

4 Telecasts Are Planned

'Murder's My Dish' Scheduled for June 29

Announcement of the Summer Television Workshop schedule and the June 29 telecast, "Murder's My Dish," was made this week by Frederic C. Folks, instructor in radio.

"Murder's My Dish," an original play written by Bill Shropshire, Fort Worth senior, and Mr. Folks, is a suspense story of an accountant who is frustrated by his dull life and yearns to be a private detective. His chance comes early in the play and his antics cause the local police much consternation.

Three more definite television show dates, July 13, August 10 and 17, have been set. Other dates may be arranged pending schedules of the baseball telecasts, says Mr. Folks.

Due to the lack of radio classes, plans remain tentative for the KFJZ-KCNC series. If enough volunteers who have had radio experience will apply, there will be some sort of a production, added Mr. Folks.

East Campus Cooler Now

No Air-Conditioners For the 'Warm West'

Undue discomfort from summer heat is a condition of the past for some students—but only those who have occasion to pursue their activities on the east campus.

Installation of twenty-six 35-inch-blade air-conditioners in the barracks classrooms was completed today.

Three such units have also been placed in the Library's south windows.

"We do not plan to install any air-conditioners in buildings on the west campus," says Business Manager L. C. Wright, "because the barracks classrooms need cooling units more than any other part of the campus."

Vocational Guidance Tests To Be Given All Summer

The vocational testing program will be continued during the summer, announces Curtis J. Firkins, director of the testing bureau.

Tests are available to T. C. U. students free of charge. Counseling accompanies the tests.

Students wishing to take the test should see either Dr. Thomas Richardson, director of student personnel, in Room 205 in the Administration Building, or Mr. Firkins in Building 8, Room 14.

50 Take French; Cause May Be Rita Said 'Oui'

The recent marriage of Prince Aly Khan and Hollywood's Rita Hayworth—and their saying "oui" instead of "do"—may or may not have had influence on the enrollment of students in French 321a.

The fact remains, however, that so many students—50 in all—signed up for the course that it had to be split into two sections.

Dr. Wheeler Hawley, associate professor of French who was originally scheduled to teach the class, has one section. Miss Mary L. Gillespie is instructing the other.

Congress to View 7-Point Program

5-Member Student Cabinet, 'Vital' Social Calendar Listed

A seven-point program which includes the setting up of a five-man student cabinet, a student-managed book store and laundry and a "vital" social calendar has been drawn up by the Student Association president, Dee Kelly, Bonham senior.

"The program and any action taken on it is entirely up to the Student Congress," says Kelly, "but it is my hope that legislation on it will begin this summer. We cannot initiate all these new ideas in 11 weeks, but we can lay the groundwork so that the fall congress can take definite action on matters of importance early in the semester."

The program includes:

1. The organization of a student cabinet composed of five chairmen nominated by the president and approved by congress. This cabinet would work with legislative committees and recommend legislation to congress, but its members would have no vote. They would be classified as follows: Welfare chairman, who would represent the student body as a whole to congress; public opinion chairman, who would keep in close touch with campus temperament and work with the social committee; social chairman, who would

Aide Is Named To Dean Sowell

Manuel A. Holcembach, who received a B. S. in Commerce from T. C. U. in May, has been appointed administrative assistant to Ellis M. Sowell, dean of the School of Business, Sowell announced this week.

Holcembach will assist Dean Sowell in forming a complete personnel service for students of the School of Business.

While attending T. C. U. Holcembach concentrated his studies in the fields of personnel administration, industrial relations and psychology. He has worked in the personnel departments of the Kraft Cheese Company, Denison; Employees Credit Union, Fort Worth; and in the accounting department at Mid-Continent Supply Company, Fort Worth.

Holcembach served three years in the Army Air Force in World War II as a personnel sgt.-major.

Practice Organ Due To Arrive Monday

Arrival of a new practice organ for the School of Fine Arts is slated for Monday and shipment of a seventy-rank concert pipe organ for the new Fine Arts Building Auditorium is scheduled to start the first week of July, says T. Smith McCorkle, dean.

Immediate installation will be made by representatives of the Haegerstown, Md., manufacturers. The organ will be put in a specially designed practice room.

The larger concert organ will arrive in sections and will require some two months for complete installation.

"This organ will be one of the largest in the South," says Dean McCorkle, "and will be comparable to the pipe organ located at the University of Texas."

Nurses 'Shoot' 1,000 'Victims' In Flood Fight

The T. C. U. nurses measured up to the standards of "angels of mercy" in the recent flood.

Not only did the three serve the campus, but they administered to equally as many outsiders during the period. More than a thousand persons were vaccinated against typhoid fever, and many are still receiving shots.

The "outsiders" were persons living in this area who wanted the vaccinations as preventive measures, Mrs. Lucille Steers, R. N., infirmary supervisor, says.

Aiding Mrs. Steers were Miss Nell Wolaver, junior from Italy, and Miss Belle M. Miller, junior from Atlanta, Ga. Both are registered nurses.

IT'S A HOLIDAY WITH STRINGS

Classes will not be held Monday, July 4, but students will make up the "lost" time by meeting classes on the following Saturday, July 9, announces Registrar S. W. Hutton.

Independence Day holidays (Editor's note: "??") will begin at the close of classes July 1 and end at 7 a. m. July 5, says the registrar.

258 Voters Elect Kelly President

Saenz Named Vice-President; 17 Congressmen Installed

Dee Kelly ran away with the Student Association presidential plum in Wednesday's election, and the summer Student Congress ball started rolling in a hurry with a called installation meeting of 17 newly-elected congressmen last night.

Enrollment Totals 2067

113 Late Registrants; 53 to Evening College

A post-registration increase of 113 students boosted this term's enrollment figure to 2067 this week, according to tabulations released by the statistician's office. The total is now 325 less than last summer's enrollment.

Evening College enrollment showed the heaviest increase. An additional 53 brought its total to 286.

Forty-four "johnnies-come-lately" swelled the total in regular undergraduate day classes to 1513.

A 15-student increase leaves the Graduate School's enrollment at 229.

Brite College of the Bible added one student to its rolls, which now totals 39.

Musicians' Clinic Begins Monday

Opening of the modern dance band clinic, first of the activities of the T. C. U. summer music camp, is slated to begin Monday under the direction of Leon Breeden, recently-resigned director of the Horned Frog Band.

Fifteen members compose the modern dance band group, 12 of whom are from Childress High School. Complete instrumentation is included in clinic work, which is designed to teach students rudiments of dance-style music, says Dr. Clarence J. Best, camp director.

A program by the clinic is planned for music students next Friday.

Soda Fountain Hours Change for Summer

New Student Lounge soda fountain hours are 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. Monday through Friday and 5 to 8:30 p. m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, announces Bill Bishop, Corpus Christi junior, student manager.

The fountain will be closed all day Saturday and Sunday.

The decision on new hours was based on observance of the falling off of business after 3 p. m. The Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night hours will take care of the recess in night school classes.

Employees of the fountain are Orvel Hutto, Goosecreek junior; Bill Bass, Cleburne sophomore and R. H. McClellan, Cleburne junior.

Home Economics Closes Department for Summer

The home economics department has gone out of business for the summer because of lack of customers.

Two courses were scheduled for the summer session, but no one registered for either of the classes. The courses, to have been taught by Mrs. Virginia Cain, were "Consumer Buying for the Home" and "Child Development in the Family."

Kelly, Bonham senior, defeated John Elstrand, senior from Fort Worth, by a vote of 258 to 38 in an election in which only 314 of more than 1700 eligible voters cast their ballots for congressional candidates.

Mike Saenz, Laredo senior, was named Student Association vice-president with a 166-123 victory over Worth Dalton, Fort Worth senior.

New senior class president is Richard ("Chubby") Henderson, Electra, who won over June R. Welch, Gainesville, and Tommy Hanna, Fort Worth, by 74 to 49 and 45 respectively.

Miss Anne Bulmer of Fort Worth edged out Jimmy Paschal, Amarillo, in the senior class representative race by a vote of 66 to 65. Keith Washburn of Waco ran third with 26.

Bill Hamilton of San Antonio was elected junior class president over Jack McSwain of Hattiesburg, Miss. Jack Archer, Springfield, O., won the junior class representative position over three other candidates: Miss Billie Marie Meyers, Gilbert Courtney, and Miss Helen Hausman, all of Fort Worth.

M. H. Tiner of Sugarland was unopposed in his candidacy for sophomore class presidency, and according to the election rules, cannot legally be installed. His case and that of Fort Worth's Helen Billingsley and Ralph Stinson, who tied for freshman class representative with four votes each, will probably be handled by congress in a special election next week.

All races were decided by plurality votes, and there will be no run-offs.

Officers were sworn in, standing committees set up and a new student cabinet idea introduced for consideration at congress' first meeting last night.

WING ALONG WINGO'S SONG

Winging along from job to job strikes a fancy with Miss Kitty Wingo, assistant professor of physical education.

Miss Wingo, who regularly teaches classroom and activity courses in physical education, is spending the first summer session working in the Registrar's office.

Tuesday, however, she was sitting in Dean Jerome Moore's office in the absence of his secretary.

For the second six weeks, Miss Wingo will again be teaching.

Part-Time Nurse Added

A part-time nurse has been added to the T. C. U. infirmary nursing staff for the summer. She is Miss Nelle M. Miller, Atlanta, Ga., registered nurse. Miss Miller, junior art major, transferred this year from Montreat College, Montreat, N. C.

Cribbing on Exams

(From Saturday morning's Fort Worth Star-Telegram)
In this graduation season, with the issuance of thousands of diplomas to high school and college seniors, there always is someone to wonder how many of them were earned in scrupulous honesty and how many were, at least in part, the fruit of cribbing.

The question has interested a Loyola University professor to the extent that he has asked collegians all over the country to supply him with unsigned and unidentifiable letters. If they cheated on examinations, he wanted to know why. The answers are revealing.

Most stressed was the emphasis the American educational system places on grades, and especially on test grades, as measures of what the student has learned. Next up is the fear of failing, of being dropped from school, and, in the case of preparatory school students, of losing the chance to attend college. Other reasons: Fear of displeasing or disappointing the student's family, often providing the chance at an education at personal sacrifice; the need for a good scholastic record in seeking employment; the fact that cribbing by some places others in a disadvantageous competitive position for grades, unless they, too, cheat.

It is not indicated how representative the letters are of conditions on American campuses, but if they are at all representative they suggest that there ought to be an overhauling of examination practices and perhaps grading systems.

Too great emphasis is placed upon examination grades, by teachers and parents alike. An examination so unnerves and rattles some students that it can not accurately measure ability. As for cribbing, a fundamentally dishonest thing despite the gloss too frequently placed upon it, if the so-called "honor system" fails to check it, it is unlikely anything short of the FBI can. Student ingenuity in this regard is tremendous.

What might be better would be preparation of examinations in such a form that the student could be invited to bring with him into the examination room as many books bearing on the subject as he can lay his hands to. That at least equalizes the opportunity and that is how problems are met and solved outside the walls of schools.

You Said It, Dan

"Let it rise! Let it rise till it meet the sun in his coming; let the earliest light of the morning gild it and the parting day linger and play on its summit."

Thus orated Daniel Webster as he laid the cornerstone of the Bunker Hill Monument.

We'd like to borrow his words in urging that the long delayed memorial entrance be completed soon. The old arch in front of the Administration Building was demolished last summer to make way for widening of University Drive. A new monument to T. C. U.'s war dead was promised forthwith.

Its foundation was prepared. Stone and bricks have lain for months near that foundation. The building contractor has been assuring us for many weeks that the construction would be continued in a "few" weeks when stone and brick masons could be released from work on the Fine Arts Building. But still nobody is working on the memorial entrance.

Let it rise!

Two TCU Sets Lose in Finals

Although they didn't win, two T. C. U. square-dance teams were among the seven which competed in the Monday night finals of the Fort Worth Press-Worth Theater Square-Dance Jamboree.

Last week both sets, composed of members of the Hoe-Down Club, won in the five-team preliminary contests at the Worth Theater. The eight girls were presented matched dresses as prizes, and their partners received colorful western shirts.

Thirty-five teams of dancers, 12 from outside of Fort Worth, were originally in the contest.

One of the T. C. U. sets sponsored by Miss Kitty Wingo, assistant professor of physical education, was named in last week's Skiff.

The second team was composed of: Miss Marty Sanford, B. A. '49 from Fort Worth, and Joe Easter, ex '49 from Irving; Miss Nedeeana Winslett, Fort Worth senior, and Jim Montgomery, B. A. '49 of Fort Worth; Miss June Pritchard, ex '49 from Seymour, and Don Tinsley, B. A. '48, from Fort Worth; and Miss Pat Miller, ex '49, and Wendell Towery, B. S. '48, both of Fort Worth.

The Skiff will print any letter to the Editor which meets the following qualifications: (1) It must be signed, although the writer's name will be withheld if he so desires. (2) It must be of general student interest. (3) It should be of reasonable length, preferably no more than 250 words. The Skiff reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements.

The Skiff Errs

Your top editorial of last week's issue was simply a missile of false and completely inaccurate information. It proves once again that "slanted" stories and editorials are still the Skiff's best devices.

The editorial said that "a five-member committee of last semester's congress usurped the voter's privileges and discriminated unduly against potential candidates." This is in reference to a clause in the rules concerning student association president qualifications.

It is very sad indeed that the Skiff's writers cannot pursue course 333ab long and industriously enough to find that this particular portion of the rules is not "home-made" by the five-member steering committee, two members of which sought election this week. So it remains for someone to ask the Skiff's "accuracy-plus" editorial scribes to read the student constitution and note in said document, article IV, section 2, paragraph c:

"The President of the Student Association shall have had previous experience as a Class Officer, Club President, member of the Student Association Congress (or Council) and shall have been a student of Texas Christian University for at least one semester prior to becoming a candidate for President."

J. L. S.

Editor's note: The Skiff regrets its error. Last week's editorial, properly corrected, should cite the constitution as source of the "experience" requirement and urge that the proposed constitutional revision eliminate that requirement.

BROTHERLY LOAN: Letters to JAMES T. VAUGHAN, Hubbard senior, from his brother are written on financial statement forms. HE'S JUST WILDE ABOUT MILLIE: She was a nonentity, but she rose to fame when captured by GARNER WILDE, Graham junior. Curious onlookers watched MILLIE, a wormlike insect with numerous feet, take afternoon walks with Wilde.

Then . . . one tragic day, fickle Wilde tired of caring for her. He decided to pickle her in vinegar. But mercy prevailed. Going under for the third time, Millie rolled her sad eyes in pleading. Wilde saved her. She is again a happy nonentity in the insect world.

A. & M. GETS BYRD: After a three-day visit last week at Texas A. & M., MISS MAMIE BYRD, B. S. '49, enrolled in that school. She is working toward a teacher's certificate.

PIED PIPER: Bringing 12 of his band members with him, CHARLES HOFFMAN, B. A. '48 and director of the Childress High School band, has returned to the campus. He is studying for a master's degree. His Childress students will participate in the School of Fine Arts music clinic which begins Monday.

A SMALL ROOM PROBABLY: MISSES PAT HARRIS, Chicago junior, and WANDA JEAN HINTON, Rusk graduate student, met for the first time as roommates in Waits Hall this summer. The girls had been students together at T. S. C. W. for two years but hadn't known each other.

CABARET CURRICULUM: Planning an unusual post-graduate course is MARVIN HUDSON, Fort Worth who expects to complete graduation requirements in July. He intends to visit numerous "skid row" cabarets in Tampico to observe the latest trend in maraca beating.

Hudson, singer with Fletcher Hereford's orchestra handles the maracas (you know, those two little sticks) when rhumbas or sambas are played.

BACK AT SCENE OF CRIME: It was a September afternoon in 1935, and the Frogs had won a gridiron victory in the Stadium. But home-going spectators talked of HALFBACK JOHNNY STOVALL of the North Texas State Teachers College Eagles, Stovall whose end sweeps and hard blocking had threatened to crush the host team.

And now, almost 14 years later, Stovall has returned to the campus. Named last week as head coach for Technical High School, he has enrolled for the summer in the Graduate School.

Social Calendar Remains Blank

The social calendar remains blank this week. The first summer session is one-third gone, and only two entries have been made on the social calendar. Both the Waits Hall mixer and Press Club picnic are history now.

But Miss Alma McLendon, acting dean of women and "keeper of the calendar," who revealed these facts, stands ready to make more entries.

An open house in Waits Hall with games and dancing every other week would be highly desirable, Miss McLendon states. "If students want to plan socials and see that the plans are carried out, we will be glad to have such an evening in Waits Hall at least every two weeks," she says.

Two such functions could be held easily before the first session ends, she concludes.

Clark Plans For Summer

Quorum Lack Snags Any Specific Action

Election of summer dormitory officers, necessary changes in the dormitory constitution for summer session activities and long-range plans for obtaining equipment to make dormitory life more enjoyable were discussed by Clark Hall residents at a meeting Tuesday night.

Action on these matters was not possible because only 28 of the 78 men living in the dormitory were present. The Clark constitution requires a quorum as 40.

It was this fact that resulted in constitutional changes being one of the topics discussed at the meeting.

Since Clark as a whole was not able to organize at the meeting, S. S. Wetherell, acting director of men's dormitories, has now asked that residents of each wing on each floor of the dormitory elect a representative to meet with him to work out summer activity projects.

At an earlier meeting, Clark Hall monitors elected Bill Rea, Hamilton senior, as their chairman.

49 Class Gives To Flood Relief

Senior Class of T. C. U., Class of '49—$63.70.

This item, listed in the Star-Telegram's flood relief fund column on May 26, was the result of a decision by this year's graduating seniors to give their class gift money to victims of Fort Worth's May 18 flood.

"We had planned to buy books for the library," says Class President Don Pierson, Fort Worth, "but it was voted at our last meeting to donate the entire class gift to flood relief."

Pierson and Miss Penny Pennington, Benton, Ark., class treasurer, co-signed the check.

Dormitory Vacancies to Be Filled; Foster May Turn Co-Educational

Although Waits and Clark Halls' third floors, Jarvis Halls' second and third floors, and all of Foster and Goode Halls are not occupied at present, they are in for a busy summer. Foster Hall may even be the scene of an unusual situation . . . both men and women living there.

Girls and boys of varying ages and from various places will arrive Sunday for modern dance band classes to be conducted next week. The girls will move into Waits while the boys occupy the first floor of Goode.

July 4 through 16 will bring forth another group for the band clinic. The boys will live in Goode Hall and Clark Hall's third floor if necessary, the girls in Waits.

Girls interested in choral work will be residents of the now-vacant portion of Waits between July 18 and 30. Members of a choir institute will be on the campus for four days during August, but Miss McLendon, acting dean of women, does not know whether any will live on the campus.

Foster and Jarvis Halls will stand idly by, meanwhile, waiting for the administrators of the Yale Institute of Alcoholic Studies clinic. Persons attending the clinic will arrive in July. The men will occupy Foster Hall and the women Jarvis Hall's second and third floors. If the number is sufficiently small, however, all may be placed in Foster, Miss McLendon states.

Five May Graduates Fill Journalism Jobs

Five May graduates have been placed in jobs, according to Paul O. Ridings, head of the journalism department.

Heading the list is Oliver T. Hampton, who has been named director of publicity for Fort Worth's Community Chest.

Ronald Cole and Bill Fairley have jobs in the advertising department of the Fort Worth Press. Cole begins work this week as a proof-boy, and Fairley will start in July, after his marriage, in an executive capacity.

Miss Betty Sellars began work this week as woman's page editor of the Gainesville Daily Register. Don Pierson is to begin work in July in the advertising department of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"There have been more journalism job opportunities than there have been students wanting them," Prof. Ridings stated.

Administration Building Getting Interior Painted

Current campus renovation work, according to L. L. Dees, superintendent of buildings, includes painting the interior of the Administration Building.

Inside woodwork is being painted dark brown—the original color.

Fine Arts to Have New Music Degree

A new degree, Bachelor of Music in Church Music, has been added to the curriculum of the School of Fine Arts for next fall, according to Dean T. Smith McCorkle.

Designed to train ministers of music on a professional level, the new program will be made possible primarily by a new seventy-rank concert pipe organ which is to be installed in the new auditorium. Candidates for the new degree will take a major in either organ or voice and a minor in the other. In addition, a full major in religion courses will be required.

The curriculum will include music theory and history, choral conducting, hymnology, choral literature, liturgical music, children's church music and administration of church music programs, explains Dean McCorkle.

18 in Big Bend Area On Geological Trip

Eighteen students are on an annual summer field trip of the geology department in the Big Bend area of West Texas. The students are under the direction of Dan Jarvis, geology instructor, and Frank Dameron, B. A. '49. The trip lasts six weeks.

The group is staying at Mrs. Buttrell's Guest Ranch. Their only campus contact is copies of The Skiff that will be mailed to them.

The students left June 7 by school bus. A jeep was taken to be used in open field work.

recommend ideas to the social committee; club organizations chairman, who would serve as a link between campus clubs and congress; and a student development chairman, who would listen to all minority complaints or petitions and evaluate their importance.

2. Appointment of at least five standing committees, members of which will hold their positions during the congress' entire session. Any legislation brought before congress will be considered at least a week by one of these committees. The idea is to prevent hasty legislation.

3. Institution of a "vital" social program. The congress treasury now contains the regular $400 allotted to summer school sessions plus a $449 surplus voted over by the spring semester congress. In addition, the 25-cent student development fee paid by each student, which amounts to around $450 per six-weeks term, will be turned over to the congress by the Business Office, according to Kelly.

4. Establishment of a student court under exactly the same conditions as those of last semester's court.

5. Extensive consideration of the proposed constitutional revision on congressional representation.

6. Investigation of the possibility of establishing a student book exchange and co-operative laundry.

7. Investigation of current student medical fees.
