Cotton Maid Will Attend Cotton Bowl

An added attraction for this year's Maid of Cotton is an appearance at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on Jan. 1. This will be the first public appearance for the 1960 Maid of Cotton.

The newly named Maid will fly to Dallas on Dec. 31, the day after her selection in Memphis, Tennessee. There she will be introduced during the game ceremonies.

Her visit to Texas is being sponsored by the Texas Cotton Association, the Texas Ginners' Association and the Dallas Cotton Exchange.

Applications are now being received in the National Cotton Council's Memphis office from young girls interested in representing the cotton industry as its 22nd fashion and good will envoy.

To be eligible to enter the contest, a girl must have been born in one of the 18 cotton-producing states and must never have been married. She must be between the ages of 19 and 25 and must be at least five feet, five inches tall.

Girls interested in entering the 1960 Maid of Cotton contest may obtain applications from the National Cotton Council, Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Fashion Show Is Scheduled For December

Miss Helen Wright, special field representative of the Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc., New York City, will present a fashion show-demonstration to all TCU students, "Steps to Fashion Perfection", at 7 p.m. Dec. 1 in Weatherly Hall.

Attention will be focused on the latest fall fashions and fabrics in clothing appropriate for the college girl and modeled by members of Chi Beta. Included in the wardrobe made from Simplicity Patterns are tailored suits and dresses, casual separates and sportswear, a rich belted trench coat and an exciting collection of date dresses.

In addition to commentating the fashion show, Miss Wright will offer helpful suggestions on pattern and fabric coordination, wardrobe planning, and the selection of accessories.

Miss Wright received her Bachelor of Science degree in costume economics from Carnegie Institute of Technology and her Masters of Arts degree in clothing and textiles from Columbia University Teachers College.

She taught clothing and textiles in college before she entered the business field where she held the position of stylist and fabric consultant for a large department store. Miss Wright also presented demonstrations and short courses to student and adult groups in connection with this position.

Since joining the Simplicity staff, she has traveled throughout the country, visiting colleges and universities and conventions of such organizations as the American Home Economics Association and Home Demonstration Agents.

Miss Cynthia Blanton, Beaumont freshman, hatchet in hand, has bad news for a scared-looking Mr. Turkey. He's going to make a delicious meal for her Thanksgiving table tomorrow. Miss Blanton's sweet smile reveals that she really didn't have the heart to use that hatchet on her feathered friend, however.

Thanksgiving Exodus Begins

By GARY BLEVINS

Classes and assignments will be forgotten, and thoughts will turn to turkey and dressing (and maybe even cranberries) at 10 p.m. today when the Thanksgiving Holidays begin.

Only students who live in distant states, or those who are grade conscious are expected to remain on campus.

A few optimistic souls, heading home, plan to catch up on research papers and themes.

Some loyal students, including the Horned Frog Band, are either remaining at school, or are returning early in hopes of seeing the Frogs dump SMU, and grab a share of the Southwest Conference championship.

Professor Watson Cleveland Bound

Dr. W. H. Watson, assistant professor of chemistry, will fly to Cleveland, Ohio, tomorrow for the fall meeting of the American Physical Society.

Dr. Watson will return here Monday. His trip is sponsored by Texas Instruments.

Thanksgiving festivities actually got underway yesterday when Dr. Sterling F. Wheeler, vice president of SMU, spoke at the Thanksgiving convocation. The Thanksgiving dinner was also held yesterday, so that most of the students would be present.

Those students who do remain will find the Library closed on Thanksgiving Day. It will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, Saturday. The Library is closed on Sunday.

Charles Peveler, Student Center director, has scheduled the cafeteria services available during the four-day weekend.

The cafeteria will serve breakfast from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Friday, and Sunday, and from 7:30 to 9:15 a.m. on Saturday.

Lunch will be served from 12 noon to 1 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, and Sunday, and 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Dinner hours will be 5 to 6 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, and 4 to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

The Information Desk will be closed on Thursday, and will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

The Snack Bar will be closed on Thursday, Friday, and Sunday, and will be open on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The candy counter will be closed on Thursday and Friday, and will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturday, and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m., Sunday.

3 Faculty Members' Books Are in Foundation Display

Three faculty members have books published by the Leo Potishman Foundation on display in the lobby of the undergraduate religion building.

Those represented are Dr. Austin L. Porterfield, professor of sociology; Dr. Robert H. Talbert, also a professor of sociology; and Dr. William C. Nunn, Amon G. Carter professor of American History.

"The foundation has been in operation since 1946, and primarily publishes books in the fields of social science and history," said Dr. Porterfield.

Dr. Porterfield is the administrator of the foundation and works with a faculty committee, which selects books they think are worth while for publication.

Beauties and Favorites Will Be Nominated

A section picturing eight campus beauties will be a feature of the annual this year. Editor Judy Galloway, Denver, Colo. sophomore, announced that this new section has been added because of numerous requests from students.

"The beauties will be chosen by a professional photographer in order to avoid a popularity contest," said Miss Galloway.

Two beauties will be chosen from each class. Any girl enrolled as a full-time student is eligible, and any person who wishes to nominate someone may do so.

Nominations may be made at the Student Center Information Booth today through Dec. 1. The nomination must be made in the form of an 8x10 picture of the girl with her name, classification, home town and the name of the person submitting the entry on a separate sheet.

Any entry which does not comply with these specifications will not be considered.

Nominations for the four favorites from each class and for Mr. and Miss TCU may be made at the Information Booth from Nov. 30 to Dec. 1. The primary election will be held Dec. 2 and the run-off will be on Dec. 4. Class favorites, Mr. and Miss TCU and the Campus Beauties will be presented at the Presentation Ball on Dec. 11.

RIGHT ANGLE?

A journalism class was discussing subjects for feature articles, when the title "Techniques for Getting Dates", was mentioned.

When a member of the class was asked if she would write the girl angle, she replied,

"I have one, thank you."

Asked by her professor what her technique was she blushed and said.

"No, no, I meant I already have a subject to write about."

Chi O's Win Class-A Prize

Winners in the homecoming stationary display contest which were announced last weekend are divided into three groups, depending upon the amount of money spent.

The women's dormitories were judged in a separate category.

Class-A category, including the displays costing from $75 to $100 was won by Chi Omega with their display of "Heaven Can Wait." First honorable mention was awarded to "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby," built by Alpha Delta Pi. Second honorable mention in this class was presented to Kappa Delta's "Deep Purple" display.

Class B, consisting of the displays valued at $50 to $75, was won by Lambda Chi Alpha with their display "I See Your Face Before Me." First honorable mention went to Pi Beta Pi's "Three Little Fishes." Delta Tau Delta's portrayal of "And the Angels Sang" won the second honorable mention award.

Phi Kappa Sigma's "Beer Barrel Polka" display won the first-place trophy in the Class-C division which included displays costing from $25 to $50. "I Poured My Heart Into a Song," built by Sigma Phi Epsilon, won the first honorable mention. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's "I Can Get Along Without You Very Well," won second honorable mention.

Jarvis Hall Women's dorm won first place for women's dormitories with "All the Things You Are."

Honorable mention went to "Deep in a Dream," built by Sherley Hall.

ROTC Rifles Fire

The Army ROTC Rifle Team, led by Joe Huddleston with 278 points, fired its way to a 1362-1319 victory over the Rice squad Saturday.

Study Tour Group to See Bavarian Alps Passion Play

TCU's annual European Study Tour next summer will include a two-day excursion to the Bavarian Alps to view the world-famous Oberammergau Passion Play.

Dr. A. T. DeGroot, professor of church history in Brito College of the Bible, will lead the tour which will visit 11 countries.

Study topic of the tour will be "Church Cooperation in Europe." It will be the sixth tour of this kind led by Dr. DeGroot since 1951.

The tour party will leave New York City on June 24 aboard the USS United States. They will arrive at LeHavre, France, on June 29, and return to the U.S. Aug. 16.

The itinerary includes France, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Scotland and England.

Six semester hours of academic credit at the graduate level may be earned by qualified students, and a program of study for undergraduates also is being arranged.

Lectures will be given on shipboard during the initial crossing, and European and British church leaders will address the group during the tour.

An extension tour of one week to the Holy Land may be arranged. The schedule also is planned to enable persons interested in doing so to attend the World Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in Edinburgh, Scotland, Aug. 2-7.

Recruit Program Operates Here

A recruiting program for TCU has been operating in Texas since October.

Mrs. Jewell Wallace, assistant to the registrar, has made trips to high schools in Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Houston and Dallas.

The program concerns high school graduates and its function is to "sell them on TCU."

Mrs. Wallace will be in the Texarkana area early in December and on Dec. 10, will attend College Day in Port Lavaca, Texas. TCU will be among ten colleges participating in the College Day recruiting activities.

Voodoo Will Work

Hypnotism as Toy Is Dangerous Fad

By JACK GLADDEN

First, it was the raccoon coat. Then, the crowded telephone booth. Now a new fad, hypnotism, has reached the college campus.

But, unlike the raccoon coat and the telephone booth, hypnotism is more serious. And it can be dangerous.

Ever since Bridey Murphy received national publicity, amateur hypnotists have flourished.

"The biggest danger involving hypnotism," said Dr. Cyrus LaGrone, psychology dept. chairman, "is its use by unqualified laymen." Hypnotism is a tool with many uses. It is not a crutch to be used carelessly by amateurs.

The college-student hypnotist usually applies his power in an attempt to improve his study habits. By improving his powers of concentration, he believes, he will become a better student. This is the pitch used by some "professional hypnotists" who promise "superhuman powers" through hypnosis.

Asked about such claims, Dr. LaGrone replied, "I know of no psychological basis for statements such as these. It is true," he added, "that if a person believes in auto-hypnosis (self-hypnosis) strongly enough he may improve his study habits through its use."

"If you believe you can do something, you will come nearer doing it than if you think you cannot do it," he said. Then smiling, he added, "Even voodoo will work, if you believe strongly enough in it."

Dr. LaGrone has two bits of advice for his students who seriously want to improve their study habits. First, they must have a knowledge of "proper study procedure;" second, "the motivation and the desire to study." He does not recommend hypnosis.

The greatest danger with self-hypnosis comes when a person sees it in the wrong perspective. For instance, Dr. LaGrone said, a person may discover that by using self-hypnosis he can often eliminate pain. Although this may be comforting at the time, it should not be done. Pain is like the swinging red signal at a railroad crossing. Removing the signal does not remove the train.

Hypnosis is beginning to play an important role in medicine. It is like a powerful narcotic. Used properly it can be very helpful. Used improperly it can be extremely dangerous. Doctors use it as an anesthetic in childbirth, dentistry and in cases of severe burns.

Psychologists use hypnosis in cases where they believe it is the best technique available. It is an important tool, but it is a dangerous toy.

Throgmorton To Be Guest Speaker At PDK's Thanksgiving Dinner

Louie E. Throgmorton, vice president and director of public services of the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, will be guest speaker at a Thanksgiving dinner meeting of Phi Delta Kappa today.

It will also be "ladies' night" for the University's Delta Sigma chapter of the honorary education fraternity which was established on campus last March.

A fellowship period is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. with the dinner at 7 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Student Center.

Throgmorton has been engaged in the life insurance field for over 30 years. Born in Arkansas, he is on the Board of Advisors of McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill.

He also serves on the board of the East Dallas Christian Church and is a vice president of the South and East Dallas Chamber of Commerce. He is a trustee of the Religious Heritage of America, Inc., in Washington, D.C.

Local officers of Phi Delta Kappa include: Weldon Wells, president; P. B. Stovall, first vice president; Joe Clark, secretary, all of the Fort Worth Public School System; Dr. Jeff Horn, faculty sponsor; Dr. Sandy A. Wall, second vice president, both of the TCU School of Education staff; Registrar Calvin Cumbie, treasurer; and Herb Stice, graduate teaching assistant in the School of Education, corresponding secretary.

Lab, Works Offered for Spring Term

Graduate courses in Dryden, Melville and James will be among the English department's spring offerings.

Dr. Jim W. Corder, assistant professor of English, will conduct studies in the works of John Dryden, English poet and dramatist of the seventeenth century.

Dr. L. Moffit Cecil, professor of English, will conduct a seminar on the works of American novelists, Herman Melville and Henry James.

The composition lab, begun this fall, will be offered again in the spring semester. The course is a review of the fundamentals of written composition. Students in the lab do supervised practice and drill work.

Foreign students, insufficiently prepared for freshman English, will again be offered the English as a Foreign Language course.

Preecs Takes Case Work

Don Preecs, Brite College junior from Decatur, Ark. has received an appointment as case worker to the State School for Boys at Gatesville. He will drop out of the seminary to take the job which begins Dec. 1.

Preecs will join about 15 other counselors in the school, who deal with the problems confronting the 1200 boys living there. He will have direct contact with about 150 boys.

"My primary duty will be to counsel the boys, and get them straightened out before they return home," said Preecs.

Becoming one of a number of ministers on the school's counseling staff, Don majored in religion and minored in sociology in the undergraduate school.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Toward a Greater TCU

In order to increase the quality of college degrees, the Southern Association of Colleges, an accrediting association to which TCU belongs has set up a self-evaluation program.

TCU is one of the pilot schools and is in a program of determining where more efficiency and quality could be installed into the curriculum and teaching methods.

This program has been in operation since last fall.

In the program, three questions are being asked:

1. What is the purpose of the university, school or departments?
2. How well are we meeting that purpose?
3. How can we meet it better?

From these questions will be compiled reports on each department of the University. These reports will be turned in to the SAOC for review in November of 1960.

After review by the SAOC, teams will come to TCU and conduct another inspection from which three results will occur.

1. TCU will be re-accredited which will raise the standards.
2. Certain gaps in our program can be discovered and the needs required for improvement will be realized.
3. The problems of the whole University and each of the individual departments will be learned.

By 1962 a tidal wave of students seeking enrollment into colleges will bring about the selection of students to be admitted. Students will be admitted upon entrance tests that will weed out all but top students. Then it will become necessary to gear our academic program with the learning capabilities of these top students.

The self-evaluation program which is now in progress is a step in the right direction toward a better and more valuable college degree.

Reserve Courtesy

Instructors often find it necessary to place books on reserve in the library so all students may use them. Some books are put on two hour reserve while others may be used for as long as 48 hours.

There is a problem of students checking out books on the longer reserve times and keeping them for the full time, but only using them for two or three hours. The rest of the time books lay on students' desks and are not used at all. This works a hardship on others wishing to use reserved books.

When checking out a reserve book students should use it as quickly as possible and return it to the library in order that others may use it.

Getting the book early is always a good idea, but it is also a good idea to be courteous and return it early.

THE LEDGER

Of Congress and Bowls

By BETH MORRIS

Not so long ago Congress made a decision to reorganize, and only recently, the Student Congress sponsored retreat to Brownwood displayed a great deal of mature judgment. This was equally endorsed by the large attendance from different organizations and groups on campus.

Governments, whether student or national, free or tyrannical, are well known for their waste motion and tendency for red tape.

This new organization, we thought, would curtail drastically the waste motion and make legislation and congressional business of prime importance.

One special point is commendable here—the meeting-every-other-week idea is sound because it gives members time to settle their thoughts and solidify their convictions.

In the weeks without formal meetings, Congress members are expected to attend various committee meetings. This plan supposedly insures each member full understanding of the functions of Congress and its committees.

But times change, and so must Congress, to meet the needs of an ever-growing TCU. It cannot be expected to do perfect work, but as near perfection as possible.

Before recent campus elections, a group of 150 students took upon themselves to form a "Council for Better Student Government."

Contrary to widespread opinion, this was not a revolt of independents versus Greeks. It was a meeting of genuinely interested students who wished to get candidates into elected positions. Their interest won four of their candidates seats in Congress.

The situation arose, for one reason, over the fact that Congress had no independent representation, which is pure neglect for 60 per cent of TCU's enrollment.

To prevent such an occurrence as this again, a plan was introduced into Congress by the junior class president. The idea proposed a two-house system to be considered by a committee.

The idea is not perfect and perhaps a two house Congress is not the answer. But it remains the duty of Student Congress to consider the proposal with openmindedness and fair comment. It certainly has possibilities.

Reorganization along this line would be a great asset to TCU as it would be the beginning of a new trend in Congress—logical, mature and responsible legislation.

On the other side of Stadium Drive, it's congratulations to the Horned Frogs and Coach Abe Martin, who may well chalk up another TCU "first" in the Bluebonnet Bowl in a few weeks.

No head coach in the country can boast of a better record than Martin in the last seven seasons. Since taking over the Purples' reins in 1953, the veteran coach has placed teams in the Cotton Bowl three times.

Good luck on Dec. 19, Frogs!

Yours Truly

Miss Beth Morris,
 Editor,
 The Skiff

Dear Beth:

Hope the Skiff will find room to print this expression of deep gratitude to everyone who had a part in our recent Homecoming celebration. In my opinion it was far and away the best we have had since our program was organized in 1953.

I would especially like to commend Miss June Pence, the chairman of the Student Committee, who did such a tremendous job. With her committee she put in hundreds of hours in planning and supervising with outstanding results.

We would also like to express our appreciation to the Band which played such a prominent part, to the Skiff for its fine editions, to the Vigilantes for their help on the bonfire and in other areas, and especially are we grateful to the student organizations that built wonderful displays around the West Quadrangle. They were ingenious, beautiful, well conceived and much appreciated by all the Exes and others who visited on campus. It was a top job all around.

The University just "busts its buttons" in pride when its young people do such outstanding things.

Most cordially yours,

Rebuff on Courtesy

Editor
 The Skiff

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter in reference to one which appeared in The Skiff last week concerning the lack of courtesy of a supposedly large number of girls on this campus. With all due respect to the feelings of the author of this letter, and his fellow sympathizers, I would like to point out that the holding of doors works both ways.

If it is infuriating to a gentleman when he holds a door open and the girls don't say "thank you," it is just as infuriating to a girl who opens a door and then a boy (or boys) rush in ahead of her. This does happen, so boys, do not feel too badly toward the "weaker sex" for not expressing their gratitude every time, and we will do the same for the "stronger sex" when we hold the doors open for you.

Sincerely,
 Margaret DuBose

TEXAS—

The voice of Austin party lovers, the Daily Texan, recently announced the auction of several articles found in the Student Union:

"If you are the person who lost a shoe and a pair of pants in Texas Union 301, you can buy them back Thursday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the sale of lost and found items in the Main Lounge of the Union."

Now I've heard of togetherness, but this is ridiculous and in the Union, too!

Series Sells Out

Improved Programs Boost Ticket Sales

When the Select Series program was first held in the Ballroom in 1956, the committee had to work to get an audience.

This year Ed Landreth Auditorium was sold out and people were still asking for tickets.

The Select Series Committee was organized three year ago by Dr. Marguerite Potter, professor of history. Since then the committee members have done an increasing amount of work.

"A great deal of the credit, however, goes to the student body whose interest has allowed the program to expand," said Robert Carr, Dallas senior and member of the select series committee for four years.

The first year there were five numbers for $4. This year eight programs for $5 are offered.

The joint student-faculty committee is appointed each spring by the administration. Persons from every department of the university are selected on the basis of their interest, competency, and general record of cooperation.

In addition to choosing the next year's programs, the committee must see that publicity for each selection is given out; meet the entertainers at the airport; and usher at the programs.

By far the largest task is choosing from five to six hundred possibilities, the program for the next year. In the spring the committee members spend three or four mornings going over all the prospective entertainers. Their problem is to make the program balanced and yet to keep the appeal general enough for everyone.

One of the first selections was Norman Cousins, author, lecturer and editor of the Saturday Review. Since then they have presented such entertainers as humorist Bennett Cerf; jazz musician Dave Brubeck; Charles Taft, mayor of Cincinnati; and the play, "The Diary of Anne Frank."

"The largest number of people attended the performance of Jose Greco," said Dr. Potter. "Varel & Bailly" were such a huge success that we decided to ask them back," she added.

Usually the entertainers stay at a hotel but the members of the Heidelberg University Chorus stayed with various people in Fort Worth and in several of the dorms when they were here. "This was done," said Dr. Potter, "so that they could get a better picture of American life."

When Dr. Potter was in Heidelberg with the study tour this summer the director of the chorus entertained her.

The purpose of the select series program is to stimulate the thoughts of the students by making some of the best in literature, art, music, philosophy and drama available to them at prices they can afford. Dr. Potter said she was pleased to have more students taking advantage of it.

Actor's Climb to Fame Highlighted in 'Career'

Revealing the true to life, dog-eat-dog attitude of Broadway actors, "Career" opened this week at the Worth Theatre.

Not all actors are handed their careers on Broadway by way of a silver platter as Sam Lawson, played by Tony Franciosa, finds out.

His friend Morie, Dean Martin, soon lets him know that people can't be friends in show business as in personal life. Lawson learns that he must make his own breaks by playing the part of an "opportunist".

He goes from the bottom—a waiter in a restaurant—to the top as a star in a Broadway play.

Shirley MacLaine as the daughter of a rich Broadway producer and Carolyn Jones as Franciosa's agent have important roles, but don't appear in very many scenes.

In "Third Man On the Mountain" which will be held over for a second week at the 7th Street, the struggle of a young mountain climber, Rudi Matt, played by James MacArthur, is portrayed.

When Rudi rescues Capt. John Winter, a famous English climber played by Michael Rennie, he reveals that he is the son of a well-known guide who perished 16 years before in the last assault on the mountain.

Despite the fact that his uncle, also a guide, forbids him to climb the mountain after once getting trapped on a ledge, Rudi attempts it. His struggles form the plot of "Third Man."

"The Mouse That Roared" starring Jean Seberg of Joan of Arc fame, was the Sneak Preview at the Worth Sunday.

The English picture was a hilarious satire about an unheard of province in Europe that declared war on the US so that when they were defeated they could apply for government aid.

What promises to be one of the big pictures of the year opens today at the Worth. It's "A Summer Place", a technicolor production starring Richard Egan, Dorothy McGuire, Sandra Dee, Constance Ford, Arthur Kennedy and handsome young newcomer Troy Donahue.

The story concerns the teenage love affair of Sandra and Troy as well as romantic involvements between the parents of the young couple. It's recommended for adults only.

Opening today at the Hollywood will be "The Wreck of the Mary Deare." This suspenseful sea drama stars Gary Cooper, Charlton Heston and Michael Redgrave.

"Carry On, Sergeant," an English comedy, will open tomorrow at the Bowie.

Starting today is "The Warrior and the Slave Girl" at the Palace and it's in color.

World's Fair Depicts Many Foreign Ways

The public relations committee of the Activities Council sponsored a world's fair last night in the Student Center Ballroom. Symbol of the fair, the first of its kind, was a model of the Eiffel Tower.

The 45 foreign students on the campus, most of them in native dress, conducted visitors on a "Summer Around the World." They manned booths displaying the features of each country represented. Countries include those from the Near and Far East, Central and South America.

A booth, "TCU Around the World," included the University summer tours of Europe and summer school at Monterrey Tech.

The evening began with a movie, "The Long Hot Summer." Afterwards there was a get-acquainted session with the foreign students.

fair was to honor foreign students and to "make them more a part of TCU." Wilson himself has spent three years in Paris.

B&PW Will Hear Cosmetic Program

The Business and Professional Woman's Club will hear a program by Merle Norman Cosmetic Studios on Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Carol Johnson, representative of Merle Norman, will give a demonstration on complexion care and the application of make-up. A member of the club will be used in the demonstration.

Everyone in the audience will be invited to the studio at 2911 W. Berry for a free personal demonstration. Gifts will be presented to the listeners by Merle Norman Studios.

★HISTORICAL NOTE

In 1919 TCU students organized a boycott because the administration threatened to suspend six football players. The students didn't carry through on their threat to drop out of school in a large body, however.

one of those afternoons when nothing seemed to go right as far as the scoreboard was concerned . . . and we just lost.

"As for the Tiger fans . . . They jammed the municipal airport that night to meet their Tigers . . . a team that had awarded them so many thrills and enjoyable evenings at Tiger Stadium . . . when they landed from Knoxville.

"More than 10,000 persons stood in 40-degree weather for better than an hour to be with their team in loss as well as victory. Hardly more than a few dozen persons had ever welcomed the team at the airport since they began their winning ways last season. It's gonna take more than one defeat to convince these people that their team is not still No. 1."

It's strange how fans react to the wins and losses of their football team. The Tiger student body was behind their team in a loss, much as the Frog student body was behind theirs in the win over Texas. Be it TCU, LSU, or even Slippery Rock, no team can take more pride in their student body than the one who is cheered on by an enthusiastic crowd, even after a heart-breaking loss. Congratulations, Tigers. No wonder you were No. 1.

So TCU is in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

At approximately 4:15 p.m. Saturday, viewers of the TCU-SMU game will hear Charlie Gibson, public address announcer say, "We have just received a wire saying that Mississippi has accepted an invitation to meet TCU in the Bluebonnet Bowl." Pandemonium will reign and the chants of "Spike the Rebels" will be heard.

Since the Bluebonnet game will pit the two top full-backs in the country, Jack Spikes and Charlie Flowers, against each other, it is only fitting that the Frogs' motto be, "Spike the Rebels and nip Flowers in the bud!"

with Speer was running mate Bill Bucek, who played the quarterback position until John Schnable came in, with Bucek then moving to the halfback position.

Schnable has seen only limited service this season, due to an injury earlier in the year.

All-America candidate Jack Spikes gained 58 yards for the Frogs as he punched the line 12 times for a 4.8 yards-per-carry average.

Halfback Marshall Harris carried the ball seven times for an average of 7.8 yards-per-carry and also snared a pass from Jack Sledge on the Owls' 22-yard line and carried it over for the first touchdown.

"Mr. Automatic," R. E. Dodson, kicked his 18th straight extra point of the season after Terrell's interception and touchdown late in the fourth quarter. During his freshman year, Dodson made good ten of his 11 tries for one-pointers and counted eight for nine in last season's activities.

The Frogs gained 196 yards rushing and 94 yards on aeri-als, while the Owls gained 147 yards on the ground and 105 yards through the air.

TCU punted three times for a 47.7-yard average and the Owls kicked five times for a 34.8-yard average.

The Frogs have held their opponents to an average of 111 yards gained on the ground, so far this season.

Three Tie in Football Contest

The Skiff football contest came out with no perfect picks. Seven people picked seven out of eight games, with three tying in the total-points category and winning two free passes each.

The old pros were Dan Norman, Burleson junior; Bob Shelton, Sherman senior, and Jim Cowart, Mineola sophomore, each missing the Illinois and Northwestern upset, and picking 28 total points in the TCU-Rice game.

Four also picked seven of eight games right and missed the total points. Miss Kathy Hearn, Fort Worth senior; David Marshall, Mansfield, La. senior; James Scarberry, Pampa graduate student, all missed the Illinois-Northwestern upset, while Dale Arthurs, Terrell freshman, missed only the Ohio State-Michigan tilt.

Most of the entrants picked the points in the Rice game in the 20's, showing that these contestants did not have the undying faith of Ken Nations, San Antonio junior, who picked the points at 42, but missed four games, and Miss Lynn Wade, Houston graduate student, who picked the total points at 49, but missed three picks.

The "Forecaster of the Week" award goes to Bobby Newton, who missed five of his eight picks. This probably is the punishment for betting on the Baylor Bears.

This week's football contest is the last of the season, but look for a post-season contest featuring the bowl games in a later issue.

Harris Busts Loose

Marshall Harris (26), Frog right halfback, scoots through left end during the first quarter of the Rice game, for the first of a series of long gains against the Owls. With first and ten on the Rice 45-yard line, Harris plowed 21 yards to set up the Frogs'

TCU Victory Needed for SWC Crown

By ERNEST WHITE

The Frogs meet the Mustangs from SMU Saturday at Amon Carter Stadium in the last conference tilt of the season and the outcome of this game will decide if the Frogs get any part of the Conference crown.

The Mustangs downed the Froggies last year, 20-13, spoiling a perfect conference record and with the help of their All-America quarterback, Don Meredith, will be out to upset the Frogs again.

Saturday, while the Mustangs were whipping the Baylor Bears, 30-14, TCU ransacked the Rice Owls, 35-6. Performing before a Homecoming crowd of 25,000, the nationally ranked Frogs used 42 of the 49-man varsity squad.

The Rice defeat leaves the Frogs with only the Mustangs from SMU to beat for a portion of the SWC crown. Texas plays A&M Thanksgiving Day at College Station, and the outcome of that game will decide Cotton Bowl defender.

TCU accepted an invitation to play in the opening game of the newly formed Bluebonnet Bowl December 19 in Houston. The announcement was made to the fans late in the fourth quarter, but the team to oppose the Frogs has not yet been announced.

The Frogs had little trouble against the Owls, who have had had one of the worst seasons in history. Rice halfback Gordon Speer made repeated drives into the Froggie line until a hard block caused him to fumble. The loose ball was picked up in mid-air by Frog halfback Larry Terrell, who scooted 95 yards for the last Purple score.

Cracking the Frog line along converted and the Delts led, 13-7. See FROGS on Page 7

BALLIN' THE JACK

By Jack Harkrider

Wonder how LSU is taking that loss to Tennessee?

This thought, revealed in a recent column, drew a reply from Phil Massey, ex-sports editor of the LSU Reville. According to Massey, the fans rather surprised the Tigers.

"As for your query in last Wednesday's Skiff on how the Tiger student body has taken that loss to the Vols . . . Very well, we must report," Massey writes. "Guess the defeat would have been more digestible if the Bengals had lost to a team of comparable ability, such as the Frogs or the Rebels up the road . . . but it happened and that was that."

"It is never easy to see a 19-game winning streak go flying out the window in two short minutes of erratic football. It might best be summed up by saying that it was just

Delts Conquer Sigma Chi For Football Championship

Emery Deaki, Delta Tau Delta tailback, was the sparkplug in the 13-7 defeat of Sigma Chi in the fraternity intramural football championship Thursday afternoon.

The Delts were the defending champions, with this game being their fourth straight defense of the championship in as many years.

The first score came in the second quarter as Delt end Joe T. Jones caught a pass from Deaki on the midfield stripe, and raced the rest of the way untouched. The extra point try was no good and the Delts lead, 6-0.

The Sigs bounded back when Steve Bender, Sig end, intercepted a Delt pass and scooted 30 yards for the touchdown. Ken White, Sig right half, converted and the Sigs led at half time, 7-6. Jerry Ray, Delt right half, intercepted a Sig pass to stop a drive on the 20-yard line, only to have John R. Smith, Sig tailback, steal a Delt aerial two plays later. Stopped cold by the Delt's defense, the Sigs kicked into the wind, with the punt going out on the 35-yard line.

The Delts took over the ball in the fourth quarter and kept a drive going under the direction of Deaki, who swept right end to make the final Delt score. Marshall Robinson, Delt center, converted and the Delts led, 13-7.

What do you mean you don't like to pass?

Froggie Enters Tennis Tourney

Earl Van Zandt, Fort Worth freshman, will participate in the National Junior Tennis Championship Matches at St. Louis, Mo., during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Van Zandt was a member of the Junior Texas Davis Cup Team, and as a Junior at Paschal High School, he won the State Doubles Championship in Class 4-A competition. During his Senior year he got to the State Quarter-finals.

Delta Sigs Win Game

Delta Sigma Pi, TCU's international business fraternity, won their first annual football game, 13-0, against the North Texas State College chapter Sunday.

Mickey Brewer, Fort Worth senior, threw both winning touchdown passes. One went to Cliff Justice, Fort Worth junior, while the other was hauled in by Jerry Ward, Fort Worth senior.
