

Treasury Amendment Up for Vote April 18

Students will vote on an amendment to the student body constitution Wednesday, April 18. The amendment will pertain to the distribution of money left in class treasuries from one trimester to the next.

The problem was brought before the Student Council when the juniors divided what money they had left at the end of the trimester and gave half of it to the sophomore class, which they had just left, and carried the other half on to the senior class with them. They felt this was only fair since part of the members of the sophomore class of the previous trimester were still sophomores and part of them have advanced to juniors.

Other classes, in not knowing what to do in their cases, felt that a definite and specific rule should be set up by the Council regulating this action. The executive committees of the various classes met together and drew up rules governing the money distribution. The Council approved these plans and added others. Council members then decided that since it affected the entire student body and should be made a constitutional amendment, that the students should vote on it.

Three plans will be presented on the election ballot for the students to make their choice. The first plan is that all the money in a class treasury shall remain in the name of that class and will not move on with any members of the class, that is, if the sophomore class has $50 in its treasury, at the end of the trimester it will remain in the name of the sophomore class and new students moving into that class will get the money.

The second plan will be that the money shall move on from year to year with each class. In which case the money would be entered at the Business Office under the title of the class as it will graduate, such as the "Class of February, 1946."

The third plan would call for the splitting up of the class treasury at the end of each trimester and half of it would go with the students who are going to the next class and half remain with those students who are staying in the same class. This would mean, the investigating committee reported, that all the students would get to keep a share of the money they helped earn in their class.

It will be up to the students to determine what action will be taken in all such future cases when they vote on the amendment. There has been no law regulating this in the past since it has never come up before.

"Danger of Living" Is Walker's Easter Sermon

"Imminent Danger of Living" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Granville Walker at the two Easter Sunday services at the University Christian Church. The first service will begin at 9:30 a. m. and T. C. U. students are asked to attend at this time so that visitors may be accommodated at the 10:50 a. m. service. There will be no college Sunday school class.

The offertory hymn will be "Awake, Thou Wintry Earth," by Bach. The organ prelude will be "Resurrection," by Nias-Berger, and the choir will sing "Hallelujah," by Handel.

The T. C. U. Dramatic Club will present "The Everlasting Dream" for combined Evensong and Meliorist Club meeting at 7:15 p. m.

Cancellation Threatens Gough Oratorical Contest

Cancellation threatened the 31st annual Gough Oratorical Contest this week with the withdrawal of three candidates. This year's contest has been scheduled for May 18, one week after the second annual Girls' Reading Festival.

"We need three more contestants," says Prof. Lew D. Fallis, director of the event. "It would hardly be worthwhile to hold the contest with only three participating."

Founded by Dr. Roy Gough, the speech contest offers a first prize of a $50 War Bond, with a second prize of a $25 War Bond, and a third prize of $10 in War Stamps. Time limit on the speeches is 10 minutes.

Camp Show Try Outs Scheduled for Today

Try-outs for a "honky tonk" camp show, to be under the direction of Misses Ana Barham and Hattie Stanley, will be held at noon today in the Auditorium. The show will make a round of Texas camps starting April 14 at Camp Hood hospital and McCloskey General Hospital at Temple. This presentation is a continuation of the "cowtown cabaret" which was presented at Texas camps in the past month.

Lab Technicians Go Various Paths After Graduation

Of the six T. C. U. girls to graduate from medical technology school at Harris Memorial Methodist Hospital in February, two have decided in favor of matrimony while the other four are busily pursuing careers.

Misses Beth Schiele of Chicago and Mary Ann Massey are the marriage-minded two. Miss Schiele will be married to Ensign Upton Giles on May 6. Miss Massey and Cortel Holsapple Jr. will be married tomorrow.

Misses Dana Hudson and Betty Switzer are employed in the pathology laboratory of the San Antonio Medical Clinic.

Also entering a pathology laboratory is Miss Wanda McCulloh. Miss McCulloh is working for a clinic in Dallas.

Miss Frances Armstrong is the only one of the six to remain in Fort Worth. She is doing medical technology work at Harris Memorial Methodist Hospital.

Dr. McCorkle to Visit 2 Universities in Iowa

Dr. T. Smith McCorkle will leave Monday for the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Ia., and Drake University in Des Moines, Ia., where he will inspect the art and dramatic buildings on the campuses.

While gone, he will stop in Kansas City, Mo., to interview some prospective additions to the staff of the School of Fine Arts, and will be in Wichita, Kan., on April 6 and 7 to participate as a consultant for the Southwest Education Conference.

Dean Moore to Speak To Optimist Club Today

Dean Jerome Moore will speak to the Optimist Club at noon today at the Worth Hotel. A trio from the School of Fine Arts, composed of Misses Max Helen Pickens, Dorothy Forrester and Mona Moore, will sing. The trio will be accompanied by Miss Roberta Waltermire.

Cowboy Professor--

Dr. Newton Gaines Is Known For Two Phases of Sound

If Dr. Newton Gaines is on the Japanese black list, it's probably because he ignored a request from a Jap Navy officer who wanted further information on audible sound waves. The letter came in 1930, shortly after Dr. Gaines had opened a new field of scientific research with his audible sound wave experimentation. The note went unanswered because the bespeckled professor suspected death-ray research.

Though he has harnessed sound waves to purify milk and burn bottle corks, the slow talking, slight-statured and grey-haired teacher owes half of his fame to another phase of sound. Considered an authority on cowboy ballads, the good doctor has strummed his guitar and warbled these folk songs before the R. C. A.-Victor recording mike.

Currently, Dr. Gaines is more or less restricted to his teaching load, which doubled at the installation of a Navy V-12 unit at T. C. U. However, he manages to maintain his local reputation as the professor who occasionally decks out in his cowboy garb to become the guest lecturer and songster before some civic organization. Perhaps the most misleading of his recording titles is "For Work I'm Too Lazy."

Thus, the cowboy-professor has reached two fames within his 45 years. Yet, Gaines still registers surprise and wonderment when he picks up a foreign text and finds mention of the "Gaines' circuit." He has just about gotten used to

Spring Formal Set for April 20

Dance Manager Jim Jones decided that Gene Krupa would be "a little too much competition" next Friday night, when the drummer and his orchestra are in town, so the Spring Formal has been postponed until April 20.

Plans are being made for a floor show, along with an orchestra, long dresses, corsages and all the trimmings, to make it a gala occasion, Jim says.

'Claudia,' 'A Doll's House' Nominated for Production

Dramatic presentations for the coming season were outlined this week by Mrs. Katherine Norton and Prof. Lew D. Fallis. Considered for a June production are three well known plays which were received by Mrs. Norton earlier in the week. "Seven Sisters," "Claudia" and "Vickie" are the candidates for this production.

Isben's "A Doll's House," and scenes from Shakespeare are tentatively scheduled for production later in the year by Prof. Fallis' advanced acting class. The group was considering "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," but a manpower shortage deemed the production too uncertain.

Ziegler Family Is Theme Of Coming Art Exhibit

"My Family" will be the theme of an art exhibit by Prof. S. P. Ziegler to be shown in the Little Gallery and the two big galleries from Monday, April 2, until Saturday, May 5.

The show will include some 30 portraits of Prof. Ziegler and his family.

"Some of the paintings are of recent date, and some are of the period after the establishment of our first home in Philadelphia," says Prof. Ziegler. "Each member of the family is painted, showing how he grew up."

The more informal portraits will be hung in the Little Gallery. The larger, more formal ones will be in the two big galleries.

Choral Club to Begin 'Joan of Arc' Rehearsals

Rehearsals for the Choral Club's presentation of Gaul's "Joan of Arc" will begin this afternoon, according to Prof. W. J. Marsh.

It is a historical cantata and replaces Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" as the chorus' spring production. The leading roles have not yet been assigned.

Dr. M. E. Sadler and Dean Colby D. Hall will attend the national meeting of the board of Christian higher education, Disciples of Christ, in Indianapolis on Monday.

Brite Classes Dismissed For Easter Preparations

Brite College of the Bible dismissed classes March 26 in order to make preparations for Easter. Classes will resume April 2, reports Dean Colby D. Hall.

The Mikado Volcano

Page 1 of last week's Skiff carried a news story that informed T. C. U. students that the Choral Club's spring production of "The Mikado" had been canceled in favor of the "Joan of Arc" cantata.

Reason for the switch, according to Miss Dorothy Nies, club president, was the receipt of several protesting letters. These letters allegedly objected to the Japanese element of "The Mikado."

Students of the finer arts considered the protests as glorious monuments to weak reasoning. The basis of the yarn is the ribbing of British diplomacy. The scene is laid in Japan only incidentally and accidentally.

However, the general public is aware of the fact that T. C. U. has sent more than 1000 men to the armed forces. Along with this common knowledge is that unfamiliarity which says that "The Mikado" has a Japanese setting. In spite of the fact that "The Mikado" is as English as fish and chips, this prevailing misconception would conceivably, in some cases, render its production out of order. Department heads are charged with keeping the school in a favorable limelight.

Prayer at Eastertime

Praise to the Lord, for He hath risen. Eastertime. Time of prayer and thanksgiving. Time of joyfulness, mingled with sadness. Time for spiritual guidance and peace on earth. Time for reconstruction.

Easter, 1945. Time of warring nations. Time of great changes in the world. And, because of this, Easter with a prayer of faith and assurance in the future.

Easter, 1945 on a college campus. Time for gayety, new clothes, exciting times. For that is the way of college campuses. But also time for seriousness. The campus, too, pauses to say a prayer of thanksgiving and hope for the future.

Hope for the future—prayer of America at Eastertime.

Increase in Blonds
Vida and the Centipede
Call It USS Goode

"Blondie" no longer applies exclusively to Dagwood Bumstead's wife, since the peroxide bottle has become the newest fad on the campus. Among the latest to join the ranks of blonds are Jim Cooper, Frances Williams, and an unidentified male whose locks are now an unidentified color. Hattie Stanley has a half-way blonde pompadour as the result of a bet, and odds are that a certain canine visitor on the campus is the victim of the same bottle. Dearl Richardson is the beauty operator for Cooper, and, with peroxide bottle in hand, he says, "I never waste a drop!"

Miss Vida Bevil and an unidentified centipede upset Dr. Porterfield's "Marriage and the Family" class recently—Vida with her screams and the centipede just with his presence. Dr. Porterfield evicted the unwelcome guest, observing, "I could not admit the centipede because his white card had not been okayed by the business office." And so the poor centipede will never know the proper way to rear his family of little centipedes.

Way back on the morning of the T. C. U.-S. M. U. football game—Dec. 2, 1944—Jim Davis and company were sitting in a booth in a drug store across the street from S. M. U. They were singing the Alma Mater Hymn, so as not to be mistaken for Mustangs, when a girl from the wrong side of the tracks walked past them and observed, "Aren't you all ostentatious!" Jim paid no particular attention, but the other day he happened to run across the word "ostentatious" in the dictionary. The definition read: "Pretentious; unnecessary show or display." Now remarks Jim: "You, know; I think that gal in Dallas was trying to be insulting!"

There were all sorts of answers—some pro, some con. One sophomore defended her ideas with the written comment: "Ask silly questions, get silly answers!"

Misses Dorothy Forrester and Max Helen Pickens—the singing roommates—have just given voice recitals and also have made several guest appearances at various points. On each occasion, the flowers poured in. Now their Foster Hall room resembles a florist shop. Dorothy thinks maybe they might open a flower shop on the side, but Max Helen just makes the grateful comment: "Thank goodness, neither of us has hay fever!"

A non-smoking friend of Ed Gorum received a letter in which a rather mashed-up cigaret was inclosed. The pal remembered Ed and threw him the letter unread. Ed casually dropped the gift in with his other cigarets and settled down to an hour's study—with smokes. At the end of the hour Ed's buddy burst into the room and broke into excited gibberish. It seems that the letter disclosed that the cigaret had been taken from a Japanese corpse. Palefaced, Ed rummaged through his collection until the unsmoked (fortunately) souvenir was accounted for.

Residents of Goode Hall were somewhat startled the other day to see a Navy man going through their hall with a clip board, pencil in hand. Later investigation disclosed that the visitor from the U. S. S. Clark was checking Goode's six fire extinguishers. This step was necessitated by the presence of chaplain trainees Charles Malotte and Coleman Raley, Goode residents from away back.

Profiles

LOUISE RUMELY

If you see a lady with blonde hair and a very busy air about her, running around the halls picking up cold drink bottles, chances are it's Miss Louise Rumely, manager of the Book Store.

Better known as "Miss Lou," she came to Texas from Indiana to be a counselor in a Camp Fire Girls' camp. There's an old saying that if you wear out a pair of shoes in Texas, you will always come back, and Miss Lou says she wore out a pair of shoes that first summer. She liked Texas so well she came back to stay.

Miss Rumely will celebrate her first anniversary at T. C. U. April 10. She worked in the Business Office when she first came here. And she became manager of the Book Store in September.

Miss Lou says she likes people who like people—now you figure it out. Her favorite pastime is camping out.

Her favorite pests, as far as the Book Store is concerned, are those people who insist on having more than one of the things that are limited, like candy and cookies. Another pet peeve is the person who carries off cold drink bottles, and thus starts Miss Lou on her daily round of collection.

T. C. U. is glad Miss Lou liked Texas enough to stay, because she has the friendly spirit of a true Horned Frog.

Onal may not play any ball after all. An old knee injury forced him out of the lineup the last minute and Meyer switched Bob Busch from backstop. Bob, by the way, is doing a bang-up job on his new assignment. Onal's knee injury just will not stand up to the punishment that comes from a catcher's antics.

Arroyo, back from the field after two years of service with the Rice Owl's No. 1 pitcher. He has pitched some semi-ball, is a right-hander and is to be "tireless." That he will probably work the game of the Owl's double against S. M. U. today when he is ready to go at least part of the route against the Mustangs tomorrow.

Willard, Owl catcher, is considered as fine major league material. He is a Houston boy and a lot of class back of the plate. Campbell, big left-handed pitcher, covers the centerfield for the Owl and is the power hitter, Bill King is a seasoned infielder reported to be handling the base assignment in grand style. In fact, the Owl infield is considered to be one of the best in the Southwest. Murphy, at short, has a good arm and goes to either side. Jake Jones covers third and he too is reported to have a good arm.

"T" business on the gridiron seems to be something that is hard to let alone — habit like tea. From the word going around, the Frogs are the only team among the Southwest Conference who next fall that will be out some form of "T" offense. But none of this for Meyer. "The more I study the bank-back stuff we're all using, the more possibilities I see in it," he comments. "I never get sufficient manpower to make it work as it is. Somebody's going to be used!"

conference baseball entry among the Frogs — reports diamond matters will go along "if the pitching comes out." Good hurlers appear to be more than prewar tires, or tires, or—supply your own opinion!

to be different, Coach Meyer thinks the Frogs will come through "if they just get over their nervousness. I never saw them as jittery as the boys against the Eagle Mountain Marine nine!" Meyer reports. "They were so anxious they made costly miscues and failed to use their heads to best advantage. I believe, though, they will settle down and we'll get our share of the conference title."

Meyer is high on this season, Leon Joslin. "I'm not ready for high-powered competition yet, but I will show a lot of promise," Meyer comments. "He ought to be a lot next fall. In fact, the boys report that we are going to be able to take care of ourselves, at least, in the conference football race."

LaGrave Field to Be Site of Frog-Owl Tilt At 3 P. M. Tomorrow

Texas Christian's Horned Frog baseball nine, defunct from Southwest Conference competition for three seasons, returns to the diamond wars against Rice's Owls at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon at La Grave Field.

Coach Dutch Meyer will send his ace twirler, Hubert ("Lefty") Walters against the best from the Houston contingent. Standing by will be Earl Conrad, Ralph Ownsby and Claude Scott.

The Owls are favored along with Texas and Texas A. & M. to cop the 1945 title. T. C. U. and S. M. U. complete this season's conference competitors.

After only two practice tilts, with the Eagle Mountain Marines and the Fort Worth Army Air Field Fliers, Meyer is confident that his club of youngsters will fare well in the current race.

J. C. Onal, veteran backstop, will probably start behind the plate but Joe Bush, regular shortstop, is capable of filling in for Onal should the 220-pounder not be able to go the route.

Charles Dreschel will open at first; Hubert Poyner at the keystone sack; Bush or Ray Robbins at short, and Ransom Jackson at third base. Infielders Don King, Tim Dunn and "Pappy" Gaines will also see action.

Patrolling the Frogs' outfield from left to right will be Adrian Conlin, Monroe Harrelson and James Jones. Dave Hibbard and Bob Crow can fill in at any of the outfield posts also.

The sharp batting eyes of Harrelson and Bush have been noticeable in all the Frogs' pre-season games. Dreschel, a 17-year-old freshman from Paschal, will also bear watching by opposing moundsmen.

The Owls and Mustangs open the conference season this afternoon in Dallas. Little information is available about either of the clubs.

However, Texas, who smashed over Southwestern, 20 to 5, last week and A. & M., another victor over the strong Pirates, have produced the best showings of the young season.

All T. C. U. home conference games will be played at La Grave Field.

Pfc. James McKillip, ex '43, is a gunnery instructor at Laredo Army Air Field.

Softball Games Start Monday

First intramural softball game of this season will take place at 4:30 p. m. Monday on the diamond behind the Gymnasium, according to Prof. Tom Prouse, intramural director. The team of Joe Horton will play the ten of Don Ver Duin, who is piloting the lone civilian team of the league.

Other teams of the league are those headed by V-12ers Bob Bosanko, Eddie Simpson, R. E. Smith and Bill Conklin.

"Other teams may still enter the race," says Prouse.

Winners of the tournament will receive silver baseball charms.

Tennis Players Sought For Conference Matches

There is a call out for all men tennis players with any match experience to see Dr. Fred West.

Four singles players and two doubles teams are needed for several dual meets being arranged. Matches with S. M. U. are scheduled for April 21 in Fort Worth, while dates for Dallas matches are being arranged.

The Southwest Conference tennis meet will be held at S. M. U., May 10, 11 and 12, Dr. West says.

T. C. U. Exes Contribute To Missionary Paper

T. C. U. exes represented almost one-fourth of the chaplains reported on in a recent issue of the Brotherhood and Service News, published by the United Christian Missionary Society. Letters were printed from 31 chaplains overseas and seven of them were from T. C. U. The seven men were Capt. Frank G. Elliott, Capt. Alvin Houser, Lt. Frank Seafield, Capt. Bedford Smith, Navy Chaplain Richard Clayborne, Capt. George Farmer and Navy Chaplain Bill Wright.

25 Hopefuls Terminate Spring Training Today

Twenty-five footballers—prospective gridiron stars of the 1945 season—wind up their spring practice drills this afternoon and mark time until summer informal drills later this year.

Coaches Dutch Meyer and Abe Martin were well pleased with the showing of the entire squad after the month's work on fundamentals and skull practice.

Catching the eyes of both coaches and bystanders alike was likeable Leon Joslin of Waxahachie, a 17-year old punting and passing ace.

Standing out among the ends was James Jones, a 185-pounder with plenty of experience in both high school and college. He hails from Poly High and Hardin-Simmons.

J. C. Onal looms as a cinch for one of the starting tackle posts. Henry Rose, 190-pounder, will probably take over where he left off last fall.

James Cooper looks set for another great year at center. The Colorado City lad keeps improving practice by practice.

Jesse Mason didn't take part in the spring drills because of a shoulder operation but physicians say the Dallas ace will be ready for the rough work ahead during the summer. A between-semester operation on the Sheriff's shoulder had produced satisfactory results.

Fred Crow is another lad to bear watching in the Frogs' backfield. Crow and Merle Gibson, the Frogs' 1944 starting end who is now working between trimesters in Kansas, played together at Independence Junior College.

Norman Cox, all-conference full-back for the 1944 season, is also working in his home town and will return for the summer drills.

Bob Buschman, letterman-end from Dallas, has also shown up well in practice. Shirley Anderson, a 1943 letterman at guard, should also see considerable action next fall.

A communion service was conducted at Brite Chapel Wednesday. This was the third in a series of three pre-Easter programs.

Harry Mullins Completes Hitch in Record Time

A 14-day veteran! That's Harry Mullins who has just returned to the campus after serving a 14-day hitch in the Merchant Marines.

Harry, rejected from the army because of a head concussion, was finally taken in the Maritime Service after several futile attempts.

Saturday, March 11, Mullins left from Dallas for boot training at Avalon, Catalina Island, Calif., to join four 1944 football teammates already stationed there.

Awaiting his arrival were former buddies Bob Ruff, John Cooke, Dub Garren and Lee Gallagher.

Things went fine for several days—that is everything except the weather. "Rain and mud all the time" was the only comment available from Harry.

Then Harry's dizzy spells began to recur and soon the camp physicians decided the Merchant Marines was no place for Harry.

So with three pairs of shoes, four fatigue uniforms and all the trimmings Harry bid the fair state of California goodbye and came home.

And Harry wasted no time in showing his true feelings toward T. C. U. Arriving late Sunday he was off to school the next day, was welcomed back by Coach Dutch Meyer and Tuesday began his first classes.

Mullins points with pride in his "two-bit" hair cut — Merchant Marine style—which he acquired in his short "visit" to the land of the sunshine.

At T. C. U. Harry will be another prayer answered by Meyer in completing his lineup for the defense of the conference title in 1945.

Mrs. Ruth Speer Angell showed colored slides to the "Literature of the Southwest" and "American Literature" classes Tuesday. The slides included pictures of the Southwest, New England and New York.

Facts, Figures, Dates Plague History Majors

"With this petition sheet, I take thee, History, to be my lawful recorded major—to live, honor and pass until death or graduation us do part."

This is the creed of the history students. And these are their professors—DR. W. J. HAMMOND, PROF. RALPH GARRETT, MRS. MIRTH SHERER and PROF. C. A. BURCH.

And to get down to facts, figures and dates (the kind on calendars), DEARL RICHARDSON is the boy to bring the polished apples to, gals. He's been an assistant in the history office for two years. After graduation in June, he plans to get his A. M. and B. D. degrees here. Politics is one of Dearl's side-interests, and he was a delegate to the 1944 state Democratic convention in Dallas, strictly pro-Roosevelt.

BETTY CAVENDER is another history major, and, "What with the war and the manpower shortage," says Betty, "I may even become a history teacher." (Which should be taken with a grain of salt according to the boys "in the know.")

A girl with a legitimate longing to be a teacher is ELLEN O'BRIEN, to which future she's majoring in education and minoring in history. Says Ellen, "I like history because I can concentrate on the past."

MARY FRANCES MILLER has visions of returning someday to North Side High and teaching students the famous deeds of their ancestors. (And then Uncle Jake was run out of Tennessee for horse-stealing—).

Ranch Week Queen of 1944, THERYLENE KNOX is a history major and a Spanish minor. She spent last summer studying at the University of Mexico.

RALPH WEATHERALL isn't confining his history studies to reading textbooks. He's interested in debating, dramatics and oratory, and has been chosen director of debate at Frogland.

Add history majors who get around: ex-paratrooper JIMMY HAYES, who has a career behind him as well as a future career. Jimmy began preaching at the age of 12.

And students who are busy learning the why and wherefore of the world via the history text (and test) include BILL SMITH, JOHN THOMPSON, JOHNIE RUTH BOWEN and NOVELLA WILSON.

Senior BILLIE SHIELDS plans to turn her history major to welfare work upon graduation.

Belonging to the "I'm-not-sure-what-I-want-to-be" school of thought is Senior JANE MOORE, who is an English major and a history minor. "I'll know who did what in 1492, though, in case I'm ever on a quiz program," says Jane.

JEAN FROST sums up the situation by saying, "I like people and people are in history, and besides it's all so romantic!" However, Jean does object to dates, (the kind that always come up on semester quizzes, that is).

24 Dormitory Girls Start Nurses' Aid Training

Answering the urgent plea from the government for more trained hospital workers, 24 girls from Foster and Jarvis Halls meet each Monday and Thursday for a three hour lecture course on nurses' aid work.

Attending the four weeks' course at the Civil Health Center, the girls, headed by "Lizzie" Davis, will continue their training at Harris Memorial Hospital, and at the end of 80 hours' work will receive certificates as full-fledged nurses' aides. They will then be assigned work in some hospital which is short-handed and there continue their work.

"It's still not too late to join the class," says Lizzie, "and remember, the hospitals need helpers."

Dr. William Flemming, professor of musicology at Claremont College in California, will be the guest of Dr. T. Smith McCorkle Saturday.

Dean E. W. Doty, dean of the School of Fine Arts at the University of Texas, was Dr. McCorkle's guest here last Friday.
