

Skiff 'Not Funny Enough,' Entrant Says

Some persons think The Skiff is not serious enough. One coed says it isn't funny enough.

A sophomore man believes it's a pretty good paper, but someone else advocates proofreaders from the English department to bring it "up to standard."

Thus, come the first entries to The Skiff's "Editor for a Day" contest.

Editor Gamble, who supposed he was publishing a good paper, is bearing up to the suggestions pretty well.

"You can't please everybody," he grumbled.

Some unlucky person, however, will try it — for the March 23 issue. It will be the person selected for the originality and constructiveness of a completion for the statement. "If I were Skiff editor . . ."

The statement need not be long. It can be said in one paragraph, but not more than 250 words, please!

Entries can be placed in box marked "The Skiff" at the candy counter in Student Center, can be taken to the journalism department in Building 5, or can be mailed to The Skiff, Box 308, TCU.

Deadline for this contest is March 12, but get your entries in early!

All entries will be judged by staff members of The Skiff, who are anxious to initiate a new editor—even on a temporary basis.

Top three entries will receive complimentary subscriptions to The Skiff after graduation. The winner, of course, will get the year's top headache!

Entries from English majors still accepted, despite the snide comment among this week's receipts. Staff members not eligible.

Here are a few ideas from this week's mail:

"I would begin an all-out campaign against the deficiencies of Administrative actions. I believe I would start with an attack on the compulsory boarding system.

"I would get the student body to think—for a change—through editorials more thought-provoking than the typical 'school yell' type. There also would be no by-lines except for really outstanding stories.

"I would put more humorous articles in it. It's not funny enough. It's too cut and dried.

"I would like to see more sports features. The Skiff ran a feature of Jim O'Bannon, but did not do the same for Billy Taylor, Bill Estill and the rest of the basketball players. If you're going to publicize one, you should publicize them all.

"I would utilize many of its pages as instruments to excite and interest students in current affairs.

"I would definitely keep up the Skiff-Congress feud. It's about the only bit of excitement on the Hill.

"I would see that reviews of Little Theater productions ARE critical. I would like to slam the reviews of the present year.

"I would have a faculty member from the English department and two advanced English students as proofreaders. Then, Gramatical errors would never appear and the english department would feel like good samaritans.

"A person who does not understand the subject he is writing about had best leave it alone. The Skiff has no more than the usual mistakes, which pass me by unnoticed. It is not my desire to usurp Hal Gamble of position as editor.

(To this, we say—"Coward!")

The house building program was presented last Friday to representatives of the active chapters of the 10 sororities and eight fraternities on campus and representatives from the sorority and fraternity alumnae and alumni groups.

The plan was drawn up by the University housing committee headed by Vice President D. Ray Lindley. Others on the committee include Dean Ike Harrison of the School of Business, and Dr. Richardson.

"The representatives will meet with us again Wednesday to recommend revisions for the proposal and to report the reactions of their particular groups," Dr. Richardson said.

The committee has recommended that sorority housing be constructed west of the girl's dormitories and fraternity housing be built west of the boys' dormitories.

The proposed site also is subject to approval by the board. "Architects already have surveyed and studied the tentative location," Dean Richardson said.

The plan which the committee proposed stated:

"Additional accommodations for boarding students are a critical need of TCU.

"Such new living accommodations on our campus should be in the nature of housing for the fraternities and sororities."

The committee also proposed that the houses be planned to provide for 28 to 30 students. Cost is not to exceed $90,000 per unit.

"If separate units can be

Trustees to Discuss Budget, Expansion

The TCU Board of Trustees will hold its regular spring meeting next Friday.

At a morning session, the board will formulate a budget for the University for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1 and ending to July 30, 1957.

Although the budget figures will not be released, the total amount is expected to be an increase over the present allotment because of the rise in enrollment this year.

Also during the morning meeting, President M. E. Sadler will present his annual report to the board on activities, plans and needs of the University.

The trustees will meet in a luncheon-business session with the development board at 12:30 p.m. Friday in the Student Center ballroom.

The two groups will hear a report on enrollment figures and the school's plans for the coming year.

The development board may hold an afternoon session to discuss building fund campaigns and to hear from Dr. O. James Sowell, director of University development.

At present, the development board is conducting a $1,000,000 fund drive for remodeling and expansion of Mary Coats Burnett Library.

The trustees will consider administrative and faculty promotions and permanent tenure grants. They also will vote on the re-election or replacement of eight current members whose terms expire this month.

The eight are Lewis Ackers of Abilene, Robert Carr of San Angelo, A. D. Weatherly of Amarillo, and Marshall Fuller, Ed Landreth, Sol Brachman, H. B. Fuqua and Sterling Holloway, all of Fort Worth.

Stadium Expansion to Be 'Hurry-Up' Job

The addition of 10,000 seats to TCU Amon Carter Stadium will be a "hurry-up" job, according to Amos Melton, director of Information Services.

"We're starting construction from basic plans about March 15, so we can have the new seats ready for our first home game Oct. 6 with Arkansas," he said.

The contractors for the expansion program, Thomas S. Byrne Inc., already have started ordering equipment to begin construction of the planned second deck atop the west stands.

A foundation will be laid about 20 feet behind the present stands. The lower stand also will be extended westward.

The new tier of approximately 8,000 seats will extend from goal line to goal line. About 2,000 seats will be added to the present seating area on the west side.

Upon completion of the new stands, there will be 70 rows in the lower deck and 39 in the top tier.

Wyatt C. Hedrick Inc., architects, are drawing up plans for the expansion program.

About 3,000 seats in the second deck will contain "operatory" chairs with back rests.

A new press box, designed as shown, is a modernistic press box, built to accommodate about 200 writers, photographers, radio and television personnel and others. The lower west stands will receive an addition of 2,000 seats, bringing the total stadium capacity to 47,000.

DOUBLE-DECKER—Here's an artist's conception of the west stands at TCU Amon Carter Stadium after the addition of a second deck of 8,000 seats this summer. The new tier extends from goal to goal and is 39 rows deep. Perched atop the new deck, the total stadium capacity to 47,000.

Proposed Greek Housing Plan Faces Board Vote March 9

By ROGER SUMMERS

Construction on fraternity-sorority housing will begin within the next few months if the Board of Trustees approves the proposed plan next Friday.

"If the board accepts the plan the buildings will be ready for occupancy by September, 1957," Dean of Students Thomas F. Richardson said.

Coeds Pay; Elect 1956 'Twirp' King

Joe Williams, Greenville junior, reigned over the "Twirp Dance" Wednesday night as "Twirp King."

The "King" was presented with a trophy by Bruce Neal and a kiss from his escort Miss Barbara Alford, Center junior.

Miss Billie Graham, Happy sophomore, won the award for the most unique corsage. Her creation of "The Tender Trap" was worn by her date, Bill Howerton, Abilene senior. She was presented with a trophy decorated with a girl holding a gun.

Tri-Delta won the trophy for having the most members present.

Curley Broyles and his orchestra played for the Leap Year dance.

Other nominees for the "Twirp" crown were Sutton Allison, Don L. Campbell, Terry Coggan, Larry Harris, Bob McDaniel, Charles Renshaw, Carl Rose, R. D. Dyno, Bennett Williams and O'Day Williams.

A nominating committee, composed of campus queens chosen this year, selected the 11 finalists. Miss Barbara Alford, Miss TCU finalist, was chairman of the committee.

Festival to End Tuesday Night

The University Choral Club and the University Symphony Orchestra will present a program of choral music at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Ed Landreth Auditorium as the final presentation of the 1956 Fine Arts Festival.

The musical selection for the evening will be "Grand Mass in C Minor" by Mozart.

Soloists will be Miss Mary Lou Palmros, soprano; Mrs. Helen McClaskey Vereen, soprano; Miss Marth Pulliam, contralto; R. G. Webb, tenor; and William Walker, baritone.

Dr. Ralph R. Guenther will conduct the orchestra, and Ernest Lawrence will direct the University Choral Club.

After the performance, chorus and the orchestra members will be entertained at a party in the lobby of the Student Center.

New 'Embosograf' Solves Sign Problem

An Embosograf, used for printing signs, has been purchased by Congress and is now being used by the Activities Council publicity committee.

Cost of the machine is $1,600, which includes 20 different colors of cardboard and 27 colors of inked tapes. It is set up in the publicity committee office, Room 201, Student Center.

It will be used to make signs for Congress and council events.

The Embosograf is available to other organizations at the cost of two cents for each letter per sign, Dale Edmonds, council chairman, said.

"If any organization wants to have signs made, put a note in the publicity box in the student center," he continued.

Edmonds said anyone can learn to operate the machine in a few minutes.

Type is set up, and colored tape is placed on the machine with cardboard on top of the tape. The Embosograf presses all three together and the sign is printed.

A work table will be built shortly to complete the operations, Edmonds said.

Money to purchase the machine was received from the Student Government Committee, which supervised the old lounge in the Administration Building basement. Congress was given approximately $1,700 in profits from the lounge to finance various school improvements.

"IT'S SIMPLE," says Miss Carol Larkin, Odessa sophomore and Activities Council publicity committee chairman, as she demonstrates the Embosograf sign-printing machine. The Embosograf will be used to make signs for Activities Council and Congress events. Other organizations may use the machine for a small fee.

Several Positions Open Summer School Program Ready On Horned Frog Staff

Several positions are open on the Horned Frog staff, Editor Dave Brown has announced.

Mid-year entrants and others are especially reminded that any student may join the staff. No experience is necessary, but some knowledge of yearbook copy, art or make-up is helpful.

The Summer School catalog has been printed and is available to students in the Registrar's Office. Courses in almost every field of study will be offered, with all classes in air-conditioned buildings.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Alpha Gamma Delta will initiate 11 Pledges into the TCU chapter of the sorority and five women into the local alumnae chapter Sunday.

Misses Darla Bunch, Andra Pickens, Deanna Whitaker, Sharon Rutledge, Mary Jane Martin and Nancy Flowers, Fort Worth freshmen; and Angela Moore, Fort Worth senior, will be initiated.

Also, Misses Mary Jamison, Penwell freshman; Ginger Lane, Sterling City senior; Betty Voorhees, Texas City freshman; and Glyda Brandt, Dallas freshman, will become members of the group.

A Feast of Roses will be held in the Continental Room of the Hilton Hotel after the initiation. Mrs. Joseph Perkins of Eastland will be toastmistress.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta members and pledges will entertain the eight campus fraternities at an "Old Reno" party between 12:30 and 6 p.m. tomorrow at Ernest Allen barn on Old Stove Foundry Road.

Amid decorations of saddles and bales of hay, Thetas will present an old-fashioned melodrama to fraternity guests. Boys have been requested to wear western clothes.

Theta pledges will have their traditional kite flying, a part of their initiation, at 4 p.m. Tuesday on the drill field across from Waits and Foster Halls.

KAPPA DELTA

Miss Frances Self, Houston sophomore, recently was elected president of Kappa Delta sorority for 1956-57.

Vice president is Miss Marian Jun, Fort Worth sophomore, and secretary is Miss Dottie Snead, Midland freshman. Miss Sylvia Lester, Rusk sophomore, is newly elected treasurer.

Miss Anita Trimmier, Garland sophomore, is assistant treasurer and Miss Tonya Thomas, Fort Worth freshman, will serve as editor.

Miss Sandra Drago, Houston freshman, received a loving cup for the best pledge award at a recent initiation banquet at Cross Keys Restaurant.

PHI DELTA THETA

SIGMA CHI

Sigma Chis and their dates recently attended the annual Sweetheart Party of the Fort Worth alumni chapter.

First semester pledges have completed a fraternity examination. Initiation services are being planned.

Enrollment Is 4,538 for Spring

Final enrollment figures for the spring semester have reached 4,538, a new all-time record, Registrar Calvin A. Cumble reported.

The total is a 13 per cent increase over last year's spring semester enrollment of 4,012. It is 353 over the previous all-time record of 4,185 set in 1950.

An increase of 17 per cent over the spring of 1955 was recorded in the fulltime undergraduate day school. Other increases include 32 per cent in the Graduate School, 13 per cent in Brite College, and 5 per cent in the Evening College.

During the 1955-56 year 6,556 new students enrolled in TCU, Mr. Cumble said. This is an increase of 13 per cent over the 1954-55 school year when 5,798 different students enrolled.

The previous record for new students was 6,284 set in 1949-50.

Seventy per cent of the total enrolled for the spring semester are from Fort Worth and Tarrant County. Twenty four per cent are from Texas counties other than Tarrant County.

Six per cent of the students are from states other than Texas. There are 22 students representing 16 foreign countries.

Forty-two states are represented.

Today is the last day to drop a course with a grade of "W." Hereafter the grade of "WF" or "WP" will be applied.

Book on Texas Disciples Due Magazine Review

Dean Emeritus Colby D. Hall's book, "History of the Disciples in Texas," will be reviewed in the spring issue of Journal Encounter.

Editor Ronald Osburn will review the book in the quarterly, published by the School of Religion of Butler University in Indianapolis.

Dr. Hall's book was published by the TCU Press in 1953.

Shelton Plays Lead In 'Country Girl'

Carl Shelton, Fort Worth graduate student, will play the leading male role in the "The Country Girl" April 27 and 28 and May 1-5 in the Little Theatre.

Bing Crosby played the role in the movie version.

Mrs. Pat Record, Fort Worth graduate student, will appear in the title role, which won an Academy Award for Grace Kelly.

The part enacted by William Holden will be played by David Combs, Fort Worth senior.

Others in the cast are Richard Midgett as the playwright; Bill Cleveland as the producer; Jack Radar as the stage manager; Daniel Webster as the director; and Miss Betsy Sewall as the ingenue.

Miss Peggy Meade will be assistant director and William Garber, instructor in drama, will direct.

"Telarama" will feature a program of Southwestern ballads at 1 p.m. Sunday on KFJZ.

Miss Mabel Major, professor of English, will furnish the commentary. Dr. Newton Gaines, professor of physics, will sing several cowboy ballads and accompany himself on the guitar.

K. L. Miller, Fort Worth senior, and Miss Elaine Ross, Amarillo junior, also will sing ballads. Miss Sarah Slay, Dallas senior, will accompany Miller and Miss Ross on the guitar.

Bob Bruton, station manager of KTCU, returned Monday from Chicago, where he attended a meeting of directors of the governing council of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System.

Bruton, a Fort Worth sophomore, is one of 12 college members of the board. The IBS has more than 120 member stations.

Three members of the TCU debate squad will enter the Savage Forensic Tournament at the State Teachers College in Durant, Okla., today and tomorrow.

Brooks Alexander, Dallas Sophomore, and Roy Stanton, Houston junior, will enter team debating. Bobby Patton, Fort Worth sophomore, will enter individual debating events.

Worth Dalton, debate coach, will accompany the team.

TCU Journalists To Attend Parley

Approximately 12 TCU students and faculty members will attend the 26th annual Southwestern Journalism Congress in Dallas March 9 and 10.

About 200 students from 14 colleges and universities will attend the annual meeting, with SMU as host.

Beginning with a reception in the French Room of the Adolphus Hotel, Thursday night, the congress will include panel discussions, speeches and question and answer periods.

Entertainment will include a noon luncheon Friday and a dance from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday, in the SMU student center.

A $1 registration fee and $3 congress fee, including the luncheon cost, will be charged.

Cars will leave the Journalism Building at 8 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Dr. Warren K. Agee and Miss Elizabeth Youngblood will sponsor the group.

More than 500,000,000 books were printed and bound last year by the nation's printers and publishers.

Editorial Comment

Some doubt has arisen as to the value of a sorority rush week at mid-year. Although the advent of two new sororities on campus necessitated rush this year, the figures bear out the fact that such an activity might be inadvisable in the future.

So Much For So Few

Forty-two women were pledged during rush; 28 joined the two new clubs and the remaining 14 were divided among the eight original sororities. Of these, one sorority got five pledges; another, four; another, two; and three only one each. Of the remaining two clubs, one had no vacancies and the other did not get any pledges.

It would seem that a great amount of man- or woman-hours have been spent for very little gain. Preparation for, and the execution of, a sorority rush is a highly detailed operation requiring much work. The work is even heavier when the rush is small and competition for pledges is greater.

Surely rush captains and the members and alumnae detailed to rush week labors will agree that one per year is enough when the net reward dwindles to one or two or even no pledges.

Nor does the idea seem just for the pledges themselves. When such small numbers are admitted at one time, some pledge classes consist of only one or two persons, assuming that all prior pledges from the fall met initiation requirements.

A pledge, introduced to sorority life in this manner, gains little of the benefits for which pledgeship is designed. She cannot compete alone with other sorority pledges, or with members of her own sorority.

Money-raising projects, scholastic competition between members and pledges, and other basic elements of this beginning period are deprived her.

The simple solution, apparently, is to suspend mid-year pledging until a number of women, sufficient to make rushing worthwhile for the individual sororities, indicate an interest.

Improvement Begins at Home

The Skiff is in the midst of a self-improvement project.

Members of the staff this week have been conducting a survey poll on readership and reader interest. Under way is an "Editor for a Day" contest with contestants airing their pet peeves and taking advantage of an opportunity to put out The Skiff as they want it for one issue.

Any newspaper is the spokesman for its public. The Skiff strives to satisfy its public—the students. To accomplish this, it must understand what the students want.

That is the purpose of the poll and the "Editor for a Day" contest.

Student cooperation is needed if this attempt is to succeed.

For those interested, the editor's job begins with making the reporter's assignment sheet and continues through Wednesday afternoon make-up lab, Thursday, the editor and some of his staff journey to the printers.

The contest lasts through March 12. Now is the time to have your name opposite "Editor" in the Skiff masthead.

Part of The Whole

They have such refined and delicate palates
That they can discover no one worthy of their ballots,
And then when some one terrible gets elected

They say, There, that's just what I expected.

Ogden Nash said it and he must have had reference to TCU.

Most local campusites are more like parasites when it comes to university elections. Very few choose to become candidates and only a few more vote for them. Somehow the attitude toward voting has been like that attached to work: let the other guy do it.

One thousand and Ten students voted in last spring's election—a fragment more than one fourth of the student body.

Much like the occurrence in Mr. Nash's verse, students don't care enough or know enough to vote, and the result is that many are dissatisfied.

Maybe it's human nature.

Professional civic leaders have coined phrases such as, "It's a privilege instead of a duty to vote"; or "Vote as you please, but please vote." Their tub-thumping doesn't seem to get old.

TCU's political machinery is being oiled for a new election. Posters soon will be wet with paint and a handful of candidates will prepare speeches which only a few ears will hear.

A good election would probably bring more candidates, but it's up to the voters to make elections a success.

And really, it's not the least bit like human nature to allow a fourth to rule the whole.

TEXAS—

Editor Willie Morris hit the Associated Press circuit again as the Daily Texan once more ran into the problem of editorial restriction.

Editor Willie with his usual tact, offered the "touchy" editorial to the wire services and left a neat hole on his editorial page with the headline "This editorial withheld" and a short explanation.

Seems Willie and company wrote an opus on the possible consequences of President Eisenhower's veto of the gas bill. Some thought Willie was venturing a little far afield into politics and quashed the editorial.

Such are the woes of an editor.

BAYLOR—

One of the slickest front pages in a long time was the Feb. 21 issue of the Lariat. A very pretty miss dominated the page all by her lonesome. A peek at page two reveals her name as Miss Barbara Frasher, a sophomore at Baylor from Waco. Also on the second page were seven other misses along with Miss Frasher. All will be in the Baylor annual's beauty section.

TRINITY UNIVERSITY—

Another of the hazards of higher education faced students as the Trinitonian announced tuition increases. Students beginning in September will have to pay $50 more per semester, bringing the yearly cost of education to $500.

Trustees said the faculty needed more pay and the school more money.

A salve to the wounded scholar was the announcement that for every $500 the student spent on tuition the university would expend approximately $795 on education services.

That should ease the suffering?

SMU—

After speaking out for the admission of Texas Tech into the conference, the Campus took a poll of students to see where they stood on the matter. The results—607 for, 359 against. Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity offered the greatest single objection with a 123 vote against. Question on the solid stand of the group was answered, "Playing Tech will not add prestige to the Southwest Conference."

Playing Notre Dame isn't helping prestige much, either.

An Open Letter to All Students:

In order that TCU students might have a better opportunity to be of service to others an idea has been discussed whereby we would make an organized attempt at helping some city youngsters.

This has been considered from several angles and as a result everyone interested is invited to attend a meeting at 4 p.m. Thursday, March 8, in the Student Center ballroom to discuss the proposed project.

The basic idea we have in mind is to try to be of service to some boy or girl. One idea is that of being an interested friend to a youngster who has no father or mother.

Another idea could be that of supplying shoes for children whose parents cannot afford them, or some like project.

A group of students or organization could also go to children's home and take care of the children on a half-day outing or a picnic.

We would like to appeal particularly to organized groups such as clubs, societies, fraternities and sororities to take part in this program, but anyone interested may come.

We believe that a project of this sort will prove beneficial to all who attend, and the results will be a truly worthwhile contribution to a well-rounded college life.

Brite Serves 120 Churches

Brite College students and faculty members serve about 120 churches in Texas and southern Oklahoma each week.

Through the office of the man Morgan, director of ministerial services, 108 students act as pastors and youth religious education directors.

On some Sundays the entire faculty of Brite College visit area churches, bringing the total number of churches served to more than 130.

Each student is allowed to serve only one church at a time, Mr. Morgan said, giving more students an opportunity for experience.

Grandmothers Aid Miss Major In Collecting Old British Ballads

By ROGER SUMMERS

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Record, 2265 Lipscomb, are the parents of a boy, James Anthony, born Saturday. Record is a Fort Worth senior.

The former Miss Shirley Carole Arnold, ex '55, and William Howard Green, both of Fort Worth, were married Feb. 17 in University Christian Church. Miss Ann Laycock, Baytown junior, was bridesmaid.

Engaged are Miss Sue Metz of Fort Worth and Richard Scott, Fort Worth junior. The wedding is planned for March 31 in Ada, Okla.

Grandmothers of TCU students have been important to Miss Mabel Major.

They've aided her in collecting Texas versions of British ballads.

Miss Major first became interested in the ballads while studying literature at the University of Missouri under H. H. Belden, an authority on ballads.

Then, after coming to TCU, Miss Major found that a student in her sophomore class, Lowell Bodiford, had heard his grandmother sing British ballads to him as a boy.

"I decided that if his grandmother knew British ballads then other students' grandmothers must know some too," Miss Major said.

So, each year, she asked members of her class to write down any British ballads they knew. Her collection has grown to about 40.

But Miss Major's only source of ballad information has not been her students.

"Many of them have been sent to me by people I've never met," Miss Major said. "And many have come from ministerial students."

"Some of the ministerial students say it is a pleasant point of contact to ask the elderly people in their congregations if they knew ballads. They seem to want to discuss them."

Besides these sources, Miss Major gets some of the folk songs from members of the Texas Folklore Society, of which she is past president.

"We get together at the meetings and 'swap' ballads," Miss Major said. "We sort of look out for each other and help one another in our collections."

Miss Major has found that several factors have caused variants in the ballads from their original versions.

For instance, one sea ballad changed the word 'landlubber' to 'landlord.'

"They probably didn't have any use for 'landlubber' so they just substituted 'landlord,' which was a more familiar term to them," Miss Major said.

"Of course, it has no meaning in the ballad but it was something they knew, so they put it in."

Other changes came from people adding and taking out words and stanzas.

Most of the ballads come from West Texas, Miss Major pointed out.

"In early days West Texas the British ballads were sung at play-party games. Since the people lived in small ranching communities it was often their only entertainment."

Miss Major's collection contains one ballad, "The Cambridge Shirt," thought to date back to the thirteenth century. It is the second oldest in the United States.

Someday, Miss Major hopes to make a more systematic search and more complete collection of the Texas versions.

Maybe then she'll have time to tour Texas and talk first-hand with some of the grandmothers of her former students.

THE GRIM AND GRISLY ADVENTURES OF NORBERT SIGAFOOS, AMERICAN

If you squeam, read no further, for today's column is not for the squeamish.

It is a harrowing story which begins in 1946 when Norbert Sigafoos, an ichthyology major from UCLA, went on a field trip with his class to Monterey Bay to study the many fish and crustaceans who make their homes in these waters.

But truth to tell, Norbert was not very interested in ichthyology. What he was interested in was television, which in 1946 was an exciting new infant industry. While his classmates leaned over the rail of the boat, studying the tunny and amberjack which swarmed below, Norbert just leaned and thought about television. Thus preoccupied, he fell overboard and, all unnoticed, was washed far out to sea.

A strong swimmer, Norbert, after 43 days, sighted land—a tiny atoll, far away from the normal sea lanes. Tired but happy, he clambered ashore. Being a college man, he was, of course, fearless, resourceful, and clean in mind, body, and spirit. He built himself a snug shelter, fashioned traps for animals, wove fishing lines, and arranged day and night signals to attract any passing ships.

Though nine years went by, Norbert never abandoned hope of being rescued. At long last, his patience was rewarded. On October 14, 1955, he was picked up by the Portuguese tanker, Molly O'Day.

Ralph Gomez, the ship's captain, greeted Norbert with a torrent of Portuguese. "Do you speak English?" Norbert asked.

"A little," said Ralph Gomez, which was no less than the truth. He did speak a little English: two words. They were "a" and "little."

But, withal, he was a good hearted man, and he gave Norbert fresh clothes, a razor, and a cheroot.

"No, thank you," said Norbert to the cigar. "I'm a Philip Morris man myself. Have you ever smoked Philip Morris?"

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"Then you know what I mean when I talk about their yummy goodness, their delicately reared tobaccos, their soothing, consoling, uplifting, unflinching gentleness—pack after pack after pack," said Norbert.

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"I suppose you're wondering," said Norbert, "how I kept my sanity during all those years on the island."

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Norbert. "I've been thinking about television because that's what I want to go into when I get back. For nine years I've been sitting on that island thinking up brand new shows for television. And I've got some marvelous new ideas! I've got one terrific idea for a show where a panel of experts tries to guess people's occupations. 'What's My Line?' I call it. Then I've got one, a real doozy, where you pull somebody unexpectedly out of the studio audience and do his whole life story. 'This Is Your Life,' I call it. But that's not all! I thought up a real gut-buster of an idea for a quiz show where you give away not $64, not $6400, but—get this, Ralph Gomez—$64,000! Wow, I can hardly wait to get back to the States and sell these fabulous ideas to the networks!"

There is, fortunately, a happy ending to this chilling tale. Norbert never had to suffer the bitter disappointment of learning that all his ideas had long since been thought of by other people. Why not? Because the Portuguese tanker, Molly O'Day, struck a reef the day after picking up Norbert and, I am gratified to report, went down with all hands.

If the shattering story of Norbert Sigafoos has left you limp, comfort yourself with a gentle Philip Morris. So say the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column weekly through the school year.

COLLECTING TEXAS VERSIONS of British ballads has been a hobby of Miss Mabel Major since coming to TCU. The English professor now has about 40 different versions in her collection.

Military Ball Today; Shooters Rewarded

ROTC cadets and their dates will parade in a grand march at the fifth annual military ball in the Student Center at 8 p.m. today.

The grand march will highlight the dance, sponsored jointly by the Air and Army ROTC units. Sandy Sandifer and his band will play for the formal.

Corps Commander Bill Howerton and Miss Pat Rector, Army sponsor and McCaulley sophomore, will greet guests at the door.

Lt. Col. Vernon O. Rogers, Air Force ROTC headquarters staff chaplain, visited the campus and the AFROTC detachment Wednesday.

The colonel visited classrooms and met cadets and school officials.

Four members of the rifle team are wearing letter jackets presented to them for active participation in inter-collegiate rifle matches this season.

The lettermen are Cadet

Cpl. John S. Muir, Fort Worth sophomore; Russel S. Gilmore, New Lenox, Ill., freshman; Gerald T. Shamburger, Tyler freshman, and Sgt. Frank Perkins, Fort Worth sophomore.

The jackets were presented by Dr. Henry B. Hardt, chairman of the TCU Athletic Council and professor of chemistry.

Future rifle matches include a duel with the Fourth Armored Division at TCU March 9 and a meeting with Tulane University cadets March 24 in New Orleans.

In the annals of military justice, one may find such famous cases as the Caine Mutiny court martial, the court martial of Billy Mitchell and the mock trial of Cpl. John Doe, completed at TCU last week.

Although five minutes late to his own trial, Cadet 2nd Lt. Bill Yung, alias Cpl. John Doe, faced a tribunal of MS-4 cadets in a mock trial held by the military justice class.

TISA Envoys Not Certain

The number of delegates Student Congress will send to the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association convention in Abilene became uncertain Monday.

The convention began yesterday.

Four delegates stated they could not attend and several others were not sure.

Following a request by TISA president, Walter Wink, that TCU send a foreign student as other schools are doing, Congress decided to include two as delegates. It was voted that the executive committee choose the delegates and to fill any existing vacancies.

The executive committee is composed of Aubrey Owen, Student Association president; Joe Latham, vice president; and Dale Edmonds, Activities Council director.

Speakers at the three-day meeting are Cedric Foster, news analyst for the Mutual and Yankee Broadcasting systems, and Stanley Glass, president of the National Students Association.

Frogs Finish on Bottom; O'Neal Second in Scoring

Frog basketball Coach Byron (Buster) Brannon put away his varsity equipment this week as the Christians closed out a dismal 1955-56 campaign Tuesday night with a 71-90 loss to Arkansas.

The setback, TCU's tenth in 12 conference games, left the Frogs with their first cellar finish since 1949-50. The Purple won only four of 24 encounters during the entire season.

The Christians fell victim to a first-half slump against the Razorbacks and trailed, 28-50, at the intermission.

The Porkers came right back in the second half to

Little Hits Them All in Contest, Wins a Carton

Jim Little, Fort Worth sophomore, came through with four winners to claim victory in last week's Skiff basketball contest.

Little correctly picked Arkansas over TCU, SMU over the Razorbacks, Texas over Baylor and Alabama over Kentucky in the contest's four game choices. He also guessed 168 total points in the Frog-Porker battle, just seven more than the actual total of 161.

Little has a free carton of Chesterfields awaiting him in The Skiff office, Building 5, as a reward for outstanding service in the field of prognostication.

Intramurals, Odd Jobs Keep Rathgeber on Run

By LANTZ FERIS

Probably hundreds of coeds have seen Student Intramural Director Van Rathgeber in the bathtub on University Drive without being shocked.

Of course, it's not the usual type of bathtub. That's just what Van calls the ancient Ford which he uses to zoom from his home at 2320 Mistletoe Blvd. to TCU to keep up with his many campus duties.

The auto's strange name was the result of its appearance after the Fort Worth senior sawed off the top. Van has one thing to say about this improvement: "It sure keeps my little ole car cool."

The commercial art major needs something to help him get around. In addition to his intramural duties, he is carrying 21 semester hours, filling a seat on the Student Court, working as secretary of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and handling Student Center publicity.

Van was president of the senior class during the 1955 summer school session and had a leading role in the pre-Christmas presentation of "The Second Shepherd's Play" in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

One of Van's favorite jobs is his position as student intramural director. As such he must plan and supervise just about everything that goes on in men's intramural sports.

Van has this to say about his intramural program:

"I would very much like to see more participation in intramurals. With our set-up I believe there is some sport among the various ones we sponsor that will appeal to each student."

His many responsibilities

keep Van constantly on the run. However, he does find time for an occasional game of bridge in the SC accompanied by his brown boxer dog, "Ememcee."

Van seems to have a flair for bestowing unusual names but will not explain the meaning of "Ememcee." When asked he simply smiles ruefully and tactfully changes the subject.

Van's many jobs, especially his intramural scheduling, scheduling, planning and supervising, make him one of the busiest men on the campus.

So if you see Van in "the bathtub" don't be shocked. Just give him room.

He's in a hurry.

Frog Nine Opens Season Monday

Tabbed as possible contenders for the Southwest Conference baseball crown, the TCU Horned Frogs open their 1956 campaign against the SMU Mustangs Monday afternoon at Dallas.

The Frogs, with 10 lettermen in the fold, will be working under a new mentor, Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, whose 1933 team was the only conference champion in TCU history.

Righthander Frank Windeger, senior letterman, will start on the mound for the Christians. Meyer will let him go as far as he can without relief.

Larry Roseborough and Harold Key will divide duty behind the plate. Roseborough was a starter in 1955, while Key was a Wog stand-out last Spring.

Others slated for possible action are first baseman Al Tucker, second baseman Frank Hyde and third baseman Charley Jordan.

Roseborough, Quick, Paschal and White were regulars on the 1955 club, which finished last with a 2-13 record in league combat.

Meyer cited mound strength as the Frogs' chief need.

"If we get good pitching, we should do okay," he said.

"The hitting has looked fine," he added, "White, Warwick and Williams have been sharp in batting drills."

Meyer plans to allow as many men as possible to see game duty against the Ponies. The Frogs and Mustangs tangle again Tuesday on the TCU diamond.

"I may start Bob McDaniel against them Tuesday, if he looks like he can go," the Frog coach commented.

After the SMU encounters TCU will journey to Seguin for games with Texas Lutheran College Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Phis to Attend Cage Tourney

Thirteen members of the Texas Zeta chapter of Phi Delta Theta will leave at noon today for a basketball tournament at the University of Oklahoma. Chapters from three states will compete.

Other schools participating are Southern Methodist University, University of Texas, Southwestern University, Texas Tech, Oklahoma A&M, University of Kansas and University of Oklahoma.

Van Rathgeber, Fort Worth senior, is in charge of the TCU chapter team.

Also making the trip are Mike Davis, Weatherford sophomore; Dale Edmonds, Fort Worth junior; Tom Gholson, Fort Worth junior; and Bob Hammond, Fort Worth junior.

Trackmen Will Run At Laredo

The TCU track team will travel to Laredo next Friday and Saturday to compete in the Border Olympics.

Coach J. Eddie Weems will take 11 boys to the meet, which attracts teams from high schools, junior colleges and universities throughout Texas.

"Our hurdlers and middle-distance boys are our best chance in the Olympics," Weems said.

Running the hurdles for TCU will be Bill Curtis, Wauvika, Okla., junior.

Curtis won the Southwest Conference high hurdles in 1954.

"Bill is an outstanding hurdler and should go far," Coach Weems said.

TCU half-milers are Clarence Culwell, Jerry Hutson, Robert Flores and Ted Williams. Hutson also runs the mile.

Jack Webb, Fort Worth junior, is working with the weights.

Weems praised his fast-developing freshman trackmen.

He singled out Johnny Hill, relays; John Cantrell, weights and javeline; and James Livergood, half-miler.

Ohlen Receives $1,800 Graduate Fellowship

Henry (Hank) Ohlen, B. S. '54, has been awarded a $1,800 Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation scholarship to continue his graduate studies next year at the University of Wisconsin.

Ohlen was an honor graduate of the TCU geology department in 1954 and was captain of the 1953-54 Frog basketball team.

By JIM HENDRICKS

Today, as we blissfully sat in the Journalism Building trying to decipher an English assignment, someone rendered unto us a tap upon the shoulder.

Looking up in natural, youthful curiosity, we discovered the chunky form of Mr. Jim Lee Brock, Skiff sports editor, standing behind our chair and wearing a suspiciously friendly smile.

"Gotta' go to Arkansas this week," he said, mischievously, "You write Sportlight."

Our flabby little chin bounced heavily on the floor.

"Surely, sire, you jest!" we ventured hopefully.

Sadly, though, he was kidding. So, with trepidation, we naively assault the realm of the sports column. Have pity.

Football spring training is old galoshes by now. Ere we allow the subject to pass away peacefully, however, we'd like to add a small note to the several thousand already written.

Just what is Coach Abe Martin going to do with his drastic surplus of muscular talent next year? The Frog mentor has so many thoroughly-sound minions it must be hard to keep track of the entire mob.

Especially in the backfield area, the Christians have more already-proven and promising young men than the average three colleges combined. The first team looks set, but the top reserve berths are up for grabs come next fall.

Strangely enough, Jim Shofner, who probably could be a regular on any other Southwest Conference club, may be facing a second-string future on the 1956 Frogs. Shofner ran superbly in spring sessions, but with a couple of fellows named Swink and Wineburg holding prior claims on the No. 1 halfback slots, the Fort Worth junior-to-be probably will be used primarily as a "speller" for the first-line pair.

Then there are such other worthies as Carlos Vacek, Freddie Armstrong, Virgil Miller, Henry Crowsey, et al, who will be scrapping for second-team halfback posts.

The quarterback and fullback arsenals are exquisitely stocked for the autumnal warfare, and Line Coach Allie White beams with pleasure at the mention of forward-wall prospects for the fall.

Ah, yes, the good Mr. Martin shall have his worries about aligning his second, third and fourth units come September. But what a beautiful way to bring an ulcer into the world!

Tuesday afternoon, the spring sports season will be ushered in on the Hill as Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer's baseball forces match powness with the SMU Mustangs. It's the first spring sports event of several slated for the TCU campus within the next three months.

And, it seems, as each of these seasons comes around, the Skiff sports staff finds itself pleading with the student body to support Frogland's baseball, track, golf and tennis aggregations.

Regrettably, the pleading never seems to do much good.

erected for this price, which will include the desirable inside accommodations," the proposal stated, it will be the objective of the school to erect the houses in separate individual units.

The next option, however, would be to erect duplex-type buildings which would house two groups each.

The third option would be to construct one continuous building.

The committee recommended that if any sacrifices must be made, the sacrifice should be first at the point of the external arrangement rather than in the internal accommodations.

Included in the 12-point proposal which Dr. Lindley will present to the board are recommendations that:

1) The TCU board approve erection of the Greek housing.

2) The board undertake to negotiate a loan for erection of the housing.

3) The houses be leased to the fraternities and sororities, and that this lease be based upon 5.25 per cent of the principal cost, plus whatever rate of interest is necessary to pay for the funds.

4) Each fraternity and sorority be responsible for paying for its own utilities.

5) The fraternal groups furnish the houses.

6) Each college chapter be expected to have and to be responsible for the cost of a house mother.

7) As much option as feasible be given to each individual group to provide distinctiveness in each house.

Since 1947, the top three religious groups represented at TCU have been Baptists, Methodists and Disciples of Christ, in that order.

Ex-Students Set Date For Games Tournament

The annual TCU Exes game tournament will be held in Brown-Lupton Student Center, at 7:30 p.m., March 13, according to Mrs. W. J. Belz, Ex '43, publicity chairman.

All TCU students and ex-students are invited to attend. Bridge, forty-two, canasta, monopoly, Tripoli and dominoes will be included. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of each table, and guests are invited to bring their own games if they wish.

Admission is $1 and net proceeds will go to the School Scholarship fund.

to accommodate about 200 persons, will be built atop the second deck. The present press box, which seats only 50-60, is considered one of the poorest in the Southwest Conference.

The new press box will be composed of two decks, the lower for sportswriters, wire machines and rooms for radio and television personnel, the upper for photographers and a food service area.

An elevator from ground level will service the press box.

The press box is higher above the field than the one at the Cotton Bowl.
