

New Constitution Vote Due

Student Election Set for Monday

By DAVE BROWN

TCU's new Student Association Constitution will be voted upon by the student body Monday after winning the first round of its struggle for ratification during a stormy Congress session this week.

Ballot boxes will be placed in the Student Center, Fine Arts Building and the School of Business. Students may vote from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Student Center and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the School of Business and the Fine Arts Building.

Congress, harried by thoughts of Homecoming and hurried by an impending fraternity meeting, delayed with routine business until late in its allotted meeting hour and almost failed to get around to the big issue of the day.

Congress nearly rejected the constitution in its present form. Most of the members' objections seemed to center around Article III, Section C, Paragraph 1, which lists the official membership of Congress.

First protests came from the School of Fine Arts. Miss Barbara Alford, fine arts representative, pointed out that in being granted only one representative in the new Congress, the school was being placed on a level with the smaller Harris College of Nursing and Brite College of the Bible.

"There are so many different sections and departments in the school, it's almost impossible for one person to represent the entire school," she declared.

She was supported by Richard Haggard, School of Business representative, and Jim Sanders, freshman representative.

Miss Alford suggested a committee should reword the paragraph and place the School of Fine Arts on a par with the "large enrollment" Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business, School of Education and the Evening College.

A motion to refer the entire document back to a committee, offered by Haggard, was defeated 14 to 8 after heated debate.

Joe Latham, student body vice president, explained that an effort had been made by the student-faculty committee which drafted the constitution to give every school fair representation and still keep the group small enough for effective work.

Dale Edmonds, activities council director, supported this view, and along with Latham, led the fight for congressional approval.

After a motion to approve the constitution and submit it to the student body had been made, Haggard said he felt that action on it should be deferred for a week to enable Congress members to

Apology to A&M (What's This?) For Skiff Story

There just warn't no letter. That's all there is to it.

At congress meeting Oct. 3, a report was jokingly circulated that a letter had been received from Texas A&M requesting TCU men not to date TCU women so the Aggies would have enough to go around.

A Skiff reporter innocently printed it as the truth.

Upon reaching College Station, this evoked swift inquiry by Scotty Parham, president of the A&M Student Senate.

"A&M positively would not do such a thing," said Parham, who didn't seem too worried over where his next date was coming from.

"And we certainly don't want to cause ill feelings," he stated, during a long-distance telephone call Monday.

So now everything seems to be all right. Frog men can date Frog gals Saturday. Aggies can too. Student Congress removed the $10 limit imposed on the plaque to be given the cadets at halftime Saturday.

If someone doesn't puncture all the Aggie footballs before game time, things are gonna be all right.

Band to Appear At Rally Tonight

Cheerleaders expect a pep rally at 6:30 p.m. tonight in front of the Student Center to draw the largest crowd of boosters this year.

The band and torch-bearing Vigilantes will appear.

Full Stadium Expected For A&M, TCU Tilt

By JIM HENDRICKS

Frogland is girding itself for a wholesale invasion this weekend.

The largest crowd ever to watch a Fort Worth football game will jam TCU Amon Carter Stadium tomorrow afternoon for the TCU-Texas A&M gridiron war.

You couldn't buy a ticket now if you owned the Stadium. Ticket Manager Bruce Craig sold the last of his 37,000 seats two days ago.

Among those on hand will be an anticipated several hundred parents of TCU students and the entire Aggie corps, some 6,000 strong, with their dates.

This is "the Hill's" first Parents Day celebration. Fathers and mothers of TCU students will be touring the campus today, sitting in on classes and labs.

At the game, they'll sit with their sons and daughters in the student section, to help combat the fabled "Twelfth Man" spirit of Aggieland.

The Farmers will launch their big show tonight with a midnight pep rally at the Tarrant County Courthouse. That will set the stage for tomorrow's traditional downtown corps parade at 10 a.m.

Both sides will have special halftime ceremonies. A&M will present its nationally-famous (See Record Crowd, Page 4)

Frog-Aggies Tilt To Be Televised

The TCU-Texas A&M football game will be televised tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. on KFJZ-TV, Channel 11.

The regional telecast, which was approved yesterday by NCAA officials, will be sponsored by Humble Oil and Refining Co.

Clark Guesses 'Em Perfectly; Last Week's Winner Unseated

Right on the button! That's how M. Clark of Clark Hall (no relation) picked 'em last week to become the first perfect guesser in The Skiff's football contest.

He'll receive four passes to the North Theater.

Only one other person predicted the correct total score. Bob Price, a Goodlum, guessed 21 points but missed the Texas A&M-Nebraska game.

Dave Combs, Joe Latham and Sydney Boner correctly called the games but missed the score by one point. Combs and Latham guessed 20, Boner, 22.

Our thanks go to the Frogs for keeping the score down in Tuscaloosa! If the total points had been 27 or 34, there would have been seven winners—and, if it had been 40, winners would have emerged.

Special mention goes to Miss Betty and Don Bates. They picked the losers.

Miss Barry and Calvin Hill, who picked all the games correctly, offered the lowest total points, 13, and Joe Spalding, a two-misser, guessed a whopping 64.

But, the experts were off this week also. According to the signed entries Bud (Oklahoma?) Wilkinson missed two games and Elroy (Crazy Legs?) Hirsch predicted 27 points. Porky Hogg was a one-misser.

Four entrants were a little absent-minded. Their entries, all with correct game predictions, were unsigned.

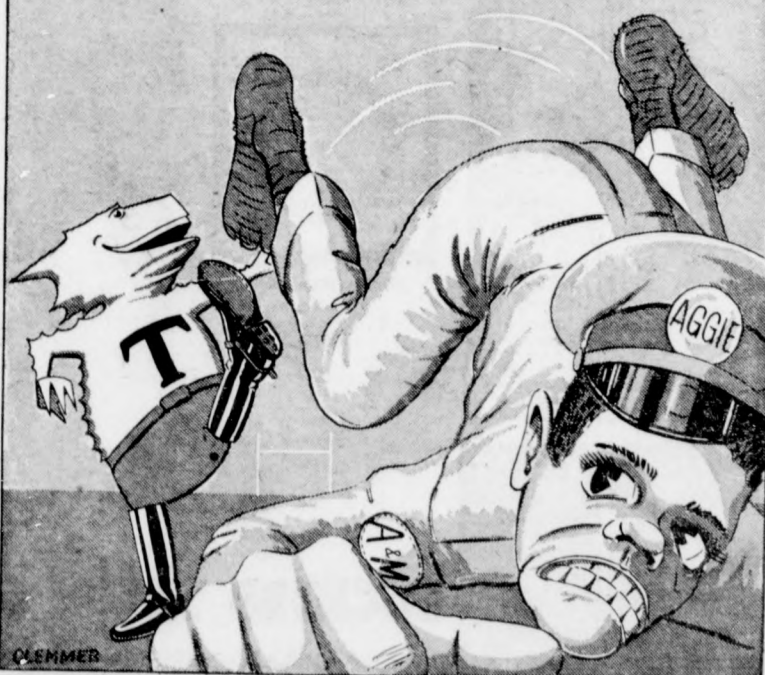

There's another contest this week and it's rough! Most of the SWC teams swing into action against each other. Anything can happen. See the sports section.

Our faces are as red as our blood-shot eyes—which failed to spot the winning guess in last week's football contest.

Mickey Bozarth was announced as winner—with a darn good guess—but an audit of the entries showed that Paul Tabor, a freshman, was closer.

They'll both get four Worth Theater tickets.

Project for Retarded Begins at Clinic Here

A project to determine whether badly-retarded children can be taught to speak began yesterday in Bldg. 6. The Hogg Foundation, Fort Worth Council for Retarded Children and TCU are the joint sponsors of the program.

This program, first of its kind in the nation, is a two-year study designed to discover the best methods to be used in teaching retarded children the elements of speech.

Dr. E. L. Pross, chairman of the speech-thrater-Radio Department, and Mrs. Dorothy Bell, director of the Speech-Hearing - Retardation Clinic, will supervise the program.

They will be assisted by four advanced students in retardation therapy: Misses Ella Freeman, Alvarado sophomore;

The project has aroused nationwide interest, said Dr. Pross. He cited articles in professional journals, congratulatory letters and inquiries from leaders in child rehabilitation concerning the program.

The Hogg Foundation is supplying specialist - consultants from the University of Texas to aid.

Approximately 21 "trainable" children have been selected to take part in the project. These children will be divided into three equated groups, each of which will receive slightly different therapy, and progress will be carefully recorded.

"It is hoped that the approaches that attain marked success will be clearly isolated," said Dr. Pross.

Then, he said, systematic utilization of successful methods will be used. Results of the study will be published by the Hogg Foundation.

Children are being admitted to the study at the date of six each week, and by Oct. 1, all will be participating. School hours are from 12:30-3:30 p.m. each week day.

"Since this is an experimental study, no observers or visitors will be admitted during the class sessions," said Dr. Pross.

Adless Directory Due To Go On Sale Nov. 1

An adless Student Directory is scheduled to make its appearance Nov. 1 in the University Store.

Congress voted last week to include advertising in the directory to defray printing costs, but was informed Monday by the student publications committee that an administrative rule prohibits communications media other than The Skiff, the Horrid Frog, football programs and radio station KTCU from soliciting advertising.

Congress voted to print 1,500 copies and sell them at 50 cents apiece.

Frog Horn Gives Prom Dress Tips

Wondering how to dress for the semi-formal Freshman Prom?

The Frog Horn, official handbook for TCU students, states that suits or sport coats and slacks are semi-formal attire for men. Women are expected to wear party dresses with high heels — and girls, don't expect corsages for the prom. They aren't being given this time.

The proper men's dress for formals, according to the Frog Horn, is tuxedos or dinner jackets (depending on the season) or dark suits with ties. Women should wear evening dresses, but usually not long gloves (a short formal is still a formal).

Informal attire consists of slacks and sport shirts for men and casual dresses or school clothes and flats for women.

Ah, So! No. 1 Boy Is Business

One campus school has outgrown modesty.

Most buildings in splinter village have a small sign giving the number of the building and the name of the department. The sign on the business building, however, reads: "No. 1 School of Business."

Symphony Duets Available at $5

TCU students may buy season tickets for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra concerts at Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium at a $3 saving through Dean T. Smith McCorkle's office in the Fine Arts Building.

Regular $8 tickets may be obtained for $5 by students who request tickets by Oct. 1.

Allen T. Orgain Jr., administrative assistant to Dean McCorkle, will take orders on that date. Tickets will be distributed prior to each of the performances, which begin 8:15 p.m.

The 1955-56 concert calendar:

Tuesday, Nov. 15 — Orchestral.

Tuesday, Nov. 29 — P. Scarpini, pianist.

Monday, Jan. 16, 1956 — Heifetz, violinist.

Monday, Feb. 20 — Sir Thomas Beecham, guest conductor.

Tuesday, Feb. 28 — Wilhelm Backhaus, pianist.

Tuesday, March 13 — Guest soloist to be announced.

Enrollment Is Only 13 Off Record

Aided by a 41 per cent increase in Harris College of Nursing and a 14 per cent increase in AddRan College of Arts and Sciences, final enrollment figures for the fall semester have soared to 4,616.

The total represents an increase of 544, or 13 per cent over the fall semester of last year and is only 13 students fewer than TCU's record enrollment of 1949, Registrar Calvin A. Cumbie said.

"Of course the 1949 registration record was due to the tremendous influx of World War II veterans," Mr. Cumbie noted.

Undergraduate day school enrollment is 2,588, a jump of 20 per cent over last year. Brite College of the Bible has a 17 per cent gain with 130 students enrolled.

The Graduate School has 326 students, an increase of 18 per cent, and the Evening College has increased 3 per cent with 1,572 enrolled.

Today is the last day for dropping courses with a grade of "W," Mr. Cumbie announced. Hereafter, all courses dropped will carry a grade of "WP" or "WF."

Lowering of body temperature, not air temperature, lessens the action of alcohol and other drugs, but the drug action then lasts longer than it would at normal body temperature, it has been found.

APO to Maintain Booth For Lost and Found Articles

A lost and found booth will be setup at the Student Center information stand beginning October 25.

The booth, managed by Alpha Phi Omega, will be open from 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. Items found by students may be turned in at any time to Logan Ware's office, SC 101, stated Bill Finley, APO president.

Another service project planned by APO is registration of TCU students for the National Address Association. Any student may have his name on a permanent address list of American college students for ten years. Charge for this service is $1. Students may register their names at the information booth beginning October 25.

Students interested in joining APO are invited to a reception at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday in Room 210 of the Student Center.

WSA

A weekend retreat to the YWCA camp will be held Oct. 21-22 for members of the Women's Sports Association, announced Miss Jan Park, Kilgore junior, new president.

Other officers elected include: Misses Barbara Sullivan, Corpus Christi sophomore, vice president; Dicie Perryman, Gatesville sophomore, secretary; Martha Evans, Memphis, Tenn., senior, treasurer; Minette Elder, Kilgore sophomore, historian and Barbara Flint, Houston sophomore, publicity chairman.

Press Club

Plans for the annual awards banquet for the J. Willard Ridings Press Club will be discussed at 2 p.m. Monday in Building 5.

Miss Sue Strickland, Houston senior, and Jerre Todd, Fort Worth senior, will receive awards of $25 from the Fort Worth Press for outstanding news reporting on the 1954-55 Skiff.

Officers will be elected at Monday's meeting, stated Dave Brown, Fort Worth junior, past president.

Journalists Go To SW Forum

A delegation of about 12 TCU students will attend the Southwest Journalism Forum at SMU today.

The delegation will leave the Journalism Building at 8 a.m. for the all-day meeting. Dr. Warren K. Agee, chairman of the department of journalism, will attend.

$5 Entry Fee Put On Parade Floats

It's going to cost to enter a float in this year's Homecoming parade—and be eligible to win a prize.

A $5 entry fee will be charged for floats whose sponsors wish to compete for one of the four prizes. Prizes will be given for the best all-round, most beautiful, most original and most humorous floats.

Floats participating without the entry fee may take part in the parade but will not be eligible for awards. Congress established the new rule Monday.

Amount of the awards has not been determined.

Oct. 22 is the deadline for campus organizations to submit a movie title on which they will base their float. Titles chosen and entry fees should be submitted to Miss Jo Ann York, Congress' Homecoming committee chairman.

The $5 will not be charged against the group's $100 expense limit, however.

Float judges have not been named.

The Homecoming parade will begin at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18. Floats will line up at the Stadium between 2 and 2:30 p.m. and proceed downtown.

Veterans Receive Letters About Air Force Reserve

Several student veterans have received letters from the Fort Worth Air Reserve concerning the establishment of an Air Force paid reserve training unit at TCU.

The letter states that the active reserve program is open to veterans of all branches and will help reduce reserve obligation under Public Law 759.

The training program consists of two night classes monthly, for which the student will be paid one-day's base pay for each class attended. Members will be issued a uniform and will gain points toward promotion and retirement.

The program is not connected with AF ROTC activities. Capt. James B. Head, Air Force instructor, said. Interested veterans may contact the 2693rd Air Reserve Center, 300 W. Vickery.

To Catch a Man

Campus Coeds Defy Dior Decree; Skirt 'n Sweater Just the Thing

By LINDA LEWIS

Sweaters and skirts are waiting to be worn, and low-necked cottons are soon to be packed away for the winter. But preventing the change is the warm Fort Worth weather.

Coeds, weary of ironing voluminous cotton skirts and keeping petticoats starched and stiff, will welcome the first cold front and the advent of wool clothes.

Ignoring Dior and other extremes of Paris fashion designers, TCU girls will keep on wearing the same styles as last year. High on the list, both for practical and comfortable wear, is the sweater and skirt.

Such combinations of exactly the same shade are news this year. These are found in all colors—pink, white and blue, in the pastels, as well as rust, green and other customary fall colors.

The high-necked fall cotton, or Thomas cotton, may be worn as a winter dress, or a between-season dress.

Whether she will admit it or not, nearly every girl dresses to attract members of the opposite sex. Although pleasing all of them is an impossibility, here are a few pointers.

Troy Stimson, Fort Worth sophomore, says in reference to a weekend show date.

"I kind of like for girls to dress up. Just as long as they look nice."

Eddie Churchill, Fort Worth senior, says that for the same occasion loafers and socks should be worn. When asked if he liked straight or full skirts better, he raised his eyebrow slightly, and confessed he much preferred straight ones.

When asked what he liked to see a girl wear, Bobby Davis, Abilene sophomore, hesitated a moment and said thoughtfully, "A bathing suit." But more seriously he likes high heels and sheath dresses.

A controversial question on campus is that of Bermuda shorts. Of the dozen boys interviewed, the opinions for and against the shorts were evenly divided.

George Brewer, New Orleans sophomore, has definite opinions on makeup and perfume—just enough of both to be pleasing, yet not so much as to be conspicuous. He also likes earrings only when the girl is dressed up, not with loafers and socks.

A vote in favor of "little boy" blouses was offered by Bill Alexander, Paris senior, although sweaters also are high on his list. Bill is firmly opposed to both flats and full skirts.

Every boy interviewed said when a girl wears the same dress often, it is noticeable. But a repeat performance is all right if she is "clean and neat," they declared.

So girls, take your pick. Anything you wear will please some, but not all. Dress for the man, or men, of your choice and forget the others.

Danforth Conference Slated Next Weekend for Center

TCU will be host to the Texas Regional Danforth Conference, sponsored by the Danforth Foundation, next Friday and Saturday.

Hundreds of students and faculty members from about 10 Texas colleges and universities are expected to attend conference meetings in the Student Center.

The foundation provides grants to college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing for college teaching and plan to enter graduate school in September 1956.

All students planning to become college teachers and interested in applying for Danforth fellowships are invited to attend the conference as guests of the foundation. Dr. Irene Huber, professor of German and TCU's liaison officer for the foundation, said.

Those who wish to attend should obtain reservations from Dr. Huber in Room 17 of the Science Building.

Main speaker will be Dr. Merrimon Cuninggim, dean of SMU's Perkins School of Theology.

Eight other speakers from colleges throughout the state and panel discussions also are included in the program.

Committee chairmen for the conference are Dr. William J. Hammond, promotion and housing; Dr. Louise Cowan, program; Prof. Charles Sherer, reception and registration; and Dr. Noel Keith, student committee arrangements.

Assisting the chairmen are Mrs. Charles R. Sherer, Dr. and Mrs. Landon A. Colquitt and Misses Iva Bramblett and Elizabeth Youngblood.

To be eligible for a fellowship a student must have demonstrated superior intellectual ability, have a good record of health and emotional stability and have deep religious convictions and growing religious perspective.

If awarded the grant, a student may pursue any field of study recognized as an undergraduate academic course.

Previously, two TCU students, Ren Kent, B.A. '54, and John B. Payne, B.A. '54, received grants from the Danforth Foundation, Dr. Huber said.

Applications for the fellowships, offered for the fourth year, must be mailed to the foundation's headquarters in St. Louis not later than Feb. 15, 1956.

Winners will be announced about May 15.

Seminary Principal to Lecture Here on 'Disciples in Australia'

Dr. A. W. Stephenson, principal of the Disciples Seminary in Sidney, Australia, will be at TCU Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to speak on "Disciples in Australia."

The student body has been invited to the lectures, set for 7 p.m. Monday in Room 211, Brite College of the Bible Building; 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Weatherly Hall, and 9:50 a.m. Wednesday in Robert Carr Chapel.

Dr. Stephenson is "a very forceful speaker," Dr. Elmer Henson, dean of Brite College, said.

Dr. Stephenson was the Australian delegate to a world convention of Christian churches in Toronto, Canada, last year.

TCU Legion Post To Be Chartered

TCU has the first student American Legion Post in Texas, temporary commander Bob Hughes, Fort Worth junior, said Tuesday.

With 25 members enrolled, the legionnaires met Tuesday and approved the post constitution. The submission of the charter to National Headquarters; the election of permanent officers; and the establishment of a permanent meeting time and place will be acted upon soon.

TCU students, faculty members, and ex-students who served on active duty during World War II or during the Korean War are eligible for membership. Dues are $6 per year. Hughes stressed that next Tuesday is the deadline for a charter membership.

The next meeting will be in room 205 of the Student Center at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday.

TCU Interns To Be Feted At Banquet

Two TCU journalism majors who interned on Texas newspapers last summer will be honored at a dinner at the Worth Hotel at 7 p.m. next Friday.

David Brown and Jim Hendricks will be among 24 students from eight universities and colleges who will describe their experiences on the dailies. Brown served on the Wichita Falls Record News and Hendricks was employed by the Fort Worth Press.

The dinner is sponsored annually by the Fort Worth Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity. Journalism chairmen from the universities also will be honored.

The guests will view a television program, "The Big Story," featuring Tony Slaughter, Star-Telegram staff writer. Slaughter will speak briefly.

Protozoa and a number of similar microorganisms require some of the vitamins necessary for humans.

Disciple's School? Look at Baptists, 1,250 of Them!

The Baptists have done it again!

For the 10th straight year Baptist students outnumber all other denominations at TCU with a total of 1,250.

Methodist students rank second with 935 and the Christian church Disciples of Christ is third with 804.

Baptist students have topped the list since 1944-45 when the Disciples of Christ ranked first, according to Registrar Calvin A. Cumble.

The 4,616 students enrolled for the fall semester represent 92 religious groups. However, 233 of these report no religious affiliation.

Austin Trip Discussed By Student Congress

Plans for a special train or bus to the TCU-Texas game at Austin, Nov. 12, are under discussion by Student Congress, but no definite action has been taken, according to Congress President Aubrey Owen.

Two distinct groups of visitors will invade the campus this weekend, each going through the same motions but for different purposes.

Both will tramp the grass, peek in windows and watch a football game.

One group will be parents, bent on seeing what goes

KHAKI-CORPS, PARENTS GO OVER THE HILL

The other will be the Khaki-clad invader from Texas A&M, intent on yelling his team to a conquest over the Frogs.

The Aggies have been here before, so they'll expect to be treated like old friends. Parents' Day is new and could develop into something good for parents, students and the University.

Administration and faculty members naturally extend a welcome to the visitors, but it's up to the student body to insure them a good time.

Students unquestionably will render every courtesy possible to both groups. Parents should leave shouting the virtues of TCU to the kid next door and the Aggies should have been provided with another memorable corps trip to The Hill.

WEE LOUNGE?

Congress has made a definite move forward in its recent decision to investigate the possibility of finishing the now unused area on the Student Center third floor.

Plans are being discussed to decorate the room either as a "party" room or a student workshop. Both suggestions have merit, but the former seems to fulfill a more pressing need.

The ballroom, at present used for all campus dances, is well-appointed. Unless the group using it is a large one, however, dancers have the feeling of "rattling around" in the roomy salon. No other space is available for dancing in the Student Center, although the many smaller club-rooms are ideal for teas, Coke parties or informal get-togethers.

Facilities offered by the center would be rounded out by a room to accommodate smaller dancing groups.

Congress' plan to finance decoration of the room from the permanent improvement fund also is a good one. This fund may not be utilized in a great variety of ways. Spending some of it to increase facilities of the Student Center would be offering a badly needed service to the students.

STUDENT STEERING NEEDED

A more effective Leadership Training Workshop probably could be provided next year through increased student planning and participation.

A decision has not yet been reached concerning continuation of the program initiated last week in the Student Center. Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director, hopes that a plan whereby Student Congress would sponsor the program annually will be adopted.

"As a first attempt at instructing campus officers, the Oct. 5-6 workshop was a success," said Miss Youngblood.

Approximately 250 students and faculty members participated. Night classes and other activities probably cut down attendance.

Most serious flaw in the program was failure of some discussion groups to attract student interest, said Miss Youngblood.

This year's workshop was set up during the summer, while most student leaders were absent, and planning was done primarily by faculty members. Miss Youngblood feels that students probably could better determine what would aid and interest them.

Were plans laid in the spring by a steering committee composed of all segments of organized campus life, many complications and conflicts encountered last week might be avoided.

TWO WEEKS WITHOUT PLAY

One hundred dollars worth of chicken wire and crepe paper!

That'll be the order of campus clubs, fraternities and sororities when work is begun shortly on Homecoming floats.

The $100 maximum set by Student Congress is a step-up of $70 over last year's float-cost limit and should provide for one of the most spectacular Homecoming parades in TCU's history.

That is, unless groups wait until the last minute to begin work which can be done weeks ahead of Homecoming.

Bids for floats must be turned into Congress by Oct. 22, almost a month prior to the parade on Nov. 18.

The Stadium will be available for a float-building site two weeks before Homecoming, as Nov. 12 is an out-of-town game date. Night lighting, however, will be supplied only during the week preceding the Rice game.

Groups, competing for prizes of best-all-around, most beautiful, most humorous and most original floats, can put this extra time to good use in eliminating much of the last-minute frustration.

A fresh and cheerful student body, rather than a tired, sleepless one, then could join Rice fans and TCU exes in enjoying the parade.

Droodles and Droops Damage SC Facilities

The new Student Center, sadly enough, is being converted into an over-size replica of the old Student Lounge, mourns Logan Ware, Student Center director.

Freshmen do not remember the "old hole," but upper-classmen will recall the musty cellar in the Administration Building basement.

with its battle-scarred furniture and cracked green walls. Some of this atmosphere is being transferred to the new Student Center, and without the help and co-operation of all, it will soon resemble the old lounge.

Students have been seen sitting on the backs of lounges with their feet in the seats, causing dirty seats and clothing. Two-hundred pounders have parked on some of the tables, and bent the legs. Even washable plastic and strong tables have their limit.

Muralists have doodled some dillies on upstairs walls, but the drawings do not fit the architecture. Other wall decoration is done by craftsmen who back up to walls and rub their feet up and down. Both types of ornaments require a specialist with soap and water to remove them.

Lost-weekenders soothe their jangled nerves by pounding ping-pong tables with paddle ends. This has ended the career of two table-tops. The practice causes needless expense in replacement and prevents purchase of new equipment.

"Ladies and gentlemen must not sit on pool tables." That's a rule sanctioned by local pool halls, Emily Post and the TCU recreation room. Table cushions are becoming "dead" from players perching on them. This has necessitated re-covering of some tables.

The Student Center is for the enjoyment of all, points out Mr. Ware, but without the care, help, and efforts of everyone, it may well become another "hole" like the old Lounge.

Radios to Guide TCU Card Section

The nation's first radio-controlled card section will be unveiled tomorrow afternoon at halftime of the TCU-Texas A&M football game.

The 750-card section of the east stands will be directed by Vigilantes equipped with "Handi-talkie" radios.

Planned by Bruce Neal, San Angelo junior, the section will present six tricks to the full stadium.

Included will be "Hi," "Hi Mom," "Hi Dad," "TCU," "TAM," and a cannon.

Boyd Schlenker, Fort Worth junior, will be perched atop the press box on the west side of the field and will radio corrections to Neal, Glen Pike, Odesa sophomore, and Larry Brock, Huntsville sophomore.

"We want the section to be perfect," said Neal. "Several motion picture newsreel companies will be there to photograph the action."

Vigilantes will check the tickets of persons entering the section and allow no one in who does not have a ticket.

"One person extra can ruin the efforts of 36 others," Neal stated. Also, a person who does not sit between the white lines marking his seat will cause the section to be out of line.

Instruction sheets will be taped to each seat before the game. Persons arriving should remove and save them until halftime.

"It's been gratifying," Neal quoted, "to have the great number of requests for seats."

Diagrams of the tricks are posted on the Student Center bulletin board and students are requested to check the position of their seat prior to game time.

Texts Arriving For Students

Students who haven't been able to buy their texts through the University Store may find this word from manager E. M. Moore encouraging.

"Books began coming in Friday," said Moore, "and should all be received within the next few days as the orders went out at the same time."

Moore attributes the delay to a shortage of texts on all campuses. Publishers haven't been able to keep up with the demand and a number of colleges got their orders in before TCU.

Deferment Exam Set for Nov. 15

Nov. 1 is the deadline for applications by students who wish to take the first Selective Service deferment test Nov. 15.

Any Selective Service registrant who is a full-time TCU student and who has not previously taken the test is eligible for the three-hour examination.

Students who wish to apply can get additional information from their local draft boards.

Two more tests will be given during the 1955-56 school year.

Deadline Friday For Activity Card

The Business Office warns that all students must have student activity cards to attend campus and athletic events after next Friday.

Harold Atkins of the Business Office said students who have not had their pictures made for the activity cards must do so at Allen's Studio, 607½ Throckmorton, by Friday, Oct. 21.

Students who have lost their activity cards must bring their "pink cards" to the Business Office in order that a duplicate card may be ordered. No duplicates will be made after next Friday.

Like 'Old Country Store'

From Beasties to Book Racks
University Store Stocks It

By BOB MARION

In somewhat the tradition of the "old country store," the University Store carries almost everything from longjohns to hair oil.

'Course, the ol' cracker barrel's missing and the store's main line is textbooks and school supplies instead of vittles, but students can hang around and gawk at shiny magazines if they have nothing better to do.

Then there is Kleenex for that snuffy nose (also handy for removing make-up) and, to make the campus beauties beautiful, items that would make customers of the old general store go wild.

Modernistic book racks are selling almost as fast as books to go in them. Gramps wouldn't have bothered with them. He'd have built his own book shelf and the Bible was about the only reading he had time for.

Stuffed animals — cloth variety — also are a great favorite today. As no other purpose for them has been offered, it is presumed the little beasties are for ornamental purposes. Grandma had to be content with a homemade ragdoll.

Quickest turnover in the University store is in stationery. The amount of writing paper purchased by the book store this year ordinarily would last until Christmas. It sold out in 10 days.

Demand would indicate either a lot of girl friends were left behind or a number of parents are receiving "I need . . ." letters. In this instance, Gramps would probably have been wholeheartedly in sympathy with this modern generation.

The country store used to carry mustache wax for the dandy. Today's store has collar stays for the man of fashion and several brands of deodorants for those who haven't much time before dates. Gramps didn't worry about B.O. during the week and took his bath on Saturdays.

Gone are the glorious days of the shaving mug and straight razor, but the freshman with budding beard is set, provided he has a razor. The store carries all modern frills including brushless shave cream and after-shave lotion.

TCU initiated merchandise, such as mugs, sweaters, T-shirts, ash-trays and photograph albums, is displayed. Possibly this is an attempt to keep souvenir-minded persons under control. In Granddad's day students would have looked around for free tokens to remember the old school by.

Many changes have occurred since the day of the general store, but even today the cash register rings just as lustily and a cheery "come back again" follows the customer through the door.

EACH TCU COED
GETS 1.6 MALES!

The manpower situation on the TCU campus is terrific!

At least the coeds think so. Each can have 1.6 men — provided, of course, she can catch them.

Of the 3,044 students attending day school, 1,892 are men and 1,152 women, Register Calvin A. Cumbie said.

Men in the Evening College outnumber the women 3 to 1 with totals of 1,225 and 347, respectively. The best place for women students, however, appears to be Brite College of the Bible, where they are outnumbered 12 to 1.

Civil Service Man
To Give Talks Here

Morris A. Brooks, field representative for the U. S. Civil Service Commission, will be on the TCU campus Wednesday and Thursday to confer with students on career opportunities in civil service fields.

He will speak to government classes Wednesday and will be available for individual conferences at 3 p.m. Thursday in Room 8, Administration Building. Dr. August O. Spain, chairman of the government department, said.

This year an estimated 7,000 trainee-type positions in the federal government will be filled by college graduates. Visits by commission representatives to major colleges and universities throughout the country are designed to acquaint students with opportunities in this field.

Brooks' talks will include the latest information on civil service examinations and job opportunities in the federal employment fields.

Applicants for Ford Grants
Must File Forms by Dec. 15

TCU seniors and graduate students majoring in social sciences and the humanities may apply for Ford Foundation fellowships for 1956-57 study in Asia, Africa, the Near East, Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

The fellowships will be granted for one year's work, but may be extended. Students must begin their study by Jan. 1, 1957.

Amount of the individual fellowships will be determined through consideration of the applicant's qualifications, experience, present position, family financial status and special expenses required.

Application forms and further information may be obtained from the foundation's foreign training fellowship division, 477 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

Evening College
Elects Tonight

Evening College Council officers will be elected at a special meeting of night class representatives at 6:15 p.m. today in Room 205 of the Student Center.

All representatives to the council are urged to attend the meeting, which will end on time for 7 p.m. classes.

Dr. Reed Will Speak
At Chapel Tuesday

Dr. William L. Reed, distinguished professor of Old Testament, will speak at chapel services at 11 a.m. Tuesday on "Wanted: Prophetic Institutions."

At TCU since 1946, Dr. Reed directed the first TCU study tour of the Bible lands. During the academic year 1951-52 he served as director of American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem.

Dr. Reed participated in excavations at ancient Jericho, and was co-director of the Qumran Caves expedition which explored the area near the northwest shore of the Dead Sea in 1953.

He currently is serving as director of admissions and curriculum for Brite College and is TCU's representative on the Corporation Board of the American Schools.

Dr. Reed has served churches in Michigan, Ohio and Connecticut. During World War II he was chaplain in the Army Air Forces, serving in the Pacific.

'DESERT SONG' IS NEXT SC MOVIE

Kathryn Grayson and Gordon MacRae star in "The Desert Song," playing at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Student Center ballroom.

This year's movies have lost approximately $26 with only one, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," showing a profit.

"Rush Week and other activities may have interfered with attendance the first week," forums committee chairman Bill Finley, Marshall junior, said.

'Caine Mutiny' Tickets
To Be Issues Thursday

Tickets for the first Little Theater production, "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," may be picked up from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Little Theater box office.

Students may present their season passes and receive in exchange change tickets to the individual performance. The play begins at 8 p.m. next Friday and will be repeated Saturday at the same time. Performances the following week will be given Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m.

The box office will be open every day of the second-week run from 1 to 4 p.m. in order that tickets may be obtained.

The cast will begin evening rehearsals Monday after a month-long period of afternoon sessions. The stage adaptation of Herman Wouk's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel features an all-male cast of 19 performers.

Also Bobby Patton, Dr. Forrest Landeen; Frank Benton, Dr. Bird; Ronny Boutwell, the stenographer; Jim Ables, the orderly and Lindsey Emerson, Norman Cornelius, Kenneth Hooe, Hunter Brush, Raymond Smith, and Bill Cleveland as the six-judge naval court.

William Garber, instructor in drama, will direct.

A projected nuclear-fueled power plant for a New York company will be able to produce electricity, initially, at a cost of about nine mills per kilowatt-hour.

All Club Plans
For Homecoming
Needed by Exes

All campus organizations and departments desiring a place on the Homecoming program Nov. 18-19 should contact the Ex-Students Office at Ext. 342 as soon as possible. Hartwell Ramsey, director of ex-student activities, announced.

"We need to hear from everyone who is planning a dinner, reunion or any type of exes meeting so we can draw up the final program for publication in the next Ex-Student Bulletin," he said.

About 200 student tickets for the ex-students dance at the Lake Worth Casino from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Nov. 19 are available in his office, Mr. Ramsey said.

Students working on Homecoming activities will have first call on the tickets, which cost 75 cents.

Curley Broyles' orchestra will play.

The general homecoming committee will meet Oct. 24 with Amos Melton, director of Information Services, to draw up final plans for the two-day Homecoming program.

Journalism Exes to Open Press Campaign

A campaign to establish a J. Willard Ridings Memorial Press at TCU will be launched officially tomorrow.

An advisory committee of seven Texas newspaper executives will confer with representatives of the Journalism Exes Association, campaign sponsor, and administrative officials at 11 a.m. in Room 202, Student Center. A luncheon will follow.

Aim of the campaign is to establish printing facilities on campus for The Skiff and at the same time to strengthen the University's journalism education program, which equipment-wise, lags behind that of other major colleges in the Southwest.

J. Willard Ridings headed the department of journalism for 21 years after its establishment in 1927 as one of the earliest in the Southwest. He died in March 1948.

Already more than $1,200 in cash has been contributed by journalism exes, who laid early plans for the drive a year ago. The actual goal and methods of procedure are to be outlined at tomorrow's meeting.

Newspaper executives who have agreed to serve in an advisory capacity are Clarence Leonard, publisher of the Gainesville Register; R. W. Whipkey, publisher of the Big Spring Herald and education chairman of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association; William Rawland, publisher of the Cleburne Times-Review and past president of the Texas Press Association.

Also Phil North, executive editor of the Fort Worth Star-

Telegram; Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press;

Lambuth Tomlinson, associate publisher of the All-Church Press, Fort Worth, and an authority on printing equipment purchase and installation; and Staley McBrayer, owner of McBrayer Publications, Fort Worth, and state treasurer of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

June Welch, B. A. '49, now city attorney at Grand Prairie and a TCU Evening College instructor, is president of the Journalism Exes Association. He will preside at the meeting.

The campaign steering committee for the association includes Vernie Barber Jr., B. A. '41, chairman; Bill Haworth, B. A. '40; Paul Ridings, B. A. '38; James Matthews, B. A. '39;

Eugene Miller, B. A. '49 and ren K. Agee, present department chairman.

Vice President D. Ray Lindley and Dean Jerome A. Moore of AddRan College of Arts and Sciences also will attend.

A brochure will be printed shortly detailing objectives of the campaign and the method by which contributions, either in cash or in usable equipment, may be made. It will be sent to journalism exes and to Texas publishers, many of whom were close friends of J. Willard Ridings.

Prof. Ridings was recognized as one of the top publicity men of the country and he was one of three men who founded the American Society of Journalism School Administrators, to be headed in 1956 by Dr. Warren K. Agee, present department chairman.

"Willard Ridings was a pioneer in journalism education," Dr. Agee said. "It was always his dream to have a printing plant at TCU, as it has been the dream of those who followed him."

"The establishment of a printing press will be a fitting memorial to him. It will enable our student newspaper, which has been ranked all-American for the last six years, to render greater service to our expanding student body."

"It will also help provide the type of thorough, well-rounded and realistic training for newspaper work which should attract more and more of our most able and intelligent young men and women into the field."

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making these products more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

Frogs, Aggies Collide Before Record Throng

By JIM BROCK

With a sell-out and record-breaking crowd expected, the rampaging TCU Horned Frogs and the Texas A&M Aggies renew their spirited rivalry in a Southwest Conference grid feature here tomorrow afternoon.

Kickoff time is set for 2 p.m. in spacious TCU Amon Carter Stadium.

Ticket Manager Bruce Craig and staff exhausted the 36,881 tickets late Wednesday to insure the best crowd ever, surpassing a 1935 crowd when SMU and TCU met here for the league title before an estimated 30-35,000. The stadium only seated 21,000 with the extras climbing fences and using most any way to get some kind of view at the battle of undefeateds.

Color galore has been added to the traditional battle, which easily could be a big factor in determining the 1955 Southwest titlist.

It will be the first annual Parents Day for TCU. Fathers of the varsity players will be seated along the west side near the Frog bench displaying their sons' numerals on their backs. They will be honored at halftime.

A&M has designated this game as the annual Corps trip and some 6,000 Cadets and their dates will be swarming the north end of the east side.

A colorful halftime show will feature the bands of both schools. The Aggie band has 240 pieces, one of the largest collegiate bands in the nation. TCU, off to its fastest start since the great 1938 club, will be looking for its fifth straight victory.

The Christians have beaten Kansas, 47-14; Texas Tech, 32-0; Arkansas, 26-0; and Alabama, 21-0, and are ranked from fourth to ninth nationally in the weekly grid polls.

A&M comes in this contest with a 3-1 won-lost mark. The Aggies fell before powerful UCLA, 21-0, in their season opener before brushing aside three straight foes. They beat favored LSU, 28-0; Houston, 21-3, and last week used their starters for only ten minutes to whip hapless Nebraska, 27-0.

Like the Frogs of last year, the Aggies are depending on youth with 28 sophomores listed on their 45-man roster. Six of those first-year men are in the starting lineup along with five juniors. Only five seniors are on the squad.

TCU, the nation's top ranked rushing team with 334.3 yards per game, had a slow start at Alabama before finally breaking away from a 0-0 tie at halftime to score three second half touchdowns.

For the fourth straight week,

Hugh Pitts, the stellar center and linebacker deluxe, will face the Aggies tomorrow for the last time. Remembering Pitts from last year's contest, the Cadets will probably shed few tears over his departure. Pitts and his cohorts have yielded only 143.5 yards an outing.

Left Half Jimmy Swink, who is picking up backers for all-America honors with every performance, provided the turning point. The handsome Rusk junior scored all three TDs and racked up 139 yards rushing. Swink was selected INS Player of the Week for his performance.

Swink currently is leading the nation in scoring with 62 points, 19 better than second-place Art Luppino of Arizona State. Luppino leads the country in running with 529 yards in 89 carries with Swink next with 484 in only 54 trips. They are 1-2 in total offense among the nation's leaders.

The 185-pound flash will be joined by Quarterback Charles (Chuck) Curtis, Right Half Ray Taylor and Fullback Vernon Hallbeck in the Christian starting backfield.

Bryan Ingram, Norman Hamilton, Joe Williams, Hugh Pitts, Vernon Uecker, Don Cooper and O'Day Williams will comprise that rock-hard line, being hailed as one of the country's finest.

A&M leads the all-time series with 26 victories and five ties in 45 games. Last year, TCU won 21-20 at College Station.

After the Aggie clash, TCU will leave by plane next Thursday morning for a Friday night engagement with Miami in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, who switched from Kentucky to Aggieland for the 1954 season, has one of the league's foremost offensive backfields. Quarterback Jimmy Wright, Left Half John Crow, Right Half Lloyd Taylor and Fullback Jack Pardee are the Aggie split-T starters.

Wright, Crow and Taylor are celebrated newcomers. Pardee, hard-running 204-pound junior, lettered last fall at three positions.

Bryant says he's fixed at quarterback with Wright battling two other first-year men for the starting berth, Bobby Conrad, and Donald Grant. Conrad, a 180-pound all-stater from Clifton, has missed the last three games with a knee injury and could be a last-minute starter tomorrow.

Crow, a 200-pounder from Springhill, La., needs no introduction to the Southwest. John was a standout performer in high school and was one of the most sought-after backs in the country upon graduation.

The 6-2 lad is a tough runner with exceptional speed for his size. He's the third leading conference ball carrier with 217 yards in 35 carries.

Taylor is a good break-away threat and has good speed. Two other top backs, Half Ed Dudley and Fullback Kenneth Hall will see plenty of service. Both were all-state standouts in high school. Hall scored 395

This fearsome foursome will lead the Frogs tomorrow as they attempt to complete the first half of an undefeated season. The Frogs are the only team in the country with over 1000 yards total offense. They have amassed 1337 yards in four games.

Rifle Team Bested By Arlington State

The Army ROTC rifle team is out on the practice range this week after losing its first match of the season.

The Arlington State team won the contest held here last Friday with a score of 1805 to TCU's 1703.

Russell Gilmore, Springfield, Ill., freshman, was high scorer with 353 points.

Capt. John Randles stated he is satisfied with team progress and all that is needed is more practice and competition.

An Army ROTC color guard was established this week by battalion commander, Cadet Lt. Col. William E. Howerton.

When Paul (Bear) Bryant and his young Texas A&M Aggie football squad step upon the TCU-Amon Carter Stadium turf tomorrow afternoon, the Maroon and White warriors from College Station will know that the famed Aggie "Twelfth Man" again will be ready in the east stands.

The "Twelfth Man" is a great A&M tradition that symbolizes readiness for personal service and a desire to devote all to all and school. This symbol will be represented in each of the 6,000 Cadets that are expected to be here for the annual tussle.

The Aggies regard this tradition as one that gives each cadet a spirit of unity that is thought of as almost sacred.

Born in a rough and tough intersectional grid game 34 years ago, this spirit is expressed in a football term—the 12th man on the team. For each A&M Cadet gets on his feet at the opening kickoff and remains standing through the final whistle or gun as a symbol of readiness for duty should the eleven men on the gridiron need assistance and replacement.

And here's exactly how the term was born. It happened one day in January of 1922 in the forerunner of today's Cotton Bowl classic at Dallas. That day the Texas Aggies and the famous Praying Colonels of Centre College met in Big "D". Centre was the talk of the football world with its wonder team as the Colonels had shocked the nation with their 6-0 march past a great Harvard eleven. Graduates of Fort Worth North Side dotted the Colonel lineup and the Texas boys were ready to make a great showing for the home folks.

As the game entered the fourth quarter the Aggie Coach,

Dana X. Bible, now athletic director at University of Texas, watched as his light and fast backs one by one were being carried off the field.

With some time left in the game, Bible was down to one backfield substitute. Then he remembered a sophomore back who had been working out with the squad all season. He was King Gill, one that had plenty of heart and desire but lacked the necessary weight and experience.

Gill had not made the trip with the team but he had gone to the game and was in the stands with the Cadet Corps.

Bible sent a yell leader into the stands to fetch Gill and inform to suit up and join the squad on the bench. Gill did not play as the Aggies used a last-minute hot surge to defeat the Colonels, 22-14. But since he was called upon from the stands and was ready for play, he became the first "Twelfth Man".

Since that memorable game, the Aggie coaches have called upon the Corps for a Twelfth Man several times, especially during the war years. This is why the students stand throughout a football game that Texas A&M is playing. They stand ready to help the team at all times.

In 1941, Mrs. Ford Munterlyn, wife of a former Aggie, wrote the words and music to a song, "The Twelfth Man", which the Corps accepted as a school song.

Tomorrow's full house will hear the strains of the "Twelfth Man" roar across the field from the east stands—an encouragement to the coaches and to the team and a warning to the opposition.

Experts say the "Twelfth Man" will be needed again tomorrow.

We agree.

TCU vs Texas A&M . . .

Call it loyalty, call it blindness, or call it sticking with the bookies, we think the Frogs have got enough horses to knock off a dangerous Aggie aggregation tomorrow. Let's say . . .

TCU by 10.

Rice vs SMU

The Mustangs still don't show much sign of championship potential. True, they've dumped Rice regularly in the past, but we'll go along with the Owls tomorrow.

Rice by 7.

Texas vs. Arkansas . . .

The Orange looked like a bunch of guys playing different games last week against Oklahoma. Maybe the Sooners will do that to anyone, but it appears the 'Horns just don't have enough firepower.

Let's call it . . .

Arkansas by 7.

Baylor vs. Washington . . .

This one is a real enigma. Baylor is a good club, without question, but just how good are the Huskies? They upset a rugged USC eleven last week and might maul the Waco Bruins. On a hunch . . .

Baylor by 6.

Slippery Rock vs. Indiana State . . .

Anybody's guess is good here. Those Hoosiers are fired up, but then that rock 'em-sock 'em attack of the Rockers always is dangerous. We think Rock will slip in for the upset.

Slippery Rock by 3 1/2.

Between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 kilowatts of electrical capacity may have to be built and operated on an uneconomical or break-even basis before reactor generator power can become competitive with conventional power.

yards rushing and better than 50 yards through the air. Quarterback Hunter Enis, the state's second leading passer in 1954 while at Fort Worth Poly, was forced to remain under wraps most of the game and was able to throw only eight times, completing four.

A&M, an opportunistic team, took advantage of three Wog fumbles and a pass interception to lead to the scores.

The Arkansas game will afford the Wogs possibly even a stronger test than did the Aggie fracas.

Varsity coach Jack Mitchell has gone far and wide in his search for football talent, and has an outstanding list of athletes.

Wounded Wog Team Prepares for Shoats

TCU's wounded freshman football Wogs are nursing their injuries and trying to get in shape for a game with the University of Arkansas Shoats in Fayetteville a week from today.

Seven key players are on the injured list, and most are tabbed "doubtful" for the Arkansas clash.

All seven are either starters or front-line reserves in Coach Fred Taylor's scheme.

The four starters are full-back Bobby Bounds of Lufkin, out with a bad leg, end Joe Bobb of Lufkin, out with a broken nose, and tackle Walter Ince of Itasca and guard Paul Pitts of Woodville, both on the shelf with knee injuries.

In addition to these, full-back Johnny Gregory of Fort Worth North Side, guard Richard Fagan of Stephenville and tackle Dan McCullough of Dallas South Oak Cliff are on the sidelines.

Gregory and Fagan join Ince and Pitts in the knee injury class and McCullough is at home in Dallas with a severe case of flu and strep throat.

Just how many are expected to be ready for the Shoat encounter is not known at present.

The Wogs will carry an 0-1 won-lost record into the Arkansas contest, having been dropped 27-6 a week ago by the A&M Fish.

The young Frogs came out of the Fish game in good spirits, and seem ready to post the first Wog victory since the final game of the 1953 season when James Swink and Co. were carrying the Wogs' banners.

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 1

"The proper study of mankind is man," said Geoffrey Chaucer in his immortal Casey at the Bat, and I couldn't agree more. In these tangled times it is particularly proper to study man—how he lives, how he functions, how he works. Accordingly, this column, normally devoted to slapdash waggery, will from time to time turn a serious eye on the social sciences.

In making these occasional departures, I have the hearty approval of the makers of Philip Morris Cigarettes, whose interest is not only in promoting the pleasure of young Americans by providing them with a gentle cigarette, matchlessly blended of vintage tobaccos, grown with loving care and harvested with tender mercy, then cured with compassionate patience and rolled into firm, tasty cylinders and brought to you in king size or regular, wrapped in fetching packages of lively crimson and pristine white, at prices that wreak no havoc on the most stringent of budgets; but who are equally concerned with broadening the minds and extending the intellectual vistas of every college man and every college woman.

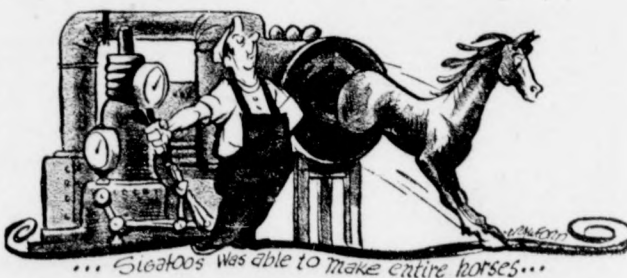

I, for one, am not unmoved by this great-heartedness in the makers of Philip Morris, and though I know it is considered chic these days to disparage one's employer, I shall not. Indeed, I shall cry "Huzzah!" for the makers of Philip Morris. I shall cry "Huzzah!" and "Bon appetit!" and "Stout Fellows!"

But I digress. For our first lesson in social science, let us turn to the study of economics, often called the queen of the social sciences. (Sociology is the king of the social sciences. Advertising is the jack.) Economics breaks down into two broad general classifications: 1) coins; 2) folding money. But before taking up these technical aspects, let us survey briefly the history of economics.

Economics was discovered by the Englishman, Adam Smith. He published his theories in 1778, but everybody giggled so hard that Smith, blushing hotly, gave up the whole thing and went into the cough drop business with his brother.

For long years after that, economics lay neglected while the world busied itself with other things, like the birth of Victor Hugo, the last days of Pompeii, and the Bunny Hug.

Then one day while flying a kite during a thunderstorm, the American Henry George (also called Thorstein Veblen) discovered the law of diminishing returns, and then, boy, the fat was in the fire! Before you could say "knife," the Industrial Revolution was on! Mechanization and steam power resulted in prodigies of production. For example, a Welsh artisan named Dylan Sigafos before the Industrial Revolution used to make horseshoes by hand at the rate of four a day. After the Industrial Revolution, with the aid of a steam engine, Sigafos was able to make entire horses.

And so it went—factories rising from the plains, cities burgeoning around the factories, transport and commerce keeping pace—until today, thanks to economics, we have smog, depressions, and economics textbooks at $5.50.

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, are no economists, but they do understand supply and demand. You demand gentle smoking pleasure; we supply the cigarette that has it—Philip Morris, of course!

THE NEW LAW—Above is an organizational chart provided by the proposed constitution approved by Student Congress last week. The new setup includes a realignment of representatives and newly created offices and creates an Activities Council. The proposed constitution will cut the standing committees from eight to four. The Administrative Committee will have direct authority over student assemblies, the sorority-fraternity council and the traffic control committee. The committee will also have authority over the athletic committee, student welfare, the student government committee and clubs and societies. Under the new plan the Administrative Committee will control the Student Congress which will in turn have authority over the Evening College and Activities Council.

Congress Okays Proposed Constitution

Major changes in the new student constitution include a realignment of the representatives, inclusion of an Activities Council Director on Congress and the creation of an Activities Council to plan and supervise student social life.

School and college representation was realigned according to enrollment. Two representatives from the Evening College, and one each from the Graduate School, Brite College of the Bible and Harris College of Nursing were included. The School of Fine Arts was dropped from two representatives to one.

Much of the old constitution was eliminated, to be replaced by easily amendable by-laws.

PREAMBLE

We, the students of Texas Christian University, in order to provide due measure of student self-government, to regulate all matters delegated by the University to student control, organize for the conduct of campus affairs and for the furthering of cooperation among the students of our school, do hereby ordain and establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I

A. The name of this organization shall be "The Student Association of Texas Christian University."
B. All students of the University who have paid the Student Association fee shall be members of this Association. All members of the Association shall be eligible to vote in any regular or special election.

ARTICLE II

A. The fundamental principles of the great American tradition of political and civil liberty are hereby affirmed, and embraced as part of this Constitution insofar as applicable to students attending a liberal institution of learning.

B. The right of the individual to freedom of thought and expression in the formulation of common policy is basic, and the following rights of the individual students at Texas Christian University shall not be abridged or denied by the government of this Association:

1. Freedom of speech
2. Freedom of press
3. Freedom to peacefully assemble
4. Freedom to petition for redress of grievances
5. Freedom to organize opposition to the student administration, and to seek control by winning the majority support of the voting students.

ARTICLE III

A. The legislative power of the Student Association shall be vested in a Student Association Congress.

B. The officers of the Student Association Congress shall be the President and the Vice-President of the Student Association and the Director of the Activities Council, and other officers whom the Congress may wish to select.

C. The membership of the Student Association Congress shall be constituted as follows:

1. Official voting membership:
 - a. The three officers listed above.
 - b. Three freshman representatives.
 - c. Three sophomore representatives.
 - d. Two junior representatives.
 - e. Two senior representatives.
 - f. Six lower-class representatives.
 - g. Two representatives from the School of Arts and Sciences.
 - h. Two representatives from the School of Business.
 - i. Two representatives from the School of Education.
 - j. Two representatives from the Evening College.
 - k. One representative from the School of Fine Arts.

- l. One representative from the Harris College of Nursing.
- m. One representative from Brite College of the Bible.
- n. One representative from the Graduate School.
- o. Presidents of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

2. Ex-officio non-voting members:

- a. Committee chairmen comprising the Activities Council.
- b. Security and Treasurer of Student Congress.
- c. Any other person or persons Student Congress may wish to appoint, their term of office not to exceed one nine months' school year.

3. Three faculty counselors: (1) The Dean of Students, or his representative; (2) one to be selected by the Student Association Congress; and, (3) one to be selected by the Administration of the University.

D. The Association Congress shall be vested with the following powers:

1. To adopt its own rules of procedure.
2. To expel by absolute majority vote any member of the Congress, with the exception of the Association Officers, and to adopt by an absolute majority vote a Bill of Impeachment against any officer of the Association.
3. To provide supervision for All-University social functions.
4. To order disbursements from the Student Association Fund.
5. To select, or provide for the selection of representatives to events and functions which involve the interest of the Student Association.
6. To approve, choose between, or reject appointments of the Executive Board, or the President.
7. To supervise, through a standing election committee, all elections for positions in the Student Association and any other elections which it may be called on to supervise.
8. To provide the framework for a Summer congress.
9. To direct, control, and coordinate the functions of the Activities Council.
10. To select one or more faculty advisors to be the Faculty Advisors to the Congress.
11. To take action, adopt resolutions, enact legislation, and to deal with matters affecting the welfare of the Student Association.
12. To enact such legislation as may be deemed necessary to carry out the foregoing powers.

E. A quorum, necessary to transact business, shall consist of two-thirds of the total membership of the Association Congress.

F. An absolute majority vote shall mean a majority of the total membership of the Congress.

G. Any member of the Association may attend a regular or special meeting of the Congress and has the right to speak at the meetings when recognized by the President.

ARTICLE IV

The Executive Officers of this Association shall be the President and the Vice-President of the Student Association and the Director of the Activities Council. These officers shall comprise the Executive Board.

ARTICLE V

A. The Activities Council shall consist of the Director of the Activities Council and the chairmen of its various committees.

B. The purpose and duty of the Activities Council shall be to meet the extra-curricular needs of the Student Association.

C. The Activities Council shall at all times be under the control of the Student Congress.

ARTICLE VI

A. The judicial authority shall be vested in a Student Association Court, consisting of five judges.

B. The President of the Student Association shall present ten names to the Congress which shall elect five judges. The ten presented must have been notified and must have indicated their willingness to accept, if elected, before being presented. The judges shall be selected not later than the second meeting of the Fall Congress and shall serve for the remainder of the school year. The candidate receiving the most votes shall be Chief Justice.

C. Members of the Court shall have completed at least 45 hours of academic credit with a 2.0 grade point index. Members shall have attended TCU for two preceding semesters.

D. Vacancies on the Court shall be filled by the candidate having the next highest number of votes in the previous election, and if none remains, two candidates for each vacancy shall be presented by the President to the Congress in the same manner as specified in Article VI, Section B.

E. The Court shall have the following powers:

1. To judge the constitutionality and legality of all acts of the Student Association, and officers of the Student Association, if these acts are contested by a member of the Student Association.
2. To hear appeals of the chairmen of committees under the jurisdiction of the Congress concerning such things as money appropriations and directions of the Congress to committees.
3. To conduct impeachment trials of Student Association and class officers. Conviction shall consist of the affirmative vote of four judges.
4. To be the final authority in Association elections, their legality and procedures if contested by any member of the Student Association.

F. A member of the Court may be removed if a recommendation to that effect by at least a two-thirds majority of the Congress is sent to the Court, and at least three members of the Court vote to uphold the recommendation.

G. The individual votes of each member of the Court shall be available to the Student Association on all questions brought before the Court.

ARTICLE VII

A. Each member of the Student Association of the University shall pay a Student Association Fee of $1.25 per semester during his/her enrollment.

B. The Student Association Fund shall consist of money collected from the Student Association Fee and all money allocated by the University to the Student Association Fund.

C. Twenty percent (20%) of the Student Association Fees shall annually be placed in a special fund to be known as "The Permanent Improvement Fund." This fund shall be disbursed only for tangible items which add to the permanent improvement of the property of the Association or the University, and shall be of such a nature as to be used by succeeding Associations.

D. The remainder of the Association Fund shall be placed in the regular account of the Association and shall be expended according to the direction of the Association Congress, and the bylaws of the Constitution.

ARTICLE VIII

A. Members of the Association may initiate any proposed new policy, law or amendment by a petition signed by ten percent of the members of the Association. If the proposal is not adopted by the Congress, the Election Committee shall provide for a referendum election on the proposal, a simple majority therein sufficing for adoption.

B. Members of this Association may call for a referendum upon bills passed, or under consideration by the Congress, by submission of a petition signed by not less than ten percent of the members of the Association.

C. Members of the Association may initiate recall proceedings against any of the Association officers by the submission of a petition signed by not less than ten percent of the members of the Association. Recall proceedings may be initiated against Class Officers, Class Representatives, and Representatives-at-Large by the submission of a petition signed by not less than ten percent of the Association comprising the group who were originally eligible to vote in the election of the officer or representative. Upon receipt of a recall petition by the Congress, the officer or representative concerned shall either resign, or shall stand for re-election against any qualified person who may file for such office.

D. Referendum or recall elections, demanded by petition or act of the Congress by two-thirds vote, shall be held within fifteen (15) days after receipt of the petition, or after resolution by the Congress calling for such election.

ARTICLE IX

A. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed by an absolute two-thirds majority of the Congress or by a petition signed by not less than ten percent (10%) of the members of the Student Association.

B. If the amendment has been proposed by the Congress, an election in which all members of the Association shall be eligible to vote shall be held at a date decided by the Congress. If the amendment has been proposed by a petition of not less than ten percent (10%) of the Student Association, the election on the proposed amendment shall be held within fifteen (15) days after receipt of the petition.

C. If any proposed amendment passes the election by a two-thirds majority of the votes cast, it shall become a valid part of this Constitution, and shall supersede any sections of this Constitution that conflict or overlap with amendment.

D. "Amendment by revision" may be proposed by the same procedure that for other amendments. In such case this Constitution shall be revised as directed, or may be completely re-written.

ARTICLE X

This Constitution, in the form approved by the Student Association Congress, shall be proposed by a two-thirds absolute majority vote of the Congress, and shall be presented for approval to the members of the Association at a date and with procedure for the election decided by the Congress. If approved, this constitution shall become effective within twenty-four hours after the vote are counted, and shall supersede any all other constitutions previously applying to the Texas Christian University Student Association or the Student Congress.

A set of by-laws shall be adopted by this constitution by a two-thirds majority of the Congress. The same vote shall also be required to alter or add to the list of by-laws.
