Jim McCord Named Cheerleader After Recount; Two Jobs Open

A close count became closer Tuesday after a recount of spring election cheerleader ballots. Gene Clack, Perryton freshman, gained one vote but missed being a cheerleader by three votes.

Final count in the election April 12 and 13 was: Jimmy Roddey, 459; March Coffield, 394; Jimmy McCord, 343; Gene Clack, 340; and Austin Bond, 305.

Clack had asked for the recount due to a "possibility of a four-vote error in a count of 860 votes."

John Quick, chief justice of the Student Court, and four court members voted for the recount.

Two top campus positions are yet unfilled, business managers for The Skiff and the Horned Frog.

Two applications have been received for each of the jobs by Warren K. Agee, chairman of the department of journalism. Appointments will be made by the Student Publications Committee early in May.

The jobs pay $75 per semester plus a 15 per cent commission on advertisements sold, netting each person between $500 and $600 for the nine months.

Cheerleaders met yesterday to discuss plans for next year.

Card tricks again will be a feature of home games, Ken Jones, Dallas senior, reported.

Jones originated the tricks last year and will organize a committee to work on the card stunts. A meeting of all interested persons has been set for 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 204 of the Administration Building.

Meanwhile, top student officials are preparing for their tasks next fall.

Student body president-elect, Pat Whelan, is working on Howdy Week plans.

Jimmy Suggs, Horned Frog editor-elect, is rushing to get this year's annual complete—and will worry about next year's book when he gets time.

Ellis Amburn, next year's Skiff editor, is looking forward to a summer's internship on the San Antonio Light, on which he expects to gain much added newspaper experience.

Committee Probes $300 Lounge Loss

An investigation has been launched by the Student Government Committee in an effort to explain a $300 Student Lounge loss in March.

The loss was termed a "discrepancy" by Dr. A. O. Spain, committee chairman, who stated:

"Study of the financial statement reveals an unexplained discrepancy between the amount of goods bought and the gross income from sales."

The loss was surprising to committee members. Records reveal that March is usually a profitable month.

Generosity of lounge employes and low prices on some items came in for a portion of the blame, but would not account for the difference between a usual $300 profit and a sudden $300 loss.

"Further study is being made on the financial statement," Dr. Spain said.

Former manager A. P. Holbrook had no comment. He said he had not received a report on the extent of the loss.

Meanwhile, a smaller dip of ice cream is being inserted in five-cent cones by the five lounge employes and Murray Ferguson, lounge manager.

Ferguson became manager April 1 when Holbrook, Fort Worth sophomore, dropped out of school.

Ken Jones, Dallas senior, has been named to replace Ferguson June 1 when Ferguson graduates.

Want to Know How to? Books Offer Solution

By DAVID ALLRED

Can you cook a wolf?

Know anything about controlling termites?

Instructions for these and more than 200 other special skills are offered by the TCU Library. A check of the card catalog this week revealed the Library now has some 230 books on how to do something-or-other.

Advice on cooking wolves is simply entitled "How to Cook a Wolf." Termite control is discussed in the book, "How to Recognize and Control Termites in the State of Illinois."

"How to Get It From the Government," one book is entitled. Another tells "How to Torture Your Friends." Other titles are "How to Argue and Win," "How to Avoid Financial Tangles," "How to Drain a House," "How to Keep a Sound Mind" and "How to Live on Twenty-Four Hours a Day."

There are other books on such subjects as "How to Study in College," "How to Make Money," and just plain "How to Live."

Librarians are prepared to purchase a book on "How to Write How-to Books," but it seems no one has been able to find a book on "How to Write Books and How to Write How-to Books," or—well, you see what we mean.

Mathematicians Meet Here Today, Tomorrow

Approximately 100 mathematicians will be at TCU today and tomorrow for a meeting of the Texas Section, Mathematical Association of America. All sessions are in the Science Building.

Fourteen outstanding mathematicians of the Southwest will speak, Prof. Charles R. Sherer, arrangements chairman, announced.

Dr. C. B. Wright of East Texas State College is section chairman. Dr. Landon A. Colquitt of TCU is vice chairman and Prof. Sherer is secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Parabola Club will begin registration at 11 a.m. on the first floor. Miss Ina Mae Bramblett, assistant professor of mathematics and club sponsor, said students will serve coffee between sessions. The first session begins at 1:30 p.m.

The association's annual banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Cafeteria.

Tomorrow's program will open at 8:30 a.m. and end with a business meeting and committee reports at noon.

All teachers and other persons interested in mathematics are invited to attend, Prof. Sherer said.

Prom to Be Held In Field House

Curley Broiles and his nine-piece orchestra will play for the all-school Junior-Senior Prom next Friday in the Field House.

The semi-formal dance will be from 8 p.m. to midnight. Tickets are on sale in the Student Lounge at $1.75 stag or drag.

Awards will be given to the "most valuable" senior men and women, selected by a committee from the junior class.

Student Lounge Dance Will Be Held Tonight

A record dance in the Student Lounge from 8 p.m. till 12 midnight today is free.

The lounge snack bar will be open until 11 p.m., says Jim Hatley, congressman in charge of the dance.

Students From 2 Cities Sought for Photographs

Students from Cleburne and Gainesville are requested to meet at noon today in Building 5 to have group pictures made.

The pictures will be used in these papers when journalism students edit them in the near future.

Sophs to Take NEA Tests Today

About 500 sophomores are taking a National Education Association test today. The examination is devised to appraise sophomores and seniors throughout the nation.

TCU sophomores have received cards informing them to report to testing rooms from 8-10 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. in the Science Building. They will be excused from classes.

Today's tests will help to establish a national standard grading basis.

"No need to prepare a crib sheet," C. J. Firkins, dean of men said. "This won't effect any school or military standings."

Donors of Blood May Need Permit

Students under 21 who wish to donate to the 1953 Red Cross Blood Drive on the campus must have permission cards signed by their parents.

These cards will be available in the Administration Building and in the Flame Room of the School of Business beginning today.

The drive itself will get under way May 4, according to George Soultanian, who was reappointed chairman by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

Booths will be set up around the campus for students to sign pledge forms, and club presidents will be asked to appoint two members to assist in the drive.

The process of giving blood will take about 45 minutes.

Spring Formal to Feature Al Donahue's 'Soft' Music

Al Donahue and his orchestra will play at the Spring Formal May 14, Jim Hatley, dance manager, has announced.

Featuring "listenable" and "danceable" music, the orchestra has gained national prominence through four years of nightly broadcasting from the Rainbow Room in New York.

Presentation of the TCU Sweetheart and four Sweetheart finalists will be a feature of the Casino dance.

Late permission has been granted women students for the 8 p.m. to 12 midnight formal. Admission will be $1 per person.

A floor show, including Monte Floyd, TCU ex. turned professional, is being planned by Student Congress, sponsor of the dance.

Count Mounts In Cafeteria Line

Approximately twice as many people are currently savoring cafeteria food than were two weeks ago.

Mrs. Artie Gallamore, new TCU dietician, announced Tuesday that the count at meals has gone from approximately 166 to near 300 since she arrived two weeks ago.

"We've tried to give them friendly, courteous service," Mrs. Gallamore commented, "and they've responded to it. I've never worked anywhere in my life where students were more courteous and appreciative."

Extra Fees to Be Eliminated

President Explains Rise in Tuition

An effort to eliminate extra fees is the main reason for the rise in tuition charges for next year, President M. E. Sadler said this week. Tuition has been $12 per semester hour.

Actually, he pointed out, there will be little change in students' expenses.

"In recent years," Dr. Sadler said, "We have had a $12.50-per-semester student activity fee." This covered athletic contests, the annuals, The Skiff and other items. The new plan, which calls for a fee of $13 per semester hour, will eliminate the activity fee while retaining its benefits.

"It was felt advisable to retain a $1.25 per semester fee for the work of the Student Congress. Thus the total cost for students will range from 75c to $3.75 more per semester. In some cases, notably for students taking less than nine hours, there will actually be a decrease.

"We believe the new system will be simpler for everyone and will restrict the tendency for extra fees to multiply," President Sadler concluded.

An audition for eight recipients of vocal scholarships will be held Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The students, chosen during a recent West Texas tour of the TCU Opera Workshop, Fine Arts Ballet and University Symphony Orchestra, will be rated, and the size of their scholarships will be determined accordingly.

Scholarships are being provided by the TCU Fine Arts Foundation. The foundation will also entertain the visiting students at the Western Hills Hotel Sunday and Monday.

All the students have been awarded scholarships in preliminary auditions held in Amarillo, Midland, San Angelo and Abilene. "All of them may be good enough to merit full tuition scholarships," said Dean T. Smith McCorkle.

Ratings will be determined by members of the School of Fine Arts faculty.

Orgain, Miss Olsen Omitted From List

The names of Allen Orgain, Fort Worth junior, and Miss Pat Olsen, Texas City sophomore, were omitted from the list of most active students published last week because of a printer's error.

Last Performances Tonight and Tomorrow

Little Women Lacks Freshness, Has Faulty Dialog

By ELLIS AMBURN

Final performances of "Little Women" will be given at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Little Theater. Tickets may be obtained at the box office from 1 to 4 p.m. and from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on both days.

Lacking much of the freshness, color and vitality of the Victor Heerman-Sarah Y. Mason-Andrew Solt version, Ravold's adaptation of Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" is best during parts of rapidly-paced Act One, but slows down in tempo and quality as it proceeds, requiring the performers to relate numerous incidents rather than enact them.

However, the version retains enough of Miss Alcott to be a mildly interesting period piece, and the perennial charm of the Marches still manages to shine through the faculty dialogue now and then.

The story, it need hardly be recalled, is a sentimentalized account of the sufferings and privations of a genteel, poverty-stricken family in Concord during and immediately after the Civil War.

The hoop-skirted March girls haven't changed since they first became famous over 80 years ago. Jo still writes and has growing pains. The romantic Meg still falls in love, marries and has twins. Featherbrained Amy, self-centered as ever, still succeeds in catching wealthy Laurie, and Beth still dies bravely.

It is the spirit of the novel — the theme, if you will — that suffers most in this transition, for "Little Women" is more than the mere character portraiture Ravold projects.

The period of the Civil War, during which "Little Women" takes place, was one in which the economic pressure was of such intensity that it brought out everything we mean by "character" in an individual.

What Miss Alcott was writing in her history of the Marches was an allegory of the transcendental virtues triumphant over material emergencies. Every situation in her novel reveals that with those virtues happiness is possible even in disaster.

In this manner she was provided the moral stimulus which her time required in its entertainment.

So today "Little Women" is significant as a classic expression of a certain kind of American sentimentalism or romanticism that dominated most of the art forms at one time in the nineteenth century. It should take on new life when translated into a twentieth-century medium, but too often in Ravold's version it is little more than boredom.

In the principal cast, Carol Andrews plays tomboyish Jo with a refreshing breeziness and bounce. Actresses who have preceded her in the role include Alice Brady (1912), Katherine Cornell (1919), Katharine Hepburn (1933) and June Allyson (1949).

Fran Moore is sufficiently petty and superficial as Amy, and Nancy Heman gives another of her highly effective character portrayals as grouchy old Aunt March.

Others involved are Melinda Williams (Meg), Collen Soles (Beth), DeLois Lites (Marmee), Bill McCrary (Laurie), David Combs (John Brooke), Lin Latimer (Mr. March) and Paul Cheek (Prof. Bhaer).

Some of the players meet with difficulty in their attempts to interweave the intended mood with their interpretations.

Two casts of prep school children appear briefly on alternate nights. Ravold is not responsible for the skit they enact. It was hatched up and inserted by speech-drama-radio officials who needed to give the children something or other to do in the Little Theater this year.

The brief time they are on stage hardly justifies the fact that the play was selected chiefly for their benefit. They are no more than extras, and it is doubted that they could be gaining much theatrical experience from the run.

The production was directed and designed by Prof. S. Walker James, and costumes were executed by Mrs. W. E. Allen.

Alpha Phi Omega Elects Bob Waits as President

Girls Good With Figures Can Find Success; Career in Retailing May Be Just for You

By SALLY ABEY

(Second in a series on careers for women)

Do you like money?

Are you good at figures—the mathematical kind?

Gals, then this is for you. A career in retailing!

There's a place for you ranging from sales work to management and all it takes is a lot of perserverance and a big desire to make a career in retailing.

We found that the best way to start is right at the bottom in sales work. This way you may gain invaluable experience not only learning the merchandise and methods of the store, but you'll have a chance to sell yourself to the people in the store looking for women who've got what it takes.

If you're one of those fortunate misses, all sorts of promotions are possible. You may get some sort of liaison job, assistant buyer or buyer. You may go into advertising, personnel — just all sorts of things.

But there are a few things that must be in that pretty little head of yours. First and probably foremost is a good knowledge of math. You're going to have to work with figures; not just adding up sales slips, but possibly accounting and budgeting.

If you really want to do this retailing business up in a big way there are several schools that specialize in this training. Simmons in Boston and Tobe Coburn in New York are a couple.

But if you're happy at TCU and still think retailing sounds like a good idea here's a word to the wise. Fill up on math, accounting, advertising, public relations, and good general business courses.

This is all just a background. The rest you pick up when you start working. You'll learn a lot about people when you're standing behind a counter and trying to sell. You've got to have this knowledge of people if you expect to advance in the field.

There are all sorts of benefits derived from working with a large department or specialty store. We like the discount idea very much. Most of them start you out at 10 per cent for the first month and raise it to 15 per cent afterwards. Then of course there are bonuses, hospitalization, etc.

As far as the pay's concerned, it's up to you. As a salesgirl you will have a basic pay and then work on a commission. Beginners may make from $200 up a month, which isn't too bad for a beginner.

But here's the best part, and we must admit we were a bit surprised. There are more women drawing over $10,000 a year in retailing than any other type of work. And that is not bad in this world of double standards!

If you're dubious 'cause you think a husband might be nice to have around the house, but retailing is for you too, it can be done.

Who says you can't have your cake and eat it too?

Peggy Dyche Named Chest Co-Chairman

Miss Peggy Dyche, co-director of Campus Chest solicitations this year, will be joint-chairman of the 1954 Drive. Her appointment was announced recently by next year's senior chairman, Jimmy Suggs, Joinerville junior.

The 19-year-old brunet won the chance to compete by winning the Fort Worth title at Western Hills Hotel Sunday.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"Blood Drive Fizzles."

This headline greeted Skiff readers last spring after TCU had staged its second blood program. Why?

We're Out For Blood

After talking with several students about last year's blood drive, we find that many of them did not give blood because of lack of knowledge or misinformation about donating blood.

F. M. Hawk, official of the local Red Cross Chapter, lists the following points:

1) Blood is taken from any person in good health between the ages of 21 and 59.
2) Blood can also be given by persons between the ages of 18 and 21 with written permission of both parents.
3) Any one in the service under 21 is considered as having reached majority age and may donate blood without parental permission. This does not include men in ROTC units.
4) A person must weigh at least 110 pounds before his blood will be taken.
5) Red Cross workers will determine a person's "good health" standing by taking a blood sample before he can donate blood. Blood will be accepted from no one if he is not in good physical condition.

Preparation for the coming blood drive can begin now by obtaining parental permission to donate blood. Out-of-town students will have ample time to write home for the needed okay. Special Red Cross forms which may be used can be picked up in the Flame Room and student lounge.

Will this blood drive fizzle because many TCU students wanted to give blood, but couldn't because they didn't have parental permission?

What Price Bad Conduct?

Recently, and regrettably, 10 TCU men were put on strict disciplinary probation.

In the event that any of these men becomes involved in a similar incident to the one which caused his probation, he will very probably find himself "out on his ear" so far as further education at TCU is concerned.

Suspension from college carries these possible penalties: 1) an interruption of, or an end to, the student's quest for an education; 2) refusal by many other colleges to enroll a suspended student; 3) a permanent black mark on the student's scholastic record; 4) the immediate possibility of being drafted into the Army.

Certainly there is no dishonor connected with serving in the military forces, but most men prefer to finish their education before entering the service.

It would be impossible for the welfare committee or any other group to draft an exact set of rules and regulations outlining activities which are permissible and others which might bring probation or suspension.

Therefore, it is up to the student as an individual to govern his own activities, to decide for himself what is right and what is wrong.

Of course it is unfortunate that students must be put on probation but The Skiff is pleased to learn that campus sentiment has crystallized in action on the part of the welfare committee.

Prof. Charles R. Sherer, chairman of the welfare committee, feels that TCU is coming into an era of more stringent policy because students feel something should be done. He emphasized that the committee is not an FBI type of organization which seeks out cases. Dean Thomas F. Richardson concurred in Mr. Sherer's statements.

It is action long overdue, for if a University is going to set up rules to live by and hopes to maintain respect of students, it has no alternative but to enforce them.

Talent, Facilities Go to Waste

As the Baylor Theater in Waco ended its remarkable run of Prof. Paul Baker's surrealistic production of Shakespeare's "Othello" last week, the Little Theater here was undertaking the considerably less ambitious task of presenting obscure John D. Ravold's unimaginative version of Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women."

When the two events coincided, we were reminded again how unfortunate it is that the vast facilities and talents connected with the Little Theater frequently are spent on material which is relatively insignificant when compared with the repertoire of other collegiate drama groups in this region.

Ravold's "Little Women" was selected for presentation here, according to Little Theater officials, because it offered opportunity for combining forces of the speech-drama-radio department and the speech-drama preparatory workshop in one major production.

This "compromise", as one speech-drama professor called it, may be practical, but it also could easily endanger the local reputation of the Little Theater.

Letters to the Editor

Student Says Mentality of Few, Not Course, Needs 'Checking'

Madame Editor:

President Sadler is under indictment by an editorial writer because he requested the Southern Regional Committee of the Communist Party to remove TCU from its mailing list.

In his or her haste to attack University "officials," the writer got the facts twisted: the pamphlets were NOT addressed to upperclassmen as such, but to individual faculty members and the presidents of various student organizations.

Upperclassmen and even freshmen who have a thirst for Communist information are under no restraint to read the Daily Worker or any one of a dozen periodicals which deals extensively, week after week, with Communist propaganda and Communist doings.

Here at the University, almost any professor will devote time in class or in private to a discussion of Communism.

The editorial writer plaintively asks: "Can't we apply what we are learning to what happens in our daily life?" A possible answer may well be that the writer still has a great deal to learn before setting himself or herself up as an arbiter of President Sadler's actions.

Dr. Sadler has had some 40 years' experience in the field of education. The possibility exists that he is capable of acting in the best interests of the University as a whole.

Learning to think is "an integral part of education" at any school, — however, hurling charges at the president or University "officials" at the slightest pretext smacks more of vituperation than "thinking."

If the writer reads and analyzes Communist propaganda as intelligently as he or she understands Dr. Sadler's action in removing TCU from the Communist Party's mailing list, the suspicion arises that the writer is incapable of analyzing anything more difficult beyond the buttons on an abacus.

It is not our courses that need "looking into," but rather the dubious mentality of the inevitable few who become experts as soon as the courses are finished.

Robert McGuirk

Dear Editor,

Would you kindly allow me a little space so as to disillusion so many on this campus who believe that Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, is a communist. To make this mistake is to do a great disservice to a noble Christian soul and dignitary of a great church. The Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlitt Johnson, is a confessed communist. He is but a dean of a cathedral and his position has absolutely no approximation to that of a primate. I do hope that those who read this will get this straightened out once and for all.

David J. Rudkin

Dear Editor,

It sounds incredible—but when I turned on the radio this morning I happened to catch just about the last part of a U. S. Forces program ,and there it goes: "The Eyes of Texas" . . . first, and then —I hardly would believe my ears —the fight song of the Horned Frogs.

This is an ordinary day of a student at this old place, Tubingen in Germany; I mind you, is it not reason enough then to acknowledge this extraordinary radio event with an equally extraordinary action.

Thus, here I sit down and immediately write these few lines to those who still are singing those two songs to their alma mater in Texas.

It's a shame, I grant you, that it took the radio program to finally push me to write a letter. But you see, even I have acquired a bit of the bashful foreigner's feelings, and I am worried that you might not get any sense out of what I proudly think of as "English language."

I know that some among you used to think that some of those foreigners just kept cultivating their foreign accent, but now you see how it looks on paper! Maybe it will serve its purpose though and at least caused a good laugh. But that's not what I was driving at. I just meant to tell you that the radio songs this morning woke so pleasant a memory that I shall never stop to think without the deepest gratitude of the time when I was a member of this community myself.

Talking about the radio, there was another occasion when you were mentioned and talked about. It was on a University program on the city's network. I had spoken this on a tape a long time ago—about the time I returned from Texas. Now I was listening to it—its being an appraisal of some highlights of campus life at TCU.

I heard something on "Y" retreat, on election for student congress, on Ranch Week and on real Texas boots—the kind I never could manage to walk in. All of it was in German though, and so I hope that none of the Yankee students here at this University could understand all of it. It was pretty much with the Southerner's attitude, I guess, if not with somewhat of a real drawl!

I wish I could just drop in some of those campus quarters for a couple of hours and once more walk up for class (and not be late for a change!). But as it is, there are a couple of thousand of miles between you and me. Not too far though for a word of friendship to fly across and a word to say "thank you again" to those who made this time I spent with them a great adventure.

Cathode Tube Charms Man In Goode Hall

If there were a crown for the "champion television viewer of Goode Hall," Harry Winters, Rochester. N. Y., freshman, would wear it.

His friends say he stays in the television room a minimum of 20 hours a week. Then one night during the week, apparently for variety's sake, he tears himself from the TV room to go to a movie.

A couple of million more Harry Winters and television's future would definitely be bright.

Campus Cutie Swamps Swain With Gone Gift

One of the more vivacious of TCU's coeds recently caused one of her current swains to gnash his teeth and utter moans of disappointment.

She promised "a wonderful surprise" at their next meeting.

The young gentleman awaited the date with breathless anticipation.

The long awaited day came, and the youthful lover raced to the domitory to claim his prize.

As he received it, his face fell and he quickly whipped out his hanky. But not to wipe his tear-stained face.

The surprise was a water-pistol!

The Baylor affirmative team entered the finals on the strength of three victories and one loss during the preliminary rounds. Its only loss came from the TCU negative team composed of Misses Ramona Maher and Anne Fowler.

Three negative teams tied for the right to enter the finals against the Baylor affirmative team. Texas A&M, Baylor and TCU had two victories and two losses. The Aggies won a coin toss.

Representing TCU on the affirmative were Paige Mulhollan and Ted Jackson. Their record was two victories and two losses.

Sadler Examines Investigations Of 'Pink-Tinged' Universities

Current congressional investigations into pink-tinged universities and red-laced professors were in turn examined by President M. E. Sadler at the recent spring meeting of the Board of Trustees.

"Institutions of higher learning should foster constructive, nonsectarian religion and the historical American system of free enterprise," Dr. Sadler said.

"But at the same time, teachers should not be unnecessarily intimidated by groundless rumors or dictatorial threats."

Outlining his beliefs, Dr. Sadler struck out in defense of "individual freedom, initiative, opportunity and responsibility."

In defending TCU, Dr. Sadler emphasized that " . . . we do not have anything at all which we want to cover up. I can say that we are not one bit afraid of any honest and capable investigation."

"The business of a university is to pursue, discover and teach truth, as God gives us to see the truth," Dr. Sadler continued. "This we shall try to do as honestly, as fearlessly and as fairly as we know how.

"We rejoice here at TCU that we have representatives of 40 different religious groups enrolled in the student body. There is not the slightest tinge of sectarianism in any of our work."

In conclusion, Dr. Sadler said, "We are persistently trying to find the most effective ways of giving pure religion its rightful place in education."

Frogs, Owls Tangle Today

The Frog baseballers are in Houston today to scrap with the Rice Owls for — or against — the cellar spot in the Southwest Conference race.

In the two-game series with the Owls today and tomorrow, Coach Walter Roach has both of his ace moundsmen, Tommy Hill and Les Matinson, well rested.

Matinson already has one victory over the impotent Owls, a 3-2 verdict, which incidentally is the only conference victory for the Christians.

The Texas Longhorns shellacked the Frogs 15-1 in Austin Tuesday. The Purple collected six hits to the Longhorns' 14.

Lefty Rex Miller started the game and got credit for the defeat. He lasted until the fifth inning, and was behind 7-1, when he yielded to Hill. Hill was replaced by Matinson.

Already well out of the conference race, the Frogs need the two Rice games to "save face." The Owls have a 0-7 record, while the Frogs are a little better off with a 1-6 in conference play.

Monday the Frogs will take on the Texas Aggies in College Station. Their next home games will be with the Longhorns Friday and Saturday, on May 1 and 2.

'HORSESHOES' WILL BE CRY

Horseshoes, anyone?

A number of horseshoe and washer sets have arrived, C. J. Firkins, dean of men, said. They will be placed near each dormitory.

Work Started On Enlargement Of TCU Stadium

Enlargement of the east stands of the Stadium began this week.

Completion date was set as Sept. 1 by a spokesman of the Thomas F. Byrne Company, contractors.

Plans call for extension of the entire east side to conform with the present V and W sections.

A mezzanine floor with rest rooms also will be added.

About 4477 seats will be added, bringing capacity to 36,881.

Cost of the project is estimated at $200,000.

Gridders Injured During Soccer Game

Two of next season's top tackles suffered concussions Monday afternoon during one of Coach "Abe" Martin's newly organized soccer sessions.

Marshall Harris, a senior letterman, and Bill Young, a junior hold-out, crashed head-on while going after a lose ball.

Harris has recovered already, but Young, who was taken to Harris Hospital, is still in the Infirmary. His condition is not serious.

TCU Trackmen in Abilene Today

The entire varsity track squad is in Abilene today for a meet with Hardin-Simmons University and McMurry College.

Last week Wes Ritchey successfully defended his javelin title at the Kansas Relays with a toss of 189 feet, 6⅜ inches, some 15 feet short of his throw last year.

The mile relay team of James Breeding, Robert Gathright, Malvin Fowler and Jim Roddy won a heat race over SMU, Arkansas and Drake University, but lost in the finals.

Other Southwest Conference firsts were recorded by Aggies' Malcolm Marks, pole vaulter, and Darrow Hooper, discus and shot put.

The next conference races will be with SMU and Baylor here May 2.

Freshman tracksters are scheduled to see action against the Baylor Cubs and SMU Colts on May 7.

Tennis, Softball Areas May Be Lighted Soon

Tennis courts and a softball diamond may soon be lighted, Dr. Thomas F. Richardson, dean of students, said this week.

Preliminary plans submitted to President M. E. Sadler are undergoing revision and will be resubmitted along with an estimated cost of construction, Dr. Richardson said.

Golfers to Challenge Razorbacks Monday

Frog golfers will leave Sunday for Fayetteville, where they take on the second-place Arkansas Razorbacks Monday.

Making the trip will be Graham Mackey, Dick Duckworth, Gene Shields and Archer Marx, No. 1 to 4, respectively.

Stiff competition is expected from Razorback Captain Tom Raney and his team-mate Miller Barber, who shot one-under-par 69's against the Texas Aggies this week.

Raney and E. B. Gee Jr., are the conference double leaders with a perfect 3-0 record.

Earlier this week the Purple squad beat the Rice Owls 4½ to 1½ as Shields, Duckworth and Marx took singles matches. In doubles play Mackey and Duckworth won with the other pair halving.

The SMU Mustangs still hold the lead in the title chase with a 16½-7½ record.

Freshmen 'Fight' For Varsity Trip

A trip with the varsity next Friday to play Texas A&M and Rice is the prize for which freshman tennis players are vying.

No. 1 man Charles Gordon, San Juan, has already clinched a spot with his undefeated record in singles. No. 2 man Louis Gillespie, Fort Worth, and No. 3 player Tommy Hagan, Longview, will battle for the other position. Herb Kregel, Dallas, is the other team member.

The freshmen have beaten Tarleton State 4-2, tied the Plowboys 3-3 and have lost to SMU, 5-1.

Frog Rifle Team Nudges Tarleton

TCU marksmen chalked up a 1790-1766 rifle victory over a seasoned Tarleton State College quintet here April 16.

Air ROTC's Cliff McCluney set the pace for the Frogs as he took individual scoring honors for the match with a 365 score.

Danny Cozart and Ewell Crawford fired 356, while Christian team mates Bill Rainwater and Jack Anderson followed close with 355 totals.

Rainwater, Anderson, Cozart and McCluney also are members of the Air ROTC rifle squad. Crawford is a Transportation Corps cadet.

Mixson Accompanies Two Professional Singers

Keith Mixson, professor of piano and theory, has played two recent professional accompanist assignments.

Netmen Play Practice Tilt Here Today

Varsity netmen tangle with St. Mary's University in a practice match here today, in preparation for a conference clash with strong Texas on the home courts tomorrow.

The Frogs whipped Lackland Air Force Base, 5-2, in an informal meeting here last Friday.

Baylor dropped the Christians in Waco Saturday, as TCU lost its second conference outing, 5-1. The Frogs previously had bowed to SMU by the same score.

Don Hardin was the lone victor against Baylor, as he clipped Claude Rogers in the No. 4 match, 9-7, 6-2. David Teleford trimmed Bernie Ferguson in the No. 1 tilt, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2.

No. 2 man Larry Goldbeck outlasted Ken Martin, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, and No. 3 player Bill Bradley topped Bob Cornell, 6-0, 6-1.

Teleford and Goldbeck defeated Ferguson and Hardin, 6-2, 7-5. Bradley and Rogers won over Martin and Cornell, 6-4, 6-4.

Wogs Gain Revenge On Plowboys, 14-7

A revengeful Wog nine tromped on the Tarleton State Plowboys Tuesday 14-7 on the Frog diamond.

The Plowboys have the distinction of being the only team which has defeated the strong Wog squad. Tarleton won, 9-8, in Stephenville two weeks ago.

19 Cagers Going Hard During Spring Workouts

The second week of spring basketball training saw Coach Buster Brannon's 19-man squad intact and working hard.

Although Henry Ohlen, Ray Warren, Charles White, Sonny Lampkin and Buddy Brumley still comprise the No. 1 team, Tommy Hill was running with the top group this week.

Bill Estill, a freshman on the No. 2 squad, was "looking good" to Coach Brannon.

Ross Hoyt, Gorman Wiseman, Jim Nickens, Estill and Hill still hold jobs on the second team.

One week remains in the 18-day practice session.

Craig Catches Cagey Culprits To Climax Chase

Assistant Coach Bruce Craig let out a wild yell and raced out the entrance of the "barn" during a recent basketball drill.

Squad members thought the practice session had been too much for the young mentor, and they all rushed to the door to watch his flight.

He hadn't "lost his marbles" as they feared. He had merely apprehended a pair of young thieves. They had been standing in the doorway waiting for a basketball to come their way. When one finally did roll toward the door they scooped it up and took off for the wild blue yonder.

Craig, with a clever bit of footwork, caught them within a hundred feet of the Field House.

Practice was dismissed.

Martin, Baugh to Coach In East-West Classic

Two well-known former TCU gridders will bump heads by proxy in the annual schoolboy Greenbelt game in Childress Aug. 14.

Heading the East squad will be Coach Othal "Abe" Martin. Wade Walker of Texas Tech will be his assistant.

From the western bench, Sammy Baugh, all-American quarterback for the 1936 Frogs, will frame strategy. Larry Cunningham of Hardin-Simmons will aid Baugh.

Group Hears YMCA Head

Ten students and two faculty members attended a banquet recently at the Fort Worth YMCA.

Prof. Henry Key, associate professor of business administration, and M. A. Holcemback, administrative assistant to the dean of the School of Business, were the faculty members attending.

The national president of the YMCA, William J. Grede, was the guest speaker.

Foster Hall was completed in May, 1942.

Intramural Golf To Begin Monday

An intramural golf tournament will open Monday at Worth Hills golf course, Thomas Prouse, director of intramural athletics, announced this week.

Students may sign up for this competition in either the Gymnasium or Tom Brown Hall, said Mr. Prouse.

Three flights will be determined from the average scores posted by entrants. Cost will be 40 cents if the golfer holds a TCU activity card.

Eighteen entries had been made late Wednesday. About 36 are expected to play in the contests, stated Mr. Prouse.

Grenadiers to Enter Parade

The Grenadiers, Air ROTC's precision drill team, will display their wares tomorrow night at the Fiesta Flambeau parade in San Antonio.

Twenty members will participate in the ten-mile parade, termed the largest illuminated night procession of the year.

More than 200 marching organizations of the Southwest are expected at the Battle of the Roses celebration.

The Grenadiers are commanded by Cadet Major Robert A. Watson, Fort Worth sophomore.

Construction of Tom Brown and Waits Hall was completed in 1947.

Cornell Cavorts At Bear Courts, Borrows Shorts

Cavorting on the courts in borrowed shorts is not varsity netter Bob Cornell's idea of fun.

Cornell was short-changed when the Frog team played Baylor in Waco.

Dressing for play, he noted an embarrassing shortage of clothing. No shorts.

A Baylor player loaned him a pair of tasteful green and gold ones emblazoned with the word "Baylor," and several sizes too large.

"It would be nice to say I beat the pants off him," says Cornell, "but it didn't work out that way."

Unlucky Frog Cowboys Attempt Salvage Job Today in Lubbock

An ill-fated TCU rodeo team is in Lubbock today trying to salvage something from a thus far unprofitable season.

Cal Davidson, Clarendon Hills, Ill., junior, and Richard Scott, Fort Worth freshman, are signed as bareback contestants for the Texas Tech rodeo.

Horace McNair, Fort Worth freshman, will ride bulls.

Continuing to place just out of the money, Ken Humphrey and Jack Bridges drew bad stock and bad luck at last week's Texas A&M show.

Bridges chalked up a 14 second run but "broke the barrier." Fastest time was 11.4 seconds.

Professors Attend English Conference

Miss Lorraine Sherley and Dr. Karl E. Snyder, associate professors of English, will be at the University of Texas today and tomorrow participating in the second annual South-Central Renaissance Conference.

Dr. Snyder will present one of 10 papers which highlight the program. Hyder E. Rollins, Gurney professor of English literature at Harvard University, will deliver two addresses.

Miss Sherley is a member of the executive committee.

Jack Gibbs, M.A. '51, has been awarded a $1500 fellowship at the University of Oregon in Eugene, Ore.

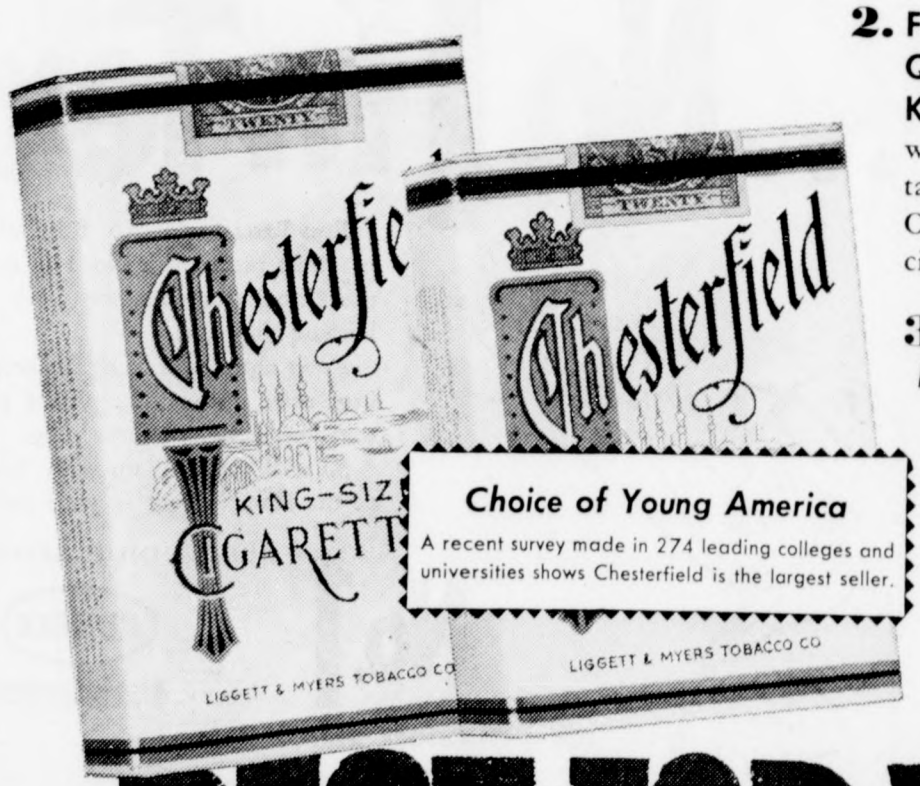
YEARS AHEAD OF THEM ALL!

Don't you want to try a cigarette with a record like this?

1. THE QUALITY CONTRAST between Chesterfield and other leading cigarettes is a revealing story. Recent chemical analyses give an index of good quality for the country's six leading cigarette brands.

The index of good quality table – a ratio of high sugar to low nicotine – shows Chesterfield quality highest

. . . 15% higher than its nearest competitor and Chesterfield quality 31% higher than the average of the five other leading brands.



2. First to Give You Premium Quality in Regular and King-size . . . much milder with an extraordinarily good taste – and for your pocketbook, Chesterfield is today's best cigarette buy.

3. A Report Never Before Made About a Cigarette. For a full year a medical specialist has been giving a group of Chesterfield smokers regular examinations every two months. He reports . . . no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.
