SC Birthday Continues With Hawaiian Holiday

A "Beach Party" at 8 p.m. tonight in the snack bar will be the second event of the Student Center birthday party, "Hawaiian Holiday", which began Monday.

An "Hawaiian Luau" yesterday opened the week-long event. A special menu of island foods was served to celebrate the opening of the new dining area.

This evening's entertainment includes the cutting of a birthday cake by Miss Linda Loftis, Fort Worth junior and the new Miss Fort Worth. Free cake and punch will be served to be followed by a talent show.

Ark. Hula Girl

The show's lineup ranges from hulas to banjos. Miss Bette Ann Bell, Smackover, Ark. freshman, will provide the hula. Miss Bell studied Hawaiian dancing for seven years.

Last summer she toured the Pacific Islands and the Far East with a USO group.

Appearing with Miss Bell will be Johnny Knowles, Houston freshman, and Jim Higginbotham, Fort Worth senior, in a guitar duo. Knowles appeared on the A&M talent show last month. Higginbotham, who appears under the name of Jim Ware, has performed on campus before with The Flares.

Charter Day Celebrated All Across Nation Today

By LYNN SWANN

"The good ole days" . . . of 87 years ago when TCU was granted its charter by the state of Texas—will live once more.

Alumni from San Francisco to Atlanta will observe Charter Day with luncheons, dinners and picnics.

In San Francisco, for example, the "good ole days" will be reminisced by a special "This Is Your Life" program in honor of Mrs. Pauline Sherley Haile. Mrs. Haile is a member of the Sherley family for which Sherley dormitory is named.

Material for the program, which includes the script, written by Jim Wright, Tyler junior, and a scrapbook, prepared by the TCU Ex-Students Association, was sent to Dave Hibbard, president of the Northern California chapter of the Association, who conceived the "This Is Your Life" idea.

In the scrapbook are references to Mrs. Sherley's life at TCU. One classmate's letter recalls the time that someone threw a dummy wearing the coed's red checkered dress, out a second story "winder." "It scared the whole baseball team to death," the classmate reports.

Activities Planned Here

Here at the University, two days of activities are planned. Family picnics this evening and tomorrow are designed to attract the more than 7,000 ex-students in the Fort Worth area.

"Since there will be no mention of donations or pleas for membership, we expect a large turnout," says Curley Broyles, chairman of the activities.

The Ex-Students Association is sponsoring the event, held this year for the second time.

Guided tours, starting from the west quadrangle, will begin at 4:30 p.m. each day followed by a showing of the 30-minute color film, "This Is TCU."

Bands To Play

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., the Horned Frog Band will play. It will continue until 6 p.m. when Gardner Sinkley and his orchestra will take over.

Hinkley, an engineer with Bell Aircraft, has, in the past, arranged music for Vaughn Monroe. Now director of his local band, he will play until 8 p.m.

Tomorrow evening, Billy and Micki Young's band will also give a concert. The married couple are TCU students.

A picnic will be served each evening from 5-6:30 in the west quadrangle.

Radio Salutes

Fort Worth Radio Station WBAP 820 broadcast a nationwide "Salute to Charter Day" yesterday. Campus station KTCU sponsored the program. Held from 10:30 p.m. until midnight, it featured special TCU music, campus news and talks by University personalities.

Broyles is regional sales manager for WBAP television.

Upon graduation from TCU in 1944, he went to Hollywood where he played trumpet with the Frankie Masters Band. After a year-long contract with Masters, he joined the Ray Bauduc orchestra. It later became the Bob Crosby band. Broyles also played with Ray McKinley, who is now fronting the Glenn Miller group.

In 1947, he tired of "living out of a suitcase" and returned to Fort Worth where he taught school and directed the Polytechnic High School Band.

The following year, he joined WBAP, channel 5.

Since, Broyles has organized several local music groups which he also directs. He has a 14-piece orchestra, a Dixieland group, a quartet and a quintet.

City To Install University Drive Lighting System

Within a month the city of Fort Worth will begin constructing overhead lights on University Drive in the University area.

Complaints prompted Business Manager L. C. White to seek better lighting facilities for students crossing the busy street.

Posts bearing mercury-vapor lights will be erected in the median strip between Cantey and Berry Streets.

White said that while there have been complaints regarding the dark campus, there have been no accidents reported since a traffic light at the corner of University Drive and Lowden Street was removed several years ago.

The city is to finance the construction and operation of the 23,000 lumen lights which will be similar to those already in use on Berry Street.

J. F. Davis, the administrative superintendent of public works of Fort Worth, said that the erection of about ten standards is under the management of the Texas Electric Service Company and will begin as soon as final contract amendments are made.

Summer Classes Offered To High School Students

High school students who have finished their junior year and rank in the upper quarter of their class may attend the regular summer session at the University this summer under a new "delayed credit" program. President D. Ray Lindley has announced.

Under the plan, highly qualified students who are still in high school may enroll in regular college courses this summer.

Upon graduation they will receive credit for university-level work successfully completed during the summer term.

According to President Lindley, objectives are to provide for worthwhile activities during usually dull summer months, to speed up college work, to maintain ability in courses already taken and to give the high schools a preview of college life.

Courses available to high school students this summer will be: algebra, Development of Civilization, Spanish, French, German, biology, chemistry and a Survey of the Bible.

These courses will add to work already completed at the high school level but will not take the place of work to be done in the senior year.

Tuition for the program will be the same as for regular University students. Those who enroll may live on campus or at home.

Information on the program has been sent to principals and counselors of public and private high schools in Texas.

Writing Contest Deadline Today

Professor Mabel Major, chairman of the Creative Writing Committee, reminds participants in the Creative Writing Contest that entries are due by 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 11.

She requests that all students check the rules and see that the entries comply.

There will be three judges for each contest and judges will not be connected with the University.

Results of the contests will be announced at the Creative Writing Convocation, May 11 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Participants may give entries to the English faculty or turn them in to the English office, room 306 of Sadler Hall.

Spring Descant Now on Sale

The newest issue of Descant, the TCU literary journal, is now on sale in the English Office in the Sadler Building.

It contains works by Dr. Jim Corder, assistant professor of English here, whose "Man on the Square" poems have made him a favorite campus poet, and Marc McCrary, Fort Worth senior, who has been making a name for himself both as a dramatist and as a short story writer.

Sorority Plans Picnic

Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority, will sponsor a picnic for all music students and faculty members from 3-5 p.m., Saturday, April 15.

The picnic will be held in Forest Park. Guests and families of students and faculty are invited.

Minister Speaks In Chapel Today

Professor H. Grady Hardin, an ordained Methodist minister, will speak at the Chapel hour, at 11 a.m. today in Robert Carr Chapel.

Hardin's topic will be "A New Doxology." A Doxology is an ancient hymn of praise, sung as a common worship tradition in most Christian churches.

He is a professor of worship and preaching, at the Perkins School of Theology, at Southern Methodist University.

Before coming to SMU, he was associate pastor of the First Methodist Church of Houston, and was minister of Chapelwood Methodist Church, also in Houston.

Hardin did his graduate work at Duke University, and is a native of South Carolina.

Patriotic "Fourth of July Cakes" are coated with "Of The Icing."

Choral Authority To Join Music Staff Here In Fall

B. R. (Bev) Henson, one of Texas' outstanding authorities on choral music, will join the faculty next September as assistant professor of music and director of chorus.

President D. Ray Lindley announced the appointment.

Henson comes here from San Antonio where he has been choral director at Trinity University since 1957 and choral conductor of the San Antonio Symphony since 1958.

The new staff member is a native of Kearns and took his bachelor of music education from Southwestern University.

Henson is a past president of the Texas Choral Directors Association and an honorary lifetime member of the National Choral Conductors Guild.

Dawson Recovering From Bullet Wound

Harold Dawson, Stinnett freshman, showed some improvement Monday, but remained in critical condition, according to a Harris Hospital spokesman, from a gunshot wound he suffered Saturday night following an argument with three Negro youths.

Brooks Hill, Orange sophomore, who was with Dawson, identified the alleged assailant, Roy H. McKellar, 22. McKellar was charged with assault to murder.

McKellar told police that he and a companion were approached by the TCU students who insulted them and pulled a knife. After a brief argument, Dawson and Hill returned in a car. McKellar said they yelled and threw something at him. Then he pulled the gun and fired.

"I just wanted to scare them off," he continued. "I don't see how I hit that boy—I sure hope he gets OK."

Dwaine Meador, who is also from Stinnett, said he and Dawson had been at the Covered Wagon, an East Lancaster night spot, with several other students. They were leaving when they met the Negroes. The youths accused Dawson and Meador of insulting them.

During the ensuing argument one of the Negroes took a swing at Dawson and pulled a razor, Meador said.

Hill came out of the nightclub and he and Meador took Dawson away from the argument. Hill and Dawson were in a car when the shot was fired. Dawson managed to drive back to the Covered Wagon and was taken to the hospital.

The bullet struck Dawson in the neck.

He is a member of the freshman football squad and brother of Larry Dawson, former Frog backfield star who is a TCU senior.

BIRTHDAY

Sims appeared last weekend in talent competition during Round-up at Texas University. The banjo player, who adds a little homespun humor with his playing, toured England last year with a talent group.

A "bingo bongo" party is on tap for Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom. Fort Worth businesses have donated a long list of bingo prizes including some 21 free dinners, free bowling, 45 movie passes, an orchid which can be telegraphed anywhere, a scarf and picture frame.

Prizes donated by the Activities Council are watches, picnic outfits, a clock radio, beach bag, brief case, cold drink cooler and a hair dryer.

Thursday's free affair is "Royal Hawaiian Entertainment". The Island Kings, a five-piece combo, will appear at 7 p.m. in the downstairs lobby of the SC. Featured with this group is a hula dancer.

A Mad Ball sock hop will follow with Skinny Carmichael and his combo. Carmichael, Brady junior, plays a variety of instruments and was song leader for last Sunday's Greek Song Fest.

Zetas, Sigma Chi Grab First Place In 'Song Fest'

Zeta Tau Alpha and Sigma Chi captured first place honors in the sixth annual Greek Song Fest held in Will Rogers Auditorium Sunday.

The Sigma Chi's claimed the first place honor for the second consecutive year. Their winning songs were, "Everybody Loves a Lover" and "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi".

The former sponsor of Song Fest, Zeta Tau Alpha, won with a folk song, "I Love Little Willie" and a fraternity song, "The Creed".

Second place trophies were presented to Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Delta Pi.

Delta Gamma and Kappa Kappa Gamma shared the third place award for sororities. Sigma Alpha Epsilon came in third for fraternities.

Miss Becky Clapp, Dallas junior and chairman of the event for this year, said, "This has been one of the greatest Song Fests with wonderful representation from the sororities and fraternities."

The money collected from the ticket sales will go to the Day Care Association. As yet, the exact amount received from this year's Song Fest is not known but it is expected to far exceed last year's amount.

Spring Formal Scheduled

A Japanese garden will be the setting for this year's Spring Formal April 20.

The dance will be held from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Student Center Ball Room.

The test is given to medical students seeking an M.D., chiropractic or osteopathic degree.

Dr. Hardt, president of the Board of Examiners, explained that these tests will be given simultaneously in Galveston, Dallas, Houston and Austin.

The test consists of six exams covering a one and one-half day period.

Approximately 300 medical students will be taking the exams; approximately 80 per cent of which will receive the Certificate of Proficiency in the basic sciences.

Who Should Be Judge in Censorship?

Censorship in any form is a dangerous thing, but too often it is regarded as a simple answer to a more complex problem.

Questionable reading matter and motion pictures are common problems for all communities, and the appointment of a public censor and censorship board is often the attempt at a solution.

However, another question must follow: Who is qualified to censor? The briefest look into censorship in practice will show that what is considered trash by one group may be held as classic literature by another.

An even greater problem arises when an organization decides it has the right to dictate what should be seen or read in a community.

Such assumed authority threatens Constitutional freedoms of speech and press, and the more basic human freedom of thought.

One chapter of a national patriotic organization, supposedly devoted to the protection of a free country, decided to rid its community of a book which it deemed "unfit" and obscene. The group made a public spectacle of seizing copies of the book and were set on burning them, until a newspaperman casually commented that this was the first instance of book burning he recalled since the fall of Nazi Germany.

The literary value of the book in question, incidentally, had been upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

A fact which many persons choose to ignore is that censorship should begin at home. They are all too eager to turn the responsibility over to someone else.

One of the chief reasons young people are susceptible to the current rash of vile, lurid movies and magazines is because of a healthy curiosity about such things as sex that is not satisfied in a mature, informative way at home.

But the greatest danger of censorship is that its sword may be allowed to take too wide a sweep.

The more power given to censors, the more likely it becomes that valuable and important information will be withheld from the public on the grounds that it is either obscene or un-American.

The first move of a dictator is to control mass media, and the first step toward control is to make censorship acceptable in the public eye.

Two Louisiana politicians of divergent views met at the home of one to solve the world's problems. When the visitor was ready to leave, he couldn't find his two-year-old daughter who had accompanied him. Finally she was located playing in a sand pile with a Negro tenant's son of equal age. Feigning dismay, the second politician said, "My gosh, Sam. Never thought you'd father a radical."

Codes cannot be lived by, because they are static and life is fluid.—George A. Buttrick in an address to the faculty.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HE'S WAITING FOR THIS TERM GRADE THAT I JUST MADE OUT—I WANT YOU TO GIFT WRAP IT."

Be'cha Can't Name 'em All!

Editor's note: Can college students identify by name the members of President Kennedy's cabinet? The majority, most likely, can't. Here is a brief rundown of the men on J F K's team, giving their academic records.

Next issue, The Skiff interviews TCU government professors, asking their impressions of the new cabinet.

Much has been made by the news media of President John F. Kennedy's cabinet as government by intellectuals.

All ten department secretaries are university graduates, five with academic honors. Four cabinet officers are Harvard men.

To pinpoint each department chief:

Secretary of State David Dean Rusk, according to the Press, earned his Bachelor's degree in 1931 at Davidson College in North Carolina where he was a Phi Beta Kappa. Then he studied at Oxford, St. John's College as a Rhodes scholar. From 1934 to 1940, he was associate professor of government and dean of faculty at Mills College, Oakland, Calif.

Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon is pointed out by U.S. News and World Report as a Harvard graduate.

Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, is presented by the New York Times as an avid reader. He came to Ford as an expert in statistics. There he showed an ability to stay abreast of facts and figures. At the University of California, where he was an economics and philosophy major, McNamara was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society, as a sophomore. Later, he became an assistant professor of business administration at Harvard.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, graduate of the University of Arizona Law School, is mentioned by the American Forest as being an avid reader.

Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, was graduated Cum Laude from the University of Chicago Law School.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, according to the American Forest, was a brilliant student, graduating Magna Cum Laude from the University of Minnesota Law School. He is one of the elite handful in politics who sports a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, was graduated from the University of North Carolina with average grades in most subjects, but with As in Latin and Greek.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy shares his brother's Ivy League background. Like the President, the younger Kennedy is a Harvard graduate. Robert Kennedy also attended the University of Virginia Law School.

Postmaster-General James E. Day is mentioned as an alumnus of both Chicago University and Harvard Law School.

Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, was a brilliant student. He was graduated from high school at the age of 15 and was admitted to the bar before he was 21. He was graduated from Northwestern Law School Summa Cum Laude.

The Cynic

Other Fronts

By DON BUCKMAN

Today we devote this column to selected experts from newspapers of our sister universities and colleges. This is typical of our never-ending drive to keep readers alert to vital current events.

From the Texas Tech Toreador we learn, "Speech department facilities are finally expanding! Before too long speech department plays will be given in the dairy barn, which is being reconstructed for that purpose."

Surely thespians here will sympathize. They've been quartered in a "barn" for years.

The North Texas Campus Chat has a story headlined "Students Take Dim View of Eighty-Minute Classes." The story summarized comments of 22 students who had been asked about Tuesday-Thursday classes. For example, "All I know is that I cut my hour and a half classes more than any other," remarked Sally Shaw of Dallas.

Then enterprising Margaret Brown, who wrote the article, concluded, "In plain language, . . . by taking a Tuesday-Thursday hour and 20-minute course you go to 2 1/4 class periods more than you would if you were taking a 50 minute MWF or TTS course."

"To even up the two types of classes would require shortening the hour and 20 minute class to an hour and 15 minutes . . . (or) giving students two extra cuts per semester. . ."

This girl is either a math whiz or she likes to make mountains out of molehills.

The LSU paper claims that the university has plans to lease 2,572.59 acres to oil companies.

That's fine, but don't try to make a deal for a golf course. . .

We never fail to enjoy the SMU Campus. Let us quote: "A 27-year-old Oak Cliff man was arrested early Friday for window-peeping at Virginia Hall after he was surprised by SMU night-watchman Edd Ingersoll."

"Ingersoll saw the barefooted window-peeper shortly after midnight in a window well covered by bushes around the ground floor of the girls' dormitory . . . The man's shoes were located on the arcade between Snider Hall and Virginia Hall."

"University Park Police were summoned, and watched for the man to return for his shoes."

The Mounties always get their man: "He (the culprit) admitted window-peeping at Virginia Hall and said he had returned to get his shoes. . ."

Shades of Sherlock Holmes! . . .

The boys at Baylor are a merry lot. Take a look at their April Fool paper, the "BU Lariette," which proudly proclaims itself as "Voice of the Bible Belt or The Baptist Sub-Standard." The lead story screams "All Courses But Religion Dropped; War on Sin Hits Campus." We would have enjoyed reading that story, but the mailing label was stuck over it.

Good try, men, but it can't compare to our pride and joy, The Skiff.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Four members of the TCU debate squad, with faculty sponsor Dr. C. A. True, will leave Saturday on a 5500-mile three week spring tour.

TEN YEARS AGO

Dick Ramsey was the only candidate for president of the student body when nominations closed at 6 p.m. yesterday.

ONE YEAR AGO

Alumni and friends of the University across the nation will celebrate Monday as the Ex-Students Assn. sponsors the inaugural "Charter Day" celebration.

Debaters Rated Excellent In National Debate Meet

The debate squad recently returned from the Pi Kappa Delta national tournament with several excellent ratings.

Pi Kappa Delta is the largest national honorary forensic fraternity.

The national convention this year was held in Stillwater, Okla. March 26-31.

Approximately 110 men's debate teams were entered in the competition. Bill English, Lake Jackson junior, and Ron Johnson, Wichita Falls freshman, won an excellent rating with a 6-2 record.

The University debaters defeated Principia College, Ill.; St. Olaf's College of Minn.; Otterbein College, Ohio; Buena Vista College, Iowa; University of Dayton, Ohio; and University of Detroit, Mich.

Johnson and English lost to Southern Illinois University and Middle Tennessee State College.

Ratings of good were awarded to English in extemporaneous speaking, Jim Bennett, Arlington sophomore, and Miss Lynn Smith, Alexandria, Va., freshman, both in discussion.

Representatives of 149 colleges and universities attended the Pi Kap convention.

The next Pi Kap national convention will be held in 1963 in Carbondale, Ill. It will be the 50th anniversary convention. The Province of the Lower Mississippi of which TCU is a member will hold its biennial convention here on campus in 1962.

Business Women To Hold Banquet

The Business and Professional Women's Club (B&PW) will hold its annual spring banquet at Colonial Country Club at 6:30 tonight.

Cost for the steak dinner will be $1.

Miss Ann Wofford, Wichita Falls junior and club reporter, estimates a turnout of 30. She advises attendants to wear suits or dresses and heels.

B&PW is open to women business majors or minors. Club sponsors are Mrs. Helen Hickey, instructor of office administration, and Miss Marjorie Keaton, business education teacher here.

THE DEAN YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Now in the waning days of the school year when the hardest heart grows mellow and the very air is charged with memories, let us pause for a moment and pay tribute to that overworked and underappreciated campus figure, your friend and mine, the dean of students.

Policeman and confessor, shepherd and seer, warden and oracle, proconsul and pal, the dean of students is by far the most enigmatic of all academicians. How can we understand him? Well sir, perhaps the best way is to take an average day in the life of an average dean. Here, for example, is what happened last Thursday to Dean Killjoy N. Dampier of Duluth A and M.

At 6 a.m. he woke, dressed, lit a Marlboro, and went up on the roof of his house to remove the statue of the Founder which had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 7 a.m. he lit a Marlboro and walked briskly to the campus. (The Dean had not been driving his car since it had been placed on the roof of the girls dormitory by high-spirited undergraduates.)

She was placed there by high-spirited undergraduates

At 7:45 a.m. he arrived on campus, lit a Marlboro, and climbed the bell tower to remove his secretary who had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 8 a.m. he reached his office, lit a Marlboro, and met with Derther Sigafoos, editor of the student newspaper. Young Sigafoos had been writing a series of editorials urging the United States to annex Canada. When his editorials had evoked no response, he had taken matters into his own hands. Accompanied by his sports editor and two copy readers, he had gone over the border and conquered Manitoba. With great patience and several excellent Marlboro Cigarettes, the Dean persuaded young Sigafoos to give Manitoba back. Young Sigafoos, however, insisted on keeping Winnipeg.

At 9 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with Erwin J. Bender, president of the local Sigma Chi chapter, who came to report that the Deke house had been put on top of the Sigma Chi house during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 10 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and went to umpire an intramural softball game on the roof of the law school where the campus baseball diamond had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 12 noon the Dean had a luncheon meeting with the president of the university, the bursar, the registrar, and the chairman of the English department at the bottom of the campus swimming pool where the faculty dining room had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates. Marlbors were passed after lunch, but not lit owing to the dampness.

At 2 p.m., back in his office, the Dean lit a Marlboro and received the Canadian minister of war who said that unless young Sigafoos gave back Winnipeg, Canada would march. Young Sigafoos was summoned and agreed to give back Winnipeg if he could have Saskatoon. The Canadian minister of war at first refused, but finally agreed after young Sigafoos placed him on the roof of the mining and metallurgy building.

At 3 p.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with a delegation from the student council who came to present him with a set of matched luggage in honor of his fifty years' service as dean of students. The Dean promptly packed the luggage with his clothing and Marlbors and fled to Utica, New York, where he is now in the aluminum siding game.

Bands 'Make Music' To Pay for Pants

When the McLean Junior High and the University's bands decided to "make beautiful music together," they raised enough money to pay the balance on 80 pairs of new uniform pants.

The McLean Band owed the balance, but didn't have the funds to cover it.

Jim A. Jacobsen, TCU band director, heard of the junior high band's plight and offered the services of his band. Sixty-six bandsters joined the 70 members of the McLean Band in a concert April 6. Benefits went to the junior high group.

The college musicians, ranging in age from 18-22, adopted the McLean members as "little brothers." Their ages are 12-15.

Fort Worth Press columnist Jack Gordon urged a "gracious hand" for members of the Horned Frog Band, saying, "As any parent knows, the young adult of university age has moved into a new world. Junior high days are a faint memory, and rarely does the older student deign to take note of the problems of junior kids."

The Lions Club Band of Greater

Fort Worth played a rehearsal concert following the feature program.

The tie-in factor of the project was Jacobsen. He is president of the McLean Band Booster Club and director of the Lions Club Band. McLean Band Director, Tom Walls, plays trumpet in the Lions Club Band.

Jacobsen's daughter, Carol, plays clarinet and is drum major for the McLean group. She's in the ninth grade. Son Kent, a seventh grader, plays the trombone.

McLean students staged a giant campaign, selling tickets at 50 cents each.

A McLean official reported that more than 700 attended the Thursday night concert, assuring band members that they WILL have pants.

The tough thugs from "On the Waterfront" are contrasted with the fairy-like creatures from "Les Sylphides" at the flick Thursday.

Show time is 6:45 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom. Admission is 25 cents.

Some people apparently believe that what is right for them is wrong for anyone else.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS: DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: The best defense is a good offense, unless you're weak or cowardly, in which case a good hiding place is unbeatable.

DEAR DR. FROOD: Every guy I go out with thinks he's Casanova. What should a girl do?

Chased

DEAR CHASED: Ask each one to roll up his sleeve. If there is a small birthmark just above the left elbow, you've got the real Casanova.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I am a sophomore majoring in architecture. Our college has just completed a magnificent carillon tower. Yesterday, while examining the blueprints, I was horrified to discover that the tower will collapse at 3:30 P.M., June 3, 1964. I have taken my calculations to the dean, to the architects, to the builders, to the president of the college. No one will pay any attention to me. I am desperate. What can I do to avert disaster?

Frantic

DEAR FRANTIC: You've done your best, son. Now, for your own peace of mind, won't you join me in a short trip to Las Vegas to see what kind of odds we can get?

DEAR DR. FROOD: A tackle on the football team likes the same girl I do. He says that if I see her any more, he'll mop up the floor with me. I refuse to be intimidated! What should I do?

Ninety-nine Pounder

DEAR NINETY-NINE: You'd better let your hair grow long.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I've been writing poems to a certain girl for about five months. Yesterday I found out that this girl and her friends get together to read my poems and laugh at them. Do you think I should stop writing to her?

Upset

DEAR UPSET: Definitely not. There are all too few humorous poets writing today.

FROOD TO WASHINGTON! Dr. Frood has been called by government officials to unveil his extraordinary "Luckies for Peace Plan." Questioned about this plan, Frood replied: "The details are still classified, but it all started when I discovered that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. This led me to believe that if all the world's peoples would but lean back and light up a Lucky, they would be too happy to be belligerent."

Phi Delts Second

Sigs Win Tourney, Pace All-Star Team

By HAROLD MCKINNEY

Sigma Chi, playing calm, calculated basketball, withstood a torrid fourth quarter rally by the Phi Delts to win the TCU All-Campus Intramural Tournament, 69-56.

Friday night's championship game ended the three day, single elimination tourney which saw the Sigma Chis run through three opponents in their quest for the top spot.

The champs overpowered Army ROTC, 72-45, in the opening round Wednesday night and twenty-four hours later defeated the Hosses, 51-41, to gain a berth in the championship playoff.

In the finals, Sigma Chi's well balanced attack proved too much for the spunky Phi Delts. The winners had four men scoring in double figures led by Nick Encke with 18 and Scott Magers with 14. Mark Clifford's 16 points were high for the Phi Delts.

Third place was captured by the Thumpers as they defeated the Hosses, 63-52. Don Williams poured in 26 points for the victors, and the Hosses' Terrell Taylor hit 27 for high point honors.

Netmen Start SWC Chase

The fast improving Frog netmen open their SWC season against defending conference champion SMU today in a dual meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Ridglea Country Club.

TCU is riding a two-match winning streak and carries a 3-4-1 record into the match with the Mustangs.

Friday, the Frogs whipped Oklahoma, 5-1, in what Coach Ken Crawford called, "Our best match of the year."

Earl Van Zandt beat Jerry Geyman, 8-6, 6-3, Paul Lozuk defeated Jim Porvines, 8-6, 6-4, Paul Christian won over Danny Vanices, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3, and Roy Persons lost to Paul Gregory, 4-6, 4-6.

In the doubles, Van Zandt-Christian beat Vanice-Gregory, 7-5, 6-2, and Lozuk-Persons defeated Geyman-Porvines, 6-0, 10-8.

Coach Crawford is hoping his charges can spring some surprises on the Dallas visitors. "We are definitely the underdogs, but the boys are reaching top form. If they play good tennis we could pull off a big upset," he said.

The Kappa Sigs staged a brilliant second half comeback to beat Clark Hall, 65-61, and win the consolation championship. Don Graham sparked the winners with a 24 point performance and Craig Mason scored 22 for the losers.

In the opening round Wednesday night, the Sigma Chis beat Army ROTC, 72-45, the Hosses defeated Kappa Sigs, 55-47, Phi Delt routed Clark Hall, 88-47, and the Thumpers knocked off the Delts 59-43.

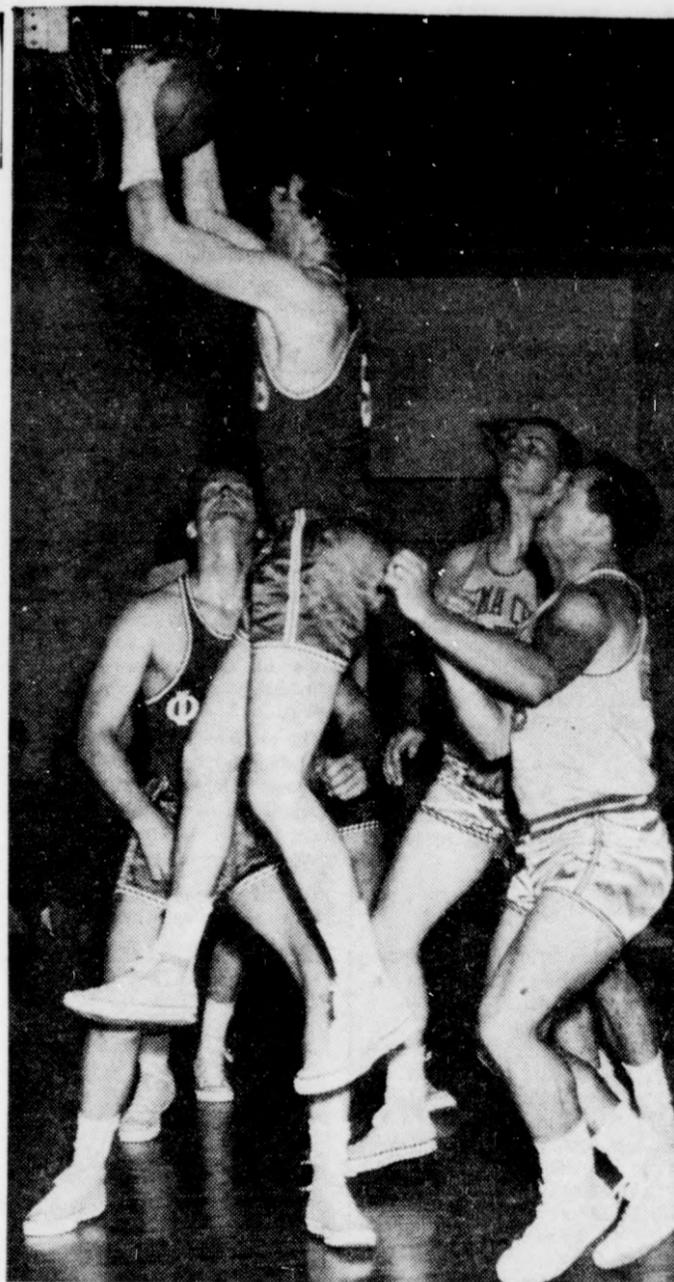

Second round action began Thursday with Kappa Sig whipping Army ROTC, 69-65. Clark Hall beat the Delts, 65-59, Sigma Chi won over the Hosses, 51-41, and Phi Delts edged the Thumpers, 44-42.

Champion Sigma Chi placed two men, Jerry Mrazek and Scott Magers, on the first team All Tournament squad. Mark Clifford, Phi Delts; Don Williams, Thumpers, and Don Graham, Kappa Sig, rounded out the tourney "dream team."

The second all tourney quintet was made up of Craig Mason, Clark Hall; Terrell Taylor, Hosses; David Brinkerhoff, Delts; Jim Switzer, Kappa Sig; and Max Perkins, Phi Delts.

All-Tournament players were presented with trophies and certificates following the championship game.

The tournament divisional trophy returns to the fraternities after a year's absence. By winning first and second places along with the consolation championship the Greeks compiled enough points to regain possession of the rotating trophy.

Phi Delta Mick Ashworth grabs rebound from Sigma Chis Jim Wallace and Lee Gresham in championship game. Sigma Chi won, 69-56.

Trackmen Falter At Texas Relays

Many schools brought their best athletes from all corners of the nation to compete in the Texas Relays Saturday, but one, ACC, made off with most of the prizes.

The Wildcats captured four relay championships, the most spectacular being the mile relay in which ACC set a new American collegiate record of 3:07.9. This broke the standard of 3:08 set only last week by ACC at San Angelo.

The other relay championships taken by ACC were a world record-tying 1:22.6 in the 880 relay; a new Texas Relay record of 9:51.5 in the distance medley and a 40.9 in the 440 relay.

While the afternoon belonged to ACC, it just was not TCU's day. The Frogs' usually front-running Jackie Upton and Bobby Bernard, did not come close to winning.

Although Upton did finish second in the high jump, the winner, Monroe Fordham of Kansas State of Emporia jumped 6-6 1/4 while the best Upton could do was 6-4 1/4 for a four way-tie for second.

High hurdler Bobby Bernard ran a distant sixth in his specialty. Bernard was running third over the 10th hurdle but then slowed down and fell to sixth place for his poorest showing of the year.

However, the mile relay team lost a photo finish decision to Kansas. The Frog foursome turned in a respectable time of 3:14.1. Reagan Gasaway ran a 47.4 for his leg of the mile.

Freshman cinderman Nolan Brawley finished seventh in his heat of the 1,500-meters. His time of 4:00.3 is equal to a 4:19 mile.

Marvin Silliman, the ineligible transfer student for TCU, won the second heat in 3:58.4 to take sixth place in the overall finish.

In all, there were many upsets. Baylor's John Fry suffered his first setback in the shot put, Texas' Ralph Alspaugh ran a poor fourth in the 100-yard dash and SMU's Dexter Elkins took second in the pole vault.

But upsets are to be expected when one school steals show as ACC did last Saturday.

Frogs, Ponies Tangle Today

Perhaps it is best that the TCU-Aggie baseball game was rained out Saturday, for the Frogs still are resting in third place one game behind A&M and two games behind pace setting Texas.

Rabbit McDowell's charges get a chance Tuesday to fatten their record on SMU in Dallas. The Ponies stand 0-3 in conference play, suffering mainly from lack of pitching. But who isn't in the SWC?

The main offensive weapon for the Mustangs is Glynn Gregory. The tall senior from Abilene is considered to be the best prospect in the league.

In fact, Gregory has had many feelers from the major league teams. Gregory plays center field, catches, and sometimes plays first.

Ace lefthander Don Schmidt is the probable starting pitcher for TCU.

Hamilton, Jerry Mrazek, Nick Encke. Standing: Scott Magers, Don Williams, George Bradford.
