Big Welcome Awaits Parents

Junior Class Picks Coleman As President

After one primary and two runoff elections, Ronny Coleman defeated Gary Gafford to become junior class president. Vote in the second runoff Tuesday and Wednesday was 46-50.

Gafford had won the first runoff from Coleman, 48-47, two weeks ago. Coleman, however, protested the election, and Student Congress ordered a new vote.

Bob Randolph, election committee chairman, recommended that the runoff be held again because no one could find voting lists for the second day of the election.

No recheck of the votes could be made without the list.

A new voting method was used in the second runoff. Juniors signed one corner of their ballots and tore them off. The signed pieces were placed in the ballot box.

Numbers on the signed corners corresponded to numbers on the ballots. This is the way the state of Texas holds its elections.

"The voting was too limited to tell how well this system works here," Jack Schnake, Graduate School representative, reported.

"Everything tallied," Schnake added. "There was no need to recheck."

Student Court Justice Miss Edythe Sgitovich supervised counting of ballots.

Lights on Chapel To Hail Victories

Purple lights illuminating Robert Carr Chapel will proclaim TCU victories on the nights after athletic events.

Members of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity have obtained administrative approval to add purple filters to the lights in front of the chapel after Purple victories.

Aggies, Myopia, Mud; Grid Contest Is Dud

A serious case of myopia seized Sports Editor Dave Brown last week and almost forced The Skiff to plead bankruptcy.

Brown, you see, is a man who sometimes reads things wrong. Last week, he misread a football schedule and listed four games in the weekly football contest which won't be played until tomorrow.

Since only the three Southwest Conference games listed on the contest were correct, The Skiff was faced with the horrible prospects of finding several hundred winners.

Had this happened, we probably would have caused Ray Jones, manager of the ticket-providing Worth Theater, to suffer a stroke. Mr. Jones, in turn, most likely would have

Selection of Queen To Be Prom Highlight

Selection of the Freshman Prom Queen will highlight the annual dance at 8 p.m. today in the Student Center ballroom.

The queen will be selected by the dance committee assisted by Taylor Evans, freshman class president.

Boyd Schlenker, dance committee chairman, said the judging probably would be done during an announced dance number.

"We plan to circulate around the dance floor during the number and pick about 10 girls for the runoff," Schlenker said.

Each freshman will be given a numbered card when she enters the dance and the judging will be done by numbers instead of names.

The 10 runners-up will be interviewed in a separate room by judges, and the winner will be announced shortly before midnight.

The queen and two duchesses will receive trophies from Evans. The queen also gets a presidential kiss.

All runners-up will be introduced on stage before the announcement of the queen is made.

Curley Broyles Orchestra will play.

Admission for upperclassmen will be $1, but cap-wearing freshmen will be admitted free. Theme will be "Autumn Leaves".

Miami Game to Top Day-Long Activities

By ALICE BUFORD

Tomorrow parents won't hear the familiar greeting, "Hi folks. I need $10 quick."

Instead visitors here for TCU's second annual Parents Day will hear:

"Hi, Mom, Dad. Glad you could come. We've got a lot of things planned just for you, and we hope you enjoy them all."

The moms and dads will be guests of honor for a day-long series of activities climaxed by the 8 p.m. Frog duel with Miami.

Boards Meet Tomorrow

President M. E. Sadler will present his annual report to the Board of Trustees at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the board room of the Administration Building.

His report will cover the present enrollment and future plans for TCU. L. C. White, business manager, will present a financial report.

At noon the trustees will have lunch with the members of the Development Board. Approximately 75 members of this board from Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas will attend.

After lunch, both boards will meet jointly for a discussion of TCU's present position and its future development.

Members of both boards and members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, meeting in Fort Worth, will be guests of the Administration at the TCU-Miami game.

Parking areas immediately in front and to the west of the Student Center will be barricaded at midnight tonight for the Board of Trustee parking and the tricycle races.

Student cars parked in these areas will be towed off and impounded.

Concession Bids To Be Accepted For Lubbock Trip

Bids to operate the concession car on the special train to Lubbock Nov. 9-10 must be turned in to the Congress office by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

"Organizations submitting bids for the car should indicate what they intend to serve," Jim Vernon, student body trip arranger, said.

Also to be included in the bid is a statement of what the club will do with profits. In the past clubs have given part of the profits to Congress or bought items of lasting value to the school.

Buildings will be open all day so the folks who pay the students' bills can see the University.

"We hope students will take their parents around to all the buildings," Amos Melton, director of Information Services, said.

Special events will begin at 10:30 a.m. when parents meet teachers at a faculty reception in the second-floor foyer of the Student Center.

"I would like to see all visiting parents attend this reception. It's good relations for parents to get acquainted with teachers," Jim Vernon, Parents Day co-chairman, said.

Organizations will roll out the red carpet for parents at noon. Campus groups have been invited to have luncheons honoring their parents.

Panhellenic relays will begin at 2:30 p.m. in front of the Student Center. This is a new attraction to the Parents Day program.

A grand entry parade at 2:15 p.m. will introduce teams competing in the events. One or two members of each team will ride the group's decorated tricycle in the parade.

Events in the races include a relay, a double race with one girl pedaling and another riding on the back, a backward race, an obstacle race with girls guiding the trikes between folding chairs, and a shuttle race. In this event one girl will ride the tricycle down the strip, and another girl will ride back. Both girls must carry an egg in each hand throughout the race.

A trophy will be given to the group with the highest total number of points. A member of each fraternity will judge the events. Van Rathgeber, Fort Worth senior, will be head official.

After the Panhellenic races parents will receive refreshments at open houses in the girls' dormitories.

Parents may eat at a special dinner in the Cafeteria with their sons and daughters. Parents of football players will be honored at a dinner in the Ballroom.

At the game fathers of the players will sit on a bench behind their sons. Each dad will wear a number corresponding to his son's football number.

Both the band and the card section will honor parents, who will be asked to stand and be recognized.

System Change Due In Noting Absences

A change in absence-reporting procedures has been approved by the Deans' Council, Dean of Students Lawrence Smith announced.

"In the future when we receive the absence report from teachers, we will contact students directly," Dean Smith added.

Teachers have done this chore in the past.

"Our interest in absences is mainly in regard to the academic life of the student," the dean explained.

Many students have good reason for missing classes, but do not tell their teachers. Other students may have an overload of outside activities. Students absent habitually will be counseled.

"We will telephone or write letters to those who continually fail to attend classes," Dean Smith pointed out.

The student who drops out of school with absenteeism rather than through the registrar's office will receive all F's rather than WP's. Should the student decide to get a degree later, the F's would have a bad effect on his grade-point average.

Previously, absences of students in the dormitory have been handled through the dean of men's and the dean of women's offices. Now, names of students in the Infirmary will be sent to the dean of students office, which will notify teachers of the absences.

Students living off-campus who will be absent for more than a day may notify the dean of students office.

"We will notify the teachers of the students' illness, thus saving the individual several phone calls," Dean Smith added.

Deadlines for getting annual pictures taken are near, Horned Frog editor Chuck Dowell warned students this week.

Sophomores must have their pictures made not later than tomorrow. Juniors have until Nov. 3 and seniors until Nov. 10.

"There will be no extensions," Dowell said.

Students Like 'Rallies' Sponsored by Greeks

Fraternity-sorority sponsored pep rallies have met with a "tremendous amount of student approval," Head Cheerleader Ronald Coleman, Dallas junior, says.

Coleman believes another big factor in the increased interest is that all pep rallies are scheduled at 6:30 p.m. on the Thursday preceding games.

The rallies are held either in front of the Student Center or in the gymnasium. Greek organizations have added a brightness to the events with the presentation of and pre-rally stunts, Coleman feels.

He terms student response to such stunts, "the best I've seen since I've been at TCU."

Dance Will Follow Homecoming Rally

Sandy Sandifer and his orchestra will play for exes and students at the Homecoming Dance at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 16.

The dance in the ballroom will be free. It will begin at the 8:30 p.m. pep rally and bonfire at the southeast end of the Stadium grounds.

Student Congress voted Tuesday to release the name of the Homecoming Queen after her election instead of waiting until the bonfire to present her.

Miss Jean Joy Johnson, Homecoming committee chairman, asked that the queen's identity be kept secret "to build up the suspense of Homecoming."

Skiff Editor Jim Hendricks asked that the queen's identity be revealed so that her picture could be printed in the 4,500-copy Homecoming edition of the paper.

"All I want is an even news break on it when it is news," Hendricks said. "It won't be worth anything later."

Dale Edmonds, Jim Cooper, Joel Hurley and Paul Coulter spoke in favor of releasing the name.

The vote was 18-7.

In other business, Congress elected Bill Austin, lower class representative, TISA correspondent.

The Texas Intercollegiate Students Association is composed of student governments from most Texas colleges and universities.

Four faculty members will judge women's dormitory decorations. The group includes Max Butler, instructor in art; Mrs. Mary Beth Scott, instructor in English and director of faculty social activities; Miss Mabel Major, professor of English, and Dr. Ambrose Edens, assistant professor of religion.

Six Companies to Interview Prospective Graduates Here

Representatives from six concerns will be on campus next week to interview prospective graduates for employment.

Physics majors will be interviewed in Room 316 of the Science Building by Standard Oil on Monday. Texas Instruments Inc. will interview them on Tuesday. The U.S. Naval Laboratories will seek chemistry, physics and math majors in the same room Wednesday.

Accounting majors will be received in the interview rooms in the School of Business by the U. S. General Accounting Office on Tuesday and Ernst and Ernst Accountants on Wednesday. The Employers Casualty Co. will await math and accounting majors in the same rooms Thursday.

All interviews will be conducted between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at half-hour intervals. Raymond (Bear) Wolf, director of the Placement Bureau, requests that seniors sign for a designated time before going to the place of interview.

Seniors who would like to use Placement Bureau's facilities have been asked to fill out a biographical and qualification form. It will become a part of their permanent record for use securing positions in the future.

975 Science Grants To Be Given in '57-58

TCU students are eligible for some of the approximately 975 fellowships awarded by the National Science Foundation for the academic year of 1957-58.

There will be about 800 graduate and 175 postdoctoral awards for scientific study.

Seniors who expect to receive a baccalaureate degree in June are eligible to apply.

Postdoctoral applicants must have a Ph. D. in one of the fields offered or equivalent research training and experience.

Tests will be administered throughout the country on Jan. 19, 1957.

Fields of study are mathematical, physical, medical, biological, engineering, and other sciences, including anthropology, (other than clinical), geography, and fields of convergence between natural and social sciences.

Further information and applications may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Academy of Sciences — National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington 25, D. C.

The deadline for the receipt of applications for postdoctoral fellowships is Dec. 24, 1956; for graduate fellowships Jan. 7, 1957.

Chess Playing at Oui

Intellectuals Invoke Iconoclastic Ideas

By GARY CARTWRIGHT

I admit I had my fears when the editor assigned me this interview.

But I soon discovered that intellectuals are just ordinary people like leprechauns, witches, werewolves and professors. Some are even more friendly.

Finding my subjects seemed to be a problem, but to my surprise, as I opened the front door of the Oui, there sat four intellectuals beating Bonga drums at a center table.

They were warm and cordial when I asked to join them.

"Shut up if you're going to sit here", one greeted.

"Do you believe Proust advanced free thought?" two asked.

"Of course he doesn't," three answered. "He's a reporter."

"I guess he wants to know what movies we attend", four growled.

"Movies?" the others laughed. "Who attends movies?"

"I guess he meant like 'Bicycle Thief' or 'Umberto D,'" four told them. "Not movies in the ordinary sense. Arraag."

They laid their drums aside and sat glaring at me like a closed venetian blind in a sorority house. I took a few notes.

"And next he'll ask us if we watch television," four said.

"Bourgeoisie," one charged. "Human," two accused.

"Of course we do watch 'Omnibus' occasionally," one admitted.

"But only to laugh at mistakes," three quickly added.

They smiled at each other and detonated their pipes. Two read a few chapters of "The Greek Way to Western Civilization" while I caught up on my notes. Four took a sip of wine and stared into the goblet.

"This is good and pure and true and you can taste it in the back of your mouth and enjoy the smoothness like it was Madrid when the soldiers marched and the dust fell and the lives and the deads knew what the war really meant and for whom the bells toll."

"Yes," others said.

"Would you repeat that, please?" I asked miserably. They had forgotten my presence for a moment, but all faces turned toward me again.

"Who do you think discovered gravity, earthling?" they questioned.

"Chicken Little?" I gulped.

"Fool," said three.

"Pagan slave!" four shouted.

"Gravity is a fallacia," two explained.

I carefully noted that. One left the table for a moment to walk to the bar and jump three bishops on a chess board. The others relighted their pipes and messed their hair a little more.

Two, who had finished the book on western civilization, read a few chapters in "The Compassionate Buddha," and three spilled some catsup on his sweater and arranged it carefully.

Four reverently carved a poem on the table next to a heart with Omar Khayyam's name in it.

Two returned from the chess board and started again on me. "And I guess you want to know who we will vote for in November?"

"Leonardo Da Vinci and James Dean," they answered in unison. "Only they are eternal."

"And then what we think of the canal situation?" two continued.

"Water under the bridge," came the chorus.

"And then of birth-control, communism, Elvis Presley, segregation, Stan Kenton, the Gruen Plan, the River Oaks Bank failure, water....."

They were still talking when I left.

I think one of them got my cigarette lighter.

Dr. Nunn's New Book Receives Wide Acclaim

A proud possession of Dr. W. C. Nunn is a letter signed by President Eisenhower acknowledging receipt of the history professor's book, "Escape From Reconstruction."

The story is an account of a group of southerners who fled to Mexico after the Civil War.

"Reception of the book has been very satisfactory," says Dr. Nunn. "We have received orders from all over the country."

The original draft was written in 1950 and he completed the work in the spring of 1956. The book was published in July.

For background material Dr. Nunn visited libraries at Louisiana State University and Tulane University, and the Confederate Museum at New Orleans.

In the summer of 1950 Dr. Nunn did research work in Mexico City on a Carnegie grant.

Information also was gathered from the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., the TCU Library, and the Mexican Times, the only English-language newspaper published in Mexico during 1965-67.

The book is published by the Leo Potishman Foundation, TCU and is on sale at the University Store.

Dr. Nunn also is the co-author of the textbook "Texas, the Story of the Lone Star State." At one time this book was the only state adopted text on the subject.

Impounding Fee Will Be Added To Parking Tab

Beginning next week, students will be fined $7 for parking their cars in no-parking zones.

In addition to the regular $2 parking ticket, a $5 fee will be assessed to cover the towing and impounding of the offender's automobile.

The cars will be towed to the parking lots around the Stadium and impounded there. Students must pay both the towing fee and the ticket before they can redeem their automobiles.

"This action is necessary because the continued violation of no parking zones constitutes a major traffic hazard," Bill Biggars, chief security officer, said.

Travelog Trip

Dr. Irene Huber Sees Paris, Rome On Way to Her Switzerland Home

BY JOE HARVEY
Paris today, Rome tomorrow. Sounds like a piece from a travelog, but that is about the way it was when Dr. Irene M. Huber, professor of German, visited her home in Zurich, Switzerland, this summer for the first time in five years.

The trip home was also her vacation, so she combined it with a quick tour along the way. First she toured Paris.

"The faces have changed, but it is the same beautiful Paris I knew before," Dr. Huber said.

Her next stop was Koblenz, where she took a boat cruise down the Rhein to Mainz. Then she went overland to Heidelberg.

Next she visited some old friends in Freiburg. They took her driving through the Black Forest and into Alsace-Lorraine to see the cities of Keisersberg and Beisach.

"They looked just like Disneyland — castles with high-pointed towers, little bridges and quaint houses," she remarked.

After leaving her friends she went by car on the Autobann to Salzburg, then continued on to Vienna, and by way of Karnten and Steyermarkand to Rome.

In Rome she met her brother and drove with him back to Zurich. While traveling through Switzerland they drove over yokes, or mountain passes.

She rounded out her vacation with trips to Luzern and St. Gallen and a visit to an art exhibit of Grunewald paintings in Kolmar.

The return trip was much quicker but not without incident. The "flyer" got her to Paris in five hours, but the Paris plane arrived in New York three hours late, and she missed her connections to Fort Worth. An agent of the airline made it possible for her to return to TCU on time by giving her first-class accommodations.

Dr. Huber said that it would have taken many hours, much talking in different languages and some high official to cut the red tape if it had happened at the other end of the line.

"It is things like this, which the people here accept as commonplace, which make me very happy to be back in the good old U.S.A.," Dr. Huber said.

1957 Requests For Admission Pour in Early

"Unusually early" inquiries concerning admission to TCU next fall are being received by the Dean of Admissions office.

About 100 inquiries a week are pouring in from persons who are now high school seniors.

"The requests coming from nearly every state in the United States are an indication TCU is favorably known all over the country," Dr. Thomas Richardson, dean of admissions said.

Some inquiries mention that students and ex-students are "telling the TCU story" wherever they go, Dean Richardson explained.

14 Students Take Part In TV Teacher Program

Fourteen students are participating in the TV teacher program at TCU.

"Texas Teacher — Close Up" the project sponsored by the Texas Education Association.

The program, financed by a $95,000 Ford Foundation grant, consists of 30-minute lessons at 8:30 a.m. each Saturday on WBAP-TV. Two semesters of 13 lessons each are being offered. Dr. Leslie Evans, professor of education, pointed out.

Consideration will be given to the entire teaching curriculum.

Educational theory including profitable learning can be exciting when it is close to the immediate interests and needs of pupils, and what is taught can be based on the experiences of boys and girls, utilizing real or simulated situations.

Callahan's "Introduction to Education in American Society" is the text being used by TCU for the courses.

Mrs. Alemina Johnson, a member of the staff of Polytechnic High School, Fort Worth, and Dr. J. L. Gibbons, consultant in elementary education for Dallas public schools, are teaching the courses.

Both elementary and secondary education are being studied.

TCU, Texas Wesleyan College, North Texas State College, Texas State College for Women, East Texas State Teachers College and SMU are the participating schools in this district.

Texas is comprised of 14 districts. Each district has a committee of nine members supervising the programs.

Dr. James Costy, assistant professor of radio and television at TCU, is a member of the local district committee.

"Upon completion of the entire education series, the student holding a bachelor degree with no professional education will receive non-college credit applicable to his certification as a teacher," Dr. Evans explained.

Plans Made For Train To Lubbock

Frog supporters won't get much sleep the weekend of Nov. 9-10.

The student body's special train to Lubbock for the Texas Tech game will leave at 10:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9 and arrive in Lubbock at 7 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 10.

After the game, the train will leave College Ave. crossing near the Stadium for the return trip.

It is scheduled to arrive in Fort Worth at 1 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 11.

Tickets will go on sale Monday of game week. They will cost approximately $10.45, Jim Vernon, student body trip arranger, said.

Student Congress voted Tuesday to sponsor a train to Houston for the Rice game Nov. 24. Details will be announced later.

Night Use of Facilities Keeps Library Crowded

Library facilities are being used more than ever before, C. G. Sparks, head librarian reports.

"This is especially true at night," he said. Often most of the seats in the reading room are used.

"We are pleased to have students study in the Library, but at times it is apparent some are here for social purposes."

The present arrangement of the Library, with the loan desk and the card catalog in the reading room, contributes some confusion, he stated.

"I would like to request," Mr. Sparks said, "that all who want to study, but others use campus social facilities."

Club, Society Regulations Announced by Committee

After two years' work, the committee on clubs and societies has formulated a statement of regulations to govern clubs that meet on the campus.

These regulations, effective this semester, will serve as a guide to new clubs, as well as to existing organizations. Any club that has not received a copy of the regulations should contact Miss Bita May Hall in Room 211 of the Administration Building.

Miss Hall, committee chairman, expressed the hope the regulations will benefit all students working in clubs and will serve as a directive for more efficient functioning of all organizations.

Each club, at the beginning of every school year, must file an information sheet with the social director, and an annual financial report also must be turned in to the social director before the close of the spring semester.

Also set forth in the regulations are: procedures for formation of new clubs, functioning rules for all student organizations and disciplinary measures to be taken for regulation violations.

A provision also is made for the formation of political clubs so long as these organizations observe all regulations and political views of these groups are not construed as reflecting the opinions of TCU.

Student Congress surprised The Skiff staff in a most pleasant manner this week by voting overwhelmingly to release the name of the Homecoming Queen in time for publication Thursday night before the Homecoming pep rally.

So, with a big tip of our collective hat, The Skiff says thanks to Congress for upholding some principles

Congress Votes For Principles

There has been an increasing tendency in recent years for elected and appointed officials to withhold information from the public and public newsgathering agencies.

The right of the public, whether a college student body or a nation of 160,000,000, to know what is going on in the government it is supposed to control, is an indispensable factor in successful government.

That the majority of Student Congress thoughtfully considered all aspects of the controversy and decided in a manner which will be of greatest benefit to all concerned—student body, Skiff, Congress, and Queen—is a credit both to Congress members and to TCU.

Ring Around the Rosy

Pssst! Need a class ring, Joe? Got a bargain. What class? Which ring? Don't need a class, Joe, and we've got all sorts of rings. All you need is a finger.

This tirade could very well take place when a TCU student approaches the problem of purchasing his senior ring.

Three local establishments sell versions of the TCU ring, but only the University Store verifies either a student's identity or his scholastic standing.

There are three styles of TCU rings on the market—two of which are "official," as adopted in a campuswide election two years ago. The "old" and the "new" official styles are available only at the University Store.

The Skiff does not advocate discontinuing sales of the unofficial rings, but certain restrictions should be placed on these sales.

Possible steps are: 1) a program of education to inform students that only one ring is official; 2) a requirement for any company using the name of the University to check with the registrar and not sell unauthorized persons rings; 3) the establishment of regulations regarding wearing of class rings by undergraduates.

These measures would protect the University Store's investment, would lend more weight to the decision of the majority of the student body regarding the official ring, and would prevent every Tom, Dick, and Harry who hankers for some jewelry from purchasing a TCU ring.

Trip Plan Needs Change

TCU's student body trip program is in need of revision.

The present program is a hangover from the days of Saturday classes, limited transportation and small enrollment.

Now, with the large number of automobiles on campus and the scheduling of busses and trains for practically all conference games, every such game is in reality a student trip.

Why not do away with the so-called student body trip and, instead, plan to schedule transportation for all conference games?

If this were done, students would be able to select well in advance which trips they wished to make, and would be assured of some means of transportation.

Sam Schmaltz's Sad Song

Sam Schmaltz is chairman in charge of get-well-cards, furniture dusting, pin polishing, and other miscellaneous duties for Omicron Gnu, social fraternity.

Sam is a loyal chairman and performs his multitudinous chores faithfully. Sam, however, is weighted down by numerous bags under his eyes, caused by loss of sleep during performance of said chores.

One day, a guardian angel heard Sam's woeful song and took pity on him. Said angel collected all the VIP's in the sororities, fraternities, clubs, and Administration, and proceeded to form a plan to save Sam's sanity.

The gist of the idea was to leave Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and Monday and Thursday nights open for Greeks or other organizations to meet. The rest of the week was to be reserved for departmental, interest and religious groups exclusively.

The thought behind the plan was not to restrict anyone, but to budget the time between Greeks and other campus clubs.

And baggy-eyed Sam Schmaltz will be baggy-eyed no longer. He has changed his tune from "Whistle While You Work" to "Time on My Hands."

Sounding Board

Honor Council Needed

By JIM HENDRICKS

Academic dishonesty is an unattractive topic to ponder.

Naturally, when a student enters college, it is expected that he will keep scholastic endeavor above board. Generally, the professor is entrusted with the responsibility of ferreting out the "cheaters" and taking necessary action to punish and prevent future occurrences of that nature.

At some schools, this system is workable. At TCU, however, the size of some classes make it difficult for the professor to do anything more than handle instruction of his students.

This is not to say that cheating is rampant at TCU. Quite probably, this university has less of a problem of this sort than many other institutions throughout the country.

But some cheating does take place. This is enough reason to seek a solution.

* * * *

Why not allow the student body itself to be at least partially responsible for correcting the enigma?

Student honor councils are in force at many schools. It seems reasonable to believe that TCU students are capable of forming a body of this type to deal with the matter of academic dishonesty.

The council could become an elective or appointive body, much on the order of Student Court or Student Congress. Membership on the council probably would become an office of high prestige in student affairs.

Of course, the formation of such a body might tend to create other problems.

Would the council be inclined to adopt a "soft touch" policy with offenders? Or would it tend to be too harsh in some cases?

Both questions illustrate the seriousness which choosing council members each year would entail. The student who desire both backbone and fairness in the council would take extreme care in marking his ballot, if membership were on an elective basis. If it were placed on an appointive basis, those in charge of selection of members would have to consider their choices at some length.

What tangible good would an honor council do? It would give students an opportunity to handle a problem which, by nature, is more their own than the faculty's. Cheating cheapens a school's academic reputation, and, consequently, its degree suffers significantly in prestige.

Most "cheaters" would much rather face judgment from an administrative board than from their student "peers." And, quite probably, a student honor council would be inclined to treat matters of scholastic "foul play" even more seriously than an administrative body.

Certainly, an honor council is not a complete solution to the problem. Faculty members still would control their exams and theme assignments just as closely as before. They would recommend cases to the student council for investigation and action.

Perhaps no ominous problem of student honesty is present at this time at TCU. But the time for prevention is now, before the matter arises.

Gentlemen . . .

If I may call you such a certain statement in last week's Skiff particularly aroused my ire. This statement of fact was quoted from a certain authority named Windegger in an article on Park Hill living.

It may be interesting to form the males of this race that some women are not "home economics" majors, how. Some of us consider ourselves of more significance than as ornamental objects have around the house for purpose of race preservation. In short — we would not be considered "GREY" capital letters.

Acceptance as an individual with some degree of intelligence, initiative and the fulfillment of life is a more satisfying.

Womanhood, in my opinion, along with a few enlightened males with whom I have contact, is worthy of more respect than contained in Mr. Windegger's comment.

A member of womanhood

Dear Sir,

The Oct. 5 issue of The Skiff contained an article by Perkins concerning parking facilities at TCU. Some long-range plans for parking sounded good, but most to be done on the short term.

The faculty and administration expect the students to attend classes and live in dorms; but how can they do so when they can't park near the buildings? is, without getting a parking ticket — and this is the spot!

It is nice to have wide ways and two-way streets around the campus. However, when there is no other way within blocks to park, does the traffic department insist on keeping its wide ways and two-way streets?

The dope about not parking in front of the sidewalk in front of the SC is absurd if you watch the college students cut across drives and seldom use walks anyway.

To sum up this article, $2 tickets hurt, and we many are unjustly given a little plugging along line from The Skiff with some action.

Respectfully,
H. C.

STUDYING CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

Is studying bugging you? Do you have trouble remembering names, dates, facts, figures, and the location of the library? Dear friends, it need not be so. All you have to do is master the simple art of mnemonics.

Mnemonics, as we all know, was invented by the great Greek philosopher Mnemon in 526 B.C. Mnemonics, incidentally, was only one of the many inventions of this fertile Athenian. He is perhaps best known for his invention of the staircase, which, as you may imagine, was of inestimable value to mankind. Before the staircase, people who wished to go from floor to floor had to leap from springboards. This meant, of course, that aged and infirm persons were forced to live out their lives, willy-nilly, on the ground floor, and many of them grew cross as bears. Especially Demosthenes, who was elected consul of Athens three times but never served because he was unable to get up to the office of the commissioner of oaths on the third floor to be sworn in.

But after Mnemon's staircase was invented, Demosthenes got up to the third floor easy as pie and took the oath-to Athens' sorrow, as it turned out. Demosthenes, his temper shortened by years of confinement to the ground floor, soon embroiled his countrymen in a series of senseless and costly wars with the Persians, the Visigoths, and the Ogallala Sioux. He was voted out of office in 517 B.C., and Mnemon, who had made his accession possible, was pelted to death with fruit salad in the Duomo.

But I digress. We were discussing mnemonics, which are nothing more than aids to memory - catchwords or jingles that help you to remember names, dates, and places. For example, any student of American history surely knows the little jingle:

*Columbus sailed the ocean blue
In fourteen hundred ninety two.*

You see how simple a mnemonic is? There is no reason why you can't make up your own. Say, for instance, that you are proceeding with American history.

*The Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock
In sixteen hundred twenty, doc.*

(This jingle is especially useful to medical students.) The next important event is the Boston Tea Party. Let us compose a rough-and-ready couplet about that:

*Samuel Adams flung the tea
Into the briny Zuzyder Zee.*

You can see how simple and useful they are - not only for history, but also for current events. For instance,

*In nineteen hundred fifty six
It's the cigarette that clicks!*

What, you ask, is the cigarette that clicks? Why, Philip Morris, of corris! And why shouldn't it click? Could any cigarette be more pleasing to the palate? No! Could any cigarette be more tempting to the taste buds? No! A thundering, thumping, resounding no! Get some today, hey. You'll see.

©Max Shulman, 1956

You won't need mnemonics to remember the wonderful natural flavor of Philip Morris Cigarettes, whose makers are delighted to bring you this column every week.

Brite College Has Students From Wide Area

The record enrollment of Brite College this year shows students from 25 states, the District of Columbia and the Philippine Islands working toward degrees of bachelor of divinity and master of religious education.

The students completed undergraduate work at 41 colleges and universities.

The enrollment includes 123 Disciples of Christ, 22 Methodists, two Baptists and three members of the Assembly of God.

Dean Henson explained that perhaps the new facilities and additions to the faculty were contributing factors in the increased enrollment.

"However, there has been a 15 per cent rise in the Graduate School enrollment itself," he pointed out.

Parents to Probe TCU

By DALE EDMONDS
This corner would like to extend a Hardy welcome (friends of Hardy George will appreciate this) to the parents of all the other students on TCU's second annual Parents Day.

I would welcome my parents too, but they won't be coming. You see, I was always too poor to afford a set.

No, I jest. Despite my remonstrances, bribes and lies to the contrary, I fully expect my mother to appear on campus tomorrow with intent to probe into the fate of some six trillion dollars which have greased my collegiate path for the past four years.

In particular she'll be looking for the laundry and cleaning establishment which has been charging me about $40 a month, the textbooks which average a $75 output per semester, and the trustees of the Depraved Students Retirement Plan, to which we all must contribute $80 a month.

Alas, she won't find a trace, and will finally realize that her baby boy will "never amount to a hill of beans."

All this is leading up to our invention: "Form Letter to Parents from Typical College Student."

Just fill in the blanks with appropriate information, and mail us 10 per cent of the dividends you reap:

Squeaky Voice of Dumb Blonde Rings in Little Theater Opener

How does Sandra feel about having a lead in her first year in college? Why, she's "thrilled." Sandra said her chief problem was remembering that Billie is "dumb." She mastered the high-pitched squeaky voice that's associated with the role.

"Billie is the typical dumb blond," Sandra explained. "But she reveals a hidden sense of perspective as the plot develops."

Although a freshman, Sandra has a long line of dramatic experience behind her.

She made her drama debut at 8 when she appeared on a radio show for the Community Chest. At 14 she attended the Bliss Haden School of Theater in California. Upon her return to Fort Worth she was chosen for a major role in a production of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

While attending Our Lady of Victory Academy, Sandra won a "best actress" award in a play. She appeared in "Antigone." Playing the title role in "Mary, Queen of Scots" she received the first-place actress award in a state contest.

Many may remember Sandra for her appearance in last year's Fallis Players' musical. When one of the lead actresses was ill, Sandra stepped from the chorus and took over the part, memorizing her lines just before entrances.

Here she proved to be a real "trouper."

As for the future, Sandra is considering going into the professional theater but would also like to teach drama.

"It's a rather hard choice to make," she said, "but if I chose to teach, I could be active in community theater."

And what about problems? Sandra shrieked at the word.

In Act I of "Born Yesterday" Sandra has to sing a few lines of "Anything Goes."

"Thank goodness I don't have to sing well, for I'd never make it," she exclaimed. "I'm tone deaf."

But don't fret. Two other ladies of the theater, Katherine Cornell and Helen Hayes, can't sing a note and they're doing all right.

All students have been invited to attend the lecture.

Telerama to Resume; 'Judge' Cast Named

By JANE REDDELL
"Telerama," produced by the TCU radio-television department, will begin its second season of weekly telecasts over KFJZ-TV at 12:45 p.m. next Friday.

The first program will feature Dr. Ralph Guenther and Kenneth Schanewerk in a flute and violin recital.

The television department will review classroom procedures and summer films on the Nov. 9 show.

Scenes from the forthcoming Mozart opera, "Idomeneus," will be viewed on Nov. 16.

Five-dollar season tickets for Fort Worth appearances of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra will be on sale in the fine arts office until Nov. 7.

The symphony's first appearance is scheduled for Nov. 13.

Dr. Walther Volbach and Dr. E. L. Pross will be the guests of the University of Texas this weekend for the annual South-west Theater Conference.

During the conference Dr. Volbach will speak on his participation in the International Musicological Conference in Vienna and will serve on a panel discussing "Directing."

Dr. Pross will be a member of a panel discussing "Summer Stock Season in College."

Several TCU students will attend the conference, which includes colleges from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

Study Grants In Mexico Set

Care to study in Mexico? The Mexican government offers 16 awards to graduate and undergraduate students for the academic year beginning March 1.

Graduate students will be given preference, and undergraduates must be juniors or seniors.

Men and women under 35 and single are preferred. Some of the graduate fields are architecture, art, biological sciences and ethnology.

Among the undergraduate fields are philosophy, languages and literature.

Applications must be in by Thursday.

Write to: U. S. Student Department, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, N. Y.

Deadline Is Set For Draft Test

A reminder that midnight Wednesday is the application deadline for Selective Service qualification tests is being given to all TCU males in danger of being drafted.

The tests will be given Nov. 15. Applications must be mailed to the Selective Service Examining Section in McHenry, Ill. Information concerning the tests will be available at all Texas local boards.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said that along with being eligible for the draft a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be pursuing a full-time course of instruction and must not have taken the tests before.

Texas at the Dallas Art Museum last week.

The cast for the American premier of "The Judge," second major production of the year, was announced by Clayton Fields, technical director of the Little Theater.

Miss Diane Rtepe, Fort Worth senior will be stage manager for the production scheduled for Dec. 7-8 and 11-15.

Dr. August O. Spain will become a visiting professor at the University of San Andres, Bolivia, for six months, beginning March 1.

The government department chairman will leave sometime in February. He will return to TCU in September.

He received the grant to lecture on American government and politics through the Department of State's cultural exchange program through the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The program is similar to the Fulbright plan, but it applies to non-Fulbright countries, Dr. Spain said.

Political Debate Set During Next Week

As they have always done, students will rush in where angels fear to tread during two political debates scheduled for next week.

A combined meeting of the Young Democrats, Young Republicans and the Government Club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center will feature a debate on the issues of the present presidential campaign. Bob Slagle will defend the Democrats, and the Republican debater will be selected shortly.

Student Christian Association members will hold their debate at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 203 of the Student Center. Dr. W. J. Hammond will take the offensive for the Republicans, while Dr. Comer City will present the Democratic side.

Lutheran Student Movement members will organize at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 1800 West Exchange. Pastor Walter E.

Dorre will speak at the dinner meeting.

John Swomley, executive secretary for the Fellowship of Reconciliation, will speak to the Homiletic Guild at noon Thursday, in Weatherly Hall.

TCU Chamber of Commerce members and their dates will have a picnic at 6:30 p.m. today at Fosdick Lake. Chaparrones will be by Dr. John L. Wortham and Prof. Charles P. Foote.

Ray Statler, geologist for Stanolind Oil Co., will speak to the Geology Club at 7 p.m. Thursday in Room 310 of the Science Building. His subject will be "Cretaceous Rocks of Northern Mexico."

Army Rifle Team Defeats A&M Squad

By FRANK PERKINS

The Army ROTC rifle team, fresh from the first victory in history over the Texas A&M squad, looked forward with renewed confidence this week to a match with the University of Texas Nov. 17.

At College Station Saturday the TCU team fired 1,379 to the Aggie's 1,376.

This is the first time TCU has posed a serious threat for the Southwest rifle conference championship.

Texas A&M and the University of Texas have won the title alternately in the past years, with TCU placing out of the race.

Last year, the TCU squad placed third, losing to A&M and the University of Texas, while defeating Baylor, Rice, and SMU in conference matches.

If TCU should win the Texas match, the conference championship is almost assured.

The Army ROTC battalion announced promotions and appointments within the battalion yesterday.

Promoted to the rank of cadet major was Capt. Robert H. Walker, Fort Worth senior.

Raised to the rank of captain was 2nd Lt. James R. Sharp, Duncan, Okla., senior.

Promoted to first lieutenant were 2nd Lts. Lantz Feris, Milton L. Aston, Jerry Collins, Paul Harvard, Ronald E. Moore, Robert E. Riggins, Lawrence Story, Vernon Uecker and Frank Windegger.

The following MS III appointments also were announced:

Named as battalion sergeant-major was Cadet M/Sgt. Larry G. Lands, Fort Worth junior. Cadet M/Sgts. Ronald R. Coleman, Dallas junior; Reuben Fechner, Taylor junior; George DePee and Roland S. Jary, both Fort Worth juniors were appointed as company first sergeants.

Appointed platoon sergeants were M/Sgts. Donald L. Campbell, Noel F. Morrow, and Frank Perkins, all Fort Worth juniors, and Frank Hyde, Cleburne junior.

Rush Statistics Reflect Growth Of Sororities

Sororities are bigger and better than ever — at least they're bigger.

Figures for this fall's rush period indicate that 15 per cent more women are affiliated with sororities than this time last year.

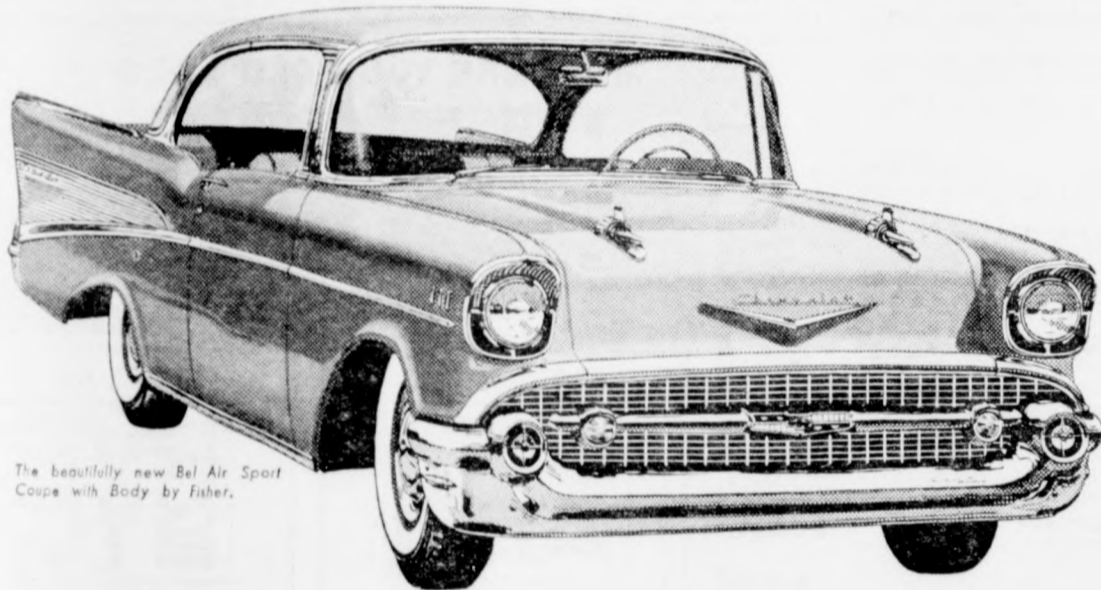

Forty-one per cent of all TCU undergraduate women are now sorority members as compared to last year's 26 per cent.

Of the 452 full-time freshman women enrolled at TCU, 220 pledged sororities this fall. Twenty-five of these were accepted in open rush.

Eighty-five per cent of the total rushees were placed. Seventy-one women dropped out of rush or were not placed.

"Fewer women dropped out of rush this year," Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director, reported.

How About That

Truth Revealed By Press Box Wise Guy

By DAVE BROWN

Somebody in the Kyle Field pressbox said it, just after the TCU-A&M football game last Saturday: "It sure must be tough writin' behind a losin' team."

The remark was made to the Fort Worth contingent of sports reporters in general, but being the representative of the school paper made us all the more conscious of it.

The near-unanimous laugh that followed hurt too,—for a minute.

Then we got to thinking—Those guys weren't laughing at TCU—they were laughing at the guy who had made the remark.

It's come to the point where sports people in general don't EXPECT the Frogs to do anything but win, which in our point of view, is a happy situation indeed.

And, to our way of thinking, this rise of the reputation of TCU is due almost principally to one guy, who's an All-American if ever there was one.

We've had the occasion to be around him in victory and in defeat.

Saturday, in the Frog dressing room, no one took the 6-7 nudging any harder than did he, yet no one heard him for a minute admit that the Frogs weren't the world's greatest or that they wouldn't come back this week to "rise again."

Last December, after he'd had what everybody termed a "great" season, we went down to the stadium to make some photographs of him.

As we were getting the picture arranged, a stray football thudded perilously close to us and our high-priced, school-owned camera.

"Guess there's hazards in everything," we commented.

"Yes," he said thoughtfully, looking at the empty seats in the stadium, "there sure are."

After the Cotton Bowl game, his words sounded mighty prophetic.

Yep, for our money, you just couldn't get a better coach than Abe Martin.

They'll Do It Every Time Department: On the way home from College Station, a carload of Frog students was stopped with a flat tire.

Who was the only car that stopped to aid?

You guessed it. An Aggie senior.

The TCU students in that car had to take back all the cuss words they'd said about the Farmers. That's what hurt.

About last week's football contest—we really didn't get fouled up as the story on page 1 would have you believe. Just wanted to see if you all were wide awake.

And out of the nearly 200 entries exactly six caught the errors. One more caught one of them and let three others slip past.

The contest this week has been checked by nearly everyone on the staff and we're pretty sure it's correct.

Joe Trash entered the contest again. He guessed all the games correctly, but his 1,055 points in the A&M tilt was a bit off.

Tough luck, Joe.

Martin Will Use 'Shuttle' Against Miami Tomorrow

In the wake of last Saturday's heart-breaking 6-7 loss to the Texas Aggies, Frog Coach Abe Martin announced several changes on the first team line-up and a new individual "shuttle service" substitution plan for tomorrow night's game with the Miami Hurricanes.

John Groom will get the starting left guard call, replacing Captain Joe Williams, who will move back to his regular center slot.

ABE MARTIN . . . win a few, lose one.

Center James Ozee will return to the second team but is expected to nearly equal Williams in playing time.

Chico Mendoza, junior end, probably will replace John Nikkel at left end. Nikkel has an injured knee.

Jay Ray McCullough, first team guard, who has been out with injuries since the Kansas tilt, is expected to return to action against the Hurricane.

"I didn't feel that I could trust the second team to stop the Aggies Saturday," Martin said, in explaining why he had not substituted more. The Frog regulars played a large majority of the game.

Defense Worries Wog Cage Coach

The 1956-57 Wog basketball players will sport a strong, break offense, but will be short on defensive ability, pre-freshman Coach Johnny Swaim.

"Our defense develops," Swaim says, "we should have fine club."

Incidentally, Coach Swaim is stranger to TCU — he was Frog basketball ace from 1930 to 1953.

Composing this year's Wogs are: Gary Roberson, 6-5, Midland; Tommy Meacham, 6-5, Fort Worth Poly; Sonny Henderson, 6-2, Odessa; Bobby Tyler, 5-11, and Tommy Turner, 5-10, Fort Worth Paschal; Donny Benham, 6-0, Andrews; F. A. Davis, 6-3 Childres; George Jenkins, 6-3, Fort Worth Arlington Heights.

Also Bennett Shotwell, 6-0, Fort Worth Paschal; Harold Curtis, 6-3, and Don Williams, 6-6, Dallas; Curtis Jones, 6-3, St. Louis, Mo., and Eddie Smith, 5-10, Farwell.

Swink's Balance

Marvin Lasater Stars As High Schooler, Wog

By TONY CLARK

"The best all-round player to come out of West Texas in the past 10 years."

That's how a group of West Texas sports writers described TCU's freshman halfback, Marvin Lasater.

This praise came in connection with the San Angelo lad's being chosen West Texas' 1955 high school "Back of the Year."

Marvin also was an all-state football selection in 1955.

Of Lasater's running ability, Wog Coach Fred Taylor says he has fair speed, fine co-ordination and a sense of balance "a lot like Swink's." Taylor adds that Marv is a "good competitor . . . (he) really loves the game."

Marvin, brother of varsity squadman Albert Lasater, says he is happy with TCU and its football program; however, he feels there is a great deal of difference between college ball and high school style.

But the change did not seem to have too great an effect on Marv as he contributed 65 yards on 10 carries as the Wogs downed the Arkansas Shoats Saturday, 20-0.

He used 26 yards of his total early in the fourth period when he took a pitch-out from Wog quarterback Jack Sledge and went the distance for the six points.

Lasater, almost 6 feet tall and 185 pounds, was off to a great start in the Wogs' opening swamp of the A&M Fish, with one tally to his credit when he was ejected from the game early in the second period.

Coach Taylor explained the situation thus: "He and another kid were roughing each other up, and Marvin got caught."

Lasater followed up with one of the season's top understatements to date when he said for his part in the incident, "I was irritated!"

ground gainer with 82 yards. Fullback Buddy Dike had the best running average. He carried nine times for 43 yards and a 4.8 average.

Despite 90 mile-per-hour winds in Bryan, Chuck Curtis completed nine passes for 101 yards.

Tomorrow will see a change in conference standings as all SWC teams play loop games except TCU and Arkansas.

Game Series Announced For Women's 'Murals

The women's intramural program will begin Monday. Tournaments in tennis, badminton, archery and putting have been announced by Miss Mary Ruth Taylor, Wichita Falls junior, director of the program.

Physical education majors and minors beat Kappa Alpha Theta 12-1 in softball Oct. 18.

The Women's Sports Association is sponsoring a display of Reed and Barton silver in Room 216 of the Student Center at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Rain Damages Band Uniforms At Aggie Game

Its operation cleanup this week after approximately $2,000 worth of Horned Frog band uniforms were damaged during the downpour at College Station Saturday.

"But the damaged uniforms are still usable," Band Director Jim Jacobsen said. "We rushed them to the cleaners early Sunday."

He added that the band members' plastic poncho raincoats are ideal for "normal" rainstorms, but the high wind curtailed their efficiency Saturday.

It's impossible to determine the damage done to music, he said, and a few instruments were dropped and jammed during the confusion.

'Frogs Will Rise Again' -- Abe

—Skiff Photo By BILL SAYMOUR

AND THERE STOOD WILLIE — Actually, Willie — Frog End O'Day Williams — wasn't standing. It was more like flying, as he made a spectacular, one-handed catch in the end zone Saturday for the Purple's only score against Texas A&M. Quarterback Chuck Curtis tossed the 12-yard heave late in the third quarter. The Aggies came back in the final period to nip the Frogs, 7-6. Spots on the photo were caused by the heavy, driving rain which fell throughout most of the contest.

Freshmen Stomp Arkansas, Prepare for Baylor Thursday

Having defeated the Arkansas and A&M freshman teams, TCU's Wogs take a rest this weekend in preparation for the Baylor Cub game Thursday.

Despite the fact the Wogs have won both of their games this year, Coach Fred Taylor isn't enthusiastic about the team's performance.

"We can't loaf along and win the rest of our games," Taylor said. "Potentially, we're much better than we looked in Fort Smith Saturday. We played fine ball for two periods and loafed two."

The Wogs blanked Arkansas' Shoats 20-0.

TCU made 13 first downs to the Shoats' 14 and the Wogs led the rushing 238 yards to 209.

Jackie Sledge passed the Shoats dizzy before the 7,000 fans at the charity game.

TCU completed 11 of 17 passes for 168 yards. Arkansas

Former Football Player Killed in Jet Accident

Ensign Grover Lee Cribbs, Navy pilot and former TCU football player, was killed Monday when his F4D Skyray plane crashed near Miramar Naval Air Station, San Diego.

Cribbs made all-state guard at Arlington High School in 1951 and played freshman football at TCU before entering the Navy.

He was the son of Police Chief and Mrs. A. B. Cribbs of Arlington.

threw one pass for 26 yards.

Marvin Lasater, Jack Spikes, and Jim Gilmore scored for the Wogs. Spikes and Jack Redding kicked extra points.

Coach Taylor was pleased with the running of Billy Gault, who romped 40 yards to set up the final Wog tally.

The Wog coach said his team's attitude and spirit was affected by the Varsity-A&M game.

"The team listened to the game's every play," Taylor said. "They cheered like mad every time TCU made a first down, but the final score really depressed them."

All 34 freshmen on the traveling squad saw service Saturday.

Miami Hurricane To Hit Tomorrow

By JAY CRUM

Tomorrow the TCU Frogs will have the opportunity to show the nation and themselves the stuff champions are made of. The University of Miami, one of the country's top independent powers, will test the Frogs at 8 p.m. at TCU's Carter Stadium.

As a 7-6 score sent Texas A&M ahead in the Southwest Conference Saturday, the Frogs consoled themselves with the fact that they'd done their best.

"It's one thing to be beaten and another to lose in the scoreboard; we gave the game all we had, and knowing we did is important." That's the way end John Nikkel summed up the Frogs' sentiments.

Speculation around the conference is that Miami will show whether TCU lost more than a ball game at College Station.

Upsets Cloud 'Mural Pattern

Numerous upsets, tight games, and runaways kept first-round intramural football contests from establishing any set pattern for the program.

The Phi Deltis defeated SAE 14-0 Oct. 17 in their first league meeting although SAE had previously beaten them in a practice clash. Billy Harlin was the Phi Delta Theta standout scoring one TD and passing to Jack Schnake for the other.

Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Sigma gave an exciting performance Oct. 18 with a game which the Delt's took, 21-20. Scoring passes from Jerry Ray — one to Harold Key and two to Gene Haney — accounted for Delt touchdowns.

Haney also booted three extra points, including the game deciding one. Tom Crum made two tallies for the losers.

In Oct. 18 independent action, the Chug-a-lugs crumbled the Seminarians, 34-13.

James Rutledge and Al Paschal led the lugs as Rutledge scored twice and Paschal ran for one TD and passed to Charlie Jordan for another. Glenn Brigman got both Seminarian markers.

The second round was begun last Tuesday when Sigma Chi blasted Phi Kappa Sigma, 31-0, and Lambda Chi Alpha rolled over Sigma Phi Epsilon, 20-0.

Jack Rader was the big gun for the Sigs. He rambled to paydirt three times. Larry Roseborough reeled off a 40-yard scoring jaunt for the Sigs' final tally.

Jim Finch, Kemp Pace and Charles Gober contributed one marker each to Lambda Chi's victory.

The Delt's Gene Haney led first round individual scoring with 15 points. Other leaders are Rutledge and Roseborough with 14 and Pace and Brigman with 12 each.

Poisoning Hits Bears

WACO, (Spl.) — More than 40 members of the Baylor University football team were stricken with food poisoning Wednesday afternoon.

Doctors said most of the squad should be able to play in the important A&M-Baylor Saturday.

No matter if TCU comes on the long or short end tomorrow's score the question will have been answered. Can TCU hide its disappointments and finish the season looking like Southwest Conference champions?

Tomorrow could be the proof of a great team or a finish, depending on how the Frogs feel and play the game.

Last week Miami was tied Georgia, 7-7. Florida paper quoted the Hurricane coaches saying the Miami team was too eager for TCU.

Miami played such teams as Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Pittsburg and TCU last year. The Hurricane won six and lost three games.

The Frogs beat Miami, 28-14, in a hard-fought game decided by extra points in last year's contest on the Hurricane home ground.

"TCU will rise again," he said that last year and we'll do it. We'll do it this year too," Coach Abe Martin told the Frog Club. "Last week was the end of our season as neither is Saturday."

The Frogs came out of College Station storm with minor bruises. Halfback Elmer Wineburg injured his hip, Trainer Elmer Brown expects him to be ready for Miami.

Jim Swink seemed to enjoy himself Saturday in probably the only bright note of the game. He was the game's leader.

Magazine Honors TCU's Dutchman

Coach Meyer took over baseball post in the spring of 1956 and guided the Hurricane Frogs, predicted to finish first in the Southwest Conference championship.

"Dutch" has directed TCU baseball team during other periods. He was coach from 1925 to 1933 and again from 1935 to 1945. He had another championship club in 1932.

L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, athletic director and baseball coach, has been selected "Outstanding Baseball Coach of the Year" by Coach and Athlete magazine.

Meyer was described as an outstanding coach not only of the Southwest but of the entire nation. He was awarded a plaque in recognition of honor.
