Five Finalists Are Named Best-Dressed

Finalists in the best-dressed contest were chosen Friday at a tea in Room 216 of the Student Center.

They are Misses Lynda Ballenger, Midland freshman, nominated by Sherley Hall Dorm Council; Margie Dodson, Fort Worth senior, Delta Gamma; Janis Kirby, Houston junior, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Bettie B. Porzelius, Chattanooga, Tenn. junior, Colby Hall Dorm Council and Sharon Thompson, Houston sophomore, nominated by Sigma Phi Epsilon.

A second judging will take place tomorrow afternoon in Room 216 of the Student Center to select the final winner from these five. She will be TCU's entry in Glamour Magazine's national contest to choose the ten best-dressed college girls in America.

When the winner is selected, she will be photographed in three separate outfits. The photographs will be sent with the official entry blank.

The ten national winners will be announced in April. They will be flown to New York for the first week in June to spend two weeks as guests of Glamour.

There they will attend fashion shows, make TV appearances and be featured in the August issue of Glamour.

Judges last Friday, when TCU's finalists were chosen, were Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director; Miss Elizabeth Shelburne, dean of women; Mrs. E. K. Latimer, hostess from Waits Hall; Mrs. Ella May O'Brien, hostess from Sherley; Mrs. Mabel Morton from Foster and Miss Minnie Harrison from Colby.

Also Miss Beth Adair Morris, Skiff editor; Dr. James Vardaman, assistant professor of history; Dean Laurence Smith, dean of students and David Freeman, vice president of the student body.

Two Schools Show Gains In Enrollment

Spring enrollment increased in two of the eight colleges of the University.

An increase of eight students in the Graduate School was modest compared to the significant increase of 108 in the School of Business.

Registration in the other six colleges decreased in varying numbers. An enrollment drop of 371 in the Evening College was the greatest, and the smallest was in the School of Education with a decrease of four students.

Enrollment in the AddRan College of Arts and Sciences decreased by 41; Brite College of the Bible decreased eight; the School of Fine Arts' enrollment dropped six, and Harris College of Nursing enrollment was decreased by nine students.

Distribution of enrollment by schools and colleges is based on major subjects of students except Graduate School, Evening College and Brite College are not classified by major, but are included in the total Evening College count.

Graduate students who have bachelor's degrees are tabulated in Graduate School and not by major subjects.

Dr. D. E. Trueblood Will Be Main Speaker for RE Week

By GARY BLEVINS

Religious Emphasis Week speaker, Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, was termed "the best known Quaker writer of our generation" in a recent Pulpit Book Club Bulletin.

The Bulletin also recognized Dr. Trueblood's "talent for stating profound truths in a forceful way, making a strong appeal to the lay mind."

His literary work is of two different types. Some of it is philosophical, yet other writings reveal a flair for popular interpretation of religion in relation to contemporary life.

Dr. Trueblood has written 17 books, his latest being "Idea of a College."

In a statement made this year, Harper and Brothers Publishers stated that total sales of his books have exceeded 400,000.

Dr. Trueblood is a native of Pleasantville, Iowa. He is currently a professor of philosophy at Earlham College, the Quaker Institution, Richmond, Ind., where he has been since 1946. He was on leave during 1954 and 1955 to serve as chief of religious information in the United States Information Agency.

He holds the following degrees: B.A., Penn College; S.T.B., Harvard University; Ph.D., Johns Hopkins University; Litt.D., Washington and Lee; L.L.D., Miami University; Litt.D., University of Vermont; S.T.D., Ripon College; L.M.D., Simpson College.

Dr. Trueblood is a member of the American Philosophical Association, Theta Chi, and the Cosmos Club.

He was Chairman of the Friends World Committee for Consultation, 1947-1952. He is a Member of the Board, Church Peace Union; a Member of the Board, William Penn College; and President of Yokefellow Associates.

Before coming to Earlham College, he held positions at Guilford College, Haverford College, Harvard University, Garrett Biblical Institute, Wabash College, Stanford University, and Woodbrooke, England. He was editor of The Friend, 1935-1946.

His Convocation topics during RE Week will be "The Reason for a University," "Loving God With All One's Intellect" and "The University and Social Concern."

Joseph H. Buys Commands Camp

Col. Joseph H. Buys, professor of Military Science and Tactics at Texas Western College, El Paso, has been named deputy Camp Commander for the annual ROTC Summer Camp to be held at Fort Hood beginning June 18.

Approximately 1400 ROTC cadets from 29 universities and colleges in the Fourth Army area, which includes TCU, will attend this year's six-week encampment.

Eleven Given Scholarships

Eleven students have received scholarships for the spring term. The scholarships range from $75 to $150 per semester.

Four special high school scholarships in the School of Fine Arts were awarded to freshmen Sandra K. Roy of Springfield, Mo., Phyllis Taylor, Phoenix, Ariz., Sherrie H. Payne, Fort Worth, and Patrick L. Simpson, Dallas.

A Fine Arts Foundation grant was awarded Billy Ben Lawson, junior from Cleburne, and an orchestra scholarship was given to Tom Barton, San Antonio junior.

Three special scholarships in the School of Business were presented to Linda Ann Frye, Shreveport senior; Juliane Pritchard, Danville, Ind. junior; and Don E. Boswell, Nocona sophomore.

Two students enrolling at TCU this spring were awarded scholarships as valedictorians of their high school graduating classes last June. They were Gary Van Snapp of Prairie Valley School in Nocona, and Errol Wade Roberts of Jessville High School, Jessville, Arkansas.

Sadler Voted To Executive Positions

Chancellor M. E. Sadler has been elected vice-president of the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities at the group's annual meeting held recently in Boston. He also was named to the Council's executive committee.

Dr. Sadler is in his nineteenth year here. He came to the University as its sixth president in 1941, and has been Chancellor since Sept. 1, 1959.

'Fisherman' Holds Over As 'Last Voyage' Opens

By J'NELL ROGERS

The Big Fisherman

If anyone feared that great Biblical spectaculars died with the late Cecil B. DeMille, his fears were groundless.

Rowland V. Lee has produced one of the most authentic spiritual sagas to come out of Hollywood in quite some time with his technicolor adaptation of Lloyd C. Douglas' book "The Big Fisherman."

Now showing at the Bowie Theater, "The Big Fisherman" is about Simon Peter and how his life was changed by the Lord. Howard Keel plays Simon.

The movie takes place mostly in Galilee.

The story of Princess Fara and why she is in Galilee, though fiction, is tender and heartwarming. The story of Peter and the Christ is mostly true and inspiring.

The combination of the two in "The Big Fisherman" makes for great movie entertainment and a holdover attraction at the Bowie.

The Last Voyage

A suspenseful masterpiece which seems much shorter than its 91 minutes is "The Last Voyage" which starts tomorrow at the Palace.

Viewers witness a ship's disaster from many angles. They see the captain, played by George Sanders, forbid his officers to tell the passengers of the danger until it is almost too late. They see the initial fire in the boiler room which caused the disaster and the actions of the chief engineer Edmund O'Brien in trying to check the trouble.

The most heartstirring story which viewers witness is the plight of a young couple and their daughter who are passengers.

Once More With Feeling

A technicolor comedy starring Yul Brynner, with bald head shining and Kay Kendall in her last movie before her death, starts tomorrow at the Hollywood. It's "Once More With Feeling" which was the sneak at the Hollywood Sunday.

Brynner is an orchestra director who can't stand wife Kendall when they're apart as she can't him. When they're together, though, they're in love.

Suddenly Last Summer

Now showing at the Worth Theater is a Tennessee Williams adaptation starring Elizabeth Taylor, Montgomery Clift, and Katherine Hepburn.

The movie, which is one of the year ten best according to the National Board of Review, started yesterday.

Paul Newman Festival

Quite a few persons complained that they missed out on the "Paul Newman Festival" during its seven-day run at the Ridglea.

Interstate Theaters, therefore, decided to run a shorter version of the same thing at the Parkway this weekend. A different Paul Newman movie will play every day for three days starting Friday. First on the agenda is "The Long Hot Summer", then "The Left Handed Gun" and lastly "The Young Philadelphians."

Young Republicans Meet To Organize On Campus

"We want to give the students a political choice, and a chance to develop their individual views and to take a stand on them," said Charley Walker, junior from Munday.

Walker had just announced an organizational meeting of the Young Republicans to be held at 3 p.m. today in Room 210 of the Student Center.

"The purpose of this meeting is to elect officers and to organize committees. We hope to promote the understanding of, and to stimulate interest in, the Republican Party and the functions of the American political system," Walker said.

Walker said the new group's main goal would be to appeal to politically intelligent students and to make them aware of their government and its function in their lives.

"I want to emphasize," Walker went on, "that we are in no way trying to compete with the Young Democrats for members, but hope, by the addition of this organization on campus, to strengthen the democratic ideals of a two-party system."

"We are planning," Walker added, "several debates with the Young Democrats on current issues of interest. We are expecting Congressman Bruce Alger to speak at one of our meetings."

Claus Hunzinger To Speak Here

Dr. Claus Hunno Hunzinger, German member of the international team editing the Dead Sea Scrolls, will be in the Fort Worth-Dallas area today under the joint sponsorship of three theological seminaries—Brite College of the Bible, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Perkins School of Theology at SMU.

Dr. Hunzinger was privatdozent, a professor paid by the number of students he taught, at the University of Gottingen in Germany.

He was visiting professor of New Testament at Drew University in Madison, N. J. during the preceding semester.

Recently back from more than two years in Jerusalem where he was engaged in editing manuscripts and fragments from Cave Four, Dr. Hunzinger is an authority on the historic documents.

He will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Dead Sea Scrolls and the New Testament" at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 4 in Weatherly Hall to a meeting open to the campus and community.

He will discuss "Re-Synoptic Elements" at a Brite College "Fireside" program, which brings distinguished scholars to the campus for informal discussion with seminary students and faculty.

'Typos' Not 'Types'

Student Bulletin Faux Pas Provide Funny Publicity

By DON BUCKMAN
 Proofreaders call them "typos" for short. Spelled out, they're typographical errors. And the proofreaders who came TCU's Typography Institute this week had field day if they saw some of the "typos" that have popped up during the year on the Student Center bulletin board.

"Today's Events" proclaims the board, and these are some that it has had listed:

The old bugaboo of freshman composition classes, "sophmore," had its place of honor. So did another frequent error, "sponcers."

Recently going the way of Ranch Week are the Student Center coffees. Here are some of the classes that took advantage of the SC's hospitality while it lasted: "psycology," "maret-ing," "chemestry," and "insurence".

A Madison Avenue man would shudder to be called an "executive," but that's how the board listed it.

Ministers might think TCU is un-Christian to allow the word to be spelled "Christiaan." Likewise, the board called the gentlemen "chaplins."

A veteran sergeant would be unhappy to see "Army Ordnance" instead of "Ordnanace."

Another group that met in the SC is the "Brite Exs."

All students have gone through registration, but how much worse is "regestraion"?

Probably the best boner of all was the notice of interviews for the "Navel Reserve."

The Activities Council has almost as many committees as Congress does, but a new one is the "personnel staff."

There seems to be but one solution to this problem. Texas "Christiaan" University, its "exs" and "execitives" of the Administration must unite with the

"sophmores" and majors in "chemestry" at the next "regestraion" to "sponcer" a petition that will provide some "insurence" against "further hispelings" on the Student "Sinter buliten bord."

Check the Papers, Prof

Student graders can become student raiders. At least that's the idea some students get when their test papers are returned.

Many times a good, conscientious, student grader can cut a terrible swath in red marks through a blue examination book. Of course, the professor can do the same but actually in many cases he might be termed a "softie" compared to the student grader apprentice.

In many instances the professor actually would have given a higher grade than his student grader if he had reviewed the student's work.

Our age faces an acute teacher shortage problem and the student grader is definitely an important part of the college program but he should not take the professor's complete grading role. A grade cannot be valid if the lecturer has nothing to do with the grading.

The college professor should use a student grader to check the factual material on a test paper and to apply a suggested grade. The professor then should look over the paper and determine the actual grade.

This technique seems the only fair way for grading. If the student grader does the bulk of the work and the professor quickly checks the work to determine the final grade it will benefit both grader and student far more.

Successful Beginning

The department of education here in cooperation with the department of religion and public education of the Texas Council of Churches sponsored a conference last weekend which was the first of its kind to be held on campus.

The theme of the speeches and discussions was how to develop moral and spiritual values within youngsters in the public schools.

Such a conference shows foresight on the part of its originators. If teachers and student-teachers can learn to instill better character and morals within students under their guidance, a preventive may be found for many juvenile offenses.

This extra activity in the education department required a lot of work on the part of its planning committee members.

The results of their efforts will stretch much farther than just to the more than 100 persons who participated in the conference. Countless numbers of public school children may be benefited when well-informed teachers guide them into proper paths.

Opportunity Knocks

Nationwide observance of Brotherhood Week will be held Feb. 21-28. Sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the 1960 theme is Brotherhood—Believe it!—Live it!—Support it!

The purposes of Brotherhood Week are to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for people and human rights, and to accept or reject persons strictly on their merits as human beings rather than their races or creeds.

Ad 400-11 MWF:
 Analysis of Fun 352ab

By BETH MORRIS

Four years of free love and no thought?—no!

Last week, TCU and many other Southwestern schools were criticized by a representative of the National Student Association for stressing social activities more than cultural events.

I don't agree.

The man based his opinion after only a few hours at the University and a scan over the school calendar.

The calendar is not an accurate basis for knowledge of the campus since many of the events are scheduled just to have a date set aside.

While one party listed may represent 45 or 60 minutes of fun for some fraternity or sorority, a cultural activity may mean several hours of worthy entertainment.

Select Series, now in one of its usually successful seasons, was initiated during my freshman year. It didn't take long for this bit of culture to attract attention.

This program has provided a higher level of entertainment with such names as philosopher Dr. W. H. Werkmeister, humorist Bennett Cerf and most recently, British laborite Clement Attlee.

In competition for scholarships every year, TCU boasts a keen share of the pickings. Many students manage to go further in their fields of study through the aid of the Rockefeller Foundation, Danforth Grants, the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Fund, the Southern Fellowship Fund and many other foundations.

The University's debate team has done well over the past few years and sponsors a contest annually which gains wide participation.

The United Religious Council, made up of students, maintains a steady cooperation among various denominations on campus. Also, they are responsible for the coming Religious Emphasis Week.

Little Theatre does its share with bringing Shakespeare back to The Hill and will present the world premiere in April of "The Legend of Madame Krasinska."

Student and faculty relationships have been put on a more informal basis in such groups as the Student-Faculty Forum and the Committee for a Greater TCU.

These types of meetings help provide good leadership qualities which the NSA representative said he failed to see in leaders of the Southwestern schools.

Making an appearance for the first time this year are Honor Life and the School of Education's conference on Spiritual and Moral Values.

No thought for culture?—I still can't agree.

TECH —

A recent issue of the Tor-eador contained a wire story received from "Meddy Old England," concerning the plight of a stripper:

"Coventry's police chief today ordered an investigation into a strip-teaser's charge that she had shed all seven veils at a party for 50 city cops.

"Blonde stripper Jeanette Day, 25, made the accusation before magistrates in the industrial city of Bolton. She was in court on a charge of indecent exposure while doing her act in a workmen's club.

"Before being fined one pound, or $2.80, she asked: 'If my act is good enough for the constables of Coventry, why isn't it good enough for the working lads of Bolton.'"

Sorry lady, that plea won't get you anywhere. Candy Barr tried the same thing a few months ago.

BAYLOR —

Down Waco way, the Lariat is no stranger to wire stories either. For example, consider this bitter observation on the modern Valentine present:

"There is just one shopping day left before Valentine.

"What are you buying your loved one—a cigar that explodes with a bang, or a length of hemp tied in a hangman's noose?"

"There was a time when Valentine's Day was an occasion of sweet remembrance and lovers of all kinds exchanged vows and small tokens of affection. Gifts of candy, wine or a dozen roses lent a sentimental touch.

"Children used to exchange comic penny valentines, or mail them anonymously to teachers. Now the grownups have taken up that innocent custom and made of it something downright grisly. "The humor often is no longer funny.

"You get a greeting card that says, 'Do me a favor for Valentine,' and when you turn the page you read: 'DROP DEAD!'"

Yes, I know how the poor man feels. Why only the other day I got a heart from Boris Karloff . . . It was still beating.

TEXAS —

The Daily Texan has more intestinal fortitude than most people give it credit for. To prove the point, here's a notice which appeared recently:

"Anyone who would like to voice a grievance concerning The Daily Texan should attend the regular monthly meeting of the Texas Publications Board Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Journalism Building 305.

"A spot has been reserved on the agenda for the hearing of grievances from any teacher, student or University staff member about the Texan."

According to the latest reports, six were killed, nine injured and two missing in the riot that resulted.

A&M —

According to the Battalion, the City of College Station embarked on a campaign recently:

"A 'pick up the stray dog' campaign will be in effect this week in College Station, according to an announcement made by Ran Roswell, City Manager.

"Persons who allow unvaccinated and untagged dogs to run loose are subject to a fine up to $50, according to city ordinance. Persons wishing to claim impounded dogs should contact city hall."

Mothers beware! Don't let your Aggie sons out of the house without their name tags and caution them to give only name, rank and serial number.

25 Brite College Students To Attend Spring Meeting

Approximately 25 Brite College students will attend the Southwest Regional Interseminary Spring Conference Feb. 24-26. The conference is being held at the Perkins School of Theology on the SMU campus.

Walt Kania, Brite College junior from North Royalton, Ohio, is the president of the Southwest Region of the Interseminary Movement. Professor Glenn C. Routt is one of this year's sponsors.

The theme of the Spring Conference is "The Church Under the Lordship of Jesus Christ," stated Kania. Group discussions and sermons will be based on this theme.

The 10 p.m. worship service on February 24 will be conducted by two Brite College juniors. They are James Smith, Lebanon, Mo. student, and Charles Isbell of Hillsboro. Brite College's Singing Seminaries will perform at this service.

Seminaries participating in the Conference are Perkins, Brite, the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest, Austin; the Presbyterian Seminary, Austin; the Graduate Seminary at Phillips University, Enid, Okla.; and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth.

A Triennial Interseminary Conference is scheduled Sept. 8-12 at Denver, Colo.

Not to be confused with the main course of a Thanksgiving dinner, unless you're a vegetarian, a "turkey" is bowling lingo for three strikes in a row.

According to a letter from the National Collegiate Match Games Committee, the 1960 Western Regional Bowling Tournament will be held in Chicago, starting April 9. Qualifying rounds will be held every other week end, with the semi-final round on April 30 and the finals on May 1.

The tournament is, in the words of the committee, "open to any male undergraduate of a four-year accredited college," who is in good scholastic standing and is taking 12 or more hours.

Winner of the matches will receive a statuette and regional championship bowling shirt and bag, in addition to a 22-inch trophy for the school. Like most school trophies, this one can be retired by a school winning it three years in succession.

So, if there are any future Don Carters or Buz Fazios on campus, here's a chance to miss two or three weeks of classes, spend a lot of money and possibly come back with a free shirt that's guaranteed not to shrink or fit your room mate.

Tennis, anyone?

Delta Sigs Win Again

Delta Sigma Pi, TCU business fraternity, downed the SMU chapter, 62-26, in a basketball game held in Dallas Saturday night.

Dexter Thomas paced the Delta Sigs' scoring with 26 points, to give them their third victory.

Cellar Battle Due at Houston

By SANDY McSPADDEN

The Horned Frogs travel to Houston Saturday for a basketball tussle with the Rice Owls, in what should be the deciding game for the Southwest Conference cellar position this year.

In the last meeting between the two clubs, "Buster" Brannon's cagers managed to roll up the biggest score they have achieved in SWC competition this season. The Frogs hit from all sides of the court to blister Rice's courtmen, 39-63.

Since this meeting, neither team has managed to show much strength, but they both managed to clip Baylor. Rice did the trick in their first meeting with the Bruins, 52-51, while TCU was beaten twice by Baylor before they flattened the Bears, 66-61.

Rice's leading scorer, David Craig, will be on hand for the game this time. During the last meeting of the two teams, Craig was in Houston nursing the flu.

The Rice star has popped the nets for a total of 338 points, and a fourth place spot among SWC scoring leaders.

Last week Rice took it on the beak from SMU, 75-58, and Baylor came back to get revenge on the Owls, 79-58.

On the other hand, TCU beat Baylor, but couldn't hold on to SMU's fast charging Ponies. The league-leading Mustangs blasted the Frogs, 98-67.

The Horned Frogs are a notch higher than the Owls by virtue of their victory over the Houston team in the Fort Worth encounter. Rice has a season record of 4-17, while Brannon's cagers rest at 5-16.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. The pledges were down in the catacombs; the actives were sacked out upstairs, not doing much of anything. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the housemother; Evelyn Zinsmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algelica McKeesport was writing a letter to Fabian in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls.

"Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Marlboro cigarettes to everybody, for if there ever was a smoke to start you thinking, it is mild and flavorful Marlboro! Things come clear when you puff that good, clean smoke through that fine filter—knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Marlboro! Oh, soft pack! Oh, flip-top box! Oh, get some already!

"I have brown eyes and I weigh 3200 pounds"

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain cells revived by a good Marlboro, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!"

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Bluegown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, tugging her forelock, "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a curtsy.

"One, two, three," said Dolores.

Alice promptly went into a trance.

"Go back," said Dolores, "back into your childhood. Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation... Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafoos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"I don't know," said Alice. "She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and I weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafoos.

We, the makers of Marlboro, have our doubts about this story. About cigarettes, however, we hold these truths to be self-evident: Marlboro for filter smokers, Philip Morris for non-filter smokers. Try some.

Abe's Aces Set Intramural Pace

● BALLIN' THE JACK ●

By Jack Harkrider

Three cheers for the group.

The "group" in this case is the committee headed by D. J. McFarland and Fred Hodge. Their two main objectives are the sale of 20,000 season football tickets and the sellout of the Pittsburgh game.

Earlier in the year, that "nasty ole" SWC dug through its musty law library and found a ruling which prevented the committee from staging an annual exes game against the Frog varsity. Not to be outflanked, the committee immediately turned their attention to a more worthwhile project—getting more Frog fans.

Always on the short end of the SWC attendance records, TCU has had trouble securing the "big name" teams for a home town bout. Since the building of Amon Carter Stadium, the only game which has produced a worthy attendance has been the TCU-A&M slugfest. Now that the committee has undertaken the task of "Purple salesmanship," perhaps a more lucrative offer can be dangled in front of the Eastern and Western powers. Who knows? The committee might even make it possible for Dutch to land the nationally prominent Slippery Rock team.

Notable Notes: Some people just can't hide their natural leadership abilities. A group of inductees from Fort Worth and TCU recently were the guests of their uncle (Sam, that is) for a free physical examination and lunch in that other city across the river. Appointed leader of the group of young hopefuls (hopeful they'd fail the physical) was none other than Jack Sledge, TCU quarterback who sparked the Frogs on their comeback trail . . . The most quotable quote-of-the-week award goes to "Buster" Brannon, who called his five courtmen, "The best losing team I've ever had." Wonder what Jess Neely has to say about it? . . . Belated congratulations to Miss Pat McDaniel, Abilene senior, who was an entrant in the barrel racing contest at the Fort Worth Rodeo. While not a winner, she posted good times and seems well on her way to being a champion . . . Wonder when Larry Dawson is going to wear that "crazy hat" of his during an intramural basketball game? Dawson is the captain of the undefeated Abe's Aces team. . . While on the subject of the Aces, it's a small mystery why "Sonny" Gibbs isn't playing varsity ball. Not only can he make the points, but he's a terror under the backboards . . . Compadre Gordon (Froggie) Pynes, captain of the Army ROTC basketballers, says there is no truth in the rumor that he is using three members of the Boston Celtics on his intramural team—they're members of the St. Louis Hawks . . . Congratulations to the NCAA for their quick action on the Texas request, after reading the last column. Less than two hours after the column reached the printers, the NCAA made their announcement. Wonder who their spy is? . . . The Wogs' win over the Mustangs Saturday night marked the first TCU victory in SMU's new gymnasium. Maybe this is the start of a winning streak . . . If the attendance at the TCU baseball games continues as it has in previous years, there will be a bigger crowd at the place than in the stands. Maybe "Rabbit" could sell tickets to the visiting team . . . According to the publicity sheets, the indoor swimming pool is heated. Sure it is—the first person who uses the pool each morning has to throw the burnt match away . . . Straight from the "cornball machine," comes this jewel: Don't miss the sports show that is now featured at the Bowie. It's entitled "The Big Fisherman."

Queen's Rook to Bishop's seven, check and mate.

In past years, TCU has managed to come up with a chess club of one type or another, and has even organized a chess team to compete with other universities in the area.

However, through apparent lack of interest, there is no chess club or team on campus this year. In fact, there isn't even a checkers club.

Other than a rare dorm indulgence of "the game of in-

Freshman Baseball Hopes 'Best Ever,' Claims Coach

By HARRY MORELAND

Newly named Wog baseball coach, Frank Windegger, is wearing a big smile after seeing the 1960 Wogs in action.

With the first week of practice underway, Windegger summed up his observation by saying, "This is one of the best groups we have had in a long time."

Windegger, an ex-Frog hurler, expects to have on hand an array of talent which should make the Frogs a powerhouse in the Southwest Conference for 1961.

With more than 25 hopefuls taking the field for duty, the Wog roster is headed by such high school notables as Paris' Christy Hamman, first baseman Don Reynolds from Paschal, Houston's Tommy Pennick and Rox Covert from Austin.

"I've seen Covert play," said Frog Coach "Rabbit" McDowell. "He's a real good boy. He turned down a bonus to come to TCU."

"That Kenny Anderson is quite a player, too," McDowell continued. "He hit 10 or 11 homers last year, and that's quite a few for a high school player."

Windegger also was enthusiastic about Anderson, a catcher from Houston. "From his showings, Ken seems to be the finest catcher that TCU has ever had."

Windegger expects more candidates to report for action after spring training and the basketball season is over. From this group, he plans to form a 22 or 23-man team.

The Wogs have a 12-game schedule this spring, with the first two being against Paschal High School, March 15 and 22.

The remaining games on the Wog schedule include: Baylor at Waco, March 29; SMU here, April 2; SMU at Dallas, April 9; Carswell here, April 22; Tarleton here, April 23; Carswell at Carswell, April 29; Carswell here, April 30; Baylor here, May 3; Carswell at Carswell, May 6, and Tarleton at Stephenville, May 13.

Ham, Gibbs Provide 'Act' For Pumpers

Abe's Aces, led by the accurate eyes of Milton Ham and "Sonny" Gibbs, jumped into an early lead and overwhelmed Percy's Pumpers, 62-29, in intramural basketball Monday night.

In a game marked by the Globetrotter-like antics of Ham, Gibbs and Larry Dawson, the Aces took quick advantage of Gibbs' rebounding and employed the fast break to rack up their second in their fifth undefeated season.

Ham led the Aces in scoring with 14 points, while Gibbs was close behind with 12. Craig Mason, providing the only spark in an otherwise hopeless task for the Pumpers, led the game scoring with 17 tallies.

In earlier action, the Thumpers, victims of a previous Aces' victory, downed the Hosses (B), 53-23, behind the shooting of George Kirkpatrick and Dana Campbell.

Kirkpatrick led the Thumpers' scoring with 19 points and Campbell was second with 16. Howard Parker with eight points and Rex Allen with seven, led the Hosses in scoring.

The Pete Wright Knights made it two in a row as they lost to the Speakers, 27-21, in the other Monday League game.

H. K. Odom led the game scoring for the Knights with 11 points, while Marvin Black paced the Speakers with eight marks.

The third round of the league will get under way Monday night, with the Speakers going against the Mavericks in the first game, slated for 6 p.m.

The other games include the Thumpers standing Percy's Pumpers at 7 p.m., the Hosses (B) challenging the Aces at 8 p.m., and Tom Brown playing the Pete Wright Knights in the wrap-up game at 9 p.m.

In the Thursday League, the Newman Club Cardinals downed the AFROTC Falcons last week, 43-39. Ralph Sanchez and Jack Hunter were high point men for the Cardinals with ten points each, and Kenneth Love paced the Falcons with eight points.

DSF won over the Vigilantes, 27-21 in the second game, with E. H. Sappington of the Crusaders, and Norris of the Vigilantes both scored six points as high men.

In the evening's third game, the Hosses out-pointed the Geology Club 37-23. High point men for the Hosses were Max Perkins with 12 points, and Bob Campbell with 11, Mac Stewart scored 11 points for the Geology Club, and Jim Shofner and Hunter Ennis both tallied four points each.

In Thursday's games the AFROTC Falcons meet the Hosses at 6 p.m., and at 7 p.m. the DSF Crusaders take the court against the BSU team.

The Newman Club Cardinals and the Geology Club vie at 8 p.m., and the 9 p.m. game pits the Vigilantes against the Army ROTC.
