

Torchlight Rally Is Planned for Tomorrow Night

By SANDY STOKES

This is "Hook the Horns" Week, proclaimed by Student Body President Jerry Johnson, and Frogland students have gone all out to stomp those steers in every possible way.

Although the Texas Longhorns have the advantage of playing on their home field and of being a leading team of the nation, TCU students are ready to prove the Frogs can and WILL win.

An all-school and all-Fort Worth torch-light pep rally tomorrow night will be their first big chance to demonstrate their "Hook the Horns" spirit.

The cheerleaders, Vigilantes and Horned Frog Band will meet the fans at 6:45 p.m. in front of the Student Center. They will lead the procession through the campus to the waiting football team and coaches.

Frog fans will hear comments from these people, and the teasippers should hear the Frog fans in traditional Texas Christian spirit all the way to Austin.

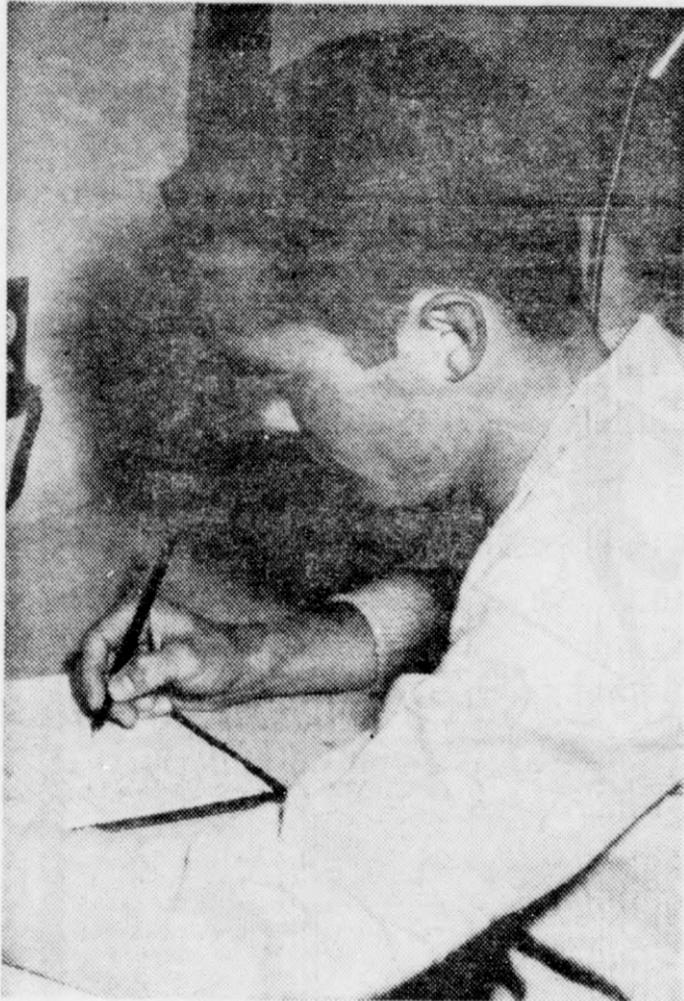

Fraternalities, sororities and other organizations have been asked to pledge their cooperation. They will design banners and posters publicizing the torch-light parade.

In addition, the radio and television stations are inviting the public of Fort Worth to attend. This is the first time out-of-college Frog fans have had a chance to participate in a campus-wide pep rally.

To give every student a chance to show his loyalty to TCU, the formal "Hook the Horns" proclamation is on display in the Student Center Lobby. This scroll is available for the students to sign their names pledging full support to the team.

Furthermore, all fans making the trip to Austin are asked to bring along and wear to the game some school colors, purple and white. "Sitting in one section Saturday, wearing the colors and yelling until we're hoarse should prove our loyalty to all!" Jim Davis, head cheerleader, declared.

The issues remain to be seen. Does anyone want Steer for supper Saturday night?

MAKING IT OFFICIAL—Jerry Johnson signs the "Hook the Horns" Week proclamation which is on display in the Student Center this week.

Assistant to Chancellor

Trustees Appoint A. Melton

Amos Melton, present director of the Information Services, has been named assistant to the Chancellor by the University's Board of Trustees.

Duties under this new title will include working with Chancellor Sadler in various phases of public relations. He will continue to head the newly-named division of Public Relations which included the University's general and sports bureaus, all official publications, advertising and the printing and mailing department.

In his school days, Melton attended Fort Worth's North Side High and was starting center for the 1927 football team.

Melton was editor of The Skiff and later joined the staff of the Star-Telegram in 1928, serving on the financial desk and as a reporter.

Junior Class Meets

The junior class has scheduled a meeting at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Center Ballroom. Future plans will be discussed.

ter. In 1930, he moved to the sports desk and covered football and golf over the Southwest for 18 years.

Furthering a career in journalism, Melton was made sports editor of the Press in 1949, succeeding the late Pop Boone. A year later, he returned to TCU as business manager of athletics and director of sports publicity. In 1953 he was appointed director of the Information Services.

In World War II, Melton served as an officer in the Air Force Intelligence, spending two years in China as a major assigned to the office of Strategic Services. He was awarded the Bronze Star.

Melton is active in civic and church affairs and is the past president of the local chapters of Kiwanis Club and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. He is an elder, chairman of the worship committee and a former chairman of the official board of University Christian Church.

A close friend of many sports figures, he covered the rise of Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson in golf, Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien in football. He was the author of several articles in national magazines on these stars and in 1952, he wrote the book, "Spread Formation Football" with L. R. (Dutch) Meyer.

Ph.D.'s Approved in Physics, Psychology

The University will inaugurate its first Doctor of Philosophy degrees in physics and psychology with the start of the fall semester next September.

The programs were authorized by the Board of Trustees at its fall meeting Monday under the recommendation of Chancellor M. E. Sadler.

The Board also approved a special expenditure of $90,000 to get the doctoral plans under way.

In recommending the first Ph. D. programs, Dr. Sadler pointed out that the possibilities have been under intensive study for two years.

"We will never attempt any advanced academic work unless we are completely assured of our ability to do a good job," he said. "After careful consideration, we feel we should start modestly and work up to a more complete program.

"It is assumed that we will add one or two additional areas at the beginning of other academic years until we do have the Ph.D. program in several other important areas, including biology, geology, chemistry, English, mathematics, education and religion."

The special $90,000 expenditure authorized will be used between now and next fall for additional personnel, equipment, library and research facilities to start the doctoral programs in physics and psychology.

In other action the Board of Trustees elected four new members. They are: Fred Korth, president of the Continental National Bank of Fort Worth; C. R. Williams, oil and gas executive of Houston; Earl B. Barnes, TCU graduate and executive of Dow Chemical Co. in Freeport, and S. P. Woodson Jr. of Fort Worth, leading official of Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Companies.

Among seven Board members reelected to their posts are Lewis Ackers of Abilene, Robert Carr of San Angelo, A. D. Weatherly of Amarillo, Sidney Latham of Dallas, H. B. Fuqua, Sol Brachman and Y. Q. McCammon all of Fort Worth.

Officers of the Board also were reelected. They are Lorin A. Boswell of Fort Worth, chairman; the Rev. L. D. Anderson of Fort Worth, honorary chairman; Clyde Tomlinson of Hillsboro, vice chairman, and Dean Jerome A. Moore, secretary.

The Board elected Ed Landreth, a trustee since 1940, as an honorary member of the Board for life, paying tribute to his many years of outstanding service.

Also honored was the late Glan Woodson, a Board member from 1955 until his death earlier this year. The Board stood for a minute in silent tribute to him at Dr. Sadler's suggestion.

The Building and Grounds committee was authorized to draw plans for the complete renovation of the present Administration Building. The structure will be redone as a classroom and faculty office building at a cost of around $800,000. A new Administration Building costing $1,200,000 now is under construction.

The charter of the University was amended to authorize between 24 and 50 Board members. The number formerly was 36.

Michael Rabin to Appear As Select Series Guest

Concert violinist Michael Rabin, acclaimed by critics as "a master of the violin," will appear in Ed Landreth Auditorium tomorrow in Select Series' third program.

Rabin's last season's concert schedule included his ninth transcontinental North American tour, his fourth extensive European tour and his second tour of Israel.

The 23 year-old violinist has recorded a major film sound track, MGM's "Rhapsody." He has performed on network radio and TV programs and is a featured recording artist.

His Select Series program will include "Sonata in B-Flat, No. 10," Mozart; "Sonata Op. 13," by Faure and "Havanaise," by Saint-

Saens. Rabin will also perform "Meditation from Thaïs," by Massenet; "La Capricieuse," by Elgar; "Sea-Shell," by Engel-Zimbalist and "Zapateado" by Carasate.

A native of New York City, Rabin came by his musical talents naturally. His father has been a violinist for the Philharmonic for more than 30 years. His mother, a pianist, was on the faculty of Julliard School of Music for several years.

Rabin made his "official" American orchestral debut with the New York Philharmonic at the age of 14.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Individual tickets will be on sale at the door for $1.50 on a space-available basis.

Students, Profs Attend Convention To Petition For Sigma Delta Chi

Four petitioning members of TCU's incoming journalistic fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, and two advisors are in Indianapolis now for the SDX annual convention. The six men left Tuesday morning, traveling by car, and plan to return Saturday. Making the six day trip are: John Cantwell, Fort Worth senior, vice president of the chapter; Dale Johnson, Gainesville senior, secretary-treasurer; Ernest White, Fort Worth junior and Jerry A. Johnson, Houston junior. Advisors also making the trip are D. Wayne Rowland, chairman of the department of journalism and Edwin H. Ferguson, associate professor of journalism. The role of Sigma Delta Chi is to "endeavor to raise the standards of competence of its members, to recognize outstanding achievement by journalists and to promote recognition of the fact that journalism is a true profession."

Off for the Sigma Delta Chi convention in Indianapolis this week are Ernest White, Fort Worth junior; E. H. Ferguson Jr., instructor in journalism; Jerry Johnson, Houston junior; and Dale Johnson, Gainesville senior. The group will return Sunday.

Startling Expose!

Girls' Dormitory Entered!

By M. J. HARKS

Unbelievable as it sounds, I spent the night in a girls' dorm.

When I came to TCU as a freshman, I heard many rumors claiming how simple it was to sneak into one of the girls' dormitories. At first, I pushed aside these rumors, passing them off as wishful thinking.

However, as time went on, I began wondering whether or not there was any basis to these rumors and took it upon myself to prove or disprove them.

About five weeks ago, I contacted a very good friend of mine who resided in Colby Hall. When I told her of my plan, she agreed to give me all the help possible.

A few days later, she provided me with a floor plan of the dorm, complete with exits and vacant rooms marked. She pointed out where the dorm hostesses stayed and how to avoid their rooms. With this information in hand, I began operations.

Three "dry runs" were made to determine the best entrance and exit, and to bring my timing to perfection.

A full week passed before I decided the time was ripe. Then, I made my move.

At 3:17 p.m., I entered Colby Hall through the basement door on the west side of the building. My friend had obtained a key and unlocked it earlier.

I quickly hurried down the hall, past the "cages" containing sorority equipment, past the door leading to the stairs, past the washing machine room and elevator, and into the room containing the air conditioning equipment. I remained there until 12:32 a.m. before attempting to enter the dorm proper.

I went back to the stairs and silently crept up to the third floor. After a careful survey of the halls, I hurried to a room in the vicinity of the Delta Gamma chapter room.

My friend had informed me earlier the room would be vacant and the door unlocked. I entered quickly, locking the door behind me.

I was in the room less than an hour, when I heard two elderly voices whispering outside the door.

"I've been discovered," I thought! "Somebody saw me coming up the stairs!"

I hurriedly hid in the closet and listened to the voices, my heart beating rapidly.

"Who lives here?" one voice said.

"Joan Gibbitts and Barbara Stuker," the other replied. "Joan is in the infirmary and Barbara is spending the night in town with her aunt."

"Well," the first voice said, "there's no need for us to check this room, then."

I breathed a deep sigh of relief as I realized they weren't looking for me. It was just a spot room check.

I waited in the room until 5:03 a.m. before making my exit. Back down the stairs, into the basement, out the west door and I was free.

I had done it! I had actually spent the night in a girls' dorm and gotten away with it. Wait until my friends hear about this. I'll be a hero!

Once again, I thought how easy it had been to sneak into a girls' dorm. I began to feel proud and cocky. Then, the idea struck me. Why couldn't I spend a whole week in the dorm? No one would be able to top that feat. I immediately went to work.

Right now, I am putting the finishing touches on my plan for spending a week in a girls' dorm. I'm willing to bet I'll get away with it, too. I'll get away with it or my name isn't Mary Jane Harks.

What's A Jerry Johnson?

By ANN STUBBS

Two Jerrys, two Johnsons! One is president of Student Congress and a government major from Arlington Heights, Ill., the other is a junior journalism major and photographer for The Skiff from Houston.

Jerry Allen Johnson, from the journalism department, has exercised his right for freedom of speech on several occasions this fall through Letters to the Editor.

Jerry Lewis Johnson, Student Congress president, has really gotten some sarcasm and lack of respect thrown at him by students because they feel that his position should be a neutral one and one of guidance rather than too much biased voicing of opinion.

Jerry L. agrees with students and wants the mix-up clarified. He also wishes for the post office to take note, because, in his words, "I get all of Jerry A's mail but he must be getting all my females because I haven't seen any hanging around."

He continued by saying that the Letters to the Editor were good ones and deserved place in print but under the true author's name and not with such a misunderstanding.

"Always before I've had a mix-up similar to this because my name is so common, but this is the first time I've had it happen at TCU."

"One of the funniest occurrences to date was the night after Jerry A's last letter was printed. I was ready to pay for my meal in the cafeteria and two girls, one on either side of me, grabbed for my meal ticket. When I looked disgusted because it was taking so long, one girl just laughed and said, 'Now, let's be courteous.'"

One other interesting fact about the two Jerrys is that both went to Arlington Heights High School, only in different towns, Jerry L. in Illinois and Jerry A. in Fort Worth.

WHICH TWIN IS THE PHONY?—Actually, neither one, both are original Jerry Johnson's, only that's Jerry Lewis Johnson on the left, a senior, and the other is Jerry Allen Johnson, a junior.

Freshman Wins 'Airman' Award

William P. Douglass, Ridge-wood, N. J. freshman, received the "Airman of the Week" award recently.

The award is based on neatness of uniform, military bearing and courtesy, and knowledge of the Air Force ROTC mission. Cadets winning the award are given four merits and a one-hour ride in a T-33 jet trainer.

In preparation for their flights, Douglass and others who have received the award were briefed by Lt. Patton from Carswell Air Force Base. The briefing included the use of the parachute, automatic devices for the use of the parachute and ejection seat and the general emergency procedures for the T-33 trainer.

Miss Turner Chosen Prexy

Miss Marilyn Turner, Houston junior, has been elected the first president of the Corp-dettes, women's auxiliary of the Army ROTC.

Miss Turner is the Army ROTC Battle Group sponsor and holds the rank of Honorary Cadet Lt. Col.

Miss Nancy Jo Lee, Fort Worth sophomore, will be the Corp-dettes' treasurer. Miss Lee will also serve as drill instructor of the women's unit.

Secretary is Miss Margie Dodron, Fort Worth senior who is sponsor of Company B.

Miss Nancy Park, Houston sophomore will be the social chairman.

Corp-dettes to Entertain 'Angels' in S. Center

Members of the Corp-dettes will entertain members of the Angel Flight at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Room 300 of the Student Center.

The party will mark the first social activity of the newly organized Corp-dettes.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Success Story

Critics who often claim that today's colleges are just degree mills or marriage bureaus should take a close look at TCU.

First of all, the Select Series, now in its fourth year, is very successfully achieving its aim of providing cultural entertainment at the college level.

Such past guests as Jose Greco, the Heidelberg University Chorus, Andres Segovia, and Gen. Carlos P. Romulo have provided the higher level of entertainment and enrichment which higher education advocates.

Furthering the University's attack against the "cultural lag" is the recent announcement that the first Shakesperian drama to be presented by a campus group since 1950, will appear early in December.,

"Othello," opening Dec. 4 in the Little Theatre, should provide a dramatic answer that culture exists at TCU.

Bring It Back!

Having trouble getting any physical exercise around here lately? Well if you are there is a good reason for it.

Some students have been taking various types of physical education equipment from the gym and there is barely enough left for the regular physical education classes.

The University is striving not only to develop the mind but a healthy body as well. For this reason we have athletic facilities. By abusing these facilities the student hurts not only himself but others.

Of course the checking out facilities of the little gym is partially responsible for thefts of equipment. Anyone may sign a card with a fictitious name, take a football and other equipment and not return it. If the cage keeper required the student's activity card, as does the student center, less equipment might be lost.

Many students are careless and forgetful and knowing that no action will be taken against them, they don't bother to bring back the articles they check out.

Athletic services could eliminate many thefts by organizing a system for checking out equipment.

Do It Now

A lot of us are in the same boat—the one down the creek. It seems to be human nature to put things off until the last moment, and then they really stack up.

It's much more painless to do term papers, book reports, research and other projects far in advance of the deadline. By doing this you miss the "last minute mob" and the book shortages in the library caused by it.

Not only will your early work give you piece of mind, but your professor will appreciate it. It will make his job a lot easier. Try it and you'll find it's the best way.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"DEAN BELLOW'S WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHO OWNS THIS LITTLE FOREIGN JOB PARKED IN THE HALL?"

THE LEDGER

Dead Weight on the Field?

By BETH MORRIS

School spirit has been a mighty delicate subject this year with TCU being the target of heavy criticism from local publications and other schools.

The student body takes the blame in a case of this sort, but right now, a large part of it definitely may be shouldered by eight students, clad in purple and white on football afternoons, sometimes leading school yells.

This select group is supposedly an example of unity, but I have been present many times when yells with their mechanisms weren't completed.

Where are the good old days when cheerleaders were almost inseparable and kept up a continual rumble throughout the game? Why let organizations or feelings disrupt such a highly respected group of school representatives?

This clan exerts a tremendous amount of influence on the student body, so if they can't work together on and off the field, why expect the rest of us to make up for the mistakes?

There have been many instances when some of us felt more yards could have been made, perhaps better plays made, had the Frogs gotten proper support. But the Purple section sat in dead silence.

Some of you cheerleaders know you might not be there today had not Student Congress axed the screening committee last spring. Get with it, this is your chance to prove yourself worthy of many votes.

When our team played LSU at the beginning of the season, many said we outyelled the discourteous Tiger fans and students. Why stop there? Whether it be Kansas, Baylor or even Slippery Rock, it's still a football game and worthy of whole-hearted and united efforts on the parts of the cheerleaders.

Come Saturday afternoon, we'll be classed as "a lost cause." I don't agree—I say there's no chance of the teesips winning.

Get together, leaders of the cheers, it's your biggest change of the season. I'll bet my last dollar on the guy that gets behind something and fights. There's more to it than just talk—do something. I'll bet my last meal ticket on a Martin eleven, you eight people, an afternoon of screaming and a gridiron victory.

Yours Truly

Editor
The Skiff

Dear Editor:

What is a college newspaper? In my opinion it should represent the academic standard of the college, express the views of students, and give journalism majors an opportunity to become acquainted with reporting. As a paper, it should not only cover campus events but also current world affairs and happenings outside the campus.

Since the daily newspapers provide us mostly factual information, a campus newspaper has the unique opportunity to analyze and to evaluate such items as political and economical events, downtown movies, plays at various theaters, Casa Manana, symphonic and operatic productions, art exhibitions, etc. In reporting and analysis, the sports section of The Skiff deserves recommendation along with the recent article on the leadership retreat at Brownwood. The Skiff reporters should welcome this opportunity. Although they are not expected to analyze events professionally—we are still students—they could certainly express their opinions, based on study and discussion with faculty members and students. If the reporter lacks background information, teachers will gladly fill in the gaps. Such reporting would certainly stimulate interest in current affairs in addition to giving useful experience to the reporter. The Skiff can be a great asset to both the student body and the reporting staff.

Let's face it, editorials worrying about water sprinklers while Russia shoots at the moon, about bridge players and cafeteria lines while the nation experiences one of its biggest strikes, about the use of activity cards (anyone who doesn't care about his card is better off without it anyway) while Red China threatens Asia and the world with its 650,000,000 people, sound rather trivial and provincial. Let's have some criticism, some analysis, some editorial stand on current events. This country was shaped through the exchange of ideas. Let's continue the trend.

Sincerely
B. F. Winkel.

Editor's Note: Now that Mr. Winkel has successfully entered himself on the record again, I would like to say The Skiff feels his criticism to be constructive, but slightly far-fetched.

We feel our reporters are getting training in reportorial contacts, but they must start at the bottom like all the rest of the peons. (This editorship may have been handed to me on a silver platter, but only after a little training in the field of journalism.)

The metropolitan dailies have a few slight advantages over The Skiff, such as wire services and technical writers.

Another advantage is money. Student Congress prefers organ music in the Ballroom and chimes in the Chapel to a campus daily. When the journalism department obtains a press, we might be able to give Mr. Winkel what he wants.

As far as entertainment goes, plans have been made over a period of weeks for the revival of a column known as "Museumis."

Lastly, Mr. Winkel might peruse the term "campus newspaper" for awhile.—Beth Morris.

Muse-Ments

Webb Featured in '--30--'

By J'NELL ROGERS

Since college students constitute a big majority of movie and entertainment audiences. The Skiff has decided to reinstitute an amusement column which appeared previously.

The column, to appear each Wednesday, will deal mainly with movies currently appearing in Fort Worth's first-run movie houses and other local entertainment.

Opening tomorrow at the Hollywood Theater is a movie about one night in the life of the managing editor of a Los Angeles newspaper.

Jack Webb, of Dragnet fame, plays the editor with David Nelson cast as a copy boy. The movie is entitled "--30--," a reporter's sign for the end of a story.

The movie, which shows a very realistic picture of the newspaper business, was the "sneak" preview at the Hollywood Sunday night.

"Career," a story about Broadway, opening tomorrow at the Worth, promises big things and has a big cast as well. The stars include Dean Martin, Shirley MacLaine, Carolyn Jones and Anthony Franciosa.

Also opening tomorrow is "The Last Angry Man," which makes its appearance at the 7th Street Theater. The movie appeared Sunday night at the Worth as their "sneak."

Paul Muni plays a Brooklyn doctor in "Angry Man," while David Wayne is a young television executive. The plot gets interesting when a patient needs Muni just as he is scheduled to go on a TV show. Betsy Palmer provides the love interest in this much-talked-about movie.

Club Elects Fort Worth Senior Prexy

Richard Walsh, Fort Worth senior, recently was elected president of the Bryson Club, oldest of TCU's social organizations.

Other officers include David Williams, Greenville senior, first vice president; Miss Betsy Loader, Vernon senior, second vice president; Miss Pat Brown, Austin senior, secretary; Miss Toni Fairley, Fort Worth senior, treasurer; and Richard Cothrum, Pecos senior, social chairman.

Newly initiated members of the club are Miss Janeen Cunningham, Houston senior; Miss Julie Hedges, Hico senior; Bill Jones, Fort Worth junior; Miss Loader; Frank Mackey, Colorado City senior; Miss June Pence, Shreveport, La. senior.

Paul Pitts, Woodville senior; Miss Ginny Swartz, Albuquerque, New Mex. junior; Miss Sandra Terry, Dallas junior; Miss Gerry Webb, Fort Worth senior; Bob Williams, Houston senior; and Randolph Young, Corsicana junior.

The club is composed of a maximum of 40 members, equally distributed between dorm and town students.

Currently, Bryson is making plans for the selection of new members. Prospective members must have a two point grade average, outstanding leadership qualities and be a sophomore or above in classification.

Placement Bureau Plans Interviews

Monday, Nov. 16, the U.S. General Accounting Office will have their representative on campus to interview accounting majors.

Wednesday, Nov. 13, accounting majors will again have a chance to be interviewed. The Arthur Andersen & Co. will be the interviewers this time.

American Airlines will send its representatives to the campus to interview girls of all majors on Thursday, Nov. 19.

Powder-Puff Football Game Brings Sig Ep Challenge

A challenge has been issued to Delta Gamma by Sigma Phi Epsilon to appear for the "Powder-Puff Football Classic" at 3 p.m. today on the Student Center Quadrangle. Considering their tie last year the Sig Eps have made the following declaration to prove their masculinity. Delta Gamma TCU:

Whereas by some unforeseeable and unexplainable circumstances, the Delta Gamma-Sigma Phi Epsilon Football Classic played on 16 December, 1958, resulted in a tied score of 16-16, and

Whereas the members of Sigma Phi Epsilon do not believe the circumstances leading to the obtaining of a tied score are favorable to the Delta Gams this year, and

Whereas the possibilities of the attainment of such a score on the part of DG are deemed to be nigh impossible by the great majority of the gentlemen of Sig Ep, and

Whereas we desire to maintain our coveted reputation of being able to better your sorority in a contest of football, we Therefore challenge the Delta Gamma Sorority to a "Powder-Puff" football game, to be played at 3 p.m. on the quadrangle in front of the Student Center Building on the day of Wednesday 11 November.

Sincerely,
Sigma Phi Epsilon

The rules governing the men are: they must use opposite hand when passing, defensive player must walk and not run until in the opposing backfield, players must keep their hands down when blocking and there will be no shoulder blocking.

Failure to observe this rule will result in the player's expulsion from the game and a 50 yard penalty or one-half of the length of the distance to the goal line.

Women will refrain from pinching, biting, pulling hair, and general unladylike conduct; flirting with the opposing players; use of feminine charms to confuse the players and other means available.

Other penalties for the classic test are offsides, 5 yards; clipping, 15 yards and unsportsmanlike conduct, 15 yards.

Fourteen Seniors Are Nominees For Woodrow Wilson Fellowships

A dinner honoring the Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fellowship nominees was held recently.

The 14 seniors that received the nominations were: Miss Charlie Jo Jackson, James H. Peters, Fred Womack and Robert E. Huddleston all of Fort Worth, all receiving mathematics nominations.

The English nominees were: Miss Atelia Prince, Lake Jackson; Thomas C. Allen of Greggton, and James R. Giles of Bowie.

Wendall R. Carr of Dallas was the only history nominee. Miss Patricia L. Carr, Fort Worth and Warren M. Bailey of Orange were the chemistry nominees.

The philosophy nominee was Thomas W. Schmidt of Kansas City, Mo. Carroll A. Quarels Jr. of Fort Worth was nominated for the physics Fellowship.

The recipients of the Fellowships would receive full tuition plus $1,500 and a dependency allowance for their first year of graduate study at the school of their choice. The school chosen must be fully accredited in his field of study and must be approved by the foundation.

The Fellowships are given on the basis of sincerity and scholastic ability, to students that have a desire to teach in college.

Only a thousand students in the United States receive fellowships, and the students are chosen from interviews that will be held in January.

★HISTORICAL NOTE

The seven leanest years in TCU's history came between 1895 and 1902 when financial problems troubled the trustees. Enrollment dropped below 200 all but one year.

APPLE A DAY?

While giving one of his Sociology classes instructions for a test, Dr. Porterfield, noticed an apple box in the corner of his room.

Jokingly he got the box and placed it on his desk and said, "I see someone knew about the test and left the box for any 'apple polishers'."

ROTC Team Fires at UT On Saturday

The Army ROTC Rifle Team will journey to the University of Texas Saturday for their next Southwest Conference match.

The team will be seeking its first conference win for the season after falling to Baylor and A&M in preceding matches.

Seven members and Rifle Team Coach Sgt. C. R. Livingston make the trips. Six members fire in the matches while the remaining member acts as alternate and assistant coach.

Of the six members firing, the one with the lowest score is not counted in the match. This allows for a "bad day," which is not uncommon in the steady nerved sport.

Members making the trip will be Joe Huddleston, Ray Leuty, Willis Murphey, Gaylord Tate, George Royals Jr., Cullen Turner and Bill Oelfke.

Upsets Damage Perfect Picks

The intellectual sportsmen were hard at work this week, trying to predict the outcome of the games featured in the Football Contests. However, no one picked all eight games correctly.

John Cluck and James Scarberry tied on game predictions by missing only the Wisconsin-Northwestern upset. The tie was broken, with the winner, Cluck, coming the closest on the Rice-Arkansas total points guess. Cluck guessed 21 total points, while Scarberry ventured 14.

Ken Brunson, ex-Frog cage star, and Walter Webb were able to accomplish the feat others could not. They foresaw the 24 total points in the Owl-Razorback game.

The "Left-Out of the Week" Award goes to Joe Ledbetter for missing seven out of eight games. The sports staff wishes Ledbetter the best of luck on future true-false examinations.

Earl Dean must have been very uncertain of the outcomes, since he predicted ties for six games and the total points as four.

Pierce, Priddy and Spikes, who may make All-America.

As Head Coach Abe Martin put it,

"R. E. is top fullback material—he has plenty of action to look forward to."

Off the football field, R. E. is quite the family man. He joined the married ranks in the summer of '58 when he was wed to the former Sylvia Faubion of Teague, Texas.

Besides Sylvia, "Pappa" Dodson's biggest fan is Miss DeDe, their 5-months old daughter, who can do a good job of kicking, herself.

Wogs Host Texas For Home Finale

Friday afternoon will be the last chance local fans will have to see the TCU freshman team in action.

Holding a 1-2 record, the Wogs will close out their 1959 home schedule against the powerful Texas Shorthorns at Amon Carter Stadium. Southwest Conference schools regard the Shorthorns as "the team to beat" in freshman play.

Coach Fred Taylor also feels the Shorthorns will be hard to match in the 2:30 p.m. tussle. Warning the Wogs that a victory over the Shorthorns is their last hope for a successful season, Coach Taylor said only a maximum effort could product a victory.

Last week TCU ran in to several misfortunes. Early in the week, Fullback Lloyd Mynatt received a broken ankle, throwing him out of action for the rest of the season.

A visitor from the North also hampered action. A cold front rolling into Fort Worth, cut practices to just more than an hour for most of the week.

SPIKES

10 games in rushing, in 1958, with the 110 yards against Arkansas, his best single effort. Against the Hogs, was included a nifty 39-yard blast up the middle to set up the winning touchdown.

Spikes' 1958 performance placed him tenth among all-time TCU individual rushing leaders. Also, the big fellow has come into his own as a cornerback of the defense.

Jack was married in the summer of 1958 to his high school sweetheart, Jane DeWald, who is truly his biggest fan.

At the end of last year's season, Jack said,

"One usually thinks a fullback is just good for three years, but I like more than that."

It seemed that Spikes knew what he was talking about when he made the above statement, because it looks like this season might be his best.

Thus far in the season, Jack has already gained 486 yards for 95 carries, which is 5.1 yards per carry.

Last week against the Bears, Spikes was a big thorn in the Bears' defense as he drove for a total of 92 yards.

After the Baylor game, Coach Martin said,

"Spikes is the best fullback ever to wear a Purple jersey".

Chi O's Challenge DSF Thursday

DSF will put their undefeated record on the line when they face the Chi O's in intramural volleyball action tomorrow.

The Chi O's currently are tied for second place with the Minos, holding a 4-1 record, while DSF holds a 5-0 record.

In other WSA action tomorrow, the Pi Phi's (0-5) meet the Kappa's (1-4), the Tri-Delt's (3-5) stand the Alpha Gam's (1-4), the Zeta's (2-5) challenge The Minos (4-1), and the Theta's (1-4) face the KD's (3-5).

In Monday's play DSF downed the Tri-Delt's, 15-1; The Minos slipped past the Alpha Gam's, 15-10; The Chi O's whipped the Kappa's, 12-6; the Theta's bounced the Pi Phi's, 15-8, and the KD's rushed past the Zeta's, 15-2.

● BALLIN' THE JACK ●

By Jack Harkrider

Thank goodness for the alumni.

What would Texas A&M do without their ever-faithful alumni to look out after the football team?

There's no time like the present to wish a fond farewell to Jim Myers, head coach of the Aggies. He will be finished at A&M after this season—at least that's what some of the more powerful alumni think.

It seems several Aggie exes have received a letter asking them for a donation, to buy up the remainder of Meyer's contract. And knowing some of the exes' attitudes, it won't be long before they have enough money to do it.

However, the Aggie Alums are not the only ones capable of such "watchdog" actions. Other Southwest Conference schools have "Downtown Quarterback Clubs" just as able to wield the mighty axe.

On the other hand, there is at least one SWC exes' organization that maintains a "hands-off" policy with the coach—The TCU Frog Club.

According to Paul Ridings, Frog statistician and member of the club, there is a simple explanation for this policy.

Each member of the Frog Club makes a yearly donation, ranging from $5 to $100, with most of it going to the athletic fund. Any larger donation is refused.

By comparison, the SMU Mustang Club welcomes any and all donations, the larger donations being most welcome. Naturally, the members making the largest donations carry quite a bit of weight with the administration and their decisions.

Therefore, if the exes are unsatisfied with their alma mater's season record, they calmly inform the administration, "Either he goes, or our money goes," and who can argue with that? Certainly not the Aggies.

Thoughts while wondering how the LSU students are taking that loss to Tennessee. Every sportswriter makes game predictions sooner or later, so here it is:

JACK SPIKES . . . The "Big Panther"

'Big Panther' Leads SWC In Rushing

By BOBBY HUGHES

Jack Spikes or "The Big Panther", as he's known by his TCU teammates, has established himself as one of the finest fullbacks in Horned Frog history.

The thundering, 6-2, 200-pound-plus Spikes was one of the keys to success in Coach Abe Martin's T-attack last fall. He roared to 580 yards in 124 carries, second in Southwest Conference rushing behind Baylor's big Larry Hickman.

For his sparkling 1958 performances, the big lad was a unanimous All-Conference selection and made many All-America honorable mentions.

Spikes loves football, and the ex-Snyder, Texas high school halfback hits the opponent's line with authority. His best afternoon of the season last year came in the Cotton Bowl, against the Air Force Academy.

Time after time, he would bolt into the Falcon secondary for huge chunks of yardage. He ended up with 108 yards in 17 stabs and was named the outstanding back of the game.

"Jack is truly one of our all-time offensive fullbacks," explained Martin. "He has the size, speed and desire to make the great play for you."

Spikes was tremendous as a halfback on TCU's freshman squad of 1956. But after an injury hit Buddy Dike, starting fullback the following season, Spikes stepped into the fullback post for the first time and did a sparkling job. He picked up 315 yards on 71 carries during the year.

His 1957 opener against Ohio State came as a surprise to all. He simply plowed his way for 66 yards on 11 trips, including a 16-yard TD beauty for the Frogs' final score in the 18-14 upset.

He led seven of the Purples' yards in the air.

Christians Face Longhorns In Vital Conference Game

By ERNEST WHITE

The Frogs rested up in preparation for the conference game of the season, while the top-ranked Texas Longhorns had a hard time containing a fired-up Baylor team in Austin Saturday.

The Frogs will journey to Austin for this tilt, rated six point underdogs against the Texas team. With a win over the Teasippers, the Frogs could tie up the first place berth with the Longhorns. The Razorbacks also will be in the first place tie if they can get past the SMU Mustangs in their game Saturday.

"There will be blood on the moon," was Athletic Director "Dutch" Meyer's comment on the Froggie-Longhorn game, made during his weekly television show, "Football Scoreboard."

According to hear Trainer Elmer Brown, the Frogs do not have any injuries that might hurt their chances when the Big Purple team meets the Orange-clad Steers in Memorial Stadium.

The Steers did not play an aerial game against Baylor, but showed a strong rushing game, while the Bears picked up 153 yards in the air.

Dodson Claims Perfect Mark

By BOBBY HUGHES

R. E. Dodson might not get his uniform very dirty in every game, but he plays a vital role for the Frogs when his play is called, and that is usually the play after the Froggies have scored.

Dodson, a 5-11, 190-pound junior from Mt. Pleasant, is the "toe" of the team when it comes to extra points.

In winning the SWC championship in 1958, Dodson kicked 3 straight points for the Frogs in the title game against Rice. He kicked 9 out of 10 extra points for that season with his only miss against SMU.

This year R. E. is holding on to a perfect record of 11 out of 11 and it's hard to improve on that performance.

In 1955, Harold Pollard from Itasca, who also was a fullback, put TCU on the records by kicking 25 out of 31, which led the nation in extra points.

TCU has had other great kickers such as Harry Mullars and Homer Ludikker, who is now coaching at Arlington Heights, and it is certain if R. E. keeps up the good work, he will be rated at the top.

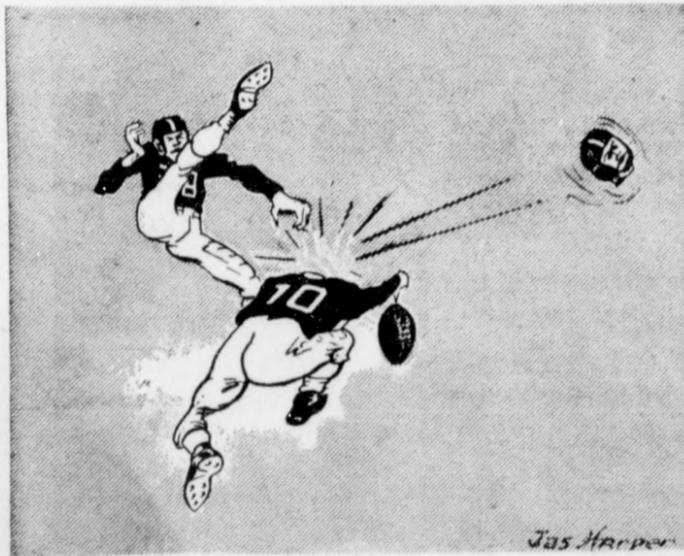

Not only can R. E. kick the football, but he can run with it as well. As a freshman he gained 370 yards on 72 carries, second only to Mal Fowler, for having the greatest year in Wog history.

He led the Wogs in scoring with 28 points and kicked 10 out of 11 extra points, with his only miss against North Texas.

At present, Dodson's total extra point record for college is 30 out of 32 which is remarkable in anyone's book.

Next year the TCU fans will see "The Toe" play a bigger role on the gridiron. This year R. E. has had three powerful senior fullbacks in front of him,
