NO. 43

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY, FORT WORTH, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUG. 11, 1950

T. C. U. will be familiar ground for Dr. Otto R. Nielsen, dean of Texas College of Arts and Industries for the past eight years, when he arrives here Oct. 1 to take over duties as vice-president of the University.

His appointment was announced this week by President M. E. Sadler.

Dr. Nielsen was dean of men, director of student personnel and a member of the psychology department faculty from 1933 to 1940. He holds three degrees from T. C. U.—B. A., M. A. and B. D.

He will occupy a newly-created position, authorized upon recommendation by the Board of Trustees' operational studies committee headed by M. J. Neely, Fort Worth.

The new vice-president will have full authority, under the president, over all administrative phases of the University's operation.

Dr. Nielsen has done additional graduate study at the Universities of Minnesota, Chicago and Texas, taking his Ph. D. degree from the latter school in 1942. Since that time, he has been dean of the college and professor of psychology at Texas A. & I. at Kingsville.

While at Kingsville, Dr. Nielsen was personnel consultant to the Southern Alkali Corporation from 1943 to 1945, and was visiting professor of personnel administration at the University of Chicago during the summers of 1947-48.

He also served at the state university from 1940 to 1942 as a psychology faculty member, director of personnel research and assistant to the dean of college of arts and sciences. He was di-

Casino Dance To Be Thursday

A brightener for the summer social life will be offered students Thursday night with a dance at the Casino.

Congress stamped approval on the affair Tuesday night after a report by Miss Dorothy Phillips, Uvalde junior and social committee co-chairman.

Curley Broyles' orchestra will play. Admission will be $1.50 stag or drag, with dancing from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Dormitory girls will have late permission.

Tickets are to go on sale next week in the lounge.

Congress had attendance trouble again this week. Only 11 members—one short of a quorum—showed up, forcing the group to turn into a committee-of-the-whole. All business transacted is subject to approval of congress at the next meeting.

Miss Phillips said total cost of the dance will be $350, but admission proceeds should cut the expense for the congress.

Money for rental of the Casino—$150—was appropriated on a motion by Wesley Kinser, Fort

Dr. Sadler in Rockport On Deep-Sea Fishing Trip

Getting in plenty of deep-sea fishing will be the objective of President M. E. Sadler during his vacation at Rockport.

Dr. Sadler left this week and will return Aug. 22.

DR. OTTO NIELSEN

rector of the educational workshop at East Texas State College at Commerce during the summer of 1942.

Dr. Nielsen is a member of the boards of the Texas Personnel and Management Association and the Oklahoma A. & M. Informal Conference of College Deans and is a member of the official standards committee of the Association of Texas Colleges.

He also is the 1950 president of the Southern Conference of Academic Deans.

Dr. Nielsen is listed in "Who's Who in America" and in "Who's Who in American Education."

Fourth Student In Clark Hall Receives 'Call'

Gerald Holcomb, Wichita Falls senior, reported at Dallas Naval Air Station for active duty Monday. Holcomb is the fourth resident of Clark Hall to leave for the service.

An honor, befitting only those who are called to service, is the addition of a blue star to the hall's service flag. In Holcomb's case, it was a little different.

"This is my second police action for the United Nations," Holcomb said. "I served first in Palestine in 1947. Guess they just couldn't handle this one without me."

Other Clark Hall residents who have been called are Arthur M. Sheets, Fort Worth graduate student; Jim Martin, Grapevine, junior; and Gene Robbins, Blakeley, Ark., junior.

The Student Lounge Committee has finally started the ball rolling on the basement lounge furniture.

It has accepted a bid by the Stafford-Lowdon Company for sectional furniture, including three love seats, and card tables and chairs. The furniture will be built by Stationers Manufacturing Company and is to be ready for delivery by the fall semester.

The sectional furniture, with a seating capacity of at least 36 persons, will be made of light oak with fire-resistant plastic seat covers and will be placed in approximately the same spots as the present couches.

Those cigaret-scarred tables and chairs will be replaced by chromium furniture. The tables will have tan linen-covered fireproof mica tops. The chairs will be plastic covered.

Kenneth Brown, graduate interior decorator, now working with the Fine Arts, has offered to help with the selecting of colors for the seat covers.

The total cost will be more than

Student Induction Will Be Delayed

Grade-point averages took on a new significance yesterday with the announcement by Selective Service headquarters in Washington that deferment would be given college students on the basis of their scholastic records.

To be deferred, a student planning to continue his education must have completed at least one year of college and must have been ranked in the upper half of his class.

A previous release stated that a student may secure delay of his draft call until the end of the school year if he is actually taking classes on a full-time basis.

The school year is considered to begin in September and end in June, while a full-time schedule is one which contains at least 12 semester hours.

Dean Moore Expected Tomorrow From Mexico

Dean Jerome Moore of Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences is scheduled to return tomorrow after a three-week vacation in Mexico. He was accompanied by his wife and son, Jerry.

Dr. Thomas F. Richardson, dean of students, is due back next week from a vacation motor trip through Canada and Nova Scotia.

$3100. This is higher than the predicted figure but the new card tables had not before been considered.

A cost breakdown reveals that the main floor plan calling for sectional furniture, end tables and a coffee table will entail more than $2300, while the chairs and card tables will cost slightly more than $800.

Rex Shaw, Springfield, Ill., senior and Student Lounge chairman, Wednesday appointed a committee to contact the Administration about the possibility of the University's paying the entire cost in one lump sum.

The lounge committee would add this to their present deficit and then pay $2100 from the Student Union Fund on that debt. By doing that, it would cut out loss of money paid on interest.

Awarding of 108 M.A.'s Will Set Summer Record

The largest number of master's degrees—108—ever to be awarded in a summer session at T. C. U. will be given out at August commencement exercises, Registrar S. W. Hutton said.

Only 67 M. A. degrees were awarded last summer.

Mr. Hutton said latest counts show 322 students are to receive degrees.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 28, on the quadrangle behind the Administration Building. President M. E. Sadler will make the address. Dr. Roy Snodgrass, dean of Brite College of the Bible, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 11 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 27, in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Recent additions to the summer graduate list include Mrs. Peggy Jo Prater, Fort Worth, B. S. degree; Mrs. Irma L. McCaleb, Fort Worth, B. S. degree; Miss Averill Gouddy, Fort Worth, B. A. degree; and Jack Nichols Brooks, Sheridan, Ark., B. S. degree.

Invitations to Retreat To Be Mailed Monday

Letters will be mailed Monday to all undergraduate ministerial and Christian Service students regarding an orientation retreat to be held the weekend preceding the beginning of the fall semester.

The retreat will open with a get-together in a dormitory parlor on Friday night, Sept. 8, says Prof. E. T. Cornelius, acting chairman of the religion department this summer. The remaining sessions will be held at Camp Nor-

Tex, the camp of the Disciples of Christ near Mineral Wells, Saturday and Sunday.

The students will be given an opportunity to become personally acquainted with their teachers and fellow students in the Christian Service program. Already more than 100 have registered, according to George P. Fowler, assistant professor of religion, and director of arrangements for the retreat.

Paintshop Quartet Boasts Steady Campus Bookings

EDITED BY HELEN MARTSUKOS

That Paintshop Quartet which appeared at Goode Hall a few weeks ago seems to be the sensation of the summer.

It's rumored they have been booked at the Gymnasium, Brite College and Tom Brown Hall. The quartet is a bit unorthodox, having two tenors in Ray Bristol and David Easterling, Bobby Blanton, alto, and E. A. McGaw, bass, round out the group. All are Fort Worth seniors.

The Barracks have their option next, where they will end their summer season.

But there's always "Cowboy" to brighten life up—chasing youngsters racing across the campus on their bicycles... and the same youngsters taunting him upon reaching the comparative safety of University Drive.

Knowing that The Skiff has at least one faithful follower gives us a warm feeling all over. He is Gerald Holcomb, Wichita Falls senior. Ordered to active duty by the Naval Reserves, he passed through

Given Key to the City

Correspondent Jack Clark Gets Jolly Good Welcome

Jack F. Clark, correspondent, arrived in Fort Worth by train Sunday night from a week-end at home, Texarkana, to be greeted with a reception only befitting a correspondent returning from Korea and the author of such fictitious books as "Winds of the China Seas," and "How to Get Along With The Russians, Bulgarians, Hungarians, Communists, Chinese, Japanese and Turkese."

A one-man band, trumpet-player, L. J. Berry, blared forth a welcoming salute and the ceremonies were covered by CBS announcer Clyde Moore, with microphone plugged into his hip pocket. He was trailed by his signal calling radio-engineer, Bill Bishop. Also on hand were prominent newspapermen Russell Smith, with a Dallas Morning News band pasted on his hat, and Neil Hulings, representing Skiff-Howard interest, with Bob Davis, photographer.

Clark was interviewed by Moore and contributed the expected earth-shattering answers which emit only from such intelligent and versatile writers.

"How are things in Korea," asked Moore.

"Tough," answered Clark.

Rex Shaw, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, presented a gold key to the city "where the west begins at," and Miss Dorothy Phillips, as Miss Texas of 1951, planted a kiss on the famed man.

Astounded passers-by joined in the singing of "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow," as Ted Reynolds and Conway Nelson hoisted Clark upon their shoulders and carried him through the T. & P. Railroad Station.

A big banner-type sign, which read, "Welcome Home, Jack F. Clark, Correspondent," and confetti throwing well-wishers (the confetti being torn Skiffs, of course) followed the procession to a waiting Chevrolet, which whisked Clark away to his suite on the campus.

Editor's note: The foregoing, typical of college pranks, was conceived by Jimmy Paschal and Jim Howry and carried out by the students named in the story. Clark is a member of The Skiff staff.

Three Revolutions and Ten Grandchildren Leave Missionary E. T. Cornelius Unfazed

The combination of three hot revolutions, four children and 10 grandchildren, hasn't fazed E. T. Cornelius, assistant professor of religion, one bit!

His temper is even, his voice soft. He has a firm handshake and an easy smile. He still has most of his black hair!

The tall, fair-complexioned instructor went through three revolutions in Mexico, one each in 1920, 1923 and 1925, when he was there as a missionary with his wife.

Mr. Cornelius says neither he nor his wife ever worried about the fighting. They only feared for their lives, he says, when they had to come back to the States!

Those were the "roaring 20's" of the bootleggers.

Mr. Cornelius was sent to Piedras Negras, Mexico, in 1917 as a Christian missionary. Two years later an inter-church agreement on dispersion of missionaries moved him to Aguas Calientes. He was the second missionary the town had ever had, and the first one from the Christian Church.

In both Piedras Negras and Aguas Calientes, Mr. Cornelius spoke nothing but Spanish, training Mexican students for the ministry.

In Aguas Calientes, the young instructor founded a Spanish-language church magazine, "El Evangelista Cristiano," which he edited and published for the six years of his stay.

It was shortly after he was moved that Mr. Cornelius met the girl who later became his wife.

He met her at a missionary conference in Indianapolis in 1919, where she had just been commissioned a missionary to Japan. Love smote Mr. Cornelius a swift, fatal blow. He prevailed upon a friend of his to get her commission revoked.

Not long after, Mr. Cornelius received a calling-down from the chief of the Japanese missionaries, who said he needed the girl. But by this time she had accepted a teaching position in Virginia.

She and Mr. Cornelius corresponded by mail, and a year later he started up from Mexico to claim her as his bride.

Only one hitch developed. A revolution had begun and rebel forces stopped the train on which the groom-to-be was riding. After three days he was allowed to go on.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius came right back to Mexico. They lived through one revolution—the "de la Huerta"—in 1923, without seeing much fighting.

But in 1925 the "agrarian" revolution within the state of Aguas Calientes broke out, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius had a close call.

"My office was just a half-block from the city plaza of the town," says Mr. Cornelius, "and we had been hearing sounds of considerable fighting on the outskirts. On Christmas Eve I left my office, walking home. I saw machine guns set up in strategic locations and barricades on the streets. The guns were manned, and cavalry was stirring around. It looked like a real battle was going to begin.

"However, I went on home and my wife and I got the children to bed. Next morning, the guns and the soldiers were gone, and the plaza was just like it had always been.

"I learned later that the government troops which had set up all the defenses had made an agreement during the night with the rebels to surrender the town provided the rebels would not attack it. This agreement undoubtedly saved us a lot of trouble."

Later that year Mr. Cornelius was sent to San Antonio to become superintendent of Mexican work in the United States for the Disciples of Christ, a position he held for 10 years. He also assumed the editorship of another periodical, "Neuva Senda," which is still the joint Spanish-language maga-

Some Folks Know It All

To the Editor:

Why is it that in every class there is at least one person who thinks he (or she) knows more than the rest of the class, the professor or even the men who wrote the text book?

Maybe it's just the summer heat getting me down, or something, but it seems that there are more than a fair share of such persons around this summer.

Every point that is brought up, every idea advanced, old Johnny-Jump-Up in the back of the room starts waving his hands around and correcting the professor or fellow-student, pointing out the error of his ways in patronizing tones.

It appears to my jaundiced eye that these people are in school, not to learn or think, but merely to have an audience before which to display what they apparently consider their already vast erudition.

There are only two more weeks left this semester, so I guess I can restrain the impulse to stand up and holler, "For gosh sakes, SHUT UP," when these pseudo-intellectuals start sounding off. But it's not going to be easy.

TLOC

zine for eight of the major Protestant denominations in the United States.

In 1917 Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius moved from San Antonio to Sacramento, Calif., where he became pastor of the First Christian Church. For the first time in 20 years he could speak English to his congregation and use an English Bible!

The Corneliuses came to Fort Worth in 1944, where Mr. Cornelius served the organization now called the armed services department of the Y. M. C. A. as religious consultant for the Southwest. In March of 1944 he was transferred to New York City to serve as national consultant for the same organization. He was in charge of all religious work for servicemen in the United States conducted by the organization.

He resigned this position in August of 1947 to come to T. C. U. for the fall semester. He has been here since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius have one son and three daughters, all of whom are married. Their son, E. T. Jr., taught a course in Russian here during the first six weeks, but is now in Washington with the State Department, awaiting transfer to the U. S.-Peruvian Cultural Center, Lima, Peru, where he will become director of courses.

Shaw Spikes Horned Frog Photo Drive

Rex Shaw, Springfield, Ill., senior, was the first person to go before the camera this week as the Horned Frog picture drive got underway. It is desired that as many people as possible who will return in the fall be photographed before next semester.

Allen T. Orgain, owner of Orgain's Studio, 705½ Main, announced that he was ready to start working this week, and hopes that students will take advantage of the special summer offer. More time could be spent with each person, he points out, avoiding the long waiting line and last-minute rush.

As an added attraction, the annual staff is offering two tickets to the TCU Theater to every fifth person of the first 25 who have their pictures made this month.

Math Club Will Award $50 Tuition

Applications for the fall semester's Parabola Club scholarship should be submitted as soon as possible, says Prof. C. R. Sherer, chairman of the department of mathematics.

The scholarship is for $50 tuition. Applicants must be mathematics majors or minors making satisfactory grades, and preferably in need of the aid.

Applications should be sent to the Parabola Scholarship Committee, in care of the department of mathematics. They must be received not later than Wednesday, Aug. 23. Announcement of the recipient will be made during the following week.

Evening College to Offer 13 New Courses Next Fall

A television and a short story course will be among 13 new courses offered for the first time in Evening College this fall.

Speech-Drama-Radio 332bi, "Introduction to Television," will be taught by Charles Henson, radio-television instructor. He will replace Frederic B. Folks, who resigned last spring to accept a job with the United States Chamber of Commerce.

English 338, "Short Story," will be instructed by Mrs. Mary Cantrell, assistant professor of English.

Other courses include: Accounting 220ab, "Secretarial Science," to be taught by Miss Lillian Matusevich, instructor in accounting.

Sociology 345, "Population Problems," with Dr. Austin L. Porterfield, sociology department chairman, as teacher.

Speech Correction Clinic also will be offered, but the instructor has not been selected.

Physics 334a, "Radio Electronics," is offered for the first time as a credit course. It is scheduled for 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

On the same days from 7 to 8:15 p. m., Physics 331, "Vector Analysis," will be taught by Hubert E.

Boyd, instructor in aerology.

Physics 347a, "Servo-Mechanism," will be instructed by Wellington Loh, assistant professor of physics.

Spanish 340al, "Masterpieces of Spanish Literature," with Dr. John Hammond, associate professor of Spanish, as teacher.

Latin 321ab will be offered at 8:25 to 9:40 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and will be taught by Mrs. Mary Rood, instructor in French and Latin. Chemistry 421, "Quantitative Analysis," is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays under Elmer R. Alexander, associate professor of chemistry.

Economic Geology 331a will be taught by James A. Jones, geology instructor.

Business Control 344 will also be offered.

Baptist Church Awaits December Occupancy

Stone work on the new University Baptist Church, on the corner of Wabash and Cantey Sts., will probably be finished this week, Miss Evelyn Robinson, church secretary, says.

Once Around Frogland

WITH TED ALLEN

Contrary to what you may have heard, Uncle Sam wants some of our gridders and from all indications may get them. Dexter Bassinger, No. 3 quarterback, was called to take his physical examination this week but was rejected.

The athletic department hardly had time to breathe a sigh of relief before Charley Jackson, halfback and co-captain, was called to take his examination. Since Jackson is a senior and will finish in January, it is believed he will not be called into service now.

We've already lost one potential player in Ray Hill, a tackle and spring graduate of Polytechnic, who planned to enter T. C. U. this fall. He was drafted in June.

Speaking of high school athletes, the Horned Frogs have come up with some outstanding players of 1949-50.

The more noted gridders are Richard Bateman, Ed Crow, Bill Fagin, Ernest Newman and Wallace Talbert, all of Fort Worth; and Rusty McCollum, Hamilton; R. C. Harris, Vernon; Hal Lambert, Port Arthur; Danny Hallmark, Ballinger; and Guy Thompson, Kaufman.

The Frogs picked up four top-notch cagers in Gorman Wiesman, Birdville; and Henry Ohlen, Ronnie McBee and Vergal Baker, all of Fort Worth.

This is quite a contrast alongside an item in The Skiff of a year ago.

It said in part: "In a poll of 20 basketball players who competed in the annual North-South All-Star game at the Texas High School Association clinic in Beaumont, not one chose T. C. U. as the campus where they would continue their schooling and/or basketball."

Dean Shelburne Back After Vacation Trip

Busily checking room reservations and cancellations this week are Miss Elizabeth Shelburne, dean of women, and her secretary, Miss Evelyn Shelburne, who returned Saturday from a vacation in Rocky Mount, Va.

They spent four days in the Smoky Mountains and on their way home came by way of Alabama.

Miss Alma McLendon, who has served as acting dean of women, left Monday for her vacation. She will return in time for activities for graduating seniors.

Dixon Osburn Is Named To Junior Davis Squad

Dixon Osburn, No. 1 Frog netman from Dallas, was named Tuesday to the 1950 Junior Davis Cup squad for the second straight year.

Last month Osburn, a senior, was barely edged by Ted Schroeder, top-seeded amateur of the United States, in a tournament at Chicago.

Miss Nelson in Florida

Miss Diane Nelson, Milwaukee, Wis., sophomore and journalism major, is employed this summer by the Leesburg Commercial Ledger and Leader, Leesburg, Fla.

GOP Re-Elects Andrews Leader

Thorp Andrews, Fort Worth junior and vice-president of the student congress, was re-elected head of the Young Republican Federation of Texas at its biennial convention in Galveston Monday.

Dr. A. O. Spain, chairman of the government department, addressed the group as key note speaker at the evening session.

Crosson Tyler, Corpus Christi junior, was named vice-chairman and editor of the official state newspaper of the federation.

David Brune, ex-'50, was elected vice-chairman and state organizer. He will make headquarters in Austin.

Andrews, who has served as state chairman since March, left Sunday with ten other T. C. U. students on a chartered bus. They returned early Wednesday.

Library Receives Four New Books About Writers

Writers and writing seem to have taken over the Library this week. Six new books received there are related to that field, four of them on writers.

"The Immortal Lovers," by Frances Winwar, is a biography of the poets, Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning.

F. E. Loewenstein, in "Bernard Shaw Through the Camera," displays 238 pictures of Shaw's life and a record of his work.

"The Poet Chaucer" by Nevill Coghill and "So Worthy a Friend" by Charles Norman are biographies. The latter tells the life story of William Shakespeare.

Two professional books, "Editor and Editorial Writer" by A. Gayle Waldrop and "The Modern Reporter's Handbook" by John Paul Jones, also have been added.

"The Lady's Not for Burning," by Christopher Fry, is a comedy drama written in lyric poetry.

Weems Dykes Is Visitor In S. W. Hutton Home

Weems Dykes, B.D. '46, visited in the home of Registrar S. W. Hutton Monday and Tuesday.

Dykes is en route to Kerrville where he will visit the Christian Ashram Camp at Mount Wesley Encampment. He is pastor of the Nocona Christian Church.

Want a ready-made itinerary?

Some of the travel routes traced on the world map which has been placed outside the English department office certainly cover territory, says Mrs. Artemisia B. Bryson, associate professor of English.

Student veterans have added their own tours until it resembles the commercial maps published by transportation companies.

Three geographical maps—of the British Isles, United States and the world—have been recently placed on the walls by Mrs. Bryson.

"I think they brighten up the walls just a little," she comments, "and the students seem to enjoy looking at them."

For the convenience of the "map tourists," this world map has been cleaned and new routes may now be readily seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy Couch of Snyder visited the campus last Friday and attended a Library staff picnic which was held on the east side of the library.

New Mail Machine Rules Are Put Into Effect

Procedure for mailing metered mail was announced Tuesday by President M. E. Sadler's office. Rules regarding the University's new postal timesaver were issued to faculty and administration officials, effective yesterday.

All mail is to be placed in the slot in the mailing room door, in the basement of the Administration Building.

No personal mail will be metered. Private use is strictly forbidden.

All regular mail will be sent first class unless otherwise indicated. Air mail should be so marked.

Departments are urged to keep their mail separate until it is metered in order that accurate accounting may be made of each department's expenditure. Use of large folders is suggested.

Questions concerning details of the new system for mailing are to Letters will be metered, sealed, and then delivered to the T. C. U. Post Office. There will be no delay in service.

McCorkles Leave For Kansas City

Dr. T. Smith McCorkle, dean of the School of Fine Arts, left yesterday for Kansas City, accompanied by Mrs. McCorkle. They will confer with the national president of Alpha Delta Pi, national sorority, regarding plans for an all-sorority chorus which Dean McCorkle will conduct.

The chorus, called the "Carnival Chorus," will appear before the sorority's annual convention in Macon, Ga., in the summer of 1951.

The chorus will include two or three persons from each of the chapters in the United States and Canada. Mrs. McCorkle is grand first vice-president in charge of active chapters.

After the conference Dean McCorkle will visit briefly in Chicago.
