prouse at 9 MWF and by Mrs. Helen Murphy at 10 TTS.

Two first aid classes are being held in the evening. Over 50 students, with the girls in the majority, attend the primary class once a week. The advanced classes meet twice a week.

Moreover, all of the physical education exercise courses were arranged at morning hours. At mid-year a physical examination was given every girl in school. Those needing corrective exercises are getting it.

"More interest has been shown in physical fitness since the United States entered the war," Mrs. Murphy observes.

The girls in the W. S. A. are helping the Girl Scouts with their "national defense program in physical fitness," by teaching them swimming, planning programs and taking them on hikes.

The motor corps division has attracted great interest among the girls. With this service in mind, many of them have continued the advanced first aid course in addition to the standard course.

Mrs. Murphy is now wearing a motor corps uniform, and in a few weeks will begin instruction in the Gymnasium for the motor course.

T.C.U. Poets' Corner

(The following poems won first place at the meeting of the T. C. U. Poetry Club Wednesday night.)

FANTASY By HARRY REX DAVIS I sometimes think In my less lucid moments That we living are not such a bad lot

And would fare better If the dead would let us alone.

For we alive are flesh and bone, Wanting just to be let alone To oust the moon, as well we could—

But dead men's deeds come marching on: Deeds of corpses dead and gone.

Why can't they stay where their ghosts are fled? The future is for the living— They should mind their own business, the dead!

This thought is doubtless fantasy And no part of what is called Truth.

But then, as I said, I sense it only In my less lucid moments.

BOWIE Fri-Sat. 7 Yrs. in College And Still Going Strong... Jack Oakie, Linda Darnell, "RISE and SHINE" Starts Sun. Wm. Powell Myrna Loy in "SHADOW OF THE THIN MAN"

LOST—Brown, zipper coin purse containing keys and money, March 17, 1942, please return keys and keep money. Virginia Jackson, Jarvis Hall.

LOST—One pair of gold rimmed glasses in the little gym Monday afternoon, March 9, 1942. Call 4-3807. REWARD.

This class will include all those in Fort Worth who qualify.

High up on the third floor in the Administration Building, Miss Bonne Enlow reports that the war has created new interest in war economy and the study of foods and clothing.

The Home Ec Club is knitting and sewing for the Red Cross and studying the value of foods as related to the war effort.

A special "nutritious" course is being given by Miss Enlow. It is a Red Cross course of 20-hours defense credit, and is a prerequisite to the course in "canteen cooking." An intensive study is made of food and its relation to health. Those who are taking this course will follow it with a 10-hour canteen course given by someone familiar with institutional dietetics.

Jarvis Hall girls are rallying to defense work. Soon after Dec. 7, an organized Red Cross schedule was set up, with certain girls helping at the downtown center on certain days.

First aid courses have kept most of the girls busy. Many of them are taking both the standard and advanced courses, in preparation for the motor corps division.

At a recent parlor meeting, Prof. B. A. Crouch, who is training for air warden service, spoke to the girls, giving them instructions as to what to do in case of an air raid.

Many girls knitted as Prof. Crouch talked. And later in the evening, virtually 100 per cent of the girls said they were investing in saving defense bonds and stamps.

On each floor of Jarvis Hall is a large container into which waste paper is placed for defense. There has been such a response that the containers have to be emptied daily. This is a project in connection with the Girl Scouts.

"The Jarvis girls have taken such an interest in this project that they pack the paper in compactly, and even then it fills up every day," comments Dean Elizabeth Shelburne.

In the Jarvis office is a large round bowl where girls deposit tin-foil and metal tubes.

Around and about the campus there is still more evidence of the interest of "women in defense." Here and there girls are discussing the possibility of a Women's Defense Unit. "I want to be right there to join," says one girl.

At the Post Office, the girls are mailing letters to the boys in the service, and planning the candy or cookie party to make goodies to send them.

The Campus Club is a new and integral part in the lives of many girls on the campus. Organized in connection with the USO, it is for the purpose of entertaining boys who are invited in from nearby army camps. Dances are given once a month at local ballrooms.

Each girl in the Campus Club is supposed to spend several afternoons helping at the USO Center. There they register the boys who come in for the day, talk to them and "help spread a little cheer."

Former TCU Actor Plays Woodrow Wilson Broadway's "In Time to Come" Stars "Dick" Gaines, A. B. '26

Those members of the faculty who were at T. C. U. in the spring of 1926 may remember the stirring performance of a thin-faced youth in the Dramatic Club production of "The Valiant." That student was Richard H. Gaines, senior from Ladonia.

Today, if those professors were in New York City, they would have another opportunity of seeing Richard Gaines act. For it is Gaines who has the leading role in the Broadway production "In Time to Come," portraying Woodrow Wilson.

"In Time to Come" was written by Howard Koch and John Huston. The play is produced and directed by Otto Preminger. The play deals with the bitter aspects of Wilson's last years as president, with his struggles in Paris and with his hopeless fight for a strong League of Nations.

Miss Rosamond Gilder writes in her review of the play published in the March issue of Theatre Arts, "Mr. Gaines gives a vivid and sympathetic impression of a high-strung, devoted idealist fighting a losing battle against heavy odds."

In 1938 Gaines was understudy for Raymond Massey in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." When Massey went to Hollywood to play the lead in the motion picture version of the play, Gaines stepped into the leading role.

"Dick" Gaines was an active student while attending T. C. U. He graduated in June, 1926, receiving the A. B. degree. He was a member of the Men's Glee Club and the Horned Frog Band his first three college years, president of the Bryson Club his senior year. He was also editor of The Skiff his senior year. But Mr. Gaines' chief recognition in college came through his four-year association with the Dramatic Club. His performance in "The Valiant" is still remembered on the campus.

Miss Mabel Major says, "His was the only performance of a student that ever gave me chills up and down my spine. After seeing him act, I was willing to place my money on 'Dick' Gaines."

A box has been placed in the corridor of the gymnasium at N. T. A. C. for the collection of voluntary contributions, to be used for buying bonds. When matured, the bonds will be used to pay for the erection of a memorial to the N. T. A. C. students who serve in the armed forces.

One hundred and sixty-five students have volunteered for civilian defense at Hardin-Simmons College.

During a "Defense Week" at Texas Technological College, money raised from various projects will be used to purchase defense bonds, to be donated to the construction of a union building.

"The J-Tac," John Tarleton school paper, is sent to former students now training in 10 different army camps. When the University of Texas held a "Defense Day," 10 tables were placed over the campus, offering stamps for sale. Four men on bicycles traveled to and from the post office for additional stamps.

N. T. A. C. is offering basic infantry training continually for the duration of the war.

SMU to Be First Conference Baseball Foe

HIGHLIGHTS

By ELMO WEBB

Max Humphreys and Bill Conard give us four more guys like 'em and nobody could beat our baseball team."

These were the words of one of their teammates on the Frog nine. This statement was not made because they are unusually good ball players, but because their chatter and antics are enough to keep their own team in good spirits and, at the same time, rattle the opposing side.

Not only can they dish it out, but they can take it. When Max took the mound against the Hornsby Boys for the first time, he was greeted with, "Why don't you wash your upper lip?" and "Do you take that thing off at night?"

He had to take another kidding when a young boy walked up to him during practice and asked for his autograph. He obliged, and called to his teammates, "Hey, fellows, look—autographs already!"

Bill is just as bad, if not worse. If the two of them get to coaching at the same time, with the bills on their caps cocked on one side, have you seen the pitcher?

Bill bragged kiddingly that he would hit .400 this season. Everyone laughed when they took a look at his batting stance. So Bill, against the Hornsby Boys, did nothing but get two hits in five trips to the plate for a .400 average. Once he gets on the base paths, there is no stopping him, much to the grief of Coach Walter Roach. In one intrasquad game, he stole second and third and threatened to steal home. Another time he got a hit, tried to stretch it to second, and when the second baseman dropped the peg, Bill couldn't stop, so he took out for third. P. S.—He was out at third by five steps.

In two games with the Hornsby Boys, the Frogs batted out 23 hits. Here are some unofficial averages for those two games.

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Average. Charlie Conway 8 2 250, L. A. Monroe 8 1 125, Richard Allen 7 2 286, Lonnie Dowell 8 2 275, Bill Conard 5 2 160, Bob Dalaban 6 2 333, Bruce Alford 9 8 467, Bob McHenry 6 2 333, Eugene Willford 6 0 989, Russell Whitley 3 1 333, Max Humphreys 4 1 250, Trotter Adams 3 1 333.

This average includes only the two games. No intrasquad games are counted. This corner took a crack at Alford's and Conard's hitting, and they are batting one-two in the averages.

When Bob McHenry got a triple in Tuesday's intrasquad game, Bill jumped off the bench, grabbed the bat Bob used and shouted, "Same bat. I used, and look what I did—popped up to the infield." Well, anyway, it was funny to hear him say it.

Bill also ticks the phrase, "I don't know," onto almost everything he says. "I believe the pitcher's getting wild; I don't know," or "I ought to get a base rap this time; I don't know." It's still funny to hear him say it.

Nobody knows what is coming next. That is one reason Bill and Max never get tiresome. Bill came out one day and played with no socks on. They even razz their own players during an intrasquad game. It is a show to see them work. As one student put it, "Max loves to live more than any boy

Frogs to Play Opener At Home Wednesday

S. M. U. will furnish the Horned Frog baseball team its first conference opposition of the season on the Frog diamond Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

By that time, Coach Walter Roach will have been able to see what his team can do; four games against stiff competition will have been played, besides numerous squad games.

The Mustangs started work-outs a week later than the Frogs, but Coach Roswell Higginbotham has had his boys playing several intrasquad games.

Three pitchers are counted on to hold down the hurling chores. They are Jimmy Tyler, Atwell Tesson and Maurice Tinsley. Top notch utility infielder is Johnny Sebeck, basketball sharpshooter for the Mustangs the past season.

Roach has been pleased over the good weather, which enabled the Frogs to get in much-needed practice. The Frogs broke even in two games with the Hornsby Boys the past week.

Led by the hitting of Charlie Conway and Bruce Alford, the Purple defeated the Boys 13 to 5 on the T. C. U. diamond last Friday. Trotter Adams and Max Humphreys did the hurling. The game was tied at 5 to 5 when the Frogs broke out with four runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

The second game, at LaGrave Field Monday, was a heartbreaker for the Roachmen. Tied 1 and 1 at the end of nine innings, T. C. U. made two runs in the top half of the tenth. The Boys then put two walks and two hits together to score three runs off of Humphreys in their half, to win the game 4 to 3. The Frogs led in the hitting department 12 to 11.

It was in that second game that Eugene Willford, first-string catcher, hurt his knee sliding into second. Willy may be ready for S. M. U., however. If not, Russell Whitley, whose hitting has improved remarkably, will work behind the plate.

Adams will probably get the opening hurling assignment. L. A. Monroe at third, Conway at second, Bob McHenry at short and Lonnie Dowell at first will be the starting infield. Bill Conard or Bob Dalaban, Richard Allen and Alford will cover the outfield. Allen has two home runs in intrasquad games already, and is connecting solidly with those even cuts of his. Monroe, Dowell and Allen all

I ever saw, and he enjoys every second of it." That fits Bill, too. T. C. U. might not have the best baseball team in the conference, but win or lose, they'll have one of the most interesting and entertaining.

Horned Frog track men are enthusiastic about their relay teams. One member feels that they will finish right up with the leaders or even win at least one relay race in the Texas Relays. Those running the sprint relay are Howard Pope, George Towles, Paul Lander and Doug Ogburn. The medley relay is composed of Pope, Towles, Lander and Bobby Wilson. Chief hope of Coach Poss Clark at the Stock Show Meet at Farrington Field tomorrow are these relay teams and the javelin throwing of J. T. Webb. Webb broke the record last year for the freshman and junior college class.

Bagley Shows Spirit of Sam, Davey in Battle

Sheppard Field Beats Frogs 2-1

Battling all the way, the Frogs gave the Sheppard Field nine a close 2-to-1 game yesterday after late inning rallies failed to tie up the score.

The Wichita Falls team made one run in each of the first two innings but both came due to poor headwork on the part of Frog fielders. Trotter Adams pitched the entire route for the Purple and allowed only five hits, three of them being of the fluke variety.

Up 'till the seventh inning the home club had only one hit. It was then they scored their only run. With two outs, Bob McHenry doubled to left-center and Swede Peltz, batting for L. A. Monroe, tripled past the center fielder. That threat died when Russell Whitley grounded to the pitcher.

The Frogs had men on first and second in the ninth with only one away but McHenry and Peltz missed chances to be real heroes as they both went out to retire the side.

Playing a great defensive game, the Horned Frogs made only two errors and pulled two double plays, both short to second to first. A strong south wind cost the home boys their first run. With two down and one man on, Richard Allen played too deep in right field and let a fly drop at his feet for a hit scoring the first run for the soldiers. The other run came from a triple and an infield out in the second inning.

The brightest point for the Frogs was the pitching of Adams. Coach Walter Roach and his team will play the Sheppard Field team again tomorrow in Wichita Falls.

Swing from the wrong side of the plate.

Starting pitcher Thursday will be either Dowell or Humphreys, depending on whether relief duty is needed Wednesday.

It was Dean, Dean, Dean; that leather-jugging scab-back, Little Dean.

That noise is Rudyard Kipling turning over in his grave, but the description fits Dean Bagley and the way he dominated the play in Saturday's final game of the spring training session. In fact Coach Dutch Meyer made it the last work-out, although he had two more days left during the session if he so wanted.

Bagley made two touchdowns and passed for two more as the Whites beat the Purples 27 to 0. In the second quarter, Bagley passed to Bruce Alford for 41 yards and a score. After Derrell Palmer recovered a fumble on the Purple's 12, the Whites moved to the one-foot line, where Bagley carried over for the second margin.

Medanich Kicks Three Points Bagley scored his other 'touch' from the 3-yard line, and in the last quarter, passed to Frank Medanich, from the Purple 38, for the final score. Medanich kicked three of his four attempts after touchdowns.

A small crowd, that was certainly well fed by the Frog Club after the game, saw many mistakes that are common during the spring work-outs. Because of the small squad, many of the players were used on both the Whites and the Purples during the game.

Just as he was beginning to get the feel of things once more, Billy Blackstone was injured, the only one hurt. Billy broke through the line from his center position and caught Charlie Conway's heel under his chin causing him to bite a chunk out of his tongue. Billy was taken to the hospital to have some stitches taken.

The play of Clyde Flowers, who is plenty fast for a tackle, was most pleasing to Coach Mike Brumblow. Several more of the linemen caught the eyes of the spectators. Dee Ezell looked especially good playing on the first team and intercepted two passes. Second-String Backfield Good Van Hall made several nice runs, and Conway and Don Ezell both broke loose several times for the second stringers. Eugene Willford came out of the game, after playing almost the entire time, without re-injuring his knee, only to hurt it playing baseball Monday.

Coach Meyer got a good look at his boys and, in general, feels it was a successful spring training. Illness took away several of the boys for a period of time, but on the whole, injuries were few.

purely of some maniacs who are leading the Germans and the Japs. If we think the latter is absolutely true, then our motive is entirely selfish, for we then must think that we have had no hand in causing this war and that all we have to do is to beat those brutes and then try to go on living as before.

If, however, we realize that the war isn't the major problem, but just the symptom of the problems underlying, then we are fighting in order that we may have a chance to help better the living conditions of the very people that we are now fighting, the very people that we have up to this time consciously or unconsciously suppressed.

To win this war in the eyes of the centuries, we must win the battles so that in the peace we may give to our "enemies" the very things that they are fighting for—freedom from poverty of mind and body.

Pilot F. S. Ratcliff Attempts to Land 2 Planes at Once

F. S. "Ratty" Ratcliff thought he saw the pearly gates.

Ratty, a student in the primary flying class, was practicing landings, when suddenly there was a crash and the loud ripping sound of tearing fabric. The plane veered back and forth and finally careened to a standstill.

Thinking that he had let his wing drop and hit the ground, Ratty was surprised when his instructor turned around and nonchalantly said, "We've been hit."

Sure enough, a secondary student, not seeing them landing, had set his plane down on top of them. The propeller had spun into the wing just barely missing Ratty's head and the undercarriage hit the tail, leaving the plane a complete wreck. The secondary student's plane lost only half of its prop, and the pilot succeeded in landing in a field past the airport.

Now when landing, Ratty prays until he is safely out of the plane and on his feet again.

L.S.U. Library Student Is Helping on Campus

Miss Helen Blair of Louisiana State University is doing her practice library work in Mary Coats Burnett Library.

To receive a B.S. degree in library science, she is required to work in an accredited library for a two weeks period.

Miss Blair was a schoolmate of Miss Ruth White at L. S. U. last year.

Fred Taylor, former Frog footballer now stationed at Camp Wolters, was a campus visitor last week.

In the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show track meet to be held tomorrow at Farrington Field, T. C. U. will be best represented in the sprint relay. A team made up of Paul Lander, Howard Pope, George Towles and Doug Ogburn has the best chance of taking some points for the Frogs.

All the events will be run off in the morning, with the finals coming in the afternoon.

In the other events, Lander, Pope and J. B. Pitzer will take care of the dashes, Bobby Wilson, Towles and Lloyd Stevens will handle the distances, J. T. Webb will high jump and sling the javelin, Van Hall will run the low hurdles and Derrell Palmer will leave the discus.

The track team will journey to Austin March 28 to take part in the Texas Relays. Coach Poss Clark is putting his hopes on the sprint medley team of Lander, Pope, Wilson and Towles in this meet.

Freshmen Al Vincent, Jack Parker, Elbert Towery, Bill Welsh, Ed Cornelius, Clifton Patton and Bill Polzin will also enter the Stock Show meet.

'Ed' to Take Belated Share Of Campus Limelight

BY LOIS JEANE CAYCE and VIRGINIA TOMME

The average coed has often received publicity. Her good and bad traits, her personality, her likes and dislikes have all been analyzed.

Now is the time for the average "ed" on any college campus to come into the limelight with the publicity which is rightly his.

A young man enters college for one of several different reasons. More times than not, he sincerely desires an education, to supplement his high school training.

In some instances, college has become a part of his life just to satisfy his family.

The average boy in his new environment comes to acquire a certain culture that typifies people on college campuses.

He is usually an avid follower of athletics and often plays on the school teams.

Participation in all campus activities is a part of his daily life.

Like the typical coed, the average "ed" goes in for casualness both in his dress and actions.

He prefers smart, comfortable, sports clothes for campus wear, but enjoys dressing up for "that" date.

His casual action comes from his love of a democratic, friendly spirit. He likes people, and he wants people to like him.

The average college boy enjoys the company of girls. He likes to date certain girls and count other girls as genuine friends and "big sisters."

The typical college boy is seeking an education and his place in society. He is fond of sports and other activities, prefers informality, enjoys people and to all degrees, represents the spirit of American youth in its finest aspect.

S. C. A. Groups Plan Picnic, Field Trip

W. A. Welsh's S. C. A. group will meet at the Arch at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening before going to Forest Park for a picnic. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Misses Nancy Shulkey, Ruth Taulbee and Pat Seigler, and Bill Welsh and George Miller.

The social service division will meet at the Arch at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday to go on a field trip.

"Morality or the Double Standard," the subject of a recent Skiff editorial, will highlight the discussion of the upperclassman group sponsored by the Rev. Perry E. Gresham when it meets Monday night at the home of Miss Jean Morris, 1016 W. Bowie. Those wishing transportation should meet at the Arch at 7:15 p. m. Monday.

In preparation for the meeting, students on the campus are being asked, "Do girls have higher standards than boys?" Results will be totaled and revealed at the meeting.

Sugar Ration Cards Will Be Issued

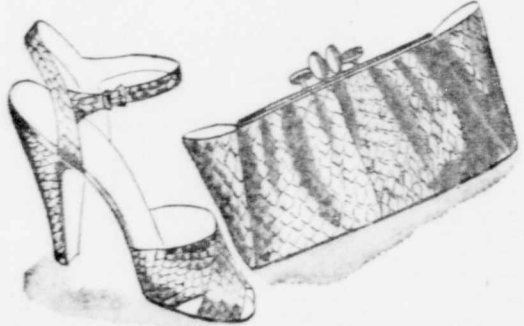

Plans will be under way soon for listing all T. C. U. students, in order that sugar-rationing cards can be issued.

Dean Colby D. Hall has received notice of this from Mark McGee of the Texas Rationing Administration.

"Plans are being worked on for the registering of dormitory students," says Dean Hall.

Macmillen Will Return To T. C. U. to Teach Violin

Francis Macmillen, distinguished violin virtuoso, will be on the campus from the middle of May through June to hold a master class, Prof. Claude Sammis reports.

He will teach the class, which will be the fifth held at T. C. U., after he completes his annual concert tour some time in May.

The lectures committee will present him in a recital, and he will judge the violin contest sponsored by the Texas Music Teachers' Association and play before the Association at its annual convention in Fort Worth in June.

Macmillen's career dates back to the time when he won the Grand Prix at the Brussels Royal Conservatory at the age of 16, together with the Van Hall prize of $5,000. This was

Business Banquet To Be April 18

The annual School of Business banquet will be held at 7 p. m., April 18, at the Hotel Texas. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 p. m. The admission is $1.75 per person.

The standing rule of no corsages for girls will be observed. Jarvis girls will be given late permission for the occasion.

The next meeting of the C. of C. will be at 11 a. m. Monday in Room 8, Administration Building.

A "dirt committee" will be appointed and a "roastmaster" elected to handle entertainment for the banquet, says Brents Wooten, C. of C. president.

BSU to Have Speaker At Meeting Monday

"Instead of featuring the Ridgecrest movies, there will be a speaker at the B. S. U. meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday in Britle Chapel," says Miss Mary Lou Jordan, president.

Following the meeting, plans will be made for the annual spring banquet, which will be held with T. W. C. in April.

HILLTOPICS

"Dead Week" will take over the campus next week. That's the time you're supposed to study, Froggies! Don't let the midnight oil burning too late, though.

Banquets have kept people on the Hill mighty busy for about a week now. One of the best after dinner speakers anywhere made the DANA PRESS CLUB banquet a huge success last Friday.

Two organizations have dined this week. ALPHA CHI held its banquet at Milam Cafeteria Monday night, while members of B. C. B. took over Colonial Cafeteria Wednesday night.

Keeping the Basketball Gymnasium lights aglow Saturday night were members of the CAMPUS CLUB and their friends from Uncle Sam's service.

Speaking of the service, MRS. HELEN MURPHY is sporting her new Motor Corps uniform.

Coming a long way to see the Western spirit in rodeos was CHARLES WIRTH, of Wilmington, Del., who visited MARY CHARLOTTE and ANNE FARIS.

One of the most unusual incidents happened on Chicago way Sunday. MIDSHIPMAN L. G. LACY, A. B. '41, who is at the Naval Officers' Training School there, was walking down a Chicago thoroughfare on his way home from church when who should pick him up but HARRIET and JANET OLSON, former students. Besides being a coincidence, all three enjoyed seeing each other.

Congratulations are certainly in order for ARTHUR NORRED after conquering his speech tournament opponents. Good luck in Kansas, ARTHUR!
