Board Approves $25,000 Lounge

BY RAY STOKES

The Board of Trustees today authorized remodeling of the Assembly Hall in the Administration Building into a student study lounge.

The trustees, in a business session in the president's office, passed the recommendation presented by Dr. Sadler. The rebuilding of the old auditorium will be planned architecturally to fit in with permanent reconstruction plans of the Administration Building, the board agreed.

Total cost of the study lounge, to be financed through income from student development and student union fees, is not to exceed $25,000.

Twenty faculty members were voted advancements in academic rank.

They are:

From associate professor to full professor: Dr. John Forsyth, biology; Dr. A. O. Spain, government; Dr. E. L. Pross, speech; Dr. Sandy A. Wall, education; Dr. Clarence J. Best, music; Dr. William L. Reed, Bible; and Prof. Keith Mixson, music.

From assistant professor to associate professor: Dr. Leo Hendricks, geology; Dr. L. M. Cecil, English; Dr. Ralph R. Guenther, music; and Prof. E. R. Alexander, chemistry.

From instructor to assistant professor: Sanders T. Lyles, biology; Daniel Jarvis, geology; Mrs. Jasmine S. Smoot, Spanish; Miss Marguerite Potter, history; Mrs. Mirth Sherer, social science; and Warren K. Agee, journalism.

From graduate assistant to temporary instructor: James Jones, geology, and John Lee, biology.

Dr. C. W. LaGrone was elevated to the chairmanship of the department of psychology, confirming his previous appointment. He succeeds Dr. Thomas F. Richardson who relinquished the chair because of his duties as dean of students.

In recommending immediate action for the new study lounge, Dr. Sadler pointed out that more than 60 per cent of the students come from Tarrant County. They do not have access to dormitory rooms for study purposes, he said.

The president also told the board that this is the first time in the history of T. C. U. that the enrollment has exceeded 6000. This is an increase of 400 over last year, when the total figure was 5883. The most pronounced increase in enrollment, he added, was in the School of Education and the Graduate School.

Dr. Sadler, in outlining the approximate $2,250,000 budget, expressed a great need for additional new buildings at the earliest possible date.

Three new members were elected to the board.

They are Sol Brachman, Fort Worth; Y. Q. McCammon, Fort Worth; and Hiram Reed, Austin.

Mr. Brachman is an officer and director of Producers Supply and Tool Company. He is chairman of the board of the Pioneer American Insurance Company, Houston.

Mr. McCammon, secretary of the T. C. U. building program committee, is a member of the accounting firm of McCammon, Morris, Pickens and Mayhew.

The third new member, Mr. Reed, is a son of the late Dave C. Reed, longtime T. C. U. board member. He is manager of the Reed estate.

All current officers were re-elected.

They are: Dr. L. D. Anderson, pastor of First Christian

Final Okay Granted Wage Plan

The graduated wage scale plan, passed by the Student Congress last week, has been approved by the Administrative Committee to go into effect in September.

More work must be done on the plan before it goes into operation, L. C. Wright, business manager, said.

The congressional investigation of the wage system on the campus was initiated Jan. 31, after the student lounge committee voted a salary increase of five cents per hour for all lounge workers who have at least 250 hours of service to their credit. One of the faculty members on the committee, however, pointed out that a wage increase for lounge employees might cause dissatisfaction among other workers.

An investigating committee, headed by Jim Whittaker, Rochester, N. Y., senior, worked out the plan, which includes a wage scale ranging from 50 to 75 cents per hour. The proposal divides student employees into four categories—campus crews, office workers, semi-professional aids and unclassified special workers.

2 Amendments To Be Voted On

Two constitutional amendments were passed unanimously by the student Congress Tuesday night in presentation to the students at the Sweetheart election ballot March 23.

The first amendment, which will go into effect in the summer session if passed by the student body, would increase the number of congress members from 19 to 26. It provides for the election of two class representatives rather than one and increases the upper-class representatives from three to six.

The second amendment states that a student may run for office without opposition.

Congress Signs Russ Morgan

Russ Morgan has been contracted by the Student Congress to play the Spring Formal March 31 at the Casino, at a cost of $2000.

Tickets, which will cost $3, stag or drag, will go on sale in the Student Lounge March 20. If tickets are purchased at the Casino the night of the dance, the charge will be $3.50.

Election rules for the selection of the 1950 T. C. U. Sweetheart, who will be presented at the dance, were adopted by the congress Tuesday night. The election will be March 23.

Candidates must be freshmen, sophomores or juniors and can be nominated only by affiliated campus organizations. Nominations may be placed in the box on the door of the congress office from next Wednesday morning through Saturday at noon.

Campaigning shall be conducted from 8 a.m. March 20 through 12 midnight March 22. Each candidate shall be limited to the posting of three signs not larger than 10 by 15 inches in the Administration Building and one of the same size in each of the other campus buildings. No advertising of any kind may be placed in the Student Lounge or within three feet of the congress office. Campaign expenses shall not exceed $10.

Rodeo Will Be Highlight Of Ranch Week Capers

BY JACK CLARK

Chills, thrills and spills will be on tap at the Ranch Week rodeo Saturday, March 18, at Ernest Allen's ranch, and bloodthirsty T. C. U. students are going to get a chance to break loose and howl.

The rodeo, sponsored by the T. C. U. Rodeo Association, begins at 2 p.m. Admission price is 75 cents per person. Free transportation will be provided from behind the Administration Building at 1:30 p.m.

Connie Mack Hood, association president, announced that all participants must be T. C. U. students and must register by Tuesday night in the congress office. A $2 entrance fee will be charged, from which prizes will be taken.

A meeting of all contestants will be held at 6 p.m. next Friday in the congress office.

Events include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, belled calf roping, bull riding, wild cow milking, girls' wild cow milking and girls' goat tying.

Contestants under 21 must have their parents' written permission. Contestants over 21 must sign a waiver releasing the school and the association from responsibility in case of injuries.

As for the remainder of Ranch Week preparations, the main headaches for the Chamber of Commerce are over.

The opening blast comes at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Assembly Hall with the swearing in of deputies by a real live sheriff—Sully Montgomery of Tarrant County.

"Ranch Daze," the Ranch Week musical show sponsored by the Pep Cabinet and the Vigilantes, follows immediately. The show will be repeated at 8 p.m. Friday. Admission is 50 cents stag or drag for each performance.

Directed by Odin Wilson, Fort Worth junior, the show is an original musical comedy on a burlesque plane. Jimmy Paschal, Horned Frog editor, wrote the music.

At 2 p.m. Friday, a downtown parade will be held. Bill Smith, Fort Worth senior and parade chairman, is still "screaming" for floats. Smith has arranged for trailers, and work on the floats can be done on the west side of the Stadium. Smith can be contacted at the School of Business concerning the trailers.

Smith also requested all persons wanting to drive convertibles or jalopies or ride horses to be in the parade.

Forming at 1:30 p.m. at the T. & P. Reservation, the parade will start at 2 p.m. The route will be north on Main to the courthouse and back south on Houston to the reservation. A $15 cash prize will be awarded for the most outstanding float.

Entertainment for Saturday begins at 10 a.m. with various contests behind the Administration Building. These are open to any student or faculty member.

Included are sack racing, tobacco spitting, cigaret rolling, cigar smoking, pie eating, egg tossing, pig chasing and a three-leg race. A Judge Roy Bean trial, with Joe Shosid, Fort Worth senior, as Judge Bean, will be held during the contests in the same area.

National Rank TISA Delegates Told to Vote Of TCU Music For Negro School Admission Is Advanced

The music department of the School of Fine Arts has advanced from associate to full membership in the National Association of Schools of Music.

A broad field of studies at T. C. U. is recognized by the association, including the Bachelor of Music degree with majors in theory, musicology, music education or any area of applied music, and the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music history and theory.

The department advanced according to the regular procedure of the association, spending two years as an associate member before being eligible for acceptance into full membership.

Price Doyle, president of the association and director of the division of fine arts at Murray State in Kentucky, made the inspections required for both associate and full membership. Fewer than 200 schools in the nation have achieved full membership.

Miss Rhode President Of EC Student Council

Miss Carol Rhode was elected president of the Evening College Student Council by acclamation at the first meeting of the semester last Friday night.

A representative from Government 322 class, Miss Rhode will replace Miss Nita Eldridge.

The Student Congress voted Tuesday night to instruct its delegates to the Texas Intercollegiate Students Association convention to vote for the admission of Negro colleges and universities to T. I. S. A., if the Administration approves the idea.

Two carloads of congress members will attend the convention April 21 and 22 at Baylor University. Bill Hamilton, congress president, will be the official voting delegate.

The problem of admitting Negro schools to the organization was discussed at a meeting of the executive board of T. I. S. A. in November at the University of Texas. Hal Autrey represented T. C. U. at the session.

Hamilton also was instructed by congress to request on the floor of the convention that constitutional requirement for voting be changed to increase the number of voting delegates. At present each school is allowed one vote, regardless of its size.

The congress also expressed its approval of a plan to invite schools from Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas to join the Texas association in certain co-operative measures and, if feasible, to incorporate colleges from all five states into a southwestern intercollegiate organization.

The Oklahoma Intercollegiate Students Association, which was formed last week, is the only such group in any of the other four states.

Thorp Andrews will be T. C. U.'s candidate for T. I. S. A. president for next year.

News Microfilm Received For Library's Collection

The Library recently received the latest microfilm of U. S. News and World Report, which completes its file on that magazine to date, Mrs. Bertie Mothershead, librarian announced.

The Library maintains a microfilm file on subjects ranging from "Sketches of the Southwest" and "Poetical Description of Texas" to "Romance of Sporting" and "Post-War Constitutions of the World." Some of the microfilms are photographed pages of current magazines, and others are photographed reproductions of rare documents, paintings and sketches.

Students are invited to use the microfilm reader equipment, which is kept in the Graduate Room of the Library, at any time.

Orchestra Clinic To Be Wednesday

The annual all-city high school orchestra clinic will be held Wednesday at the School of Fine Arts.

High school musicians will be instructed by faculty members of the School of Fine Arts in the morning, and will combine for full rehearsal of approximately 350 pieces in the afternoon.

School principals and conductors will be luncheon guests of Dr. T. Smith McCorkle in the Cafeteria.

The clinic is directed by Clarence J. Best, professor of music education. Brooks Morris, assistant professor of violin, will conduct.

Cadet Debaters To Invade T.C.U.

Cadet Captains Frank Watson and Jared Schopper, of the class of 1950, United States Military Academy, West Point, will stage a two-man invasion of the campus Wednesday. They will debate with T. C. U.'s Worth Dalton and James Cunningham.

The subject will be "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize the basic, non-agricultural industries."

T. C. U. will take the affirmative.

Both West Point men are honor students. Schopper, president of the debate council, spent 11 months in the army before going to West Point. At the academy he participates in varsity boxing. He's from Muskogee, Okla., and the Airborne Infantry is his choice of branch.

Watson is the son of an army colonel now stationed in Rome. He played freshman football at the Academy and is a varsity gymnast. The Corps of Engineers is his choice. Nashville and Chattanooga are his home-towns.

The cadets will be guests of the T. C. U. debaters at dinner Wednesday evening. The debate will be held at 8 p. m. in the radio room of the Fine Arts Building.

Ill Students Are Asked To Notify Infirmary

Dormitory students not confined to the Infirmary who want excuses from classes for being ill must notify the nurse at the time of their illness, states Miss Lucille Steers, head nurse.

"Many students, particularly girls, come in the next day and ask me for excuses," says Miss Steers. "In a few cases I have discovered that they were not in the dormitory at the time they were supposed to have been ill. Therefore, I must know definitely that they are in their rooms before I issue the excuse."

Contest Opens For Best Sermon

A sermon-writing contest, open to all students, is being sponsored by the Christian Service Fellowship. Entries must be submitted in triplicate by March 31.

The contest, which was discontinued about 10 years ago, is offered again this year in an effort to stimulate constructive homiletic effort on the part of those preparing for the ministry, said Eugene Brink, president of C. S. F.

It will be conducted in two divisions so that graduate and undergraduate students will not compete against each other.

Miss Price Acclaimed as Queen

The selection of Miss Ann Price as queen climaxed one of the most successful Intramural Open Houses years last Friday night. Prof. Thomas Prouse, head of the department of physical education, estimated that more than 1000 people attended the events.

A high point of the evening's entertainment was a comedy take-off on the queen contest, in which football players—Don Narbonne, Morelle ("Bull") Hicks, Orien Manning and Clarence ("Red") Mable—paraded in bathing suits.

Winners of the swimming meet were Bob McKnight in the 40-yard free style and the 100-yard free style, Martin Moore in the 40-yard breast stroke and Jake Moore in the 100-yard back stroke and 60-yard medley.

Varsity cagers defeated the varsity gridmen in a volleyball game, and in basketball the Wednesday Juniors became intramural champions by outscoring the Tuesday league seniors, 45-37.

Jerry Dulin won a French foil with an appropriate inscription on the guard by defeating Bill Porter, 5-4, in the fencing tournament finals.

Winners of the all-campus Golden Gloves were Don Fowler, novice bantamweight; Jim Ames, novice featherweight; Jose Alvarez, novice lightweight; Neil Lind, novice welterweight, junior division; David Easterling, novice heavyweight, senior division; James Ing, novice middleweight; Anderson, novice light-heavyweight; Charles Webster, open middleweight; Bob Kinney, open cruiserweight; Jeff Clark, novice heavyweight; and Clifford Wright, who won the open heavyweight title by default.

Nancy King Is Appointed to Lectures Committee

Miss Nancy King, Greenville, has been appointed to replace Miss Barbara Sterling on the Lectures and Concerts Committee. Miss Sterling resigned from the committee because she recently moved from Foster Hall to her home in Dallas and will not be on the campus to attend extracurricular meetings for the remainder of the semester.

'Pioneer American Modernist'

Weber Pictures on Exhibit In Fine Arts Gallery Now

A group of drawings and gouaches by Max Weber, pioneer American modernist, now on exhibit in the gallery of the Fine Arts Building, represent the artist's progress through several decades of work.

The pictures are lent to the exhibit by the artist and circulated by the American Federation of Arts through the National Exhibition Service. The exhibit will be here until March 22 and is open to the public from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. on weekdays.

Born in 1881 at Bialostok, Russia, Weber came to New York with his family when he was 10. The old world atmosphere, Hebrew ritual and picturesque environment of his childhood influenced his later painting.

When he was 16 he began his study of art at Pratt Institute and in his early twenties taught drawing and painting at several Virginia schools.

In 1904 he traveled through Spain, Italy and the low countries, stopping in Paris to study under Matisse. During his tour he became friendly with Henri Rousseau, who greatly influenced modern art. Weber was impressed by arts of the Orient, African wood sculptures and tribal arts of the American Indians.

Several of Weber's early works are exhibited here. Many are drawn from European sources and are reminiscent of primitive sculpture and El Greco.

Whether cubist, fauvist or expressionist his work is profoundly Jewish. More than 30 years ago Weber began depicting rabbis and women — predominantly expressionist interpretations.

Weber, who lives on Long Island, also has done landscapes, still life and urban mechanizations of New York City. His pictures are noted for their rhythm, balanced composition and rich color.

He May Talk to You

'Everyman' Has a Devil

Did the Devil ever talk to you? He will—horns, tail and all—in the production of "Everyman" March 20 through 25 in the Little Theater.

It's a "Hellzapoppin'" system of including the audience in the play, a system which didn't originate with Olsen and Johnson, but was used in the medieval ages, according to Dr. Walther Volbach, professor of speech-drama, who helped in adapting the play.

It is a three-act play but there is no lag for scene changing. Using the same settings eliminates the pause between acts.

Complicated lighting adds to the interest—and difficulty—of putting on the play. Howard Becknell, Emory senior, and Gale Nims, Greeley, Colo., graduate student, have a job keeping up with the 25 light transitions and hitting the right switches at the right instant.

Music for the production is taken from the medieval period when "Everyman" was first popular. Horace Whitehouse, professor of organ, has picked appropriate music from old Gregorian chants handed down from that era.

"Everyman" is a mortality play, known for centuries in Switzerland, Germany and other European countries. Probably it was originally Dutch, but it has been modernized and adapted by William M. Lamers, who was dean of Marquette University's School of Speech when Dr. Volbach taught there in 1940.

It was Dr. Volbach who suggested putting in the insertions which add more humor and drama to the production.

That is where the Devil walks among the audience with personal invitations. Sombre Death, all bones, is another creature who figures in the story.

Beauty (Dr. Volbach said all the girls wanted to play the part) and Angel, complete with wings, brighten things up for Death and the Devil.

Bob Weston plays the main role, Everyman. Miss Virginia Klein, instructor in speech-drama, is the director.

Tickets are on sale from 1 to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday in the Little Theater box office. Two extra performances may be added if necessary.

Student Team Inspects Drag

Drag business establishments were inspected by the trade booster committee yesterday as the first step in activation of the Trade Booster program adopted by the Student Congress Nov. 10.

Miss Nancy White, Fort Worth freshman; David Brune, Anna sophomore; and Gordon Hooten, Atlanta, Ga., junior made up the inspection team. Placards will be awarded within the next two weeks to establishments approved by the committee.

Any business which fails to receive an award after the first inspection will be inspected again in two weeks. Thorp Andrews, trade booster committee chairman, stressed that sanitary condition will be given primary consideration in deciding a firm's eligibility for approval, with prices being secondary in importance.

Teaching Staff In Night School Increased by 10

Eight new teachers have been added and two have rejoined the Evening College faculty this semester.

Lynn Ross, chief probation officer for Tarrant County, and D. P. Shore, Fort Worth, have returned after a few years' absence. Mr. Ross is teaching "The Child, the Clinic and the Court," and Mr. Shore instructs "Mathematics of Finance."

New faculty members and their courses are: Jack James of the public accountants firm, McCammon, Morris, Mayhew, and Pickens, "Accounting"; J. R. Lock, training specialist at Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation, "Introduction to Education"; Capt. E. L. Buckley, of Carswell Air Base, "Surveying."

Dr. Jules Glenn, and Dr. F. M. Wickersham, of the United States Public Health Service Hospital, "Mental Hygiene" and "Psychological Testing," respectively; Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, director of the city department of public health and welfare, "Public Health"; Mrs. Florence Luker, "Social Science Orientation"; and Dr. Arthur Berleiner, chief psychiatric social worker at the United States Public Health Service Hospital, "Principles of Social Case Work."

Guidance Center To Be Expanded

The Guidance Center, under the direction of Dr. Curtis J. Firkins, is expanding to occupy all of Building 8.

Work was begun Monday on the remodeling of the north end of the building. The classroom area three, formerly occupied by the chemistry department, is being converted into two appraisers' offices, an individual testing room, a group testing room, a file room and an entry hall equipped with benches for those waiting to be tested or interviewed.

Chemistry classes formerly held in Building 8 are now being held in Room 10, Building 5.

The additional room will enable the center, including the Testing Bureau, to improve both the quantity and quality of services rendered the University, says Dr. Firkins.

Dubbed Songs For Hayworth

'Sunny' O'Reilly Sang For Stars

"Ooooo, looka there ain't she purty?"

In the case of Mrs. Florence ("Sunny") O'Reilly Walter, the answer is yes. Furthermore, the Fort Worth sophomore has talent to go with her "petty girl" face and figure.

Although her face hasn't been seen on the screen, millions of showgoers have heard her voice. "Put the Blame on Mame" but put the voice of Sunny on the sound track. That's what the producers of "Gilda" decided when they selected Mrs. Walter to sing the song for Rita Hayworth.

Sunny also sang "Amada Mio" for Miss Hayworth in the film. Her voice has been dubbed onto the sound track for other stars such as Janet Blair, Janis Carter and Jinx Falkenberg.

Sunny, 25, started singing during her early school years. From there she went into the amateur field and finally went East where she began singing with the Fred Waring chorus. She did not sing on any of the network broadcasts, but only received vocal training with the group.

In 1943-44, she sang with Frankie Carle's orchestra when his vocalist quit for awhile to become a mother. After eight months with the Carle organization, Sunny went to the West Coast and was employed at Columbia Studios.

It was in 1946 that she sang the songs for Rita Hayworth's film.

Sunny next joined the Bob Crosby band and sang with him for six months at the Palladium.

Since then, she has returned to school to major in drama and speech arts. Sunny is leaning toward a career in television at the present.

Agnini Is Due Next Week For 'Faust'

Full scale operations will begin for the production of the opera "Faust" when Armando Agnini arrives next week from San Francisco to take over stage direction.

Director Karl Kritz, former Metropolitan Opera conductor and director of the San Francisco and Pittsburgh operas, has been at T. C. U. since November directing the University's part in the production to be presented March 22 through 24 at Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium.

Presented by the Fort Worth Opera Association in co-operation with the School of Fine Arts, the opera will be the first in Fort Worth under the direction of Mr. Kritz. The T. C. U. politan Opera and now living for Mr. Agnini it will be a return engagement. He was stage director for "Rigoletto" presented in Fort Worth in November, 1947.

The chorus, orchestra and ballet troupe have been practicing several weeks in preparation for rehearsals.

The cast will include Walter Fredericks as Faust and Uta Graf as Marguerite, both from New York. Mephistopheles will be sung by W. M. Hargrave, formerly with the Metropolitan Opera and now living in Fort Worth. Arthur Shoep of North Texas State will be Valentine; Miss Mary Lou Palmros, Fort Worth, will sing Siebel; Miss Martha Pulliam, Fort Worth, will sing Dame Marthe; and Dan Merriman will sing Wagner. Merriman is a T. C. U. sophomore from Fort Worth.

In the ballet troupe will be Miss Gloria Benson, Abilene freshman; Bob Weston and Robert Ross, Fort Worth sophomores; Odin Wilson, Fort Worth junior; Billy Evans and Bob Fox, Fort Worth freshmen; and Misses Catherine Horn and Patti Karkilits, Fort Worth freshmen.

20 Students May Attend Medical Meeting in May

About 20 students will have the opportunity to attend the Texas State Medical Association's annual meeting in Fort Worth, May 1 to 4, says Dr. Willis G. Hewatt, biology professor.

The students will be able to hear and speak with well-known men in the medical field and in addition, will be paid for their services.

"This work should be of special interest to pre-medical students," says Dr. Hewatt. He will give complete details to interested students.

Congress Passes Laws To Regulate Absences

Two by-laws regulating congressional absences were passed by the Student Congress recently.

According to the first by-law, three absences from called congress meetings shall constitute one unexcused absence from congress.

Any member who fails to arrive at congress meetings by 6:05 p.m. for four times shall have one unexcused absence on his record.

The latter by-law was passed, said Student Congress President Bill Hamilton, to encourage the arrival of a quorum by 6 p.m.

Library Gets 8 Novels, Two Non-Fiction Books

Eight new novels were received by the Mary Couts Burnett Library last week.

They are "The Wall," by Hersey; "The Parasites," Du Maurier; "Black Gold," a novel of a Texas oil town, Gibson; "The Horse's Mouth," Cary; "Gentian Hill," Goudge; "Love Story," McKenney; "I Married a Dinosaur," Brown; and "The King's Cavalier," by Shellabarger.

Two non-fiction books—"Painting as a Pastime" by Churchill and Vogue's "Book of Etiquette"—also were received last week.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

Auditorium Enthusiasm

Ed Landreth Auditorium came into its own this week.

Mr. Bennett Cerf, noted publisher, humorist and lecturer, was in it Tuesday night and Woody Herman's Woodchoppers were there 24 hours later. Each time there were almost a thousand persons along to fill the seats and listen to the sounds that emanated from the stage.

The sounds were completely different in each case. Mr. Cerf moved subtly and with dignified warmth from humorous remarks to serious beliefs and back again, leaving the audience as he said good humor should leave anyone—"with a pleasant feeling inside." But he had people howling with laughter several times, too.

Mr. Herman's musicians caused some howling also, but it wasn't jokish laughter. Cries of pure ecstasy mingled with wails of utter revulsion as the seven men crashed and slid through the modern-music concert. At least there wasn't any passive acceptance of what went on, and the audience came away stimulated.

There was plenty of life in the auditorium those two nights. Its walls and ceiling and design gripped the sound and gave it to listeners sitting in every corner of the house. Both speakers (Mr. Herman DID do a little talking) commented on what a fine place it was.

'Tis a fine place—but not without students sitting in it and something going on on the stage.

The students have shown, in two short nights, great enthusiasm for two widely varying types of entertainment. The Skiff hopes the committee on lectures and concerts, the Student Congress and all campus groups in a position to do so will take advantage of this enthusiasm by keeping the auditorium's calendar jam-packed.

Back Where They Started

A poor climax to a year and a half's arguing, channeling and committee-ing—that's essentially The Skiff's estimate of the representation amendment which the Student Congress has lately hatched up.

The amendment will be sandwiched in with the T. C. U. Sweetheart election March 23, and students will be expected to vote it into the constitution, just as if their doing so will solve all the trouble.

In reality, this amendment doesn't solve a thing. All it does is increase the number of congressmen from 19 to 26 under the same old outworn and out-moded class system of representation.

Students elected to the Student Congress cannot represent classes as such because of the sharp lines drawn by the various schools and colleges on the campus. They know the problems of the persons in their particular school, and they are not necessarily aware of those of students in other schools just because they have the same number of semester hours.

The main basis of representation should be along school and college lines, as The Skiff has repeatedly urged. But now the congress has seen fit to make the ancient class system's position even more secure by proposing an amendment which would increase the number of class representatives from one to two and the number of upper-class representatives-at-large from three to six.

The Skiff would like to see this hodge-podge of a compromise—and it's hardly even that—go down in ignominious defeat, and by doing so, throw the door open once more so our student legislators would be pushed in to search for the right solution all over again.

Maybe next time they wouldn't come out by the same door wherein they went.

Plaudits . . .

. . . to the planning committee responsible for last week's highly entertaining Intramural Open House. The events moved smoothly and on a schedule designed to get maximum attendance at each event. And maximum was the word for the approximately 1000 spectators who took in the show. The good showmanship together with the splendid turn-out made the affair one of the most successful intramural functions in years, according to Co-ordinator Tom Prouse, head of the physical education department. And, Miss Wingo—thanks for those high-heeled shoes.

. . . to the Student Congress for securing the services of one Russ Morgan and his orchestra to play for the Spring Formal March 31. Three dollars stag or drag seems a mite high to us, but maybe we're just spoiled.

Nuts . . .

. . . to the deadheads in the Fort Worth traffic department who let homicidal drivers speed down University Dr. at 60 m. p. h. The first time a student is maimed or killed—which probably won't be a long time from now—it won't be the fault of the driver so much as the fault of those down at the City Hall who haven't even tried to do anything about this junior Indianapolis Speedway. A traffic light at the Drug crossing might save a life, gentlemen.

STAIR-CLIMBER'S LAMENT

OR

IT'S TOUGH ENOUGH WITHOUT PEOPLE ALL THE TIME GETTING IN THE WAY

Martha Smirk and Billy Quirk are standing on the stairs. Apparently completely unmindful of the fact that people are trying to get either up or down singly, in groups or even in pairs. Every day when the bell rings signaling the changing of classes. There are Martha and Billy, impeding the masses. They could just as easily conduct their tete-a-tete somewhere else than between the Post Office and the doorway, Such as the Student Lounge or the Book Store or even Oslo, Norway. And then the poor guy who has a class on the third floor the next period and wants to get to the lounge and buy a Coke. Could maybe do it and get back in time and so not have to brave the searing sarcasm of Mr. Robertson or Mr. Polk. So here's hoping that Martha and Billy take the hint and stop standing on the stairs between classes. Before some clumsy hurrying brute knocks them down and breaks their little glasses.

Cogitatin' With the Editor

'But the Joik Didn't Tell Enough Doity Stories!'

BY LARRY DENTON

We were delighted and rather surprised by the number of students who turned out to hear Mr. Shaggy Dog himself, Bennett Cerf, Tuesday night. And we got the impression that most of the people who went to the lecture were pretty well pleased with Mr. Cerf.

The only complaint we heard came from a few students who went to the lecture expecting to hear an uninterrupted stream of stories—preferably of the shady variety. They were hurt, confused and completely discommodated by the fact that Mr. Cerf had the audacity to attempt to TELL them something—and about book publishing, yet.

Bennett, you're a naughty boy. How dare you try to tell a college audience about the publishing business, simply because you know as much about it as anyone in the world. And you even—oh, how could you—you even mentioned something about "taste," when you could have been discussing something profound, like a conversation between Pat and Mike.

Seriously, we believe most of the audience thought the lecture amusing and informative. Those who didn't should have stayed home and curled up with a comic book.

We got a particularly large kick out of Mr. Cerf's story about the machine which sends out "Your-subscription - has - expired" letters for Time and Life. It got stuck, it seems, and sent something like 11,000 identical letters to a Montana sheepherder.

What, we reflected, if something like this happened in our own little monument to man's ingenuity, the statistician's office? Our family is usually pretty well shattered by just one report card. Eleven thousand would do them in completely, we fear.

Well, as long as it had to happen, we're glad it happened to Henry Luce and not to us. He's enough of a man to take such things with a philosophical smile, we imagine.

Mr. Cerf, good diplomat that he is, said our little old auditorium looked like Radio City Music Hall, which is a pretty good way of pleasing an audience. And we can vouch for this statement, even though we've never been farther east than Shreveport. We seen pitchers.

But for all its esthetically pleasing modernity, the auditorium seems to us to be a somewhat uncomfortable place for a lecture, mainly because of the determined-looking acoustical shell which surrounds the speaker. When the lecturer troops bravely out across that broad expanse, we half expect him to be followed by a 75-piece symphony orchestra. And we are tempted to listen for the eerie sound of a bassoon in the middle of the most profound goings-on.

Disconcerting as it may be at times, however, the shell served its purpose Wednesday night when Woody Herman and cohorts blasted out an evening's entertainment without even so much as mentioning book publishing.

The use-and-scheduling committee need never worry again about the auditorium's being torn up. If it can survive the foot-stomping and stationary, jitterbugging which Mr. Herman inspired, it can survive anything.

A spine-rattling good time was had by all, we understand.

Whatever That Is

Ranch Week Rolls Along With Kaleidoscopic Unity

BY FRANK BURKETT

The Ranch Week tension keeps mounting. The foreman and queen—Bernie Robertson and the Meeneke—went down and kissed some movie paper; the Chamber of Commerce boys spread this week with their hands full of tickets for Ranch Week play, barbecue, rodeo and dance—each for $4.50, and that pays for a date, too—and asking for takers; the beards got longer and longer; and Joe Shosid was appointed "Judge of the Bean."

The wheels who are getting everything arranged have the old haggard look by now, which is pretty good evidence that Ranch Week may proceed with excessive smoothness.

For instance, the parade chairman is already worrying about the prices of various equine displays (horse stables to you illiterates) from which he hopes to rent a bunch of mules and wagons. He also wants gobs of floats and jalopies—ughh—convertibles.

And the over-all co-ordinator of the whole shebang, who got out his printing press this week and came up with four different colors of tickets, keeps getting red in the face and hollering at the promoters of the Ranch Week show to get on the ball and have some rehearsals and—

Well, it just goes on and on in a sort of kaleidoscopic unity. We're looking for great things.

About that $4.50 it will cost to take in every-thing, it's been pointed out that that's a lot of money for a guy to let loose of just to go western for one weekend. Well, we don't think it is, not when the facts are faced, which they have to be.

Where else, as the con men say, could you take a date to dinner, a rodeo, the theater and then a dance for the aforementioned paltry sum? Even if each piece of entertainment was of the very cheapest variety, you'd be lucky to get out for 15 bucks. You might do it all by yourself for ten, but you can go dateless a la Ranch Week for only three dollars. What we're trying to say is, you can't lose.

There is at T. C. U. a tremendous need for advertising and publicity of most campus events. Most of the flops—plays, lectures, dances, etc.—are the direct result of inadequate publicity.

Every campus affair is an investment. Either the Student Congress is spending the money, or the Administration is. It should be the duty of both to see that enough of the total goes into advertising to assure the success of whatever the bulk of the money is being spent on. It's just good business.

The Skiff writes up all campus happenings and coming attractions and tries to give its support editorially. But punch-promotion, actual selling of an idea, is the only thing that will stir the average student from his curricular lethargy and get him to come out.

T. C. U. is unfortunate in that it's too big for the word to get around via the grapevine, and yet too small to have raised any appreciable crop of promoters—the "gladdaseeya" characters who infest the larger universities and serve a definite purpose. They are the future press-agents, promoters, "politicians" if you like, of the country's tremendous advertising and publicity mills. And apparently we could use a few more of them here.

We've got a publicity office to tell all non-T. C. U. folks what goes on around here, and as a result they're sometimes more well informed than those students who don't read The Skiff. So what to do?

We'd like to recommend a centralized "promoting" agency right here on the campus, to be run by students, which would push every single activity that anyone could dream up—and had money for. It would require originality and a lot of work, but it would be great training.

And it just might improve a bunch of attendances.

"I understand he was just about to graduate—and the veteran's office made him take a vocational aptitude test."

'Bop in Herman Manner'

Woody Made Music, Not Conglomeration of Sound

Seven musicians gave a concert in Ed Landreth Auditorium Wednesday night, and they nearly blew the place down in two short hours.

They also demonstrated that Bop in the Woody Herman manner is not some weirdly esoteric conglomeration of sound to be drooled over by beret-bearing hangers-on. It's music, the kind you pat your foot to. Of course you have to pat it pretty fast sometimes.

From the start it was apparent that the Woodchoppers weren't playing a distinctly new type of music—they were playing old tunes, good tunes so far as jazz goes, in a new way. The arrangements were 1950-style, but the selections themselves were time-tested.

Mr. Herman himself went up high and stayed there on his clarinet numerous times, but he came down often enough to sing several numbers. He still sings with his shoulders, and his "I Ain't Gettin' Any Younger" was reminiscent of the days when he did more vocalizing than anything else. He stuck pretty close to his horn Wednesday night, however, and slapped it whenever an old Dixieland wail crept into it.

The big sensation of the group was Bill Harris, the trombone king. He did amazing things with lip slurs, and his big, warm tone was full of feeling in everything he played, from a languid "Mean to Me" to a knockdown dragout chorus on "Flyin' Home," the number that climaxed the concert and had the audience jumping in their seats.

Pretty, blonde Jackie Stevens, the featured vocalist, sang four selections with discreet enthusiasm, ending with "The Man I Love," a song which requires throaty huskiness and got it.

Sonny Igoo on drums and Milton Jackson on the vibraphone had complete control of the technical aspects of playing bop, in that double and triple timing seemed to cause them little or no trouble. Igoo used his brushes extensively during the slower tempoes but Jackson was always tinkling around about three times as fast as everyone else, except on one number, "Tenderly," which was a haunting, near-classical piece of comfortable melancholy.

And "Lemon Drop," starring the "glee club," was great.

Oil and Philosophy Just Don't Mix

HOW GOOD A REASON can one guy have for cutting class?

"I was too excited to study for that philosophy test Thursday," was the reason A. P. Briggs, Frederick, Okla., Evening College student gave for cutting class.

Briggs, who admits to being past 50, gave his excuse for hurrying back to Oklahoma—a 1400-barrel oil gusher came in five miles from his ranch.

THIS CHARACTER has really got an honest face: Obie Boyd, Arlington junior, now knows the real meaning of the axiom "Birds of a feather flock together."

Obie was in the identification department of the City Hall making application for the Civil Air

Patrol. He was required to have his fingerprints taken.

In another section of the room, a group of Negro suspects were getting the same treatment. One of them looked up, spotted Obie and asked sardonically,

"Boy, what you in for?"

ALMOST LIKE WHICH TWIN has the Toni: The crowd at the open house boxing matches was liberal with cheers for its favorites.

At the announcement that the twins, Jake and Martin Moore, Fort Worth sophomores, were to put on an exhibition bout, a friend of Jake's began praising his style, speed and ability.

"Come on, Jake," he yelled as the boys climbed into the ring.

Then came a few minutes of silence.

Both fighters were in boxer shorts of the same color, and they seemed identical.

Turning to a friend, Jake's supporter asked,

"Which one is Jake?"

NUNN'S MYSTERY PLAYHOUSE: Dr. W. C. Nunn, in his History 332 class, walked to the board and after looking over the situation turned to the class.

"I can't understand," he said, "how it is that you can get chalk all over your back and still there is no chalk in the trays."

HE REALLY WHISTLES while he works: This week Bobby Moor-man was assigned an oral report in one of Dr. Comer Clay's government classes. The title was, "Is War with Russia Inevitable?" This naturally involved saying the word "inevitable" several times during the speech.

Bobby got up and gave the title of his report after considerable difficulty with "inevitable." He turned and said, "Dr. Clay, I just can't say that word."

Before Dr. Clay could answer, a member of the class advised,

"Just whistle when you come to the word, Bob."

Bobby smiled sheepishly and said,

"It's worse than you think. I'm going to read this report which I copied from a magazine and I'll have to whistle for a lot of words."

WHAT NEXT?

Debates Set At Louisiana, Texas A.&M. Sandstorm Didn't Stop Cerf; Or Crowd That Heard Him

After bringing home the second-place trophy for senior men's debate in the Savage tournament, T. C. U.'s speakers are having a double engagement in the next five days.

Students debating yesterday and today in a tournament at Texas A. & M. are Jerry Heltzel, San Antonio senior; Austin Denny, Houston senior; James Cunningham, Fort Worth sophomore, and Worth Dalton, Fort Worth senior.

They will go to Natchitoches, La., for another meet at Southwestern Louisiana Institute Monday and Tuesday. Others to join them at Natchitoches include: John Howell, Fort Worth sophomore; Thorp Andrews, and Misses Amelia Douglas, Electra sophomore; Paula McDaniel, Fort Worth junior; Glenna Wilson, Nocona freshman and Nancy Williams, Newton, Miss., freshman.

In the Savage Forensic Tournament at Southwestern Oklahoma State College in Durant, Okla., Dalton and Cunningham went to the finals against the host team. Heltzel and Denny lost in the eliminations to Winfield, Kan., which in turn lost to Dalton and Cunningham.

Misses Douglas and McDaniel were among the six finalists in women's oratory and Denny won a medal for Bible reading.

No, Not 'Vanity,' He Said, 'Yanity'

Know what "yanity" is? If not, then don't bother to look in the dictionary. You wouldn't find it there.

The word is a concoction of Dr. Cecil H. Cheverton, head of the religion department. He spoke Tuesday to the Women's Council of Magnolia Avenue Christian Church on "The Religion of Yanity."

"The word has given me a lot of trouble," he said, "through being misquoted as 'vanity,' but it has also afforded me a lot of fun through answering puzzled questions as to its meaning."

"If you speak the word 'Christianity' and leave the word 'Christ' off—there you have yanity," Dr. Cheverton explained. "There is a great deal of 'the religion of yanity' these days," he added.

Reception Will Be Held Following Recital Tonight

A reception for the T. C. U. Chorus and the Young Artists' Club will be held at the Fort Worth Conservatory tonight after a program at Paschal High School.

The program, sponsored by the Fort Worth Music Study Club, will include songs by the chorus under the direction of Prof. William J. Marsh. Prof. Marsh will play the accompaniment for soprano Ann Guest, Fort Worth sophomore. Marshal Robinson, Fort Worth freshman will play the piano.

Admission is 75 cents and starting time is 8:15 p.m.

McAninch Named Soloist

Music Instructor D. A. McAninch has been selected as oboe soloist for the Waukika Band Festival March 23 and 24 at Waukika, Okla. Mrs. McAninch will be piano accompanist.

C. of C. Banquet

Not even a miniature sandstorm could stop Bennett Cerf or the crowd that came to hear him Tuesday night in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Before starting his talk, he commented that he was used to wind. He had just come from Hollywood.

"Humor properly used is a wonderful, wonderful thing," he said.

The author and publisher stressed the importance of humor during these times. He said it was more necessary today than ever before; without it we would blow our tops.

American humor underwent a subtle but distinct change at the end of the war. At this time it went from stories of insult to stories of situation, said Cerf.

It was almost an accident that he became a humorist. During the war he decided that the public was in need of humor. He collected numerous amusing war tales and had them published in a 25 cent Pocket Book edition. To his amazement the book sold more than a million and a half copies.

This led to his writing "Try and Stop Me," which he labeled as one of the greatest gyps ever perpetrated on the American public. Overnight he found himself one of the country's leading jokesters.

Cerf said that few persons know how rapidly a new joke gets around the country. A joke is told in New York at 10 a. m. At 11 it is told in Dallas. By noon it has reached the West Coast. That night four comedians tell it on their program. And six months later Walter Winchell "originates" it on his broadcast.

Cerf told of his school days while serving as editor of "The Jester," the humor magazine at Columbia University.

He got his chance at being editor while a sophomore and felt very proud for a few days. Then he met Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who was president of the university at that time.

"There were two ways to meet Dr. Butler," Cerf related. "One way was to contribute a million dollars to the school. The other was for the humor editor to publish a shady joke. I chose the latter."

Humor on college campuses today has not changed much since Cerf's school days. However, it has been influenced greatly by the New Yorker magazine, he believes.

Cerf also told the problems of a publisher and made the forecast that next fall the public would be reading books of a nostalgic style.

N.A.M. Official to Speak

With "Ten Factories in Your Future," as his topic, Earl Bunting of New York, managing director of the National Association of Manufacturers, will speak to students in the School of Business at 11 a. m. Thursday in Room 4 of Building 1.

Mrs. Adams Addresses Local Pre-School Group

Mrs. Jessie C. Adams, assistant professor of psychology and assistant personnel director, spoke Wednesday to the Arlington Heights Pre-School Group at the home of Mrs. W. R. Casstevens, 4317 Lovell. Her subject was "Child Development."

Miss Jackie Miller, Fort Worth senior and student assistant of the office of student personnel, sang at the Wednesday meeting of the Alice Carlson P.T. A.

Graduate, Education Schools Gain

Cards Reveal Frogland Facts, Figures

Figures, figures, figures. Taxpayers figure; tax experts figure; in fact, everybody figures. Even the University statistician, under the direction of Registrar S. W. Hutton, gets covered up in figures. But with the help of I. B.

M. "mechanical brains," the statistician can "break down" the University (figuratively speaking, that is) quicker than a tax collector can spot the wrong figure.

In a shorter time than is required to compute a vagrant's assets, the statistician untangled, one by one, the 6,284 matriculation cards which in themselves indicate a new high in enrollment during the 1949-50 school year.

Individually and collectively, the cards reveal many facts about the pursuits, geographical background, gender and even the religious classification of all students.

Some 2093 students have chosen the Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences as their avenue to knowledge. And in this college geology, with 304 majors, leads the field. Psychology aspirants (168) and English "grammarians" (155) are the closest pursuers, with 140 religious majors running a close fourth.

At least 1175 students are preparing to launch a business career. That number are enrolled in the School of Business. The School of Education boasts of 1043 potential school "marms" and masters. The School of Fine Arts continues to grow, with 493 majoring in art, music and speech-drama.

Possibly the most significant report of all comes from the Graduate School which shows a gain of almost one hundred per cent over last year. More than 1000 students are in the graduate or post-graduate classification. This indication coupled with the fact that 1331 seniors will be graduate in 1949-50 shows that T. C. U. is getting away from junior college status, according to a statement made by President M. E. Sadler this week.

Brite College of the Bible has 109 ministerial students and 118 undergraduates are in training in Harris College of Nursing. The latter school shows a 15 per cent increase over last semester.

In a lighter vein, the men outnumber the girls two-to-one. The greatest gap between the two lies in the senior class. There are 506 men and 185 girls.

Men prefer Evening College three to one; that is, there are 1016 men registered to 245 women.

The freshman class, including both day school and Evening College, is the largest class, with 1623 enrolled. Some 740 of these attend Evening College. Junior class total is 1043, trailed by the sophomores with 988.

In church affiliation, the Baptists predominate. They are 1725 strong. Methodists rank second, with 1357. More than 1000 students are members of the Christian church.

A total of 37 different faiths are represented on the campus.

T. C. U. has a strong drawing power for home folks. More than half of the total enrollment claims Fort Worth as home. Approximately 1225 students come from other Texas points and 580 live in states other than Texas. Twenty-two foreign students are enrolled from several Latin American countries, Sweden, China, Japan and India.

11 Will Go To Convention In San Antonio

T. C. U. will be well represented at the 63rd state convention of Christian churches Monday through Thursday at San Antonio. Eleven persons will attend the meeting with 10 appearing on the program.

Those planning to attend include President M. E. Sadler; Dean Lay Lindley, Dr. William L. Reed and Prof. W. A. Welsh, all of Brite College; Dean A. T. DeGroot of the Graduate School; Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton, chairman of the religion department; Prof. Norris Greer and Prof. Keith Mixson of the School of Fine Arts; Noel L. Keith, special assistant to the president; Miss Ruth Towne, professor of religious education; and Miss Peggy Thomas, Wichita Falls junior.

Dr. Sadler will preside at a breakfast given complimentary to the ministers by T. C. U.

Those who will deliver addresses are Dean Lindley, speaking on "Ministerial Training in Texas"; Dean DeGroot, on "Christian Education in Texas"; and Miss Thomas, on "The Voice of Youth." Miss Thomas, president of the Texas Christian Youth Fellowship, also will speak at a youth banquet.

Dr. Reed will give a series of three Bible lectures.

Prof. Greer will sing a tenor solo, accompanied by Prof. Mixson at the piano, prior to an address by Dr. Jesse M. Bader, director of evangelism for the Federal Council of Churches.

Prof. Welsh will deliver a sermon entitled, "Worldwide Christian Victory."

"The Use of the Bible in Teaching Adults" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. Cheverton.

Miss Towne will speak at an Intermediate Workshop on "The Place of the Adult Leader."

Brite College will sponsor a luncheon honoring its former students.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Central Christian Church.

TCU Students Invited To Sociology Convention

T. C. U. students have been invited to attend a "round-up" in Houston of students interested in social and community work, says Dean Thomas F. Richardson. Dates are March 30 and 31 and April 1.

Invitations have been sent to all Texas colleges, and representatives of the American Group Workers Association will be present to supply information about training requirements and opportunities in group work.

Psychology and sociology students may contact their department heads for further information, and other interested students should see Dr. Richardson.

He's the Outdoor Type

'Absent-Minded Prof' Idea Defied by Dr. LaGrone

The usual conception of the college professor with his head in the clouds and his hobby of raising double-stemmed wisteria doesn't fit the new head of the psychology department any more than a ballet dancer's slippers fit a roustabout.

Dr. Cyrus LaGrone, appointed as the head of the psychology department, effective September 1, is the outdoor type. Ten minutes after leaving the faculty reception for Bennett Cerf Tuesday night, he was seen leading his paint pony to the watering trough.

Dick Walther, graduate psychology major, says, "Every time I call him at home, Mrs. LaGrone has to call him in from the yard."

The stable in which Dr. LaGrone keeps his horse, and the fence around the yard, are both products of the native ingenuity and perspiration of the good doctor himself. He spends leisure moments riding about the fields and gullies in the neighborhood of the LaGrone home, 2533 Frazier.

Dr. LaGrone has been on the psychology department faculty since 1947, a full professor since 1948. A native Texan he took his Ph. D. from the University of Texas in 1934 and then joined the faculty of Lee Junior College, where he served until 1940.

He served on the University of Texas faculty as instructor in educational psychology from 1940 to 1942, when he entered military service.

After four years in the Army Medical Corps, he became professor of educational psychology at the University of Southern California in 1946 and came to T. C. U. a year later.

Dr. Thomas Richardson, whom Dr. LaGrone succeeds as chairman of the psychology department, will concentrate his energies on his duties as dean of students, a position created in 1949.

rector, wired his congratulations to President M. E. Sadler on T. C. U.'s

Three January Graduates Girls Sign Petitions Employed by Newspapers For Coke Machines

The three journalism majors who completed requirements for graduation in January are now employed by newspapers.

John Barker, Fort Worth, is employed as a sports reporter on the Dallas Morning News; C. O. ("Hap") Cole, Fort Worth, is employed by the Fort Worth Labor News; and Charles Thompson, Fort Worth, is employed as police and city hall reporter for the Odessa American.

Six petitions for Coca-Cola vending machines in Waits and Foster Halls were presented to the Student Congress Tuesday night.

The petitions which were signed by about 250 women from the two dormitories, will be presented to Miss Elizabeth Shelburne, dean of women.

"Congress had nothing to do with getting the petitions out," said President Bill Hamilton.

HONORABLE MENTION: Gene Schmidt and Harvey Fromme, T. C. U.; John DeWitt and Walt Davis, Texas A. & M.; Bill Srack and Odell Preston, Baylor; Warren Switzer, Rice; and Jack Hess, Arkansas.

Gangling George McLeod, one of the Southwest's most promising basketball "finds," and Coach Byron ("Buster") Brannon, the Frogs' 39-year-old cage mentor, grabbed T. C. U.'s share of the honors in The Skiff's second annual all-Southwest Conference basketball selections announced today.

BYRON ("BUSTER") BRANNON

McLeod, sophomore center on the Christians' quintet, joins three seniors—Texas' Tom Hamilton, Baylor's Don Heathington and Arkansas' James Cathcart—along with a junior from Texas A. & M., Jewell McDowell, on the first all-Conference team selected in a poll of sports editors of the seven conference schools' campus newspapers.

Brannon, who returned to his Alma Mater in 1948 to rebuild Frog cage fortunes, was named the conference's "Coach of the Year" in basketball by the collegiate scribes.

Cotton-thatched McLeod snared further laurels by being named the circuit's "most promising sophomore."

The portly Hamilton grabbed off two other honors in the poll—the loop's "Most Valuable Player" award, and possessor of the most accurate and spectacular shot—his deadly hook shot.

In other balloting, McDowell's last-second field goal against Baylor was voted the "top play" of the season and the writers picked S. M. U., T. C. U. and Texas A. & M. as favorites for the 1950-51 race.

MCLEOD

Hamilton, who topped loop scorers in both full season and conference play, was the only unanimous choice. Heathington was named on six first-place ballots while McDowell carried five first ballots. McLeod received four votes for first place and Cathcart, three.

Rice's Joe McDermott was edged off the first team by

Annual Scrimmage to End Spring Training for Frogs

BY DAVID DICKINSON
Skiff Sports Writer

The annual Frog Club scrimmage will close out the spring training grind tomorrow afternoon with a rough-and-tumble, no-holds-barred meeting pitting the Whites against the Purples.

The scrimmage at the Stadium is open to students and Frog Club members. The squad will take the field at 2 o'clock.

It will also be the "Pitcocks" versus the "Eubanks" when the two best-rated teams meet. Roy Pitcock will play center and act as captain for the White team, generally considered the No. 1 unit of the spring. Center Max Eubank will lead the Purple team in the "grudge" battle.

Quarterback for the Whites will be Gilbert Bartosh, the Granger Ghost. Johnny Dunn and John Medanich will be at the halves and Bobby Jack Floyd will start at fullback.

The White line has Bill Moorman and Wilson George at ends, Willie Mathis and Norman Hughes at tackles, Alton Taylor and Tom Evans at guards and Pitcock at center. Seven lettermen, two squadmen, a transfer and a Wog grad compose the starting lineup for the Whites.

The No. 1 Purple team will have a backfield of Quarterback Dan Wilde, Halfbacks Bill Murphy and Malvin Fowler and Fullback Jack Ray. Ends Bob Moorman and Teddy Vaught, Tackles Doug Conway and Frank Struska, Guards Billy Willingham and Milton Farmer and Center Eubank make up the Purple line. Ray was ineligible last season. Murphy was a squadman and Fowler and Vaught played on the Wog team. The others are lettermen.

Jim Amburg, Don Thompson, Bob Blair, Robert Snow, all four Wogs last season, Keith Flowers, a letterman, and Capt. Clarence ("Red") Marable are on the injured list. Marable and Blair have been held out all spring and Amburg went down with a rib separation in Saturday's practice. Snow, Thompson and Flowers were injured earlier in the spring session.

Schmidt Will Play In A. A. U. Tourney

Gene Schmidt, the Frogs' five-year cage letterman, will play with the powerful Hooker-Vandergriff quintet in the Amateur Athletic Union regional basketball tournament at San Antonio this weekend. His participation with the Motormen will in no way affect his track eligibility, Athletic Director Howard Grubbs states.

Twins Leading Intramural Race

Identical twins last week took over the lead in the intramural individual point standings at the end of the third phase of the intramural program.

Jake and Martin Moore maintained an even pace through football, volleyball and basketball.

However, Martin, on the strength in his activities in Intramural Open House last Friday, has climbed into sole possession of first place with 187 points to Jake's 179.

The eight high-point men at the end of the year will receive intramural letter jackets from the physical education department.

Following the Moore twins in the standings are: Lester Fisher and Joe Easter, 160 points each; Philip Jordan, 159; Ken McCall, 157; Pat Shannon, 155; and Richard Collier, 150 points.

Baker Quits; Hope Dims For Net Men

T. C. U.'s 1950 tennis fortunes took a big drop this week with the decision of letterman John Baker, Fort Worth junior, to withdraw from the team.

Baker, who was a logical contender this year for the No. 2 position behind Dick Osburn, said he is making the move in order to preserve his final year of eligibility until the 1951 season.

This leaves Coach C. A. Burch with only two lettermen, Osburn and Jack Levinson, returning from the squad which placed third in the Southwest Conference last year. Osburn, Baker and Levinson were the Frogs' Nos. 1, 3 and 4 men, respectively, in 1949.

Prof. Burch listed four strong sophomore contenders for varsity berths, along with Osburn and Levinson. They are Charles Ludwig, Cincinnati; Dick Wood, Denison; James Wilson, Stamford; and Bob Thompson, Fort Worth.

Patton Leads Qualifiers As Golf Tryouts Begin

Golf Coach Thomas Prouse was faced with a perplexing problem at the end of the first qualifying round Wednesday at Colonial Country Club.

Prof. Prouse found a girl trying out for the golf team. He said it would shatter some sort of precedent to have other than an all-male squad.

The source of his problem is Miss Pat Garner, who is labeled by many golf experts as an outstanding woman amateur prospect. Miss Garner came in with an 18-hole score of 86, which was 12 strokes off the pace. She had a bit of bad luck and Prof. Prouse expects her to better that score in the second round today.

Dick Patton led the qualifiers with a 74, taking a one-stroke lead over Doyle Malone, the only returning letterman. John Hanharan blew himself to a nine on the 18th hole and wound up in a tie for third place with Bill Tatum.

Dan Jenkins, Clayton Moren and Harvey Campbell are even with scores of 80, followed by Scott Rainey and Jimmy Hickey with 81 strokes. Following are the remaining scores: Bob Miller, 82; Bobby Morman, 83; Bob Ragsdale, 85; Ray Wood, 85; Harry Flowers, 89; Jack Simons, 90; George Canon, 92; and Ray Tillotson, 94.

The final three 18-hole rounds will be played today, Monday and Tuesday, with golfers teeing off at 1:30 p. m. The five low scorers will comprise the 1950 team, with the fifth man serving as alternate.

Intramural Softball Will Begin Next Week

Softball will take over the sports scene in the intramural program beginning Tuesday, says Bill Padon, Fort Worth graduate student and intramural manager. Competition will be conducted in two leagues, playing every Tuesday and Wednesday.

one point, joining the following quintet on the second all-Conference team: Arkansas' Bob Ambler and Paul Mitchell, Charlie Lutz and Jack Brown, all of S. M. U.

Brannon nipped Jack Gray of Texas for the coaching honors with both E. O. ("Doc") Hayes of S. M. U. and Presley Askew of Arkansas also receiving support.

Hamilton had an easy time in both individual races. Other players gaining recognition in the "Most Valuable Player" balloting were Gene Schmidt of T. C. U., Heartherington and McDowell. Bill Slack of Baylor, McDowell and Lutz were given votes in the "best shot" polling.

McLeod ran away with the "most promising sophomore" chase, although teammate Harvey Fromme and Baylor's Ralph Johnson also received votes. A vote for Lutz was discounted as the cagey little Mustang is classified as a junior.

Besides the votes for McDowell's "pressure" set shot against Baylor to win a 56-54 overtime thriller, two other plays drew mention. They were S. M. U.'s 20-minute "stall" against Arkansas in the last half of their second battle and Lutz' offensive performance in both Razorback-Pony games.

Rice's ballot, displaying humor despite the Owls' disastrous season, refrained from the "best play" voting, stating that "seeing only Rice's home games, the sports staff didn't see any outstanding plays!"

Diamond Posts Uncertain For Wednesday Opener

BY TOMMEY THOMPSON

Skiff Sports Writer

Walter Roach, Jr., and Bill Looney are the only ones who are apparently certain of a starting position as the Frog baseball team continues to prepare for the season's first game.

And young Roach will not accompany the team when T. C. U. travels to Huntsville to meet Sam Houston State Wednesday and Thursday. Roach is the 6-year-old son of Coach Walter Roach. He serves as bat boy and mascot for the squad.

Looney is the No. 1 candidate for the catcher's position, being the only catcher available to the varsity and a regular at the position last year. However, Bill Elliott, a second baseman by trade, has had some experience and will be on hand to spell Looney behind the plate.

Coach Roach says none of the positions are closed yet and declines to name a probable starting lineup for a few days. Several men, in addition to Looney, appear to have an inside track for spots on the starting nine. Among these are Johnny Jones at first base, James Nolan at third and Jim Boyd at shortstop.

The Frogs opened the season last year against the Cougars at Huntsville and swept both games of the two-day stand. The Cougars have 11 returning lettermen to head the list of 40 candidates for their 1950 team.

McLeod Is on AP Team

T. C. U.'s basketball center, George McLeod, was the only sophomore selected on the 1950 all-conference team by the Associated Press. The seven head basketball coaches in the conference served as judges for the balloting.

Annual Game Is Wednesday

One of the funniest events of the year—the annual "Beauty and the Beast" basketball game between teams composed of girls and boys—will take place Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Gymnasium. The game is sponsored by the Women's Sports Association.

The boys' team will consist of varsity and intramural representatives of the major sports—football, basketball and baseball. They will be required to dress like girls and to wear boxing gloves.

Track Team Off to Laredo For Annual Border Olympics

Seven members of the Horned Frog track and field team, along with Coach Mack ("Boss") Clark, left yesterday for Laredo where they will participate in the 18th annual Border Olympics tomorrow.

Clark's candidates are John Merton, Duff Massey, Bobby McFarland, Tom Polk, James Kellett, Conway Nelson and Capt. Ben Hays.

Clark has nominated Hays, Polk, Kellett and Nelson for the mile relay event. The mile relay team is of unknown quantity since the contest was called off by mutual agreement in the Midwestern meet last Friday.

The substitution of McFarland, who also will enter the high jump, for Polk will give Clark his sprint relay squad.

Hays, who was elected captain March 2, will be the Frogs' strongest contender in the 440-yard dash. He turned in a 52.6 second effort last Friday.

The Frogs garnered only two firsts, three seconds and three thirds, spaced over eight running events, as they dropped a 75½-54½ decision to the Indians.

Gene Schmidt scored an easy triumph in the pole vault as he cleared 11 feet without shedding his sweat suit.

● Ranch Week

cents each, a barbecue will be staged at noon behind the Administration Building.

To wind up Ranch Week, romping and stomping to all kinds of music will be in order from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight with a dance in the Field House.

Music will be furnished alternately by Bob Wright's orchestra and Bernie Robertson's band. Admission is $1 stag or drag.

To keep everybody "in line" during Ranch Week, Al Bagnall, Corpus Christi senior, has been appointed sheriff. Bagnall will "arrest" students who neglect to wear some form of western attire.

Carl Motheral, Ranch Week chairman, emphasized that no firearms or water pistols will be allowed during the parade or on the campus.

Other Southwest Conference schools have been invited to send one girl representative each to attend Ranch Week functions. None of the schools had replied Wednesday, Motheral said.

Tickets to all events will go on sale Monday in the Student Lounge.

Writing Contest Rules Available

Information and instructions for students planning to enter the creative writing contest are available in the English office, says Miss Mabel Major, English professor and chairman of the annual event.

There are two fields in the contest. One for freshmen and another for all other undergraduates.

All manuscripts must be turned in to one of the English teachers by April 21. The writings must be original and must not have been printed previously except in campus publications.

Church, Fort Worth, chairman; Dan D. Rogers, Dallas banker, vice-chairman; Dean Jerome A. Moore and Dr. Colby D. Hall, secretaries, and Robert M. Rowland, Fort Worth, attorney for the board.

The board also re-elected nine members whose terms expire this month. They will serve for four years.

Members re-elected are: Dr. Anderson; Dr. Granville T. Walker, pastor of University Christian Church; Bonner Frizzell, superintendent of the Palestine public schools; Dr. Harry Knowles, pastor of First Christian Church, Houston; Ferdinand Moore, Fant Milling Company, Sherman; Dr. L. N. D. Wells, retired pastor, Dallas; Ed Winton, Continental National Bank, Fort Worth; Clyde Tomlinson, Hillsboro; and Dr. Elmer Hensen, pastor of Bethany Christian Church, Houston.

Leaves of absence were granted to three faculty members for advanced graduate study during the 1950-51 school year.

They are: C. N. Murphy, biology; W. H. Matthews, geology; and Estus C. Polk, English.

Members of the board paid tribute to the late Tom Brown, board member who died two months ago. Dr. Sadler said the University has lost one of its best friends and workers.
