A Crusade for a Christian will be brought to the campus next week by the Rev.
E. McCaw of Indianapolis, national director of student work for the Disciples of Christ.
He will arrive Thursday as a guest of the Meliorist Club.
Mr. McCaw will be guest of honor at a "dessert party" at 7
p. m. Thursday in the University
Christian Church, announces Miss McCauley, senior from Jonesboro, Ark., program chairman for the Meliorist Club.
"Anyone on the campus is welcome to come to this party and hear Mr. McCaw," Miss McCauley said.
He will also speak at a meeting of the Meliorist executive committee at 3:30 p. m. Thursday in the Central Cafeteria.
In his work for the crusade,
Mr. McCaw is giving his time to the enlarging of college student work programs. He is also active in interdenominational phases of student work.
Mr. McCaw was graduated from Baylor University, Des Moines, Iowa, and from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago.
There he has also served as director of the Inter-Church Council.
He has also done student work at Southern Illinois Normal Univer-

'First Lady' Presentation Will Establish Two Firsts

Two "firsts" will be recorded in the history of drama at T. C. U. with presentation of the three-act comedy, "First Lady," at 8 p. m. Nov. 9 through 12 in the Auditorium.

For the first time, students with activity books will be admitted free to a major campus production. They need only to present activity books at the box office either during the week preceding the play or before curtain time at any performance.

The book will either be stamped or a ticket removed, and the student will receive a free ticket for any one of the four nights he requests. Some 500 of the Auditorium's 750 seats will be reserved for students at each performance. Students' wives, who have activity books, also will be admitted free. Price for other persons is 75 cents.

The free offer to students will be good at all plays sponsored this year by the School of Fine Arts.

This year also marks the first time that students from departments other than speech-drama are taking part on a large scale in theatrical activities. Five departments are represented by the 22 students playing parts in "The First Lady."

Those from departments outside speech-drama are Misses Betty Thornton, Mansfield senior, psychology; Ann Malone, Fort Worth freshman, psychology; Mary Hudson, Fort Worth freshman, journalism; Lella Garrett, Fort Worth freshman, sociology; and Arlene Lisman, Fort Worth freshman, English.

Speech-drama majors in the cast are Misses Clea Rogers, sophomore from Troy, Gloria Myers, junior, Nancy Thompson, sophomore, Pat Perkins, junior, and Virginia Swank, junior, all of Fort Worth; and Leta Eubanks, Dallas junior.

The cast includes one student without a major, Robert Dickinson, Fort Worth freshman.

Young Elected Student President; New Officers Announce Meetings

All Four Classes Will Assemble

Pierson, Schmidt, Davis, Criner Summon Groups

Already on the job, newly elected class presidents have called meetings of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes for next week. Plans for elections of secondary officers and discussions of programs for the year's activities will be main business at the first meetings.

The sophomores will hold the first class meeting of the year at 1 p. m. Monday in the Amphitheater, President Don Davis, McKinney, has announced.

The freshman class will meet at 4 p. m. Monday in the Amphitheater, President Betty Claire Criner, Fort Worth, has asked that all lower-class representatives meet with the freshmen.

The senior class will meet at 1 p. m. Tuesday, Don Pierson, Fort Worth, president, has announced. Nomination of secondary officers will be the main business, but elections of these officers will not be held for at least another meeting.

When the junior class holds its first meeting at 1 p. m. Thursday in the Amphitheater, President Gene Schmidt, Evansville, Ind., plans to set up a committee for Homecoming events.

CLASS PRESIDENTS—Just elected are caught by the Skiff photographer shortly before they begin the year's activities as head of the various classes. From top to bottom and senior to freshman class they are respectively: Don Pierson, Gene Schmidt, Don Davis and Betty Criner.

1202 Ballots Set Election Record

Nine Officers Determined In Congressional Run-off

A record-breaking 1202 ballots were counted in Tuesday's run-off election when Bob Young, Greenfield, Ind., senior defeated Wayne ("Bud") Roberts, Lamona senior, for the presidency of the Student Association.

The race was close with Young polling 623 votes to Roberts' 579.

Dee Kelly, Bonham junior, won the vice-presidential race from Gene Abshire, Paris senior.

Don Pierson, Fort Worth, was elected senior class president. Don Davis, McKinney, and Miss Betty Claire Criner, Fort Worth, were elected to head the sophomore and freshman classes respectively.

Senior class representative chosen was John Enochs, Tyler, Larry Denton, Bonham, led a field of three to become junior class representative.

Joe Hodgkins, Fort Worth junior, was chosen to serve as upper-class representative at large.

Officers Installed Wednesday

Young, Kelly, the 17 Student Association Congress members including 10 elected Oct. 13, and the five Association Court judges were installed in their new offices Wednesday night.

Votes were cast as follows for:

President of the Student Association, Wayne Roberts, 579; Bob Young, 623.

Vice-president of the Student Association, Gene Abshire, 507; Dee Kelly, 693.

Class Votes Listed

Senior class representative, John Enochs, 138; Bob Snodgrass, Fort Worth, 125.

Junior class representative, Larry Denton, 116; Miss Jan Riddle, Tucson, Ariz., 89; and Dick Richtmyer, Fort Worth, 90.

Upperclass representative at large, Joe Hodgkins, 335; June R. Welch, Fort Worth junior, 221.

Lowerclass representative at large, Joe Shosid, 352; and Mike Smith, Bonham sophomore, 237.

Carnival to Square Dance Planned

'Biggest Homecoming Ever' To Have Anniversary Spirit

A Homecoming week-end filled with everything from a carnival to a square dance is being planned for Nov. 12 and 13 by a student committee in conjunction with the T. C. U. Alumni Association, Gene Schmidt, Evansville, Ind., junior and chairman of the Homecoming committee, announced.

Exes, Visitors To Be Welcomed

Tentative plans made this week include six events by which T. C. U. students will welcome exes and visitors from the University of Texas. These are: A Homecoming Revue and bonfire on Friday night; a downtown parade on Saturday morning; and a carnival and two dances on Saturday night.

"All of these events are for both students and exes," says Schmidt, who was appointed Homecoming chairman at last week's meeting of the Student Congress. He adds: "The committee is trying to plan enough activities to make students want to stay on the campus Saturday, so that they may join with the exes in celebrating this 75th Anniversary Homecoming."

Definite plans for a Homecoming Revue are being made, and a bonfire and pep rally will be held afterward if the administration gives its permission.

A string band will play at Saturday night's square dance, which will be held on the tennis courts, and a dance band will play in the Gymnasium at the same time.

Under Hypnosis, Student Claims Frogs Will Win

The Frogs will win 26 to 7 tomorrow night—at least that was the prediction made by Lee T. Feemster, Fort Worth junior, while hypnotized. He foretold the score for more than 200 students Monday in the Amphitheater during the Psychology Club exhibition.

Feemster sang, was intoxicated by water and made love—all in a hypnotic trance. A post-hypnotic suggestion that one leg was shorter than the other was effective until hypnotist James Rateliff, Dallas senior, snapped "Attention" and woke him.

25 to 30 Fliers To Go to Denver

Between 25 and 30 members of the Flying Frog Club will attend the Denver University Inter-Collegiate Air Meet to be held next Friday and Saturday in Denver.

A practice air meet will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the T. C. U. Airport for members of the club who are going to the meet.

Members making the trip for the inter-collegiate meet will leave at 7 a. m. Friday from Hensley Field through the courtesy of the Naval Reserve Air Training Command. The group will arrive back at the base Sunday afternoon Oct. 30.

William Padon, Fort Worth senior, was re-elected president of the Flying Frogs at a meeting held Wednesday night. Other officers elected were Eddie Waggoner, Fort Worth junior, vice president and Joe Pearce, Terrell junior, secretary-treasurer.

Nominations for Annual Favorites Open

From Noon Today, Till Noon Wednesday

Nominations for campus favorites, who will be honored at the annual Horned Frog Presentation Ball and given a page apiece in the annual, will be taken starting at noon today at the Student Congress office in the basement of the Administration Building.

The Horned Frog, student annual, will sponsor the election and the Presentation Ball, to be held Dec. 3 at the Casino.

Anyone may be nominated and there will be no limit to the number of nominations accepted from each class. However, according to rules announced by the Horned Frog, each student can nominate only persons from his own class and must include his own name and classification on the nomination slip.

All names must be dropped in the special box placed on the front desk in the Congress office.

Deadline for nominations will be noon Wednesday.

Nominees Must Furnish Photos

Favorite nominees, whose names will be announced in the Skiff next Friday, will be required to take a photograph or snapshot of themselves not larger than 8 by 10 inches to the Horned Frog office in the balcony of the Auditorium.

First Election Nov. 9

First election will be held Nov. 9, when the number in the contest will be narrowed to 10 from each class.

The favorite election, which reaches its climax with the Presentation Ball, is one of the big student activities of the year. The contest, representing the students' choice of campus favorites, has been sponsored by the Horned Frog for several years.

Plans for the Presentation Ball, are still tentative and will be announced at a later date.

24 From Business School To Attend Austin Session

Twenty-two School of Business students and two faculty members plan to attend the 1948 Texas Personnel Conference, to be held Nov. 4 and 5 at the University of Texas. All students and faculty members, especially those in personnel or management, have been invited.

This conference of businessmen, teachers and students of the Southwest will be divided into four sections—industry, business, government and education.

Dean Ellis M. Sowell and Dr. Hilton D. Shepherd, of the School of Business, are the faculty members who plan to attend.

Leader to Bring Crusade to TCU

A Crusade for a Christian will be brought to the campus next week by the Rev. E. McCaw of Indianapolis, national director of student work for the Disciples of Christ. He will arrive Thursday as a guest of the Meliorist Club.

Mr. McCaw will be guest of honor at a "dessert party" at 7 p. m. Thursday in the University Christian Church, announces Miss McCauley, senior from Jonesboro, Ark., program chairman for the Meliorist Club.

"Anyone on the campus is welcome to come to this party and hear Mr. McCaw," Miss McCauley said.

He will also speak at a meeting of the Meliorist executive committee at 3:30 p. m. Thursday in the Central Cafeteria.

In his work for the crusade, Mr. McCaw is giving his time to the enlarging of college student work programs. He is also active in interdenominational phases of student work.

Mr. McCaw was graduated from Baylor University, Des Moines, Iowa, and from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. There he has also served as director of the Inter-Church Council. He has also done student work at Southern Illinois Normal University, Carbondale, Ill.

Campus Radio Station Will Go on Air Nov. 1; KTCU to Broadcast 15½ Hours Per Week

T. C. U.'s own radio station, KTCU, is scheduled to go on the air at 12 noon Nov. 1. F. R. Folks, radio instructor and station manager, said today. He added, however, that the opening date is set tentatively.

Next to the last step in preparation for the station's debut was made a week ago yesterday when a radio committee appointed by President M. E. Sadler called a special meeting to work out a six-day week broadcasting schedule.

Operation tests to be conducted tomorrow and Sunday by John Hosemann, Fort Worth senior physics major who built the transmitter, will be the final preparation step.

KTCU will broadcast campus programs 15 and a half hours a week, according to a schedule set by the committee.

Students Offered Architect's Role In Landscaping

"Students are the best landscape architects T. C. U. has," M. A. Doss, superintendent of grounds, said this week.

In their role of 'architects,' students can make or break campus beautification plans," Doss stated, "since grass cannot grow if it is continually walked upon."

Emphasizing the importance of staying off the grass, Doss urged students to heed the "Please Use Walks" signs, especially since the new sidewalks are completed. "Now a student never has to walk more than a few steps out of his way to reach a sidewalk pointing in the direction he wishes to go," he said.

New Congress Goes to Work

Houston Trip Is Official; Railroad Fare to Be $7.02

Getting to work Wednesday evening the first Student Congress cleared up business left to them by the summer Council and started organization work by naming committees.

First on the agenda was official approval of the Rice Institute game as the student body trip on Nov. 20. The bid from Southern Pacific Lines to furnish the special train was accepted.

Southern Pacific will run the train to Houston and back with the roundtrip tickets at $7.02 if at least 150 persons go. The trip will take six hours.

Miss Mopsy Morrison, head cheer leader from Midland, was named as chairman of the Rice trip committee. Joe Shosid, Fort Worth sophomore, and Don Davis, McKinney sophomore, were named to the committee.

The payment of $510 in debts was authorized. $150 for debts contracted by the 1947-48 Council and paid by the business office. The money, however, must come from this year's Congressional budget.

Final payment of $60 for the cheer leaders' uniforms was approved. The summer Council had paid $135 on the uniforms.

Dance Planned For Thursday

New Student Association To Sponsor Casino Event

A Halloween masquerade dance will be held at the Casino from 8:30 p. m. to 12 midnight Thursday. Bob Matthews, acting dance manager, Fort Worth senior, announced today. This will be the first all-student activity sponsored by the newly-elected Student Association Congress.

"Fancy costumes aren't required," Matthews stated. He is aiding the Congress until a new dance manager is named. Applications for this position may be turned in at noon Wednesday.

Students wishing to become dance manager should make their application in writing and take or mail it to the Student Congress office.

Duties of the dance manager include supervising all Student Association social affairs. He is paid by the Congress.

The Congress will elect the dance manager on Nov. 1 from those applying for the position. Until then Bob Matthews, Fort Worth senior, will serve as acting dance manager by appointment of the Congress.

Applications Being Taken For Dance Manager's Job

Applications will be taken for student dance manager from today until midnight next Friday, the Student Congress decided at its Wednesday night session.

Students wishing to become dance manager should make their application in writing and take or mail it to the Student Congress office.

Duties of the dance manager include supervising all Student Association social affairs. He is paid by the Congress.

The Congress will elect the dance manager on Nov. 1 from those applying for the position. Until then Bob Matthews, Fort Worth senior, will serve as acting dance manager by appointment of the Congress.

English Faculty Will Send 5 to Language Meetings

Five, possibly six, members of the department of English will represent the University on Oct. 29 and 30 at meetings of the South-Central Modern Language Association, which is to be held in Oklahoma City and Norman, Okla.

Those planning to attend are: Dr. Troy C. Crenshaw, head of the department, Dr. L. M. Cecil, assistant professor, Miss Dorothy Michael, instructor, and Estus C. Polk and Karl E. Snyder, assistant professors.

Miss Mabel Major, professor of English, had been scheduled to speak, but will not participate due to the illness of her mother. However, she may attend.

"This fifth annual meeting is held for the purpose of scholarly discussion on subjects related to the modern language, English, Spanish, German and French," Dr. Crenshaw stated.

The University of Oklahoma will be host school for the meeting.

Bookstore Head Elopes; Leaves Freckles Home

Monday morning the Bookstore was without a manager—except for Freckles, the cocker spaniel.

Freckles' mistress, Miss Louise Rumley, La Porte, Ind., R. A. '47, manager of the Bookstore since 1944, eloped.

She and Lloyd Whitley, Keller, B. S. '43, who was graduated with distinction with a degree in commerce, were married Monday in St. Mary's Rectory.

The couple did not include Freckles in their plans to live in Midland where Whitley is employed. Freckles, who was a frequent visitor to the campus when Miss Rumley was here, still visits the Bookstore.

Aggie-Frog Relations Apparently Restored to Peace

Aggie-Frog relations of the past week-end indicated that the all-out effort to restore peace between the two Southwest Conference schools was a great success.

"The hospitality was great" was the opinion of students, members of the Student Association, the Horned Frog Band and the yell leaders who made the trip to Aggieland.

Aggie-Frog Relations Apparently Restored to Peace

The seating arrangement has never been better, according to Band Director Leon Breeden. A special section of Kyle Field stands was roped off and marked especially for the T. C. U. musicians.

The dance was fine was the report given by students who remained after the game for the school dance. Students who attended the A. & M. Campus rodeo also ap-

Welcome Oklahoma's Watchword as Band, Other Groups Plan for Tomorrow

"Welcome Oklahoma" is the watchword as the Horned Frog band and various other T. C. U. groups continue to make plans for tomorrow's visitors from Norman of the T. C. U.-Oklahoma football game.

The Horned Frog Band, which will share the game's half-time ceremonies with the Oklahoma band, will present its 1948-49 sweetheart during the intermission.

Colors of both schools will be displayed in the hall and a welcome banner will be flown from the second floor.

T. C. U. journalism students will give a party for members of the Oklahoma University journalism department in the Worth Hotel at 3 p. m. Saturday.

The Horned Frog Band will serve the visiting band coffee and donuts after the game at the stadium.

Presentation of the Band sweetheart, Miss Patsy Tapp, Sulphur Springs sophomore, will follow the Oklahoma band's half-time program. Band Director Leon Breeden will present Miss Tapp with a bouquet and Drum Major F. R. ("Woody") Woodard will show the traditional admiration for the new sweetheart.

As the T. C. U. Band takes the field for the half-time ceremonies, they will form two lines extending out into the field from the north goal line. Woodard will throw his baton over the goal post, move the Band into marching formation, and direct them to the center of the field where they will go into the outline of a treble clef. In front of the Band will be a brass ensemble. The stadium lights will go off and blue lights will be turned on by each of the Band members. Then the ensemble will play "Serenade in Blue" while Woodard twirls two fire batons.

The Band will go into a heart formation for the presentation of the sweetheart.

Making her first appearance with the T. C. U. majorettes will be Miss Joan Phillips, Marshall sophomore, who has replaced Miss Nancy Wendt of Alice. Miss Wendt has withdrawn from school to be married.

Both bands will take the field before the game for the playing of our national anthem. Playing will be under the direction of Leonard H. Haug, Oklahoma band director.

'T' Men to Meet Today

The "T" Association will hold its first meeting of the year at noon today in Goode Hall, announces George Brown, acting president.

CHARLES LAUNUS, HORNED FROG EDITOR
T. C. U. has come a long way since that humble beginning at Thorp Spring seventy five years ago. It has gained national and international recognition in several fields. Today it has the largest enrollment in its history, an outstanding faculty, a campus in the process of becoming one of the most beautiful anywhere, a nationally discussed football team, and an enviable reputation among other colleges and universities.

SAM HALL, Fort Worth senior, attended seven colleges and universities prior to entering T. C. U. . . . JOHN SAUNDERS, Bonham sophomore, scored his high school team's only touchdown during the 1946 season. . . . NEWT HARMON, Mineral Wells sophomore, was almost lucky. He was once contacted by Ralph Edwards of "Truth or Consequences" and told to stand by his telephone in case the first place contestant failed to identify Mrs. Hush. . . . MISS MARY KATHRYN ROBERTS, junior from Wichita Falls, has an Angora sweater, the wool of which is still growing. She'll swear to it. . . . CHARLES BROCK, Fort Worth junior, once "blew in and out" of Avon Park, Fla. A hurricane was in progress when he arrived in September, 1944, and when he left in September, 1945. . . . How he did it is difficult to understand but DWIGHT DAVIDSON, Shreveport junior, entered the Navy as a seaman in 1943 and came out a Lieutenant Commander. Perhaps it was his first name. . . . JEAN McHUGH, New Orleans freshman, was once the Maid of a Mardi Gras ball. . . . BETTY CHARLES HAMMACK, Fort Worth senior, third place winner in a Folger's coffee contest, doesn't even drink coffee. . . . RANDY ROGERS, New London senior, was one of four students in a room to escape alive in the New London School blast. . . . AND MISS JOYCE BYNUM'S nose has certainly been through the mill. She's broken it three times. . . . The HORNED FROGS are the only football team to ever beat the Aggies in an opening game on Kyle Field in College Station. . . . JAMES HELINGHAUSEN, Breckenridge senior, claims that every person in the United States bearing his last name is a relative of his. . . . MISS JERRY PORTWOOD, Fort Worth sophomore, has recently returned from New York where she participated in the Madison Square Garden World Championship Rodeo. It marked the second time the T. C. U. cow-girl had ridden in the Garden show. . . . MRS. DOROTHY GROUNDS, Fort Worth junior, finds the cool weather to her liking. She attended the University of Alaska in Fairbanks for two years.

The main course may be only spaghetti and meat balls, but any day in the week T. C. U. boarding students get one of the best bargains in town at the University Cafeteria. A look at a few figures reveals that Mrs. Helen Orbeck, head dietitian, and her staff do a good job of preparing three wholesome, well-balanced meals a day consisting of the best food the budget will allow. Approximately 550 boarding students at $10 a week plus about $700 weekly cash makes an income of approximately $6200 weekly, or $25,000 a month. Out of this sum comes employ salaries amounting to $5600 and a food bill which ranges from $18,000 to $24,000 a month. Obviously, this leaves little or no profit for the Cafeteria. Profit is forsaken in order to give students the best possible three squares a day. No, the chow in the Cafeteria can't compare with Mom's tasty cooking, but you can't beat it any place in town for $1.43 a day. T. C. U. T. C. U. students have a chance this year to achieve a distinctive recognition by winning an award which will be given the school in the Southwest Conference showing the greatest sportsmanship and fair play this season. The award was originated last year by The Battalion, A. & M. student newspaper, and was won by S. M. U. This year, as a result of a sportsmanship meeting held at College Station last week, the honor will be bestowed by vote of the conference schools along with conference officials and school athletic directors. At the week-end meeting, a code of rules was drawn up for judging the conduct of the teams and student bodies. Student groups will be rated according to friendliness and consideration for opposing teams. If each T. C. U. student will abide by these rules, the school might become the second recipient of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Award when the presentation is made this spring.

Friends Again

Peace—it's wonderful. That is the general consensus of the hundreds of T. C. U. supporters who visited College Station Saturday.

No trace was in evidence of the old bitterness of several previous years. To the contrary, the visiting Frogs were overwhelmed by a spontaneous display of friendship by their Aggie hosts. With dances, a rodeo, an information service and other facilities, the Cadets missed no opportunities to make their guests feel that they were really welcome.

Even on the gridiron, fine sportsmanship was exhibited by both teams. Despite the game's heated rivalry, the number of fouls was low. One of the most admirable gestures of the day occurred after the final gun ended the exciting contest with the Frogs leading 27 to 14. The triumphant Meyermen were borne from the field, not by enthusiastic Purple followers, but on the shoulders of A. & M. cadets.

In return for their warm reception and luncheon as guests of the Aggie Band, the Horned Frog Band is already planning a cordial welcome for the Cadet Corps Band at T. C. U. next year.

Monday's edition of The Battalion, Aggie land's student newspaper, editorially viewed Saturday's game as a gain as well as a loss. A few excerpts from The Batt's editorial indicate the new Ag attitude: ". . . All over the campus, before and after the game, supporters of the two teams were friendly and helpful as befits men and women of college age. Everywhere there was the appearance of working sportsmanship, for which we are gratified. We lost a tough one on the playing field, but in the stands, we won an even tougher one. . . . we were able to lose graciously."

In view of all this sincere courtesy and good sportsmanship shown by both schools, it looks as if the Frogs and Ags are in for a long period of peace.

It's great to welcome the Cadets as our friends again.

Bookworms . . . On Their Honor

Bookworms, the student variety, apparently are not to be trusted. At least very few are allowed to browse among the Library's books.

It is easy to see why valuable first editions should be kept under lock and key. It is somewhat harder to understand why books placed in the Library for student use should be guarded so carefully.

Closed stacks hinder students in search of specific facts—facts which are usually found only after many books have been checked out. Library books would sit idle far less if the stacks were opened to students. Seeing books on related subjects together on shelves is much more helpful than the tedious "search, order and wait" card catalog system.

One of the biggest arguments against student use of library stacks is that books would be returned to the wrong places on the shelves, therefore necessitating a larger staff.

However, why not permit students to go through the stacks and leave used books in a bin for reshelving? This would permit orderly shelves to be maintained without an increase in student assistants. Many college libraries and even the Fort Worth Public Library use this system successfully.

Of course, with the limited facilities available in the Library now, open stacks are hardly feasible. However, when it is enlarged and improved next year as a part of the building program, why not plan for an open stack system?

Teachers encourage outside reading, but the present system discourages it. Put the campus bookworms on their honor, and they will find a great deal of meaty literature to whet their appetites.

Bachelors Beware!

Men on the campus who entertain marital ambitions should consider some evidence brought to light recently. Historians have found that the tried and untrue axiom, "two can live as cheaply as one," is not only economically false but is of such doubtful origin as to discredit it entirely.

The originator of this saying was the venerable Chinese smoe, Hu Ging. Ging was a rich man, and had an inexhaustible supply of sake, the oriental beverage for men of distinction. For these reasons he had many friends, one of whom was the great Confucius. One night while consuming some of Ging's choice sake, Confucius made a profound statement, and Ging countered with one of his own, which he thought pretty good. For hours the two philosophized, until Ging, mentally bankrupt, said, "two can live as cheaply as one."

The remark would have died there but for a cooie of Ging's who happened to hear it. He had thought about marriage, but Ging was paying him only $1.33 a month, and he didn't quite see how he could afford it. Hearing this solution to his problem, he was galvanized into action, and without further hesitation, surrendered his freedom. Soon he discovered the fallacy of this philosophy, but rather than admit his mistake, he passed the axiom on whenever he had the chance; and so it has come down to our own time.

Bachelors should beware, therefore, for the exponents of Ging are still with us. This is because marriage is still in vogue. Bitter, hardened, saddened and married students still pass the word on to carefree, independent, happy and single ones in an effort to make their ranks grow.

It still loves company.

A philosopher once said, "Religion is an opiate of the people." But did he have in mind that opiates are often needed to prevent pain and many times are used to save a life?

There are many things which are of mentionable significance in the development of any university but which receive little credit in that respect. One of these things is the school annual.

One of the farthest reaching and most lasting influences a school has is its yearbook. Copies of our Horned Frog may be found on the bookshelves in homes throughout the width and breadth of the nation. They are not cast aside and forgotten as are newspapers and bulletins but are kept and cherished.

For the person who has carefully preserved his annual, it is something warm and living, a link with the past. It is a treasure chest of beautiful memories of youthful pleasures and warm friendships, of heartaches and toil. It is a part of him and its value to him increases with the swift passing of time.

Being a part of one's annual does not assume a great deal of importance while today is still here, but tomorrow memories will grow dim. Old familiar faces will become less familiar and time will have erased many of the little innumerable memories that can brighten the darker days that most of us will encounter some time in our lives.

Only then can any of us realize the true value of having near at hand some little remembrance of college years so that we may relive the happy years spent here. But if some face is missing from the pages of the annual, those memories will not be complete.

Twenty or thirty years from now it will not be easy to recall the name or face of a roommate or date you had here, and it may be important then. Your face will be sorely missed in someone's annual some day if you are left out now.

It is easy for each of us to have a part in the making of our yearbook. Of course, only a few can have a hand in the actual production of the Horned Frog, but every student can play a most important role by having his picture made for publication in it. For that's what an annual is, a book filled with faces, and if one face is missing the book is incomplete.

In addition to the personal value your annual picture will have for you and your friends in the years to come, having your picture made can be of much value to you now.

The photographer who makes these pictures keeps a permanent file of all the photographs he makes and will be able to furnish a picture of you on very short notice. So in the event you should need a picture of yourself at any time for job applications or such, it will be very easy for you to obtain one quickly from that source.

The school's publicity department would like for you to have your picture in this file, too, because it is to it they turn whenever they need a student's picture for publication purposes.

We of the Horned Frog staff realize that it is difficult for many students to find time for the trip to town to have pictures made. We regret that an increase in prices made it impractical for us to have the photographer come to the campus as we had hoped to do, but we felt certain we could rely upon the student body to disregard the inconveniences involved as students in the past have done.

We are grateful for the generous cooperation we have received thus far from the faithful few. If you haven't yet been to the photographer's for your picture won't you go soon? You'll be helping your friends, the Horned Frog staff, the university, and some day, I'm sure you'll see how much you've helped yourself.

Library Receives Books By Eisenhower, Edison

"The Diary and Sundry Observations of Thomas Alva Edison" by Thomas A. Edison and "Eisenhower Speaks" by Dwight D. Eisenhower are among the 26 new books received by the Library last week. Other topics include American and continental history, sociology, religion and public speaking. New books are received by the Library every other week. A complete list of these books can be found on the Library bulletin board. Another list gives the 10 outstanding magazine articles of the month.

Letters to the Editor—

Veterans Reply to Spirit Criticism

Dear Editor: In answer to "R. K.'s" letter in last week's SKIFF, please allow me to speak a few words in behalf of our allegedly disloyal and unspirited veterans. I am an Air Force vet of four years service and I believe I speak from the veteran's viewpoint.

Veterans' ages vary widely, but the youngest vet is usually several years older than the average freshman, and many vets are older than the average senior. This alone would tend to make vets less enthusiastic in school activities.

But there is another more important consideration; the experiences and interests of vets. The average freshman just out of high school comes to college for an education (perhaps), but he is also quite young. His interests and ideas have generally not solidified and he likes the noisy exhibitions of school spirit. Vets, on the other hand, when their ideas and philosophies of life were taking shape, were thrown among older men and were taught the art of mass murder. It was a youth-robbing and maturing experience.

In the natural course of events many vets have married, usually before entering school. Many now have families. They have to go to school, then go to work, then go home and try to study with junior yelling his head off. They have to meet next month's bills and turn in that paper on American Government. They worry about a place to live; the wife needs a new dress and the baby has to have new shoes. So it goes. Alongside their problems, school spirit becomes a frivolous thing.

Define your terms, R. K. You ask why vets do not act like students. Most professors I have talked with say vets are very good students. You imply that we have no spirit. You should have said our enthusiasm for pep rallies has been dampened by time and circumstance. Loyalty to what, R. K.? It takes unwavering loyalty to face the Hell of war without throwing in the towel. I am not offering excuses for the actions of our vets; they need no excuses. And before you condemn the veteran, remember this: He is not thinking of next week's ball game, he is generally thinking of next year's survival problems.

Another Comment

R. K.'s letter in last week's Skiff sounded like the rantings of a high school adolescent who was all choked up on her bubble gum. It was filled with cry-baby emotion, without any substantiating facts whatever.

For your information, R. K., the veterans at T. C. U. DO ACT LIKE STUDENTS, primarily because they ARE students. . . . darn good ones, too. Just because they don't work themselves into a Hitlerian hysteria ever time the "Fearleaders" think the Frogs need a little noise doesn't mean they are lacking in school spirit. In fact, the opposite is true.

Anyway, the Dutchman's "last quarter" boys can take care of themselves any day. Your frenzied yelling, which is strictly synthetic, just gives them a headache. Me too.

When there is reason for a yell, and that happens quite often, the vets will yell automatically—from the heart.

Friendliness Questioned

Mr. Editor: Where is the friendliness that TCU is famous for all over the nation? Where are the friendly "hello's" that are exchanged on the way to class? Where is the student body spirit that keeps the school going? These are questions I have been asking myself for the past five weeks, and I know others have been, too. Ever since I got here and began speaking to people, I've

Educators Lead 172 Graduates

Education majors dominate the Graduate School this fall, according to a recent report by Dean John Lord. Of the 172 students enrolled in the Graduate School, 108 are majoring in education.

Other majors in the school include: 16 in English, 10 in music, nine in psychology, five in sociology, four in speech, three each in history, government, geology and chemistry, two each in business administration and art, and one each in physics, biology and medical technology.

"The present enrollment of the Graduate School represents an increase of 60 students since the 1947 fall semester," said Dean Lord.

Picked-Up Passing By

Tomorrow will be brighter: A freshman, complaining of the noise going on at the new Fine Arts Building, was moved to remark that "they're trying to build a place for better education, but they are knocking my average down with every nail they drive." . . . And then one home economics major wrote home and told her mama that the campus was being covered with "rye." Her mama has requested an explanation. . . . But Dr. Paul Dinkins' classic remark about the condition of the Auditorium doesn't need any explaining: "One good thing about the Auditorium is its adaptability for Shakespeare's plays. It looks about like the Globe Theatre did in the 16th century!"

Charles Launus and Bob Mapes were arguing with the food server in the cafeteria over what pieces of chicken they should get last Sunday. After much discussion over wings and backs, the server coyly replied: "No need to argue. We have instructions to give you only one 'eatable' piece anyway!"

The progs and the students: Dr. George Fowler of the religion department was explaining Confucius' philosophy of the relationship of man and wife. When he remarked that the Chinese philosopher felt that the man should be righteous and the wife should be listening, a meek male voice queried, "Are you sure you don't have that reversed, sir?" . . . The same line of thought must have been in Bill Morton's head when Dr. H. R. Mundhenke asked him what was the compelling force that makes him get out of bed every morning. Bill's answer was "my old lady." . . . But all of the classes don't spend all their time discussing women. Prof. B. Crouch of the education department occasionally talks about snakes. In a recent lecture, he remarked that snakes can't breathe in the water. "We know that," quipped a student, "but do snakes know it?"

According to Freshman Patricia Smart, the distinction between an optimist and a pessimist is quite simple. "The optimist says 'good morning!' and the pessimist says 'good God morning!'" . . . And of course there were not any optimists left in J. B. Jones' geology lab yesterday when he announced that "the test coming up next week will separate the men from the boys."

Coach L. R. ("Dutch") Meyer was so pleased with the Horned Frog victory over the Aggies Saturday that he turned himself into their table waiter at the celebration dinner that night.

Sooners Have Run Up Victories Over Texas, A. & M., K. State

Tricky Jack Mitchell And Crew Confuse Opponents With Pitch-Outs, Laterals, And Slick Ball Handling

Probably the biggest difference between the Horned Frog club and the national champion eleven of 10 years ago is that the '38 club could march just about any time it wanted.

The Frogs now can't move until they have to.

Consider the Kansas, Oklahoma, A. & M., Indiana and Texas A. & M. games. In all of them T. C. U. was behind, it was a door-or-die situation and they came through.

The Frogs won from the Sooners last year—and the two teams have regularly alternated at victory since their series began in 1944, Oklahoma winning the opener, T. C. U. the second, Oklahoma the third, and T. C. U. the fourth last year.

Tradition will favor the Sooners in another manner in this week's game on the Frogs' field, as neither team has been able to beat the other on its home grounds in the series. First two games were played on a neutral field at Oklahoma City, the 1946 game in Fort Worth, and 1947's tilt in Norman.

While the series is tied at two and two, T. C. U. does have a slight advantage in total points, leading Oklahoma 64 to 62. There has never been a shutout in the series, and the Frogs have scored at least two touchdowns in every game between the two, but have held the Sooners to one in each of their victories.

Pete Stout appears to be approaching the form that earned him all-conference selection last season. He may be even more dangerous now, since he is being utilized as a passer more often than previously. That guy can have a football clear out of Tarrant County. And now that he has that deadly stiff arm arched up, he will be a demon to apply the brakes to!

Credit Soph Frank Struska with one of the toughest line backings of the game last week. The few little sweeps that managed to get by the Purple wings were put to an early halt by lightning-fast tackles by the lad from Taylor.

Coach Harry Stiteler doesn't seem to be too perturbed about this year's squad, but he makes no bones about prepping for the future. It is reported that he spends about as much time tutoring his promising frosh as he does with his varsity. And he really has a potent looking crew of newcomers down at Aggie land this fall.

Stiteler has a one year contract only, so it's possible the wolves will start howling before he has a real chance. Don Engelking, assistant sports ed on the Battalion remarked during half-time dedication ceremonies for the coach that Homer Norton was gone four games after his name was spelled out on the field. It is doubtful the same fate will befall Stiteler, however.

The Christians' offense has perked up this year, but the defense hasn't lived up to pre-season expectations. Last year Texas Christian allowed 1852 yards for a 10-game average of 185.2. They ranked 13th in the nation in that category. This season, in only one-half the games, they have allowed 1245 yards—an average of 249 per tilt. They will have to get more stingy with yardage as they head down the bottom half of their schedule.

Especially will they have to dig in tomorrow night against the hard-running Oklahoma Sooners. The Okies have the amazing average of 363 yards gain from scrimmage per game—the best major college offensive record between the Appalachian and Rocky mountains. They have averaged more than four touchdowns to the point thus far.

The Southwest Conference teams are too true to form last week, and it would be a sensation if it happened two weeks in a row.

Texas will be battling a jinx that has caught them six out of the last seven games down in the Bayou country. Only once since 1934 have the Longhorns been victorious against the Owls in Houston. We look for history to repeat itself and expect Rice to upset the Steers tomorrow.

Expect a high-scoring battle tomorrow night between the Frogs and Oklahoma. We believe T. C. U. will be able to match Jack Mitchell & Co. score for score and squeeze through with a victory. Homer Ludiker may be the difference again.

S. M. U. will trim Santa Clara, and Baylor should beat the Aggies in two scores.

Frogs Gain 1152 Yards in 5 Games, Average 3.65 Per Offensive Play

In amassing nearly two-thirds of a mile in first half of their 1948 season, in which they won four of five games, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs averaged 3.65 yards per offensive play. That is what a statistical breakdown of their record revealed today.

Two Southwest Conference leaders and one runner-up have come out of the figures. With 683 of his team's 1152 yards gained by his credit, the T. C. U. sparkplug, Lindy Berry, Wichita Falls tailback, is the conference's leader on total offense. He has netted 378 yards on his 99 runs and has been responsible for 305 yards more through 20 pass completions in his 62 tosses.

Berry's chief battery mate, Morris ("Snake") Bailey, Vernon end, leads the conference in number of passes caught, having 18 to his credit. The Frogs' Pete Stout, last season's all-conference fullback, who has scored 36 of his team's 83 points, is runner-up in the Southwest scoring race.

The T. C. U. statistics for the first-half of the 1948 season:

Juniors Lead in Intramural Race; Cagle Takes Top Place in Scoring

The Juniors stretched their unbeaten string to three games by walloping the Preachers, 33 to 0, while the Seniors were winning a hard-fought game from the Frosh, 19 to 13, in Tuesday afternoon's intramural contests.

At the same time Jack Cagle, by virtue of his 13 points for the Juniors, took over the intramural scoring leadership with 25 points. In the meantime, his team gained possession of first place in the intramural standings since the Sophs, also undefeated, were idle.

Ed Wright of San Angelo pulled the game out of the fire for the Seniors by intercepting a fumble in the fourth quarter and racing 25 yards for the winning touchdown.

Early in the first quarter Bill Padon passed to Joe Easter who was open in the Frosh end zone, for the game's first touchdown. Then Padon's pass to Easter for the extra-point made it Seniors 7, Frosh 0, in what looked to be a run-away game for the upperclassmen.

The Seniors revived their scoring punch shortly before the end of the first period when Padon's 10-yard aerial was complete to Leroy Berger for another touchdown. Try for point was no good and the Seniors led convincingly, 13 to 0.

But with time running out in the first half, Ted Reynolds hurled 22 yards to James Wilson and the Frosh's first score. Reynolds passed to Mike Salem for the point and the half ended 13 to 7 with the Seniors still on top.

Wasting no time in the third period, Reynolds heaved a beautiful pass to his reliable receiver Wilson and the freshman outran the field for a 51-yard touchdown play. The game was deadlocked when the Frosh's try for point failed.

A hard-charging Senior line was responsible for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Late in the game Reynolds faded back but was unable to find any open receivers and was knocked to the ground by three Senior linemen. Reynolds lost the ball in the mix-up but the alert Wright grabbed it (Continued on Page Six)

Southwest Sportsmanship Code Approved; Special Committee Organized by Students

Organization of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee and approval of a Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Code were made last week when three T. C. U. students met with 19 representatives from six of the Southwest Conference schools at A. & M. Only Arkansas was not represented. The committee and code are thought to be the first of their kind in the nation, according to James Repp, T. C. U. representative who attended.

The committee and code were established as a basis for determining the winners of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Award begun last year by the Battalion, A. & M. student newspaper.

Regular representatives of each Southwest Conference school to be on the committee will be the student newspaper editor, head cheer leader, and a student government member, plus the dean of men, the athletic director, and an official of the ex-student's association.

Other members of the committee are to be a representative group of officials who call conference games selected by the conference secretary, and the executive secretary of the conference.

The code reads as follows: Preamble: The purpose of the Sportsmanship Code is to further good relations between Southwest Conference Schools.

I. Team: A. Each member of the team shall: 1. Participate in the contest to the best of his ability, abiding by fair and proper means of conduct as determined by the rules of the contest.

2. Treat contest officials with due respect and courtesy and shall accept official's decision in good spirit. 3. Accept victory or defeat in a gracious manner.

II. Student Body: A. Pre-Game Courtesy: 1. The Host School shall: a. Write a letter to the visiting school and team prior to the game. This letter should be published during the week prior to game in the visiting school's paper. Letter should list the activities of week-end, i.e. banquets, dances, and receptions.

b. Provide directions and directions for visiting students and team. c. Provide a means of information—brochures or others to provide information about tickets, sections, seating, etc.

B. Game Courtesy: 1. There shall be co-operation between yell leaders, band, other student organizations, and student body, i.e. yell leaders cheers will not coincide, and student bodies will not yell while teams are in a huddle or calling signals.

2. The student bodies shall avoid misconduct such as fighting and overt demonstrations, use of intoxicating drinks, disrespect and discourtesy toward teams and officials, and general discourtesy during the half-time period.

C. Post-Game Courtesy: 1. Each student body shall demonstrate: a. Respect to both teams after game. b. Respect to each other and to spectators. c. Mutual respect for school songs whenever they are played.

Awards to Be Based on Code: Selection of the winner of the sportsmanship award will be based on the sportsmanship code and done by the members of the sportsmanship committee. Each member will choose three schools from the conference, excluding his own, who best display the characteristics of true sportsmanship.

Each member will rate his choices first with five points, second with three points, and third with two points. In addition the student government of each school will have two choices. The school receiving the largest total number of votes will be the award winner.

After the meeting setting up the permanent organization and the code adjourned, the Battalion entertained the conference representatives at a dinner. James Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, discussed the merits of the committee and the hope of making the plan nationwide.

T. C. U. representatives attending were Miss Mopsy Morrison, head cheerleader; Bryan Wickersheimmer, editor of The Skiff; and Repp, student government representative. Each served on one of the three committees which drew up the sportsmanship code.

Conference representatives elected Clark Munroe and Charles Kirkham of A. & M. as chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Sportsmanship Committee. Next meeting of the committee was set tentatively for the day of the Conference track meet in the city of the track meet.

Girls' Speedball Teams Will Be Selected Soon: Two practice weeks remain before girls' speedball tournament teams will be picked. The practice hours, which are open to all girls who are interested, are scheduled from 4 to 5 o'clock each Monday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons. Teams will be selected during the first week of November. The teams named will participate in a speedball tournament starting at that time.

Inspired Fourth

(Continued From Page 4) end of the next play—the most spectacular one of the fray. Stout Is A Passer, Too. Stout faked a jump pass over the line. He then faded back to mid-field and heaved a long pass to Archer who made a wonder catch on the one. Stout went over right guard for the second marker. Luddler's kick was perfect and the Frogs nursed a 13-to-7 lead through the intermission.

Only three plays were needed by the Farmers in the third chapter to march 67 yards and again assume the lead. Goff got 11 at center and Royalty added two around right end. Goff then spurred through the line, turned on the steam in the secondary and traveled 54 yards for the tally. Turley again converted, and the 14-to-13 score remained until the Purple took command in the fourth. Individual stars were numerous. Strunks was a standout at hacking the line. Bill Moorman and Wayne Rogers were standout ends. George Brown operated in masterful fashion for over 50 minutes. Roger MacAuley, Max Eubanks and Shank Blossom turned in superb showings.

Breeden Worries

(Continued From Page 5) the formation... The drums were too loud." Pass the baton on to the critics. Perhaps they could spend 10 hours a day scragging. Maybe they could make a star formation with only 60 men—a three-pointed star, of course. Maybe they could make sure that everyone showed up for the half to complete the formation. Perhaps they could keep the drums from echoing throughout the stadium. Maybe... but would they be willing to take the job? And you, do you still want it? It looks as if Leon Breeden will have to keep his job. Who else wants to WORK?

United World Federalists Elects; Hears Prof. Clay

C. W. Alford, Fort Worth graduate student, was elected president of the United World Federalists at its meeting Friday. Comer Clay, assistant professor of government, and Melvin Jaschke, state field director of the United World Federalists, addressed the group.
