The annual event officially begins today at 4 p.m. with registration in Milton Daniel and Clark Hall, and the five women's dorms. Tomorrow's registration will last until

1 p.m. in the Student Center and dorms. During registration the parents will get name tags and designate the distance they have traveled to attend the Parents' Day activities.

A reception will be held from 9:30 until 11 a.m. in the Ballroom. The administration and faculty will be on hand to greet the distinguished guests. Signs will be hung in the Ballroom designating different colleges and faculty of each.

The next event on the agenda for the Day will be the TCU-Texas A&M football game at 2 p.m. in the Stadium. The Horned Frog Band has planned a special program and the half-time activities will be dedicated to the parents.

Open Houses will be held from 4:30 until 5:30 p.m. in the girls' dorms and Milton Daniel and Clark Hall. Punch and cookies will be served. This is for the purpose of giving the parents an hour of relaxation from the busy events of the day.

The open houses in the women's dorms are sponsored by the Dorm Councils and in Milton Daniel and Clark, they are sponsored by Student Honor Life.

The annual Parents' Day Banquet will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Ballroom. Jerry Johnson, Arlington Heights, Ill. senior will welcome the guests. Miss Rita Kay Stewart, Fort Worth

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Jaywalk Into a Grave

A student, faced with the possibility of being late for an evening class in the Administration Building, was rushing on campus to find a parking place below the Quad-range. Passing between the men's dormitories, he was suddenly brought to a screeching halt by Joe Clod, campus idiot, and some of his friends.

Joe, apparently raised in the backwoods, did not know the purpose of sidewalks and used the streets for his pedestrian activities. Not satisfied with giving the student a near heart attack, Joe and his friends continued their slow, shuffling pace down the street, ignoring the car behind them. As a result, the student was late for class and ridiculed by his instructor.

Joe is typical of many students who prefer to think and act like a herd of cattle, rather than mature college students. Only through the quick thinking and ability of the drivers, have many serious accidents been averted and Joe's life spared.

Since the campus security officers have such a large area to patrol, it would be difficult for them to effectively enforce a campus jaywalking law. Therefore, a possible solution to the problem might be the purchasing of sheep dogs to herd Joe and his buddies back onto the sidewalks.

Until then, Mr. Clod and his associates will continue to draw the wrath of campus motorists and cause many near accidents. Of course, it would be too much to ask Joe to think for himself and be courteous of the motorist's rights, wouldn't it, Joe?

Presently Unimpressive

During the TCU-A&M football game, the freshmen will engage in a traditional ceremony known as decapping.

This is a fine gesture, symbolizing the upperclassmen's acceptance of the new students. However, why should it be treated so lightly?

Surely, a serious ceremony such as this merits more than a few minutes squeezed in during a football game, midst the general confusion which naturally prevails. A decapping ceremony should be one of the highlights of a freshman's first year and cannot be realized as such, except through a formal exercise.

The Skiff feels decapping should be a formal ceremony, performed during the homecoming bonfire and accompanied by the repetition of the freshman pledge and the alma mater.

Student Congress should immediately adopt a plan of formal decapping so it may be put into effect next year. Not only would it become an impressive homecoming ceremony, but it would leave a lasting impression on the minds and hearts of the students.

Fun for the Folks

By BETH MORRIS

Campusites will chalk up another major successful event if plans for Parents' Day continue on schedule.

Parents and assorted groups of sisters, uncles, cousins, aunts, brothers, etc., will flock to The Hill tomorrow for the fifth annual event.

For the first time in three and a half years at this institution, I have the privilege of welcoming my own family down here after their three-day hike from the mountains. It's always nice for the parents to arrive and find out where and what is draining all that money out of the bank account.

Although this is the first year in a long time that a group of buildings aren't being dedicated, TCU continues to grow, as does Parents' Day.

This annual reunion has progressed in many ways; kiddie tricycle races and egg-throwing contests have been abandoned for a better informal meeting with members of the faculty and administration.

Parents will be amazed but happy when they see an improved feeling of sportsmanship between Conference schools, and perhaps they'll join us when we try to out-yell the A&M Cadet Corps.

But the TCU male will still flinch if the Aggies are lucky enough to get across the goal line, because many of our men will lose their girls to cadets this weekend.

The post-game banquet has enlarged with its increasing popularity and sold out completely this year.

Miss Foster and her "Charlie Brown" crew have worked hard and success is inevitable.

For those interested, Jerry Johnson says there's still room left for about 30 more reservations at the Brown-wood retreat next week. Be sure and leave your name and a $5 check in the Student Congress box in SC if you want to go.

Fading into the dark night with a few opinions and questions . . . now that cold weather seems upon us, why don't they turn off the air-conditioning? . . . guys who stage water fights in dormitories must be inhibited, if they aren't, they should be . . . why do some people stand in doorways to gossip? . . . girls who come to college interested only in finding husbands deserve what they get . . . what ever happened to White Collie Dawg? . . . drinkers at football games make us thirsty . . . why do some professors take such delight in keeping classes overtime? . . . people who tear out the Football Contest and throw the rest of The Skiff away frustrates us . . . why do people always come in my office and ask me if I take money for advertising? . . . guys who fasten gum to the bottom of Student Center tables ought to pay the cleaning bills . . . time? . . . ZZZzzzz.

SW Campus Confidential

A&M—

Since TCU is playing the Aggies this week, it is only fair that this column be devoted to them.

The lead story in a recent issue of the Battalion read thusly: "The percentage of freshmen who returned for their sophomore year was increased this year for the first time in three years.

"Of the 1,753 members of the Class of '62 who entered A&M in September, 1958, there were 976—a percentage of 55.7—who returned this fall."

Yes, it's about time they stopped weeding out the girls.

In another issue, the following announcement was published:

"The 1959 Aggeland arrived yesterday and can be picked up in the Office of Student Publications, ground floor of the YMCA.

"Students are urged to pick up their books as soon as possible."

You see, the shower stalls are stopped up and the water is backing up into the office.

Dear Student Leaders:

As a part-time student of TCU and an interested citizen I was appalled to drive by the school Sunday to see the beautifully-kept lawns turned into trash yards. Such a fine library, with so many TCU backers contributing to give the students not only an adequate place to study, but a beautiful building with landscaped surroundings—ruined in looks by the signs.

Driving a little further down University Dr. was the most sickening sight yet—signs in the yard surrounding Robert Carr Chapel. These signs seemed almost sacrilegious in their marring of the University's place of worship. It had been pointed out to me earlier that the signs are mostly in front of the undergraduate building—this may make a difference to some students, but to others and to the outside world it is a mark of disrespect.

The signs, which decidedly do discredit to the University grounds, also reflect upon the childishness of the students. Can you justify an adult, mature person putting junk in their yards? While campaigns are necessary, desirable and all a part of college life, there must be a way in which they can be carried on without loss of dignity for the students or degradation for the University.

Sincerely,
 Jeanie Hicks

Editor's Note: We believe a few of Miss Hick's statements would stand up in any argument, especially concerning the appearance of the Religion Center during election time. However, there are other parts of the campus which are not entirely visible to the Fort Worth public and are in use by campaigning students, but space is limited.

Since Miss Hicks felt it was her duty to write the letter, perhaps she has a few suggestions to clear up the problem of "litterbug" candidates. —Beth Morris

AGGIES

University of Houston Cougars 28-6. So the Aggies have been more hot than cold and that's mainly due to a guy named Charles Milstead.

Milstead finished high among the nation's total offense leaders in 1958 and is well on his way to repeating. The Aggie senior makes the multiple offense go with his sharp passing coupled with some running ability. There's more among the ranks also with Jessie McGuire as a breakaway threat. Another top soph in the conference, McGuire has already proved he's going to make yards when there's a pigskin under his arm.

No one lineman is showered with publicity but the Cadet forward wall has been tough from right to left. In the last three games it's given up only two touchdowns.

A&M holds the all time series edge with 29 wins to 20 for TCU with five ties between the two.

Sports Fact

The highest score ever recorded in football history came on Oct. 7, 1916, when Georgia Tech downed Cumberland University, 220-0. During the game, one Tech backfield star scored 18 touchdowns.

Religion Prof Plans Speech

Dr. Paul Wassenich, professor of religion, will speak to the Wichita Falls Ex-Student Association at the Holiday Inn Motel in Wichita Falls at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 22.

Sports Lines

By GORDON PYNES

The most unpredictable football conference in the world blasts off in full force this weekend in quest of a worthy ruler to wear its league crown for 1959.

This year in the Southwest conference should be no different from those of the past. Once again nobody knows who will emerge from the gridiron turmoil victorious.

The men who hope they know have said SMU would scramble out first, riding Don Meredith's fantastic arm, but now many switch to Texas and its horde of lightning fast backs. There are also those who say TCU's big line can still overpower the best and Arkansas must be reckoned for their speed and spirit.

Well who knows? I sure don't but here's how the hosses look to me at post time.

TCU—Anchored by All-America tackle Don Floyd, our Froggie line is as big and stout as any around the circuit but the offense continues to lack imagination, to use Sports Illustrated's description. Only Jack Spikes' crunching smashes have kept the engine chugging, but no SWC coach will consent to counting the defending champs out of it yet.

MEEK'S MUSTANGS—Meredith is fit as a fiddle and when he's throwing it makes the other team feel like they're at the Gunfight at Cotton Bowl Corral with Dandy Don playing Wyatt Earp himself. Defense improves every game for the Methodists, so the sportswriters may be right in their pre-season pick.

Double Trouble

Halfback Marshall Harris means double trouble for the Aggies tomorrow. He is second among Frog rushers and last fall was the team's top pass receiver.

Sellout Crowd Expected For Parents' Day Skirmish

Texas Christian and Texas A&M renew one of the Southwest's biggest rivalries tomorrow as conference action gets into full swing. Coach Abe Martin's Froggies must defeat the Aggies to stay in the league running because of one loss already to Arkansas. Some 45,000 fans are expected to pack Amon G. Carter Stadium for the 2 p.m. Parent's Day clash. The famous Aggie "Twelfth Man," the cadet corps is also slated to be on hand for the match.

A bout with the Cadets has always led to plenty of excitement in the past. The 54-game long series has produced some fabulous thrillers.

Probably the best games of the long rivalry began in 1954. TCU toppled the Farmers 21-20 that year but then dropped three straight when the two fought furiously for the conference championship. Last fall, the Purple finally broke the Army spell by thrashing the Aggies 24-8 at College Station.

Much the same cast that met last year is on hand for this meeting but the script could easily be changed from a year ago.

A&M has run hot and cold in four games thus far in the campaign. They lost the opener to Texas Tech 14-20, while TCU fought off the same team last week to win 14-8. Then Coach Jim Meyer's Cadets pulled off an upset in the Midwest by edging Michigan State 9-7. Next they took Mississippi Southern 7-3 and a week ago slammed the

Brannon's Cagemen Begin Season Drills

Basketball Coach Buster Brannon gladly relinquished his job of assisting football mentor Abe Martin yesterday as he greeted 13 candidates for the start of basketball practice.

Here in the midst of the gridiron season, Brannon's cagers started pounding the hardwoods in quest of defending their Southwest Conference championship. Gone are five starters who carried the Purple to the Western Regionals last year before bowing to Cincinnati in the semi-finals.

Five lettermen who saw considerable action in last winter's championship drive will return. They are Don Williams, 6-5; Tommy Meacham, 6-5; Jerry Cobb, 6-4 and two speedy guards, Bobby Tyler and Tommy Turner. Besides these there are six performers from last season's Wog team on hand.

These include Bob Barnard and David Warnell, a pair of 6-5 lads, plus Phil Reynolds, Mike Loudermilk, Max Perkins and Ronnie Mayberry. Two holdouts from last fall who figure prominently in Brannon's plans, were also present for the opening drills. They are Jerry Pope and Billy Jim Simons.

Freshmen coach Johnny Swaim also got his Wog team on the hardwoods as he started the TCU rebuilding program with the emphasis on height. Swaim welcomed one of the tallest frosh teams in years. Among the big first year men are Alton Adams, 6-9 and Pete Hawck and Don Rosick who both stand 6-7. David Brinkerhoff at 6-5 will also offset any height problem. Other top performers reporting were Tom Pennick, Dan Williams, John Fowler, Paul Hume and Wallace Stewart.

Two of this outstanding group of Wog candidates, Pennick and Fowler, are former All-State performers.

Three-Mile Race Starts Here Today

By HARRY MORELAND

The Cross Country running season starts today with TCU playing host for the first meet. The starting gun is set to sound promptly at 2:30 p.m. for the start of the grueling three mile race.

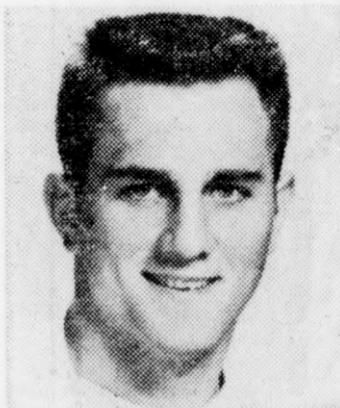

Nearly 35 runners from Texas, Texas A&M, SMU, Baylor and TCU will participate in this opening meet. Last year's conference champion, Arkansas will not be present.

The race is set for the Worth Hills Golf Course where the distance men will make almost two complete circuits of the course.

Last year's individual Southwest Conference champion, Jan Alhberg of SMU, will be on hand at the start. The slender Swedish import set a rapid pace in last year's meets as a sophomore. The smooth striding Mustang took the conference title over the same course last fall in record breaking time. He toured the three miles in 14:32 and may do better today.

Froggie track coach, J. Eddie Weems, plans to enter seven runners in the long distance competition. Those entered are Joe Douglas, Lafayette Heath, Al Heizer, Tom Baxter, Kelly Westlake and Reagan Gasaway.

Of these, Weems rates Douglas the best chance of giving the SMU runner some strong competition. "Joe has been working real hard and if he sets a good pace I believe he will make a fine showing", stated Weems.

DON MEREDITH

ROYAL'S RACERS—Texas has more good backs than they can list on the program. Jack Collins does everything and hasn't made a big mistake yet. James Saxton is the fastest thing since Bugs Bunny and the Orange line has yielded but 12 points.

ARKANSAS—The Porkers are a jump ahead with two wins. Spirit is high and the Hogs are always rough in their Ozark fortress. Tomorrow's clash with Texas should go a long way toward forecasting the Arkansas future.

TEXAS A&M—See game story on this page for Aggie strengths.

BRIDGER'S BRUINS—The Bears at Baylor are young but they get better with every frolic. Halfbacks Tom Minter and Ronnie Bull are two of the best sophs in the loop. The Baptists will upset someone soon.

RICE—Jess Neely is in for a bad year. His Owls are also young but the wise old dean of SWC coaches will swoop down for some victories.

That's the way they come into the starting game and . . . they're off.

The End Is Sometimes In the Middle

How often we have seen a well-dressed young man spoil his appearance with the wrong belt! A crying shame when $50 worth of good-looking clothes can be reduced to nothing for want of the right $2.50 belt.

Know ye then that there are two belts that you must absolutely avoid, and these are the white belt, and the itty-bitty narrow belt with two buckles. Unless you affect black leather jackets and long sideburns, these are utterly out of place.

The best width for a belt is one inch, although in dress leathers you may prefer three quarters—no less, and for sportswear a wider belt may be worn.

The colorful elastic or fabric belts, with brass and leather closures are good at all times,—they are chosen to blend with sports shirts or to match ties for dress wear.

Economical, too, at $2.50—you really don't need a large number.
