'Swabbies' Jig Tomorrow Night

for the Presentation Ball which will be held in the Student Center Ballroom tomorrow night. The ballroom will be decorated like a sailing ship. (Skiff staff photo)

Sailing Ship Is Theme Of Presentation Ball

Shades of the bounding main . . . the Student Center will take on the riggings of a sailing ship for the 1960 Presentation Ball at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10.

Campus favorites elected in November will be presented amid the masts and ropes of a vessel of the high seas.

Mr. and Miss TCU, Joe Short, Ponca City, Okla. senior, and Miss Barbara Britain, Stinnett senior, will be formally introduced. Senior class favorites who will be presented are Miss Pat Powell of Groves and Billy Stites of Longview.

Junior class favorites to be introduced are Miss Wilma Fowler, Wichita Falls, and Jim Wright, Tyler. Representing the sophomore class will be Miss Tahita Niemeyer of Lamesa and Kenneth Anderson of Houston.

Miss Jackie Marshall, Angleton, and Mike Duncan, San Angelo, will be introduced as freshman favorites.

Gordon Band

Claude Gordon's band will play in the Ballroom for the maritime event. The ballroom will be decorated as the main deck of the ship and Room 300 will be the crew's nest.

Miss Horned Frog for 1960-1961, Miss Shirley Goddard, senior from Englewood, Colo., will be introduced at the formal dance. Allen Eyer, Horned Frog editor will make the presentations.

Also to be presented are eight Frogettes, beauties chosen to be featured in the personalities section of the year book.

The eight are: Misses Martha Campbell, Barbara Wilson, Jane Bean, Judy Tkac, Suzie Handley, Caron Flake, Joyce Paulson and Kathy Birkner.

Ye Ole Galley

The cafeteria will be trimmed

as the galley of the "Presentation ship." The Jimmy Caldwell Trio will provide the music in the "hold."

Miss Sally Payne, Dallas freshman, will be the evening's vocalist. No corsages are required for the dance, according to Social Director Miss Elizabeth Youngblood.

Sponsoring the event are the dance committee of the Activities and the Horned Frog staff. Nancy Baldwin, Bonham senior is chairman of the dance committee.

Dick Peacock, Houston freshman, decorations committee chairman, is in charge of decorations.

Decks, ropes and a treasure chest will help achieve the setting of a ship when bold pirates sailed the seven seas.

Tickets are on sale in the lobby of the Student Center at $1.50 each.

AAS Travels to Austin

Fifteen Arnold Air Society members will leave today for Austin for an AAS area conclave tomorrow.

Accompanying the group will be Angel Flight members Deedie Potter, Fort Worth sophomore; Shirley Dawson, Dallas junior; Lynn Logan, San Angelo sophomore, and Stacy Ellis, Perryton sophomore.

SC Members to Attend Intercollegiate Meeting

Two members of Student Congress will attend the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association executive meeting Saturday in Abilene.

Lewis Mondy, Dallas junior, and Stan Read, Dallas sophomore will represent the University since Joe Short, president of Congress will be unable to attend.

The TISA is comprised of members of student congresses and is dedicated to improving student governments. It has a central agency similar to that of the National Student Association which provides ideas to the member colleges.

Each college is asked to have one project a year investigating school life. These reports are filed by the central agency and when another school needs to have some information on how to handle a problem it can write to the central agency and have access to its files.

Meeting's Purpose

The purpose of the meeting Saturday is to make plans for the TISA convention to be held later this year.

Amos Melton, public relations director and homecoming chairman expressed his appreciation to Congress members through a letter for helping to make homecoming a success. He also pointed out that the date for next year's Homecoming must be selected within 30 days.

With only four home games, and only three of those conference games, the choice is limited. The date will be chosen later.

The game with Kansas on Sept. 23 was discarded as a possible Homecoming date on the basis that it came too early and was a non-conference game.

The last game is Dec. 2 with

SMU and it was decided that it was too late in the season. Of the other two games, one with A&M and the other with Rice, one is on Parent's Weekend and the other game comes during the Thanksgiving holidays. It was suggested that Parent's Weekend and Homecoming be combined and this possibility is being looked into.

Election Committee

The Student Court recommended in a previous meeting of Student Congress that the elections committee take over the favorites election for the Horned Frog. John McGraw, Farmersville junior, reported that after his talk with the 1961 editor of the Horned Frog, Allen Eyer, Fort Worth senior, it was decided to wait till the spring election and

Singers to Voice 'Christmas Story' At Convocation

The TCU Singers, with Frank Stovall as soloist, will present "The Christmas Story" at the annual Convocation at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The singers are made up of 30 voices under the direction of David Streetman. A dozen wind and string instruments, as well as the organ, will be used in the presentation of the oratorio by Heinrich and Schuetz.

Soldiers Sing

Watching the Army Glee Club on TV, a five-year-old was asked if he would like to go to West Point when he was a big boy.

"No," he replied, "I don't want to go to any singing school."

TCU to Join Universities In TV Collegiate Debate

The University will be among 14 Texas universities and colleges which will stage the first intercollegiate television tournament ever held. The series titled "Young America Speaks."

The debates will be carried over a network of Texas television stations for a 13-week period beginning January 15, 1961, and will be sponsored by Sinclair Refining Company.

Also, the refining company will contribute $1,000 to the scholarship fund of each week's winning college, and $500 to the scholarship fund of each week's losing college.

Other universities and colleges participating in the debating tournament will be Baylor University, Rice University, Southern Methodist University, Texas A&M, Texas Technological College, University of Texas, Abilene Christian College, University of Houston, North Texas State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Lamar State College, Stephen F. Austin College and Southwest Texas State College.

Texas members of the Southwest Conference will constitute the official regulating body for the conduct of the debates.

People Fascinate Miss Youngblood

Activities Director Presides Over Student Center Beehive

It only takes two words to describe her—"human dynamo."

So is the case of Activities Director Miss Elizabeth Youngblood.

Miss Youngblood came here 6½ years ago, the same year the Student Center was opened and sororities and fraternities begun.

One of Miss Youngblood's major duties during her first year on campus was the sponsorship of the newly-organized Greek organizations.

Reminiscing, Miss Youngblood said, "I had not been a member of a sorority and knew very little about them (sororities and fraternities) when I began as sponsor. I often felt at first that the process of sponsoring as I was learning was a hindrance. However, I now feel that it was a great advantage. It helped make me impartial."

Taught Journalism

Miss Youngblood taught journalism, in addition to being the school's first activities director, during her first two years on campus. She said the reason for her giving up teaching was the fast expansion of her duties outside the classroom.

Miss Youngblood considers working in close contact with people to be the most fascinating part of her job. Previous to coming to The Hill, she had worked on the Denton Record Chronicle, had been the public relations director of San Marcus Academy, and an assistant managing editor of the Texas Outlook, an official publication of the Texas State Teachers Association.

NTSC Product

Her plans, during undergraduate days at North Texas State, were to major in journalism. However, a speaker she heard one day from the Associated Press Bureau, encouraged persons in the field of journalism to major in history or government and to minor in journalism.

So it was with a major in government, a minor in journalism, that Miss Youngblood received her bachelor's degree from North Texas.

She edited the school newspaper, the yearbook, and worked in the information office during her four years on the Denton campus.

Miss Youngblood received her master's degree in educational psychology from the University of Texas.

Many Duties

Today, her activities include almost every phase of campus activity. She makes space allocations for the 3,000 scheduled meetings held in the Student Center during a school year, is in charge of the University calendar, helps with the development of Select Series, checks on grade averages of all club officers, and checks the annual financial report from each campus organization.

She is the sponsor of the Activities Council, the only campus-wide programming group.

She acts as unofficial advisor for all departmental clubs, such as Spanish and Math, and is the official advisor for Howdy Week, Parent's Weekend, and Homecoming.

Publisher Too

"My office," said Miss Youngblood, "is also headquarters for publishing the 'Froghorn' and 'Campusology' and for printing signs. We publish a list of approved activities each week.

"Then of course," she added, "there are always the day-to-day things that come up. For example, right now I'm working on Christmas decorations. The other day a man telephoned me asking for boys to help paint toys for Christmas."

Miss Youngblood makes four or five talks a week off-campus, which she says, "nearly all faculty members do." The subjects on which she speaks, as well as the groups to whom she speaks, are varied.

Likes Reading

Miss Youngblood, who is a graduate of Kentucky, moved to Texas at the age of 12. She was graduated from Poly High School in Fort Worth.

Her interests, nine altogether, are in the forms of nieces and nephews. Incidentally, their pictures may be seen on "Auntie's" office desk.

Alpha Gams March Aids Muscular Distrophy Drive

Seven Alpha Gamma Delta members and pledges went on a fund-raising march for muscular dystrophy recently. The southwest quarter of Fort Worth donated $6,000 to the cause, more than any other section, according to Dan Zurovetz, Fort Worth fireman who was in charge of this quarter in the drive.

Cleat May Prove Worth a Fortune

TCU's 13-0 triumph over SMU is attributed to the wearing of a "lucky cleat" by one of the Frogs. Friday the cleat was given to Paschal High School, and was subsequently worn in their quarter final game against Lufkin.

The cleat must have been full of good fortune, because Paschal rumbled past Lufkin 28-0.

Believers in the mystic object say it is guaranteed to shutout the other side, but has one drawback. It doesn't work for greedy people. A team can make use of its powers only once, then it must change hands.

A Paschal football manager says he would consider selling it to the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League for $15,000, but adds not much hope is given for this transaction.

What to Do on Dates? Poll Reveals Variety

By LYNN SWANN

It's surprising what people do on dates.

A typical Saturday-night amusement might be anything from watching grasshoppers to bulldozing in Forest Park.

The girl who enjoyed the "bulldozing sport" explained, "first, get a date who drives a sturdy, but small, foreign car. It's fun to see how many big trees you can miss and how many little ones you can run over."

Though most couples don't go in for entertainment as unusual as "bulldozing," the standard Saturday night at the movies is a thing of the past. According to a recent poll, there is a variety of activities for the novel-minded . . . and broke . . . young man to take his date.

One calculating male said, "Athletic events are wonderful. After the game there's nothing to do but grab a bite to eat. If you date one of those gals who's always reducing, the whole evening won't cost more than a dollar or two."

He's right. Afterward the couple isn't hungry but may like to join the "gang" at a nearby eating place such as Carnation or Howard Johnson, favorites listed by the date poll. Or the couple might just share a quiet conversation at a drive-in restaurant like Carlson's.

Saturday-night games might be followed by a visit to one of Fort Worth's many dance spots. Cowtown has several places with little or no cover charge that are still considered "respectable."

The school offers a choice of activities such as the recent leadership retreat. That way everything is paid for, boys. All you have to do is entertain the little Miss. And there are school dances, Select Series, Little Theatre plays and weekly flick nite.

Church groups come up with some really "fun functions"—wiener roasts, picnics or hayrides.

Athletically inclined daters might go in for bowling or ice skating. And in warm weather, swimming, tennis and trampolining are date favorites.

Then there's the zoo. According to the poll, watching the animals makes people feel superior. One boy says he forgets about diagramming sentences, using a slide rule and wondering if the girl will date him again as he watches the antics of the monkeys.

When others were asked what they did on dates, they just smiled.

Guest Addresses Canterbury Club

The Rev. Mother Ruth, Superior of Community of the Holy Spirit in New York, N. Y., recently spoke to the Canterbury Association.

She discussed doctrines of the Episcopate Church with the members during their monthly dinner meeting at Fort Worth's Trinity Episcopal Church. Her campus visit was part of a yearly trip she makes to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Dinner was served after the meeting by one of the women's guilds of Trinity Church.

Buffet Honors Tri-Delts

A buffet style dinner served by the Mother's Club of Tri-Delta sorority entertained the girls and their dates Dec. 2.

The pledges presented a skit following dinner. Dancing and card playing consumed the remainder of the evening.

TV Program Is Scheduled For Dec. 13

"The Story of Christmas," a special program produced by the division of radio-television, will be presented from 7-8 p.m. Tuesday (Dec. 13) on KTVT, Channel 11.

To originate on the lawn of Robert Carr Chapel, the program is directed by Dr. William Hawes, director of radio-television, and produced by Ray M. John, Fort Worth sophomore.

"Carol of the Bells" by the a capella choir of Castleberry High School will open the show. Other numbers are "Deck the Halls" by the Paschal Girls' Chorus, "White Christmas" by the University ballet department, "Jingle Bells" by a choir from Alice Carlson Elementary School, "Jesu Bambino" by the Technical High School Chorus, "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" by the Paschal Male Quartet, "Come to the Manger" by the Eastern Hills Select Choir, "As Lately We Watch" by the Poly High Mixed Chorus and a number by the TCU Chorus.

Readings to be presented will include "Twas the Night Before Christmas," "The Gift of the Magi" and "A Christmas Carol."

In addition, there will be a harp solo by Miss Sydney Payne, Fort Worth freshman, and a carillon solo by Emmet G. Smith, assistant professor of organ.

During the program, University Dr. in front of the Chapel will be closed to traffic. Those who wish to watch the proceedings may, but it is suggested by the department that the program may best be seen on television.

During the 1959 year-end holiday period, the National Safety Council says "the Yule tippler was involved in more than half the Christmas traffic deaths."

Tri Delta Wins Scholarship For Second Year

For the second consecutive year Delta Delta Delta sorority has earned the scholarship trophy.

This honor is awarded each year to the sorority whose overall grade point average excels the other nine groups. Each member's academic grades are divided by the total number of members in the sorority.

The purpose of the award, which began several years ago, is to encourage each greek organization to foster high academic standards on campus. Since its beginning, the honor has done much to strengthen these standards within the sororities.

BSU Meditation Every Tuesday

A time of meditation is held by members of the Baptist Student Union at 7 a.m. each Tuesday at University Baptist Chapel.

Under the direction of Carl Steubing, San Benito sophomore, Morning Watch comes to TCU for the first time.

Although no speakers are scheduled, scripture reading and prayer will close the meeting at 7:30 a.m.

Suggs Appointed to Direct Interpretation for Churches

James C. Suggs, 1954 graduate, is the new director of interpretation for Christian Churches.

Dr. Gaines M. Cook, executive secretary of the International Convention of Christian Churches, announced his appointment this week.

Former director of public relations for the Texas Board of Christian Churches, Fort Worth, Suggs will leave for Indianapolis Feb. 1.

The Office of Interpretation is the new title for the Disciples' department of public relations, which was formed in 1954. Dr. Cook explained the change in title was made to conform with added responsibilities.

Suggs, 28, is an ordained minister in the Christian Church. He received his BA degree, summa cum laude, from here in 1954, majoring in journalism. He took his BD in 1957 from Brite College.

For the past three years he has served the Texas Christian Churches directing public relations activities and editing the Christian Courier, state newspaper for the Texas Christian Churches.

Annual Faculty Christmas Party Set for Dec. 14

The annual Faculty Christmas party is scheduled for Wednesday night, Dec. 14, in the Student Center Ballroom. Marybeth Scott, faculty social director, has announced.

Miss Scott and the committee headed by Miss Martha Wolf have planned a buffet from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Reservations are $2.

"As always, it will be one of the grandest faculty events of the entire year with fun, fellowship, top decorations, and good food," claims the committee.

Psychologist to Speak

The next meeting of the Psychology Colloquium will be held Friday, Dec. 16, in room 104 of Dan D. Rogers Hall.

The social hour for the meeting is 7:30 p.m. and the program will begin at 8 p.m.

The program theme is "Authority as a Social Dimension." Dr. Roger M. Bellows, chairman of the department of psychology at Rutgers State University, will be the speaker.

Don't Miss It!

We agreed, of course, to give cartons of Marlboro to everyone we know or would like to know. Today let us look into some other welcome gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history? If so, he will surely appreciate a statuette of Millard Fillmore with a clock in the stomach. (Mr. Fillmore, incidentally, was the only American president with a clock in his stomach. James K. Polk had a stemwinder in his head and William Henry Harrison chimed the quarter-hour, but only Mr. Fillmore, of all our chief executives, had a clock in his stomach. Franklin Pierce had a sweep second hand and Zachary Taylor had seventeen jewels and Martin Van Buren ticked, but, I repeat, Mr. Fillmore, and Mr. Fillmore alone, had a clock in his stomach. Some say that Mr. Fillmore was also the first president with power steering, but most historians assign this distinction to Chester A. Arthur. However, it has been established beyond a doubt that Mr. Fillmore was the first president with central heating. No wonder they called him Old Hickory!)

But I digress. To get back to welcome and unusual Christmas gifts, here's one that's sure to please—a gift certificate from the American Chiropractic Society. Accompanying each certificate is this fetching little poem:

Merry Christmas, Happy New Year,
Joyous sacro-iliac!
May your spine forever shine,
Blessings on your aching back.
May your lumbar ne'er grow number,
May your backbone ne'er dislodge,
May your caudal never dawdle,
Joyeux Noel! Heureux massage!

And greetings of the season from Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure, the unfiltered, all-new, king-size Philip Morris Commander. At Yuletide, at any tide, welcome aboard!

Education Called Key to Progress

Koreans Strive for Better Life

"Things change, little by little" is a saying often heard in Korea. But the Koreans of today, perhaps a little less complacent than their forefathers, are urging the wheels of progress along.

Hong Shik Lee, a native Korean who visited the University Nov. 28-30, is representative of this current trend. Lee is executive assistant of the United States Information Service in his country.

He is in the States to see the American education system first hand. Working with the student exchange program, Lee is looking for educators interested in visiting Korea for a tour of teaching in one of its 55 colleges.

20,000 Graduates

Those 55 colleges graduate 20,000 students a year.

"Only 10 per cent of these graduates find work," said Lee, who handles English well. "The others," he went on, "stay around their homes managing as best they can."

There were only seven colleges in Korea 10 years ago. This growth reflects the consciousness of a need for education. Lee feels that education will provide the basis for solving his people's problems.

Of his neighbors to the north, he said, "The Red Chinese are able to hold 600,000,000 people in subjection because these people do not know the ways of the outside world."

Lee's four children, two boys and two girls, will go to schools patterned after the American system. After six years of elementary education, they will enter "middle school."

Language Stressed

This middle phase lasts three years. The teaching of English is begun in the first year.

In the first three years of high school, another foreign language is introduced—either Chinese, German or French.

The study of these languages is continued through the four years of college.

Hong Shik Lee's parents took him to Japan for his education. This was in the waning years of the Japanese occupation.

Since long before Lee's birth, his country has been occupied by foreign troops. The Russians and Americans came in 1945 to end the long Japanese rule. But the Russians failed to withdraw. According to Lee, they intended to use his country as a stepping stone to Japan. The Southern Peninsula lies in the ominous shadow of the North Korean mountains.

Americans remain also, but Koreans recognize their good intentions.

North Korea is somewhat industrialized. The South is agricultural. Refugees from Communism pour down from the North, adding to an already severe problem of over-population. The economic situation is critical, as South Koreans depend almost wholly on the United States.

South Korea is becoming more and more western in its culture. Still, Buddhism remains the dominant religion. Old customs prevail.

The constitutional government is patterned to a large degree after that of the United States.

But it is a form of government new to an ancient land and people. It has had only 15 years to develop. "Things change, little by little."

Flick Planned for Friday

"Tales of Hoffman" will be the flick night offering at 6 and 8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 9, in the Student Center Ballroom.

The film stars Moira Shearer, Leonide Massin and Robert Helpman. Tickets are 25 cents.

Soda pop and Korean cigarettes are the order of the day as Hong Shik Lee of the U.S. Foreign Relations Office in Korea and Dr. D. Wayne Rowland, chairman of the journalism department, discuss old times. They met in Korea in 1957.

Barratt to Attend Institute On Brain Study at UCLA

Dr. Ernest S. Barratt, professor of psychology, has been invited to participate in the research program of the Department of Psychology and the Brain Research Institute at the University of California in Los Angeles during the 1961-62 academic year.

He has been awarded a special public health senior research fellowship, and will take a leave of absence from the University beginning in September. These Research Fellowships are awarded by the U. S. Public Health Service to applicants who have demonstrated outstanding competence for research.

The Brain Institute's research program involves an inter-disciplinary study of brain functioning. Dr. Barratt will be working at UCLA with Dr. Donald Lindsley, one of the leading authorities in the world in the area of neurophysiology related to behavior.

The specific research in which Dr. Barratt will participate involves the relationship of brain functioning to learning and personality predispositions.

The research will include experiments with both humans and animals and will extend the work which Dr. Barratt and his students have been doing in his physiological psychology laboratory here.

Dr. Barratt, who first joined the faculty in 1957, formerly taught at the University of Delaware and holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Texas.

SOME SMART ALECK STOLE HALF HER LIFE

She'll miss those carefree summers at the beach, the dances, the parties—so many happy times. And all because some driver ignored a warning signal. Law violations like that are at the root of most traffic accidents. When every driver obeys the rules, most of this tragic crippling and killing will stop. Do your part—and see that others do the same. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down!

FACE THIS FACT
Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year injured 1,400,000 and killed 38,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on? YOU can supply the answer!

Frogs Picked to Place Fifth

Razorbacks Look Sound as Top Cage Outfit in SW Conference

By DANA CAMPBELL

It looks like Arkansas is going to make title-grabbing a Porter trait this year. Because the Razorbacks have suddenly become the favorite in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Arkansas won the SWC football chase outright. And the group of conference coaches see this same team dominating the cage melee.

Why?

Well, the Hogs have three two-year lettermen back, including All-Conference Guard Clyde Rhoden, the man with the shoulder push shot. And there's also two outstanding sophomore prospects in 6-5 Larry Wofford and 6-7 Tommy Boyer.

Frog Coach Buster Brannon has said: "Arkansas has everybody back. And they call last year's freshmen the best ever. I think they probably will win."

Bob Rogers, coach at Texas A&M, whose team is considered "the most likely" to upend the Razorbacks says: "They have speed, size and plenty of experience. And I guess everybody would like to have that Boyer boy. They say he's great. We could beat them, but right now they have to be the favorite."

Here's how the coaches see the Texas A&F, (3) Tie between Texfinal standings. (1) Arkansas, (2) as and Texas Tech, (5) TCU, (6) SMU, (7) Rice, (8) Baylor.

And this is how the eight teams stack up on paper.

Arkansas

As far as most people are concerned, Arkansas has the team that can make the conference race a runaway. The Razorbacks have a big team, with the starting five averaging 6-4 and over 200 pounds per man.

Clyde Rhode, possibly the best outside shot in the loop next to Texas A&M's Carrol Broussard, heads a heavy attack from a fine pack of guards, while 6-6 Ronnie Garner, a two-year letterman and starter, combines with sophomore Tommy Boyer to form a solid rebounding attack.

Incidentally, the team record for most points during the conference season is held by Rhoden at 258.

The only thing that could hurt Arkansas is lack of good overall speed. But on the surface they do seem to be the outstanding squad in the conference and may have a chance at a national ranking.

Texas A&M

If you follow basketball and have heard of A&M, then you've heard of Carroll Broussard. He's a junior this year and was All-Conference last year and was voted as one of the outstanding sophomores in the country.

Broussard already has his name scratched in the A&M record book. He has the most points for an Aggie over a full season (430), the most points in conference games (244) and the most field goals in one season (152).

Besides Broussard there's the Stanley twins from Buna, Pat and Don, who form one of the outstanding forward combinations this conference has ever seen. Both are 6-3.

And then too, that giant from Smiley, 7-0 Lewis Qualls, is now a sophomore. True, Qualls isn't agile enough to become a dangerous scoring threat, but he may develop into a top rebounder.

This team seems to have the best chance of whipping Arkansas.

Texas Tech

Texas Tech has the outside shot in 5-10 Del Ray Mounts and the inside scoring of 6-9 Harold Hudgens. This team is the "sleeper".

Mounts, as a sophomore, scored 35 points in one game last year and had 265 points in the conference race. Both are team records.

Texas

When Albert Almanza was a sophomore he was voted by a national magazine as the fifth best in the country. Almanza is a senior, but he has not yet reached the expectations of Coach Harold Bradley.

But with the 6-9 Almanza, 6-8 Jimmy Brown, 6-11 Wayne Clark, 6-7 Jack Dugan and 6-7 Porter Brooks the Longhorns have the size to contend. It all depends on Almanza.

Texas Christian

It's a well known fact not to underestimate Coach Buster Brannon . . . especially when he has a big man. And this year he has two big men in 6-9 Alton Adams and 6-7 Don Rosick.

Adams is one of the brightest sophomore prospects since Dick O'Neal and already has what Brannon calls "excellent moves for a big man."

Also back is Jerry Cobb, the conference's third leading rebounder last year. Joining these two in the starting lineup are Jerry Pope and Phil Reynolds at guards and David Warnell at forward.

Southern Methodist

The Ponies have to drop this year. The only consistent scorer they have is 6-7 Steve Strange, possibly the best big man in the conference.

With Strange will be 6-6 Jan Loudermilk to form a powerful rebounding team, but not one with the necessary scoring ability to make a title stab.

Rice

The Owls will have to fight it out with Baylor to escape the loop's cellar. The best men seem to be 6-7 Mike Maroney and 6-5 Steve Smith.

But overall Rice is weak and lacks a real good big man. Also missing is experience and good speed.

There's not much hope for the future, either, and this could be a long season for the Owls . . . a real long season.

Baylor

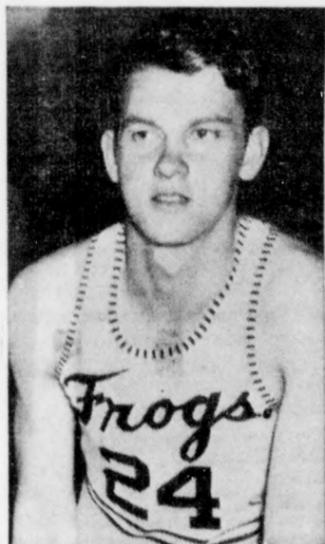

Baylor seldom fails to come up with something, but this season may be the exception. The only men with any kind of experience at all are Richard Tinsley, a fine corner shot, and possibly junior college transfer Tom Garrison.

Tinsley will probably lead the club in scoring. The key to any kind of success lies with Garrison, though, a 6-9 junior.

Next year should be better, but as far as this season's concerned, it too should be long and disappointing.

JERRY POPE . . . back for Frogs.

Nursery School Like Lilliput

By ADRIAN ADAMS

No, you're not in the land of Lilliput—just the University's nursery school.

The school's youngest students are a part of the home economics department's brand new pre-school.

Three and four-year-old toddlers enjoy preparing for the real thing in rooms where tables are about two feet high, lockers of about five feet, and brooms and dustpans of diminutive sizes. A phonograph in one corner of the room is stocked with such hot numbers as "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," backed by the "Owl and the Pussycat."

Day Begins at 9:15

With an enviable schedule the children arrive for their three-hour day at 9:15 a.m. and first have a "circle" which is devoted to stories and quiet talk. After a free play period in the house, weather permitting they troop to the fenced playground alongside the building. Chow time comes next with a menu that is as appetizing as any restaurant's.

Mrs. Myra S. Huffines spoke of the school as having a dual purpose: first, it is a laboratory for future teachers and other students, helping them to understand and to learn to enjoy working with children. The secondary purpose is providing care and pre-school training for the youngsters.

Stress Four Areas

"Four areas are considered in our program," she went on. "We consider their physical, emotional, social and mental growth and development."

Stressing that the nursery school is not the exclusive domain of the home economics department, Mrs. Bonne Enlow, head of the department, urges that other departments such as psychology or sociology take the opportunity to use the nursery in conjunction with their work.

The school is housed in a building on Lowden Ave., just behind Brite College.

FREE TIME—One of the aims of the nursery school is to encourage individual expression and accordingly some time is left for the child to play with whatever he likes. The miniature kitchen pictured here is one of many toys available for this purpose.

CREATIVE PLAY—During the daily "art" session the child has another change for individual expression as well as to develop skill in working with his hands. Shown here are Julie Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Riddle, and Quentin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Q. McGowan.

"WHEE!"—Miss Ann Shelton, Fort Worth senior, is one of the home economics majors enrolled in "Child Growth and Development," a course designed to give students a greater understanding of children while providing care for pre-school sons and daughters of some faculty members and Fort Worth residents.

"GUESS WHAT!"—Mrs. Myra Huffines, director of the nursery school demonstrates one way the 3- and 4-year-olds play and learn at the same time. Here they are engaged in a game in which they must guess what animal has the characteristics pictured in the book held by their teacher. Before lunch every day they get in the circle for a short story or song. (Incidentally, the correct guess in this case is "Rabbit.")

"THAT LOOKS JUST LIKE MY DOG"—These two class members have come early and are waiting on the front steps for their playmates to arrive. To pass the time the young gentleman is showing his little companion a picture story of dogs. Leslie Ann, left is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Williams. Mark is one of three in the school whose parents are members of the faculty. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert LaGrone. (Photos by Miss Edrie Schneeberg)

Sigs, Phi Delts Head All-Frat List; Stites Chosen Top Player of Year

By TIM TALBERT

Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi—they dominated the fraternity intramural football league. They also dominated this year's all-intramural fraternity team.

The champion Phi Delts placed four men on the squad while runner-up Sigma Chi landed three players on the mythical team.

Playoffs Get Attention Of TCU Tutors

TCU coaches will be keeping an eye on the state AAAA semi-final game between Wichita Falls and Paschal Saturday afternoon at Wichita Falls.

The main reason is that the Frog tutors are interested in some of the individual players. One of those that might play here after graduation is Paschal's defensive standout Bobby Sanders.

Sanders has already indicated that he wouldn't mind at all coming to TCU. And from all indications Abe Martin and Co. wouldn't mind having him.

The game itself should be a dilly. Wichita was an early 20-point favorite, but the professional odds makers were probably leaving out the fact that Paschal has one of the state's best defensive teams.

The other Class AAAA playoff game pits Corpus Christi Miller and Port Arthur. Port Arthur is a solid favorite.

Yanks In Uniforms First

The New York Yankees of the American Baseball League were the first major league team to appear in uniforms with numerals. They first wore them in 1931, only 29 years ago.

Sports writers say they stole the idea from college football.

In Texas in 1959, 30 per cent of all the drivers involved in rural traffic tragedies had been drinking, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

There were four repeaters from last year's team: Moose Ohlen, Delt guard; Joe T. Jones, Phi Delt end; Sigma Chi center George Armstrong, and Lowell Adams, Sig Ep back.

The all-intramural fraternity football team:

- End John R. Smith
Sigma Chi
- End Joe T. Jones
Phi Delta Theta
- End Jimmy Davis
SAE
- Guard Moose Ohlen
Delts
- Guard Ken Anderson
Phi Delta Theta
- Center .. George Armstrong
Sigma Chi
- Back Billy Stites
Sigma Chi
- Back Lowell Adams
Sig Eps
- Back Mark Clifford
Phi Delta Theta
- Back Tim Walters
Phi Delta Theta

Joining Adams in the backfield are Billy Sikes from Sigma Chi and the passing and running duo of the Phi Delts' Tim Walters and Mark Clifford. Stites was voted the outstanding passer in the league with a special yen for the long passes.

Walters excelled in punt and kick-off returns, while Clifford filled the air with passes for the Phi Delts.

John R. Smith, Sigma Chi, Joe T. Jones, Phi Delts, and Jimmy Davis, SAE, are the ends. All are good receivers.

Linemen Honored

Ohlen of the Delts nailed down his second all-fraternity honor at guard as did Sigma Chi center, Armstrong. The other guard slot went to Kenny Anderson, regular center of the Phi Delts. Anderson tied Armstrong for the center position, but was moved to guard, putting both on the team.

All three of the interior linemen are solid on defense. Armstrong and Ohlen blocked numerous punts and repeatedly threw the opposition ball carriers for losses.

Anderson was superb on passes to the center. Center are eligible to catch passes in intramurals.

Top Teams Dominate All-Intramural Squad

Perhaps it's fitting that DSF, The Hosses and Brite Seminarians should govern the independent all-intramural team. These three teams finished in a three-way tie for first place with 6-1 records.

The surprise team of the league, Brite, placed two men. DSF and the Hosses each landed three players on the 11 man team.

The backfield is paced by the do-everything-well tailback of Brite, Mack Stewart. He is joined by the swift wingback of The Hosses Reagan Gassaway, Army blocking back Doug Moore and DSF tailback Jim Rudd.

Three ends were selected: Bobby Bernard, who could probably catch a pass blindfolded; Jim Wright of DSF and the fine Falcon end John McKinnley.

Three guards were also selected. The Hosses Louis Cummings, Dwight Lindsley of DSF and Brite Seminarian, Bill Sikes.

Tim James, Falcon center, nailed down the pivot position in a close race with Brite center, Dave Barnes.

The all-intramural independent football team:

- End Bobby Bernard
Hosses
- End Jim Wright
DSF
- End John McKinnley
Falcons
- Guard Louis Cummings
Hosses
- Guard Dwight Lindsley
DSF
- Guard Bill Sikes
Brite
- Center Tim James

AND WE DO THIS TO OURSELVES

No war crippled this man—nor thousands more injured day after day in traffic accidents. For this highway butchery, only we ourselves are to blame. We disregard laws made to protect us. Nearly every accident grows out of some violation. And casualties mount! They will lessen only if you help. So drive safely. Obey the law. Insist others do, too. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down!

FACE THIS FACT

Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year injured 1,400,000 and killed 38,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on? YOU can supply the answer!

HUNTER ENIS . . . He'll start again this week.

Ex-Frog Greats

Enis, Spikes Lead Texans

By DANA CAMPBELL

No one thought much of ex-Frog quarterback Hunter Enis before last Sunday. Now it appears that Enis has the first-team quarterback spot on the Dallas Texans cinched.

Enis will get his second starting assignment this Sunday when the Texans play host to the Boston Patriots in the Cotton Bowl. Game time is 2 p.m.

There were three big stars in the Texans' 24-0 whitewash of Houston last week. All three were ex-Frogs, and ex-Abe Martin coached players.

Enis, in his first starting assignment, earned the acclaim of the watersoaked 20,000 fans who turned out for the match. He completed eight of 15 passes, including five of seven attempted before the rains took over.

Hunter also scored two touchdowns on quarterback sneaks and called what Coach Hank Stram referred to as: "One of the most perfect games I've ever seen."

Jack Spikes, the ex-TCU All-America fullback, gained 87 yards on 18 carries to lead the Texans in that department. It was one of Spikes' best games since an early season injury.

The defensive star for the Texans—the Dallas defense shut out the Oiler runners with a minus (that's right) 27 yards rushing—was Sherrill Headrick, an ex all-conference tackle for the Frogs.

Stram had this to say about the ex-Frogs after the game: "Hunter really surprised me. I don't guess I've ever seen a better-called game. Spikes had a real good game considering the weather. And Headrick, well, Headrick is just one of the best linebackers in the American Football League."

One of the most pleased about Enis', Spike's and Headrick's outstanding performances was Frog Coach Martin.

"I guess few people realize just how good a quarterback

Hunter is," Martin has said. "He even threw more touchdown passes than Don Meredith did when they were juniors."

Martin continued: "Of course Spikes is one of the greatest fullbacks TCU ever had. And Headrick, well, he's just a rugged competitor."

This Sunday Enis, Spikes and Headrick will all be aiming at the Boston Patriots. Stram has already said "Enis will keep his starting spot," and Spikes and Headrick have been starting all year.

Oh yes, there are other Texan stars besides the trio from TCU.

Abner Haynes, the ex North Texas State flash and the leading rusher in the AFL, will be at one halfback and the other is taken by ex LSU great Johnny Robinson.

Haynes, Robinson and Spikes combined efforts running last week for a game total of 270 yards, a league record.

The Texans have played Boston before. And the last time, the Patriots lashed the visitors to the east 42-14.

Stram has laid down the law, though, and if he catches any of his players slacking off he's promised a $500 fine. No one has been fined yet, but then the new law has been effective in only one game.

The game will be broadcast and if you hear the names of Enis, Spikes and Headrick don't be surprised. They're all exFrogs who've quickly become stars of professional football.

JACK SPIKES
. . . leads the rushing.

Sophs Bring Praise

Frogs Shuffle Off

The Frog cage club will have to "hook-up" and dig-in if it wants to bring back a victory from Utah this weekend.

Tomorrow night in Salt Lake City the Frogs test highly rated Utah University and Bill McGill, one of the most respected big men in the country.

Of course Coach Buster Brannon will be wrapping a lot of his hopes in 6-4 Jerry Cobb and 6-9 Alton Adams. Cobb got 27 points and 20 rebounds against Oklahoma City the other night to go with his 21 points and 19 rebounds in the opening game against Austin College.

Brannon Compliments

When jokingly asked if Cobb played a good game in the Frogs tight 73-71 loss Brannon chuckled: "No, he didn't play a good game . . . he played a great game. Why he got over half our rebounds and hit from every place on the court."

Brannon was also pleased with the efforts of Tommy Pennick and Johnny Fowler, two reserve sophomores, in that game with OCU. "Pennick still has the fastest hands I've ever seen," Brannon admits, "and Fowler just doesn't miss."

The big help in the first two games has been the play of the reserves, according to Brannon. He has singled out Pennick and Fowler, along with Don Rosick and Billy Simmons.

The Frogs leave for Utahtoday and will spend the next five days there. After the Saturday night clash, they move into Provo and try Brigham Young University Monday. In both games, TCU is the underdog.

Then next week the Frogs return home for, first a game with LSU, and then a rematch with OCU. Brannon and the players are saying this go-around with Oklahoma City will be different.

They just don't like to get beat by two points.

Second Day Action For Delt Tourney

The TCU Phi Caps, Sigma Chis and Sig Eps all take their initial plunge into the first round of the Fifth Annual Delta Tau Delta basketball tournament this afternoon, after 10 of the 25 teams kicked off the meet last night.

The Sig Eps, led by gridiron stars Robert Lilly and Sonny Gibbs take on the East Texas State Delt's in the big gym at 5:30. At the same time Sigma Chi will test the SMU Phi Delt's in the little gym.

At 4:15 the Phi Kaps go against Phi Kappa Alpha in the little gym. The remainder of the local fraternities either played last night or drew a first round bye.

The favorite of the tournament should have been decided last night when the TCU Phi Delt's tipped off against the Theta Chis of North Texas. The winner was expected to finish out the tournament unbeaten.

As usual, a trophy will be presented to the sorority on campus with the best attendance during the three-day meet. Kappa Kappa Gamma was last year's winner.

Other trophies will be given to the first and second place teams and to the consolation winner. A 10-man all-tournament team will also be named.

Finals in the consolation bracket are scheduled for Saturday night at 6:30. The championship game is set for :30 the same night.

Among the favorites are the Phi Delt's, and SAEs from here, the Theta Chis and the Delt's from Baker and Kansas State.

Phi Delt's, Brite Vie for Crown

One team was picked to win their league championship while the other team was slated to be lucky to finish the season.

That's the story behind the campus championship football game between the fraternity champion Phi Delt's and independent champion Brite Seminarians to be played Tuesday at 3 p.m.

The Phi Delt's finished the season with a perfect 7-0 record. They won the title when they breezed past Sigma Chi 21-8 in the last game of the season.

Came From Nowhere

Brite did not have it so easy in winning their championship. They had a group of boys that no one had heard of, plus the fact this was their first year in the league.

In the play-offs, Brite defeated The Hoses 22-8 and slipped past DSF 8-0. So, there Brite is playing the Phi Delt's in the campus championship game.

The Phi Delt's rely mainly on the passing and running of Mark Clifford and Tim Walters. Both made the all-fraternity intramural team.

Standout Backs

Clifford is the tailback and passer, while Walters excels in running back punt returns and kick-offs. Both are blessed with that "extra speed" that is essential in touch football.

In the words of Brite Coach, Bill Sikes, "We are mainly a defensive team." Their record proves this to be true. In eight games, Brite has limited their opponents to 28 points.

Top defensive hands for the Seminarians are Rex Mix and Allan Eubank. Not to be overlooked is all-independent guard Bill Sikes on defense. The Brite offense rests mainly in the hands of another all-independent player, tailback Mack Stewart.

Wingback Dick Renner and ends Allan Lingo and Robeert Dunn are capable receivers for Brite but cannot match the pass catching wizard of the Phi Delt end, Joe T. Jones. Jones is still another all-intramural selection.

Six Standouts

All told, there are six all-intramural players participating in the game. Four for the Phi Delt's and two for the Seminarians. Mark Clifford, Walters, Kenny Anderson, and Jones are the Phi Delt's. Stewart and Sikes are the Brite Seminarians.

There is no telling how the game will end. But anything can happen in football. Brite was not supposed to win the independent championship, but neither was the Phi Delt's counted on to blitz Sigma Chi 21-8.
