

Glee Club Will Sing 'Iolanthe'

"Iolanthe," a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, which will be presented at 8:30 p. m. tonight in the Auditorium, will bring to a close the current season of the Mixed Chorus. It is under the direction of Prof. William J. Marsh.

The cast for "Iolanthe" and the roles they will play are: "Fairytown," Miss Mona Moore; "Iolanthe," Miss Dorothy Forrester; "Phyllis," Miss Max Helen Pickens; "Celia," Miss Lateltya Bess; "Lola," Miss Nancy Dunham; "Clota," Miss Margaret Moran; "Flota," Miss Dorothy Nies; "Lord Chancellor," Bob Matheny; "Lord Taliver," Jimmy Tinkie; "Lord Mountararat," Clinton Henderson; "Earl of Chumleigh," Jack Gibson; "Strephon," Bob Blackwell; and "Private Wallis," Pat Hogan.

"Iolanthe" was written in 1882. It was completed only four days before its first production, due to the quarreling and laziness of the two men. This is the first presentation of the opera in Fort Worth.

Work Is Burlesque On British

Like many of the Gilbert and Sullivan works, "Iolanthe" is a burlesque upon established British institutions, Parliament in particular.

Iolanthe is an immortal, who realizes the mistake she has made in marrying a mortal, the lord chancellor. Because of the mistake, she runs away and lives at the bottom of a stream. Here she finds herself near her son, Strephon. Strephon reveals that he is in love with Phyllis, a ward of the lord chancellor, but matters are complicated when it is learned that the chancellor wishes Phyllis for himself. Iolanthe then goes to (Continued on Page 2)

Hibbard to Get Medal June 17

Saturday, June 17, is the date set for the formal presentation of the Air Medal to V-12er David E. Hibbard, Lt. George C. Decker reports.

The ceremony will be held on the campus at 11:30 a. m. that day, in connection with the weekly inspection of the unit. Details of the program are being arranged and will be announced next week. The public is invited to attend.

Backing Our Real Selves' Walker's Sermon Topic

"On Backing Our Real Selves" will be the subject of the Rev. Granville Walker's sermon Sunday morning at the University Christian Church.

Mrs. Q'Zella Oliver Jeffus will play "Melody" and "Etude in E," both by Chopin. The choir will sing "O How Amiable Are Thy Dwellings," by West.

Hal Siros will speak at Evening, and Mrs. E. F. Stearns, a member of the choir, will sing "In My Father's House," by Jewell.

Dean Colby Hall Attending Convention in Pittsburgh

Dean Colby D. Hall is attending a convention of the American Association of Theological Schools in Pittsburgh, Pa., this week. On his way back he will stop in McGehee, Ark., to speak at the Rohwer Recreation Center Sunday.

Box Supper to Feature Men, Dancing, Movie

"What am I bid for this box with the blue and gold ribbon tied on it? Bet this coed is angling for a Navy man." That's a sample of what you'll hear from Joe Leath and Stanley Hovatter Monday evening as they auction off the boxes at the Frog War Fund benefit box supper.

Every coed is asked to fix a box supper and bring it to the bandstand on the campus before 6:30 p. m., when the bidding will start. The girls are to put their names on the outside of the boxes. It's up to each individual whether or not she wants to decorate her box, but of course, that makes it more interesting. Cold drinks will be sold on the campus.

After the supper, there will be dancing to the nickelodeon on the tennis courts, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be 10 cents.

Sadlers to Give Tea for Seniors

President and Mrs. M. E. Sadler will honor June Seniors with a tea from 4:30 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon at their home, 2409 Medford Court East.

The house party will include the Sadlers, Deans and Mmes. Colby D. Hall, C. K. Holsapple, Jerome Moore, T. Smith McCorkle and R. A. Smith, Dean John Lord, Lieut. and Mrs. George C. Decker, President Emeritus E. M. Waits, Dr. and Mrs. Gayle Scott and Dean Elizabeth Shelburne.

President and Mrs. Sadler, President Waits, Mrs. Scott and Miss Shelburne will be in the receiving line.

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Smith will pour; Mmes. McCorkle, Moore and Decker will assist in the serving. Mrs. Holsapple will be at the door.

Miss Major to Attend Reception at Texas U.

Miss Mabel Major will spend the week-end in Austin, attending a reception honoring Dr. Reginald Griffith of the department of English at the University of Texas and commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Wrenn Library.

She will be the guest of Mrs. A. H. Neighbor and Mrs. Alma Bailey.

Kathryn Light, Girls' Trio to Sing on College Capers At Worth Sunday; D'Artega's Orchestra to Accompany

A trio composed of Misses Mona Moore, Max Helen Pickens and Dorothy Forrester, plus a soprano, Miss Kathryn Light, equals College Capers at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Worth Theater stage. Those unable to go to the theater can hear the program over WBAP.

The trio have in common the fact that they are all students of Prof. Arthur Faguy-Cote. Miss Light is a pupil of Prof. John Brigham.

The girls will be accompanied by the music of D'Artega and his all girl orchestra, which will be at the Worth Theater for a three-day engagement.

"Chinese Lullaby" will be sung couple or stag. All proceeds from both the sale of the boxes and the dance will go to the Frog War Fund.

At 9 o'clock all students have been invited by Lieut. George C. Decker to see a government film, "The Nazi Strike." It will be shown in the Auditorium, and all Navy men are required to attend.

Arrangements for the box supper are being made by the Frog War Fund committee, which includes Miss Bonnie Hall, chairman, Miss Betty Jo Gamble, Jack Vaughn and Jimmy Farrar. Miss Gamble is in charge of publicity, assisted by Misses Beth Tevis, Alice Loudon, Mary Lou Miller and Betty Davis and Lyle Jacks.

Arts Awards Will Be Given

Mrs. Bryson, Miss Major Will Present Nine Prizes Thursday

Creative Arts Day, Thursday, will be celebrated with a program in the Auditorium at 11 a. m., with Miss Mabel Major, acting head of the English department, presiding.

Singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" will open the program, followed by the T. C. U. Trio, Misses Mona Moore, Max Helen Pickens and Dorothy Forrester. Miss Betty Waldrop will accompany. Neill McFarland, V-12er, will read the prize-winning 1944 poem, along with selected poems published recently by former T. C. U. students.

Two New Prizes.

Presentation of awards for creative writing will then be made. Mrs. Artemisia Bryson will present the Walter E. Bryson poetry Prize of $10, which has been offered for 24 consecutive years. Miss Major will announce the winners of the four other awards: $10 for the best short story offered by Lieut. (jg) Rebecca W. Smith; a $10 drama prize, provided by William P. Baker; a new prize of $10 for the best piece of (Continued on Page 2)

13 Others Unopposed In Races—7 Positions Have No Petitioners

Kenneth Womack, V-12 man, Miss Mary Lou Slay and Miss June Dameron will be president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the student body for the summer-fall trimester, by virtue of being sole petitioners for these offices.

Only three class officers and Student Council representatives for whom petitions have been turned in will have to be voted on in Wednesday's election, since all other offices for which petitions were filed will be filled by virtue of no opposition. The races Wednesday will be between Misses Virginia Mason, Barbara Bundock and Ruth Taulbee and Jimmy Farrar for the two positions as senior councilmen-at-large, and between Bob Matheny and George Gartner for junior class president.

No petitions were filed for seven offices. These are: Treasurer of the student body; president of the senior class; president of the sophomore class; president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and council representative of the freshman class. Another deadline for petitions for these offices has been set at 10 a. m. Tuesday. They should be turned in to Miss Dameron.

There will be a meeting of all town students, for the purpose of electing a representative to the Student Council, immediately following the Creative Arts Day assembly Thursday in the Auditorium.

Election of senior councilmen, junior class president and other officers for whom petitions are filed Tuesday will be held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Wednesday in the main hall of the Administration Building.

Blood Bank Book Awaits Students For Appointments

A book in which students may sign up for appointments at the Blood Donor Center will be placed on the desk in the registrar's office, announces Student Body President Ed Cornelius.

Monday and Thursday afternoons will be T. C. U. days at the blood bank. Miss Mary Lou Slay is in charge of making appointments.

"We want every student to donate blood," says Cornelius. "We should fill our blood donor honor roll and start another one. T. C. U. must do its part."

Any student who has donated blood and whose name does not appear on the honor roll should see Miss Slay.

Work of Redecorating Girls' Lounge Begins

Work has been begun on the redecoration of the Girls' Lounge which is being sponsored by Ampersand.

The room is to be repainted, new furniture, blinds and light fixtures added, and the old furniture repaired and recovered.

Ampersand will hold a formal opening of the newly decorated lounge sometime at the beginning of the new trimester, Mrs. Gayle Scott, club sponsor, reports.

Matinee Dances to Stop, Says Kenneth Womack

Matinee dances have been discontinued for the remainder of the trimester, reports Dance Manager Kenneth Womack.

Ver Duin to Take Over New Duties

The Rev. Don J. Ver Duin, A. B. '41, is returning to T. C. U. Thursday as associate minister of the University Christian Church.

This will not be the first time he has worked with the Rev. Granville Walker. They worked together in the University Christian Church when the Rev. Perry Gresham was on leave of absence. Walker took part in Ver Duin's ordination at the church in May, 1941. They later spent two years together at Yale, where Ver Duin received his B. D. in religious education this spring.

The Rev. Mr. Ver Duin has been studying on a scholarship at Yale which was awarded him by the Yale Divinity School. He served for two years as minister of the First Congregational Church at Niantic, Conn. He was president of the Yale Campbell Club, an association of all disciples students at the Divinity School, and was also president of his senior class.

PICKED UP PASSING BY

Mrs. Bryson's Idea
Coed's Tragedy
"No Parking"

That map on the wall just outside Room 217 in the Ad Building is the culmination of a lot of effort on the part of Mrs. Artemisia Bryson. Mrs. Bryson, in case you didn't know, is an ardent map enthusiast. She has a collection of her own which is something to see. Many moons ago she got the idea of putting up a world map in the hall, so the classroom strategists would have a handy place to compare strategies. She was able to get a large world map through the history department, and last week the Rand McNally art found its place on the hall's walls. Not a bad idea, if you can judge from the number of students who crowd around. You'll hear a V-12er observe, "Now this is where I was stationed last." Then another: "We attacked the Japs from this point, then went over to here—"

Mrs. Angell's "American Literature" class had an old-fashioned sing-song the other morning. The program included such melodies (?) as "Jesse James," "Casey Jones," "Get Along, Little Dogie" and "Frankie and Johnnie." The students gave up long before they reached the end of the 29 verses of "Frankie and Johnnie."

Corinne Jordan was the unhappiest girl on the campus the other day, as she surveyed the wreck of her prewar alligator shoes. Corinne chose to wear these prize shoes on a rainy day, because she knew that a little water and mud wouldn't hurt the prewar leather. When she arrived home, she set her shoes on the front porch to dry. About that time, the family pup came along, decided that alligator would make a fine main course for a meal, and proceeded to eat everything but the soles. When last seen, Corinne was on her hands and knees in front of the dog, demanding that he surrender his No. 2 airplane stamp.

Yeoman Cam, WAVE of the U. S. S. Clark Hall, is really doing things for Pan-American relations. On her recent honeymoon in Mexico City, she became quite disgusted with herself because her husband could speak and understand Spanish and she couldn't. So Cam decided that next trip she will know what goes on. She is teaching herself Spanish, and every day she learns a new Spanish phrase or two. While riding the bus to the campus, she tries to converse in Spanish with students. The other day she tried it on a boy who sat down beside her, and he came back in a torrent of fluent Spanish. All Cam could do was just look at him and exclaim, "Oh, you're one too, eh!"

Art has found its way to the Cafeteria in the form of some lively and apt posters. They are strictly Navy, but you'll find one over on the civilian side. They all start off with, "Scuttlebutt Sam says—" This particular one shows a portly gub wearing an insignia in the form of a pig's head. Says Scuttlebutt Sam: "Don't let them hang it on you. It means Food Waster, first class!"

A "No Parking" sign has been appropriately placed on the steps by the door of Foster Hall. It's just a question of time until some bright and oh so original humorist changes the sign to read "No Sparking."

Just as he settled down to enjoy a picture show, Bryan Becker discovered he was 6 cents short of having bus fare back to the campus. After considerable thought (and squirming), Bryan mustered up all the nerve he could and with dignity explained his problem to the stranger sitting in the next seat. Somewhat taken by surprise, the stranger nevertheless unhesitatingly handed Bryan a dime and accepted the 4 cents change. Bryan settled back and enjoyed the show.

Hewatt to L. S. U. On Summer Staff

Dr. Willis G. Hewatt will teach and direct research during July and August at the Louisiana State University Marine Laboratory on Grand Isle, La. Grand Isle lies some 40 miles northwest of the delta of the Mississippi, just off the Louisiana mainland, in the Gulf of Mexico.

Dr. Hewatt's graduate work for his Ph. D. degree was done in the field of marine biology, and he has continued to direct and to perform research in this field during the past 10 years.

He has done research and taught at Woods Hole, Mass., marine laboratory of Harvard University; Hopkins Marine Laboratory, Pacific Grove, Calif.; at the laboratory of California Institute of Technology, Corona Del Mar; on Santa Cruz Island, off the California Coast at Santa Barbara; and on the Texas Gulf Coast at Port Aransas and Galveston.

His work this summer will be in the field of fisheries biological research.

"The project has to do with investigation relating to the further development of fisheries as a part of the wartime food resources of the nation," Dr. Hewatt explains. "Particular attention will be given to oysters and shrimp."

class, Miss Joleen Hamrahan; junior councilmen-at-large, Misses Joan Gardner and Mary Ford; vice-president of the sophomore class, Miss Betty Stark; secretary-treasurer, Miss Peggy Glover; and councilmen-at-large, Misses Phala Davis and Roxie Hart. Donald Payne will serve as graduate representative on the Council.

Representatives from Foster Hall, U. S. S. Clark Hall, Goode Hall and town students must be elected by these groups by June 19.

The petition for treasurer of the student body shall bear 35 signatures, for class officers, 20 signatures of members of their respective classes. For other qualifications, petitioners may consult any member of the Council.

All students will vote for student body treasurer and senior councilmen-at-large in Wednesday's election. Class officers will be elected by their respective classes.

A Night at the Opera — Salute to a Supermaid

The musical scores of Gilbert and Sullivan will once more echo through the Auditorium tonight in the first Fort Worth presentation of "Iolanthe."

Last year that same Auditorium was filled with those who listened, saw "Patience," another Gilbert and Sullivan production made into a T. C. U. production. No poll was taken as to who enjoyed it, but they smiled and melodies were being hummed by those who had spent a pleasant evening.

Soloists, the orchestra, the chorus will perform in "Iolanthe" tonight. Prof. William J. Marsh has worked hard to get it together. Tonight is opera night on the campus. It would be "a lovely way to spend an evening."

She's swell!
Who is? The girl who's majoring in physical education. And she's doing a fine job, both in the wartime world and in everyday living.

She teaches P. T. classes, giving other coeds exercises to slim down that waistline or strengthen muscles. She takes and teaches first aid and life saving.

She fights juvenile delinquency by helping to carry out planned recreational programs. Supervising physical training of cadet nurses is another of her jobs.

A full list of classes takes up more of her time. She studies anatomy and teaches methods and recreational administration.

The men she meets are apt to be a bit startled, even a bit frightened, when they learn that she's a physical education major. She's healthy and happy and hard-working. She's a supermaid.

Yep, she's swell!

In the Service

Ensign John Carlson, ex '43, visited on the campus recently. Ensign Carlson is stationed at the Navy Base on Lake Pontchartrain, New Orleans, La.

Recent report made by Dutch Meyer to the National Football Coaches Association in New York comes true, look for the Southwest race to be the closest in conference.

who was called upon last to discuss and comment on football was played in the year in '43 and the probable tactics for '44, pointed out a loop would remain on a the other great conference around the nation, and the all teams would compare with the other football of the nation.

40 coaches from all over States, with the exception of the Pacific Coast, gathered a big two-day meet. The subject discussed related rules which many departments have changed. This was a meeting of the organization its annual meetings continued in 1941.

two changes definitely denoted are the intentional out-of-bounds and the pass from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage. A "men's agreement" was on the kick-off play, for the past few seasons have taken some of the life out of the game.

er does not particularly like the rule that allows the to pass from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, but put it:

of the coaches wanted to it. I voted yes, because do as well as the next under the rule if it is by the committee."

ring the outlook of the time this fall, Meyer says: "Of course, we all realize that won't reach the peak it normal times, but all of the look for closer competition than in 1943. It is interesting to note that few schools drop out of football this year. Of course, there will be a drop there will be more competition than there will be drop."

to back up Meyer's statement a report from the Western Conference that the league plans to resume this year. Meanwhile, from West Texas State College, Canyon, also reports intercollegiate competition fall.

cerning his own team's Meyer is happy these over the Frogs' prospects. Mens informal drills, with players donning shorts and all shoes, July 10, and will this practice session July he begins his regular fall with full regalia Aug.

ers were sent this past to 16 or 17 of the probable all candidates entering in July. Meyer expects of these to report when at trimester begins. McQuillan to Continue Spring Cage Drills

Horned Frogs Are Booked In Madison Square Garden During Christmas Holidays

Basketball Coach Hub McQuillan announced today that he has definitely changed his plans about cutting the spring drills to two weeks and will continue instructing his inexperienced charges one hour daily probably until the end of the present trimester.

McQuillan has around 18 boys out between 4:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. daily in the Basketball Gymnasium, and is still seeking other candidates who might think it too late to come out.

Fundamentals are being stressed throughout the work-out periods, and Coach Hub is really intent on developing a bunch of inexperienced boys into a championship crew. This week's drills brought special emphasis on passing and dribbling, and plenty of shooting.

Word just received from New York announces that it is definite that the Frogs will appear in Madison Square Garden. A reply from Garden President Ned Irish says that the Frogs have been put on the Christmas holiday card, to appear against one of the better eastern teams.

Also, another game is scheduled either the preceding or following night in Buffalo, at the huge auditorium there. Two other games will be played, either going or returning. Another proposition has come from Valparaiso University of Indiana to play the Valparaiso five also on the tour.

Jackets, Cougars Still in Lead—Softball Ends Next Week With 4 Games

The two top teams of second round intramural play came through unmarked in Wednesday's games. The Dewey Bluejackets smothered the Goode Hall Frogs, 19 to 1, and the Halsey Cougars shut out the Nimitz Seadogs, 8 to 0.

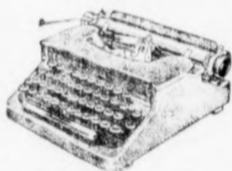

In the other league game, the King Hellecats eked out a close 10-to-9 victory over the Farragut Crows.

The last week of intramural softball games will see the Cougars take on the Goode Hall Frogs, the Crows battle the Bluejackets and the Hellecats meet the Seadogs.

The Bluejackets and the Cougars yet have to play a postponed game, and this game will more than likely decide the second-round champion.

V-12ers Make Blood Donations

Thirty-one per cent of the V-12 unit have given blood to the Red Cross Blood Donor Center since May 1, according to Lt. Comdr. Jesse Ross.

The V-12ers make their donations between classes and, on one occasion a load of sailors was taken to the blood center in the large Navy truck, affectionately called by the men, "the cattle truck."

Vernon L. Barsecht has filled up four pints of the "life-giving plasma." His record is the best in the unit, but there are several who have made more than one trip.

Sittin' Up With Invasion Makes Students Sleepy

"D Day" found the campus in a turmoil. Sleepy students and profs, who'd been up all night with their radios, wandered aimlessly into class—most of them, like JOHNIE RUTH BOWERS, with newspapers under their arms.

The girls in Foster didn't sleep a wink. "I had just been asleep a little while," says MARGE O'CONNOR, "when someone screamed 'Invasion!' and the dorm came to life." The girls with radios were the popular ones.

For the rest of the day students studied little, stood around and talked much. JACK GIPSON, CURLY BROYLES and MAXINE BENDER were among the groups trying to "dope it out." JEAN DUCKWORTH, like many coeds, began wondering about friends who were stationed in England.

EUGENE JAMES has been sitting up nights with his notebooks, but he isn't kicking, because if he hadn't been up Monday night he wouldn't have heard the news flash.

Orders for the V-12ers are beginning to sift in. JACK WILLIAMS will be transferred to N. T. A. C. next trimester—which doesn't help FRANCES ALEXANDER's morale any. BILLY BURNETTE, BILLY SHIELDS, JOEL PAINTER, DONALD HANSEN and MARION FORD will wind up at Louisiana Tech.

PAULINE JONES has as her guest this week, her sister ROSALYN, who is an ex.

Ring-on-a-chain which we overlooked is worn by BETTY HANNIFIN. It belongs to MIDSHIPMAN FRANKLIN ADKINS.

MARY JANE COLE is trying to recover from a cold she caught—on top of her hay fever—on a geology field trip last week-end. FLA LEWIS, ELAINE SHIFFLETT, HAROLD SCARLETT and MALCOLM WILSON are suffering from chigger bites from the same jaunt.

SHIRLEY HILL and BETTE BROWN are inseparable chums—or had you noticed? They've been together since early school days and plan to finish school together.

WAITMAN MARTIN is the owner of those beautiful cars that can always be seen parked by the side of the Library, our spies tell us. The same spies say that Waitman has a car for every day. Tell us more!

Over in the Library the other day, ELIDA MACEO got a little weary of catching up on her play-reading. So she just took time out for a 30-minute snooze right there. Oh, well, it's cool and comfortable—and so quiet.

Being Nosey:

BOB WOOLDRIDGE is joining the ranks of the "women haters" since his break-up with ROSEMARY STUCKEY. . . . ROGER LARIMER and JUNE DAMERON have called things off—and they're just playing the field right now. . . . SUE ROGERS is nursing a broken heart since STAN, the lieutenant at F. W. A. A. F., shipped out. . . . BILL SMITH and JACKIE STEPHENS are a new twosome. . . . And BETTY JACKSON and BILL FRY struck their lucky 13th date Monday night.

Another spy tells us that NEILL McFARLAND lost his overnight bag between Dallas and Fort Worth last week—seems that, as a result, he's running short on underwear these days.

Miss Sears Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Faye Sears was honored recently at a bridal shower given by Misses Betty Lou Beak and Phyllis Tombaugh.

Misses Bonna McKee and Betty Phillips sang "I Love You Truly" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Misses Peggy Glover and Jo Bowden were in charge of the music. Games were played throughout the evening.

Nine to Participate In Poetry Recital

Nine members of the Poetry Club will participate in a recital at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in Brite Chapel.

Those who will read their poems are: Misses Gloria Sheinberg, Caroline McGown, Doris Mahon, Linda Rheimers, Dorothy Nies, Avis Hadden and Roberta Pipes; Ray Greene and W. E. May.

"All students are invited to attend," says Miss Mahon, president of the club.

3 Language Clubs To Hold Picnic

The three foreign language clubs on the campus, Phi Sigma Iota, Los Hidalgos and Les Grenouilles, will have a joint picnic Thursday afternoon.

The groups will meet at the Arch at 5 p. m. and go to Forest Park. Miss Frances Alexander is in charge of food, Miss Laura Kirk, of entertainment, and Miss Lois Aucoin, of the telephone committee.

WSA to Hold Picnic, Swim in Park

A picnic and swimming party will be held at Forest Park by members of the W. S. A. Saturday, June 17. Food and swimming will be free.

Those girls wishing to go should sign up by Wednesday and meet at the Arch at 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, reports Miss Alice Lou Linton, president.

Alpha Psi Initiation, Picnic to Be Held

Alpha Psi Omega will initiate new members at 7 p. m. Monday at the home of Miss Ann Barham, 2928 Forest Park Boulevard.

After the initiation, the members of the Dramatic Club and Alpha Psi Omega will have a joint picnic, at which the Dramatic Club will elect new officers.

Brushes Club Plans Picnic, Swim

A wiener roast and swimming party will be held Wednesday afternoon by members of the Brushes Club. The group will meet at the Arch at 5:30 p. m.
