Stage Crawling for Creative

Student Set Designers Ply Talents to Stage Projects

Two of the most creative people on campus can frequently be found crawling around the stage in Ed Landreth Auditorium or the Little Theatre.

The stage will be lighted, house lights down, but on stage are not thespians rehearsing for the part of Nebuchadnezzar.

They are Pat Belew, Fort Worth senior, and Takahisa Tsubaki, graduate student from Japan, painting the stage settings they have designed.

Both are artists and craftsmen who carry their designs from inception to completion. They have the advice and assistance of Henry Hammack, director of technical theatre, and must have the final approval of Dr. Walther Volbach, chairman, department of theatre arts.

Tsubaki (Andy to his Texas friends), designed and constructed the sets for "The Legend of Madame Krasinka", which has just closed a highly successful run.

Pat is now finishing three sets for the Children's Ballet to be presented in Ed Landreth Auditorium today and tomorrow.

They complain, with an artistic fervor that is a pleasure to observe, that they don't have any room to work, people troop over, under and through their sets from start to finish, it's obviously impossible to get anything done, etc., etc. But they turn out beautiful sets.

Andy was born in Tokyo. He was graduated from Tokyo Gaku-gei University, majoring in English, and taught English and drama in a Tokyo high school. In 1958, he received a one-year scholarship to study drama at the University of Saskatchewan.

Last fall, he came here on an assistantship as chief technician and is working toward his master of fine arts degree.

He said at first he was employed as chief technician. Then, with a disarming grin, "No, not employed—granted an assistantship. If I were employed, the pay would be more."

He says he likes Fort Worth—"It's just full of Southern hospitality"—but is going back to Japan after he gets his master's degree. He hopes to teach English or drama in his old university. Later, he would like to come back to the United States to earn his Ph.D.

Pat Belew's current work is the twelfth stage design he has done for the University. The latest, prior to this, was for the mystery plays at Easter Convocation.

Others include those for "Snow White" and "The Sleeping Prince" and for several ballets. The one he has liked best was for "Clown and the Rose", a ballet by David Preston, assistant professor of theatre arts.

He has also designed sets for several productions at Will Rogers Auditorium, including those for the recent Fort Worth Ballet Arts presentation featuring Mia Slavenska.

Last summer, he was a technician at Casa Manana. He will spend the coming summer working at Lakewood, a professional summer stock theatre near Skowhegan, Maine.

Dr. Spain Will Represent University at Symposium

Dr. August O. Spain, chairman of the government department, will be the University's representative at an educator's symposium to be conducted by the Du Pont Company.

For eleven days, June 20-30, Dr. Spain and a number of other educators from all over the country will visit the Du Pont offices and plants in and near Wilmington, Del.

There will be lectures and discussions at the Wilmington headquarters of the company and at least two observation tours of nearby plants and sub-offices.

This is an annual event whereby the company hopes to create a better understanding in educational circles of the problems, responsibilities and accomplishments of industry and big business.

In 1954, Dr. Spain went on a similar, but longer tour, on a fellowship granted by the Foundation for Economic Education. On that occasion, he went as an observer and consultant with the Aluminum Company of America, spending a week at their general offices and five weeks in intensive study of one of their plants in California.

Brite Institutes Program Recognizing Achievement

A new program for the encouragement and recognition of superior academic achievement has been instituted this year in Brite College.

One aspect of the program has been the publication of the Dean's List of outstanding students each semester. The Dean's List for the Fall semester, 1959, has been announced by Dr. D. Henson, head of the seminary.

Those on the list, with the colleges they attend, are: Allan Eubank (Texas A&M, and TCU), Allan Hunter (University of Manitoba, and Butler University), David Darnell (Florida Christian College), Miss Sherry Blessman (TCU), Walt Kania (Ohio State), and Ron Engle (TCU).

A second aspect of the achievement award program is being made possible by the cooperation of the Christian Board of Publication. This involves the presentation of important books to outstanding students in each of the core courses of the seminary.

The books, selected by the professors, will make a valuable permanent addition to the student's library, and will serve as a token of superior work in classroom and library. Twenty-one books will be awarded at the Senior Banquet, May 18.

The books award program was suggested to the Christian Board by the Brite faculty achievement committee, composed of Profs. Harold Lunger, Charles Kemp, and Glenn Routt. In future years, the publishing house is proposing similar awards for other Disciple seminaries.

University Heads Attend Meeting

Chancellor M. E. Sadler and President D. Ray Lindley were in Lubbock last weekend where they attended the annual Texas Convention of Christian Churches.

Twirlers Replace Band Majorettes

By DALE JOHNSON

No longer will football spectators see six majorettes in front of the Horned Frog Band at the games. Instead, they will see four feature twirlers.

This change from a majorette line to feature twirlers came about after much thought and consideration of the change by Band Director Jim Jacobsen.

A questionnaire was sent to band directors in the Southwest Conference and across the nation by The Skiff. It asked what type of halftime show they presented, and why, and asked opinions on the subject of feature twirlers becoming the trend in college bands.

Replies resulted in a toss-up. SMU used one feature twirler because, "It dignifies her position and makes her outstanding." Rice plans to use two feature twirlers next year because there is not enough talent in the school to make up a line.

Texas Tech uses a line of majorettes because it is more or less a tradition and the public expects it, and Baylor uses majorettes because they can be integrated into the show while feature twirlers detract from the band.

The University of Texas features twirlers plus a precision drill team of girls, and Purdue University uses a majorette line plus its famous solo twirler, "Golden Girl". Last fall Purdue featured six solo twirlers, but the change was not accepted well because of the irregularity. They abandoned that idea after one performance.

About ten years ago the University of Oklahoma abandoned their twirler program entirely. For the past two years they have had an outstanding twirler perform a couple of times during the year, but normally, she is a clarinetist in the band. The University of Wisconsin has had a policy of no twirlers since 1938.

After describing their halftime show, nearly all directors added that the use of a majorette line or feature twirlers depended on the type of show, and the show depends, to a large degree, on public preference. Another major factor is the amount of talent with which the director is able to work.

Before choosing next year's twirlers, Mr. Jacobsen said, "We are going to select only the best of the twirlers for our show next

Math Major Receives Fellowship

Curtis Outlaw, Quana senior, has been awarded a $6600 National Defense Fellowship. The three-year grant begins in September. It was made through the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Outlaw will work toward his Ph.D. there in the theory and practice of digital computing in mathematics.

A double major in math and English, Outlaw will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree in June.

Outlaw holds membership in Alpha Chi, national honorary scholastic organization; Pi Mu Epsilon, honor society for math students; Parabola Club and the Baptist Student Union.

He is also on the Dean's Honor List in AddRan College of Arts and Sciences and is listed in the 1959-60 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

year so I don't know how many we will have." Of the 24 girls who tried out for the positions, four were chosen.

Most all directors agreed that the trend in major colleges and universities is to use feature twirlers rather than a majorette line.

Dr. Polk to Read Paper

Dr. Estus C. Polk, professor of English, has been invited to present a paper at the fall meeting of the South-Central Modern Language Association.

At the meeting, to be held at the University of Oklahoma, Polk will present the paper titled, "Samuel Johnson and The 'Gentleman's Magazine'".

LYNN SWANN SPEAKS ABOUT LIFE

There's life in Texas this week! LIFE magazine's coverage of Texas events outstrips that from the other 49 states.

LIFE quotes Texas senator and possible Democratic presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson as he gazes at that ole Texas moon from his ranch near Austin, "This is what revitalizes a man." LIFE shows the tall Texan greeted by the "Ladies for Lyndon" dressed in red, white and blue uniforms designed by neighbor Neiman-Marcus of Dallas.

"This World's Week," an issue-ly glance at international happenings, shows the effects of the 45 twisters that hit Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas last week. Illustrating the damage is a full-page picture of the Dallas National Guard Hanger with its splintered roof.

On the next page University of Texas and Texas A&M heads pose with other schoolmasters who met in New York to discuss preparations for tomorrow's vaster student flood.

LIFE travels to El Paso, where members of the Scotsdale School Science Club have made a 350-foot-long balloon. The balloon, which rose to 11,000 feet though leaking helium all the while, was made to test the theory that an elongated balloon, which encounters less air resistance, will rise farther and faster than a round one.

"Where the West Begins"

Readers "where the west begins" can jump to West Germany via LIFE. An eight-page spread shows the divided nation's rearmament accomplishment, a block to Khrushchev's hope for increased control. LIFE shows the ex-Nazis as they train in schools designed by the US and with equipment provided by NATO funds.

Still pertaining to the Soviet, LIFE gives an account of the recent U-2 crash in Russia. Picturing pilot Powers, his wife and parents as well as Khrushchev denouncing US policy and U-2 planes, LIFE shows the personal and the strictly factual aspects of the crash.

Luxury Weekend

Sorority girls, imagine spending a weekend with one of the country's most famous hostesses, Mrs. Margorie Merriweather Post May! Kappa Deltas, imagine being flown from New York to Washington in a private plane. Tri Deltas, picture yourselves basking in a luxurious hotel, expense free. And Alpha Gams, see yourselves at a cocktail and dinner party where your dates are some of the most eligible bachelors in Washington. LIFE shows the activities of 22 Sigma Alpha Theta's from C. W. Post College of Long Island University as they are entertained by alumna, Mrs. May.

Britain Gives Away Its 'Darling'

Like an actual guest, LIFE readers can view Princess Margaret's wedding. LIFE photographers follow "Britain's darling" from the approaching coach down the aisle and to the royal yacht, Britannia, as she sails down the Thames from London to a Caribbean honeymoon cruise.

As American history classes view 20th Century presidential elections about this time of the year, LIFE reviews the Democratic Convention of 1912. Walter Lord, author of "A Night to Remember," describes the convention that took 46 ballots to nominate Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

Understand classes more thoroughly by adding LIFE to your courses. Adv.

BLIND BECAUSE OTHERS WON'T SEE!

A simple thing, like ignoring a traffic light, can bring tragedy. Every day we injure, cripple, maim and kill thousands because drivers won't obey laws made for their own protection. That's the ugly truth behind 90% of all traffic accidents. You can help stop this senseless butchery. Drive more carefully. Stick to the rules. See that others do, too. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down!

FACE THIS FACT

Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year injured 1,400,000 and killed 38,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on? YOU can supply the answer!

Published in an effort to save lives, in cooperation with the National Safety Council and The Advertising Council.

Results Are Tallied

There is nothing that can't stand improvement, but a recent survey of TCU students conducted by The Skiff shows the the Cafeteria needs many improvements and fast.

Of some 100 students interviewed by a ten question, questionnaire sheet, almost all were unanimous on several points in their criticism of the Cafeteria.

A large majority struck particularly at the poor and even "impudent" service given by members of the cafeteria staff. The other point which suffered overwhelming criticism was the meal ticket system.

Many students thought that girls should not be required to buy as many meal tickets as boys since they eat far less in a semester and never get their money's worth.

Still others thought that they should be allowed to do as they pleased with their own meal tickets, i.e., allowing other students to use them.

The students involved in the survey did laud the Cafeteria's food quality at at least equal to that of other schools and cited prices to be comparable to other university cafeterias.

However the majority felt that TCU could not charge such prices and still call themselves a non-profit organization.

The Skiff, on the basis of this survey, feels that a definite improvement is sorely needed in both the service of the Cafeteria and in the present meal ticket system. Possibly a lower rate for women students would best meet the latter problem.

It is our hope that the administration will consider the results of this survey. And the students—politeness helps.

A blow at the Cafeteria can't be struck without one at the other side. It doesn't take two wrongs to make a right. Students should think of this when going through the line.

A Little Learning

It is possible to get through four years of college today and still miss many of the things for which colleges were originally established.

Such things as a famed orator's speech, a renowned stage play, musical talent, or rare books can be missed during the college years with little trouble.

Plenty of pool games, the latest flick, that favorite mystery writer's masterpiece and plenty of sack time and maybe you manage to graduate.

After graduation you begin to realize that someone goofed. You find that someone was you. Your hours of preparation for life—over a pool table, beside the TV set and in the theatre balcony aren't doing you much good now.

Had you taken time to find those things the college had stored for your use you might be that success you started out to be as a college freshman.

Don't miss college; it's all around you if you take time to open your eyes.

Spring not only brings on a seige of laziness, but also a battery of banquets, awards, etc. All credit is given and students are singled out.

The Activities Council has a fine bunch working this year and promises better things next year. They've already started plans on several big events, such as Parents' Day.

The Band has their show planned and will celebrate the end of a successful season this coming Wednesday.

Many of the departments are toasting themselves and let's not forget Student Congress. They took their share along with the Activities Council.

Then there are those who have already had their turns and are sitting back to watch the rest of the spring show.

Among these groups, we have the athletes. This wasn't one of the best years for sports here on The Hill, but it hasn't been the worst.

But the athletes, although referred to as "animals" on field, are really a nice bunch of guys. For this we'd like to extend to them the Forest Park Zoo award for outstanding dress and behavior above and beyond the call of duty.

To the five finalists in the Best-Dressed Coed contest we extend the Lady Godiva award for neatness.

The members of the KTCU staff have become the recipients of the Dizzy Dean award for outstanding and accurate broadcasting.

If we may be retroactive, let's go back and give Student Congress the June Pence award for acquiring a crown to place on the head of the Homecoming Queen so she won't catch pneumonia, also the Freshman award for making a farce of the decapping ceremony.

To the debating team we award the Lucky Strike trophy for their showing at West Point and Northwestern.

We have just learned of the unanimous approval of the Duncan Hines award to the Cafeteria Snack Bar.

To get down on the serious side, all awards and credit being given on the legitimate side are deserved. Much luck to those who have to carry on next year.

SW Campus Confidential

By RUTH ANN KINDIGER

LSU—

The Daily Reville reports that Dr. Paul C. Young, a guest lecturer, recently put a whole psychology class to sleep, but intentionally for once. This time it was a demonstration in hypnosis.

Three of the class members were chosen to do such things as regress to the age of twelve and five and write their names as they did then.

One girl began to cry after trying to unclasp her hands after Young told her she would be unable to do so. One student remained under hypnosis and slept through the entire class and demonstration. He wasn't hypnotized, he was really asleep.

Wonder if this could be the problem in some of my 8 a.m. classes.

Another recent lecturer lecture at LSU was Dr. Richard von Hohenbrowen, noted Egyptologist. Dr. von Hohenbrowen made the astounding discovery that the Great Pyramid of Giza was not originally a pyramid, but a cone.

It seems that the ancients had built the basic structure in the form of a pyramid and then covered the whole thing with a plaster coating, which, von Hohenbrowen contends, has been worn away by the searing desert heat and the blasting of violent sandstorms of five thousand years.

Since the first cone was constructed during the reign of the Pharaoh Iscreme they will henceforth be known as the Great Iscreme Cones of Egypt.

TEXAS—

The Daily Texan reports that they received the following story from the Associated Collegiate Press:

Readership for at least one story in a recent Olympic College Ranger Roundup must have been exceptionally high.

The story had to do with apparent theft of a human skull and a preserved human brain from the college science building. The story was preceded by this headline:

"Teacher Loses Brain."
So what's wrong with the headline. It sounds pretty plausible to me.

The Daily Texan also reports that they have one very frank professor. It says:

A University professor in discussing a textbook used in his course recently said:

"Of course, there are many text books written on the subject, but there is only one reason why we're using MINE. It's the best."

Nothing like a little modesty, I always say.

TWU—

The Daily Lass-o reports that TWU weaving students took all ribbons awarded in student classification at the annual convention and exhibit recently held at the Fort Worth Art Center. The awards were made by the Contemporary Handweavers of Texas.

I've always heard about those basketweaving courses, but here's proof.

STOP THIEF!

According to L. W. Ramsey, director of buildings and grounds, there is a thief around. Or perhaps someone with an uncontrollable desire to accumulate a supply of fire extinguishers.

After a recent inspection tour of the fire fighting equipment in the various buildings on campus, Mr. Ramsey noted that 23 of the extinguishers were missing.

These three Froggie golfers practice for the individual Southwest Conference golf play which opened yesterday on the Glen Garden courses. Each of the trio will be out to cop the medalist honors. Left to right are Jerry Johnson, Frank Mackey, and Mike Walling.

Golfers Begin Medal Play

By SANDY McSPADDEN
Fifteen of the Southwest Conference's top-notch golfers were on hand to tee off in the 72-hole SWC meet yesterday and today at the Glen Garden Country Club.

The veteran linksters, representing their individual schools in the conference, played 36 holes yesterday and follow up with 36 more today to close out play.

Last year's champion from Texas Tech, John Farquar will not be back to defend his crown, but teammate Chris Blocker is a strong favorite to keep the honors in Lubbock. During the Texas Tech-TCU match three weeks ago, the Tech senior fired a blazing 63 on the Glen Garden course, which was one stroke off the record.

Billy Martindale, the Texas A&M swinger, only had a 4-3 record in conference match play, but under medal play he is another crowd favorite.

Texas' lone contender, Terry Dill will be on hand as one of the dark horses in the tournament of SWC champions.

By winning the front running spot, the Texas Aggies will have all four players entered in the tourney. Texas Christian will have three choice entries in, veterans Frank Mackey, Colorado City senior, Jerry Johnson, Arlington Heights, Ill., senior and Mike Walling, sensational sophomore player from Cleburne.

Texas Tech will have Blocker and Ben Alexander on hand, while SMU will send Ross Teter and Jack Little. Baylor, Texas, Arkansas and Rice will have one player each in the meet.

All three of the TCU contestants hold a slight advantage with the tournament being played in their own backyard. Mackey and Johnson have won their last three matches in a row and are currently riding a hot streak that could carry them home with the trophy. However, sub-par shooter, Walling, is the choice to give opponents the most trouble from his home course.

Two years ago, TCU's Don Massengale, who now is a professional, won All-America honors by taking the SWC crown. Last season, the highest any TCU player finished was fourth, with Charles Coody firing a 284 for the position. Only Mackey and Johnson return from last year's team, where Johnson placed eighth and Mackey tenth in the final standings.

Masonic Home's Walker Switches to Oklahoma U.

TCU lost a recruiting bout with Bud Wilkinson and the University of Oklahoma Sooners earlier this week when Masonic Home's fabulous athlete, Jimmy Walker decided to enroll north of the Red River.

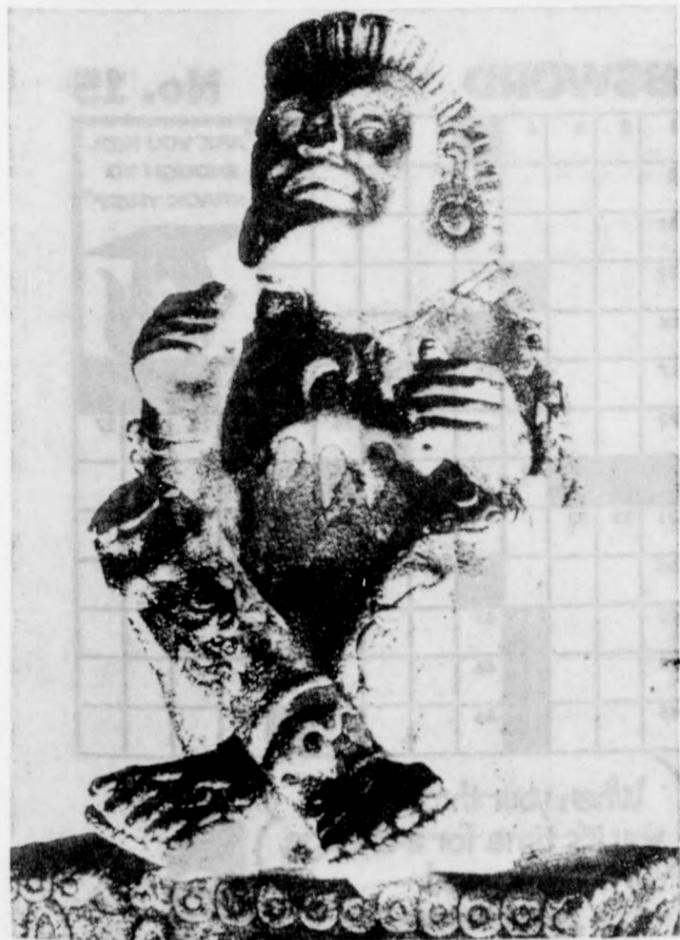

Earlier, the "do everything"

195-pounder had indicated he would sign a letter of intent with TCU. He told Frog line Coach Alie White that he would ink the letter after his high school eligibility ended in the state track meet.

After finishing fifth in the 220-yard dash, in the Class B division, Walker announced he would sign with Oklahoma.

Although already signed, the schoolboy athlete could still be lured back to TCU. Letters signed with schools outside the SWC are not binding on the SWC.

SPORTS LINES

By GORDON PYNES

Some 29 years ago in 1931, TCU played host to the SWC track and field meet. On that spring day, Richard Houser brought the Purples their only win in the meet when he sped to a new record of 9.6 in the hundred yard dash.

Today and tomorrow our school again hosts the meet, but there will be little improvement over their showing of 29 warm seasons ago. In fact, the Frogs will have an exceptional day if they win one first, much less set a record.

Few and Far Between

It seems a drastic shame that our Purple and White has little effect on foes in the cinder sport while the rest of the year they are on top or near that lofty spot in other sports.

Morris "Highpockets" Parker, brought TCU its first SWC track win in 1923 when he leaped 5-10 to share in the high jump crown. Since that time, only 14 titles have come to Frogland. This total is ridiculous when you realize that Texas and A&M have brought home this many wins in just two meets while it has taken us over 35 campaigns.

J. EDDIE WEEMS

At present, TCU or an individual Frog performer, hold no SWC track records. In more than 35 years, there are still six events we have never had a winner in. Never have our relay teams fashioned a victory in either the sprint or mile baton events.

These facts show that our track situation is absolutely miserable. On top of this, it is making no strides toward improving on its lowly state. In the past ten years, TCU has had but seven individual winners. Next year's prospects aren't bright for adding to the short winner's list. Only frosh high jumper Jacky Upton appears capable of entering the gold medal group.

Track Grows Elsewhere

We can see no apparent reason for the Frogs' continued dismal track fortunes. Our school has seen fit to make sure its other major sports were bolstered enough to hold a place of respect among conference opponents. Why can't track be improved to command the same regard?

The cinder sport is no longer a small time game. Some 25,000 Texas schoolboys compete in the spring sport every year. This proves there is no manpower shortage. Millions of dollars go into the Olympic Games every four years to make it the most spectacular amateur athletic event in the world today. Track and field is the major sport of the Olympics.

Some would say that track cannot pay its way like football or basketball. This is true, but the sport continues to grow both in athlete and spectator interest. Texas University has proved that the sport can pay-off with their gigantic Texas Relays program which attracts some 15,000 spectators.

One hundred scholarships go to build a football team, while 15 can form a respectable track team. Why shouldn't TCU be just as good on the track as it is on the gridiron?

It's Gold Medal Time

At present, only twelve Froggie athletes can claim membership in the SWC gold medal winners club. Parker, Cy Leland, Richard Houser, Ken McCorkle, Charles Casper, John Morton, Bob Cook, Bill Curtis, James Livergood, Wes Ritchey, Joe Bob Craig, and Mike Howell compose the handful that can display the gold medals. This club seems small when compared to our large number of football players who have earned All-SWC or All-America honors.

We hope that through this column's efforts, those of track Coach J. Eddie Weems, and those of every Frog who takes pride in TCU's athletic achievements, that the Purple and White will move steadily toward the front of the cinder teams where it rightfully belongs. After more than 35 years as an also ran, it's time we picked up from the losing rut and mounted the victory stand.

Moore Bids for Batting Crown

Despite a dismal showing in the baseball campaign this spring, TCU can salvage some glory from the diamond season by virtue of catcher Doug Moore's booming bat.

The junior backstop seems determined to bring the conference hitting crown to Frogland with his steady output at the plate. With only two games remaining on the Frogs' slate, Doug holds a lead of 20 percentage points over Bobby Lively, the husky Rice right fielder.

Moore has blasted SWC enemy pitchers at a .472 clip, while Lively stays close on his heels with a lofty .452 mark. Doug gets his chance to win hitting honors this weekend when he swings the timber against Baylor's Bears. The Owl slugger will be out to overtake him when he faces Southern Methodist's pitching on his home diamond in Houston.

Both hold records at the plate that are almost identical. The duo have also shown plenty of power with the big hickory stick.

In 36 trips to the plate, Moore has connected for 17 base knocks, including five doubles and six runs batted in.

Lively, who also excels on the gridiron for Jess Neely's football eleven, has stepped to the plate 31 times and collected 14 hits. He has two doubles, and is among the top home run blasters with three round-trip wallops in conference warfare. The Rice outfielder has driven home eight tallies.

Besides Moore, the Purples have one other hitter among the top SWC stickmen. George Banda, the small LaVega shortstop is in the tenth hitting spot with a .345 average. George was an All-SWC choice in 1958 and his four doubles, one triple, one home run and 10 runs driven in.

The senior shortstop winds up his college play today and tomorrow when Coach Rabbit McDowell's nine tackles Baylor in Waco for the season finale.

Moore has another year in the Purple and White flannel but hopes to emerge as the league batting champ right now.

DOUG MOORE

steady batting may win the honor for him again this spring.

George has more official times at bat than any conference baseballer with 55 trips. He ranks second in number of hits behind Alvin Hartman of Rice with 19 safeties. Banda also has a large share of extra base hits with

Howell Seeks to Defend Title

Purple's Pole Vaulter Soars Toward SWC Crown Today

By GORDON PYNES

Mike Howell is one Frog athlete who has had his share of up's and downs. In fact, the small Victoria senior spends every afternoon going up and coming down. That's his big ambition, only a normal one for a pole vaulter.

Howell has his sights set on going up to at least an altitude of 14 feet tomorrow when he seeks to defend his Southwest Conference pole vault title at Farrington Field. Last spring he tied for the gold medal award at College Station with a leap of 13-6. This spring that height probably won't be enough to make the gold medal bracket.

Still, Mike has one thing in his favor. He has always done his best when it came time for the SWC's championship gathering. Plagued by injuries as a freshman in 1957, he managed to tie for the Frosh top spot, then as a sophomore he placed second and last spring got a share of first place. He's hoping he won't kick the winning habit in his last college competition.

Actually, the 5-8, 150-pound, former Texas schoolboy champion has had an outstanding career at TCU in a sport that has found little glory in competition with other conference schools. Already he has gone higher than any Frog vaulter ever did and is one of the all-time point-producers for the Purple cinder squad although competing in only one event.

Tomorrow he will rank as the best first place hope for the sparse Purple squad, but will still face a strong challenge from Texas' soph sensation, Bayless Bennett and Dexter Elkins of SMU. Both vaulters have soared over the crossbar at 14 feet this spring, while Mike hasn't reached that mark yet.

Jumping better than ever, before the season's start, Coach J. Eddie Weems was certain Howell would clear 14-feet early in the season, but leg injuries struck the devoted trackster, and he is just now beginning to regain his old form.

Although track season lasts only about four months, Howell trains year round for his event which requires plenty of arm and leg strength, plus speed.

Most of the winter months are spent in the gym where he follows a rigid weight-training program. It was mainly through his efforts that other members of the cinder team began to work with the muscle building weights. The 150-pounder got so proficient at the weight lifting that he has pressed 200 pounds. Few men of any size can handle this hefty load.

Mike feels that the weights aid any vaulter with shoulder strength that is needed for the pull and push-off from the pole.

During the fall, the Frog vaulter keeps his legs in fit fashion by trailing along with the cross-country runners. His roommate, distance man Joe Douglas, constantly pushes him into the long practice runs with the distance competitors.

Tomorrow at 2 p.m. Mike will learn just how well his ardent training program pays off. One thing for sure, the fierce Frog competitor will be up close to the top where he has always been.

Purples Wind-up Tomorrow With Baylor Diamond Nine

Coach Rabbit McDowell's baseball nine hopes to close the season on a winning note today and tomorrow when they face the Baylor Bears in Waco.

Bounced around for four straight losses at the hands of the Texas Longhorns and Rice Owls the past two weekends, chances don't look bright for wins over the Bears.

McDowell is expected to call on his senior hurlers, Darrell Read and Charlie Rutherford to find the winning combination.

Baylor will likely hurl their ace in the season finale, Bobby Barnett. The Bear chunker has four conference wins to his credit against two losses.

Main attraction of the two contests will be the hitting habits of catcher Doug Moore. The junior catcher must maintain a good record at the plate if he is to hold off the challenge of Rice's Bobby Lively who'll be hitting against SMU today and tomorrow. Moore currently is the SWC batting leader.

Moore leads the heated batting duel by 20 points with a .472 average compared to .452 for Lively.

Tommy Ledbetter also has a mathematical shot at the hitting crown. The Baylor hitter owns a .367 mark at present to rank as the fifth leading hitter in SWC play.

McDowell will use as starters Ted Crenwelge at first base, Charlie Franklin on second, George Banda covers shortstop, and Leon Baze is at third. Jimmy Walker will be in left field, Buddy Iles in center and Marshall Harris roams the right field.

Of these, Franklin, Banda, Harris, Walker, Read and Rutherford will be seeing their final action on the diamond for the Purples. All are senior lettermen.

SAE's Outshoot Field for Golf Tourney Trophy

The SAE's copped their own fraternity invitational golf tourney last weekend with a total score of 325 over 18 holes. Some 44 participants from the eight campus fraternities competed in the 18-hole play on the Worth Hills course.

Ronnie Robertson brought himself and Phi Delta Theta the medalist honors when he held off Bobby Hughes to card a 78 in the links match.

The top four shooters for the SAE champions were Hughes with an 80, Alvin Neal fired an 81, Truman Connors and Rex Covert posted 82's to make up the 325 aggregate. Leland Phillips also had an 82 for the winners.

Delta Tau Delta finished in the tourney's runner-up position with a team total of 340. Sigma Chi nailed down the third spot with 348 strokes.

The golfing event is an annual production for the SAE's.

One of the meet's best races shapes up in the varsity mile run where SMU's Jan Alhberg, Baylor's Bob Mellgren and Ron Weber of Rice figure to stage a torrid duel. Alhberg has the season's best of 4:11, Mellgren has been timed in 4:13 and Weber posted a 4:14.

Several TCU co-eds will do the honors in presenting medals to the first three finishers in each event.

Tennis Matches In Full Swing As SWC Opens

Wednesday, May 11, marked the beginning of the tennis matches in the Southwest Conference meet here.

After an 8 a.m. coaches meeting, matches started at 9 a.m. on the Rivercrest Country Club courts. Southwest Conference matches usually are held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, but because of conflicts regarding the country club courts they are being played Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The host team has not fared so well this year, however, the Purples managed to take two conference matches from A&M last week. The Aggies won the match though, 4-2.

Arkansas has not participated in dual meets this year and did not send anyone to the meet here. All other Southwest Conference teams are represented though.

According to Tennis Coach Richard Lincoln, some of the favorites are Mac White, from Texas University, Bob Macy, from Texas Tech, Willie Wolff, from SMU, and Paul Como, from Rice.

All of these have proved themselves excellent players in dual meets against the Frog netmen.

Freshman will not compete in SWC individual competition.

Well-Dressed Politicoes

We were amused by the recent issue of LOOK devoted to Washington D. C.

One of the articles was devoted to an analysis of the style and dress habits of the major contenders for the Presidency. According to Perkins H. Bailey, LOOK's men's Fashion Editor, no matter how the voting goes in November, we will have a well dressed Chief Executive.

Vice President Nixon gets our vote for the best dressed because his clothes seem to suit him so well, and frankly, because he wears vests.

Bears, Longhorns Favored In Championship Battle

By GORDON PYNES

Strength, speed, skill and endurance all come together today as the 44th annual Southwest Conference track and field meet kicks off at Farrington Field. All eight conference schools are entered in the varsity and freshman divisions.

This will be only the fourth time that TCU and "Cowtown" have played host to the SWC cinder gathering. It was seven years ago in 1953, that the Frogs were host team for the huge championship meet.

Clyde Littlefield's powerful Texas Longhorns are meet favorites as they look to their 30th SWC track crown and seventh in a row. The 'Horns have dominated things completely since 1954 but are due for their stiffest test since then, from Baylor's speedy Bears. Baylor has the sprint speed for a large point production but is expected to fall slightly short of Texas in the field events.

The same two also rate the favorites tag in the freshman competition.

J. Eddie Weems' Frogs will have to go all out to escape the bottom spot. TCU has never won a SWC cinder title. Still, the Purples could do better in the point totals than in years past.

Top entrants wearing the Purple and White are hurdler Bobby Bernard, pole vaulter Mike Howell and high jumper Aubrey Linne. Howell returns to defend his pole vault crown which he shared last year.

Bernard sped to a wind-aided 14 flat clocking in the high hurdles last week in Waco and could pull an upset over Texas' Ray Cunningham who is the favorite. Cunningham has a season's best of 13.9 but it too was pushed by a good breeze.

Linne faces some talented foes in Ed Curtis of Baylor and Texas Tech's Dub Thornton. Curtis has the best jump at 6-7 while Linne has cleared 6-4.

The Frogs sprint and mile relay teams may also find a place near the front. A foursome of Bernard, Sam Ketcham, Reagan Gasaway and Al Heizer have the speed if they can fashion some smooth handoffs. The latter three and Kelly Westlake also could get in the thick of the mile relay. They have posted a 3:14.3 earlier this spring.

Gasaway and Ketcham are sprint hopefuls. Ketcham sped to a 9.6 hundred last week and Gasaway zipped off a 20.6 clocking in the 220-yard dash. Both will be matching speed with defending sprint champ Ralph Alspaugh of Texas, plus Billy Hollis and Ray Knaub, Baylor's fast duo.

A handful of Wogs aren't expected to do much scoring in the Frosh bracket. Jacky Upton seems the only one headed toward a gold medal. The slender high jumper is the favorite in his specialty with a 6-6 leap as his best season mark. Jacky will also be a top notch contender in the broad jump.

Jerry Jack Terrell faces a fast sprint field led by Baylor's Bill Kemp who last year was his teammate at Carter Riverside.

Low hurdlers Don Smith and Bud Priddy also must skim the timbers with some touted competition.

Several records are expected to fall in the varsity division. The pole vault and shot put standards seem the most likely to topple. Two vaulters have already been over the mark of 13-11½ set by Stephen James in 1955.

Baylor's beefy weightmen, John Fry and Buddy Tyner, offer a challenge to Darrow Hooper's shot put mark of 55-5½ set in 1953. Burly Jim Allison of Texas is also capable of exceeding the standard.

Best freshmen bet for a new record lies with the Baylor sprint relay. Last weekend this swift baton group fled to a new nation-
