15 Win Congress Positions

Cooper Downs Salley For Senior President

A vote of probable record proportions for fall runoff elections at TCU placed 15 new members on the rolls of Student Congress Tuesday and Wednesday.

Three class presidents and 12 class representatives were chosen in races which brought about 760 voters to the polls, Bob Randolph, elections committee chairman, reported.

Jim Cooper defeated Everett Salley, 43-28, to become senior class president. Salley remains on Congress as School of Business representative.

Gary Gafford won the junior class president's race by a lower class representatives in single ballot, 48-47, over Ronnie Coleman.

Six candidates were chosen

Runners-up were Misses Sammye Jo Fuller, 236; and Jackey Lumpkin, 186; and Bill McClure, 214; Ted Lange, 219; and Sutton Allison, 213.

Selected as sophomore class representatives were Miss Marihelen Miller, 119; Billy Harlin, 96; and Joel Hurley, 94.

Runners-up were Miss Maureen Denman, 77; John Vy, 89; and Len Williams, 87.

New freshman class representatives include Miss Sylvia Oliphant, 184; Hershel Payne, 165; and Jimmy Davis, 179.

Runners-up include Misses Carolyn Swearingen, 158; Ann Harbison, 149; and Dixie Curtis, 124.

About 20 votes were thrown out because of illegal voting, Randolph said.

The runoff vote was about 50 fewer than the primary vote total of 809.

All new members of Congress must attend the weekly meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Joe Latham, Student Association president, said.

Dr. Karl Snyder, professor of English, was co-chairman of the program. Mrs. Mary Fisher, assistant professor of English, led discussion dealing with problems encountered on the college level.

Discussions were centered around instruction problems in all phases of language and literature, with special reference to handling of substandard and superior students.

GUESS WHO FORGOT?—The Skiff could use other methods to remind freshmen that they have only one day left to pose for yearbook photos at Orgain's Studio, 705 1/2 Main. But we'd rather let Miss Nancy Hensler, Baytown freshman, put across the idea in a prettier fashion. By the way, she admitted blushing that she'd forgotten, too.

Congress Allocated $7,500; Budget for 1956-57 Approved

Student Congress adopted a $7,500 budget Tuesday for the 1956-57 school year, an increase of $1,300 over last year's budget.

Money for the Student Association Treasury is obtained each semester from students rolling for at least nine semester hours. Each person pays a $1.25 Congress fee.

The increase in this year's budget was made possible by a large increase in registration. Enrollment jumped unexpectedly by approximately 30 per cent. Twenty per cent, or $1,500, of the receipts goes into a permanent improvement fund. It can be spent only for items that can be used by succeeding classes.

The remaining $6,000 was allotted this way:

Administrative salaries	765
Student President	225
Secretary	180
Activities Council Director	180
Treasurer	180
Office Supplies	100
Activities Council	2750
Forums	250
Student-Faculty Relations	100

Activities Council Director Dale Edmonds told the legislators his group probably would not use all the money it asked for.

Five Students To Be Chosen For Court

Five Student Court justices will be chosen Tuesday by Congress from 10 persons recommended by Student Association President Joe Latham.

The constitution calls for selection of the justice not later than the second meeting of Congress in the fall. Latham said delay was necessary because he has been unable to get grade point averages on the persons he is considering.

Parents to Be Guests Of University Oct. 27

Letters will be sent to parents of all TCU students inviting them to be the University's guests at the second annual Parents Day Oct. 27.

A full schedule of events will entertain parents prior to the 8 p.m. kickoff of the Miami game.

Students may buy regular-priced tickets Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of that week for their parents in the student section.

Buildings will be open most of the day for students to tour the campus with their parents. Parents can meet teachers at a presidential reception at 10:30 a.m.

All campus organizations have been invited to hold luncheons honoring parents.

Sorority and independent women will race on tricycles in front of the Student Center in the afternoon. About 12 large tricycles have been ordered by the competing teams.

Dormitories will be open to parents at 3:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served in the women's dormitories.

Job Shelton Knows His Football, Wins Skiff Gridiron Contest

Robert Shelton knew his football last week. At least, he knew it well enough to take home the first weekly Skiff football contest.

Shelton called the winners of seven games correctly and scored 33 total points for the Skiff tilt.

Seventeen others were right on Shelton's heels, though, with a miss each.

Among the one-wrong ranks are Frog halfback Virgil Miller and fullback Hank Crowsey. Miller missed on Rice-LSU; Crowsey called the Texas-West Virginia game incorrectly.

Another TCU griddier, halfback Ken Wineburg, missed both the above battles.

Three entrants, Phil Adams, Wayne Carpenter and Boyd Schlenker, hit the TCU-Arkansas point total of 47 on the button, but they missed one, three and three games, respectively.

130 Teachers Of English Convene Here

Approximately 130 public school and college English teachers attended the fifth district English workshop at the Student Center Saturday.

The group represented 17 cities in the area surrounding Fort Worth and Dallas.

Discussions were centered around instruction problems in all phases of language and literature, with special reference to handling of substandard and superior students.

Rash of Trash Seen

By DALE EDMONDS

The fame of Joe Trash, like cold peanut butter, is spreading rapidly.

Hidden amid the conglomeration of elections posters on the south end of the Ad Building last week was this notice: "Vote for Joe Trash for Upper Class Representative."

Few people seemed to notice, or if they did, overlooked it. However, we were touched (keeping in mind that Joe Trash is a product of our fertile imagination and in no way intended as a pseudonym for the author of this column—heh.)

But, we wander from the point. We were touched. And we would like to thank all the orange-juice-drinkers down at Sam's for their fond remembrance on this occasion.

It got us, right there.

Keeping in mind that Joe Trash is a product of our fertile imagination and in no way intended as a pseudonym for the author of this column—heh—we were overwhelmed upon dewy-eyed emergence from our dormitory room the other morning to find another loving tribute.

In front of our door was a large, green metal container, with our campus pipeline's name, "Trash," stenciled on all four sides.

We laughed indulgently, and since someone was sweet enough to think of us, we decided to accept this token of their esteem (keeping in mind—and all that jazz.)

We dragged the beggar inside, peered quizzically at it for some moments, then decided that it must be a foot locker of some sort.

So, we stored our feet in it, and stumped merrily to class.

Freda Fish is a winsome little creature. She's a fraction over five feet tall, with orange hair, a captivating sneer, and a figure that would shame the ever-popular Mae Busch.

Everyone knows Freda and her fetching little habits, such as sticking her used Juicy Fruit on the head of her bridge partner, or telling every boy she meets that he looks just like Rory Calhoun (of course her tune changes once they're alone.)

One day, during a lull in the bridge game (with Freda it's always a lull: she can't see the spots on the cards but won't wear her glasses because men don't make passes at), the Rory of the moment leaned over and murmured to her, "Whyntcha' run for Student Congress?"

Student Congress: men, she thought. Student Congress: fame, she thought. Men—fame: dates, she thought. Dates: compromising situations, she thought. Compromising situations: marriage, she knew.

"Hoo, boy, where I file?" she bubbled, leaping up from the table and barking Rory's shine as she struggled past him.

Well, the rest is history. Freda was opposed by Sam Steadfast, a freshman government student, here on a scholastic scholarship, whose only qualifications were intelligence, enthusiasm, a serious approach to the task and a fine knowledge of politics and governmental procedure.

Of course, Freda won. There were just too many Rorys.

Student Director Named to Assist With TCU Band

Bill Morgan, Dallas junior, has been chosen as student director of the Horned Frog Band.

The position was started this fall by Band Director Jim Jacobsen.

As student director, Morgan will be in charge of the band in Mr. Jacobsen's absence and assist with formations and planning of field shows as well as directing some rehearsals.

Morgan, who plays saxophone and clarinet, also is band president.

Davey O'Brien Nominated As Ex-Student President

Davey O'Brien, TCU All-American quarterback of the late 1930s, has been nominated as president of the Ex-Students Association.

The election will be at Homecoming Nov. 17.

Other officers nominated by the ex-students' executive board Saturday include:

R. E. Glasgow, B.A. '34, first vice-president; Eugene Cagle, B.A. '33, second vice-president; Mrs. Delores Bryan, B.A. '45, recording secretary, and Everett Shipp, B.A. '28, and Eugene Briscoe, B.A. '24, directors.

Attendance at the second annual club representatives' conference surpassed that of last year, Hartwell Ramsey, director of the Ex-Students Association, said. Approximately 100 delegates attended.

The delegates are considering an annual spring rally at Fort Worth along with simultaneous meetings of alumni club areas.

KTCU to Publicize Campus Meetings

By JANE REDDELL
KTCU, the "radio station with campus appeal," is offering free public service announcements for campus organizations.

Virtually all groups may have their meeting times and non-profit functions publicized by contacting KTCU staff members.

At 1205 on the radio dial, KTCU is piped into the dormitories from 2 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Featuring student disk jockeys, the station takes radio requests at 241.

will feature a new show every month.

For Little Theater admission, married students may purchase $2 season tickets for their husbands or wives by contacting Dr. Volbach in Room 216 of the Fine Arts Building.

Assistant drum major this year is Bill Head, Groesbeck freshman. Bill served as drum major of the ROTC band at Groesbeck High School. He also plays saxophone and clarinet.

Winners in the TCU Band Day parade Saturday were Polytechnic High School, Fort Worth, first place Class A; and Bowie High School, first place Class B.

AF Selects Sponsors; Army Wins Rifle Match

The added glamor of the Clark Hall basement is not entirely due to a fresh coat of paint — the new Air Force ROTC sponsors have helped too.

They are: Group sponsor, Miss Claudette Maersch, Fort Worth junior; Squadron 1, Miss Gayle Meyer, Fort Worth sophomore; Squadron 2, Miss Ann Lampkin, Tulsa, freshman, and Grenadier sponsor, Miss Carol Patella, Baytown freshman.

The Army ROTC rifle team opened its season with a decisive victory over Fort Worth's North Side High School Friday. The TCU team fired a total of 916 points against North Side's 851.

Cadet Sgt. Frank Perkins was individual high scorer in the match, firing 186 points of a possible 200.

The team's first conference match will be against Texas A&M, Oct. 20 at College Station.

The Army ROTC will be visited Thursday by Maj. Joseph H. Eastmead of the G-3 section, headquarters, Fourth Army.

Activities arranged for him include a coffee with the University military committee.

Lt. George R. Murphy, B.A. '54, received his silver navigator's wings at Harlingen Air Force Base recently.

He will receive further special training in radar bombardment and electronics.

Lower Quadrangle Paving to Begin Monday

By FRANK PERKINS
Paving on the lower parking Quadrangle will begin at 8 a.m. Monday L. C. White, business manager, announced.

"Students are asked to refrain from parking in the lower area (the Quadrangle) starting at that time," Mr. White said.

Dr. Laurence C. Smith, acting dean of students, asks that students "please utilize the parking areas immediately below the quadrangle during the paving so as to expedite the work on the area."

"With the Quadrangle paved and parking lanes marked off, more than 200 cars can be parked there," he added.

The step is the first of several planned by the University to ease the parking problem. More than 3,000 registration decals have been issued for campus parking this year.

In view of the situation, the security office and the dean of students are making long-range and immediate plans to relieve congestion.

A full definition of parking and no-parking zones around the Student Center was announced yesterday.

Students may now park on the west side of the street in front of the Student Center, and on the east side where sidewalks do not extend to the street.

These areas on the east will take care of 10 automobiles. Approximately 20 to 25 automobiles can be parked on the west side of the street.

Students cannot park in front of the sidewalks, or on the corners of the street in front of the Student Center.

"This restriction is necessary because of the danger involved when pedestrians are forced to step out into the street between parked cars," Dr. Smith said.

Parking restrictions on the north and south sides of the Student Center and around Jarvis Hall and Clark Hall remain the same. These restrictions are necessary to facilitate the backing, turning and unloading of delivery vehicles.

Another problem is the water tower south of the Student Center. A car parked there interferes with trucks which must maneuver into the area.

In addition, the water tower is filled with treated water for the air-conditioning units. When these units are running, a fine spray falls from the tower onto cars parked there. The water is harmful to auto paint, Dr. Smith pointed out.

Another man has been added to the staff of the security office to check parking violations. He will also patrol the Evening College parking areas and write tickets for violations at that time.

The first ticket is merely a warning.

The second and third tickets carry a fine of $2.

The fourth ticket calls for both a fine and a visit to the dean of students, perhaps ending the student's privilege to park on campus.

The Administration, along with the Security Office has other plans, still in the "talking" stage.

One of these plans, according to Dr. Smith, would provide for assignment of certain parking areas to students, depending on the area where the students have most of their classes.

Another possible cure is the removal of "Splinter Village," and utilization of the area as a parking lot.

"Of course," Dr. Smith said, "these plans are strictly long range, and very definitely only possible remedies. The student himself is responsible for making the parking problem either easier or harder to bear."

"If the student will park his car correctly, leave reserved areas clear, and once parked, leave the car there until time to go home, the problem will be considerably lessened."

Foreign Roster Being Compiled

All foreign students enrolled at TCU are requested to fill out a registration form in the dean of admissions office.

Dean Thomas Richardson points out that this completed form is necessary for the Census of Foreign Students Bureau.

"We are trying to compile a roster of foreign students for the benefit of international fellowships awards and organizations off the campus that desire to entertain these students," said Dr. Richardson.

Dr. Huber to Speak

Dr. Irene Huber, professor of German, will speak to the Dallas Philological Society at 7 p.m. Thursday at the YWCA in Dallas.

The Brown-Lupton Student Center, dedicated in March, 1955, cost approximately $1,200,000.

Editorial Comment

One section of Student Congress' by-laws, as proved by an occurrence in the recent elections, could be as dangerous as a polecat in a powder room.

A student elected last spring as a school representative sought the presidency of one of the classes in last week's race. The outcome of the latter election is irrelevant, for the important point is that he was right, in Congress' eyes, for seeking this second position.

By-Law Needs Quick Change

This student did not have to resign his representative post, because by-law no. 6, supplementing Article III of the Student Association Constitution states:

"No individual shall hold more than one voting position at a time in the Congress. If a member of Congress wishes to seek election to a position in the Congress other than the one he holds, he may do so, but must resign one of the positions if he is elected."

In other words, a Congress member elected during the spring could campaign for an office during the fall election without resigning his first position, and would be assured of a congressional post even if he lost the latter election.

Considering that even the president is covered by this by-law, the danger is apparent. It would be possible for the top officers elected in the spring, with their proved voting appeal, to monopolize the fall elections, and possibly to control the appointments to fill the vacancies which their resignations would create.

Immediate revision is needed.

The wording of the by-law could be altered to read: "If a member of Congress wishes to seek election to a position in the Congress other than the one he holds, he may do so, but must first resign the position which he holds at the moment."

New 'Hunk of Iron?'

Reposing in the trophy case in the Student Center is what a rival Southwest Conference newspaper once deprecatingly termed "a hunk of iron."

Most folks around here know it as the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Trophy, which now has a permanent place on the Frog campus.

Last year many persons on the Hill got rather wrought-up at what was said about "our trophy". It was ours by virtue of three consecutive victories, they reasoned, and nobody else should make nasty cracks about it.

What's more, they vowed, we're gonna win the thing again next year.

Well, it's "next year" now, and the time has come to see if our words of last year were spoken in haste, or if we really meant them.

The Skiff has provided the conference with a new "hunk of iron" and it's specially designed to look good on the trophy case beside its now-retired predecessor.

No Signs Point to TCU

Could a weary philanthropist, newly-arrived in Fort Worth with a pocketful of endowment money, find his way to TCU?

It's somewhat doubtful, since there are no signs to direct a perplexed visitor or newly-arriving student to the campus.

Several times in the past Student Congress has toyed with the idea of erecting some sort of signs pointing to TCU, but so far nothing has been done.

The only clue that Fort Worth gives to the whereabouts of its University is a sign directing motorists to University Drive from the East-West Freeway—but no mention of TCU.

With signs guiding persons to the Army and Air Force reserve centers and the like, it seems feasible that TCU might also receive attention.

A cooperative project between the City and the University appears to be the solution to TCU's "incognito problem."

Standing Room Lonely

One of the few places around the TCU campus where a person didn't have to stand in line this semester was at the formal convocation Oct. 4.

But those who did attend were shocked into the realization that student fees may be on an increase throughout the nation's campuses.

An estimated 700 students and faculty members heard Dr. Wilson Compton, president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, warn that private colleges, and, to some extent, tax-supported institutions are using emergency methods in financing.

And he hit the student right where it hurts most—in the pocketbook—by telling him, "A general increase in student fees may be the most practical, and perhaps the only way to lift the college out of the financial treadmill."

It seems that students could benefit greatly from this and other such speakers, and should welcome an opportunity to attend convocation.

Attitude on Altitude

By JIM HENDRICKS

Maybe this business belongs further back in the paper, say, on the sports pages. But, being at heart a diehard member of the happy-go-broke sportswriting clan, we shall offer this week a dissertation on second decks and lavish press boxes, specifically those located at the immediate west flank of the TCU campus.

We were privileged Saturday to be among those of the loud tie-and-witty repartee fraternity who witnessed the Frogs' utter dismembering of Arkansas from the triple-layer press area atop Amon Carter Stadium.

The view from this nosebleed-provoking altitude is somewhat extraordinary, to say the least. Frequently, one is overcome by the feeling that he is looking down from the peak of the Matterhorn upon two tribes of very small ants engaged in mortal combat in Death Valley.

Folks just below, in the second deck seats, seemed to be enjoying themselves, too, though we must admit we missed getting any personal interviews with the first-timers in the virgin second tier.

But, for the upper-tier fan with any measure of decent visual ability whatsoever, the panorama spread before him, both of the playing field and the long-range view of the Fort Worth skyline, must have been slightly awe-inspiring.

The steep angle of the upper level makes just about any seat as good as any other. If there is any one spot in the new addition which overshadows the rest, it is the front lip of the tier, where the option seats are located.

The main problem for the deck spectator who holds a ticket above the portals is the climb up a sharp incline which brings on a combined feeling of breath-stealing fatigue and fear that, at any moment, one may stumble, fall backwards and pitch head-first down on the playing field.

This is only imagination (we think), and once the feeling is conquered, the upper tier should become one of the most popular seating areas in the entire stadium.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In the "Sounding Board" under the title "The South's New Scar" you made several statements concerning what you call the "integration question" with which I cannot agree. In a letter of reasonable length I could not do justice to the side of the racial question which I feel is the only just side — total equality for every citizen. I wish, therefore, to take issue with the last section in which you attempt to relate our actions on this issue to our international reputation.

Are you asking that one segment of our population give up its rights to "human liberty and equality" in order that we may pose falsely as the "bastion of human liberty and equality?" Such a course would be the height of hypocrisy.

Your statement should have read: "Whether the South is integrated is one of the main points on which our national integrity will be judged." How can we call ourselves "the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave" when, in certain parts of our nation, a man is denied the right to vote because of the color of his skin? Unless we can truly present ourselves as a land where "all men are created equal," all of the shouting about the "American Way of Life" will not make much impression on the rest of the world.

The performance we give concerning our underprivileged minority groups may mean the difference between a world which will turn toward true freedom or pseudo-Communism.

There is but one moral course — and in order to right our past misdeeds, we have no choice but to take it.

Sincerely yours,

Arol Sumner Riddle

SW Campus Confidential

By LANTZ FERIS

SMU—

"About the most crooked thing on the SMU campus . . . disgraceful conduct . . . underhanded system."

These were the terms used by the associate editor of the Campus to describe fraternities' rush at SMU.

In a recent article, charges that one fraternity (unnamed) treated five rushers to a few post-rush party beers until midnight.

The associate editor calls the IFC's "no contact" rule ridiculous and blames that organization for "the disgrace of the recent rush."

He added that "the only way to win under SMU's rush law is to be as crooked as the rest of the guys."

RICE—

The boys from the inside have their own "rush" troubles, it seems.

It's what they call "Bums' Rush," an annual dance given by an organization called the Rally Club.

There will be no "Rush" this year, however, because, in view of past performance, Houston hotels will not sponsor the Rally Club accommodations even for an afternoon tea.

Club members also complained of having to shoulder heavy financial burden each year in order to sponsor a dance and pay for the damage. Rooty-toot-toot.

BAYLOR—

In a letter to the editor of the Baylor Lariat, a couple of students have made an interesting suggestion.

They have proposed, in answer to the Democrats' Eisenhower movement, that equal opportunity be given to the other side of things in the form of a Republican Stevenson club.

Next thing you know you have "Communists-for-Honor," "Canal Users-for-Nasser," "Regents - for - Willie" and "Dorm Rowdies-for-Firkins."

TEXAS—

Chemistry students at recently witnessed the university's first experiment in education.

Two programs, each an hour and 15 minutes long, were presented to a test group of closed-circuit television students were enthusiastic about the new method.

MARKING ON THE CURVE... AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Twonkey Crimscott was a professor. Choate Sigafoos was a sophomore. Twonkey Crimscott was keen, cold, brilliant. Choate Sigafoos was loose, vague, adenoidal. Twonkey Crimscott believed in diligence, discipline, and marking on the curve. Choate Sigafoos believed in elves, Jayne Mansfield, and thirteen hours sleep each night.

Yet there came a time when Twonkey Crimscott - mentor, sage, and savant - was thoroughly out-thought, out-foxed, out-maneuvered, out-played, and out-witted by Choate Sigafoos, sophomore.

It happened one day when Choate was at the library studying for one of Mr. Crimscott's exams in sociology. Mr. Crimscott's exams were murder - plain, flat murder. They consisted of one hundred questions, each question having four possible answers - A, B, C, and D. The trouble was that the four choices were so subtly shaded, so intricately worded, that students more clever by far than Choate Sigafoos were often set to gibbering.

So on this day Choate sat in the library poring over his sociology text, his tiny brow furrowed with concentration, while all around him sat the other members of the sociology class, every one studying like crazy. "What a waste!" he thought. "All this youth, this verve, this bounce, chained to dusty books in a dusty library! We should be out singing and dancing and smooching and cutting didoes on the greensward!"

Then, suddenly, an absolute gasser of an idea hit Choate. "Listen!" he shouted to his classmates. "Tomorrow when we take the exam, let's all - every one of us - check Choice 'A' on every question - every one of them."

"Huh?" said his classmates. "Mr. Crimscott marks on the curve. If we all check the same answers, then we all get the same score, and everybody in the class gets a 'C.'"

"Hmm," said his classmates. "Let's get out of here and have a ball!" said Choate. So they all ran out and lit Philip Morris and had a ball, as, indeed, you will too when you light a Philip Morris, for if there ever was a cigarette to lift the spirit and gladden the heart, it is today's new Philip Morris - firm and pure and fragrant and filled with true, natural, golden tobacco, lip end to tip end.

Well sir, the next morning the whole class did what Choate said and, sure enough, they all got "C's," and they picked Choate up and carried him to their shoulders and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and plied him with sweetmeats and Philip Morris and girls and put on buttons which said "I DOTE ON CHOATE."

But they were celebrating too soon. Because the next time shrewd old Mr. Crimscott gave them a test, he gave them only one question - to wit: write a 30,000 word essay on "Crime Does Not Pay."

"You and your ideas," they said to Choate and tore off his epaulets and broke his sword and drummed him out of the school. Today, a broken man, he earns a meager living as a camshaft in Toledo.

At the top of the curve of smoking pleasure, you'll find today's new Philip Morris. So, confidently, say the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column each week.

Schweitzer Will Speak At Chapel

Dr. George K. Schweitzer, professor of chemistry at the University of Tennessee and research radiochemist in the Atomic Energy Research Program at Oak Ridge, will speak at chapel services at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Schweitzer has appeared on almost 50 college campuses as a religious emphasis week or convocation speaker.

The Rev. William D. Hall, former missionary to India and now associate professor of missions in Brite College, spoke Tuesday on "The Word Became Flesh."

"When we accept the idea of incarnation we have committed ourselves to making religion a part of the ordinary relationships of our lives," he declared.

"The Christian should expect to have his vocation and the ordinary affairs of life brought under the scrutiny of religion. The Christian religion does not let us escape from life but takes us deeper into it."

Prize Pictures Of News Year To Be Shown

A traveling exhibit from the 13th annual News Pictures of the Year Contest will be displayed from Oct. 22 to Nov. 5 at the Student Center.

The exhibit - co-sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association and Encyclopedia Britannica - will feature top prize winners and finalists in this year's contest.

Also included will be a portfolio of shots by Life Magazine's Grey Villet, the "magazine photographer of the year."

Ten categories were included in the judging of the still division. The newsreel division had four categories.

The exhibit will contain about 125 prints representing all 10 still categories.

Dr. Crenshaw Resumes Duties After Surgery

Dr. Troy C. Crenshaw, chairman of the English department, resumed his duties Monday.

Other members of the department took over Dr. Crenshaw's classes while he recovered from an operation.

Congress Sets $100 Maximum For Homecoming Parade Floats

By ALICE BUFORD

No organization may spend more than $100 on its Homecoming parade float, Student Congress decided Tuesday.

Cost for trucks will not be included in the total.

Groups building floats on campus must post a $10 bond. The money will be refunded if the area where the float is built is cleaned properly afterward.

Congress also voted to award first the second-place trophies in the four float divisions. Last year only first-place awards were presented.

Divisions include best all-around, most humorous, most original and most beautiful.

Bob Randolph, Houston senior, asked that groups be allowed to spend more than $100 on floats.

"You can hardly do a job on $100," he said. "It's unrealistic. A good float can't be built for that."

Miss Barbara Alford, Center

senior, spoke in favor of the $100 limit because "I feel like there a lot of other things they need to spend the money for."

Organizations may continue to turn in their float subjects until Oct. 23 to Miss Joy Johnson, Homecoming committee chairman, in the Congress office.

In case the same subject is turned in two or more times the same day, a drawing will be held.

Congress appropriated $100 for the men's dormitories. Signs will be made and stretched across the dorms. Lawrence, Snyder junior, reported the men did not want to decorate their dormitories the women's but would do signs instead.

Lawrence requested the appropriation because the men have no dormitory organization as the women have.

Polio shots now are available to all students, faculty members and employes of the University. The shots may be obtained at the Infirmary at $1 each.

Dr. Clay Is Appointed Social Sciences Head

Dr. Comer Clay, professor of government, has been re-elected president of the Social Science Division of the Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences.

The group, which meets in the faculty lounge of the Undergraduate Religion Building, also elected Dr. Marguerite Potter, associate professor of social science, as secretary.

Previously, the vaccine was given only to children, young people through 19, and expectant mothers. Now, the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis advises that college students and everyone up to at least 45 should be vaccinated.

Three shots are required for adequate protection.

The second shot should be given two to six weeks after the first and the third, from seven months to a year after the second.

SHAH HYDER
... with fez

That Fez Not Just To Keep Head Warm

By MARTHA HASKELL
What's a fez fer, if it ain't fur?

Shah Hyder, TCU's first student from Pakistan, will gladly tell you the hat he wears is not a fez but a "Liaquat" cap.

The cap is made of unborn Persian lamb and costs about $50. It derives its name from Liaquat Ali, Pakistan's first prime minister, assassinated in 1952.

Shah explains:

"I purposely wear the hat to distinguish myself as a Pakistan national, to help me to meet people and because it is a national head-wear."

He pointed out, however, that it is not compulsory to wear the cap nor does it denote a religious sect.

The Pakistani was educated at a Scottish missionary school in Jaipur, India. He received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Karachi. He also holds a bachelor of teaching degree from the same university.

Before coming to TCU, Hyder taught English, history and geography at high school level in Karachi. At present he is studying for an M.E. with emphasis on school health education.

After combing the college catalogs in the library in Karachi, Shah chose TCU. He felt it was a school with a "fine reputation" in the field of education, that it was conceded to be "the famous big school of the South" and that Fort Worth had a similar climate to Karachi's.

"Although TCU is relatively large, I still have an opportunity to get well acquainted with campus life," he declared.

The short, slender Pakistani says:

"I find that wearing this hat makes me distinctive and frequently gives me the opportunity to talk to people about my country when they ask about the 'Liaquat' cap."

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young mathematician helps pace engineering advances

Recently General Electric developed a compact, new motor for industrial use. But before the motor could be put into automatic production, one difficulty remained: to design a protective end shield that would confine any possible explosion to the motor itself.

The man who solved the tough mathematical problems involved is R. A. "Pete" Powell — a mathematical analyst whose job is to assist other engineers in math problems which arise in any number of different projects.

Powell's Work Is Varied and Important

Because he is not tied down to any one project, Powell seldom has two similar assignments. Taking established engineering and mathematical principles, some of them extremely complicated, Powell applies them to advanced engineering problems. In doing this, Pete is able to make such calculations as the distortion of a small part of a jet engine caused by vibrations, the deflection occurring in a turbine part when it runs at operational speeds, or the forces exerted upon a rotating shaft by lubricants.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When "Pete" Powell came to General Electric in 1953, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 27,000 college-graduate employees, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits — the individual, the Company, and the country.

How About That

Shooting in the Dark At Grange, Razorbacks

By DAVE BROWN

Thoughts while wishing the Frogs were playing the inter-sectional schedule this year that they did in 1954; Kansas, Oklahoma, Southern California and Penn State:

Texas Coach Ed Price says he won't admit that OU will beat the Longhorns tomorrow at Dallas.

"I feel that anybody can beat anybody on any given day," he says

Trouble is, days when the Sooners give anybody anything are few and far between.

Harold (Red) Grange, Illinois' great all-American star of the 1920's, said over nationwide Tee-Vee, they tell us, that Jim Swink is the greatest football player in America today. All we got to say is that Grange can't tell 'em, nobody can.

Question of the Week: If the Arkansas players think TCU is N. G. and that the Aggies will "tear 'em up," after the Frogs buried the Porkers — if all this is true — then just WHAT are the Hogs gonna do about the Aggies? Forfeit?

Never having been a Notre Dame fan, particularly, we are now pulling for the Irish with a great deal of gusto.

They are the only ones we see who just might nip Bud Wilkinson's herd of horses and thus give the Purple a shot at the top rung in the rating services ratings.

The rest of the impotents on the Sooner schedule probably wouldn't trouble Abilene High School too much. In fact, having seen the Abilene lads a couple of times, they might not have too much trouble with the Oklahomans themselves—for a couple of minutes, anyway.

The West Texas bureau of The Skiff reports that the Frogs slaughter of Arkansas was not carried over any of the San Angelo TeeVee stations. Reason: it rained there that day and all the stations had their camera men out telecasting the shower.

So help us—that's what he said.

And finally, a word about Norman Hamilton, our nomination for the man most likely to swallow his tongue this week. Quoth Norm, "Anyway, I'll bet those Arkansas players won't say we aren't any good this year."

Folks from Arkansas, we guess, just never know when they're well off.

Miller Adds '9.8' Dash To TCU Grid Hopes

By JAY CRUM

Theoretically at least, Virgil Miller could have moved his 30-yard punt return at the rate of 100 yards in less than 9.8 seconds Saturday. That's the 150-pound halfback's best time on a cinder track for the same distance.

Miller, of Anna, was a real crowd-pleaser against Arkansas.

Last year Virgil played a total of 60 minutes for the Purple. In two 1956 games he has clocked well over 30 minutes already and scored a touchdown.

Perhaps more important than his statistics is the fellow's ability to win the hearts of fans.

The little scatback's spurt through the behemoth Razorback line for a 6.6 yard average had the fans cheering at their peak during a 45-yard

TCU drive. Miller dominated the play during those minutes before the third period ended.

As Coach Abe Martin sent in the No. 1 team to start the final quarter, Miller's exit brought loud protests from many of the 28,000 fans. Later, the Anna flash did get to score, but he missed climaxing drive.

"We hustled. I can't say that. I guess the first half worked too, but I know I worked plenty," said Miller.

As a freshman, Virgil played in one only football game. Running and track occupied a big part of his time.

One hundred-fifty pounds even if they move 100 pounds every 9.8 seconds, doesn't press 200 pound linemen much.

Miller's 150 pounds are at least to fill a Purple jersey several years. Statistically, he weighs about 75 per cent as much as the average TCU man.

VIRGIL MILLER . . . little squirt ran.

Cage Practice to Open For Varsity, Freshmen

Horned Frog basketball players start business officially Monday when Coach Buster Brannon puts them through their first organized practice session.

The Purple varsity will work out daily from 3 to 5 p.m. while the Wogs, who also begin drills Monday, will take the court each day from 1 to 3 p.m.

TV Show Goes Smoothly Despite Staff Worries

The complicated task of setting up TV equipment in a not-quite-completed press box, 145 feet above the ground, was accomplished with "remarkable efficiency" for the TCU-Arkansas game Saturday, according to Jim Brock, TCU sports publicity director.

"We were expecting trouble," said Brock, "but nothing came up."

The nationally televised game was a part of NBC's coverage of a top college game each week.

Two cameras were placed on the upper deck of the press box and two more were set on platforms at each end of the new upper tier.

Another camera was inside the broadcast booth, where Lindsay Nelson and Harold "Red" Grange did the play-by-play.

Little Theater Schedule

Performance dates for the Little Theater's first production "Born Yesterday" are Oct. 25-26, 30-31 and Nov. 1-3. The production will be directed by Bill Garber.

New technical director of theater, Clayton Fields, will direct the Little Theater's second production, "The Judge," Nov. 7-8 and 11-15.

Directed by Dr. Walther Volbach, "The Imaginary Invalid" will be presented Feb. 22-23, 25, 26, 27, 28 and March 1-2.

The theater season will close with the showing of "Summer and Smoke" directed by Mr. Fields on April 5-6 and 9-13.

Coed Sports Start Thursday

The fall program of women's sports will begin Thursday, Miss Ruth Taylor, women's intramural director, announced.

Sororities, clubs, and organizations made up of any group of women are eligible to compete.

The program will include softball, tennis singles, ping-pong, badminton doubles, archery and putting.

Awards will be presented to each member of the winning team and also to the winner of individual sports, such as archery and tennis singles.

Any team desiring to enter must contact Miss Taylor by tomorrow.

The Women's Sports Association sponsored the sale of football programs at the TCU-A&M freshman football game here last night.

Book Shortage Will Ease

After three weeks, relief is in sight for the TCU textbook shortage, made more acute by the record enrollment this fall.

E. M. Moore, University Store manager, said he would be able to meet most demands for required books by next week.

He said the store had had all the books ordered by various departments at the beginning of school, but the unprecedented rise in enrollment of students quickly depleted supplies.

Other sales at the store — including T-shirts, stuffed dogs, musical footballs and the like — have shown only a slight increase.

"Most of these articles have been purchased by new students," said Mr. Moore.

Potent Purple to Clash With Crimson Tide

TOP FROGS—Frog Captain Joe Williams, center, looks to the future and more Purple victories. Flanking him are Co-captains Jim Swink, left, and Don Cooper. The three will be in the starting line-up tomorrow as the Frogs, ranked number 3 in the nation, tangle with the Crimson Tide of the University of Alabama.

Machine-like TCU Team Seeks Third Victory

By JAY CRUM

With a conference victory and a total of 73 points in two games tucked away, TCU's Horned Frogs are flying to Tuscaloosa, Ala., this morning for a splash against the Crimson Tide.

Coach Abe Martin and about 40 men plan a brief workout this afternoon.

A thoroughly beaten but still skeptical Arkansas team headed home last week after a 41-6 drubbing by the Frogs.

In what Athletic Director Dutch Meyer termed an "unemotional" and machine-like "knocking down", the Frogs picked up the first conference win of 1956.

TCU ran up 20 first downs to the Razorbacks' 13 and nearly doubled the Hogs' total offense, 425 to 244 yards.

Asked what he thought about some Arkansas players said after the game, Dutch said, "Some kid didn't know what he was talking about."

McCullough

Dutch referred to Porker statements such as, "TCU didn't have any hustle. They (the Frogs) won't win another conference game." These quotes appeared in two Fort Worth papers.

Meyer added that TCU looked like a great team. They played hard and steady and weren't emotional. The man who won three championships for TCU concluded, "It's steady, unexcited play that wins championships."

The ever-cautious and reserved Abe Martin warned against optimism. "Alabama has a good working T-formation. Their ground game may give us trouble. I never look for an easy game."

In two games the Frogs have given up only 193.5 defensive yards average. TCU's closest Southwest Conference rival in this department is A&M with a 215.3 average.

Last year Alabama lost 10 straight games. The Frogs beat them, 21-0.

This year's Crimson Tide is stronger, but is still considered weak. The Tide squad has 34 sophomores. Thirteen are on the first two teams.

So far this year Alabama is winless.

Frogs Rank Third in Nation; Statistics Prove TCU Power

After winning its first 1956 conference game, TCU has moved to third place in the nation's football rankings.

Rated eighth last week by Associated Press, the Frogs are now fourth. In the United Press poll TCU moved from sixth to third. The Williamson poll rates the Purple third, also.

Statistics after last week's games reveal some interesting facts about TCU power.

The Frogs have scored more

Unlike their first game, the Frogs came out of the Arkansas fray without injury.

Trainer Elmer Brown said all old injuries are healed nicely and Halfback Jim Swink and Tackle Don Cooper are in starting condition for tomorrow's game.

Brown says Guard Jay McCullough is out of the hospital and expects the 340-pounder to be ready for the A&M game a week from tomorrow. McCullough was hurt in the Kansas game.

It's the Aggie game that seems to worry most TCU athletic officials. Here are some of the statements.

Dutch Meyer said, "The Aggies looked awfully good against Tech (40-7) Saturday. They're potent."

Coach Martin said, "We're being 'down' for Alabama. We'll be 'up' plenty for A&M."

"I worry a week in advance. We've got to be in top shape for the Aggies," added Elmer Brown.

With an improved average carry in the Arkansas game, Halfback Ken Wineburg leads the conference ball carriers with 9.2 yards per try. He is also the leading scorer with 30 points.

Ken's 10.2 yards average leads in total offense. Chuck Curtis is second with 8.4, mostly on passing.

Last week, 42 of 65 Football squadmen saw action against Arkansas.

It was hard to tell who pleased Dutch Meyer more, the new stadium or the win.

"The whole thing was pretty near perfect," he said.

Swink, Williams Make Academic All-American

Jim Swink, TCU's All-American, and Frog Captain Joe Williams excel at more than football.

Swink and Williams were named to the Academic All-American team late this summer. SMU's publicist, Les Jordan picked the two Frogs for a squad selected from the nation's top football players. Frog end John Nikkel was the second squad.

Frog Trainer Plans Trip To Australia This Month

Elmer Brown, TCU trainer for six years, will leave Oct. 24 by plane for Los Angeles, where he will take charge of the United States track entry in the 1956 Olympics. The games will be in Melbourne, Australia.

Brown will train what is considered the greatest Olympic track team in history. The American entries are favored in nearly every sprint and short distance event. Only in heavy field contests are the Americans expected to show poorly.

Brown, 42 next week, has been head trainer at University of Wyoming, Midwestern University, St. Mary's and TCU. He served as president of the American Trainers' Association for two years and will head the staff in this Olympic year's games.

Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian's hurdles star, will go to California with Brown. They will fly to Honolulu Oct. 28 and train there for four days. After a day in the Fiji islands the team will move into Melbourne.

"We don't even furnish our toothbrushes," Brown said. "In Los Angeles the team and staff gets a complete tailored Olympic uniform, including workout suits and even shoes."

The Frog trainer was picked from more than 300 registered trainers over the nation. Other trainers are from UCLA, Cornell, Miami (of Ohio), and Wesleyan College and the Cleveland Indians baseball team.

Brown will return about Dec. 9 if he doesn't go on tour with a small U.S. team.

"We may go to Egypt and Pakistan. If we do, I won't be in till Dec. 18," he said hopefully.

How does he feel about being responsible for the nation's (maybe the world's) top athletes?

"It's the greatest honor of my life," he said. "They won't be any trouble. Champions always act like champions and they never let the little things bother them."

"That's one reason our football team is good. They want to play and no little thing is going to keep one of them out of a game. That's what makes real champions."

O'Neal Named All-America In Pre-Season Selection

Richard O'Neal, twice an all-conference basketball choice, received national recognition this week by being named to a 1957 pre-season All-America team.

The Dell publication, Basketball, 1957, stated:

"A basketball player whose school has had a poor season as Texas Christian did last year is easy to overlook... But Harvey Richard O'Neal... won't allow himself to be forgotten."

In his first varsity season, Dick scored 676 points, the most ever racked up by a sophomore in major college history. The same year he led the Frogs to victory in the pre-season Southwest Conference tournament.

As a junior on a "mediocre" Frog team, O'Neal managed to score 593 points even though he was always guarded by two to four men. His average for two seasons is 26.4 points per game.

The 6-7 center from Fort Worth Poly now has 1,269 markers to his credit. This figure exceeds former Frog star George McLeod's record of 1,124 for three seasons. Dick also has broken the scoring record for three year's conference play by accumulating 671 points in two years.

Oddy enough, Richard once considered giving up basketball to devote all his time to baseball. He made all-state in both sports in high school and is a starting pitcher for the TCU baseball unit.

Other members of the Dell 1957 All-America basketball team are Charlie Tyra, Louisville; Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas; Lenny Rosenbluth, North Carolina, and Rod Hundley, West Virginia.

Southwesterners named to lower teams were Ray Downs of Texas and Hub Reed of Oklahoma City, second team; Jim Krebs of SMU and Temple Tucker of Rice, made the third team.
