

TCU SHATTERS OLD RECORD

More Enrolled Than Ever Before

Enrollment figures at TCU reached an all-time high of 6,186 Wednesday as the 1956 record of 6,155 students topped. Registrar Calvin Cumbie predicts an even larger figure by tomorrow.

As of 9 a.m. Wednesday, registration figures showed an increase of 81 students over last year's 6,105. Entering freshmen and transfers comprised 1,300 of this year's number.

Registration will continue through noon tomorrow. A large number of late registrations still is expected when the final tally is made, especially in the Evening College.

Cumbie reaffirmed his prediction that total enrollment will be between 6,300 and 6,500 students, and said he expects a minimum 6,400 enrollment.

Undergraduate day school has the largest enrollment with 3,713, a 7 per cent increase over last year's 3,455. At least 25 more are expected to register before noon tomorrow.

Graduate School figures reveal a record enrollment of 442, an increase of 36 over last year's total. Cumbie stated that about 10 more are expected to enroll. The registrar attributed the large increase to a "greater interest on the part of professional people, especially engineers, in acquiring a better liberal arts education."

Erite College of the Bible is maintaining its last year's enrollment of 155 with at least five more expected to register.

The only division of the school showing a drop in enrollment is the Evening College, which has registered 1,976 students as compared to 2,089 in the fall a year ago.

Cumbie emphasized that usual late registration in the Evening College probably will increase the number to slightly less than last year's total.

"The economic situation is the main factor in the drop in enrollment since 1956, when the Evening College reached a record registration of more than 2,500 students," Cumbie said.

Even with the record enrollment, classes are not crowded. TCU now has facilities to handle 10,000 students. The enrollment is expected to reach that mark in the early 1960's.

The Student Center, cafeteria, and especially the parking areas, are taking the full brunt of the increased number of students.

Living quarters for both men and women are crowded, however, in spite of the new Sherley and Clark Hall dormitories.

Dr. H. G. Harmon of Drake To Speak at Convocation

Dr. Henry G. Harmon, president of Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, will be the speaker for TCU's annual fall convocation in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The event will formally open the school's 86th year, and all students and faculty are invited to attend. An honorary LL.D. degree will be conferred on the speaker by TCU President M. E. Sadler, who will preside during the convocation.

Dr. Harmon is the seventh president of Drake, a university related to the Disciples of Christ (Christian Church), as is TCU. The noted educator, a Phi Phi Beta Kappa, moved to Drake in 1941. He served seven years as president of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., earlier. He has won numerous awards.

An academic procession, headed by the faculty in full regalia, will open the convocation. Special music will be provided by Emmet G. Smith at the organ and by Ernest Lawrence of the voice department.

Mrs. Harmon will accompany her husband here. They will be guests of the university on campus and of President Sadler at the opening home football game for TCU against Arkansas University on the night of Oct. 4.

Dr. C. K. Holsapple, dean of the TCU Evening College, will prepare the honorary degree citation for Dr. Harmon.

Howdy Week Queen Likes Sports, Cooking and Sewing

By GAIL ROGSTAD

Like this year's Miss America, the 1958 Howdy Week Queen at TCU, Miss Lynda Renfro, is something of a tomboy and likes sports, including tennis, riding and hunting.

But she also cooks and sews and thinks that she might major in home economics here.

The versatile 18-year-old from Abilene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Renfro, was selected from eight finalists at the Howdy Week Dance in the Ballroom Saturday night.

She arrived at TCU the day following her birthday, Sept. 8, after having spent the summer in classes at McMurray College.

"I've done much of my own sewing for some time now," she said, "and I tried learning to cook from my mother while I was at home this summer."

Lynda, who's fond of animals, owns a horse, two poodles and two dachshunds, as well as a cat, fish and a bird.

Her younger brother, Skip, 12, often accompanies her on the horseback excursions and hunting trips made on her father's ranch about 14 miles from Abilene. Another brother, Bill, 3, is a bit young to go with them, she said.

The blue-eyed blonde is a former cheerleader at Abilene High School and played for the tennis team there during her sophomore and junior years.

She and her partner once placed second in a city doubles championship.

Miss Christie Smith, a close friend since the first grade and a fellow cheerleader in high school, was another finalist in the Saturday night judging.

Other runners-up were Misses Susan Shelburne of Sherman, Sandra Stone of Hobbs, N.M., Val-jean Le Croix of Big Spring, Linda Childress of Plainview, Kay Culver of Fort Worth, and Carole Crow of Corpus Christi.

They were judged by Ben Proctor, professor of history at TCU; Miss Shirley Lund, fashion co-ordinator for The Fair downtown, and Jack Gordon, amusements editor for the Fort Worth Press.

Christian Group Donations Give Finances Big Boost

By JOHN MOREHART

"Considering all operational expenses and capital investment, the tuition paid by an undergraduate student at TCU comes to only about 53 per cent of the total cost of a college education," says Dr. Lee C. Pierce, TCU's director of church relations.

An answer to this situation might be to raise the tuition

"But we would raise ourselves out of existence," says Dr. Pierce.

The real solution to the problem is the money donated to TCU by the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) of the Texas-New Mexico-Louisiana area.

"These people are the ones who enable TCU to keep its doors open so that students may get a college education," Pierce added.

"Without these people and others who give large sums, there would not be a TCU."

TCU has received over $200,000 this year from 239 Christian Churches. $98,543.27 of this is being spent on the library, and $109,515.83 will go into the Christian Leadership Education program.

The leadership program provides funds for educational expenses for ministers, missionaries and lay leaders. This program also aids the undergraduate religion department in its attempt to advance the religious education of all students.

Yearbook Pic

Freshman Deadline Is Oct. 6

Freshmen who want their pictures in the Horned Frog, TCU yearbook, must have them made by Friday, Oct. 6, and deadlines for upperclassmen have been set within the next two months.

All class pictures for the yearbook will be taken at Orgain's Studios, 705½ Main.

The cover and division pages, already printed, were designed by Leonard Logan, associate professor of art.

Editor John Cantwell says that several of the color pages have been sent to the printer. There are more color pictures this year than last.

Students enrolled in Journalism 129, an elective course offering one semester hour per year, will comprise the staff.

The class picture deadlines are:

Freshmen, Oct. 6; sophomores, Oct. 16; juniors, Oct. 27; seniors, Nov. 3.

CAFETERIA HOURS LONGER

New Cafeteria hours are in effect now, allowing extended times for all three meals. Logan Ware, Student Center director, points out.

Monday through Friday breakfast is served 6:30 a.m. to 9:15 a.m., lunch can be eaten from 10:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m., and dinner is available from 3:45 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday the hours are 7:30 a.m. to 9:15 a.m., 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The Snack Bar will be open Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m. On Saturday it will close at 6:30 p.m., and it will not open on Sundays.

Applications For Grants Due Oct. 3

The deadline for applications by eligible graduate students for the Danforth Scholarship for Teachers is Oct. 3.

These applications must be turned in to the deans of colleges, who in turn will pass their lists of nominees to Dean James Moudy of the Graduate School, who will announce the three winners.

The names of the three nominees must be sent to the Danforth Foundation before Oct. 15.

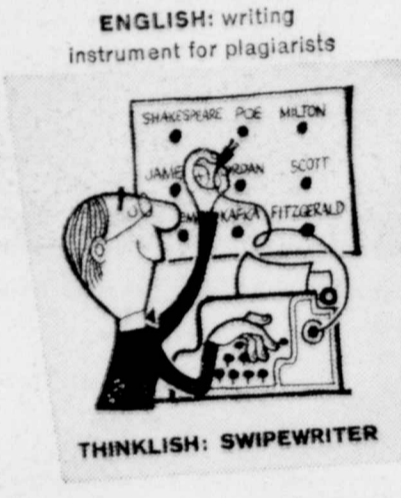

The foundation was established in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth of St. Louis. It was their intention that the foundation should serve the educational needs of men and women with special emphasis on the cultural and spiritual aspects of education.

Those receiving Danforth Teacher Study Grants will be chosen on the basis of potential excellence as teachers, outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

The winners of the scholarship are free to enroll for study at an accredited American university of their choice, and will be eligible to receive up to $4,800 in financial aid, plus tuition and all other official fees, during their year's study.

To qualify for the Danforth Scholarship, one must be between the ages of 25 and 40, and must have at least three years of teaching experience, two of which were on college level, plus one year of graduate study.

Eligible students are advised to place their applications with their respective deans immediately. For additional information, contact Ben Proctor, the dean of your college, or see the scholarship information sheet which will be posted on the Faculty Lounge bulletin board in the Administration Building.

Math Major Digs Missiles, Sets Sights on Rocket Job

By BOB SCHIEFFER
Miss Mary Jo Smith, a bright-eyed and eager freshman, announced she was majoring in physics and math, because some day she wanted to work with guided missiles. Professors did a double take, but advised the Fort Worth girl to "dig in," if that was really what she wanted to do. That was two years ago. Miss

Smith "dug in," and this week she returns for her junior year at TCU. Behind her is experience as a lab assistant, secretary in the physics department and a summer of work with Army ballistic missiles. She counts among her acquaintances the noted rocket expert, Dr. Werner Von Braun, and she is a card-carrying member of the American Rocket Society. Along the way she also has earned membership in Alpha Chi and the TCU Physical Society. As one of 18 college women who participated in the Army ballistic missile program in Redstone, Ala., Miss Smith served as a mathematician in the thermodynamics section of research projects.

MISS AT MISSILE CENTER

Miss Mary Jo Smith, Fort Worth junior, was one of 18 women to participate in the Army ballistic missile program at Redstone, Ala., this summer. She is majoring in physics and mathematics here.

Along with more than 200 summer employees, chosen from 1,000 applicants that included college students and professors and high school science teachers, Miss Smith helped solve problems that put America's satellites into orbit.

That is, all except one problem.

"We were conducting calculations concerning infrared radiation on an object in space (how much sunlight hits an orbiting satellite). About the only thing I proved was that my method didn't work," she said.

Miss Smith wasn't always interested in rockets. She served as concertmistress in the all-city concert during high school.

The daughter of Ed Smith of 2012 May Street in Fort Worth, she says she would like to work another summer at Redstone, then take a permanent position there for at least two years before going into private industry—working with rockets and missiles, of course.

Panhellenic, IFC Organize; 419 Rushees Are Pledged

The 18 fraternities and sororities are sending delegates to Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council meetings this week and next as the Greek governing bodies organize for the year.

The respective groups pledged a total of 127 men and 292 women in formal rush weeks that ended recently. The pledges were chosen from 552 students who were registered for rush.

Each of the eight fraternities were represented at an initial IFC meeting at 5 p.m. yesterday in the Kappa Sigma chapter room. Charlie Cooper, Galveston junior, is president.

The first Panhellenic meeting is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Alpha Delta Pi chapter room, when Miss Sara Rogers, Dallas senior, will preside. The all-sorority group regularly meets on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

Rush figures for the sororities showed that Zeta Tau Alpha pledged the largest number of women with 38. Kappa Delta and Alpha Delta Pi pledged the least number with 23 each.

Delta Delta Delta pledged 25; Chi Omega, 31; Kappa Alpha Theta, 33; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 31; Alpha Gamma Delta, 25; Delta Gamma, 36, and Pi Beta Phi, 27.

The Chi O's, Tri Deltas, Thetas, Kappas and Zetas each reached their quotas of 73 total active and pledge membership.

Among the fraternities, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta were the only two groups who pledged their quotas of 20 men each. They also pledged the greatest number of men.

Seventeen men picked up bids from Sigma Chi. Sigma Phi Epsilon pledged 18; Delta Tau Delta, 15; Lambda Chi Alpha, 18, and Kappa Sigma, 11. Phi Kappa Sigma pledged eight men, the least number among the groups.

First Student Cowgirl

4H Coed Winner Enrolls In Ranch Training Class

By DORIS STANLEY
 "I'm a new cowhand, here at Froggie Land!" That's the theme song of Miss Emily Ann Terrell, 20-year-old Alvin freshman.

Why? Miss Terrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Terrell, is the only girl in the Texas Christian University Ranch Training Program. The program is designed to provide an opportunity for students to study all phases of ranch operation. Since Miss Terrell already was interested in cattle, she tucked this bit of information away in the back of her mind earlier.

At that time, however, the course in Ranch Training was offered only to men.

"The reason no women were admitted to our classes then," explains Arthur Courtade, director of the Ranch Training Program, "was simply because we weren't prepared to take girls. We have had a few women to sign up for the class, but Miss Terrell is the first one to stick it out."

Miss Terrell made it a point to visit the TCU campus last year. "People were so friendly," exclaims the newcomer, "I decided right then TCU was for me."

Her interest in cattle raising certainly has paid off. Since joining the 4H Club in Alvin six years ago, Miss Terrell has raised a twice Grand Champion Hereford and a Jersey heifer, which won second place at the Angleton Fair, plus several other ribbon winners.

All of this stock was fed and cared for each day by Miss Terrell. In addition to honors for her cattle, she has won awards for just about everything from canning to candy.

The Ranch Training Program class this semester also includes six students from out of state. They are: Hugh S. Foraker, Show Low, Ariz.; William G. Jacopin, Stratford, Conn.; Donald E. Marsh, Yalesville, Conn.; Oliver P. Shupe, Ashland, Kan.; John F. Timms, South Amboy, N.J.; and Larry Peck, Bartlesville, Okla.

Independents Organized This Year

The Woman's Independent Club, organized last year to provide service and social opportunities for non-Greek women on campus, will have a more active part in college activities this year through organization.

They will hold their first party of the year Monday at the Student Center. All independent girls are invited, President Judy Oelfke says.

Home Converted For Newman Club

Through the generosity of anonymous benefactors, the TCU Newman Club finally has found a home.

The spacious, 2-story house, located at 2918 Princeton, is the former residence of E. M. Waits, past president of TCU. It was purchased for $23,500 Aug. 1.

The initial cost and the majority of funds for the redecorating and upkeep expenses are derived from donations made by persons who have asked that their names remain anonymous. Since then, the club members have been hard at work, repairing and redecorating for incoming students.

The house has facilities for business and social meetings, studying, and religious services in the temporary chapel. The permanent chapel, according to Rev. Hugh Reilly, chaplain of the club, will be completed in a few months.

"When it is completed, we hope to say daily Mass for the benefit of those students who find it impossible to attend services elsewhere."

Rev. Reilly also stated that all work on the house would be finished by the end of the school year and will feature complete air conditioning, recreational facilities (including a barbecue pit and pool table) and a lending library.

James Breedlove, Fort Worth senior and president of the Newman Club, says the schedule of the club includes a religious service every Tuesday at 11 a.m. and regular meetings every Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Breedlove also said that plans were being made for an all-city open house some time in October, as well as participation in Parent's Day and Religious Emphasis Week.

The Newman Club's first meeting of the year was held Sunday after the First Call religious program, and new students were invited to the house for a short talk and a social.

Two Attend LXA Meet

Two members of the TCU chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha recently returned from the fraternity's national general assembly in Montreal, Canada.

Frank Miles, Fort Worth junior, and Ronald Wahle, Fort Worth senior, toured the southern states, Washington, D.C., and New York City on the way. They visited Toronto and Niagara Falls on the return trip.

More than 600 delegates and visitors attended the convention held Aug. 30-Sept. 3. Thirty bills were passed by the assembly.

Next national meeting of Lambda Chi Alpha will be at the Management Training Seminar at DePauw University next summer. The next general assembly will be in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Three Important Reasons For Registration of Vehicles

Students are urged to register their cars as soon as possible in order to help security officers. This is a university requirement and may be done in Room 7 of the Administration Building.

Registration and decals are necessary for three reasons:

1. Permits identification of car owners in emergency.
2. Insures parking space for TCU students only.
3. Helps security officers with control of parking areas.

At present, only cars parked illegally are being ticketed. After the deadline Sept. 29, those without decals also will be ticketed. The charge for the first offense will be $3, and each succeeding ticket will be more.

Dr. Sells Speaks At Air School

Dr. Saul B. Sells, professor of psychology, is speaking today to the Squadron Officers School of the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala.

Subject of the talk will be "Military Leadership and Group Effectiveness."

On Tuesday, Dr. Sells spoke to the Fort Worth Life Insurance Underwriters Association on the subject of Human Motivation.

Dr. Sells is the newest psychology professor and is an authority on aviation psychology.

Musicians To Get Tips

TCU and the University Interscholastic League will sponsor a conference on marching at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow for school administrators, music directors and contest judges in the Fine Arts Building.

The purpose of this conference is to consider ways and means of standardizing and clarifying judging procedures, from the points of view of both judges and directors.

The meet is expected to be attended by 250 members from colleges and high schools which belong to the league.

TCU Chemistry Approved By Accrediting Agency

The chemistry division here this week received the highest possible accreditation, approval by the American Chemical Society, according to Dr. Henry Hardt, division chairman.

The society has been recognized as the highest accrediting agency in the field, and makes its selections for accreditation in conjunction with the Southern Association of College and Secondary Schools in this area.

A committee of President Jones of Texas Technical College and Dr. Kenneth Cook of the University of Oklahoma inspected the campus in behalf of the society after TCU applied more than a year ago.

Dr. Hardt appeared before the society in Chicago recently.

The division was judged on its buildings, facilities for chemical work, number of doctorates on the staff, equipment issued to students, research programs, and teaching loads in the field.

Dr. S. Lyles Authors Two New Papers

Two articles on cholera research conducted the past two years by Dr. Sanders T. Lyles, associate professor of biology, have been published recently.

One article appeared in "Bacteriological Proceedings of 1958," an annual publication. The other article, "Studies on the Antigenic Structure of Vibrio Cholerae," was published in the Journal of Infectious Diseases, Vol. CIII, for July and August.

Co-author with Dr. Lyles is Dr. Earl W. Gardner, who joins the biology department this fall as an assistant professor.

Dr. Lyles has written an article on the results of work on the antibiotic resistance of staphylococcus. He collaborated on the article with Clifton Dowell, M.A. '57. They will submit it to the Journal of Chemotherapy later this month. It will be published early next year.

Graduate Aid Available Now

Any student who is interested in a post-graduate scholarship should see Jim Kirby in the admissions office.

The deadline for placing applications on many scholarships is Nov. 1, 1958. Because many students do not apply in time, they can not get scholarships which they could otherwise receive.

Some of the scholarships available will pay all expenses for a student toward a higher degree.

A Selective Series

Do you care for light musical comedy, or perhaps a spine-tingling Spanish guitar, or maybe thou cravest The Bard, or is your taste more attuned to the binominal theorem and the relationship of the E equals mc<sup>2</sup> to the prospects of world peace?

Well, brother, we got 'em all.

This year's Select Series, following on the heels of last year's successful event, promises a lot of everything for everybody.

The event will feature a noted atomic scientist; a literary "concert" by Raymond Massey; a musical comedy, "The Boy Friend," starring Jill Corey; Andres Segovia, the dean of Spanish guitarists; the Heidelberg University Chorus, complete with "literhosen" and Tyrolean hats; Shakespeare's "Richard II," plus many other speakers and addresses.

Elizabeth Youngblood, social director, announced that only enough tickets to fill the 1,250 seats in TCU's Ed Landreth Auditorium will be sold.

From the lineup, it looks like the 1958-59 Select Series will appeal to all tastes, and that type of entertainment is hard to find for five bucks anywhere.

With Stacks Open Wide

Mary Coutts Burnett Library has started operations using the open-stack system, allowing undergraduate students to go into stacks, or book-storage areas, and select their books.

Faculty members and graduate students have had this privilege all along, but since university officials believe that students will read more if they have easy access to books, the library now is extending this privilege to undergraduates.

The open-stack system is quite simple. Students go as usual to the card catalog, look up the book they want and then find it for themselves in the stacks. The procedure is somewhat like that of a supermarket, for once the desired book is found, it must be checked out at the main checking desk at the library entrance.

In order to check out books, students must present their pink registration cards for identification, and, like in a supermarket, everything which the student is carrying must be exhibited in clear view for the librarians to see.

Students should find that having free access to the stacks will greatly increase their reading pleasure. Being well lighted and spacious, the stack areas provide a pleasant atmosphere for browsing among the books. There are plenty of chairs, tables, and study desks on every floor of the library, so that a student does not have to return to the main reading room once he has found his book.

Studying in the library will be more pleasant than in previous years. Typing rooms, group study rooms and a smoking lounge have been added.

Also, for graduate students there are about 50 carrels, or individual study desks, which will be assigned to them for their personal use. Even Brite College students now have a study area on the third floor specifically set aside for them. A microfilm room and a TCU archive room, resplendent with rare art objects, completes the library's study facilities.

Evolution of the Fish

By PAT BECKHAM

Two years ago today, former Editor Jim Hendricks filled this space with some interesting observations of the 1956 freshman. A few experts might give today's newcomers some useful knowledge about their predecessors.

"That peculiar collegiate animal, the freshman, is a rapidly changing entity at TCU," Hendricks wrote. "In the past two or three years, the TCU 'fish' has undergone a form of social and intellectual metamorphosis. He has lost a bit of crudeness and gained a few things which are part good, part bad.

"Until recent sessions, the TCU freshman typically was a happy-go-lucky, bright-eyed character, unwilling to accept quite a few ideas just because older, wiser heads expounded them.

"He ran around almost exclusively in Levis, and, if he were an average freshman, owned at best a beat-up jalopy with a motor that sounded something like the battle of Verdun.

"Things have changed.

"Now, the freshman, except for the traditional beanie, looks more like a junior or senior. He dresses stylishly, often expensively, even for classes. He owns a car, often no more than a year or two old, and he drives it a lot.

"He comes to college willing to a great extent to accept as gospel things he hears in lectures. Usually, he's most interested in 'What's the best movie in town?'

"And in some ways it is a good indication that TCU is at last becoming 'big time.' A university owes its students some measure of a social education as well as a mental workout."

The writer went on to explain that three reasons could be pointed out for the changes—the increased enrollment, the 18 campus Greek organizations, and the trend of TCU to become more fashionable than in the past.

Now, as then, the grooming for life after college is more intense than in earlier years and the process thereby gets results earlier.

On the other side of the picture, a measure of harm has been done by creating "types" of individuals whose development primarily is only social.

For many, the eagerness to raise questions in the classroom just for the sake of stretching the brain a little is gone. The business of getting a college education has become merely a dull routine of cramming for quizzes and mechanically writing themes.

Others have the proper perspective on college life. They will mix a temperate amount of social life with a well-rounded academic schedule.

They are the ones who will get their money's worth.

SW Campus Confidential

By JACK HARKRIDER

A&M . . .

A small notice in the Battalion reads as follows:

"Copies of the Aggieldand '58 are not yet available due to a delay by the firm handling the printing of the yearbook.

"Delivery of the Aggieldand is expected within two weeks . . ."

Seriously now, doesn't anybody love the Aggies?

The Battalion also relates:

"A total of 5,929 visitors was on the campus of A&M during the months of June, July and August.

"There were 2,947 visitors here during June, 2,389 during July, and 593 during August, the report shows."

Since they were never heard from since, they will be officially listed as "Missing in Action."

TEXAS . . .

The Daily Texan came up with an answer to the question, "What kind of man reads the Ranger (TU's monthly mag)?"

They say, "This is the kind of guy who'll bum cigarettes from you, steal your lighter and flick ashes on your rug. His hovel has a dirt floor, and he'll do almost anything from street fighting to joining the foreign legion . . ."

Hmmmm, this reminds me of a roommate I used to have.

This was listed as "Correction, please."

"The story in last week's Lariat reported that Baylor University received a grant of $19,000 from the Research Corporation of New York for chemistry research under the direction of Dr. A. G. Pinkus of the chemistry faculty.

"The amount given was incorrect. The grant was for only $1,900."

And this explains why Dr. Pinkus was overdrawn in his bank account.

NORTH TEXAS . . .

An article in the Campus Chat leads off:

"Gene Allison, 1953 graduate of North Texas, will soon trade his English bike for a camel, for when he gets his master's degree in elementary school administration in August he will head for Tripoli, Libya, where he will teach high school English in the American dependents' school."

I've heard of people walking a mile for a camel, but this is ridiculous.

Sealed Bids On Call Books Due Saturday

Sealed bids for the compiling and printing of the student directory will be accepted in the Student Congress office no later than noon Saturday, President Paul Youngdale advises.

If nobody is in the office, the bid may be left under the door in an envelope.

The student directory, Frog-calls, usually is put on sale in late November or early December.

HOW GREEN WAS MY CAMPUS

Don't tell me: I know how busy you've been! I know all the things you've had to do in the opening days of the school year—registering, paying fees, finding lodgings, entering a drag race, getting married, building a cage for your raccoon. But now, with all these essentials out of the way, let us pause and join hands and take, for the first time, a long, leisurely look at our campus.

Ready? Let's go!

We begin our tour over here on this lovely stretch of green-sward called The Mall. The Mall, as we all know, was named in honor of our distinguished alumnus Fred Mall, inventor of the opposing thumb. Before Mr. Mall's invention, the thumb could not be pressed or clicked against the other fingers. As a result, millions of castanet makers were out of work. Today however, thanks to Mr. Mall, one out of every three Americans is gainfully employed making castanets. (The other two make croquet wickets.) Mr. Mall is now 106 years old and living in seclusion on a sea cliff in Wellington, Kansas, but the old gentleman is far from idle. He still works twelve hours a day in his laboratory, and in the last year has invented the tuna, the cuticle, and lint.

But I digress. Let us resume our tour. At the end of The Mall we see a handsome edifice called The Library. Here books are kept. By "kept" I mean "kept." There is no way in the world for you to get a book out of the library... No, I'm wrong. If you have a stack permit you can take out a book, but stack permits are issued only to widows of Presidents of the United States. (That lady you see coming out of the library with a copy of Girl of the Limberlost is Mrs. Millard Fillmore.)

Next to The Library we see the Administration Building. Here one finds the president of the university, the deans, and the registrar. According to ancient academic usage, the president is always called "Prexy." Similarly, the deans are called "Dixie" and the registrar is called "Roxy." Professors are called "Proxy" and housemothers are called "Hoxy-Moxy." Students are called "Algae."

Diagonally across The Mall we see the Students Union. It is a gay mad place, frankly dedicated to the fun and relaxation of we undergraduates. Here we undergraduates may enjoy ourselves in one of two ways—with filter or without. We undergraduates who prefer filters, prefer Marlboro, of course. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! The filter filters, the taste is smooth but not skimpy, mild but not meagre.

We undergraduates who prefer non-filters, prefer Philip Morris, of corris. It is a natural smoke, a clean smoke, a flavorful, zestful, pure and peaceful smoke... Now hear this: Philip Morris and Marlboro each come in a choice of two packs—crushproof Flip-Top Box or the familiar Soft Pack.

So now, as the setting sun casts a fiery aura over the spires and battlements of our beloved campus, let us hie ourselves to our tobacconist's and lay in a night's supply of Marlboro or Philip Morris, and then let us, lowing, wind slowly o'er the lea to our dormitories and sit upon our army surplus cots, spent but content, and smoke and dream and hark the curfew toll the knell of parting day. Aloha, fair campus, aloha!

For a complete tour of smoking pleasure try filtered Marlboro and non-filtered Philip Morris, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year.

Lewis Collection Has Everything

By JOHN CANTWELL

Housed in a special air-conditioned room on the main floor of Mary Couts Burnett Library, the William Luther Lewis Collection provides the university with rare original source materials in English and American literature. A comparison is not to be found elsewhere in the Southwest.

Collected over a period of 30 years by Mr. Lewis, the collection contains nearly 900 first editions as well as important manuscripts and autograph letters.

Most of the works in the collection are by outstanding figures of the 17th, 18th and 19th Centuries.

Thomas A. Kempis' "Imitatio Christi," printed in Augsburg, Germany, about 1473, is the earliest work.

Among many others are first editions of Chaucer, Spenser, Milton, Pope, Wordsworth, Byron and Kipling. The collection also contains an exceedingly rare first issue of Edward Fitzgerald's "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," published in 1859.

Altogether, the Lewis collection is valued at approximately $500,000.

William Luther Lewis came to the United States from Wales. He entered the steel industry after completing his education, and by 1930 was an officer of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

After leaving Bethlehem Steel, he joined the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company, and in 1946 he was elected president of the firm.

Mr. Lewis visited Fort Worth in 1952, where Amon G. Carter was his host.

As a result of his visit with Carter, Mr. Lewis' fine book collection was purchased by the Carter Foundation after his death later in 1952.

The Carter Foundation has loaned the Lewis collection to TCU indefinitely.

Grants Help Dr. Hodgkins In Research

Dr. J. E. Hodgkins, associate professor of chemistry, worked the entire summer in his lab at TCU, using funds from two research grants awarded to him last May. The grants, amounting to $18,000, were awarded by the Research Corporation and the Welch Foundation over a 2-year period.

As a result of this summer's research, Dr. Hodgkins and his assistants showed the existence of divalent carbon in a new chemical reaction.

A paper, which Dr. Hodgkins is now writing on the work accomplished this summer, will be published next month.

Preston Reeves, Fort Worth graduate student, worked under the Research Corporation grant this summer. Working on the Welch grant with Dr. Hodgkins were D. J. Johnson, B.S. '58, Bill Yarger, Houston senior, and Larry Lands, B.S. '58.

Two Psychology Profs Address D.C. Meeting

Two professors of psychology, Dr. Sol Sells and Dr. Ernest Barratt, recently have returned from participating in the American Psychological Association in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Sells, who is new to TCU this fall, read papers for two symposiums. Dr. Barratt led a discussion on "Psychomotor Efficiency in a Conflict Situation Related to Anxiety and Impulsiveness."

Librarian Glenn Sparks and Rodney Spitler, Lufkin senior, pause to look at a valuable volume from the Lewis collection during a tour of the library. A special room will house the famed collection, which has almost 900 first additions.

Phi Delt's Convened At Asheville, N.C.

Four TCU members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity recently have returned from the Phi Delta's fifty-second national convention in Asheville, N.C., with some new ideas in rushing, pledge training and alumni association.

The men, all from Fort Worth, are Jerry Daniel, Bob Schieffer, Walton Lawrence and John Shields. Daniel was the Texas Zeta Chapter delegate to the convention, and the others served as alternates to the various meetings.

The general theme of the convention, which is held every two years, is to bring together Phi Delt's from Canada and the U.S. to consider problems that have arisen.

Workshops were held for various committees on all phases of fraternity life with "pointers-to-get-ahead" discussed.

Hall Named For Baileys

The newly rebuilt School of Education Building has been named the Bailey Building in honor of Mary Ann and Robert Bailey, West Texas pioneers, President Sadler has announced.

Their daughter, Mrs. Nora Gee of San Angelo, and other descendants, donated most of the $200,000 for repair to the structure, formerly called Brite Hall.

A memorial to the Baileys will be inscribed on a bronze plaque in the foyer and by the name over the building entrance.

The structure originally was erected in 1914 to house Brite College of the Bible, but later provided classrooms for the School of Education when the new Religion Center was completed in 1955.

AFROTC Enrollment Figures Are Doubled

Freshmen enrollment of 120 cadets in the Air Force ROTC program this week has doubled the figure for last year, the department of Air Science announced Tuesday.

The additions bring the total cadet enrollment to 197.

Recruiting efforts included a B-58 model display at the Air Force Information Center in the Student Center foyer, set up by members of the Arnold Air Society. The 5-foot-long B-58 and a smaller F106B model were on loan from Convair.

Personnel strength for the 845th AFROTC cadet group now includes 19 seniors, 16 juniors, 42 sophomores and 120 freshmen.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE - BUT TODAY'S L&M GIVES YOU-

Four field goals in one game by a man who'd never kicked one before! Bobby Conrad himself said, "I never kicked a field goal in high school or college. In fact, I never even tried." But the amazing Texas A&M back broke two All Star records by booting four three-pointers, including one for 44 yards, as the 1958 college stars upset the Detroit Lions, 35 to 19. Conrad is now a Chicago Cardinal.

Puff by puff Less tars & More taste

DON'T SETTLE FOR ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER!

Change to L&M and get 'em both. Such an improved filter and more taste! Better taste than in any other cigarette. Yes, today's L&M combines these two essentials of modern smoking enjoyment—less tars and more taste—in one great cigarette.

From the Sideline

By LEE GRIMSLEY

There will be a new look in TCU football this year, what with Abe Martin's new multiple offense, the one-arm blocking rule and the two-or-one extra-point option.

The NCAA rules committee approved the extra-point option this year, and the change threatens to revolutionize football.

A kick after a touchdown will add one point to the score, just as it has in past years, but a run or pass conversion that is successful will boost the margin two points.

In the case of the Horned Frogs, it will be difficult for the opposition to figure out which option will be exercised. In spring training last year, Sophomore Halfback Harry Moreland created a sensation when he revived the long-lost art of drop-kicking.

Moreland is capable of splitting the uprights with a kick from placement also, and this, coupled with his running and passing ability, will make the Frogs doubly tough on each conversion attempt.

Extra Point May Loom Big to Many

As yet, the scoring change hasn't brought about a flock of tie games as was predicted, but the college grid season is only a week old. High schools throughout the state are using the same rule, and there have been no more ties thus far than in previous years.

The impact of the two-point conversion has hit one coach however—L.H. (Buster) Dixon of Fort Worth's Amon Carter Riverside High School. After his team's opening game of the season, he was discussing the scoring change.

"Grand Prairie kicked off to us, and a minute and a half later they had scored a touchdown. They ran for the extra points, and when I looked up at that scoreboard—why the figure eight was that big around," he said, indicating a large circle with his arms.

Before the season ends in December, quite a few coaches throughout the nation will be thinking the same thing.

Which Way Did They Go?

Martin's new multiple offense will give the Horned Frogs a more versatile attack than they have had in recent years. The basic formation will consist of a balanced line with one of the ends split wide. A halfback will be stationed as a flanker on the opposite side of the field from the split end.

This alignment will be used mostly on pass plays, but also can be used for a running attack. The ground game will largely be run from the straight T that the Frogs have used since 1954.

However the new blocking rule shouldn't have much effect on football this fall, at least not after the players become accustomed to the new procedure of using only one arm with which to block an opponent. In the past, they have been able to use both arms across the chest in blocking, but doing so now will send the red flags floating to the turf.

Here are the predictions for Saturday's games:

- TCU 16, Iowa 13
- Texas A&M 22, Houston 7
- Baylor 40, Hardin-Simmons 8
- Stanford 18, Rice 7
- Ohio State 32, SMU 20
- Arkansas 28, Tulsa 0
- Texas 24, Tulane 15
- Texas Tech 19, West Texas State 13

Rule Change Hits Linemen

While the NCAA committee was passing a new point-after-touchdown rule to enliven football, thus giving backs more chance to score, they also came up with a new one for the linemen:

Previously linemen were allowed to block with both hands held against their chests and with elbows out. Thus, the big bruisers had themselves a dangerous weapon, as many a lineman caught an elbow in the eye or mouth. This method was used to great advantage in head-on blocking and in defending a passer.

Now the gridmen have a new problem with the rule change. A blocker can only use one arm with the hand tucked against the chest. This change is designed primarily to stop the numerous elbow throwings. It should allow a greater advantage to the defense, as slipping around a blocker is now easier.

Of course the new method of blocking has presented a problem to all ballplayers and the Frogs are no exception. In pre-season intra-squad games as many as 15 infractions of the rule were committed in a single game. But in the Kansas contest, Coach Allie White's linemen seemed to master the new situation. Not one penalty was called for infractions of the new rule.

"Dutch" to Catch Record Long Toss

One of the longest forward passes in history will be completed on the TCU campus Monday, Sept. 29.

In celebration of the silver anniversary of the Orange Bowl Classic, a silver football will be presented to L. R. "Dutch" Meyer, TCU's athletic director, by a member of the Delta Airlines staff some time after 3:30 p.m.

The football, a regulation Spalding ball painted silver, will be given to an airline pilot in Miami by LeRoy Collins, Governor of Florida. The pilot, in turn, will fly the ball to Fort Worth, a distance of 1,300 miles, and will then "pass" it to Meyer.

This ceremony is in recognition of TCU's appearance in the Orange Bowl in 1942. The opponent that year was Georgia University, who gave the Frogs a resounding 40-26 thumping.

IOWA FAVORED OVER TCU

Polls Rank Frogs Fifth In Nation

The Horned Frogs climbed to fifth in the nation on two polls and sixth on another by virtue of their 42-0 conquest of the University of Kansas.

United Press-International and the Williamson System picked the Christians fifth while Associated Press ranks them sixth in their weekly poll of the nation's sportswriters.

The Frogs were eighth in the nation last week.

This year marks the first time since 1956 that TCU has been among the 10 top-ranked teams in the country.

A victory over the highly-regarded Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday would boost the Frogs closer to the top rung on the national ladder.

The game will be broadcast direct from Iowa City over Stations KCUL in Fort Worth and WRR in Dallas.

Hawkeyes To Win By Five Points

By LEE GRIMSLEY

With an eye cast towards their first national championship since 1939, the TCU Horned Frogs shoot for their second straight victory of the year Saturday when they tackle Iowa.

The Frogs opened the season last week by toppling Kansas, 42-0, but the top-heavy decision failed to impress the professional oddsmakers—the Hawkeyes will enter the game as 5-point favorites.

Iowa has been on a victory tangent the last two years that has seen the Hawkeyes win 16 games while losing only two and tying one. In 1956, they won the Big Ten championship, dropping a 17-14 decision to the University of Michigan.

LOSE TO BUCKEYES

Last year they won seven games while losing to Ohio State (the national champions), 17-13, and tying Michigan, 21-21.

Coach Forest Evashevski will be entering his seventh season at the helm of the Hawkeyes. Since he took the reins in 1952, his teams have compiled a record of 31-21-3.

Evashevski was a quarterback on the great Michigan teams of 1938-1940, and led interference for All-American Tom Harmon.

DUNCAN KEY MAN

Five of the 16 Big Ten sportswriters see Iowa as the Big Ten champion again this fall, while the others see them finishing second to Ohio State.

The Hawkeyes' split-T attack will be built around the passing of Quarterback Randy Duncan and the power running of Fullback John Nocera.

Duncan, a shifty 6-1, 180-pounder, led the Big Ten in total offense last year with 1,133 yards. He completed 70 of the 119 passes he threw for a .583 average.

Record Sprint to Commerce

Garton Switch Unexpected

By BOB SCHIEFFER

Sidney Garton can run 100 yards in 9.5, but he covers the 120 miles between Fort Worth and Commerce even faster.

It took the I-A state champion sprinter from New Boston only six seconds to notify officials here last Monday he was breaking his letter of intent with the athletic department and enrolling at East Texas State.

The hasty retreat by Garton, who was considered "in the bag" by TCU only the day before, came in the wake of the school's most concentrated recruiting program.

Frog coaches were disappointed, but Garton's abrupt brush-off wasn't mourned by some of TCU's top athletes.

Talk circulating in athletic circles last week indicated that the cocky Garton, hailed as the most promising Texas runner since Eddie Southern, didn't make friends as easily as he beats opponents to the finish line.

A football letterman who knew

Garton this summer blasted him as "expecting everybody to hand him something on a silver platter."

"Why I'd be afraid they would kick me off the campus, if I asked for some of the brazen things he did."

Garton did receive some of the favors he demanded from TCU, before his about-face to the east, including a highly-sought-after summer job with Continental Oil that paid $375 a month and all expenses.

But he wanted to continue working this fall to finish paying for a car that he purchased with summer savings and Southwest Conference rules prohibit such action.

Apparently he got what he wanted from East Texas Track Coach Delmer Brown (twin brother of Frog Trainer Elmer Brown), but TCU coaches feel he shouldn't have accepted a new offer after committing himself here and taking the summer employment.

Athletic Director "Dutch" Meyer told newsmen that was the reason TCU refused to release him from the letter of intent.

Coaches felt he had a moral obligation to the school.

The letter of intent will have little effect on Garton's athletic career at East Texas, since the school isn't a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association or the Southwest Conference.

Under the letter-of-intent rules, Garton would have lost two years' eligibility if he had transferred to a SWC school, and a year's eligibility if he had moved to a NCAA member school.

Some of TCU's athletes who also are in school on scholarships are not so subtle in their feelings about Garton's departure.

One summed it up by saying, "Sure he's a great track man, and nobody knows it better than he does. I think that's his whole trouble. He seemed to enjoy the limelight he was basking in for a while."
