Congress Abandons Removal Proceedings

Removal proceedings against four Student Congress members were dropped this week after it was found that such action was illegal. The mix-up occurred when a section of the Student Association by-laws was misinterpreted by Student Association President Aubrey Owen. The by-laws state that a member is subject to impeachment after accumulating "more than two unexcused absences." Owen misread this to mean "two or more."

The error was discovered by Evening College representative Hal Marrett.

"It was a classic example of incompetence," Owen commented, after he announced that the proceedings were illegal and would be dropped.

Congress members gave him a round of applause, however, for calling Congress' attention to the fact that "it was getting sloppy and lousy," as was stated by Bob Coleman, lower class representative.

Miss Shirley Rice, lower class representative who was announced last week as one of the members to be impeached, was granted an excused absence after stating that she had been ill one week.

Congress records were found to be in error concerning an absence by Miss Martha (Tennessee) Evans. She had been listed as absent Feb. 13. It was found she had been late in arriving.

Ben Sturgeon, freshman class president, stated that he missed only congress meetings only when classes interfered.

Joe Williams Arts and Sciences representative, stated that he had not been familiar with the by-laws concerning the matter, but that "it was my fault."

Dale Edmonds, Activities Council director, said he felt the controversy had already

Ranch Hop Will Climax Festivities

TCU western activities will end tomorrow night with the Ranch Week dance from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight in the Student Center ballroom.

Kenneth Pitts and his six-piece western band, with vocalist, will provide music for the dance. The band plays all types of songs and not strictly western tunes, Paul Stephens, TCU Chamber of Commerce president, commented.

Tables, covered with red-checked cloths, will add western atmosphere to the ballroom.

Soft drinks will be sold in the ballroom during the dance, Stephens stated.

Main event at this western jig will be the beard judging and shaving contest.

Six winners will be chosen in the beard contest, with selection based on originality, length and style of whiskers. A prize will be awarded to each of the six winners.

Judges of the beard-growing contest will be representatives from Southwest Conference universities, University of Houston, North Texas State, See RANCH DANCE, Page 16

Lou Green Wins Contest; Will Edit Next Skiff Issue

A senior frequently in the news, inadvertently labeled a freshman by The Skiff, has won the "Editor for a Day" contest and will be in charge of next week's issue.

He is Lou Green, Athens senior.

His contribution to journalistic progress can be seen as he attempts to put his ideas into practice. So students can keep tally, here are some of his promises:

"I would cover the campus more thoroughly by covering each school better, print more student views of controversial issues and use more original pictures of student life, add funny papers and watch congress actions better," the business major said.

First among his suggestions was that the paper should properly record his classification.

"I would change the status of Lou Green, Athens freshman, to Athens SENIOR," he said. "After all, I have been here four years."

The Skiff regrets such an oversight, but habit patterns are strong — and he WAS a freshman for three years.

Editor-for-a-day Green will start his duties officially today when he makes out assignments for Skiff reporters, attends an editorial conference and discusses upcoming campus events with staff members.

On Monday he will confer with Photo Editor George Smith on picture coverage and determine which editorials and news stories to use.

Wednesday he will lay out The Skiff pages and designate the type and size of headlines to be used. Thursday afternoon he will be at the printer's to assist in making up the pages and reading proofs.

Thursday evening sometime he will pick up a copy of The Skiff and decide whether or not he was glad he entered the paper's first Editor-for-a-day contest.

Run, Ye Varmints! The Sheriff's Here

By DAVE BROWN
"The menu for today is gonna be stewed dude," said a local yokel.
All of which, podna, is another way of saying it's Ranch Week agin', and iffen you ain't gone western yet, you better git quick. All them as is wifout wrangler's duds will be viewing the world from inside the local hoosegow.
Leading the gang through the wilds of the West will be Ranch Week Queen Martha (Tennessee) Evans and Foreman James McDonough. They were elected in runoff Monday.

Presentation of the queen and foreman was at the Ranch Week revue last night in Ed Landreth Auditorium.
That, hombra and ma'ams, started off the three-day shindig.
Sheriff Harlon Wright of Tarrant County was there to swear in the Ranch Week Sheriff and his deputies, so law and order can reign supreme.
They'll get to work this morning at 8, when they start a'flingin' them eastern varmints in th' calaboose.
Long about noon, though, they'll let everybody loose to go and see the girls' softball team whoop the faculty men on the intramural field.

A wiener roast in front of the Student Center at 6 p.m. will precede the big Ranch Week Carnival at 7 p.m.
Everybody can whoop it up at the saloons, contests and fun houses. Only requirement is a healthy pocketbook.
Saturday morning, contests will be the order of the day. Folks'll see who's the best egg-thrower, cigaret-roller, cigar-smoker, terbakky-spitter, balloon-blower and pie-eater. There'll be sack races and greased pig chases, too.

Judge Roy Bean, "The Law West of the Freeway," will then try owlhoots and other varmints for various offenses. Hangings will follow immediately, while the innocent eat $1 per plate barbecue.
Then, the men get separated from the boys at the Ranch Week Rodeo at Cowtown Posse Arena. There'll be saddle and bare-back bronc riding, calf-roping, barrel-racing, bulldogging, brahmbull riding, ribbon roping, and other events. Cost is $1 for all who are too cowardly to enter an event.

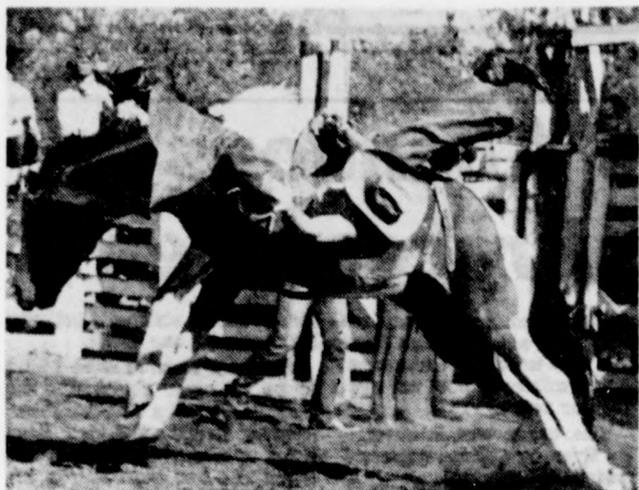

Final fling for the cowhands is the Ranch Week Dance tomorrow at 8 p.m. Kenneth Pitts and his western band will supply the music.
Gals will get their revenge by being allowed to shave the beards off their dates. Men can choose and must furnish their own type of razor, but the gals do the cutting.
The TCU Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of Ranch Week, have promised to provide towels, hot water and a doctor.
Cost'll be 75 cents per person. Faculty members will be admitted free.

Rodeo Adds Goat-Sacking, Cow-Milking

Two new events have been added to the Ranch Week Rodeo this year to include competition among fraternities and sororities. The arena is located two blocks east of South Side Drive-In Theater off North-South Expressway.

Goat-sacking and gentle-cow milking will make their first appearance at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Cowtown Posse Arena, Rodeo Club officials promise a full afternoon of the intimate, unrehearsed, unprofessional TCU brand rodeo.

BOTTOMS UP—Jerry McNoughton, Pampa freshman, demonstrates rare form in a rodeo match at Arlington State College last November. TCU won the match, in spite of Jerry. He will appear in the Ranch Week Rodeo tomorrow.

Goat sacking, which promises to be a wild and confusing event, quickly drew entries from five fraternities, each entering a two-man team.

Gentle cow milking, an event dreamed up for sorority women, did not get an immediate response. Seems Texas women just don't milk cows anymore.

Ken Humphries, who with B. J. Stephenson is directing this year's rodeo, said he still hoped to have sufficient entries prior to rodeo time.

"All they have to do," Humphries explained, "is milk a few drops from a gentle old cow tied at one end of the arena."

"Goat sacking is different. Those boys are going to have to chase down a goat, put him in a toe-sack and race across a finish line."

Humphries who is entered in every event will compete for an all-around cowboy title. He won the award in 1954.

He said this year's event promises to be the best due to more evenly matched entrants.

"Most of them have never had any experience," he explained.

Humphries pointed out, however, that not many of the animals had ever been manhandled.

"They can sorta start out even," he observed.

"It'll be an interesting afternoon," Humphries stated.

Admission to the show will be $1 per person.

Opera Group Invites Two

William Walker, Fort Worth senior, and R. G. Webb, Fort Worth graduate students, have accepted invitations to become resident members of the New Orleans Opera Association for its season opening in October.

Both Webb and Walker were winners in recent national try-outs for award roles with the Experimental Opera Company of America, also located at New Orleans. The experimental company will have its season from June to September, and Webb tentatively plans to take part.

Dale Crouse Elected By Management Class

Dale Crouse has been elected Evening College Student Council representative for "Personnel Management 337."

Gerald Barry was chosen as associate representative and Mrs. Betty was elected class reporter.

Charles E. Nevitt is class instructor.

The class is planning a personnel management program for wives or husbands of class members.

Congress to Manage Journalists Campus Chest Drive Adopt 2 Bills At Congress

Student Congress decided to operate Campus Chest this year and appointed Dale Edmonds, Activities Council director, as chest chairman.

Congress took over after Campus "Y" announced it could not do the job. The "Y" has sponsored the annual charity drive in the past.

Edmonds, also president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, volunteered services of the fraternity as a steering committee, but Congress did not accept the offer.

Several members expressed opinions that such an all-campus drive should be handled by an all-campus organization. Edmonds was then appointed chairman of the drive and told to pick his own committee.

"I already have it," he replied, waving a list of Phi Delt members.

Bob Coleman, lower class representative, moved to have the committee composed of Congress members. The motion passed.

Spring elections will be held April 9 and 10 with run-offs April 16 and 17, Congress announced Tuesday.

Filing dates have not been set.

Congress also appropriated $80 to finance a "Romance Dance" in the Student Center April 6. The event will be held on the first anniversary of the dedication of the Student Center.

Congress also appropriated $60 from the permanent improvement fund to pay for electric wiring for outdoor events. The Vigilantes agreed to pay for future upkeep of the equipment.

"That's all right," said Edmonds. "I can do as well with anyone else."

He was given a round of applause by Congress members.

Resolutions advocating presentation of both sides of the heated NSA question and supporting editorial comment rights of college newspapers were passed by delegates to the recent Southwestern Journalism Congress at SMU.

The National Students Association recently has been conducting a school membership drive in the Southwest.

The editorial comment resolution was prompted by recent action of the board of regents at the University of Texas. Delegates stated, however, that they were not necessarily condoning the actions of the editor or staff of the Daily Texan, Texas student newspaper.

A resolutions committee, composed of representatives from 12 of the 14 member schools, drew up the resolutions. Dave Brown, Fort Worth junior, represented The Skiff on the committee.

During the two-day conference last Friday and Saturday, more than 200 delegates heard lectures by prominent figures in newswriting, advertising, radio and television, news photography and public relations.

Congress officials awarded next year's meeting site to Texas A&M.

ONE DOZEN NAMES

If MISS ANNE DOUGLASS, Fort Worth senior, should desire to "tread the boards" as a musical comedy star, she need go no further than her own backyard. The Tri Deltas are using the area to construct an outdoor theater for the Ranch Week midway presentation of "Annie Get Your Gun."

Seniors DAVID TUDOR, Gainesville, and BOB JONES, Fort Worth, are assistant instructors in the Physical education department. They teach chess.

Thursday night's Ranch Week Review was directed by MISS TRISHA Reeder, Amarillo junior, who heads the Activity Council's talent committee. She's also an accomplished dancer and singer.

MIKE GLENN, Godley junior, is a busy man. He works the 3 p.m.-12:45 a.m. shift at Convair. Carries 18 hours. Is a newlywed.

MISS CAROL KENT, Longview freshman, gained added popularity at the Ranch Week Review. She sang "I Can't Say No."

JOHN GIORDANO, Fort Worth freshman and saxophone player with the Stage Band, impersonated Jimmy Durante in the show. He had the sax for it.

Phi Delta Theta pledges

JACK SCHNAKE, ROBERT HAMMOND and JERRY DANIEL were sent on an important mission Thursday morning.

Their task: To capture four dozen ducks from the pond in Trinity Park for a carnival booth.

They had full permission of the park department—provided they "brought-em-back-alive."

LINDSEY EMERSON, Fort Worth sophomore, is working on an article he hopes to sell to True Confessions Magazine. He claims it's true.

Odd job: FRANK SHILLER, Fort Worth freshman, is a fingerprint expert with the Fort Worth police department.

Ann Loader to Attend TSCW Rosebud Festival

Miss Ann Loader, Vernon junior, was named TCU representative to the Rosebud Festival at Texas State College for Women.

Others nominated were Glenda Moses, Fort Worth sophomore and Gayle Scott, Dallas junior.

Book Store Will Sell

Ranch Week Supplies

"Plenty of film and camera supplies for Ranch Week picture taking are available in the University Store," Manager E. M. Moore, stated.

Also, the book store has received a new shipment of pin-up bulletin boards. The boards are blue, green, tan and red and priced at $2.25 each.

Easter cards, both comical and religious, can be purchased in the University Store.

Prices on these cards vary from five to 10 cents.

27 Changes in Faculty Announced by Board

Twenty-seven changes in the faculty, announced by the Board of Trustees last week, are now effective.

Dr. Michael Winesanker, professor of music literature and musicology was named chairman of the department of music by the trustees. The post was formerly filled by the late Dean T. Smith McCorkle.

Permanent tenure was granted to six faculty members. They are Head Football Coach Abe Martin; Dr. A. T. DeGroot, Dr. Jack Suggs and Prof. Glenn Routt of Brite College; Miss Katharine Brattan and Miss Ruth E. Sperry of Harris College of Nursing; and Dr. Sanders Lyles of the biology department.

Advancements in rank were approved for 19 faculty members.

Baptists Outnumber Other Religions Here

For the 18th straight semester Baptist students outnumber all other religious sects at TCU. The Baptist group totals 1,793, the Methodists 1,322 and the Disciples of Christ 1,023. Thirty-one religious groups are represented, Registrar Calvin A. Cumbie said.

Miss Alliene Harder has been advanced to associate professor of education; Mrs. Louise Hague, assistant professor of business; Dr. Lyles, associate professor of biology; Arch Wallace, to assistant professor of engineering; Dr. E. C. Polk, to professor of English; and Dr. Karl E. Snyder, to professor of English.

Dr. Louise Cowan, to associate professor of English; Dr. Bita May Hall, to professor of French; Marjorie Keaton, to assistant professor of business; Mrs. Marguerite Potter, to associate professor of history; Dr. Harrison Moseley, to professor of physics and Henry Key, to professor of accounting. Emmet Smith, to assistant professor of organ; Max Butler, to assistant professor of art; McKie Trotter, to associate professor of art; and Dr. A. H. MacLaine, to associate professor of English.

Mrs. Lilita McCorkle, Mrs. Katharine McKee Bailey and John Brigham were promoted to assistant professors of music.

Plans Being Made to Continue Wilson Centennial Observance

By ROGER SUMMERS

Plans are under way to continue the year-long celebration of the Woodrow Wilson Centennial at TCU.

The subject of Tuesday night's Alpha Chi symposium, "The Wilsonian Approach to World Order," was in keeping with the national celebration of Woodrow Wilson, 28th president of the United States. The Democratic leader was born in 1856 in Staunton, Va.

The symposium was one part of a plan to observe the centennial. In keeping with the symposium theme, a book exhibit is on display in the Library.

Next fall, August O. Spain, chairman of the government department, plans to bring a prominent Texan to a University-wide convocation. Dr. Spain is currently corresponding with such people as former Senator Tom Connally, former Governor Dan Moody, former Secretary of Welfare Oleta Culp Hobby and James Hart, formerly of the Texas Supreme Court.

We are also trying to interest another group in sponsoring a program related to the Wilson administration," Dr. Spain said.

The national organization is making a documentary film of the president's life.

"We plan to show the film to American history and government classes," Dr. Spain said.

If Tom Connally accepts the invitation to speak at next Fall's convocation, TCU will hear a speaker well-versed on the Wilson cause.

Sheriff Sworn, Royalty Honored At Ranch Revue

A Thursday night Ranch Week Revue in Ed Landreth Auditorium formally "kicked off" Ranch Week activities.

Miss Martha (Tennessee) Evans and James McDonough, Ranch Week Queen and Foreman, were introduced, Tarrant County Sheriff Harlon Wright swore in Ranch Week Sheriff John Wood and his deputies. The Activities Council talent committee, headed by Miss Tri-sha Reeder, Amarillo junior, produced the multi-act variety show.

The revue included staging, pantomimes, a chorus line, piano duet and hillbilly vocalists. Dale Edmonds, Activities Council director, was master of ceremonies.

Mr. Connally was guest speaker last month before the Virginia General Assembly when the group observed Wilson's 100th anniversary.

In his message, Mr. Connally told the assembly that Wilson was "a titanic captain in the battle for international action for the establishment of agencies to preserve the peace."

"He was a superb leader in government. He was a devoted patriot and a leader of a free world. In the field of statesmanship in the United States he stood like a blazing star. In international affairs he was a towering figure. His memory forever will survive."

Wilson piloted the United States through World War I and later fathered the League of Nations.

The efforts of Dr. Spain, Alpha Chi and the national foundation are steps to provide TCU students with a means of recognizing Wilson's stature.

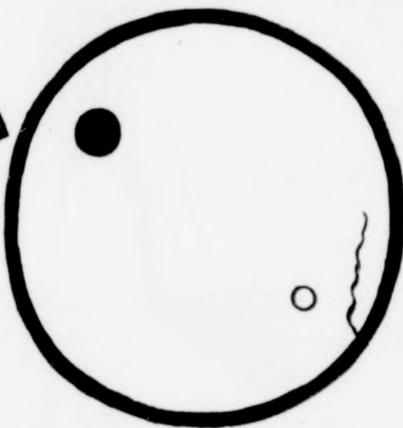

And Dr. Spain's work to bring a speaker such as Mr. Connally, Mrs. Hobby or Mr. Moody should add an extra incentive to increase interest in convocations.

Twenty-two students representing 16 counties are enrolled at TCU for the spring semester.

"Grand Prairie vs. Dallas" will be Welch's topic.

State CYF Meet Here Today

Christian Youth Fellowship leaders in Texas will hold a state executive meeting today through Sunday in the Student Center.

State officers, eight area representatives and ministers acting as advisers will lay plans for a state youth convention of the Disciples of Christ in August at TCU. Other youth work in Texas will be planned.

Miss Mary Schroeder, Plainview freshman, is state president of CYF, and Miss Sally Atkins, Edinburg freshman, serves as secretary. Danny Hensley, Brite student from Miami, Okla., will be special youth adviser at the meeting.

Eight students from other CYF areas of the state also will attend the executive meetings.

Ministers assisting in the planning for the coming year are: Frank Mabee of Fort Worth, state director of Christian education; Roy Holt of San Antonio, chairman of state youth work committee; Clifford McCall of Corpus Christi, state CYF chairman; and Clyde Foltz of Baytown, member-at-large on state youth work committee.

The executive meeting is held annually to plan youth work in the state for the coming year. This year's meeting will plan, besides the convention, summer youth camps and state cabinet meetings.

Admission Program To Be Strengthened

Plans are under way which should result in the strengthening of TCU's admissions program and an improvement in the overall quality of the student body.

A positive step in this direction was taken by the Board of Trustees last Friday when Dr. Thomas F. Richardson, dean of students, was appointed dean of admissions, effective Sept. 1.

"We are seeking to refine and improve our admissions program to improve our techniques in this area and the quality of our students," President M. E. Sadler stated.

Dean Richardson already has conducted studies of the problem of admissions, which is becoming serious at all universities with the increased influx of students.

No announcement has been made concerning the future status of the dean of students' office.

The board also approved a record budget, took action to relieve the campus housing problem and elected three new members.

The board passed the all-time high budget of $3,100,000 for 1956-57 after hearing a report from President M. E. Sadler on plans and needs of the University for the coming year.

The trustees also approved construction of two new dormitories, one for 200 men and another for 250 women to be ready by September, 1957. If feasible, the new halls will be air-conditioned.

Size and method of financing the two structures will be determined by the board's executive committee.

In other action Dr. A. T. DeGroot, dean of the Graduate School, was made distinguished professor of church history in Brite College of the Bible.

Three deanships now exist due to these changes and the recent death of Dean T. Smith McCorkle of the School of Fine Arts.

New board members are J. Lee Johnson of Fort Worth, Harold Herndon of San Antonio and Lester Clark of Breckenridge.

They replace Marshall Fuller of Fort Worth and W. M. Woods of Buda, who become honorary members.

Re-elected to the board were Lewis Ackers of Abilene, Robert Carr of San Angelo, A. D. Weatherly of Amarillo and Sol Brachman, H. B. Fuqua, Ed Landreth and Sterling Holmway, all of Fort Worth.

Honorary L.I.D. degrees were approved for Dr. Theodore Distler of Washington, D.C., executive director of the Association of American Colleges; and A. V. Wilker of New York, vice president of Union Carbide and Carbon Company.

The board also granted honorary D. D. degrees to the Revs. William Wright of Shreveport and Floyd Leggett of Norfolk, Va.

City's Oldest Typewriter Found in Business Building

What's believed to be the oldest typewriter in Fort Worth is in Room C of the School of Business Building — at least for a few days.

It's on loan from J. Winston Kirven, Fort Worth office machine dealer.

The relic was brought here early this week by the Bus-Club to be used in a pantomime of office procedures of the early 1900s.

Mr. Kirven said the machine originally was purchased by W. R. Sawyers, who he believes was the first attorney in Fort Worth.

"Mr. Sawyer was a good friend of mine," the elderly Mr. Kirven said. "When he died, his wife gave the typewriter to me."

That was about 20 years ago. Mr. Kirven now has one of the largest collections of antique typewriters in the southwest.

Manufactured by the American Printing Machine Company in New York, the typewriter is a Caligraph.

The Caligraph has 62 keys as compared with 42 on modern models. The small letters and capital letters have separate keys.

Mounted on a circular bar, the striking keys hang from a vertical position instead of from a horizontal angle. The keys strike at the base of the cylinder.

24-Hour Alarm Protects Prized Lewis Collection

By JANTZ FERIS

"Hello. This is Glenn Sparks, pass number 36-thc. I will be entering Room 212 in approximately five minutes. I will be leaving in less than 30 minutes."

There is a brief pause while the information is checked and recorded. Then a voice at the other end of the wire acknowledges the call and the receiver is hung up.

This is an example of the lengths to which the University has gone to protect a half-million dollars worth of property with which it has been entrusted.

The "property" is the world-famed William Luther Lewis Collection of rare books and manuscripts, now at TCU on indefinite loan from Amon G. Carter Foundation.

Besides the ordinary security of lock and key, the 1,500-item collection is protected by an American District Telegraph Company alarm system.

The system is the same type used by ADT to protect banks, jewelry stores and other such businesses. There is one exception, however. In protecting these buildings the alarm system is only used after store hours. At TCU it is operated on a 24-hour basis.

The system consists of a network of wiring attached to all openings of Room 212 where the books are housed.

Anyone opening the door or any of the windows would set off an alarm in the ADT office. Police and ADT representatives would be on the scene almost immediately.

Even the air conditioning ducts have been wired to prevent entrance by that means.

The only door to the room has been further wired to thwart any efforts to pass through the door without actually opening it.

Anyone attempting to saw through the door or smash through the louvers in the lower part also would trip the alarm.

In fact tampering with any of the wiring in the system will activate the alarm mechanism.

In addition to the main door lock, there are two more locks to be opened before a book may be removed from its shelf. There is a lock on an inner door and also on the bookcases.

In order to reach any book, three different keys must be used. Only Glenn Sparks and Miss Emily Garnett, librarians at Mary Coats Burnett Library, have the keys.

To use the keys, however, Sparks must make a telephone call, similar to the one previously described, to notify the ADT office.

The call is necessary because there is no way to shut off the alarm from outside the room. Thus, ADT office personnel must know when the room is to be entered so they may disregard the ringing of the alarm.

The call is verified by checking the pass number and the pattern in which the information is given.

"Even if a thief could succeed in stealing any of the volumes, it would do him little good," Mr. Sparks said. "He would not be able to sell it because the history of the books is well known and a dealer would most likely spot it immediately."

The Harvard University Library has a collection of more than 6,000,000 printed volumes.

There are more than 1,500 daily and 10,000 weekly newspapers produced in the United States.

Editorial Comment

Into the jail, you dude!

This is the time of year when cowpokes reign undisputed over the stretches of the TCU ranch.

All city folk are advised to keep hidden or answer to the law of the range. Cowboys and girls have taken over the campus with the fury of a stampede of wild heifers. Conservative gents have become temporarily uncivilized, and ladies have discarded petticoats for levis.

Faculty members have put away dignified dress for wear more appropriate to teaching a pistol-packing classroom.

Ranch Week has hit again, and this year's celebrations are in full swing. Cowpokes will make the rounds of some 25 booths, from can-can lines to fun houses, in tonight's carnival. The masculine westerners will test their strength and skill at booths designed for such. Some will win prizes for their feminine duds and some will go home for their Wheaties. When it's over, booth operators will count their loot or bemoan their loss.

Tomorrow morning all hands are invited to enter tobacco-spitting, pig-chasin', and pie-eatin' contests. There'll be balloon-blowin' and racin' for those adverse to the messy fun.

Contest-weary and hungry folk will feast on barbecue before adjourning to the rodeo grounds where real cowboys will be rarin' to go. Men will be separated from the boys in the bareback and bull riding contests. Experienced ranchmen will participate in calf roping, bull dogging and goat sacking competition.

An old-fashioned Western stomp, turning the ballroom into a barn dance floor, will wind up the festivities. Some bearded beauty will receive a prize for the best growth, and in turn, have it shaved off by his dance partner.

Yep, Ranch Week, with its six-shooters and Stetsons, has become a TCU tradition, but a few rambunctious cowpokes could brand it for the slaughter house. Let's keep the alcohol out and Ranch Week in.

Society Is Watching You

When a student reaches the college level, rules of society expect him to cast aside such schoolboy mannerisms as carving up desk tops, writing on walls, spitting on floors and being a nuisance in general.

Exceptions exist to every rule, and several of these exceptions inhabit TCU.

Not only do certain students still make like Rembrandt with switch-blades and ball points, but they have regressed to destroying school property.

For example, two expensive pot plants in the lobby of the Student Center recently were stripped of their foliage, leaving a knotty, unattractive stem and a useless pot.

Obviously the culprits weren't interested in biology since they scattered the leaves around the lobby like confetti.

There are other acts of unmitigated carelessness and inconsideration.

An irresponsible student, through some miraculous twist of the car wheel, takes up three parking places. Or he leans a grease-slicked head against University corridors and generally mistreats costly furniture.

Naturally, the majority of students are not guilty of these misdemeanors. It is an inconsiderate few who create the unpleasantness.

A good rule of society is for students to treat University property as they would furnishings in their own homes. It's an old precept, but it rings remarkable true.

After all, a student who completes college has spent at least 16 years, approximately one-fourth of his life, in school. He might as well make it as pleasant as possible.

Guest Editorial

I think the greatest need in the world today is for truth; and you folks, by some peculiar tradition, are the custodians of truth in your profession and you're dedicating your lives—your professional lives—to this very holy concept.

It's no longer good enough to be a clever writer. Today's journalism requires, as you well know, that you know what you're talking about. This is why we think it's a very important function of a liberal arts education because you must have the background and the knowledge and the facts in a great many different fields in order to be a responsible journalist.

Of course, we feel that just facts are not enough, that just truth in its raw form is not enough. It needs a couple of other things. It needs interpretation which you, as journalists, are dedicated to do. It also needs some spiritual insight because we feel that facts do not constitute real wisdom unless they are motivated and tempered by some spiritual insight and some spiritual values.

By GEORGE SMITH

NORTH TEXAS —

Five student senators who were slightly short in grade averages recently were given the heave-ho by the vice-president. The group, minus one, promptly appealed the action. The supreme court upheld the vice-president's move and all is peaceful again.

Another tidbit from the Campus Chat told of the plight of a student teacher who decided to show movies to her junior high class.

Before the second film ended a student nudged her. "I thought you would want to wake up before the lights went on," the pupil said.

SMU —

Mustang land is recovering from an onslaught of student and professional journalists who gathered on the campus last week end.

The Southwestern Journalism Congress discussed problems and listened to guest lectures. Approximately 200 attended.

Editor Willie Morris of the Daily Texan was noted for his absence by the TCU delegation, who were eager to hear his delightful wails.

Campus footnote—"It's not improper to kiss a girl's hand, but it's decidedly out of place."

Confucius say, kiss on hand sometime better than slap in face."

HARDIN-SIMMONS —

Shades of Joe Kelley—Space fillers from the Brand.

"Another great danger of one-arm driving is that you are so likely to skid into a church."

Add new definition to bacteria: "Rear entrance to a cafeteria."

The Thresher raised a minor question on the action of the Rice Student Council and its attempt to donate the proceeds of the charity drive to the betterment of relations with Africa. (Tha's what it said.)

Named African schools and unnamed African students are to receive the donation which is supposed to relieve the "white man's burden" and save Africa from communism.

Though no action has been taken yet, the Thresher sharpened up its blades and cut a mean swath through the council.

The Skiff has an extra oar to offer the Thresher, slightly splintered but well notched by congressmen's heads.

U. OF HOUSTON —

Foundation for the first permanent building for the Fiesta lot has been laid. With a capacity of 500, this is an experimental project with the possibility of future development. The annual Fiesta presented by the Houston students is an enlarged version of our Ranch Week.

If Houston adds other prefabs to the Fiesta area, TCU might offer Splinter Village for consideration. Just a thought. (Take the Journalism building first.)

BAYLOR —

Two students caught selling "hot" textbooks were advised by Baylor officials to omit the usual registration procedure for the spring term.

Students selling used books to the book store must leave their names in event the text has been pilfered. Trouble arose when a student bought another book to replace one which was stolen and discovered it was his long lost edition.

Wonder if the burglar alarm really works at the room in which the Lewis collection is stored??

ARKANSAS —

Notice lifted from the Traveler: "Members of the Ozark hikers club will meet behind Old Main before 1:45 p.m. Sunday for a trip to White river valley. Wear old clothes and heavy-soled shoes for hiking. Bring auto transportation if possible." Looks like the hikers done got smart.

TEXAS —

One of the last strongholds of the American male fell with the announcement that Norma Wills, a pert little senior at Texas, has been hired as sports editor of the Denison Herald.

Miss Wills has written sports copy for the Texan since 1953 and does a pretty fair job with the sports jargon.

But oh, those dressing room stories!

A&M —

Reports filtered back that the Battalion reads us. Don't let Willie hear that!

Cadet Slouch must be feeling pretty low after learning of the missing milk at Aggie land. Seems up to 10 cases of milk bottles have disappeared in one night. The cause is attributed to milk-hungry Aggies.

Dear Editor:

For some time I have had in mind writing to congratulate you on the excellent job of factual reporting which has been the record of the Skiff to date this year. The current quality of the issues of the Skiff is very exceptional. When the factors are weighed as to the unusually fine spirit which permeates our campus, surely The Skiff must be given its share of the credit.

Least there be any misimpression, I would like to clarify one or two points in connection with the article in last week's issue, "Greeks To Occupy New Dormitories." The fact that I am doing this is not to be interpreted as any criticism of the article, as it was a very fair report of the meeting which was held with the fraternity and sorority representatives. Rather, it is a recognition of the fact that in that meeting our concern was with fraternity and sorority housing with the result that our total policy may not have been clearly set forth at that time.

The two points of clarification are as follows:

(1) While the two proposed new dormitories are expected to have sections for fraternity and sorority groups, it is not expected that fraternity and sorority members will exhaust the facilities. In other words, these dormitories are being planned for non-fraternity as well as fraternity members.

(2) With regard to the statement that, "Residents of the new dormitories would probably not be under the compulsory boarding plan since present serving facilities are taxed to the maximum," it should be clear that whatever boarding policy applies to the residents of one dormitory will apply to all. In answer to a question asked in the meeting, I expressed what is only my personal opinion, that is, that when the new dormitories are erected either we will have to provide additional dining facilities, or abandon any required boarding program.

The fundamental administrative policy is that all rules and regulations will apply equally to fraternity and non-fraternity members.

Ranch Week Commemorates Settling of Wild West

By BOB CLEMMER

In the midst of Ranch Week, let's pause and consider what this celebration is all about. Many years ago our forebears came West and started cattle ranches, reared families and built towns — like Fort Worth. These stalwart sons of the West hewed an empire out of sage-covered prairies. They lived and died to give us the kind of life we enjoy today.

"Texas was fine for men and dogs," an old saying went, "but hell on women and horses." For this reason we celebrate Ranch Week.

Just think of those poor women and horses.

No movie characters were the men. They were tough, bearded, hard-drinking, hard-fighting, hard-headed hombres. They wore guns, chaps, spurs, high-heel boots, walrus mustaches and the same clothing for months without changing.

We pay tribute to those valiant women who had to live with men of this type; to arise at dawn and prepare sourdough biscuits and pork rinds for breakfast; and to patch up bullet holes and darn socks.

At intermittent social events, the women had to dance with guns and boots thudding all over the place, and then kiss that tobacco-stained, sasparilla-soaked mouthful of shredded wheat goodnight.

The horses, like the men, were no movie characters. They were thin, rangy, tough; thin because all they had to eat was sage-brush and alder stubs; rangy because somebody was always betting somebody that his hoss was faster'n his'n; tough because of them spurs.

We pay tribute to those valiant horses who had to rise at dawn and run 100 miles, carrying a 200-pound man as well as 25 pounds of six-shooters, rifle and ammunition; a 75-pound oak-forked, silver-mounted, Mexican horned, genuine leather saddle, with trailing tapadera; two cockle-burrs and a wrinkle in the blanket.

In addition, there were two 16-pound saddle-bags behind, rattlesnakes and rocks below, that un-washed character above, a 10 gallon hat above him, and them spurs on all sides. The dog walked in the shadow opposite the sun.

So, in our brief pause, let us remember those who suffered so that we might again have tough, bearded, un-washed hombres once a year.

Git along little dogie, whoopee-ti-yi-yo, soo-ee, hyah-hyah, hoop-la—and all the other things that cowboys say (deletion of four-letter words, of course) it's Ranch Week Again!

Time to fire up a tumbleweed, tune your chaparral, wrangle a mesquite or two, pull up a maverick and set a spell, then press along to the big corral (latter event for journalism majors only.)

Ranch Week—a three day period in which dignity and decorum are cast aside for a barbaristic pseudo-emulation of Western American attire, customs, practices, and thought trends—but jolly fun!

Last year's rainfall deluge forced the Ranch Week revelers to retreat underground (literally in some cases), and propagated a mass exodus to West Berry.

The subsequent actions of the cowpunchies upon their return to the campus from the Berry Street range caused furrows of consternation to form on the brows of members of the administration. Therefore, Ranch Week this year is "on probation", i. e., all activities are being observed with a less-than-tolerant and somewhat piercing eye.

Revelers are cautioned to keep Redeye* to a minimum and to refrain from shooting up the town and frightening the women and children. Else, Roy Richardson and his horse, "Bolt and Receiver Group", will loom on the horizon, mop up the place, and convert Ranch Week into National Daisy Day, or something akin, which would be a terrible thing to do to the daisy.

But all this is not meant to cast aspersions upon that fine tradition known as Ranch Week. It's wonderful if you're a horse or Phil Livingston.

However, there are several excellent reasons why the event should be applauded and continued: the exceedingly tight riding trousers worn by young ladies on campus; the sharply-tailored western shirts adorning the torsos of the young ladies; and finally, the young ladies stuffed inside this western regalia.

So, saddle up our Colt .45, turn its head to the west, and with our trusty hacienda at our side, we'll ride into the heart of the sunset, full of the Spirit of the Old West, and we promise to go straight to our room and go to bed.

In keeping with the Ranch Week theme, we've picked our all-American rodeo team:

- Bull-throwing—Bruce Neal
- Ribbon-racing—Aubrey Owen
- Hog-tying—Miss Sarah Slay
- Hog-Calling—O'Day Williams
- Barrel racing—Hardy George
- Bulldogging—Dave Brown
- Calf-roping—the student body.

For the last couple of weeks the Tri Deltas have been rehearsing in the SC Ballroom for their Ranch Week booth, "Annie Get Your Gun."

This rehearsing involved shorts, t-shirts, high kicks, lots of girls, and was consequently well attended by any males who chanced to know what was going on.

Jerry Mallory, chided for attending practically every rehearsal and leering evilly from his steel-gray eyes, attempted to explain his presence.

With a glance at Duskey Soddors, performing in the chorus line, he retorted, "Why shouldn't I be here, I've got some stock in the show."

Prompted by an advanced English course we are taking, we have composed the following poem, entitled "I'll Stand and Stroke His Shining Hair":

30 days hath September,
A girl soon, and Remember,
All the rest have one and twenty,
And this of course, is much too many.

Basic theme of poem: Why Casey Stengel won't win the pennant this year—too old.

Globe-Trotter Marion Arrives in Casablanca

The Skiff's globe-trotting correspondent, Robert Marion, sends word that he has arrived in Casablanca, scene of recent nationalist-inspired rumbles.

"There are Legionnaires and a Berber guards all over the place," he said. "A French colonial settlement about 40 miles from here was wiped out recently."

Marion, a former Skiff staff member, left for Africa last month to visit his father and "to get away from it for awhile." He made the trip on a cargo liner, but was disappointed in the journey.

"Too cold to sit on deck in my deck chair," he explained. Robbie had served in the Navy, so was looking forward to relaxing aboard ship.

"The streets here are deserted by nightfall," he said of Casablanca. "Doors are locked and shutters closed."

"Several theaters have been bombed in recent months, but everything is all right now. A soldier is placed at the door during each performance and no one is allowed to leave until it is over.

"I live across the street from a cafe that was bombed three weeks ago. Thirteen persons were killed."

The adventure-loving student, who became bored with the dull life of school, had one request of The Skiff.

"Please let me know when the fall semester begins," he begged. "In fact, you might also let me know about summer school. I might be able to make it."

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 3

Today, ranging again into the fascinating world of social science, let us take up the subject of anthropology — the study of man and his origins.

The origin of man was indeed a vexing question until the Frenchman, Jean-Louis Sigafoos, discovered the skull and shinbone of Pithecanthropus Erectus in Java in 1891. (What Sigafoos was doing in Java is, incidentally, quite an odd little story. Sigafoos was a Parisian born and bred. By day one could always find him at a boulevard cafe, sipping Biere de Racine and ogling the girls; each night he went to a fashionable casino where he gambled heavily at roulette and jacks; in between times he worked on his stamp collection.

... the study of man and his Origins...

(Well sir, one summer Sigafoos lost his entire fortune gambling at the casino, and he was seriously contemplating suicide when a ray of hope appeared in an unexpected quarter. It seems that Sigafoos, through the international stamp collectors journal, had long been in correspondence with a girl in Java, a mission-educated savage named Lotus Petal McGinnis, herself an enthusiastic stamp collector. The nature of their correspondence, though friendly, had been entirely philatelic. Now, suddenly, a new kind of letter came from Lotus Petal. She declared that although she had never laid eyes on Sigafoos, she loved him and wanted to marry him. She said she was eighteen years old, beautiful, and her father, the richest man in his tribe, would give half his fortune to the husband of her choice. Sigafoos, in his reduced circumstances, had no alternative; he sold his last few belongings and booked passage for Java.

The first sight of his prospective bride failed to delight Sigafoos. She was, as she said, beautiful—but only by local standards. Sigafoos had serious doubts that her bright red pointed teeth and the chicken bones hanging from her ear lobes would be considered chic along the Champs Elysées.

(But sobering as was the sight of Lotus Petal, Sigafoos had an even greater disappointment coming when he met her father. The old gentleman was, as Lotus Petal had represented, the richest man in his tribe, but, unfortunately, the medium of exchange in his tribe was prune pits.

(Sigafoos took one look at the mound of prune pits which was his dowry, gnashed his teeth, and stomped off into the jungle, swearing vilely and kicking at sticks and stones and whatever else lay in his path. Stomping thus, swearing thus, kicking thus, Sigafoos kicked over a heap of old bones which—what do you know!—turned out to be the skull and shin of Pithecanthropus Erectus.)

But I digress... From the brutish Pithecanthropus, man evolved slowly upward, growing more intelligent and resourceful. By the Middle Paleolithic period man had invented the bow, which was a remarkable technical achievement, but frankly not terribly useful until the Mesolithic period when man invented the dog.

In the Neolithic period came far and away the most important development in the history of mankind—the discovery of agriculture. Why is this so important, you ask? Because, good friends, without agriculture there would be no tobacco, and without tobacco there would be no Philip Morris, and without Philip Morris you would be without the gentlest, mildest, sunniest, pleasantest, happiest smoke that money can buy, and I would be without a job.

©Max Shulman, 1956

To their Neolithic ancestors, the makers of Philip Morris extend grateful salute. And so will you when you try today's new gentle Philip Morris in today's new pack of red, white and gold.

2 Teachers Give Talks At Church

Dr. Noel Keith and Dr. Ambrose Edens, are conducting a series of five classes at the University Christian Church each Thursday night.

Dr. Keith, religion chairman, will lecture to the adult class on "Expansion of the Church from 50 A. D. to 150 A. D." The subject of Dr. Edens, assistant professor of religion, will be the Old Testament from Jeremiah to Jesus."

TCU students may enroll in the adult classes or in the series especially for young people, "Thought and Doctrine of the Disciples of Christ."

Approximately 80 to 100 persons are enrolled in each of the adult classes, Dr. Keith reports. The classes follow the Family Night dinners in Fellowship Hall.

Korean Veterans to Sign Monthly Forms Tuesday

Veterans enrolled under the Korean Bill, Public Law 550, may sign their monthly certification of training form beginning Tuesday, reminds Dean Thomas F. Richardson.

The forms may be signed in the Dean of Students' Office, Room 107 of the Administration Bldg., and must be completed by the end of the month.

The forms are filled out each month and sent to the Veterans' Administration Office, so that the veteran may receive the education and training allowance.

Charles Graham, Ex, To Study in Lima, Peru

Charles Graham, B.A. '55, will begin graduate study in international affairs next month at the University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru.

Graham received a Rotary International Fellowship last spring for advanced work at the South American university.

For the past six months, he has been attending graduate school at George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Glenn Pike and Jeep Undertake Many 'Behind the Scene' Jobs

Glenn Pike and his jeep will be hard at work again this weekend.

Glenn, Odessa sophomore and Vigilante member, is in charge of lighting at tonight's Ranch Week carnival. It's a job that won't gain him much recognition.

But Glenn's used to staying in the background. He's been mighty quiet about his accomplishments at TCU the past year.

Take last fall's Homecoming bonfire for instance. Glenn supervised gathering of material and construction of the "big burn."

But if you'd counted on Glenn to tell you he was boss, chances are you wouldn't have heard a word.

"I don't think I'm doing so much," he'll tell you. "Heck, if you're interested in something, you don't mind working at it."

Glenn was "interested" enough to serve as assistant director of the card section at football games last fall, too. That's a bit of a job in itself, entailing several hours each week of no-pay, no-glory work to set up the tricks.

At the Cotton Bowl game in January, Glenn and Bruce Neal, San Angelo junior and card section director, arrived at the stadium at daybreak to set up the afternoon's stunts.

In his "spare" time Glenn attends classes as a drama major, works backstage at Little Theater productions when he hasn't got a part, and performs as a member of the Grenadiers, Air Force ROTC drill team.

He roams the campus in his jeep, one of the better-known vehicles around the Hill. He'd like to correct one mistake idea about the jeep. "Some folks think it belongs to the Vigs or the maintenance crew," he grins, "but it's mine."

The jeep's mileage was increased enormously during Howdy Week last September. Glenn, who showed up 10 days early to help out with the event, hauled equipment and Howdy Week committee members all over Fort Worth.

And, typically, he kept quiet about it. Glenn Pike's way.

Routt Hits Idolatry And Egotism

The essence of idolatry is idolatry," Glenn C. Routt assistant professor of religious education in Brite College, declared at chapel service Tuesday.

"The idolatrous spirit is egotism," he explained. "A person unconsciously may be worshipping himself.

"A person may realize that he is worshipping the god unto which he fled was work of his own hands," he continued.

Choosing one's God is not enough, Prof. Routt admonished. The choice also must lead to service.

Dr. Robert Boshen, minister of Hemphill Presbyterian Church, will speak at chapel service at 11 a.m. Tuesday. Dr. Boshen has been a frequent speaker at Religious Emphasis Week activities.

Class Work Not Hard, It's the Professors

COOKEVILLE, TENN. — (ACP) — This appeared in the Tennessee Tech Oracle, reprinted by Pageant Magazine. It's called "10 Ways to Get Through College Without Even Trying."

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.
3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true." To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.
4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend - to stay awake.)

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell, if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.
6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask for it.
7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.
9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Con-

Two special campus-wide events are planned for Easter week, Jimmie Ligon, Electra senior and United Religious Council president, announced.

Easter sunrise services will be held at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 27, in the west stands of TCU Amon Carter Stadium.

Dormitory girls will be given special permission to leave dorms early.

Easter convocation will be held at 11 a.m. the same day. The Rev. Bob Jones, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will speak.

Drama Students to Present Dr. Nunn's 'And Gladly Teach'

Drama Students will present an original play, "And Gladly Teach" by Dr. William C. Nunn, Amon Carter Professor of American History, before the Faculty Woman's Club at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Faculty Lounge.

The play will be repeated at 7 p.m. the same day for the Men's Club of University Christian Church.

In the cast are Misses Barbara Jones, Carolyn Falgeau, Maralyn Boysen and Esther Huckabee, and Joe Douglas, Richard Midgett, Jack Beaven and Bob Thomas.

Director is K. L. Miller and stage manager is Miss Jackie Hicks. The production is under the supervision of Dr. Walther R. Volbach, professor of drama and director of theater.

The one-act farce deals with a convention of school teachers in Fort Worth about 1905. This is the premiere of Dr. Nunn's play.

Worth Dalton, coach of the debate team, will open the program for the faculty club with the reading of humorous anecdotes.

Entries by McKie Trotter, assistant professor of art, and James Sterritt, instructor in art, have been accepted for the Houston International Exhibit, an invitational competition among artists of the Gulf Coast states and countries.

The exhibit will be shown in Central and South America for one year.

The Tulsa Little Theater group recently borrowed the nun's habits worn in the Little Theater production of "Port Royal."

The costumes were worn in the Tulsa group's presentation of "Cradle Song." The TCU School of Fine Arts received thanks through the Tulsa newspapers.

S. Walker James, formerly with the TCU drama department, is director of the Tulsa Theater.

"Telerama" will present a program by the TCU department.

Brite Plans Fall Changes

Two new faculty members have been appointed to Brite College of the Bible for next year and a new board member has been elected. Three other staff additions are due announcement soon.

Dr. John W. Stewart, B. D. '49, of Durham, N.C., was named assistant professor of Old Testament at a Brite College board meeting Saturday.

Dr. A. T. DeGroot, now dean of the graduate school, was named distinguished professor of church history.

Dean Elmer Henson hopes to announce the other three staff additions soon.

Dr. William Reed, distinguished professor of Old Testament, will leave TCU to join the faculty of College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky., in September.

The board also adopted a budget of $120,000 for the fiscal year of 1956-57 and elected H. H. Phillips Jr., prominent San Antonio oilman, as a new board member. He is president and director of the Phillips Drilling Co. and the Dunlap Co.

"Mr. Phillips is a distinguished addition to the board," President M. E. Sadler said. "We know he will add much to our work in this important area."

Tentative Plans Made For SC Birthday Party

Tentative plans are being made for the celebration of the Student Center's first birthday, Thursday, April 5, Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director, announced. Some of the proposals for neers and Signal Corps respectively. They will remain on active duty six-months.

Frank Perkins, Fort Worth sophomore, fired a score of 369 in Friday's rifle match with the Fourth Armored Division team. Perkins took top honors for individual scoring. The final tally gave the Division team 1884 points to TCU's 1803.

The Grenadiers marched in competition with drill teams from ten colleges and universities at the area "H" drill events at Texas A&M on March 9-10.

Schools which competed were SMU, Baylor, Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Texas, East Texas State Teachers College, Oklahoma A&M, Washburn University of Topeka, Kan., Arkansas, North Texas State Teachers College and TCU.

North Texas State won. The 20 members of the Air ROTC team were accompanied by Capt. James B. Head, sponsor of the group.

After February promotions, Army ROTC cadets Edwin E. Churchill and Richard A. Mason, Fort Worth seniors, are first lieutenants. Cadet Sgt. Frank R. Windegger, St. Louis junior, is promoted to second lieutenant.

Cadet Sgts. 1/C. Reid H. Bunger and Noel A. Morrow, Fort Worth juniors, are promoted to cadet sergeant. Seventeen sophomore cadets are now cadet corporal.

TCU's enrollment reached the 1,000 mark in 1923-24 for the first time.

the celebration are: to serve birthday cake to students and to conduct a baby contest with a free dance following.

Miss Youngblood believes a baby contest would interest veterans and their families and Brite College students, with children, who usually do not attend the campus socials.

The Student Center was dedicated on March 28, 1955, but because this date would conflict with the Easter holidays, the observance has been moved up a week.

Several committees are collaborating with Miss Youngblood on the plans.

BY POPULAR DEMAND Miss Patricia Noble, Texas City freshman, is the new Army ROTC sponsor, recently chosen by cadet vote.

He has taught philosophy here since 1947.

"OUCH," says Mack Strange, as he receives inoculation shots from Mrs. Lucille Bunch, right, and Nancy Shifflet, left. Onlookers Reid H. Burger and Jerry Williams, left and right rear, await their fate. The shots are in preparation for summer camp and are being given to forty cadets. The barbed and corkscrew needles are seen through the eyes of the cadets.

Curtis-Roberts Battle Due

Top Field Here Tomorrow for Rec Meet

By JIM BROCK

Bill Curtis, Bobby Morrow, J. W. Mashburn, Eddie Roberts, Eddie Southern, Hollis Gainey . . .

These outstanding 1956 Olympic candidates will compete here tomorrow in the 33rd annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet at Farrington Field.

Around 1,300 athletes will be on hand in the four divisions—university, college, junior college-freshman, and high school. Preliminaries in the mammoth high school field will begin at 1 p.m. today and 9 a.m. tomorrow in the other classes.

Finals, which will be televised for the first time over KFJZ-TV, will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow in all classes.

Curtis, TCU's lean high hurdler from Waurika, Okla., is back after a year's absence. The junior sensation won the 1954 high hurdles title in the Southwest Conference meet and was recognized as one of the finest in the nation.

Last week at the Border Olympics, Bill returned to the clinders and suffered his first defeat in 19 college races. An old high school rival, Roberts, now of Oklahoma A&M, nipped him in the finals as Bill shattered the 10th hurdle to allow the Aggie ace to win by a yard in 14.5.

The two will resume the feud tomorrow and the meet record of 14.1 is in danger as both have equaled the mark in practice. Curtis will enter only the hurdles but Roberts also will try the low hurdles, 220-yard dash and will start the 440-yard relay.

Morrow, the fabulous sprinter from Abilene Christian College, is a sure bet to win the 100-yard dash and 220 in the college division. The husky sophomore won the 100 at the National AAU meet last spring, in 9.5, which beat stars like Rod Richard of the Army and Texas' famed Dean Smith. Bobby has never lost a race in the 100 and has been beaten only once in his life, and that was in the 220.

Mashburn, the strong blond from Oklahoma A&M who is seeking his second trip to the Olympics, is considered the top 440-yard dash man in the country. He also won at the National AAU meet and has done the open quarter in 46.5. He's been timed in 45.9 in anchoring the mile relay.

Southern and Gainey are two of the brightest newcomers ever in the Southwest and the famed duo is the reason why the Texas freshmen are a heavy favorite in the junior college-freshman class.

Southern set a new high school national 440 mark last spring with a torrid 47.2 and on the same afternoon at the state meet, tied the national schoolboy 220 mark of 20.7. The Dallas youngster will pass up both races here but will enter both hurdles and will run legs on the talented mile and sprint relay teams.

Gainey, tabbed as one of the greatest high school football players in Texas history while at Colorado City, passed up the grid sport for track. He's being recognized as one of the finest sprinters in Southwest history and the state 220 and 100 dash champion should topple the meet records. He won the Sugar Bowl Invitational 100-meters in December and has done 9.5 in the 100 and 20.8 in the 220 in practice.

TCU Coach Eddie Weems has entered a 12-man team in the university division.

Frog entries by events are: High hurdles—Curtis; 100—Virgil Miller; 440—Joel Lummus, Jim Watson; 880—Ted Williams, Clarence Culwell; mile—Jerry Hutson, Robert Flores; shot put and discus—Jack Webb, John Mitchell; and broad jump—Miller and Robert Barnum.

Weems, former Frog track captain who is in his first year as head coach, said he may enter sprint and mile relays but was undecided who would make up the teams.

"We did pretty well last week at Laredo but we've got to shoot for first places," said Weems. "Most of these kids are just sophomores but we're liable to surprise someone before the season is over."

Curtis grabbed second highs, Williams was fifth the 880, Hutson took fourth in the mile, and Miller tied fourth in the broad jump the Border Olympics.

Early favorites in tomorrow's meet had Oklahoma A&M, university; ACC, college; Texas freshman, junior college-freshman; and Worth Arlington Heights, high school.

Mural Cage Playoffs Slated Thursday Night

Championship playoffs for both independent and fraternity leagues in intramural basketball will be held Thursday.

The independent game will begin at 7 p.m., and the fraternity tilt is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Phi Delta Theta upset powerful Delta Tau Delta, 40-36, Thursday night to jump back in the running for a shot at the crown.

Two new scoring records were made in the other Thursday night game.

Sigma Chi smothered Kappa Sigma, 74-17, to set the season's highest team scoring mark.

In the same game, Jack (Radar) Rader of Sigma Chi scored 58 points with 28 field goals and only two free throws in the year's top individual scoring effort.

Playing all but five minutes of the runaway contest, Rader outscored the next highest bidder by a cool 50 points.

Wednesday afternoon league action saw Delta Tau Delta down SAE, 52-38, and Phi Delta Theta clipped Sigma Phi Epsilon, 65-52.

Three independent loop teams played Wednesday night. The Hot Rods beat the Blackhaws, 41-30; the Acuna Kids whipped the Independents, 49-33, and the Seminarians I chastised their brothers, the Seminarians II, 48-18.

Miles to Lead Golfers

Eldridge Miles, Fort Worth senior, has been named captain of the 1956 varsity golf team.

Miles was low man in qualifying rounds last week with a 303. Other team members are Larry Smith, Phil Ruldoph and Everett Hull. High winds hampered play.

By JIM BROCK

Final season basket ball statistics released by the Southwest Conference and National Collegiate Athletic Bureau arrived last week, and TCU's Dick O'Neal was among the lead-

O'Neal, the great hook-shot artist whose gifted touch led him to a new national collegiate sophomore scoring record last year, lived up to expectations in the past basket ball chase which saw the Frogs finish with their worst record since the 1948-49 campaign.

The Purple shooters, repeatedly cold from the outside and who had but three veterans from last year's fine group, posted only four victories in 24 games. In 1949, Coach Byron (Buster) Brannon's first year as head mentor, the Christians tasted triumph but five times in 24 outings.

Despite the Frogs' failure to land more often in the victory circle, O'Neal emerged with 593 points in 24 games for a nifty 24.7 average.

That total gave him 13th place in the national and runner-in the Southwest Conference scoring chase. All-America Darrel Floyd of Furman won the national crown with 946 points in 28 contests while Texas' talented Ray Downs won the SWC championship with 625 points in 24. Downs, who, too, is just a junior, picked up 275 of his points on free throws.

Brannon calls O'Neal the finest pivotman he's coached in college and the 6-7 lad is recognized as the greatest all-around player in TCU history.

Dick arrived at TCU in 1953. His freshman year, he poured through 313 points in 11 games for a new Frog and SWC frosh record. As a sophomore, with his dazzling base-line hook paving the way, Dick broke every TCU scoring mark and several SWC records.

The pre-med major racked up 676 points in 24 games to rank fourth in the nation and became the highest sophomore scorer ever in major college history. These 676 points were a new SWC season high, and his 362 in 12 league games broke the old record by 82. He also set the 12-game conference free throw mark of 144 and most free throws attempted, 188.

Thus, after three years, Dick has scored 1,580 points in 59 games. His two-year conference total of 671 in 24 games is a new SWC record. Rice's Gene Schwinger held the old one at 64, but the former Owl great scored those in three seasons. Dick has a 7-point lead and has another year left.

Brannon thinks that O'Neal is set for another great season next year. And, if freshmen like Ronny Stevenson, Derrill Nipert, Ken Brunson, Roy Davis and Kenneth King come through as expected, then look for O'Neal and his favorite weapon—the right hand hook—to make the Frogs a stout title contender.

TCU and area track fans will have the opportunity to see possibly the greatest assemblage of cinder athletes ever gathered here at one meet.

This being the Olympic year, with trials for the Australia games slated in June, track has the usual upward boom all over the nation. Some of the United States candidates' will be here tomorrow in the Southwest Recreation Field and Track meet at Farrington Field.

Bobby Morrow, the piston-like runner who won the National AAU 100 last spring in his first year in college, tops the list. The Abilene Christian College jet hasn't lost a 100-yard dash since May 2, 1953, and is undefeated in his past 38 races, which include the 100 and 220. Through the years, Bobby's progress in the 100 has read like this: Age 14—11.1; Age 15—9.5; Age 16—10.2; Age 17—9.8; Age 18—9.6; and Age 19 (last year)—9.4 and 9.1.

That 9.4, which is a tenth of second off the world's record, was unrepeated during his AAU tour overseas and was without aid of the wind. The sizzling 9.1 was recorded in the NAIA finals at Abilene last June but would not be recognized as a world's record because of a 7-mph wind. The 9.1 is the second ever turned in by an American sprinter. Mel Patton, now co-holder of the present 9.3 mark, ran one in May, 1949 but he, too, had too much wind aid.

Morrow, who hails from San Benito and was a high school teammate of the Frogs' fullback, Vernon Hallbeck, has won 66 of 82 races during his career.

If the South Texas flash continues his phenomenal pace, he's a sure bet for the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Australia, and could bring back the 100-meters title for the U. S.

Besides Morrow, Purple fans here will see other top Olympic prospects such as TCU's Bill Curtis, Oklahoma A&M's J. W. Ashburn and Eddie Roberts and Eddie Southern and Hollis Gaine of the University of Texas freshmen.

Southern and Gaine ran their first race together last week at College Station and along team with Baytown's Wally Wilson and Houston's Bobby Stilwell sped to a new national freshman 440-yard relay mark of 41.1. That's just three-tenths of a second off the varsity conference record.

Reports from Austin say that the trio at Southern, Gaine and Wilson, along with Dallas' Brooks Patrick will shoot for the national mile relay record here tomorrow. It's said they can do a 3:15 which would snap the present record of 3:15.4 set by the UCLA frosh last year.

Know what the best time in the nation by a collegiate mile relay team has been this year? It's 3:15 set by Oklahoma A&M, who'll also be here tomorrow.

It looks like Texas will reign supreme in national collegiate track circles before Southern and Gaine finish their careers.

Phi Deltas Win Over Deltas for League Tie

Phi Delta Theta edged past the Phi Delt's, with their previously unbeaten Delta Tau Delta 42-39 Wednesday afternoon league basketball play.

Wogs Enter Local Meet Tomorrow

Coach Don Ross has announced 16 Wog entries in the junior college-freshmen division of the annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet at Farrington Field tomorrow.

The first-year Purples, who look strong in the field events and 880-yard run, will be a top threat to Texas for the team title.

"I don't know whether we can stay with Texas in the running events but we could get lots of points in the field," said Ross.

The Wog team will be headed by weightman Jon Cantrell, high jumper Johnny Hill and half-miler James Livergood.

Cantrell, a big, strong lad from Pampa, is a definite threat to the meet's shot put record of 49 feet, 1/2 inch. The 205-pounder, who won nine of 10 meets last year, has tossed the lead ball 49 feet in practice.

Hill, the fine basketball player from Corpus Christi, was recognized as the finest high jumper among Texas school-boys last year. He, too, won nine of 10 meets and had a leap of 6-4 1/2 in winning the Texas Relays. The record in tomorrow's meet is 6-4 1/4.

Livergood, who hails from Kingsville, has been looking good in practice. He's one of the top grabs by Ross among the newcomers.

Ross also thinks that Allan Laurence, in the pole vault, and Elton Couch in the broad jump, may be among the top finishers in those events.

Other events which the Wogs will enter are 440-yard relay — Sutton Allison, Bill Harlin, Couch and Cantrell; mile relay — Allison, Livergood, Joe Douglas and Tom Crum; 100 and 220 — Roch and Harlin; 440 — George Vitek and Ken Brunson; 880-Douglas; low hurdles — Don Hubbard; pole vault — Jack Rader; shot put — William Roach; broad jump — John Tyson; and discus — Cantrell.

Prelims in the junior college-freshman division will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow with finals starting at 1 p.m.

The Wogs' next meet will be the Texas Relays, April 6-7, at Austin.

Wog Nine Meets SMU Colts in Dallas

With two straight victories on its record, the TCU Wog baseball team faces SMU's freshman forces at 2:30 p.m. today at Armstrong Field in Dallas.

Coach Carl Eddie Rose's minions tripped Paschal twice, 7-5 and 9-8, last week in their opening pair of tilts.

Starting for the Wogs against the Colts probably will be catcher Hunter Enis, first baseman Bill Switzer, Phillip Crow or Joe Adams at second, Mike McKeogh at shortstop, Dale Casey at third, Joe Dale Selman in left field, I. B. Childs in center and Randy Reynolds in right.

Rose has not named a starting pitcher for the contest. He may go with Dave Andrews, Derald Keetch, Rode Gonzales, Kenneth Brunson or Roger Shutt.

Rose, Waco senior, calls his team a "bunch of hustlers."

"They even take it on themselves to stay out after regular workouts for extra practice," he said.

Shutt was the winning hurler in the 7-5 verdict over Paschal in the first of last week's two encounters.

Selman homered with two on and two out in the bottom of the ninth to give the Wogs a victory in the second battle

Frogs, OU Play Monday

-- By JIM HENDRICKS --
Owning only a single victory against three losses in their practice baseball slate the TCU Horned Frogs collide with Oklahoma at 2:30 p.m. Monday on the Frog diamond.

Bob McDaniel, senior letterman who holds the only Frog triumph to date, probably will get the call from Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer to open on the mound against the Sooners. McDaniel was due to pitch yesterday's game against Baylor.

The rest of the Purple lineup will include Larry Roseborough or Harold Key at catcher, Travis Groom at first base, Charles Quick at second, Al Paschal at shortstop, Jim Shofner at third, and Carl Warwick, Jack Freeman and Bob White in center, left and right fields.

McDaniel faced only 30 batters last Saturday as he pitched a two-hit, 5-0 conquest of Texas Lutheran College at Seguin.

"Bob's coming along fine," Meyer commented. "I don't believe I've seen too many games any better than his Saturday."

Last Friday, the Lutherans blanked TCU, 6-0, in the first encounter of the two-game slate. It was the Christians' third straight loss of the campaign.

A scheduled battle with Baylor Tuesday at Waco was cancelled because of bad weather. Meyer said the contest probably will be re-scheduled later this month.

Fielding, a noticeably weak factor in the Frogs' early play, is gradually improving, Meyer noted.

Hitting, with Roseborough leading at .571, is strong, the Frog mentor observed, adding that most of the team seems to be connecting with regularity.

Shofner, a 1955 Wog product who took over at third base this year as a sophomore, drew a note of praise from Meyer.

"Jimmy's been hitting the ball solidly," he said, "but everything he hits seems to go right into the hands of the opposition."

The Christians open conference activity March 24 here with Baylor.

Summing up 'his squad's prospects in the coming family conflict, Meyer was part-optimistic, part-pessimistic.

"I don't believe we're strong enough overall to win the championship," he said, "but we're gonna give some teams a lot of trouble."

Bennett Williams, sophomore transfer from SMU who was slated for an outfield berth, has been declared ineligible because of insufficient number of cumulative hours.

Prognosticating Professor

Talbert's Figures Arouse Interest

By LINDA LEWIS

The most recent figures of TCU's prognosticating professor have aroused considerable interest in Fort Worth.

A specialist in the field of predicting population increases, Dr. Robert H. Talbert may figure prominently in discussion of plans for a greater Fort Worth.

Since 1952, the Sociology professor has been making annual forecasts of the anticipated increase in the city's population, but this year's report has gained special notice.

Its release coincided with the announcement of Victor Gruen's plan for a "City of Tomorrow," making downtown Fort Worth into a car-free shopping center.

Dr. Talbert's report and the Gruen plan were completely independent of each other.

"They just happened to be finished at the same time," he said.

He predicts mathematically that by 1960 Fort Worth's population will exceed 400,000. The present estimated population is 357,360.

A realization of possible crowded conditions in the city in five years emphasizes the need for future planning.

Dr. Talbert believes the Gruen plan shows "foresight and insight."

"It will make people realize they have to plan for the future or face the consequences," he predicts.

He prepares the reports with information from a yearly census, taken by the Fort Worth schools. The population is computed according to census tracts, of which there are 48 in the city.

"I couldn't have done it without the school people," he modestly admits. Dr. Talbert, however, analyzes reports and determines the expected increase by percentages.

By using the method of census tracts instead of a figure for the entire city, Dr. Talbert was able to estimate the growth of smaller areas of the city.

"Areas in the center are decreasing, while the outer edge is increasing," he reports.

The tract including TCU has increased only four per cent in the past six years, Dr. Talbert calculates.

Seventy per cent of the students enrolled for the spring semester are from Fort Worth and Tarrant County.

done a good deal to remedy the situation.

"Publicity in The Skiff helped," he added.

"We're all at fault," Coleman said. "Congress has been getting sloppy and lousy in the last month. This is a good warning to the wise."

He added that Congress members were setting a precedent and should be looking to the future instead of the past.

Miss Maurine Denman, freshman class representative, complained that there was no definite time to turn in excuses.

An addition to the by-laws, proposed by Joe Latham, Student Association vice president, stating that early departures from Congress meetings be classified as an absence, was defeated.

The same motion, restated by Richard Haggard, School of Business representative, but providing that each early departure count as one-half an absence, passed 24-1.

Another by-law amendment, also proposed by Haggard, providing that excuses be turned in within one week of an absence, also passed 23-0.

John Clark, Arts and Sciences representative, moved that a committee be appointed to investigate the possibility of having a permanent meeting time for Congress established. It passed unanimously.

Miss Lucille Sneed, Harris College representative, resigned, stating that her class schedule prevented her from attending meetings. Owen appointed Miss Jean Felkel, Fort Worth junior, to succeed her and Congress approved unanimously.

Congress also approved the appointment of Ronnie Laughbaum, Fort Worth senior, as alternate for Carl Rose, senior class president.

Photogenic Girl To Be Chosen By Cameramen

Fort Worth and Dallas news photographers are searching for the prettiest girl to represent them at the National Press Photographers' Association convention April 1-3 in Chandler, Ariz.

Members of the local group will choose Miss Dallas-Fort Worth News Photographer on March 25. The winner will be flown to the national convention to compete with candidates from other associations for the title of Miss National Press Photographer.

Various gifts from area merchants will be presented to the local queen. The national winner will receive an array of prizes ranging from modeling assignments to a tour of movie studios. Auditions also will be arranged before talent executives and directors.

Entrants must be from 18-25 years of age and single. Application blanks can be obtained from George Smith, photo department, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, or at the Journalism Building.

Ranch Week Dance

In the beard shaving event, prizes will go to the man who gets the first clean shave and to the girl who shaves him.

Dr. Larry Seldom of John Peter Smith Hospital will be standing by just in case some cowgirl makes a slip with a sharp razor, Stephens said.

The TCU Chamber of Commerce will furnish towels and plenty of hot water.

Contestants must furnish their own razors and lather.

Stephens said it doesn't matter what kind of shaving instrument the contestant uses. "He can use an electric, straight edge or safety razor, sheep shears or even scissors, just so he can get a clean, smooth shave," he declared.

A door prize will be given to the person holding the lucky ticket number. To be eligible, the holder must have bought the ticket in advance.

Tickets are on sale in the Student Center at 75 cents a person.

The audience will nominate, and then judge, by applause, the best western-dressed couple at the dance.

Winners of the morning contests will be announced and presented with prizes.

Allen Mount, Fort Worth senior, will emcee the program and present the awards. Mount also will present Queen Martha (Tennessee) Evans and Foreman James McDonough.

The queen and foreman will be presented at the Ranch Week Revue last night.

Local merchants are supplying western wearing apparel for the Ranch Week prizes.

The dance committee for the TCU Chamber of Commerce which planned the dance, headed by Del Chapman, Arlington junior, Bob Martin, Fort Worth junior, is public chairman.
