Ranch Training Students On Gulf Area Field Trip

Ranch training students are currently studying ranches and livestock farms in the Houston and Gulf area. The students left Sunday and will return Friday.

The study group studied ranching and wildlife in the marsh area in Anahuac yesterday. This morning their schedule called for a trip down the ship channel, observing stream bank erosion, shipping and pollution.

In the afternoon, the class will study pastures, beef and swine production at Crucher Farm in Barker.

They will also observe feed lot operations at United Feed lots.

Wednesday, Feb. 15, Sugarland Industries Farm will host the students as they learn about pastures, silage, dehydrating and beef cattle. Later, Warden Husbands will escort the class on a trip through the prison farms.

Students will also visit the Askew Charoliase Ranch in Richmond.

Thursday, the class will have an opportunity to learn about cattle judging at Hudgins Ranch in Hungerford. At the 9-Bar Ranch in Cypress, the group will study general ranching operations.

League Lawyer Says TCU Land Sufficient

Richard T. Churchill, attorney for the TCU Homeowners League, told the City Council Friday that the University has sufficient land for expansion.

In an hour and five minute talk Churchill pointed to the "extensive parking facilities" and to the quadrangle as "the most logical place for construction of dormitories."

The land now occupied by the golf course was acquired by the city in 1923 for $39,000. Money for the purchase was raised through property tax.

Value Increases

Since that time the value of the property has constantly increased, Churchill said. This increase he attributes to the growth of Bellaire addition in the area.

Pointing out that immediate plans of the University for construction on the golf course calls for only two dormitories, the attorney said: "It seems that they could make reasonable projection of their needs for 10 or 15 years."

"We think," he continued, "it would be convenient and give them a lot of land to play with in the future, but we question if it is vital or if it is good public policy to take a centrally located recreational facility and devote it to private use."

According to Churchill's figures, 45,217 players used the course in 1960, paying $51,131.

Convenient Location

Mayor Tom McCann told Churchill, "I think you'll be surprised about these locations being considered for a new golf course when you see the studies of where the Worth Hills golfers live. You'll find we're not moving very far from where the golfers are."

The Homeowners League contends that their property would be devalued if the land goes over to the University. Their attorney questioned whether drainage in the area would be impaired.

He also questioned the University's ability to pay the difference in the appraised value of Worth Hills and the proposed new course.

"The real question, it seems to me," Churchill said, "is to determine if this proposal is in the best interests of all the people of Fort Worth, not just those around the golf course. You are taking away a facility that can't be relocated anywhere in the immediate area."

Approximately 65 persons accompanied Churchill to the meeting.

School Officials Predict Probation For 300 Students

Latest figures released by the registrar's office show an increase of 24 students placed on academic suspension over last year's total at this same time. One hundred twelve students were victims of the books at the end of this fall semester, while 84 were suspended last fall.

Although final figures are not yet in, it is estimated that some 300 students will be placed on academic probation.

Students failing to make a specified grade-point average during a semester's work are placed on probation, according to University rules. The student who fails to achieve the minimum grade-point average after the second semester is suspended.

First suspensions are for one semester, while second suspensions are for one calendar year. Of the 112 suspensions just announced, 95 are for one semester and 17 for a full year.

The University's largest school, the AddRan College of Arts and Sciences, heads the list with 50 suspensions, with the School of Business a close second with 42.

Friday Is Deadline for Best-Dressed Coed Entry

Know a coed who's the best dressed woman on campus?

Friday—Feb. 17—is the deadline for organizations to nominate a fair damsel for Glamour's "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America" contest.

The University will enter one student in the nationwide contest. Five finalists will be chosen from the nominees and the winner will be picked from that group.

Only recognized groups may make nominations and are limited to one nomination each.

A judging committee will interview the nominees at an informal tea Feb. 20, from 3-5 p.m. in room 216 of the Student Center.

Finalists will be asked to meet again from 3-5 p.m. Feb. 22 in room 203.

Three pictures of the campus winner will be sent to the magazine. They will feature her in an on-campus outfit, an off-campus daytime outfit and a party dress.

If our coed is picked, she will make a trip to New York for two weeks in June and will be featured in Glamour's college issue in August.

Qualifications for the winner include: good figure, well-kept hair, impeccable grooming and a clear understanding of her fashion type.

The winner will be announced in the Feb. 24 issue of The Skiff.

Nominations must be turned in to The Skiff, c/o of the editor at the journalism department, Dan D. Rogers Hall.

Registration Figures Show Gain of 172

Registrar Calvin Cumbie has announced that registration for the spring semester is 5,681.

This is a gain of 172 students over last year.

Enrollment of full-time students in the undergraduate divisions has established a new all-time record for Spring with 3,651. The previous mark in this category was 3,460 last year.

Spring enrollment in the other divisions is:

Graduate School, 442; Brite College of the Bible, 147; and Evening College, 1,441.

Miss Eloise Snell, junior from Roswell, N.M., was chosen queen at the annual Valentine's Dance last Friday night. The pretty Miss majors in sociology.

Psychology Meeting Set

All psychology majors expecting to graduate in June, have been urged to attend a meeting Thursday in building 1, room 4, of the psychology department.

Three Students, Instructor Take New Staff Positions

Four staff changes in The Skiff have been announced for the spring semester. Bill Sheridan, instructor in journalism, assumes the adviser's post; Tim Talbert, Fort Worth junior, takes the sports editor's slot; Lynn Swann, Atlanta, Ga. junior, has been named amusements editor and Don Buckman, Fort Worth junior, will be feature editor.

Sheridan joined the University faculty in Sept. 1960. He taught journalism at Grand Prairie High School last year. He received his B.A. in journalism from East Texas State College, where he is completing graduate work for the M.A. degree.

Sheridan worked as general assignment reporter for the Temple Daily Telegram and was news editor of The Mexia Daily News, Mexia, Tex.

Talbert succeeds Dana Campbell, Fort Worth junior, who has accepted a full-time sports-writing job with The Fort Worth Press.

Miss Swann plans complete coverage of amusements on and off campus. She will write reviews of books, plays and films in addition to her weekly column, "How Bout That".

Buckman will coordinate feature writing and will report on "Select Series" activities.

One too Many For Dog Catcher

Kim Horton, Bay City senior, believes the municipal officials are "on the ball" in his home town.

His mother called the Bay City animal control center this past weekend and complained about the large number of dogs running loose in her yard.

The Animal Control Warden (dog catcher) quickly arrived, but found only one loose dog to take in tow.

In the neighborly fashion of the little south Texas town, the Warden knocked on the Horton's door and reported he had only been able to find one stray.

Seeing the dog in the warden's wagon, Mrs. Horton exclaimed, "That's my dog!"

Graduate Record Exam

Students planning to apply for graduate fellowships or scholarships at other universities, and all doctorate candidates, must take the graduate record examination on April 8.

Robert U. Brown, president of the I.A.P.A. Scholarship Fund and publisher of Editor and Publisher magazine, said six of the new scholarships will be announced in March.

Applications for the awards will be accepted up to Feb. 15, and students are required to have a working knowledge of Spanish and English.

Agee, Catledge Tell Journalists Of Current Need

"Every day is a fresh beginning, every morn is the world made new. Isn't this a wonderful racket we've got?"

Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, ended his talk as guest of the local professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi last Wednesday evening with this quotation.

Warren Agee, executive officer of the professional journalism society and former chairman of the journalism department here, preceded Catledge at the speaker's rostrum. The gist of both addresses was that there is a new day being born in an old profession—newspapering.

Both called for preparation for this "revolution" through encouragement to aspiring young reporters, continued education of experienced hands, more close-knit organization, research and the type of reporting that brings the story to the reader's fireside with personal meaning.

"As long as men ask 'what's new'," Catledge told the gathering, "there will be a place for newspapers."

The introduction of other media, he went on to say, only makes the reporter's job more challenging and rewarding. The future should be approached with a positive attitude. There must be leadership, and this leadership will come from the journalists, Catledge said.

Newspapering, he said, is dead "only to the degree that those of us in present charge of it are dead or dying on the vine."

Agee spoke of talent, energy and truth as the sustaining forces in journalism.

Frosh, New Student Tests Finished

Freshmen and new student orientation tests for the spring semester have been completed.

Students may find out their test results by calling the testing bureau or going to building 8 to arrange a conference.

Firkins advises entering students for the fall semester who have not been counseled, to do so immediately.

"Students should realize that these conference are for their own benefit and are very helpful to them," said Firkins.

What's Behind Counts

Fooled, huh? This pretty Miss hails from Natchez, Miss. Classified as a freshman, she is majoring in ballet.

Admission Tests Completed by 22

Admission tests for the Graduate School of Business have been completed by 22 advanced students, according to C. J. Firkins, testing bureau director.

Three tests must be taken by all students who plan to enter the graduate School of Business. The exam will next be given April 8.

Students, Teachers Contribute To Literary Journal, 'Descant'

By DOLLYE JO LUTON

"Descant—a song or strain of melody—a comment or discourse on a theme—a dissertation."

"Descant," the TCU literary journal, lives up to its meaning. The fiction, poetry and literary criticism in the magazine are well written, interesting, charming and at the same time entertaining.

The idea for the magazine came at a meeting of writers and students in the spring of 1955, after hard work and many other meetings, the members of this group saw their dream for a literary journal on the campus materialize when the first issue of "Descant" appeared in the fall of 1956.

Professors Co-Editors

The magazine is edited by Miss Betsy Colquitt, assistant professor of English, and Miss Mabel Major, professor of English. "Descant" is open to non TCU contributors. Articles may be submitted by anyone interested in creative writing.

Miss Major said that the policy of "Descant" is to give preference to material contributed by students, faculty and others connected with the University.

The literary magazine is supported by subscriptions, benefactors, patrons and friends. A subscription may be obtained by contacting the English department. Price is $1.50 per year or 50 cents a copy. The largest contributions received by "Descant" came from benefactors and friends in France.

Benefactors contribute $50 or more, patrons contribute at least $10 and friends contribute $5-$10. Many of the patrons and friends of the magazine are members of the administration, faculty, student body and Greek letter groups on the campus.

Three Issues a Year

"Descant" is published three times a year, in the fall, winter and spring and is the nucleus of the creative writing course offered for students interested in developing their writing skills. A meeting is held every other Friday night to discuss creative writing for anyone who is interested.

The creative writing scholarship offered to students was awarded this spring to Mike Tuggle, Fort Worth junior, an English major. Tuggle won the short story contest as a freshman and had a story in the spring 1960 issue of "Descant" called "The Kill."

Science Program To Receive Grant

The chemistry department will participate in the National Science Foundation Research program beginning next summer under a $3,500 grant.

Dr. William H. Watson Jr., associate professor of chemistry, will direct the NSF program here.

Six TCU undergraduates will be chosen for the program this summer, another six for the 1961-62 academic year. Grants up to $600 will be awarded, according to Dr. Watson.

Approximately 250 colleges and universities throughout the United States will receive $3.2 million in funds during the next year to encourage research students and to increase understanding of scientific methods.

Miss Mabel Major, professor of English, did the editorial chores with a critical comment called "Regionalism at Its Best", based on the book "Goodby to a River," by John Graves.

Miss Thelma Cash, English instructor, contributed a book review of "The Shining Hours," by Ramona Maher. The book is a biography of the women at the Alamo.

Miss Ann Gossman, assistant professor of English, contributed the descriptive and symbolic poem "Barton Springs", about a park in Austin.

Dan Garza, Hillsboro senior, had his first story, "Things of Life", published in this issue. Garza won the Southwest Literary Contest in 1959.

Dr. Cecil B. Williams, chairman of the English department and Fulbright professor from the University of Hamburg, contributed "A German Picture of American Literature."

Piano Competition To Offer Fame, Money as Prizes

A first prize of $10,000 will be awarded the winner of an international piano competition to be held in Ed Landreth Auditorium in September, 1962.

Sponsors of the event, which is expected to attract the top artists from all over the world, will be the National Guild of Piano Teachers, the Fort Worth Piano Teachers Forum and the University.

The $10,000 prize will be made possible through the National Guild. President of this organization is Dr. Irl Allison of Austin who will serve on the committee in charge. Others on the committee will include Mrs. Grace Ward Lankford, president and co-founder of the Fort Worth Piano Teachers Forum; Chancellor M. E. Sadler and Joe H. Chowning, president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

Pianist Van Cliburn will appear in a recital in Fort Worth's Will Rogers Auditorium March 27 of this year to help raise funds for the competition.

Present plans require certain age limitations for competitors, a reactivation of the event each four years and ticket sales until the final nights of the event. Details and completed plans will be announced later.

★ Seniors Ask Which One?

A trend toward college window shopping by high school seniors is increasing, according to Mrs. Anna B. Wallace, assistant registrar.

Mrs. Wallace said that the number of requests for general information catalogs is growing day by day.

Although no records are kept of information and catalog mail-outs, anywhere from 30 to 50 requests are being received daily.

More applications are being received and more parents are visiting the campus than in the past, indicating their interest and participation in this "shopping" process, Mrs. Wallace said.

She said the trend is caused by recent interest in higher education for the space age along with the increasing difficulty to get into colleges and universities.

Miss Beth Morris, former editor of The Skiff, now resides in Chicago and serves as chairman of a projected chapter for University exes residing in the Midwest.

She plans a get-together for the April 11 Charter Day observance.

Russian-Born Artist's Work Shown Here

Graphic works by a Russian-born artist are on display in the second-floor lobby of the Student Center.

"The Graphic Work of Ben Shahn" includes examples of the artist's efforts in magazine illustration. On exhibit are covers for Fortune and Scientific American magazine and story illustrations.

Shahn was born in Kovno, Russia in 1898. He came to the United States in 1906, and became an apprentice lithographer in 1913. Lithography was his trade until 1930.

He attended the University of New York, New York City College and the National Academy of Design. Shahn's first one-man showing appeared in 1930.

During the 1930's, Shahn worked with Mexican artist Diego Rivera on the murals for the Rockefeller Center in New York.

He has done murals for photographic displays, graphic work for various United States government offices and posters for union organizations.

"News Pictures of the Year" will be the next Student Center display beginning Feb. 17.

Deadline Is Extended

The Skiff has not received many nominations for the campus' best-dressed coed. The deadline was today, but nominations will be accepted up until Friday, Feb. 17.

Due to the time element involved, however, this deadline must be met if the University is to have a representative in the national contest. Only recognized campus organizations may nominate.

Send all nominations to the editor, c/o The Skiff, journalism department.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

"A GUIDE FOR THE DATELESS"

With the cost of dating rising higher and higher it is no wonder that so many of us men are turning to discus throwing. Naturally, we would prefer nuzzling warm coeds to flinging cold discs, but who's got that kind of money? Prices being what they are, the average man today has a simple choice: dating or eating.

Unless the average man happens to be Finster Sigafos.

Finster came to college with the normal ambition of any average man: he wanted to find the prettiest coed on campus and make her his. He looked long and carefully, and at last he found her—a tall job named Kretchma Inskip, with hair like beaten gold.

He asked her for a date. She accepted. He appeared at her sorority house that night, smiling, eager, and carrying a bouquet of modestly priced flowers.

"Now then," said Kretchma, tossing the sleazy flora to a pledge, "where are we going tonight?"

Finster was a man short on cash, but long on ideas. He had prepared an attractive plan for this evening. "How would you like to go out to the Ag campus and see the milking machine?" he asked.

"Tek," she replied.

"Well, what would you like to do?" he asked.

"Come," said she, "to a funny little place I know just outside of town."

And away they went.

The average man today has a simple choice:

The place was Millionaires Roost, a simple country inn made of solid ivory. It was filled with beautiful ladies in backless gowns, handsome men in dickeys. Original Rembrandts adorned the walls. Marlboro trays adorned the cigarette girls. Chained to each table was a gypsy violinist.

Finster and Kretchma were seated. "I," said Kretchma to the waiter, "will start with shrimps remoulade. Then I will have lobster and capon in maderia sauce with asparagus spears. For dessert I will have melon stuffed with money."

"And you, Sir?" said the waiter to Finster.

"Just bring me a pack of Marlboros," replied Finster, "for if ever a man needed to settle back and enjoy the mild beneficence of choice tobacco and easy-drawing filtration, it is the shattered hulk you see before you now."

So, smoking the best of all possible cigarettes, Finster watched Kretchma ingest her meal and calculated that every time her fetching young Adam's apple rose and fell, he was out another 97¢. Then he took her home.

It was while saying goodnight that Finster got his brilliant idea. "Listen!" he cried excitedly. "I just had a wonderful notion. Next time we go out, let's go Dutch treat!"

By way of reply, Kretchma slashed him across the face with her housemother and stormed into the house.

"Well, the heck with her," said Finster to himself. "She is just a gold digger and I am well rid of her. I am sure there are many girls just as beautiful as Kretchma who will understand the justice of my position. For after all, girls get as much money from home as men, so what could be more fair than sharing expenses on a date?"

With good heart and high hopes, Finster began a search for a girl who would appreciate the equity of Dutch treat, and you will be pleased to hear that he soon found one—Mary Alice Hematoma, a lovely three-legged girl with sideburns.

"I'VE HEARD ABOUT THESE NEW CAR SAFETY BELTS—BUT—"
BACK TALK

What About the Future?

By JERRY JOHNSON

Richard T. Churchill, attorney representing the Homeowners League which is protesting the University's efforts to get Worth Hills Golf Course, doesn't realize what TCU has in mind.

Churchill said, at a meeting between the City Council and league members, that the University already has the space to build a dormitory. He stated that TCU "has the most extensive parking facilities of any college in Texas." True, the University, if necessary, could build a dorm on the quadrangle, and probably could find other unused space for another dorm or two.

But what Churchill doesn't realize is that the University is looking to the future.

At the present time, TCU has an enrollment of over 5,000. Fifty years ago, the total enrollment was a few hundred.

What about the future?

What will the enrollment be, say, in the year 2,000?

Will it be 20,000? 30,000? More? No one knows for sure, but the University must have foresight.

It doesn't know what it will need in the years to come, and this is why it can't give an exact projection for the future.

Did that handful of people who assembled on the plains covered with Johnson grass 50 years ago ever dream that the enrollment would reach 5,000?

This University is growing.

In the past 18 years, 27 buildings have either been built or renovated, and in a short while, construction will begin on a new field house.

Does the attorney Churchill think that after a few years TCU is going to reach a maximum and then quit? Does he think that the enrollment should stop at 5,000?

Administrators have said that if the University gets the golf course, the immediate plans are to build two dorms on the east end. The most important thing at the moment is housing space.

But, again, what about the future?

TCU will need more classrooms, more laboratories for scientific research, but mainly, more room to expand.

Churchill and the league he represents may have a legal argument.

If TCU did get the golf course, the league believes the result would be a devaluation of surrounding homes, buildings and parking lots would cause a drainage problem and it would deny a public recreational facility for the people living in the area.

Do they think that the University will landscape the land to look like a "sore thumb"? Do they think the architects and engineers who will be hired will overlook drainage facilities? Furthermore, do they think that recreation is more important than education?

The campus is in a bad position. It is surrounded on all sides. If it is to grow, it must have room.

If it is stymied, then education is stymied.

There is always need for more room in education.

Dear Editor:

If we grant that freedom of the press is a part of our heritage as is freedom of speech or religion, we must also grant that like all freedoms, it will be abused. Just as there are some who use freedom of speech to slander and freedom of religion to deny the existence of God, there are those who use freedom of the press to exercise the most abominable bad taste.

Is there nothing in man's existence that the press might consider none of its business?

Certainly an editorial column is the proper place to express opinion, but I did not know it had degenerated into a place to lodge snide comments. No doubt you realize that I refer to the editor's column in the Feb. 7 issue of The Skiff. (The column concerned secret marriages here at the University.)

I do not quarrel with an editor's right to discuss any topic he may choose. However, when one writes for a relatively small reading public, I should think it would be polite to offend as few people as possible and to refrain from dealing in personalities!

Sincerely,

Stephanie Brady

Editor's note: I'm sorry to disagree with you Miss Brady, but when the Frogs' leading basketball scorer is suspended, it's news! Reporting the news is the job of The Skiff.

If you will re-read the column you will see that I made no snide comments and expressed no opinion on the matter. I simply stated that two students had been suspended because they married secretly and that the University's policy doesn't allow this. I mentioned no names, but told only what would happen if students did marry secretly.

Dear Editor:

I am a northern college student writing a research paper on the topic "The Feelings of the Southern Colleges About Forced Integration."

There is very little documentation on this information. The only way of obtaining this information is from the students themselves.

Since there is no way for me to obtain this information here, I am writing to you for assistance.

I would like to have the students write me, telling me their feelings about forced integration and why they feel the way they do. I would like to know if they dislike the Negroes and the reasons why or why not. I would also like to know the age and state of residence of each student.

The success of my paper depends on my obtaining an answer from as many students as possible. It also depends on my receiving the answers as soon as possible.

Thanks to you and all the students who help me in writing my paper.

Yours truly,

Mum's the Word

The Spanish have a saying: "En boca cerrada no entran moscas." (In a closed mouth flies never enter.)

A member of the University administration has a variation of this that he learned from his father: "Half the people in this world are crazy and half of them are crooks. So just pay your poll tax and keep your mouth shut."

He probably pays his poll tax and certainly keeps his "boca cerradaed."

Enrollees Goof; Holsapple Frets

Failure of day students to properly enroll for night classes has created some confusion in the evening college, Dr. Cortell Holsapple, dean of the college, said.

In one night class, Holsapple pointed out, 85 students showed up for the first lecture. Only 25 had enrolled.

"We'll have a different procedure next semester," Dr. Holsapple said.

Judo Club Ties

The Fort Worth Judo Club, represented by TCU and YMCA judo teams, tied for first place with the Austin team Saturday at the Southwest Judo Championship Contest in Dallas.

Others in the tournament were Ron Butler, Graham junior; Larry Cook, Scabrook, Tex. sophomore; Gran Moulder, Tulsa, Okla. sophomore; Dale Padgett, Fort Worth freshman, and Sam Numajiri, graduate student from Japan and judo instructor.

A New York man tossed a banana peel out of his car window and hit a state policeman in the face. Charge: Littering state property.

Playboy Dad, Bennett, Tops In Select Series Program

By DON BUCKMAN
Donald Cook, Joan Bennett and company provided an excellent example of what a play should look like last Thursday in the Select Series performance of "The Pleasure of His Company."

Joan Bennett

Trademarks of the professional actor were everywhere: Effective use of facial expressions, cues picked up properly, lines delivered naturally and a careful avoidance of "upstaging".

The play, by Samuel Taylor, toyed with the difficulties caused when a playboy father returned to San Francisco for the wedding of his daughter, who had been reared by her step-father.

Donald Cook as the girl's father, Biddeford Poole, was the star of the show for our money. He convincingly portrayed the man who still felt more than a tinge of love for his ex-wife, and who fell hard for his daughter, finally managing to steal her away from her intended husband.

The sound of a foghorn in the Bay prompted Cook, as the world traveler, to ask, "Have you ever heard a rhinoceros in labor?"

The program rates as the best the series has brought to the campus all year.

Comedian To Appear in City

AC Sponsors Dave Gardner

Dave Gardner, the singer-comedian who advises, "Kick Thy Own Self," and then "Rejoice, Dear Hearts," will be at Will Rogers Auditorium Friday.

"Brother" Dave Gardner

The entertainment committee of Activities Council is sponsoring his appearance.

Galen Hull, Ponca City sophomore who is chairman of the entertainment committee, said, "Gardner's performance is planned to help build revenue for other shows to be presented in the new field house." Now our facilities are a drawback to bringing great names on campus," Hull pointed out, "but the field house will give the University an opportunity to have other entertainers of Gardner's quality on campus," he continued.

"It's the biggest thing we've done all year, said Hull of the event which, if it fills the Auditorium, will attract 5,800.

Gardner, 33, made his professional debut 20 years ago as a drummer. He moved into comedy via "scat-singing" and extensive nightclub appearances. The progressive comedian has been a frequent guest on the Jack Paar Show.

Critics describe Gardner's style as "beat and offbeat," as "wisdom spiced with lots of humor." Another said of Gardner's show, "His is about the unstuffiest kind of intellectualism around."

There will be two performances: one at 7:30 p.m., the other at 10. Admission for TCU students is $1.75, $2.50 and $3.50. Admission for the general public is $2, $3 and $4.

David Warnell . . . puts Frogs ahead to stay, 39-37

After A&M Victory

Frogs Tackle SMU Tonight in Dallas

By TIM TALBERT

The farmers from Texas A&M were caught with their plow dragging here Saturday night as the youthful Frog cagers surprised the Aggies, 68-66.

Trying to pick a Purple star would be like finding a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow.

David Warnell was among the outstanding. He put the Frogs ahead to stay at 39-37 with a driving crisp shot with 13 minutes remaining in the game.

Warnell then added 11 of his 18 total points in the crucial last 8 minutes. And most important, he sank the winning basket with 6 seconds left to play.

Adams Hits

With the Frogs and Aggies trading field goals in the final couple of minutes, Alton Adams kept the Frogs in the game by sinking three straight hook shots. This was done with 7-foot Lewis Qualls hanging on him like chewing gum to the sole of a shoe.

Phil Reynolds' outside shooting kept TCU in the game during the early stages. With his soft, two-handed push shot Reynolds hauled the Frogs from an early 9-point deficit to a one-point lead near the end of the half. The flashy little guard ended the night with 17 points.

The defense on Carroll Broussard was unbeatable. David Warnell, Billy Jim Simmons and Johnny Fowler were all over the Aggie great.

Broussard's pet play is a one-handed push shot from either corner. All evening, Warnell, Simmons and Fowler were jumping in front of Broussard when he would attempt this shot. He was held to 11 points for the game.

SMU Tonight

The Aggie saga behind them, the surprising young men of Buster Brannon return to action tonight against SMU in Dallas.

With two big victories over Texas and A&M, the Frogs cannot be counted as an easy match for the Ponies.

Texas Tech beat SMU 88-67 Saturday night, but Jan Loudermilk, probably SMU's key man, fouled out with 8 minutes remaining and SMU trailing by only two points. Loudermilk is the leading scorer for Doc Hayes. He tallied 20 against Tech.

TCU broke a jinx against Baylor last week. The victory over the Bears was the first road win for TCU, and, the Frogs now ride the crest of a two-game winning streak.

There is a good chance for the Purple to stretch that streak to four. Following the SMU game tonight, TCU catches hapless Baylor here Saturday night.

Frogs Sign Prep Stars

High school athletes are providing the corps and the Frog recruiters are reaping their harvest.

As of now, 21 high school stars have cast their lot to be with Abe Martin next year.

Some of the biggest names signed include that of Kenneth Thetford of Graham. A halfback, Thetford weighs 170. He was listed as honorable mention all-state. Quarterback John Hulse, another gridder who plans to enroll here, led his New Castle team to district honors this past year.

Benny Carter, 195-pound center from McKinney, also has decided on Frogland for his higher education. Carter was prominent among all-state candidates in class 3A.

Spring Sports Training Begins for Three Teams

A peek around the corner of winter into spring. Although the Groundhog revealed that spring is another six weeks off, his revelation hasn't slowed Frog golf and baseball players who are making preparations for the coming season.

A look at baseball prospects for spring sports on The Hill indicates—

Pitching may be coach Rabbit McDowell's main problem. Last year the Frog pitchers yielded at least 60 more runs than the team produced.

Catcher Doug Moore is the bright spot in McDowell's plans. Moore led the conference in hitting with a lusty .450 average. Footballer Buddy Iles will be shifted from the outfield to the infield. Iles whacked out a .297 average last year.

Bolstering the pitching staff will be basketballer Phil Reynolds and footballer Gray Mills. Don Matthews and lefty Don Schmidt should help the Frog mound corps.

The first baseball game, a practice affair, will be in Dallas against SMU on Feb. 24. The first conference game will be staged in Fort Worth against Rice.

Track

Of course, the track squad revolves around three events—high jump, high hurdles and the mile relay. Jackie Upton is the high jumper. He won the freshman title last year with a 6-4 effort.

Bobby Bernard is the best high hurdler to visit the Frog scene since Bill Curtis back in 1955. He was injured most of last year, but if he stays healthy, he should be a strong contender in any meet.

And the mile relay team was barely nipped by Baylor in last year's SWC meet. With three of the four members returning—Reagan Gassaway, Sam Ketcham and Alfred Heizer—this may be their year.

Golf

The number one golfer from last year's second place team, Mike Walling, returns to lead the divot makers this year. Sophomore Paek Montgomery, Coach

Tom Prouse claims, is better than ex-Frog ace Don Massengale when he was at this stage.

Charles Yates, Bill Jones, John Matheny and Nick Eneke also are battling for spots on the varsity team.

The Southwest Recreation meet in March is also the golf team's first appearance of the year.

Frogs Finish Sixth In Indoor Games

The greatest history-making event that has happened to Fort Worth since General Worth decided to camp on the Trinity River was produced last Thursday night.

An indoor track meet, the brain-child of a surprised L. B. Morris, brought out an enthusiastic crowd of 7,200 to Will Rogers Coliseum for the event.

Frog trackmen finished in a tie for sixth place with North Texas State with 12 points. Abilene Christian College took the university-college division easily with 42 points. Defending SWC champion Baylor finished third with 17 points.

Puts-Shot 56-6¾

The outstanding performance of the night was the 56-6¾ heave of Baylor's John Fry in the shot-put. The youngster's performance is the second longest shot-put ever by a Texan. Only Darrow Hooper of Texas A&M has put-the-shot further. Hooper achieved his mark of 57-1 in 1952 during the Olympic trials in Los Angeles.

Bobby Bernard, TCU high hurdler, was nipped by Texas Tech's Bob Swafford in the university high hurdles. Swafford was timed at an impressive 7.04.

High jumper Jackie Upton won second place with a jump of 6-4. Texas A&M's Don Weaver won the event with a 6-5 effort.

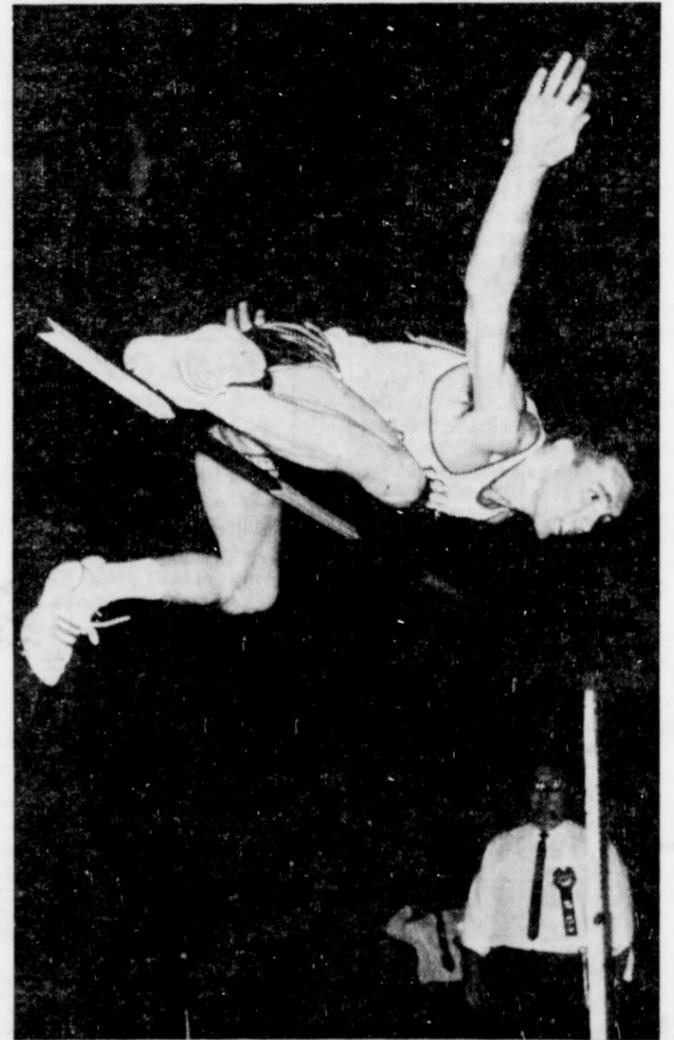

Jerry Spearman was fifth in the broad jump with a jump of 21-5. The only other Southwest Conference contestant to finish in front of Spearman was Jack Sides of Texas. Sides' jump of 22-10 was good for third place.

Bill Miller of McMurry won the broad jump with a 23-10 leap.

Possibly the most disappointing of TCU entrants was the mile-relay team. The foursome failed to place in the event. One consolation though, Baylor's defending champion mile relay team finished a poor fifth with a time of 3:32.5. The relay was won by Abilene Christian College in a time of 3:32.5.

Providing a slight surprise for coach Eddie Weems was the performance of Marvin Silliman. Silliman, a transfer student and ineligible for conference competition this year, placed third in the 1,000-yard run. He was timed in the excellent time of 2:20.2.

One small note: Sid Garton, former TCU student and flash for East Texas State, finished fifth in the open 60-yard dash.

Jackie Upton . . . second place high jump winner
