Bryson Club to Celebrate 30th Anniversary at Party

TCU's oldest club is having a party, and you're invited. The Bryson Club will celebrate its 30th anniversary Sunday with a garden party from 5 to 7 p.m. at the home of Prof. Lorraine Sherley, 3101 Wabash Street. Administration officers, faculty members and all students are welcome. The club was formed in 1923 and named in honor of Walter E. Bryson, chairman of the English department, who died in 1922. At first, only junior and senior English majors submitting approved original papers were eligible. Sponsors then were Profs. Mabel Major and Rebecca Smith Lee. In 1933 the club began co-ordinating more closely the work of town and dormitory students, and Miss Sherley became sponsor. In 1935, membership was extended to sophomores.

Today, members are chosen from students who show leadership, literary and scholastic ability and interest in outdoor sports.

Last year, former members met at homecoming and organized the Ex-Bryson Club. This organization helps promote the Bryson Scholarship Fund, which was launched in 1938.

Activities of both the campus club and the alumni group have been many and varied. The latter gives Christmas gifts to the children of Lena Pope Home, and makes an annual contribution to the Cancer Fund in honor of former

Kentucky Senior To Study Abroad

Miss Jacquelyn Case, Cynthia, Ky., senior, has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship in English. She will leave for France in September and spend one month in Paris being oriented.

Miss Case, a great niece of former TCU President E. M. Waits, will then study English at the University of Toulouse.

Miss Case is a member of Alpha Chi, Phi Sigma Iota, Sigma Tau Delta and Le Cercle Francais.

Among Bryson Club alumni are three members of the Board of Trustees: Rev. Elmer B. Henson, Carlos Ashley and A. D. Weatherly. David O'Brien and Sammy Baugh were members, as were writers Siddie Jo Johnson and Luther Mansfield. Doctors and lawyers have been members.

Present club officers are: President, Bill Hill, Dallas senior; vice-president, Walter Hamilton, Fort Worth sophomore; secretary, Miss Barbara Clark, Baytown senior; and treasurer, Ray McKown, Dumas junior. Meetings are held bi-weekly.

University Blood Drive Is Termed 'Big Success'

A big success! That's how the Red Cross feels about the TCU Blood Drive. Students donated 126 pints of blood in a one-day campaign Monday as compared with 131 pints donated in two campus drives last year.

ROTC cadets donated more blood than all other students combined. The Air ROTC gave 51 pints and the Army ROTC 37 pints, a total of 88. The remaining donors consisted of two faculty members and 24 students.

Any students who did not get a chance to give blood Monday, and would like to, may go to the Blood Center at 1404 W. El Paso. Their donations will be credited to the TCU drive.

George Soutanian, Blood Drive chairman, reported disappointment at the lack of help from campus clubs. Five representatives from the Chamber of Commerce were all the club help the drive had.

The Bloodmobile consisted of a 10-bed unit. The Grey Ladies of the Red Cross served Cokes,

Dead Week Approaches

Dead Week will begin Monday, Dean Elizabeth Shelburne, chairman of the social activities and social calendar committee, announced this week.

4800 Invitations Due Tomorrow

Senior invitations will be available tomorrow in the Book Store. Manager E. M. Moore said 4800 invitations of three different types were ordered.

In greatest demand was the French fold invitations, which cost 14 cents apiece. Four-thousand were ordered. Five-hundred cardboard booklets at 30 cents apiece were requested plus 300 leather-bound invitations at 75 cents apiece.

Graduating seniors also ordered 110 packages of name cards, Mr. Moore said. Each package contains 100 cards.

Kent Henderson had to drop out of school in April, said the Horned Frog has had three business managers, an editor and an acting editor.

"You can imagine the confusion and handicaps caused by this situation," he said.

Hightower says his company will bear the expense of mailing the yearbooks. They will be mailed in cloth bags especially padded to protect the books.

Congress Provides For 1954 'Steak Fry'

A provision in next year's proposed Student Congress budget of $150 for a congress social was given "a special vote of confidence" by the members Monday evening.

The questions of the Student Loan Fund and lights for the tennis courts were also settled.

The "vote of confidence" move was designed to answer criticism from The Skiff and a group of individual students on the propriety of using Student Association funds for a congress social.

This year's party was a steak fry held May 7 at Peninsula Club. John Quick, chief justice of the Student Court, said David Trevina, Fort Worth senior, had already filed a complaint against the congress. The case will be tried, Quick said, in the Study Lounge "sometime next week."

The vote came after legislative committee chairman, Don Brewer, remarked that he believed "an explanation" of the reasons for the steak fry was due.

"Why?" demanded School of Business representative, Bob Beals, Fort Worth junior, "we don't owe anyone an apology!"

Concerning an editorial which appeared in last week's issue of The Skiff, congress sponsor, Prof. Charles W. Procter said, "The Skiff owes you (congress) an apology. The paper should change its editorial policy toward one of the best congresses in quite a while."

"The motive behind the steak fry," explained student body president, Ren Kent, "was to make it an honor to be on congress."

Workers on The Skiff, it was pointed out, receive scholastic credit, but congressmen, for the most part, receive neither credit nor salaries.

"The steak fry cost only $87.28," Kent said, "and anything which will elevate the position of congressmen on this campus is money well spent. Even the $150 provided by the budget would have been justified. If I had it to do all over again, I'd not only do it (See CONGRESS, p. 8)

TCU poets, playwrights, story-tellers and essayists were awarded $390 in prizes and a publication containing their works was distributed at the Creative Writing Assembly at 11 a.m. today in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

George Williams, Rice Institute English professor and 1952 winner of the Texas Institute of Letters First Novel Award, discussed "What People Like in Fiction" before awards were made to the contest winners.

Williams will speak again on "What's in a Novel" at 3 p.m. today in the Study Lounge. Students and public are invited, Miss Mabel Major, Creative Writing Committee chairman, announced.

A luncheon honoring contest winners and guest speakers will be held at 12:30 p.m. today in the banquet room of Colonial Cafeteria.

Miss Ramona Maher, Fort Worth sophomore, won a $270 Creative Writing Scholarship awarded by the Dallas TCU Woman's Club, two first-place awards, one second-place position and an honorable mention.

Last year Miss Maher received three awards and the scholarship.

Ellis Amburn, Fort Worth junior, won the first-place award in the drama contest with "Ennis Barr," a one-act play. Amburn won first place in the non-fiction prose contest last year.

Roger McInnes, Bellaire junior, was first-place winner in the short story contest for "The Salesman." He won the top prize last year in the Southwest literature contest. Winners in the 12 divisions include:

Walter E. Bryson poetry contest—first place, $10, "Oxalis of the Snow" by Miss Joyce Rogers, Fort Worth senior; second place, "Interlude" by Kenneth McDaniel; and third place, "Impressions" by Miss Nanette West. James T. Miller and Preston Figley were given honorable mention.

Drama contest—first place, $10, "Ennis Barr" by Amburn; second place, "Childhood" by Miss Maher; and third place, "It Had to Be You" by Miss West.

Peggy Dyche Named Sweetheart At Last Night's Spring Formal

Miss Peggy Dyche, Fort Stockton sophomore, was presented as TCU's 1953-54 sweetheart at the annual Spring Formal in the New Casino last night.

Miss Dyche, chosen from a field of five candidates, was presented with roses and the traditional kiss by TCU end Wayne Martin. Miss Pansy Kidwell, this year's sweetheart, awarded a trophy.

Runners-up were Misses Patsy Cowden, Leona Gillette, Loretta Reynolds and Nancy Stevens. They were presented with roses and miniature trophies by their dates.

Student body president Ren Kent acted as master of ceremonies for the floor show. The program included performances by Monte Floyd, former student who is now an entertainer and recording artist, and a dance team composed of Miss Gloria Martin, Ennis sophomore, and Danny Powell, Archer City junior.

Al Donahue and his orchestra played for dancing from 8-12.

Flying Frogs Take Honors In National Air Meet

With a gleaming trophy emblematic of national club activities leadership, an individual championship and a third place, the Flying Frogs winged home from Minneapolis last weekend with third ranking in the National Intercollegiate Air Meet.

High winds cut short TCU's bid for national supremacy by grounding the Frogs' light plane and forcing withdrawal from bomb dropping and part of the navigation events.

Oklahoma A&M and the University of Minnesota, with heavier planes, piled up points to finish first and second.

Two Fort Worth seniors, John Harville and Marshall Robinson, won individual awards. Harville toted back a trophy for first place in power-on wheel landings, while Robinson took third in power-on spot landings.

Pride of the club, however, is the Grover Loening Award. Initiated in 1929, it goes to the team having the most activities during the year. Club sponsor, Prof. Troy Stimson, led the Flying Frogs to the nation's top spot this year.

Prof. Stimson was unable to attend the meet, because of lack of transportation. Jim Magnus, Minnesota club leader, sponsored TCU to enable the Flying Frogs to enter.

Faculty Dinner To Honor Two On Wednesday

Mrs. Bertie H. Mothershead and Prof. Samuel P. Ziegler will be honored at a faculty dinner at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Fellowship Hall of University Christian Church.

Tickets will be sold at the door, and reservations may be made with the Faculty Woman's Club or with Miss Lillian McDonald in the business office.

President M. E. Sadler will preside. The program will include a group of musical numbers sung by Authur Faguy-Cote, accompanied by Berry Walcott Faguy-Cote.

Dr. Granville Walker, minister of the University Christian Church, and Miss Lorraine Sherley, associate professor of English, will pay tribute to the honored guests, both of whom are retiring this year.

Chairman of the arrangements committee is Mrs. Gayle Scott, instructor in English.

Veteran Educator, Architect To Teach Engineering Here

Clifford H. Black, veteran educator, architect and city-planning expert, will be adjunct professor of engineering at TCU beginning next fall, Dr. M. E. Sadler announced Wednesday.

Prof. Black will teach engineering drawing, descriptive geometry and elementary surveying in TCU's co-operative engineering program. Students may then complete all basic requirements for an engineering degree in three years at TCU with final work at the University of Texas.

Black's first class next fall will be in engineering drawing and will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, according to Dr. Joseph Morgan, director of the engineering program.

The new faculty member received his B.S. degree in architecture from Kansas State in 1934 and the degree of Master City Planning from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1946. He has worked for some of the leading architectural firms in the country and taught engineering drawing at Rolla School of Mines from 1937 till 1944.

Prof. Black taught architecture and city planning at Corpus Christi University from 1949 to 1951.

In addition to his teaching duties at TCU, Prof. Black will continue to operate his architectural and city-planning firm at 3033 Cockrell. He has had his own office in Fort Worth for three years.

Mr. Black is a member of the American Institute of Architects, the Texas Society of Architects, the American Society of Engineering Educators and the Missouri Society of Architects. He is a registered architect in both Texas and Missouri. He is a recipient of the American Institute of Architects four-year medal of merit.

Mr. Black is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, and is president of the Men's Bible Class. He is a member of the South Side Lions Club and is active in Boy Scout work.

Ronny Dieb, Versatile Actor Signs With New York Players

By MARTHA LOGAN
If versatility means doing a lot of things and doing them well, then one of TCU's best examples of the word is Ronald Dieb.

Ronny, who is taking a double major in English and in Speech Drama, has signed with the Thousand Island Players of Clayton, N. Y. for the summer.

He will appear in seven of their 10 plays, including, "Tobacco Road," "Light Up the Sky," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Hay Fever," "Angel Street," "Born Yesterday," and an original French play which will begin its run on Broadway in the fall.

Ronny excels not only in dramatics but also in military duties. The Fort Worth senior is a first lieutenant in the Air Force ROTC and last year was awarded a presidential scholarship as the outstanding junior cadet.

He also has maintained one of the highest grade point averages in his class, and last year won first place in the drama division of the creative writing contest. His play, "Afternoon," a realistic comedy, was performed at TCU and on television.

In his freshman year, Ronny was awarded a scholarship for radio participation. Many of his scripts have been used for KTCU programs.

Ronny's debut into TCU dramatics was also the debut of the present Little Theater. He played the role of Mr. De Pinna in "You Can't Take It With You."

In "The Taming of the Shrew," Ronny not only had a part; he had two of them. What was even more difficult was that the part he played in the first and third acts was that of an aged man, Baptiste, while in the second act he portrayed a youth of about 17.

Some of Ronny's best remembered roles at TCU are those of Saladin in "Nathan the Wise," Theseus in "Phaedra," Hannibal in

"The Curious Savage" and Jody in "Stampede Bluff."

One summer he acted with the Arena Players of Fort Worth. He portrayed the director, Carlton Fitzgerald, in "Light Up The Sky," a modern satire.

While at TCU, Ronny has been active in Fallis Players, Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic organization and the French Club.

After his graduation from TCU this year, Ronny plans to attend Columbia University to get his M.A. degree in English. "Then I guess the Air Force will take care of the next few years for me," he adds.

When asked what he does in his spare time (what spare time?), Ronny says his favorite pastime is bowling. He enjoys going to plays, and somehow he finds time for a couple of games of tennis occasionally.

Bible was scheduled to speak.

Reporting for duty, Dean Hall delivered a 20-minute history of University Christian Church—then sat back to witness a "This is Your Life" program — about himself.

You can bet your life he was surprised to see pictures from his past projected on a screen and to meet long unseen friends.

But the big surprise was yet to come.

Dean Hall was the first full-time pastor of University Christian Church, assuming duties in 1909.

In 1914 Colby Hall became dean of Brite College, a job he held for 33 years.

Dean Hall became dean of all TCU in 1920, a position comparable to vice-president now. He only lasted 23 years in that capacity, until 1943.

Retired now, Dean Hall devotes a lot of time to establishing new churches.

So this persistent man has gained the respect of his fellow men.

They tried to express that respect Tuesday.

"The Colby D. Hall Education Building" of the University Christian Church was named for the pioneer pastor.

Miss Lorraine Sherley, associate professor of English, is planning a summer of study abroad.

She will leave at the end of this semester for Stratford-on-Avon, where she will study Shakespearean and Elizabethan drama.

Students should make arrangements now for Post Office boxes next fall, said Mrs. Fred Yockstick, Post Office clerk.

Those students who wish to keep the same box will have to pay for it through the summer.

Boxes may be reserved before they are assigned to summer school students.

Charles A. Cobden, Mineral Wells senior, was released from Harris Hospital Saturday after a week's illness.

Brite College of the Bible is sponsoring an invitational dinner for juniors and seniors in the department of religion at 6 p.m. today at University Christian Church.

Purpose of the dinner is to present claims of the various fields of Christian ministry.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

This week is the last chance TCU students will have to act as good hosts this semester.

Howdy, Visitors

The Southwest Conference track meet began in Fort Worth yesterday and will continue through tomorrow. The conference Sportsmanship Committee meets on the campus tomorrow. TCU has been host school to the committee this year.

The Skiff extends a welcome to both athletes and committee members and we hope you have an enjoyable visit.

To TCU students, here is a little reminder:

Last year we came up from fifth to second in the sportsmanship standings. The big reason we did not win the first place trophy was our lax conduct during the spring semester.

Here is our big chance to make a good showing and get off to a fast start toward coming out on top of the sportsmanship race this year.

Simplify Night Contacts

An emergency occurs at your home. It's after 11 p.m. and TCU's switchboard is closed.

How can your parents reach you?

You can be reached only by a call through a pay phone, if your family has its number. "Information, please" will furnish a number in an emergency, but the process involves a wait as permission to give a pay phone number must come from a supervisor at the telephone company.

The barracks do not have pay-phones, so contacting persons living there, if possible, would be a circuitous undertaking.

Western Union? Its wires are telephoned to our switchboard until it closes. After the 11 p.m. closing time, if a real emergency message comes in, WU will send a messenger to the dormitory to awaken someone who might know you.

This procedure could be terribly time-consuming, but at least you might eventually be contacted, if your parents know your pay-phone number or in which dormitory you live.

To enable your family to reach you in the shortest time possible and consequently to cause them the least worry they would experience, we should all be sure that our parents have the pay phone numbers.

Step in the Right Direction

Businessmen now, according to Fortune magazine, are demanding colleges to produce graduates who have some understanding of the world they live in and who have been trained to put their thoughts effectively onto paper.

With the expansion of the former Creative Writing Day into a two-day Creative Writing Meet this year, we see a step in the right direction—and we're glad.

Here is increased emphasis on the cultural, rather than the strictly practical, side of education. More and more encouragement is being given to the student who is creatively, as well as athletically, inclined.

Turning out a play or short story or essay may soon become "the thing to do."

We're glad because it means increased enjoyment and broader horizons for the individual student. And taken collectively over the nation, such a trend if developed could mean America's cultural growth will some day be keeping pace with her technical advance.

The creative writing committee is to be commended for this lengthened observance.

Miss Mabel Major, chairman of the committee, has said, "If this plan works, it will be continued."

Student response will determine the fate of future Creative Writing Meets. We hope to see many more.

Frogs Are Flying High

A campus organization took to the air last week in Minneapolis and won the Grover E. Loening trophy in the Intercollegiate Air Meet for being the most active club.

The organization was the Flying Frog Club who financed the trip by selling programs at the basketball games.

It isn't every TCU club that wins trophies for being "most active." In fact, many complaints are rendered by students because of the inactivity of campus organizations. Of course, students seem not to realize that it's not the club, but the members, who are lethargic.

Somehow the Flying Frogs have managed to put energy and pep into their organization. Back in 1949 they helped boost the re-organization of the National Intercollegiate Flying Club and were largely responsible for Eagle Mountain Lake being chosen as the site of the first post-war air meet.

Congratulations are due the airborne Frogs and their sponsor, Prof. Troy Stimson, for their activity both on and off the campus.

Dallas Doesn't Match New York Sophisticates

By ELLIS AMBURN

You're looking at the annual sophomore edition of The Skiff. It happened to be this week's issue because regular reporters have been busy the past few days putting out the Gainesville Daily Register and the Fort Worth Press. Fortunately, we've had an energetic crop of cubs this year, and it has been interesting to observe their development into potentially first-rate newsmen.

Some of them have had regular beats since there was a shortage of juniors, and others have generously contributed when additional services were needed for special issues. So, in short, it should be an able group of reporters who will be dishing out the news to you next year.

If there's anything more amusing than New York "culture" it's Dallas' version of the same thing. We got a thorough sampling of the latter during Metropolitan opera season in that city of dubious sincerity last weekend.

From its wide repertoire of grand opera, the Met presented "Don Giovanni," "Rigoletto," "Der Rosenkavalier" and "Tristan und Isolde" in Fair Park Auditorium and then hurried off to do "Tosca" and "Carmen" in Houston.

Opening night in Dallas was typical of what was to follow.

The first thing you saw when driving up to the auditorium was what one English professor here aptly called a "blown-up sheet." It was a large, white, quite useless canopy in front of the building that Dallas aristocrats evidently thought would protect them from the beautiful weather.

During intermission we noticed a Cadillac limousine pull up. A cross-looking septuagenarian and her chauffeur were in it. She probably had gone home between acts to count her money and to make sure her husband wasn't flirting with the maid.

The chauffeur got out, walked around the car and opened the door for her. We had seen this done in movies but never dreamed that human beings could actually be that lazy.

Back in the lobby Dallasites were having a hard time making Fair Park Auditorium look as sophisticated as the Metropolitan Opera House. Salesmen were hawking "Get your official 'Giovanni' libretto," and trying to sell souvenir copies of Opera News, cokes, candy bars and opera glasses.

And there were none of the Met's spacious and luxurious ladies' rooms — every time we looked there was an endless line of silk, fur and glass waiting to get to the lounge.

Also missed was the cool comfort of Ed Landreth Auditorium. Even with all its finery and show, Dallas still can't get a decent air-conditioning system installed in its municipal auditorium.

Among the most interesting sights on stage were Blanche Thebom, whose hair almost touches the floor, Rise Stevens, who played a man in "Rosenkavalier," and "Isolde" Harshaw, 200 pounds of Germanic passion.

Between "Rigoletto" and "Rosenkavalier" Saturday, we managed to catch a showing of Charles Chaplin's "Limelight" at the Capitan theater.

The film is the essence of Chaplin's genius — he wrote, directed, produced, edited and choreographed it. He also composed and helped arrange the musical score. It's the best movie we've seen in recent years.

The Capitan manager told

Letters To the Editor

Dear Editor:

Three hip-hip hoorays and a mighty big slap on the back for the person who wrote that letter to the editor printed in the Skiff last week.

The whole thing should be reprinted and put in capital letters on the front page of the next Skiff.

The name should not have been withheld; it should have been printed in solid gold letters about two column inches high.

Sincerely,
Sylvia Bokor

Editor's Note: This letter refers to the comment last week which asked why students did not go to the Prom.

Dear Editor:

Judging from your editorial last week entitled "But Steaks Are High" it would appear that The Skiff has nothing more to do than lampoon Student Congress merely for the sake of stirring up resentment.

With the exception of the President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Dance Manager, all of the congress representatives work the entire year unpaid. This requires an average of 1½ hours a week in meeting (not counting "called" meetings) plus the many hours outside of meetings spent in trying to give you the best in student government. This figures out over a year's time to 54 hours spent in weekly meetings alone. Does The Skiff begrudge Congress one picnic for a year's hard work? Apparently so!

Another thing, since when does one Skiff reporter's opinion reflect that of the entire student body? The writer of your editorial told me personally that HE wrote what HE thought. Yet he printed—"Students don't like it."

If The Skiff would make the effort to reflect student views in journalism, as Student Congress has done in government; perhaps more harmony would exist between the two.

Bob Beals
School of Business
Representative

Editor's Note: The Skiff as student body newspaper does not presume to reflect the view of every individual or minority group on this campus. We try to make The Skiff a democratic institution, and our policy is to print the views of the majority of the TCU student body.
Of necessity, one reporter must write each article, but when printed, it is an attempt to reflect the opinion of the majority of TCU's student body as The Skiff sees the situation. The Skiff does not maintain the policy of allowing its editorial column to be employed as a mouthpiece for private grievances of reporters.

us there had been no protests since the show opened May 2, and that he was planning to hold it over through tomorrow since it was playing to packed houses every night.

It is unlikely "Limelight" will be shown in Fort Worth. Interstate tried it earlier this spring in Houston but withdrew it as soon as the American Legion started yelping.

We've got a feeling Interstate officials have washed their hands of Chaplin, especially so far as this city is concerned since Red-hunters are thick here. If you don't think so just recall what happened right on this campus when Dr. Barnes was here.

Clyde Moore had the saddest story of the week. He hit out for Waco Monday with a camera, several flash bulbs and the journalism department's temperamental strobe unit. He came back with a wastebasket full of abstract tornado shots. The strobe, with which he took all of his color shots, gave him trouble and only the few pictures he took with flash bulbs turned out. Nice try...

Is Your Buck Well Spent, Or Don't You Care?

Congratulations to Arlington State College for a fine intercollegiate rodeo.

Many TCU students saw the show with envy. TCU would like to sponsor an intercollegiate show, but our last one in 1949 flopped, but big.

The Rodeo Club sold many, many sandwiches to pay debts incurred during that show. Seems there was a misunderstanding about donated prizes and advertising sold for programs.

Only the athletic department can solicit funds for school-sponsored athletic activities. The rodeo wasn't sanctioned by TCU in regard to finances.

Rodeo is strictly a western sport. An intercollegiate show would make a fine annual event for this proud "frontier" school, located "where the West begins."

Perhaps the powers that be will keep this in mind, especially if enthusiastic Rodeo Club members continue waging a fight for recognition of the sport.

Incidentally, congratulations to the Rodeo Club team that placed in several events at the ASC rodeo.

Student Congress has been cussed and discussed by The Skiff this year. Congress has discussed and cussed right back.

Regardless of the merits of either side, we should all work for a better value received from our activity dollar.

You can help by attending some congress meetings, voicing your opinions, demanding action—then, if congress doesn't give satisfaction, write letters to your student newspaper.

The power of the press has been demonstrated this year. Congress members are sensitive to criticism. Use your paper and we'll all benefit.

A masonry and steel structure, yet unbuilt, is the key to good use of our activity dollars.

Good bands and name bands can work on campus.

Fifteen miles is quite a distance to travel for a dance. Many students don't make the trip.

Besides transportation, there is the objection to paying 25 cents for heated Cokes and 50 cents for ice to cool the drinks.

With good planning, our unconstructed Student Union Building can be put to good use.

More than 600 wide-eyed, green-capped freshmen soon will crowd the campus.

Much will depend on their reactions during the first week in Frogland — "Howdy Week." Many four-year attitudes will most likely be formed at the start.

It isn't too early to begin making next year a bang-up episode. Let's get the spirit whipped up early and keep it at a high pitch throughout the year.

Before saying "goodbye" this spring, remember to say "howdy" next fall.

2 Students Get Radio Awards

Miss Joyce Hammett, Tulsa sophomore, and Kent Burkhart, Bay City freshman, were awarded the annual Gantt Radio Scholarship Wednesday, William J. Noltner, assistant professor of radio and television, announced.

Valued at $150 each, the scholarships are given annually by the Rae Gantt Sound Equipment Company to the two students "who have contributed most during the academic year to the radio division of the speech-drama-radio department.

Burkhart has served as station manager of KTCU this semester. Miss Hammett is copy and continuity director.

Skiff Staffers Work at Press

This is TCU Week at the Fort Worth Press.

Regular Skiff reporters turned their beats over to the sophomore journalism class this week while they worked under Dave Hall, city editor; Sam Hunter, chief copy desk man; and Blackie Sherrod, sports editor of the Press.

The observance replaces "TCU Day" at the Press and is designed to provide better training for reporters, according to Prof. Warren K. Agee, chairman of the department of journalism.

Portions of Press issues Tuesday through Saturday are the work of TCU journalism students and this entire edition of The Skiff, except the editorials, is the work of the sophomore writing class.

Ellis Amburn, Skiff editor next year, served as editor of this issue.

Queen for a Day

Mrs. Jessie Adams to Have Her Day (More Than Money) in Cripple Creek

By BARBARA LONGSTRETH
"Jessie Adams Day" will be celebrated in July in Cripple Creek, Colo., honoring a woman whose love of people and sensitivity to their needs has made priceless her service at TCU.

Author of "More Than Money," a version of philosophical living, Mrs. Adams is assistant dean of students, counselor for personal and academic problems and teacher of psychology.

In 1935 Mrs. Adams returned to the United States from Mexico where she had gone to live as a bride. At that time she needed only one year's work toward a degree.

Friends suggested she come to TCU.

She received a B.A. degree here and taught in the Fort Worth public schools. At Columbia University she did graduate work in psychology and received an M.A. degree in personnel work. In 1945 she joined the faculty here.

Mrs. Adams is interested in problems of young people. During the war she was director of a Youth Center in Fort Worth. It was while working with war veterans that she determined that young people were greatly confused and skeptical. Making notes regarding these attitudes, she wanted to encourage them — to make them aware that this is the greatest country in the world, that if they are willing to accept themselves as they are, with their limitations and potentialities, and work hard, there is much to be gained.

For her book she used nine outstanding Americans who overcame hardships to achieve the top. She chose living men to prove the status quo still offers opportunities.

In the final chapter, "Tom, Dick and Harry," Mrs. Adams says she projected certain concepts which she believes are important in the lives of everyone to achieve the maximum of which he is capable.

"I believe everyone has something to offer," she says, "and by applying these concepts to life everyone is capable of growing."

"More Than Money" has been approved by the Public School System of Fort Worth as reading in the grade schools.

Her varying interests lie also in civic affairs, and she has served on the boards of the Mental Hygiene and Human Relations Clinics. Her taste in music is toward opera. For a few years she was a sponsor in that field.

The "Jessie Adams Day" is being sponsored by William M. Kyner, subject of one of the biographical sketches in her book.

More than 300 students have received questionnaires concerning college expenses, Registrar S. W. Hutton has announced.

Conference Track Meet Begins at 3 p.m. Today

This is the weekend all Southwest Conference trackmen have been waiting for—it's time for the annual meet. Activity will begin at 3 p.m. today at Farrington Field, with finals scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

A&M is a heavy favorite to win the team title.

Texas can furnish a lot of competition, but the Aggies are supposed to come in first, just as they have done each time they have faced conference foes this year.

SMU and TCU will probably win a few first places, but the team trophy is far on the horizon for these two squads.

Arkansas and Rice will give the Aggies little argument for the championship, but will join the Frogs and Mustangs in the big battle for third and fourth places.

Leading the TCU squad is Wes Ritchey, who does a good job of carrying the Frog fortunes around on his husky shoulders.

Ritchey is a good bet to win honors in the javelin event. He has made one of the longest throw in the Conference, a 206' 3" heave at Abilene in a triangle meet with Hardin Simmons and McMurry. Ritchey also will enter the shot put and high jump.

Another strong entry for the Frogs is the mile relay group. This quartet of 440 men has the best recorded time in the conference, 3:18.5. James Breeding, Robert Gathright, James Roddey and Mal Fowler are the four who run the mile relay.

Darrow Hooper is the Aggies' most consistent point-getter. He is a virtual shoo-in for the shot put and discus. He holds the conference record for each event, 54' 7½" and 170' respectively.

One of Hooper's teammates, Bobby Gross, has the second best heave of the year in both the shot and discus, making the weight events practically an all-Aggie affair.

Rick Heber, Arkansas distance man, has the best recorded time in the mile run this spring, an excellent 4:12, and is expected to cop the 880 crown too.

Texas and A&M should have a fine time battling it out in the sprints. Charley Thomas, Texas comet, is the favorite in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, since SMU's Buddy Goode suffered a pulled muscle last week. Goode may run, but he will not be at his best.

In the 440-yard dash, James Baker of A&M is the favored entry. TCU's Mal Fowler could be a surprise in this one.

In the hurdles Gerald Scallorn of Texas is the choice of many as a favorite. A&M's Bobby Ragsdale is a hot competitor in both of these events.

Besides Ritchey and the mile relay team, TCU will have Waylon Buchanan in the high jump, broad jump and shot put. David Finney will try the 100 and 220 and James Wood is entered in the mile run.

TCU also is fielding a foursome of Fowler, Finney, Roddey and Ronald Clinkscale in the sprint relay.

Horseshoe Courts Ready After Two-Week Delay

Horseshoe facilities are now ready for use behind Goode Hall, C. J. Firkins, dean of men, announced.

Sports Group Here Tomorrow

The Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee will hold its final meeting of the season here tomorrow with Frog senior Ren Kent as chairman.

Harri Baker of Texas A&M, committee secretary, said delegates from every conference school will attend. The group will evaluate its work for the year and make recommendations for next year's sportsmanship committee.

The committee is active in promoting good will and fair play among conference schools. It presents an annual award to the school with the best record in sportsmanship.

Sikes Grabs First In Intramural Golf

Bill Sikes captured first place in the championship flight of the intramural golf tournament last week, downing Tom Rousseau 7 and 6 in the finals.

Rousseau gained the right to play Sikes by defeating Harvey King in the semifinals. Sikes won a total of three matches for the crown.

In the first flight, Vincent Dally beat Ray Keith Monaghan for a berth in the finals. A playoff between Ted Vaught and Charles Mathis will determine his opponent.

Showers End Season For Frog Baseballers

The Frogs ended the 1953 edition of the Southwest Conference baseball race this week by hanging up their cleats to the patter of thunder showers.

Tuesday and Wednesday games with Baylor were rained out and will be permanently cancelled, according to Walter Roach, varsity coach. Both the Frogs and the Bears were out of contention for the conference title.

Last Frog outing at Dallas proved to be a tough one for the hapless Purple crew as they absorbed a 9-0 beating from the victory-hungry SMU Mustangs behind the five-hit hurling of Hollis Morton.

The SMU victory put the Ponies in the thick of the conference race and destined the Frogs for the cellar.

Martin Announces 3 New Prospects

Three more freshman grid prospects have announced they will attend TCU, Othol "Abe" Martin, head football coach, said this week. That brings the total to 17.

The three are James Swink, backfield man from Rusk; Jim Sweeney, a back from Paris, Texas; and Keith Miles, an end from Stamford.

Martin says Swink is one of the brightest prospects signed thus far. He was an all-state footballer and captain and all-district in basketball for two years, and won five medals in his district track meet.

Swink will play on the all-star south basketball squad at the coaches' clinic this fall.

The spunky Frogs look forward to next year now with fond memories of the bat of Les Mattinson, named to several all-conference squads, and to Tommy Hill, who did fine work considering his lack of support at times.

Coach Roach expressed little of the expected dejection at his boys' showing this year. He hinted at the possibility of a conference championship behind the new winning ways of this year's Wogs and the large number of returning let-terms.

Top Frog Golfer Is Giant Killer

"Golf is 90 per cent attitude and 10 per cent ability," says Graham Mackey, Midland sophomore, and top man on the TCU golfing squad.

At the age of 14, Graham started playing golf. Only a short time later he won the first flight at the Midland Club tournament.

While attending high school, he entered the Odessa tournament where he downed heavily-favored crooner Don Cherry, three and two. That day he shot an eight under par.

In 1949 and 1950, Graham won the championship flight at the Midland Club. Since starting the game Graham has entered a total of eight tournaments. One of

SWC Tennis Play Begins Round 2; Finals Tomorrow

The fight for individual conference tennis crowns swings into its second round today, as the Southwest Conference Tournament continues on Fort Worth courts.

Survivors of 24 singles entrants and 12 doubles will meet tomorrow afternoon in the finals.

Five netters entered yesterday's play with spotless conference records. Three, led by singles favorite John Hernandez, are from conference champion Texas. James Saunders and Bill Bonham, Texas; Dan Stansbury, SMU; and Compton Rees, Rice, were all undefeated in SWC play.

Texas is expected to continue its domination in the doubles, since no Longhorn combination suffered a conference loss.

Ken Martin, Bernie Ferguson, Bob Cornell and Don Hardin are representing TCU.

WSA Will Present Letters at Dinner

The Woman's Sports Association will hold its annual "T" Night Dinner at 7 p.m. today at Youngblood's restaurant, 2301 Hemphill.

First-year awards will be presented to Misses Carolyn Rogers, Marilyn Rogers, Cherry Hatten, Marcelene Hester and Nancy Miller.

A second-year award will be presented to Miss Kay Bowers. Receiving third-year awards are Misses Billie Sue Anderson, Martha Enloe and Rena Reynolds.

The Waits Hall championship basketball team members also will receive awards.

New officers will be installed at the meeting.

Lee's Speech Wins $75

Harry Lee, Fort Worth junior, won fourth place and $75 in a contest in San Antonio Saturday, sponsored by the Texas Society, Sons of the American Revolution. Title of Lee's speech was "No Man Ever Dies."

Addington, Penn Loom As Golf Meet Leaders

Leading the conference with a .917 percentage, Don Addington of SMU and Billy Penn of Texas loom as favorites in the conference golf matches that began at 8:30 a.m. yesterday at Colonial Country Club.

Representing TCU in the meet will be: Graham Mackey, Dick Duckworth, Gene Shields, Archer Marx, and Jack Gibson.

Entries for the other conference schools are: Baylor—Jack Westfield, Morgan McReynolds, Jerry Holb, Lester Kizer, Dean Bishop; SMU—Don Addington, Floyd Addington, Stewart Garrell, Kirby Edwards, Terry Morrow; Arkansas—Everette B. Gee, Jim Billingsley, Miller Barber, Tom Raney. Texas—Julian Oates, Lee Pink-ston, Joe Golden, Bill Penn, Fred Blackman, Nesome Burt; A&M—John Barrett, Malcolm Douglass, Bobby Briggs, Homer Calloway, Billy Baker, Bill Franklin.

SMU leads the conference standing this year with 25 matches won and 11 lost. Second place went to Texas, third to Arkansas, fourth to TCU, fifth to A&M, sixth to Baylor, and last to Rice.

Special Service For Dan Rogers In Dallas Sunday

Coaches and athletes of TCU will take part in a special memorial service for the late Dan D. Rogers at East Side Christian Church in Dallas Sunday. Coach Abe Martin will head the group.

Rogers was one of the most ardent Frog backers in recent history. He served as chairman of the athletic committee of the TCU board, was a prominent figure in Cotton Bowl activities and was a key man in all Southwest sports.

A bus will leave from behind the Administration Building at 8:30 a.m. Sunday for athletes who are attending the service.

Rodeo Club Wins Honors In Arlington

The Rodeo Club team rode off with three places in a recent Arlington State Intercollegiate Rodeo at Arlington.

Miss Jean McJunkins, Saratoga, Ark., sophomore, tied for first place honors in barrel racing.

Jack Bridges, Glen Rose sophomore, placed fourth in a calf roping event and Ken Humphrey, San Angelo freshman, stayed on a bull long enough to grab fourth place in a bull riding event.

Bridges and Humphrey also placed in a jackpot roping show Saturday during an Evening College chuck wagon supper at the Horseshoe Club, four miles south of Fort Worth.

Bridges took first place by roping two calves in 44 seconds. Humphrey, third place winner, scored a 12-second run on his last calf.

Growing Trophy Case Gets Basketball Awards

The Horned Frogs' rapidly growing trophy case had two major additions recently.

A huge trophy for the 1953 cage championship arrived along with a much delayed cup for winning the Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament in Dallas in December 1951.

The 1952-53 Cotton Bowl Committee voted the presentation of the later cup since in the previous year no such arrangements were made.

Martin, Ferguson Are Net Mainstays

By PRESTON FIGLEY

"Martin is No. 1!"

"Ferguson is No. 1!"

Well, TCU tennis fans, it's nothing to start a fight about. You are understandably confused, for Ken Martin, Fort Worth sophomore, and Bernie Ferguson, Childress junior, have been alternating at the No. 1 spot for the 1953 Frog tennis team. Who has the best record?

"We just haven't kept track," say the boys.

Ferguson, a transfer from Abilene Christian College, was ineligible last year for that reason. He played on the freshman team there.

Martin was ineligible for the freshman squad, having transferred from Texas at mid-year last year.

The browned, well-muscled Ferguson attended high school at Childress, and lettered on the tennis team two years. Teammate Don Hardin, No. 4 man, is also from Childress.

His senior year Bernie and partner copped the district doubles crown, and in 1950 he went to the finals of the Amarillo Country Club tournament.

Resembling an Indian with the headband he uses to keep perspiration out of his eyes, bespectacled Bernie swats the strongest serve of the varsity aggregation.

He got his power from boxing, and in 1949 he went to the middleweight finals of the Amarillo Golden Gloves tournament. The likeable netter has fought two years in the Fort Worth tournament, representing the Panther Boys' Club.

Colorful Ken Martin and his bounding forehand make life more enjoyable for the tennis team. For the TCU team, that is, for Ken often makes opponents unhappy with his unorthodox style.

He played doubles three years for Arlington Heights, two of those years with Frog cager Vergil Baker. They went to the City Conference finals both seasons.

In 1951 Martin and partner Gene Records went to the state 3A (now 4A) semifinals before being ousted. Ken also played one year of high school basketball.

Coaches frown at Martin's leaping forehand and cramped serve, but he hits a ball deceptively well. The smiling sophomore entertains the team with a ready wit and an amusing line of gibberish, but also plays a lot of serious, solid tennis.

Martin and Ferguson will be TCU's top entries in the SWC tournament here.

They'll give a good account of themselves,' says Coach C. A. Burch, "but just wait until next year..."

Frog tennis fortunes are on the upswing.

Dr. Horner Will Resign

Dr. J. M. Horner, instructor in psychology in the Evening College since 1951, will resign at the end of the summer session, Dean Cortell K. Holsapple announced this week. Dr. Horner will go into private practice of psychiatry in New York.

... and a loud bat made lefty Les Mattinson one of the Frog nine's brightest stars this spring. He is showing his follow-through after flinging a fast curve.

Mattinson Leads in Frog Homers

Aside from his outfield chores, versatile Les Mattinson has taken time out this season to bolster Coach Walter Roach's mound staff.

Mattinson, another product from Fort Worth's North Side High, is the home-run leader for the Frogs this year with six. He is one of the leading hurlers with two victories to his credit.

The big sophomore shrugs off his hitting with a modest: "Shucks, I just close my eyes and swing."

Coach Roach is looking forward to Les' junior season, and if the pitcher-outfielder continues his pace, the year should be a good one.

New Optic Book By Prof. Morgan Is Off Press

Dr. Joseph Morgan, professor of physics, is the author of a new 450-page book, "Introduction to Geometrical and Physical Optics," published by McGraw-Hill Co. to sell for $6.50.

Dr. Morgan, a teacher at TCU since 1941, received his Ph. D. from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The volume, according to top teachers in the field, meets a deep need and is distinctive by its presentation of parallel noncalculus and calculus developments side-by-side throughout the text. The book is the result of more than a year's work.

'No One-Track Mind,' Says Charles Duncan, Though His Feet Disclaim the Statement

By JIM STAPLETON

You've got to admire a fellow like Charles Duncan, one of TCU's unsung tracksters.

The slender Fort Worth junior eats, sleeps, talks and thinks principally about one thing—track. He's a serious young man.

He feels fine when he gets a chance to glide around the oval a few times. This guy works out for track seven afternoons a week!

"Gosh, you can't run a few days, then lay off a few and expect to be in shape for a meet," Duncan explains.

His coach, Mack Clark, says: "Charley is gonna make somebody a mighty good track coach. He knows this business. He even subscribes to a whole list of track magazines and reads all the material he can find."

Duncan has one necessary attribute for a trackman—determination. Although he was ineligible last year he worked out every afternoon.

He is not satisfied with working out from about 3 to 5:30, but arrives at the track by 1 to begin the little jobs that are necessary.

Charley rolls the track, keeps the high jump and broad jump pits in good condition and paints the lanes around the cinder oval.

He gets paid for the work, but he could be making more money other places—he does the job because that is how much he loves the sport.

"Don't think I have a one track mind," Charley cautions. "I am interested in physical therapy work, too. You know, like the stuff Elmer (Brown) does. Probably be a good thing for a track coach to understand, too."

You can bet one thing: if Charley thinks any matter might further his knowledge of track, he will fight tooth and nail until he has learned all about it.

June 11 Is New Deadline For Mexico Enrollment

The deadline for enrollment in the TCU Summer Session at Mexico City College, Mexico, has been extended from May 15, to June 11, Dr. J. H. Hammond, director of the Summer School there, said Tuesday.

This is Welcome Week under the Humble sign in your neighborhood

No. 1 in Texas

More Texans use Humble Esso Extra than any other premium gasoline. It's No. 1 in sales among premium gasolines because it's No. 1 in quality.

Neighborly Service for Texans!

Are you planning to make your vacation trip in your car? Let your neighbor under the Humble sign introduce you to Humble Touring Service. This fine service provides you with clearly marked road maps to and from your destination, a trip log and other helpful information. Tell Humble Touring Service where you want to go—they do the rest.

This week the Humble dealer in your neighborhood invites you and your family to drive in and get acquainted.

He wants to show you the kind of welcome you can expect every time you stop for service under the Humble sign.

He wants you to find out for yourself the superior quality of Humble products.

He wants to show you how clean his station is, and how well equipped.

He wants to clean your windshield and sweep your floorboards; check your oil, your radiator, battery water, tires; he wants to give you personal proof that Humble service is complete, prompt, courteous.

Above all, he wants you to know that he is a neighbor you can depend on, that his station is equipped and staffed to keep your car running right and looking good.

So drive in, neighbor, and get acquainted—you're always welcome under the Humble sign.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

When was the last time you had your oil changed?

If your oil is 1000 to 1500 miles old, let your neighbor under the Humble sign drain your crankcase and refill it with either of two great oils: Esso Uniflo if your car is new and uses SAE 20 oil or lower; Esso Extra if your car uses SAE 30 or higher.
