Student Congress Acts on Changing Representation, Obtaining Later Telephone Hours for Dormitory Girls

Rodeo Saddle Paid For Out of Students' Fund

Later telephone hours for girls' dormitories will be requested of the Registrar's office, dean of women, by the Student Congress.

That request will be made instead of one for later hours because of a described "lack of interest" by the dormitory girls.

A committee of three took a sample survey of the girls dormitories asking if later hours were wanted.

In Waits Hall only 17 girls requested the questionnaires. In Jarbo Hall a lack of interest was reported. There was no report on Ester Hall.

Those answering the questionnaires showed most interest in having 11 p. m. privileges every night in underclasswomen and in having telephone hours extended beyond 8 p. m., Chairman Audrey Beggs, Dallas sophomore, reported.

At the present, dormitory girls do not receive local calls after 11 p. m. on week nights, Miss Shelburne says that is to give long distance callers a chance to call in and for outgoing calls to be made.

Other action taken by congress was to pay for the saddle which the Rodeo Association awarded the Ranch Week rodeo winner.

The association asked the congress for $135 to pay debts not cleared by rodeo income. A motion to loan the money for one year was defeated by a motion to give the association the money. The motion was later amended to read that the congress would pay for the saddle.

Argument for paying for the saddle was that it was given in the name of T. C. U. during Ranch Week, a student entertainment sponsored by several groups of students including the congress.

Argument against giving the money was that the association is a group of students, and the congress money belongs to all the students. It would not be fair, it was argued, to pay the debts of one organization.

Other business was the decision to investigate the possibility of having T. C. U.'s "Alma Mater" in an album of Southwest Conference school songs by Fred Wertz-Baylor University requested that T. C. U. join with other conference schools in having such an album made.

1949 University Catalog Returns To Pre-War Heavyweight Class

Thicker by 14 pages than last year's edition, the University's 254-page 1949 catalog, released this week, is the largest published since before World War II.

Additions to the catalog include the listing of the Institute of Alcohol Studies as the University's ninth major unit, ranking with the eight schools and colleges.

Twenty-seven general University faculty committees are found in the new bulletin, an increase of eight over the number found in the 1948 catalog.

Those committees listed for the first time are: audio-visual education; catalogs; faculty research; lectures and concerts; registration; student assemblies; student lounge; use and scheduling of auditorium (in new Fine Arts Building). The 27 committees were selected by the Deans' Council for the year beginning Sept. 1, 1949.

Names and hometowns only are recorded in the catalog's "Register of Student Body for 1948-1949," which includes all the 5883 different students enrolled for that year.

The students' classifications and majors, printed in previous catalogs, are omitted from the latest edition. Inclusion of these data, says Dean Jerome Moore, would not have been worth the time and expense required for the compilation.

Another change from last year's bulletin is the listing of the entire faculty of Harris College of Nursing. Formerly only full-time instructors were listed.

Ben Hearn Chief Foe Of New Amendment

A proposed amendment which would change congressional representation to a school-and-college basis was passed 10 to 4, by the Student Congress Monday night after more than an hour of heated debate. The proposal will be referred to the student body for approval at a later date.

The proposal is the first of a series of amendments to be presented to the congress by the constitutional revision committee, which now has completed its work.

Because revision of the constitution has taken longer than was expected, the amendments will not be put on Wednesday's ballot, as originally intended.

Main opposition to the proposal came from Chief Justice Ben Hearn, Jacksonville senior. He said that although he had originally thought such representation would be a good thing, he had now changed his mind.

"I now believe that such a system would be even less perfect than the imperfect system we now have," Hearn said.

Miss Shirley Hammond, Fort Worth sophomore; June Welch, Gainesville junior; and Larry Denton, Bonham junior, spoke for passage of the measure, saying it would increase the number of students who vote and would boost interest in student government.

Original vote on the proposal was 6 to 3 in favor of Joe Shosid, Fort Worth sophomore, and amended roll call vote, and the amendment passed by the 10-to-4 count.

Campaigns for 34 Candidates To Open at Monday Assembly

Wednesday Election to Name 2 Editors, 5 Cheerleaders

Campaigning of 34 candidates in Wednesday's cheerleader-editor election will begin with a student assembly at 9 a. m. Monday in the Basketball Gymnasium. Classes will be dismissed.

Approval of three editor candidates is awaiting a meeting of the publications committee. Grade indexes of cheerleader nominees are being checked by the Registrar's office. Cheerleaders must have 1.0 grade point average for all work at T. C. U.

Only one candidate is unopposed. She is Miss Billie Marie Meyers, Fort Worth sophomore, who has filed for editor of the Horned Frog.

Larry Denton, Bonham junior, and Joe Shosid, Fort Worth sophomore, have filed for Skiff editor.

Sixteen have filed for girl cheerleaders' positions. They are: Misses Ann Baugh, Brownwood junior; Mary Ruth Boone, Woodboro sophomore; Martha Bruce, Graham sophomore; Dorothy Bryant, Denison freshman;

Mildred Sue Chapman, San Antonio freshman; Margie Dixon, Pampa freshman; Mary Eckhart, Corpus Christi freshman; Betty Gosney, Houston freshman;

A plurality vote will elect any candidate. The Monday assembly will serve two purposes. The first half of the program will start the World Student Service Fund drive. The remainder will be devoted to introducing all candidates and to speeches for the editor nominees.

Tryouts Tuesday Noon At 12 noon Tuesday in the Basketball Gymnasium all cheerleader candidates will lead yells for students not in classes.

Students will vote in the Student Congress office from 8:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. Wednesday by a check-list system. An official list of students taking at least 12 hours will be checked as students vote.

Poster and circular campaigning may begin at 12:01 a. m. Monday. Only two posters may be placed in the Administration Building. Posters may not exceed 18" x 20" in size. Campaign expenses will be limited to $15 and expense accounts are due by 12 midnight Tuesday.

Several students will be seen in two plays. Others will double in technical and acting roles.

The drama will be presented as a part of class requirements, says Dr. Walter Volbach, professor of speech-drama.

Counseling Will Begin

Informal Procedure To Start Next Week

Formal pre-registration or pre-counseling procedures will not be used for students planning to remain in school this summer, the registration committee announces.

Instead, such action will be left up to the initiative of each student, says Dr. Thomas F. Richardson, chairman of the committee.

Counseling will begin Monday and last through May 14.

Dr. Richardson urges students to contact their department heads or counselors during those two weeks and plan their summer schedules.

"Those who do not will experience delays and difficulties on registration day," he says.

Students need not visit the Registrar's office during the two-week period.

Formal pre-registration was inaugurated at T. C. U. last spring and was used during the summer session and the fall semester.

Invest Your Vote

Suppose for a moment that you have almost $27,000 to invest. You would certainly want to put it in the most competent hands available, wouldn't you?

Well, this situation isn't as imaginary as you might think. You have a chance Wednesday to help decide who will administer the spending of that much of your money.

In Wednesday's election you have a chance to pick a new editor for The Skiff, a new editor for the Horned Frog and five cheerleaders for 1949-50.

The Skiff editor, in producing your school paper for 1949-50, will be responsible for a newspaper which costs about $8000 a year to publish. When the annual editor finishes next year's yearbook, he will have spent about $18,000. The expense account for the five cheerleaders is about $500 annually.

With all this money at stake, each student should realize that only the most competent persons should be elected, regardless of friendships or other influences.

Investigate the qualifications of each candidate carefully. Decide which of them will produce the best Skiff, the best annual and the best yell for the coming year.

Think it over carefully, then invest your vote—but invest it carefully.

Eye-brow Etiquette

Does your teacher frown at you and hand you F's? If so, maybe you have poor classroom appeal.

Could be you pay close attention to the lecture. Maybe you hear every word and file it neatly in a brain cell. Could be.

But outwardly you appear inattentive. You gaze out the window. Tap a pencil on the desk. Slump in the chair and chomp gum audibly. Yawn. Doodle. Sigh. Whisper.

Maybe while doing these things you listen intently to the professor. But he doesn't think so.

Wanna make him like you? Wanna cultivate a classy classroom personality?

Use a new look. Raise an eyebrow occasionally, left preferably. Wrinkle your forehead. Stroke chin slowly. Bite lips. Clench hands. Lean forward and fix gaze on professor's face.

Doing thus you are free to ponder freely on: Varga girls. Galveston beach. Grades. Need for shoe shine.

You're safe. The prof is convinced you are listening like a New York wire tapper to his every syllable.

Honor Thy Mother

She isn't an alumna of T. C. U. She isn't an ex-student of any university. In fact, she never went to college.

But she has achieved that which can not be learned in a classroom or laboratory and which is more sorely needed now than a stockpile of atom bombs—the rare human quality of a loving, motherly touch.

For Mrs. Pearl Gillis, recently selected "American Mother of the Year," is not merely a symbol; she is a mother who has reared successfully a family of six in the best American tradition.

Truly, Mrs. Gillis, a long-time friend and patron of T. C. U., should receive at commencement recognition from the University, along with the men of science and religion, for her contribution to the family and the community.

T. C. U. should not forget Mrs. Gillis and, for that matter, all the other patient, proud mothers of its students. Why not initiate a special observance at T. C. U. in their honor?

Tall Texas Talk

Silence may be golden, but three young men from T. C. U. proved that words can pay off, too, when they carted home from Illinois, a gold trophy for pure ability in tossing the English language around skillfully and impressively.

By compiling the highest number of points of the 129 teams competing in the national Pi Kappa Delta forensics tournament at Peoria, these three South Texans—John Shirley, Austin Denney and Jerry Heltzel—brought to the campus its first national forensics trophy.

Congratulations are in order for the trio and for Dr. E. L. Pross, their coach.

The old saying that "nobody can out-talk a Texan" must be true.

The Skiff will print any letter the Editor which meets the following qualifications: (1) it must be signed, although the writer's name will be withheld if he so desires; (2) it must be of general student interest; (3) it should be of reasonable length, preferably no more than 250 words. The Skiff reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements.

Criticizes Carelessness

I wonder whether some students have lost their sense of material value. At all hours after school one can see textbooks, notebooks and other school supplies on top of lockers, stands and shelves in the Administration Building. It takes money to buy these books, yet some students fail to realize this, and leave their overnight and over weekends where anyone could pick them up. Parents, guardians and Uncle Sam expect us to take care of them, even if we don't study them.

Several weeks ago the Meliorist Club had a book drive for Jarvis Christian College, a school that needs books badly. I imagine that books and school supplies are not found lying loose there. Many students going to school here and at other colleges have hardly enough money to buy books and supplies, let alone risk losing them through negligence.

Berates Burchbark

Lemons for "Burchbark" for another sloppy column (April 22), this one debunking the great American game of baseball. Sure, I know, every man to his own opinion! But let him back his opinions with constructive arguments, instead of the childish, loosely-connected drivel so consistently peculiar to our SKIFF "Sports Editor." . . . If the game is "so simple," why haven't we seen an intelligent analysis of the Frogs' troubles by the omniscient Burch, who reduces it to child's play?

What say, Mr. Ed.? Howabout some decent coverage of TCU's sporting scene by someone with a reasonable knowledge of the subject and a zest for telling about it? Russ Hurst

Ditto

The senseless raving in last week's Burchbark was a masterpiece in utter, unadorned stupidity. Your attack on baseball was unprecedented and certainly the prize in "rockhead" plays. . . . One of your first statements was: "Regardless of what anyone may say, baseball is a dull game to watch." Strictly a wild pitch. Does that mean it's your opinion and only you are right? That's what it sounds like. If baseball is such a dull game, millions of people who annually spend millions of dollars to watch it are suckers. And some 385,000 fans who watched the six games of the last World Series—they didn't get much excitement out of that, I suppose.

You mentioned, too, the average fan. You say "he cheers because his father cheered." If the "fanatic" is as stupid as you would have us believe, then what was his FATHER cheering about? Isn't his father an "average fan"?

But your statement that baseball's wide appeal comes from its simplicity is where you really struck out. When you say the game is simple, you should explain yourself. I defy you to name any game, that requires the split-second timing and snap judgment of baseball.

The game may look simple to a person who apparently knows nothing about it, but he should get down on the field and play before making any absurd statements about it. Baseball was our national game, Mr. Burch, long before you were born and will be long after you are gone.

Art Teele
Editor's note: Readers Teele and Hurst apparently missed Burch's main point: that from the SPECTATOR'S point of view, baseball is a COMPARATIVELY dull game to watch. Sports Ed. Burch, by the way, pitches for a city softball team twice weekly.

Brightwell Agrees

I would like to congratulate Walter Burch on his column on baseball last week. It expressed my sentiments toward the game perfectly.

T. C. U. Is 'Second Mother' To Children of Mrs. Gillis

The American Mother of the Year thinks T. C. U. had quite a bit to do with the raising of her children.

Mrs. E. A. Gillis, all of whose six children attended T. C. U., this week was awarded the national honor by the National American Mothers' Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation. She was named Texas Mother of the Year last month.

"T. C. U. has been wonderfully kind to the children," she says, "especially in giving them scholarships so that they could study music."

Preparing to leave for New York to attend a dinner in her honor May 3, Mrs. Gillis remembers the "days at T. C. U." when her children were taking part in student recitals and other campus activities.

She is looking forward to a visit in New York with one of her sons, Don E. Gillis, B.A. and B.M. '35, who has become nationally famous as director of serious music for N. B. C. since his graduation.

Mrs. Gillis will leave in the fall for a lecture tour which will take her to every state in the nation.

Radar Being Obtained For Physics Classes

Physics students will have a chance to study radar this summer.

Radar equipment has been ordered and should arrive before the summer session begins, says Dr. Newton F. Gaines, physics professor.

Some of the more advanced students probably will install the equipment under the supervision of Dr. Joseph Morgan, adds Dr. Gaines.

The equipment, turned over to the state of Texas by the government for educational purposes, originally cost $25,000.

Eugene Brink Installed As New CSF President

Eugene Brink, Jackson, Mich., graduate student, recently was installed as president of the Christian Service Fellowship.

Other new officers installed by Dean Colby D. Hall, faculty adviser, were: Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Fort Worth sophomore first vice-president, Ralph Palmer, Fort Worth senior; and second vice-president, Joe Reed, Dallas freshman.

The T. C. U. nurse on duty may be reached for emergency calls after 11 o'clock each night by ringing the Waits Hall front doorbell. Dean Elizabeth Shelburne said today.

She referred to a story in last week's Skiff which indicated that since outside doors were locked, admittance could not be gained to the infirmary in Waits Hall after 11 p. m.

"The doors of the girls' dormitories are locked for obvious reasons," said Miss Shelburne, dean of women. "No fire safety rules are being violated."

As reported last week, a second nurse also may be called by dialing 4-4246 when the campus switchboard is closed.

T. C. U. Netmen Will Play Arkansas Here Tomorrow

Seeking their third straight conquest over a conference foe, the T. C. U. tennis team will meet Arkansas' Razorbacks tomorrow afternoon on the varsity clay courts. The match will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

The Frogs hold consecutive victories over Texas A. & M. and Baylor. They lost to Rice in their first conference match. T. C. U. opened the 1949 season with an easy triumph over Texas Tech.

Dick Osburn is still the No. 1 singles player and will combine with the No. 2 singles player, Harold ("Hap") Manning, to form the No. 1 doubles team. Jack Levinson and John Baker comprise the other doubles team. Baker is the No. 3 singles man.

The Razorbacks' team is comprised of Bill Exall, Joe Adams, Bob Lumpkin and Pat Dodge. Exall is the No. 1 man and combines with Adams for the Porcupines' No. 1 doubles duo.

The Frogs are currently running in third position in the conference standings with a 13-to-5 mark. Texas leads the pack, undefeated in 12 matches. Rice is second, posting a 10-to-2 mark. S. M. U. is fourth, with Baylor, Texas A. & M. and Arkansas trailing in that order.

A match with S. M. U., scheduled last Wednesday afternoon, was cancelled because of the death of Mrs. Leo R. Meyer, wife of the Frogs' head football coach. This will be re-scheduled later. A home match with Texas and the conference individual tourney in either Austin or Houston will complete the present season.

A home match with Texas and the conference individual tourney in either Austin or Houston will complete the present season.

Playing Rice for the last time this year this afternoon, T. C. U.'s baseball team will move from Houston into more dangerous territory tomorrow. They will invade College Station for a single game with the highly-rated Texas A. & M. nine before returning home tomorrow night.

The latter game marks the first meeting of the year between the Frogs and Aggies. The Farmers, second in conference standings, visit Thursday and Friday on the Purple diamond. Games played here will begin at 2:30 p. m.

The University of Texas Longhorns, undefeated in S. W. C. play, have practically clinched the title. The Baylor Bears swamped the Frogs, 10 to 1, last Friday on the home diamond for T. C. U.'s fifth conference loss as against two victories. Rain postponed Saturday's game. Coach Walter Roach reports that it will be played in Waco as one game of a double-header May 17.

After this meet, only the 1949 conference meet remains for Clark's cinder club.

Points in the triangle meet for the Christians are Gene Schmidt, pole vault; James Kellett, Garland Poik and Ben Hays, dashes; and George Hays and Ed Donlon, distances.

TCU '9' Faces Rice Today. Tougher Aggies Tomorrow

Golfers Will Play Owls Here Monday

T. C. U.'s golfers will meet Rice Monday at 1:15 p. m. on the Glen Garden Country Club course. If records mean anything, the Frogs should win handily, as the Owls have won only one of 18 matches this spring, whereas the Christians have copped 12 1/2 out of 24.

Although they are currently tied for third place in the conference standings with Arkansas, the T. C. U. linksmen have a good chance to finish second in the Southwest Conference, speculates Golf Coach Tom Prouse.

"Our schedule favors us," says Prouse. Besides the Rice match Monday, the Frogs will complete their season with a make-up match with S. M. U. The S. M. U. match was set for yesterday but postponed because of the funeral services of Mrs. Leo R. Meyer, wife of T. C. U.'s head football coach.

The University of Texas has a commanding lead in the golf race and should win without difficulty, Prouse adds. But with second place Texas A. & M. it's a different story. The Ags have yet to meet of the year. He entered this event last year and was leading until he had engine trouble. He was then hit by another car and had to drop out of the race.

Can Texas A. & M.'s Glen Lippman, noted scabcat, stand up under the conference strain? He's rumored to be a fragile fellow despite his ability.

Will Texas' line miss Dick Harris more than it anticipates? Or will the Longhorn offensive guns of Paul Campbell, Ray Borselman and Byron Townsend ignore their weak line and spearhead a "scoring machine" regardless?

What on earth will Arkansas do without Clyde Scott?

Will Rice unfurl its passing combination of Tobin Rote-to-James Williams that it has been holding back for three years? Will the Owls be a powerhouse, as has been indicated by many, or a "run of the mill" team?

Was Baylor living on someone else's time last fall, or were the Bears really that good? Will the Bruins "T" click once more?

Will our own Berry-to-Morris Bailey passing team be as consistent as last year? Can Gilbert Bartosh improve enough so he'll be a threat each time he gets the ball? Can Jack Archer regain the form he displayed in the spring of '48?

Within six months most of the answers will be discernible.

Pierson will discuss the student foreign study program and provisions of the Fulbright Act, which deals with the international exchange of persons, at 9:30 a.m. in the Auditorium.

From 10 to 11 a.m. he will be available for individual or group conferences with faculty members and students who plan to study abroad. Anyone wanting an appointment with Pierson should leave his name with Mrs. Nola Oranhood in Dean Jerome Moore's office.

Pierson worked in various capacities in the State Department for about 20 years, chiefly in the divisions of cultural relations and international exchange of persons.

7 Performances Remain As Pinafore Sets Sail

"H. M. S. Pinafore," the sixth annual Gilbert and Sullivan production by the Choral Club, set sail on its three-day campus cruise in the Auditorium last night.

Performances at 8:15 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night will conclude the campus run of the opera, but it will be continued in a five-city tour of West Texas next week.

"Pinafore," a perennial favorite, was first launched in 1878 in London where it ran for 700 performances. It satirizes the British Navy and its officialdom.

Adam's Eve Football Tilt Re-Set for Next Friday

'Types and Figured Specimens'

'Old Fossils' Photogenic After Millions of Years

The biology department has a group of photogenic personalities more than 60 million years old behind its glass cases.

Though students rudely call them "old fossils," one case full has served as models at least once for scientific journals.

These stars of the fossil exhibit are the smaller of the animal imprints. Labeled "Types and Figured Specimens," they are displayed in the far case on the right in the basement of Clark Hall.

Animals related to present-day oysters and clams form a large part of the exhibit behind glass. Beside them on the floor are their big brothers, the larger shell animals of the Cretaceous period.

Fossils of the same family in the collection range in size from tiny ones little larger than a pin head to enormous shells several feet across and weighing from 500 to 600 pounds.

Besides the fossils which have been photographed and used in scientific journals, there are six cases of more ordinary animal imprints and numerous specimens which have not been classified and tagged yet.

Some day the entire collection will be part of the exhibit in the science building planned for T. C. U. But even now, crowded as they are, the fossils are an exhibit that attracts all types of persons from young students going home from Alice Carlson to scientific scholars.

Sowell, Richardson, Reed Go to Houston Next Week
