ANNUAL READY MONDAY

Bill Harrison Is Elected New Skiff Editor

For the second time in two weeks, Bill Harrison has been elected Skiff editor for 1954-55.

Harrison won a recall runoff election with Horace (Chief) Craig Tuesday and Wednesday by a margin of 75 votes when 579 students went to the polls and cast 227 ballots for the Dallas junior and 252 for Craig.

The recall election became necessary two weeks ago when Pat Whelan, student body president, presented Congress with a recall petition signed by 236 students demanding that Harrison stand for re-election or resign.

The petition signers were backers of Craig, who objected to a congressional action which invalidated 336 write-in votes he received in a runoff between Harrison and Jim Croslin April 27-28.

After Student Court upheld the validity of the petition and Congress set dates for the recall election, Harrison filed for re-election along with candidates Craig, Croslin and Marilyn Aycock.

In the preliminary recall election last Thursday and Friday, Craig received 253 votes, Harrison 204, Aycock 175, and Croslin 97.

Harrison, a journalism-religion double major, has been youth director of the First Christian Church at Paris, Texas, the past year. This year he covered the religion run for The Skiff.

No Excuses Needed

The Skiff doesn't feel that any excuses, other than ones obvious above, are necessary to run a picture like this one of smiling Marcel Martin. San Antonio freshman. However, for readers who feel that a picture should bear some relationship to a story, we refer you to the summer sportswear story on page 7 and summer activities story on page 8. That is, if you still care to read instead of just looking and liking.

Beer Mugs Are Choice Of Congress

Student Congressmen overwhelmingly prefer beer mugs to steaks or medals as souvenirs of their legislative days.

Prior to passing of the "beer mug" bill Monday night, Pat Whelan, student body president, adjourned Congress into a committee of the whole.

In considering what to do with $157 remaining in the Congress treasury, Whelan said:

"I think we would run into opposition if we had a steak fry." He possibly was referring to last year's Congressmen who threw themselves a steak-fry with unappropriated money remaining in the treasury.

After the committee of the whole reconvened into regular session, Jack Graf moved that Congressmen buy beer mugs as souvenirs. David Brown amended the motion to give members a choice between beer mugs and medals with similar lettering. Both amendment and motion passed unanimously.

Only Brown and Gery Tharp took medals.

4,000 to Attend May 30 Graduation; Baccalaureate, Tea Precede Exercises

Approximately 4,000 persons are expected to attend graduation exercises at 8 p.m. Sunday May 30 in TCU Amon G. Carter Stadium.

Of the 371 degrees to be awarded, 323 are bachelor's degrees and 48 are master's. Thirteen certificates of graduate nursing will be conferred. This compares with 267 bachelor's and 37 master's degrees awarded last spring.

Commencement speaker will be Dillon Anderson, prominent Houston attorney, businessman and writer.

The Rev. Sloan Gentry, pastor of the First Christian Church of Longview, will deliver the baccalaureate address at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, May 30, in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Three honorary degrees will be awarded at the commencement exercises. Anderson will receive an LL.D. degree and the Rev. Mr. Gentry a D.D. The third degree will be conferred on the Rev. Lawrence Bash, pastor of the University Christian Church of Austin and last year's baccalaureate speaker.

Dr. M. E. Sadler will preside during the awards. Dr. Noel Keith, chairman of the department of religion, will read the citations and Deans Jerome A. Moore and A. T. DeGroot will perform the hooding.

Staff Members See Book Tonight

Distribution of the 1954 "Horned Frog" will begin at 12:30 p.m. Monday and continue until 5:30 p.m. Students may pick up their annual at the same hours Monday through Friday at Building 5, the journalism building.

Beginning June 1 the annual will be distributed only through the business office.

Students must bring their activity cards and sign for the book.

Horned Frog staff members will view the annual tonight.

Each staff member will receive a copy with his name embossed in gold at a banquet at Claris Stovall Tea Room, 2300 Hemphill, at 7 p.m.

Students who have not carried a load of nine semester hours both semesters must pay $5 in the business office before their annual can be delivered. Students who have taken nine semester hours during only one of the semesters must pay $2.50.

All students who must clear in the business office should do so before asking for the book.

Students who left school or completed graduation requirements in January must pay $2.50.

Persons not able to get to the campus may have someone pick up their book, but the person must bear identification and sign for him.

No annuals will be mailed. Vice President D. Ray Lindley will be guest speaker at tonight's banquet.

Guests will include President M. E. Sadler and Dr. L. D. Anderson, chairman emeritus of the board of trustees.

Editor of the annual was Jimmy Suggs and the business manager, Chuck Mull.

Other staff members included: Sports editors, Ross Hoyt, David Brown and Jim Hendricks; favorites editors, Misses Betty Jean Smith and Sarah Slay; class editors, Misses Ann (See ANNUAL, p. 8)

Miss Logan and Craig Receive Press Awards

Horace (Chief) Craig and Miss Martha Logan are winners of the annual Fort Worth Press Journalism Awards for a word or misses a feature outstanding reporting on The Skiff during 1953-54.

The announcement came this week from Prof. Warren K. Agee, journalism department chairman and adviser to The Skiff.

Craig, a Fort Worth junior, was cited for both news and feature writing, especially his coverage of Homecoming, Ranch Week, Evening College Council meetings and the Field House fire.

"Chief has the ability to cover almost any type event and to produce a most readable story," Prof. Agee commented.

He has demonstrated an ability to organize comprehensive news stories, and he seldom wastes a word or misses a feature angle."

Miss Logan, a Dallas junior, received her award for "consistent, thorough coverage of the fine arts run."

"She has displayed a high degree of accuracy and an understanding of the technical terminology involved, along with an ability to make both news and feature stories highly readable," Prof. Agee declared.

Each will receive a $25 check at a J. Willard Ridings Press Club dinner next fall. This is the 19th year in which the awards have been given. Only juniors are eligible.

It's Intramural Whether It Be English or Golf

An English 321 class was voting on which day to have the final exam.

The vote was deadlocked when Bill Johnson, Fort Worth sophomore, entered the classroom.

"Mr. Johnson," the professor asked, "When do you prefer to take the quiz, Tuesday or Thursday?"

"I don't care," Johnson answered. "It's completely intramural to me."

Johnson participated in the immaterial golf program.

'Pen of Plenty' On Sale Tuesday

"The Pen of Plenty," a freshman anthology, will be on sale in the Book Store Tuesday for 15 cents a copy, Miss Mabel Major, professor of English, announced.

The booklet will contain 29 literary selections written by students of the two freshman invitation English classes of Miss Major and Prof. Estus C. Polk.

Congress to Pay $130 On Cheerleader Bills

Head cheerleader Jimmy McCord submitted a $330 cheerleader budget to Congress Monday night.

He asked that Congress pay $130 of the figure. The athletic department pays $200 of the budget each year.

The budget includes letter sweaters which TCU cheerleaders in the past have not had.

"Other members of the Southwest Conference award cheerleaders letter sweaters," McCord said. "We think we deserve them, and they are not the most expensive we could find."

Legislators asked for details on the budget and the six letter sweaters on the proposed list totaled $75.

"I would suggest you go to Leonard's bargain basement instead of the Fair when pricing these supplies," Bob Beals, School of Business representative, said.

"This budget was not drawn up overnight," McCord replied. "We went to several stores before deciding upon our choice." Miss Leona Gillette moved that Congress pay the $130 addition to the budget. The motion passed 16-0.

David Brown was named chairman of summer school elections. Misses Pat Harrell and Janet Horne were appointed as assistants.

The members will act as an interim committee until a summer congress is elected.

Korean Vets Eligible For Discount of $25

Veterans attending TCU under the Korean GI Bill will be given a $25 discount each semester of summer school.

To be eligible, a veteran must be enrolled for six semester hours each term. Maximum discount for both terms would be $50 provided 12 semester hours were taken.

The University grants Korean veterans $50 discounts for each of the fall and spring semesters.

Boarding Verdict May Be Made

A decision on the proposed new boarding plan may be made before school is out, Vice President D. Ray Lindley said.

The plan would require all dormitory students to pay the $200 boarding fee per semester or buy $160 worth of meal tickets and eat some meals off-campus.

The Administration is awaiting the selection of a business manager for the Student Center to learn what ideas he might have regarding such a plan.

A business manager is expected to be selected soon, possibly by May 31, Dr. Lindley stated.

May 31 to Mark End of 'Casbah'

Getting men out of Barracks "Y," the "Casbah," by the May 30 check-out date should prove no problem for Dean of Men C. J. Firkins.

On Monday morning May 31 the building will be torn down to make way for construction of the new practice court building.

In speaking of dormitory reservations for next fall, Dean Firkins said:

"About 290 of the men who are now housed on the campus have indicated they will return for the fall semester."

There are 425 men in the dormitories this semester.

Appeal Is Issued To Save Grass

A "keep off the grass" appeal came this week from building and grounds superintendent L. W. Ramsey.

Sodding of Saint Augustine grass beneath campus trees was responsible for the request.

"It would have a better chance to grow if students wouldn't play baseball on it," Mr. Ramsey said.

The sodding program will eliminate bare spots in campus grass. Regular grass will not grow under shady trees, but the Saint Augustine variety will grow anywhere.

More than 620 square yards of grass is being used in the planting project. This amount will sod about 3,000 square yards of area, Mr. Ramsey estimated.

The grass was donated to the school. About half the transplanting job has been completed.

TODAY'S QUIZ

WHAT MAKES A LUCKY TASTE BETTER?

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

A Lucky tastes better for two important reasons: 1. Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco.

2. That tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"--the famous Lucky Strike process--tones up Luckies' fine tobacco... makes it taste even better--cleaner, fresher, smoother.

That's why a Lucky tastes better. And naturally, better taste is why thousands of college students prefer Luckies to all other brands.

So, enjoy better taste. Be Happy--Go Lucky!

New Techniques Shown

Exhibit by Art Students On Display in Gallery

By BETTYE PORE

An exhibit by TCU art students is on display in the Fine Arts Building.

The show includes paintings, drawings, sculpture, ceramics and posters for commercial advertising.

Among some of the more interesting works is Eugene Naham's painting entitled "Chapel Study With Palette." This colorful work, painted entirely with a palette knife, is the author's interpretation of the TCU chapel building as seen from various angles.

Miss Joanne Cathey uses a most unique idea for her drawing, which displays a new technique for rendering a figure.

Very effective is the use of water color paper covered with white wax crayon with black ink rubbed into the wax for shading and accent.

A piece of sculpture bearing no title, by Leslie Stratton, catches the eye by its beautifully rounded lines and original design. Stratton used a new material, hydracal, which is extremely hard plastic cast in block form and then carved as stone or wood.

Miss Carolyn Miracle's abstract drawing of a still life is an interesting experimentation with the values in white and black on gray paper.

BUILDING PLANS

Dormitory Work... ...May Begin Soon

By MARLYN AYCOCK

Construction of a new men's dormitory may begin in the near future, President M. E. Sadler said Wednesday.

The executive committee of the Board of Trustees will decide whether to go ahead with the project or delay action until some later date.

TCU recently applied for a $1,500,000 loan from the Housing and Home Finance Administration in Washington to build a new dormitory and remodel Clark, Goode and Jarvis Halls. Tuesday the government agency tentatively approved the request.

Dr. Sadler said the application was submitted so the money would be available when needed for the new building. TCU has 90 days to accept the money or request an extension on its availability. He said "his guess would be" that the committee would decide to begin construction soon.

If work on the building is begun this year, it will not interrupt the normal building schedule, Dr. Sadler emphasized. The approved loan is of a self-liquidating nature, that is, rent from the dormitory would be used to repay the loan.

If built, the new dormitory will occupy a site near the former Field House. It will be similar in design to Tom Brown Hall but will house 200 persons. Tom Brown houses 128.

A $1,000,000 expansion of the Library still has first priority in the regular development program. A government loan such as approved by the Housing and Home Finance Administration cannot be obtained for that work since the Library has no financial income.

Expansion of the Library will begin as soon as funds become available. Dr. Sadler could project no tentative date as to when such remodeling will start.

TCU's decision to build the new dormitory was based on present needs as much as future anticipation of increased enrollment, Dr. Sadler said. He cited the use of the temporary barracks and Jarvis Hall as resident halls for men students. Jarvis is "desperately" needed to house women students, he added.

The admissions office has received four times as many applications from prospective Texas students outside Fort Worth and twice as many from out of state as were on hand at this same time last year.

As to whether this would indicate an increased enrollment in September, Dr. Sadler replied:

"I can say only that it means we are working more systematically this year in handling applications and inquiries."

Teachers' Certificates Need Recommendation

Beginning in September, students applying for teachers' certificates must be recommended by the University.

In the past, students needed only to apply for certificates and pay the required fee. Under the new rule, students will be considered on their personal and professional qualifications.

Hunt Appointed To Mailing Job

Arthur K. Hunt, Brite mid-dler of Fort Worth, has been appointed supervisor of the printing and mailing office, effective June 1, Amos Melton, director of Information Service, announced Monday.

Hunt will succeed Neal Guy of Fort Worth who completes his graduate work in religion this month.

Guy is being assigned the pastorate of a church in East Texas.

Sadler to Name Dean of Chapel

TCU's first dean of the chapel is expected to be named soon, possibly during commencement, President M. E. Sadler said.

The new dean will have full responsibility for planning, scheduling and co-ordinating events for Robert Carr Chapel. Such activities will include helping student groups with vesper services, weddings and special programs.

Williams Honored By Math Faculty

Jerry Randall Williams, Fort Worth freshman, has been selected by the mathematics faculty as the student who has made the greatest achievement in freshman mathematics this year. He has completed three specified courses.

Randall received the standard mathematical tables achievement award from Miss Ina Mae Bramblett, assistant professor of mathematics. He was chosen from a group of six students considered.

As salutorian of his graduating class at Carter Riverside High School, Randall received a scholastic scholarship to TCU. He is a member of the Parabola Club and plans a double major in physics and chemistry with a minor in mathematics.

Fellowship Given Spain for Study

Dr. A. O. Spain, chairman of the government department, has been awarded a faculty Fellowship in Business given by the Foundation for Economic Education of New York.

Dr. Spain will make a six-week study beginning July 19 at the Aluminum Corporation of America headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa. He also will visit a primary production or installation plant, possibly a refinery or a mine.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

What About Your BIF?

This month's graduates will be the first to pocket their diplomas and leave The Hill since the University revitalized its ex-students program.

A permanent link between these graduates and TCU will be an ex-students program designed to serve alumni in many ways. As a part of the commencement program May 30, graduating students will become inactive members of the Ex-Students Association.

To become an active member a senior merely needs to fill out and return to the alumni office a biographical information form he received last week. Forty seniors returned BIF forms this week, said Hartwell M. Ramsey, director of the ex-students program.

One service to former students was improved this spring when the ex-student issue of the Texas Christian University Bulletin, edited by Mr. Ramsey, was given a new format and a fresher style of presentation. Other improvements in the publication are being planned.

In June another service will begin. Exes will be listed in the University's football ticket priority when the season's mailing goes out. Under this plan exes may secure season or game tickets before orders from new season ticket buyers are filled.

Seniors can make certain they will receive every ex-students service by filling out their biographical information forms correctly and mailing them back promptly. They will be active, card-carrying members of a rapidly-growing Ex-Students Association.

All's Well Here

After he heard he had won in the runoff election Wednesday, Skiff Editor-Elect Bill Harrison asked Horace T. "Chief" Craig, his opponent in the election, to edit the student newspaper's editorial page next year.

"Chief" said he would be glad to.

This is conclusive proof that all's well in the offices of The Skiff. The new editor and Craig, who was catapulted into the race for the editorship by a surprise write-in campaign during a runoff three weeks ago, will work together in formulating the editorial policy of the paper next year.

Announcement of such close co-operation between Harrison and Craig will surprise many students. But it doesn't surprise members of the 1953-54 Skiff staff, who worked with both of the junior journalism majors this year.

Skiff staffers know that although Harrison and Craig campaigned vigorously against each other in the recall election, their primary interest is not politics but journalism. Their principal concern next fall will be putting out the best possible newspaper for the University.

Annual Achievement

The 1954 Horned Frog will be here Monday.

The 342-page annual has lived up to the hope of many that it would arrive before the end of the term. Staff members have worked many long and hard hours meeting deadlines to give students one of the most impressive yearbooks ever published here.

Several improvements have been made. In the club and activity sections, each picture has a cutline giving students' names and the time and place of the picture, instead of the usual "humor" label. This will make the pictures more meaningful for students in later years.

More space is devoted to intramurals than usual, and the TCU-Convoir extension program has a page.

A six-page index and a larger faculty section are other additions. In all, there are 18 additional pages.

The Skiff offers its congratulations to the Horned Frog staff and to Editor Jimmy Suggs, whose sincere and successful efforts have made the new annual a distinctive and permanent credit to the University.

Too Late Now, But . . .

For the last two issues The Skiff has suggested that Student Congress patch up the Student Association Constitution so it could not be used in turning another election into chaos.

Because the Constitution is vague about elections it took the student body four weeks to choose an editor for The Skiff this spring.

The faulty Constitution was not discussed at Congress' last session Monday. It's too late now for the legislators to repair the document.

But The Skiff has discovered a constitutional method of electing editors that will dodge at least some of the shortcomings of the Constitution.

The idea is to give sophomore, junior and senior journalism students authority to nominate two candidates each for the editorship of The Skiff and the Horned Frog. The student body would vote on these nominees.

In this way journalism students, who are in a good position to appraise the qualifications of candidates for editorships, could narrow the field to students they would prefer to work with as editors.

Journalism students, nominating from a group of students who have filed for nomination and have been certified by the Student Publications Committee, would be naming candidates as political parties do in direct primaries.

Under the present arrangement every candidate approved by the Publications Committee has a spot on the ballot. The Constitution says merely that the editors "shall be selected at the annual spring election in accordance with terms of agreement reached between the Association Congress and the Publications Committee of the University."

Since Congress has taken a passive attitude of "let come what may," it seems that it is time for the Publications Committee to work out a new agreement with Congress. And The Skiff believes its suggestion for making nominations in the journalism department is a good one.

"Durn it, J. E., that laundry's fouled up again. They sent me the notes for a CHEMISTRY final."

Honeymoons, Beer Packing Are Among Summer Plans

TCU interests will branch out into foreign travel, research, a varied assortment of jobs and glamorous vacations come hot summertime.

Europe provides the attraction for Dr. Rita May Hall of the French department and Misses Jo Ann Fowler, Fort Worth senior, and Martha Logan, Dallas junior. They will spend three months on the continent.

Combining a honeymoon with a European tour, Miss Mary Lynn (Muff) Cox, Fort Worth sophomore, and Hunter Brush, Tyler junior, will leave New York City by ship following their wedding in June.

Heading south of the border will be Dick Dulin, Dallas sophomore, who will tour Mexico with a United Christian Missionary Society youth group, and Miss Rita Penny, Waurika, Okla., freshman, who will spend two weeks in Mexico.

Several students will attend classes at Mexico City College.

Research sums up the plans of three English teachers, Miss Mabel Major, Mrs. Ruth Angell and Miss Frances Mayhew.

Student jobs lined up for the summer range from packing beer to singing light opera.

Harry Johnson, St. Louis freshman, says "I'll be a packer in a Budweiser beer plant."

Three TCU students will sing with the summer light opera company in Pittsburgh, Pa. They are Walter Holmes and R. G. Webb, both Fort Worth graduate students, and Miss Helen McClasky, Marion, Pa., junior.

A Fuller Brush salesman will be Henry (Buddy) Blott, Oklahoma City sophomore, who will work as district manager for the company in Fort Worth.

The business end of a calf rope will keep Ken Humphrey, Galveston junior, busy as he tours rodeos in the United States and Canada this summer.

Several TCU baseball players will journey south to continue their playing with semi-pro leagues. Alfred Paschal, Bob White and Bob McDaniel will go to Refugio, defending state semi-pro champs.

Tommy Hill and Les Mattinson, both all Southwest Conference selections this spring, will play at Sinton, Charles Quick, leading hitter for the Wogs, also will go to Sinton.

The summer plans of S/Sgt. Paul M. Zuber, assistant professor of air science and tactics, have been made for him by the Air Force. He has been ordered to Japan.

Dr. Joshua I. Tracey, distinguished professor of mathematics, will be a director at Kamp Kil Kare near Lake Champlain in Vermont.

Christian missionary and youth work is planned by a number of students.

Miss Jean Jones, Albany sophomore, will go to Jamaica in July with about 20 interdenominational and inter-racial students to restore a missionary church destroyed by a hurricane. She will be sponsored by the Disciples of Christ.

Neil and Mary (Carlson) Lindley, Miss Charlotte Allston, Pampa sophomore, and Gene Brice, Sulphur Springs Brite senior, will conduct youth roundups in Texas disciples of Christ churches.

Gene Buchanan, Houston junior, will represent northern Texas at a regional conference of the Student Christian Association at Davis, Okla.

"Getting in the thick of the artist colony" will be Gery Tharp, Galveston senior art major, who is planning a summer in Greenwich Village, New York City.

TCU vacationers will take off in different directions this summer.

Bermuda is the destination of Miss Dorothy Brian, Chickasha, Okla., freshman; Alaska for Miss Sandra Walker, Albuquerque freshman; and Hawaii for Miss Betty Padon, instructor in physical education.

Miss Pauline Jones, PBX operator, has several tickets for New York radio and television shows which she plans to use on a two-week Eastern tour. She will visit Washington, D. C., New York and Boston.

Wilbur White, Fort Worth graduate student, is planning a second honeymoon.

"Been married 12 years," he said, "so I think I'll take the wife up to Kansas. We need a rest."

TCU Graduates in New York

Husband Concentrates on Novel; Pianist-Singer Wife Does Typing

FRANCES BRUMMERHOFF
A husband and wife team of TCU alumni are making head-ways in the field of literature. Osborne Duke, B.A. '50, is author. His helpmate, the former Myra Lee McNeil, B.M. '49, is doing the typing on a novel Duke expects to finish soon.

The 29-year-old writer has made other contributions to the literary field. Among his most recognized works is a short story, "Strut With Some Barbecue," which was chosen as one of the best stories of 1953 and appeared in an anthology called "New World Writing."

It was also purchased by Columbia Broadcasting System network and was received in Fort Worth recently. Duke has sold the story four times. The new novel will be published by McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. Mrs. Duke has achieved fame outside of typing for her author-husband. While a student at TCU she sang in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas conducted by the TCU Choral Club. She also was winner of several contests, among them the Civic Federation of Dallas contest in singing. She was one of three in Texas to win the G. B. Deally award given yearly for talented persons in voice and piano. As a winner she went to New York and sang in Carnegie Hall in 1948.

After receiving her degree in voice music education, Mrs. Duke went to New York and attended the Juilliard School of Music for two years on a scholarship.

The brown-haired, dimpled songstress has appeared on such well-known shows as the Hit Parade, where she sang in the chorus two years; the Buick Show, and the Patti Page, Perry Como and Milton Berle shows.

The TCU couple were married three years ago in New York in the Little Church Around the Corner. They are living in Jackson Heights, Long Island, New York.

Shorts Ensembles Head the List

New Playclothes Fashions Take Honors This Summer

By ARLINE OAKLEY

With school almost out, thoughts of picnics, tennis games, and afternoons of just plain loafing will soon be uppermost in your mind.

With these thoughts in mind you will look chic in new playclothes fashions.

Shorts, varying from the straight-leg effect to bloomer styles top the list. They are being shown in ensembles which include matching halters, strapless tops, middy shirts or cover-up jackets.

A matching skirt may be added to a shorts and halter set for a more dressed-up look.

Pedal pushers and "Bermuda" shorts are smart additions to your play wardrobe. Appropriate for hikes, golf games or gardening, these fashions are good buys in denim, terry cloth, broadcloth, pique and cord. Plaid, striped, checked and polka dot designs are especially popular.

A beach fashion you won't want to be without this summer is a terry cloth "all-in-one" shirt and shorts.

If you are the slacks type and plan to spend your summer in a cooler climate, new tapered-line ranch pants will suit your purpose.

These sophisticated-looking jeans come in cotton gabardine in maroon, grey, black and brown.

A new fashion making its bid for popularity, is the playotte. The playotte is a divided skirt designed for casual wear, providing the inbetween look of skirt and slacks.

A brief induction ceremony of graduates into the Ex-Student Association will be a part of the commencement exercises this spring for the first time, according to Hartwell Ramsey, executive secretary of the group.

Graduates and exes automatically become inactive members in the association after having attended TCU for at least one semester. To become active members, they must fill out and return biographical information forms available from Mr. Ramsey.

A stage will be erected for the ceremony on the 50-yard line in the Stadium, facing the east stands, where spectators will sit. Graduation students will sit directly below the speakers' stand on chairs placed on the turf.

Approximately the same number of students are expected to enroll June 7 for the summer session as last year. The first six weeks terms will end July 16. The second term will begin July 19 and end August 1.

Agee to Head Sigma Delta Chi

Prof. Warren K. Agee, chairman of the department of journalism, was installed as president of the Fort Worth Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, Wednesday night.

Installation services took place during a dinner meeting in the board room at Convair.

Prof. Agee, who served as a Star-Telegram reporter for 11 years, joined the TCU staff in 1947. He served as secretary of the chapter during 1950-51.

The organization is made up of reporters, editors, radio news men and public relations men within a 100-mile radius of Fort Worth.

Each year the group sponsors the annual Texas Gridiron Show using the profits for scholarships to journalism students.

David Brown, Horned Frog editor-elect, won the scholarship last year.

The new Fort Worth president will address the newly installed Sigma Delta Chi chapter at North Texas State College at an initiation luncheon in Denton tomorrow noon.

Dean Calls Convention 'Greatest'

"Greatest state convention we've ever held among the Disciples," Dean Roy C. Snodgrass of Brite College termed the 67th annual Texas convention of Christian churches on the campus during the last week.

More than 5,000 persons registered for the largest gathering in the history of the Texas Disciples of Christ. Miss Mary Sue Hay, daughter of the Rev. Kenneth Hay of the Lakeview Christian Church of Dallas, was awarded $5 for being the 5,000th person to register.

Highpoint of the convention was the dedication of TCU's Religion Center.

In action Tuesday, the Rev. W. W. Jones of Beaumont was elected president of the annual convention to be held in Galveston next year.

Other officers named were:

first vice president, the Rev. Richard Crews, Pampa; second vice president, Mrs. George Fowler, Fort Worth; third vice president, C. E. Coombes, San Angelo; secretary, the Rev. John Hughes, Port Arthur; and assistant secretary, Mrs. W. G. Triplett, Raymondville. The Rev. Amos Myers, Magnolia Avenue Church, Fort Worth, was elected treasurer Wednesday.

Bob Peterson, Yakima, Wash., Brite College student, was made a member of a nine-member permanent radio and television commission. Purpose of the commission is to organize and publicize information about the total group of Christian Churches in Texas.

One of the highlights of the convention was the dedication of the TCU's new Religion Center, attended by hundreds of persons.

Methods Changed For SWC Awards

A new method will be used this fall in selecting the winner of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Award which TCU won in 1953.

Jack Graf, president-elect, who represented TCU at the planning meeting in Waco Saturday, reported the new process to Congress Monday night.

"Beginning this fall, after each game, members of the sportsmanship committee will evaluate both the team and school's conduct and spirit," Graf said. "Pre-game and post-game conduct and courtesies will be considered in the evaluation."

This includes letters of invitation extended by student body presidents, stories in student newspapers and treatment of guests and hosts.

Each member of a school's sportsmanship committee will be given an evaluation sheet at the winter meeting of the Southwest Conference. The ballots will be filled grading each school's team and student body based on the requirements of the Southwest Conference sportsmanship code.

The school having the highest number of favorable ballots will be awarded the sportsmanship award.

In the past, at the end of the season, each member of the individual's school's committee has picked the first three schools in order of preference. The school receiving the highest number of first-place votes has won the award. Through this method a school might never know why it was not ranked high on the list.

"The new method will give schools a chance to correct the thing for which they are being voted down," Graf said.

The award will continue to be made at the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl game in Dallas.

41 EC Courses Set for Summer

Forty-one courses will be offered in Evening College summer school.

Registration will be from 6 to 9 p.m. June 7 in the Science Building. Advance registrations will be accepted in the Evening College office, Dean Cortell K. Holsapple said.

Classes begin June 8. Information and schedules are available in the Evening College office in the Administration Building.

Library Receives Set Of Adventist Books

Five Courses Added To Addran Schedule

Mary Coats Burnett Library has received 23 books on the Seventh-Day Adventists.

J. R. Spangler, pastor of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Fort Worth, made the presentation.

The books present historical backgrounds and teachings, as well as church policy and activities.

Five new courses will be offered, one will be dropped, two combined and one extended to two semesters by Addran College of Arts and Sciences next fall.

The new courses are: Government 357, "Seminar in American Constitutional Law," Religion 040, "Problems in Religion," History 349, "History of the South," Philosophy 055, "Assigned Problems in Research" and Philosophy 341, "Philosophy of Science."

To be dropped is History 325ab, "History of the Americas."

History 343, "The French Revolution and Napoleon," and History 342bi, "The Renaissance and the Reformation," will be combined to form History 347ai, "History of Early Europe."

Physics 324, "Applied Mechanics Statics," has been lengthened into a six semester hour course.

TCU Group Visits 1,200 Prospects

One hundred twenty-five Texas high schools were visited by TCU representatives this spring. Dean of Students Thomas F. Richardson revealed in a letter to President M. E. Sadler.

All high schools in Fort Worth and in a 75-to-100 mile radius were visited, as well as schools in more distant areas of the state. Personal contacts were made with more than 1,200 "interested" high school seniors.

Forty faculty and staff members and 15 students made up the TCU delegations, whose mission was to interest high school seniors in TCU and encourage their enrollment here. The visitation program has a "great public relations value to the University," Dr. Richardson said in the letter. "This can become a very valuable service."

Prof. Cornelius, Keith To Attend Convention

Dr. Noel L. Keith, chairman of the department of religion, and E. T. Cornelius, assistant professor of religion, will be delegates to the International Christian College convention at Granville, Ohio, June 20-24.

The convention was called by the National Council of Churches to bring about an understanding of Protestant colleges, to unite Protestant university action and to show secular institutions the significance of the Protestant university.

April Lounge Profits Increase; Total $635

April profits on the Student Lounge and vending machines zoomed $384.75 over the March figure, a Student Government Committee treasurer's report showed yesterday.

Total profits for April were $635.24 compared to March's total of $250.49. Reason for the unusual increase is because March Coca Cola revenue did not reach the treasurer until April.

Melton Heads Group

Amos Melton, director of Information Services, has been named chairman of a steering committee to establish a national public relations bureau for the Disciples of Christ churches.

Representatives of the churches and schools met in Indianapolis recently to begin organization of the bureau.

Successful TCU Sports Year Ends

In many ways, the TCU sports year 1953-54 was a good one. Iron-man football returned, and the undermanned Frogs threw a 19-26 scare into mighty Michigan State. Buster Brannon's men fought for the title all the way, and the name Richard O'Neal made news.

Thin Bill Curtis rocketed into the national track spotlight, and all-conference baseball player Les Mattinson slugged .407 in game after game of near-professional performance. Golf and tennis squads made TCU's best showing in years.

The year was good. But—wait till next year!

BASEBALL

Don't get excited, and don't wager the family silver, but here's a tip—keep your eyes on the 1955 Frog baseball team.

"Next year" didn't arrive in 1954 for Coach Walter Roach, but it's getting closer. His squad jumped from last to third this year, and the 1955 group should be in great shape to make a serious title bid.

Only two regulars, senior second baseman Jim Stapleton and senior catcher Bill Frick, have completed their eligibility. Freshman sensation Charley Quick is practically conceded the keystone position and sophomore Larry Roseborough should continue to supply competent work behind the plate.

The Christians clinched third place in the SWC last Thursday by splitting a doubleheader with A&M.

Roach's men amassed an 8-7 conference record, while completing season play with 12-13, also good for third.

Les Mattinson dominated batting statistics, leading the squad with a .407 average and SWC figures of 34 hits, 53 total bases, 20 runs-batted-in, 22 runs scored, six doubles and four home runs.

First-baseman Jim Mayfield hit a solid .332 for the entire season, and .340 for conference play. Right-fielder Bob White dropped to .267 for the season, but cracked a steady .302 in the title race.

Hill won AP all-conference honors for his mound work, compiling a 2-4 SWC record in overall play. His earned-run average was a good 2.87.

An all-conference selection of the Dallas Morning News, McDaniel racked up 7-5 for the entire route and 6-2 in league competition. Furnishing TCU a top one-two hurling punch, McDaniel allowed only 1.24 earned runs per game.

Roach guided a young team to third place, and when McDaniel and Roseborough were the starting battery the Frogs fielded a starting nine composed of six sophomores, two juniors and a senior.

They gained experience, those first-year men, and gained the conference's respect in doing it. They'll bear watching.

FOOTBALL

It's hard these days for Abe Martin to sit around, soak up sun and be calm. The head coach is anxious for August to arrive and bring football with it.

When spring training opened in February, the Christians were supposed to be weak at fullback and tackle, but the ensuing workouts showed the ability of fullback prospects Hank Crowsey, Jack Webb, Buddy Dike and Stanley Bull. It made Martin overjoyous.

Then the tackle situation improved quickly. Dick Laswell, Ray Hill, Orville Neal, Carl Rose, Norman Hamilton and James Cooper began acting mean and stepping all over people. Again Martin rejoiced.

Thirteen lettermen will be returning for action, come fall, with captain and end Johnny Crouch leading the crew.

Rounding out a top backfield group, Martin can pick from Ronald Clinkscale, Gerald Redus, Ray Taylor and B. J. Meredith. Sophomores Chuck Curtis, James Swink and Harold Pellard will be around battling for starting positions, too.

The coach is expecting some solid play in the line. Hugh Pitts, Bob White and Joe Williams will be at center, and Claude Roach, Bill Yung, Bill Alexander, Malcomb Wallace, Jay Ray McCullough and Vernon Hallbeck will be fighting for guard positions.

Crouch will head the ends along with Bryan Engram, Darrel Simmonds, O'Day Williams and Tom McDonald.

"There won't be any tears shed next year, except when we surprise a couple of these southwest powerhouses," said Martin.

TRACK

With mixed emotions, Mack (Poss) Clark picked up next year's probable track roster and looked closely this week.

He was sad because Wes Ritchey, a one-man team for three years, would not be around any more, but he was happy because Bill Curtis, probably the Southwest's best hurdler in several years, would be returning.

Besides, Clark will have his 880 and mile men, Robert Gathright and James Wood; Ronald Clinkscale, a sprinter plagued by illness this spring, and a host of weight men back.

Up from a fine freshman squad will be Jack Webb, Norman Hamilton, John Mitchell and Hank Crowsey, all competent weightmen. Two good distance runners, Ronnie Taylor and Clarence Culwell, will be available also.

At the conference meet in Waco last Friday and Saturday TCU's two-man team—Curtis and Ritchey—carried off two firsts and a second, but the 14-point total was good enough only for sixth place.

and 67's at Worth Hills course record is 65.

TENNIS

The 1955 season should be bright on the TCU varsity tennis scene.

Every man who participated in a match will return for this year's squad, and an outstanding Garland freshman, Jerry Shelton, will be competing for a varsity spot.

Coach C. A. Burch's men this year were Ken Martin, Fort Worth junior; Don H. Childress junior, Childress, Texas; Gordon, San Juan sophomore; and Louis Gillespie, Fort Worth sophomore. The team compiled a season record of 8-9-4 matches won-lost-tied placing fourth in the Southwest Conference.

The Frogs ended the season last Thursday and Friday in Waco in the SWC tournament after losing to Rice Wednesday, 5-1, in the last conference meeting. Martin and Harkins scored the only TCU point in a three-hour 8-6, 6-8, 8-6 No. 1 doubles victory.

GOLF

TCU's golf team will be blasted hard by graduation. Three of the Frogs' four top players will be graduated this spring.

No. 2 man Gene Shields, No. 3 performer Art Hoera and No. 4 player Bill Sikes all have finished their eligibility.

No. 1 Dick Duckworth and Shields competed last weekend in the conference at Waco's Ridgewood Country Club, an affair won by Texas' Joe Golden.

Duckworth will return for action next year, as will alternate Burch Coats. Other prospects are Bert Franks and Mickey Bozarth.

Eldridge Miles, probably TCU's finest golfer, will be ready next spring. Eldridge, a string bean long knocker, consistently shoots around par, and lately during intramural matches has fired sizzling 66

Roach Warns: Don't Play Ball Before May 30

Baseball Coach Walter Roach has issued a warning to all members of this year's varsity and freshman baseball teams:

"Don't play in a game with another team until after May 30. It's perfectly all right for a boy to try out for and practice with a team, but if he plays in a game before May 30, it will cost him a year of varsity eligibility."

Roach pointed out the following rule from Southwest Conference regulations:

"No student of a conference school who, in a given year has participated as a member of a freshman or varsity squad in any particular sport shall represent, in that college year, any team other than a freshman or varsity or intramural team of his own institution in that sport. PENALTY FOR VIOLATION—loss of one year of varsity eligibility in that sport."

Intramural Play Urged

Playoff progress has been slow in intramural tennis and golf tournaments, according to student director Pat Whelan. He urged participants to play off matches immediately, in order to avoid the necessity of awarding forfeits and to allow determination of champions before the end of school.

SPORTSHOP

BY ROSS HOYT

As asserted by yon gray glob on page 11, TCU's athletic year is through, finished, done for, kaput—in the language of the streets, "they ain't no mo'." That hand has done writ "finis" and having writ—it's all over.

It's over, and a bunch of nostalgic athletes, as they were, have been "put out to pasture" so far as SWC competition is concerned.

For these "athletes who have been known to die young," according to a Mr. Housman and a couple of pulp magazines which bother to trouble with such drivel, I would like to pickle, no—preserve a few memories.

So—faling back on that ancient hit-tune, "The Last Editorial Rag," I am about to utter a couple of nonsensical predictions for those guys who have girded themselves the last time for TCU.

Predicted:
That Morgan Williams will perish while shearing a black sheep in Ozona, Texas, at the age of 111, the weight of 333.

Hank Ohlen, will end his stay on earth in solitary confinement at "The Rock" for making lewd and obscene remarks about Dan Jarvis' collection of minerals and gems.

Hal Lambert will become a multi-millionaire by fleecing Pat Kenny out of his interests in the Champale Corporation and Kenny's Uranium Enterprises.

"Country Dan" Hallmark will seek, and find employment as a member of Lefty Frizzell's band, and then assume leader's duties when Lefty passes on to his just reward, a TV show with Liberace.

"Bad Bill" Sikes will win the 1999 Old-Timer's Open in Muleshoe, Texas, and donate the first-prize of $1.98 to Tom Grissom who donated to the upkeep of at least seven athletes during his hectic era at The Hill.

Jimmy "Fat Boy" Stapleton will make his home in Houston and will serve in the capacity of hotel manager for his life-long pals Lonnie and Johnny.

"Whitey" Dublin will retire to the deserts of New Mexico and do extensive research in conjuring water with a suave grizzly bear, name of Don Perry.

Charley Brown will grow "fat and sassy" as a salesman for the Lifebuoy Soap Company.

Ronald Fraley will come to no good end, and will end his days in the Birmingham Jail for bootlegging beer into Sweetwater.

Ross Hoyt will be damned glad if he graduates!

Planetarium's New Home Is in Science Building

The planetarium, a mecca for school children during the past 19 years, has been moved from the Administration Building to the Science Building.

The planetarium was made by George F. Townsend of Austin, a pioneer Texas physicist, and installed here in August, 1935. Calculations for it were made by Dr. Newton Gaines, chairman of the physics department.

The view it presents is that of the solar system as viewed from four billion miles from the earth.

Calculations for such devices are usually measured from the north or south pole, but in this instance were figured from the TCU area.

The model has proved useful as a visual aid not only to TCU astronomy and mathematics students, but also to elementary school children studying the solar system.

Exes Work in Far East

TCU Graduates Play Big Roles In Japanese Missionary Work

Graduates of TCU are playing a prominent part in the work of the Disciples of Christ in Japan, according to a pamphlet received recently by Dr. Colby D. Hall, dean emeritus of Brite College of the Bible.

Nabunda Oda, recipient of B.A. and M.C. degrees in 1930, is principal of the Margaret K. Long Girls' School in Tokyo. Oda, considered one of Japan's leading educators, at one time was a vice-president of the Disciples' World Convention.

Another TCU graduate is Tadashi Tominaga, former head of the Sei-Guikin School for Boys. With Oda, he was sent to TCU by Tom Young, missionary to Japan and former schoolmate of Dean Hall's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer of International House in Tokyo have been prominent workers since arriving in Japan in 1952. Mrs. Palmer, the former Miss Maxine Jones, is the sister of Kenneth Jones, Brite student from Dallas. She was graduated in 1947 from TCU and Palmer received B.A. and B.D. degrees four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Warner, 1950 graduates, are stationed in Akita, Japan.
