

Two Gals Selected To Succeed Males In Editor Positions

The old adage that "turn about is fair play" was invoked Tuesday afternoon as two women were chosen to succeed men in the editorships of both student publications.

Selected were Miss Lynn Swann, Atlanta junior, Skiff editor, and Miss Lynda Wolfe, Fort Worth sophomore, Horned Frog editor. Miss Swann's appointment is for the fall semester; Miss Wolfe will serve for the entire school year.

The two were chosen by the Student Publications Committee. Chairman of the committee is Dr. Comer Clay, professor of government.

Faculty members are Dr. D. Wayne Rowland, chairman of the journalism department; Dr. W. C. Nunn, professor of history; and Dr. Clyde Yarborough, chairman of the speech department.

Other Members

Other members were Amos Melton, assistant to the chancellor; L. C. White, business manager; Allen Eyler, Horned Frog editor; Jerry Johnson, Skiff editor; Miss Ruth Ann Kindiger, assistant Skiff editor; Denny Megarity, student body president-elect; Lewis Mondy, student body vice president; and Stan Read, student body vice president-elect.

Don Buckman, Fort Worth junior, and Miss Carol Lee, Lamesa sophomore, were other nominees for editor of the paper.

Joel Council, Fort Worth junior; Dean Angel, Alvarado junior, and Miss Janis Klinkseik, Overland Park, Kansas sophomore; were the other hopefuls for editor of the annual.

Sums Things Up

Miss Swann sums up the way she feels about her new position in one word: "Good!" She has been writing for The Skiff since her freshman year and served as amusements editor this year. Miss Swann also wrote two columns, "How 'Bout That" and "Musements." Last summer she interned on the Atlanta Journal, Georgia.

Miss Swann first became interested in journalism when she was a junior in high school. She took journalism "because the English teacher went around singing opera and I didn't feel I would learn any English."

Profs Attend UIL Meet As Observers

Four members of the faculty will be learning instead of teaching this weekend at the University of Texas.

A team of professors from Frogland will be observing the procedures of the 34th Annual State Meet of the University Interscholastic League, in preparation for a regional workshop to be held on campus next October.

The team includes Bill Sheridan of the journalism department; Dr. Karl Snyder of the English department; Dr. David Shore, mathematics; and David Matheny, speech.

Dr. Max R. Haddick, associate professor of journalism, will be a workshop leader during the convention.

One of the featured convention speakers will be Dr. Warren Agee of Chicago, national executive officer of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

Dr. Agee was chairman of the journalism department here for eight years, and was dean of the School of Journalism at West Virginia University for almost two and one-half years prior to taking the SDX post last November.

Skiff Assistant Editor Takes Publications Post This Fall

Miss Ruth Ann Kindiger, Era senior and assistant editor of The Skiff, plans to return to the University next fall, but in the capacity of an employe rather than of a student.

Miss Kindiger has been selected to be the assistant editor of "This Is TCU," the ex-students' publication. In addition, she will serve as director of the news bureau.

Her opportunity to put her major in journalism to use comes as a result of Mrs. Bobbye Barrett's leave of absence. Mrs. Barrett, editor of "This Is TCU," will continue in that capacity during her stay in California while her husband does research work at UCLA.

Miss Kindiger won two awards last year for her journalistic endeavors. The first was the Willard Ridings Writing Scholarship for having the best grades in journalism, and the other was "Most Valuable Female Reporter" on The Skiff. The latter award is presented annually by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Last summer she served as an intern on the Andrews County News.

Miss Kindiger, "who can't wait until September," plans to take a "vacation" and counsel at a girls' camp in New York this summer.

MISS RUTH ANN KINDIGER

Top TV, Newspaper Men To Speak at 'J' Banquet

Students who take their newspapers and radios for granted will have an opportunity to hear an accomplished representative from both of these fields at the Annual Journalism Awards and Headliner Banquet.

The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 12, in the Student Center Ballroom. Tickets are $2 and may be purchased at the Information Desk in the Student Center.

Bruce Palmer, news director of station KWTU, Oklahoma City, and Carl T. Rowan, one of the nation's most honored reporters and now Acting Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs in the Kennedy Administration, will share the rostrum on this year's program, according to Dr. D. Wayne Rowland, chairman of the journalism department.

30-year Veteran

Bruce Palmer, son of a Minnesota newspaperman, is a Missouri journalism graduate, a veteran of more than 30 years in journalism. He has worked for newspapers, the Associated Press, radio and television.

He was press attache with the U.S. Information Agency in Ceylon prior to becoming KWTU news director. He is immediate past president of the Oklahoma professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, and former director of the National Radio-Television News Directors Association.

Palmer has traveled more than 97,000 miles in six overseas trips during the past five years. He covered all three of President Eisenhower's history-making goodwill tours. KWTU is one of the few television stations which regularly present scheduled editorials.

Carl T. Rowan, is a soft-spoken but hard-hitting newsman who has broken barriers regularly in his career as a journalist, and now finds himself occupying a policy position in the State Department.

At 35 he is the only newspaperman to have won three successive annual medallions from Sigma Delta Chi. He was named "journalist of the year" in 1958 by the Capital Press Club in Washington. In 1959 he was cited by the National Conference of Christians and Jews "for outstanding contributions promoting the cause of good will and understanding . . . and bringing us nearer to the goal of the brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of God."

Last Concert Of Festival To Be Held

More than 100 students and faculty members will present the first Southwest performance of a famous Italian composition as the concluding concert in the three-week Fine Arts Festival.

The composition is "The Requiem Mass," written in 1808 by Luigi Cherubini, noted Italian composer.

The orchestra-choral concert will take place at 3 p.m., Sunday, May 7, in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The 40-piece University Symphony Orchestra and the 65-voice University Chorus will be under the direction of Dr. Ralph Guenther. David Streetman, choral director, has been rehearsing the Chorus for several weeks.

Admission will be free and the public is invited to attend, according to Dr. Guenther.

Rain, Shine; Band To Play

Come rain or shine the Horned Frog Band will have a concert, May 9, at 6 p.m.

Weather conditions will have some effect on the location of the concert, however. In case of rain—location will be in the Student Center Ballroom; Shine—the concert will be on the quadrangle.

Numbers for the concert include "1812 Festival Overture," by Tchaikovsky-Lake; "Brass Affaire," by John Cacavas and "Force of Destiny," by Verdi. Selected marches also will be played.

The concert is to be informal and similar to those the band plays each spring.

Semi-classical, musical marches and, perhaps, highlights from a musical will be played.

McCraw Selected 'Top SC Member'

John McCraw, Farmersville senior, was selected the "outstanding member" of the 1960-61 Student Congress Tuesday, on the basis of his accomplishments as election committee chairman this year.

It was announced that the recently elected new members will be initiated at the next meeting. Also a summary of the year's accomplishments will be presented to acquaint the new members with their responsibilities.

Newly elected Student Congress officers will meet Tuesday, May 16, to plan the agenda for the 1961-62 school year and to select the summer council members.

Jim Wright, Tyler junior, gave his final report of the year Tuesday as honor life chairman. According to Wright, improvements are still being made and, with the cooperation of the student body, will continue next year.

In discussing the year's accomplishments, the congressional relations committee listed the initiation of "Toad Talk", a newsletter for Congress, and the Activities Committee.

Student Congress plans to issue a scholarship to an undergraduate student during the 1961-62 school year. This will be the first such scholarship offered by Student Congress.

University Students Return From Dallas Ad Club Tour

Returning recently with aching muscles and blisters were ten University students who participated in the 1961 Alphonso Johnson Student Advertising Tour sponsored by the Dallas Advertising League.

Sixty-two students interested in advertising and related fields from seven Texas schools took one of five tours offered as an educational project by the League. Schools participating were Texas A&M, SMU, TWC, Texas, Baylor, NTSC, and TCU.

The financial tour took a group through the First National Bank and Tracy-Locke Company, Inc., an advertising agency. The industrial tour witnessed operations at Security Engineering Company and Don Baxter, Inc. Advertising Agency. Oak Farms Dairy and

New Curriculum Given Approval By Committee

The University Curriculum Committee approved two new government courses Tuesday.

Government 342bi will be an analysis and appraisal of the role of economic and other private groups in American politics.

Government 353, a graduate course, will be a systematic study of the constitutional, governmental and political problems of the lesser developed areas. According to Dr. August Spain, chairman of the government department, "the course will be useful in the education of students preparing to volunteer for the Youth Peace Corps." Dr. Spain added, "Although this will not be its only value, this is certainly one purpose it may serve."

The committee also approved a one semester course in individual instruction in the speech clinic.

A change in the minimum requirement for a minor in chemistry from 24 to 20 semester hours was made a matter of record by the committee at the request of the chemistry department.

During the afternoon meeting, the committee also adopted a one-year procedure for submitting curriculum proposals on an experimental basis.

Third TV Special To Be Presented

The department of speech will present the third hour-long TV special on KTVT at 12 noon on Saturday, May 6.

William Thompson, Longview senior, is the producer of the Telerama, "Dulce Et Decorum." Thompson has had previous experience in radio and television.

He plans to enter educational television, probably in production and eventually in management. He will work as a graduate assistant in TV at Syracuse University next year.

Miss Guenther To Present Recital

Miss Randie Guenther, Fort Worth freshman, will present a violin recital at 8:15 p.m. Monday, May 8, in the Little Theatre.

The program will include works by Mozart, Tartini, Saint-Saens and Bartok.

Miss Guenther, a music history major, is the daughter of Dr. Ralph R. Guenther, professor of music and director of the University Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Mary Weldon, Fort Worth freshman, will be piano accompanist.

Glenn Advertising were among the concerns visited by the consumer manufacturing tour; and Titcher-Goettinger Department Store and Bloom Advertising Agency drew those interested in retailing. Visiting Lone Star Gas Company and Erwin, Wasey, Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc. were those interested in utilities.

Don T. Griffin, and William F. Cunningham Jr. of the Dallas Advertising League were co-chairmen of the tours.

The entire group toured the Southland Life Insurance Company, WFAA-TV and Radio, and the Dallas Times Herald newspaper plant.

'Life Vows' Discussed At Chapel

"Samson's failure to live up to his vows and the parallel of life today," was the text of Tuesday's chapel sermon by the Rev. James A. Farrar.

The Rev. Farrar, director of campus religious activities, compared the Biblical character's defeat with the need today for creative leadership.

"Samson failed to realize the importance of his vows and to be the champion of his people," he remarked.

The Rev. Farrar then stressed the place of vows in Christian ethics and the need for vows to be constantly judged and renewed by God.

"Life has to be guided and disciplined," he said. "We must structure our lives as Christians by exchanging vows."

The trouble with most of us is that we'd rather be ruined by praise than saved by criticism.

Placement Bureau Lists Interviews

The following companies will be on campus to interview graduates during the week of May 8.

May 8—Charles Pfizer & Co., Inc.—liberal arts and business majors with a background in biology and chemistry.

May 8—Alcon Labs—Accounting majors with "B" averages.

May 12—Hartford Fire Insurance Co.—School of Business and liberal arts majors.

The time to relax is when you don't have it.

Band Fraternity Selects Officers

Arthur Hanna, Abilene sophomore, has been elected the new president of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity.

The new officers will be installed at the annual Horned Frog Band Banquet to be held May 16.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS: DEAR DR. FROOD:

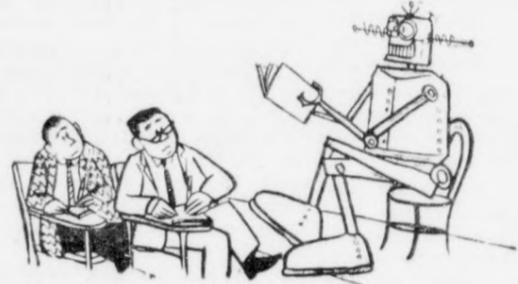

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: BEWARE OF SUBLIMINAL ADVERTISING!

LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE

Dear Dr. Frood: I've been reading a great deal about automated teaching devices. How long will it be before they come up with machines to replace professors?

Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: Just as soon as they get one that can rap the knuckles of a sleeping student, give humiliating answers to foolish questions and spring surprise tests whenever it happens to be in a bad mood.

Dear Dr. Frood: My problem is fat, stubby fingers. As a result, I am exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?

Fingers

DEAR FINGERS: Simply strap ordinary sewing needles along both of your index fingers. Now cup the Lucky pack in your hands, grasp the little red tab in your teeth, and yank. Next, place the pack on a flat surface and secure it between two unabridged dictionaries. Then, with the right-hand needle, carefully, carefully carve a one-inch-square opening at the top right-hand corner. Finally, place the points of the needles firmly against the sides of a Lucky and lift. That's all there is to it. A word of warning though: Try to be careful when shaking hands.

Dear Dr. Frood: In the four years I've been at this college I've done some pretty horrible things. I am guilty, for instance, of [redacted] into and around the home of Professor [redacted]. I'm also ashamed of [redacted] the Board of Regents, and completely [redacted] the campus policeman's [redacted]. But the worst thing I did was [redacted] after hiding all night in the [redacted]. Can I, in good conscience, even accept a diploma from dear old [redacted]?

DEAR [redacted]: You can if you send $500 in unmarked bills to Dr. Frood, Box 2990, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y. If you don't, I'll print your letter without the little black lines.

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you think it's wrong for a boy and girl to marry while they're still in school?

Soc. Major

DEAR SOC.: Yes, they should at least wait until recess.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL, says Dr. Frood. Or, more exactly, on the blackboard. It's appearing on college blackboards everywhere: "College students smoke more Luckies than any other regular." Why is this statement showing up on college blackboards? Because I am paying agents to put it there. For you must remember that Luckies are the cigarette with taste—the emphatic toasted taste. Try a pack of Luckies today.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

PO Numbers Too Long; Must Be An Easier Way

2911622687. No, it's not a convict's number at Sing Sing; it's just a post office box number. Perhaps this is a slight exaggeration, but remember the good ole days of box number one? Speaking of the "good ole days," remember the day when all boxes were eye level? Today, with four seconds until a 12 o'clock in the business building, it is impossible to run in and check the cob webs without the use of a step ladder. This leads to a good suggestion for next year's post office personnel. Before selling boxes, each person could be measured for a box which matches his height. Take a case in fact; the 7'11 3/4" boy who has the box on the bottom row, always gets upset when he finds people standing on his back to see in their 7'11 3/4" box on the top row. The real injustice comes when the boy leaves just as a letter is spied and some poor girl's arm is stuck far into a box. This, of course, leaves the coed suspended until some Boy Scout brings an orange crate to stand on. The age-old problem of buying a box still exists even with the new post office. A pitiful case occurred this fall when a poor, unsuspecting girl kindly gave an information blank to a person at the back of the waiting line. A near riot followed. There was pushing and shoving and people muttering with out-reached hands, "Gimme one too, huh". All this led to false accusations from the personnel who didn't know that the girl was only trying to do a good deed for the day. Many of these near mishaps and heartaches could be stopped permanently if the good old days of low boxes and short numbers would return.

'Theatre' Slates 2 Summer Plays

The Little Theatre will present two plays during the summer season, according to Dr. Walther R. Volbach, chairman of the department of theatre arts. Scheduled for July 12-15 is "The Mousetrap," a mystery drama by Agatha Christie, currently in its second year on Broadway. The play will be directed by Miss Dolores Tanner, instructor in theatre arts. Scheduled for Aug. 16-19 is "Years Ago," by Ruth Gordon, which appeared on Broadway several seasons ago. The play will be directed by Dr. Henry Ham-mack, professor of theatre arts.

June Workshop Set for Spanish

A Workshop in Spanish for elementary and high school teachers will be offered by the department of foreign languages during the first six-week summer term, June 5-July 14. "The Teaching of Modern Languages" will serve as the basic course in the workshop and will be taught by Dr. John H. Hammond, department chairman. Other courses offered will include "Conversation and Composition," taught by Professor Egidio Romanenghi, and "Modern Spanish Drama," by Dr. Hammond. Students of languages other than Spanish are eligible to enroll in the "Teaching of Modern Languages" and may receive credit in either French or German for the course. An advanced three-hour course will be offered during the second summer term, "German Literature of the Nineteenth Century."

Moudy To Present Student Awards

The last general faculty meeting of this year will be climaxed with the presentation of student fellowships by Dr. James M. Moudy, dean of the Graduate School. The meeting will be held in Dan D. Rogers Hall at 2 p.m. today. Dr. William J. Hammond, chairman of the history department; Dr. Marguerite Potter, professor of history; and Dr. Bita Mae Hall, professor of French, will present several phases of a proposal for centralizing foreign tours programs for TCU.

Now Hear This...

Library is 'Heart' of University

Does the University have a "heart?" Not heart in the colloquial sense of being charitable or unselfish, but heart in the sense of an educational center, one place that unifies the diverse schools and departments and makes the University more than a mob of people divided up into classes of composition and chemistry, philosophy and physical education.

If such a heart does exist, the most likely place to find it is the library. Where else can the students and faculty from all parts of the University discover both the mathematics of Einstein's Theory of Relativity and the heroic couplets of Alexander Pope? Dig through United States documents and study the Disciple's Collection?

Without the library what good would the rest of the University be? This great institution would be a rather hollow shell, dedicated to superficial knowledge.

Many students and instructors forget that the knowledge "given" to them in classes originally came out of the library through long hours of study and research.

A library, by definition, is books assembled "for use." The magic words are "for use." If there is one thing educators wish for students, it is that students use the library extensively, and that they carry a good deal of the "heart" of the University away with them, mentally, when they are graduated.

Russians Admit Problem

"Repetition of grades is very costly to our society. Many children experience emotional trauma upon failure of promotion; some of them drop out and never complete their schooling."

No, that isn't the famous child specialist Dr. Spock speaking, it's a Russian educator discussing the high rate of failure among Soviet school children in the "Current Digest of the Soviet Press."

"It is no secret, after all," he says, "that the rate of failure of pupils in individual subjects, especially in the Russian language and mathematics, is still high in our country. Every year more than one and one-half million children in the country's schools are not promoted."

It appears that the Russian educational system isn't quite as well off as newspapers and magazine articles have made it seem in recent years.

Of course, it's nothing to gloat over; but it is nice to find out, now and then, that the Soviet supermen are human.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"YOU'RE LATE AGAIN!"

BACK TALK

Silent, Yet Loud

By JERRY JOHNSON

This has been dubbed by many as the "Silent Generation."

The era of extreme conservatism where liberals no longer take to the soap boxes.

Liberals, for the first time in many years, are now answering the conservatives—not the other way around. This can be confirmed right here on campus. Earlier this year a Seminar on Race Relations was planned by a few liberals, but was vetoed by the rightists who feared the changing of existing practices.

This is not only the trend on this campus, but on campuses all across the nation.

At Yale, particularly, conservatism has the upper hand in campus thought. "The Calliopean Society," a group of conservatives, looks at intellectual life and sees itself in a "defender-of-the-faith" role—not as a political action group whipping up votes for anyone, but as a seedbed of conservative political philosophy.

For its ranks, it demands "good, hard intellectuals who can defend the conservative position. Battles are won by the ability to stand up and speak your piece boldly and well."

At Yale, and probably here, much can be attributed to Senator Barry Goldwater's conservatism. "Senator Goldwater is bringing out a conservatism long latent in college," says a Calliopean from Yale. "Here is a man suddenly saying the things we believe in. We're on the offensive now."

The conservatism shown at Yale, Harvard, Notre Dame, Ohio State, and even at TCU, is not merely political; this kind of thought preaches rugged individualism.

As Howard Phillips, student council president and head of the Harvard chapter of the nationwide Young Americans for Freedom, believes: "Ours is not a selfish conservatism. The main thing we're concerned with is the responsibility of the individual—recognition that the individual must solve our problems, that they are not to be left to government."

To be expected, Southern thought runs along the lines of conservatism also. At Birmingham-Southern, Professor Howard Harlan of the College of Arts and Sciences sees today's student conservatism not alone as political, but in terms of general attitudes.

"I get the impression most of them are 'organization men,'" he says. "They won't want to set the world on fire. There is no question in my mind that they are more conservative than in the 1930's. Most of these people have lived under a conservative administration; eight years with Kennedy might bring a change."

Perhaps when taking all this into consideration this should be called the "Silent, But Thinking, Generation."

Yea or Nay?

Dear Editor:

During the last student congress meeting there was much debate about the wisdom of buying two movie projector's. These projectors would be available for everyone's use, but still it was argued that we needed the money for various other projects. The cheerleaders would need some money; the intramural field would need some repairs. Finally after much protest it was agreed that the projectors should be purchased.

Then it was introduced that student congress should appropriate $150.00 for members of student congress to buy souvenirs to be given to themselves. This motion was passed and the very congressmen who before had stated that student congress needed the money for other projects were now big backers of this motion.

It seems to me that this appropriation for souvenirs for student congress members is not only in bad taste but is completely illegal, because the general student body gets no benefit from these souvenirs. Only certain private individuals benefit, but we students are paying for them. This is a practice that should be stopped and I hope that next year student congress will do so. That $150.00 of your money could be put to much better use.

Yours truly, Bill Smith

Dear Editor:

When tuition and fees at TCU are so expensive, it is a waste to spend $144 on "mementos". Yet, that is what Student Congress has voted to do.

At a recent meeting a representative from the Forums Committee came to ask for money to purchase some new movie equipment for "Flick Night." There was much debate as some felt that was a big step. The equipment costs $3,504. Bob Gaylord assured the members of Congress this could be taken from two funds, leaving Congress still well in the black. Some felt an intramural field more important. After a period of discussion, the motion passed to buy the equipment.

Then came a motion to buy "mementos" for all the members of Student Congress. The same representative who had fought against spending the money for the sound equipment now wanted to spend $144 for mugs for all those who had given so much time to the SC.

Members of Student Congress are not appointed. They are elected. They do not have to be on Congress. They ask the students to vote for them. They WANT to be a member. No one forces them to run for office. Then why, should they be given a "reward" for all the work they've done???

Foreign Land Attracts Fort Worth Senior Miss

The Eiffel Tower, Arch of Triumph and the gay lights of Paris have attracted another Texan to foreign shores.

She is Miss Annette Wiley, Fort Worth senior, who has accepted a Fulbright grant for 1961-62 to study French at the University of Aix-Marseille in Southern France.

She plans to leave for France in September.

Miss Wiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Wiley, 2528 Honey-suckle, Fort Worth, is a French major. She will receive her B.A. in May.

Some 900 grants for graduate study in 34 countries during 1961-62 have been awarded under the international educational exchange program of the U.S. Department of State.

Purpose of the Fulbright program is to promote better understanding between the people of the United States and the peoples of other nations.

This is the second Fulbright announced for the University this spring.

Fred Curtis Petty, also a Fort Worth senior, has received a grant to study French horn at the Academy of Music in Vienna.

Miss Wiley, who was valedictorian of her graduating class at Carter-Riverside High School, holds a valedictory scholarship at the University. She is president of the campus Delta Delta chapter of Pi Sigma Iota, national romance language society, and vice-president of the French Club, LeCercle Francais.

She also is active in the Methodist Student Movement and has been elected to membership in Alpha Chi, national honorary scholastic society.

Most Honorable Rickshaw Run Held Yesterday

Rickshaws in Fort Worth? Ahhh-so.

Five pledges and five actives of Delta Tau Delta pulled the two-wheeled carts to a drive-in restaurant in Forest Park yesterday.

The object? A coke date.

A representative of each of the sororities on campus took their respective positions Thursday in the two-wheelers and were trotted on down the road.

The coke date is part of a nationwide advertising campaign sponsored by the makers of the new toy rickshaws.

TCU isn't the only university to pick up the fad. Other schools are doing the same. In California on May 15, UCLA and USC will compete in a race.

Move over "Bed-Pushers," make room for the "Rickshaw-Runners."

URC Sponsors Banquet To Unite Religious Groups

The United Religious Council will sponsor a banquet on May 10, at 6:30 p.m., in the Student Center Ballroom in an effort to coordinate and integrate the religious organizations here. Members of all religious groups on campus are invited to attend.

URC is an organization to help promote co-operation among the various denominational groups and to co-ordinate the entire campus religious program.

New Book Racks Filled

Six hundred new titles fill three new paperback book racks at the University Bookstore, according to E. M. Moore, director.

The books, previously grouped by subject, are now being grouped by company. Covering every field, the books are published by Mentor, Doubleday, Dolphin, Meridian and Signet.

A new rack of Contemporary cards, including birthday and get well cards also is being offered at the bookstore.

Meal Tickets Run Low; Students Eat Out More

With meal tickets running low, students are turning more and more to eating out.

Near campus there are several dining places that feature a variety of dishes.

On Bluebonnet Circle, for instance, is Caro's. The owner, John (He seldom mentions his last name) will recite poetry in addition to serving Mexican food. John's favorite poem is "Gunga Din," which he emotes with a strong British accent—quite a contrast to his very non-British, black, handle bar mustache.

The Hong Kong, also on the Circle, follows the oriental theme in decor and specializes in Chinese dishes. The restaurant serves steaks and sea foods for those who prefer American dishes.

Another Chinese restaurant is Jimmie Dip's, located near the campus on University Drive.

Pancakes Served

Across from Jimmie Dip's is the Pancake House, marking a new trend in American eating fads. The Pancake House offers a variety of pancakes that range from "plain ole" potato to exotic Swedish.

El Chico's, at 2859 W. Berry, is a favorite of students here. For slightly more than $1 they can get a full meal, served in the Mexican atmosphere of the building just remodeled during summer vacation.

Petta's, located on the Circle, specializes in Italian food. The small restaurant has an atmosphere of the "Old Country" with its dim lighting and vines from the ceiling.

Students Order Food

When students don't want to leave the comfort of their dorms (as the ads read), they often phone for food. Petta's will deliver Italian dishes, while the Speedy Chick sends fried chicken dinners.

On Sundays, Colonial Cafeteria is filled with students returning from church. Other nearby places to eat include Giuseppe's, a new Italian restaurant on Berry Street; Carlson's, the drive-in where "everybody" goes after dates; and the Toddle House, a favorite of boys late at night. For a more exclusive date, students often go to the Farmer's Daughter, a branch of Cattleman's Steak House.

But the most frequently visited eating establishment around these parts is still the TCU cafeteria. Although people complain that "It's not like mother used to make," most students look pretty well fed—ask any dieting coed.

Fine Arts Clinic Set for Summer

High school students will invade the campus this summer as they attend the annual Fine Arts Workshop.

To be held June 11-23, it is conducted for students in grades 9-12 who are interested in band, ballet, orchestra, speech-theatre and twirling-drum.

"The clinic is conducted each year to encourage school musicians and speech students to continue their participation in these activities during the summer months," said Dr. Lawrence A. Hanley of the music faculty and general chairman of the event.

IDA JANE MORRIS

Student's Work Hangs in Show

Thirty minutes after Miss Ida Jane Morris' painting was turned down for the TCU student art show, it was accepted for the Texas Fine Arts Association show.

Miss Morris originally had named her painting, "The Death of Baby Doe Tabor." Feeling that this title wasn't "glamorous enough," Miss Morris changed it to "Shangri-La" minutes before she entered it. "My only problem," she laughed, "was that I misspelled 'Shangri-La.'"

The painting, which features a mountain scene, will be on display from May 8-29. A reception following the opening will be held at the Fort Worth Art Center, 1309 Montgomery, at 8 p.m.

The show draws professional and amateur artists from ten countries with the winning pieces appearing in the Austin show.

Miss Morris, Fort Worth sophomore, is an art major. Her instructors are Miss Maude Gatewood and McKie Trotter, both on the art faculty here.

TCU and Prep Students Join

'Cinderella' To Be Danced

The fantasy of "Cinderella" has been converted to a three-act ballet which will be presented here May 12-13.

The evening performances, beginning at 8 p.m., and a 2 p.m. matinee Saturday, will be held in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Dancers include members of the University's division of ballet as well as youngsters enrolled in the ballet preparatory workshop. David Preston, director of the division of ballet, is choreographer and director.

Miss Apier—Cinderella

Michele Apier, enrolled in the preparatory school, will dance the role of Cinderella, the cruelly-treated girl who finds her prince charming.

From the University corps are step sisters, Kathy Heiser, Cleveland, Ohio sophomore, and Aubrey Bell, Greenwood, Miss. junior. Linda Meisner, Fort Worth sophomore, will dance the part of the selfish step mother. Steward of the Slipper is Johnny Simons, Fort Worth junior.

Miss Susan Stout, Joplin, Mo. junior, will present a court dance in addition to the three-act ballet.

College is a foundation of learning where everyone comes to drink.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets are available in the School of Fine Arts office.

Students Give Shows

University ballet students gave studio productions Wednesday evening in the Little Theatre.

Johnny Simons choreographed "Adventures in a Perambulator," a pantomime based on a Biblical story. "The Hunted?" was choreographed and danced by Miss Maggi Moar, Albuquerque, N.M. senior. Miss Georgia Ehly's ballet was "Triangle," and Mrs. Sylvia Hyde, New York senior, presented "Pictures at an Exhibition." Robert Sessions, Fort Worth senior, directed a pantomime, "The Dall Maker."

Contest Begins To Choose Queen

Any attractive and intelligent University coed may enter!

Schools in this area have entered candidates in the National College Queen Contest, and TCU is challenged to compete.

The competition is a search for "the nation's most attractive and most intelligent college girl." Only 50 per cent of the judging will be based on appearance, charm and personality. The other 50 per cent will be based on the student's scholastic record, her campus activities, hobbies and civic interests.

Application blanks may be secured by writing to: National College Queen Contest Committee, Paramount Building, 1501 Broadway, New York 36, N.Y.

Coeds may enter themselves or fraternities, sororities, classmates and other organizations may nominate the girl of their choice.

Some lucky girl from this area will be named a regional winner and will be given a free trip to New York City to participate in the colorful National College Queen Pageant. She may win $5,000 in prizes.

The National College Queen will receive a two-week trip to Europe, an Austin Healey Sprite sports car, a Smith-Corona electric portable typewriter and many other awards, such as a diamond ring.

The entry deadline is May 20th.

Discussion is an exchange of intelligence. Argument is an exchange of ignorance.

Celebrity Breakfast Honors Famous 'Powder Puff' Pilots

Cape Canaveral may be attracting the nations' attention with its first astronaut, but Fort Worth will have its own space celebrities Saturday.

Fort Worth's chapter of Theta

Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity for women, will hold its fourth celebrity breakfast May 6, at 10 a.m. in the Hotel Texas.

Theme of the event is "Inside Outer Space," featuring a panel of first ladies in aviation. Members of the panel include Jerrie Cobb, first woman to qualify for a space flight, Dr. Dora Dougherty, holder of three world records for women helicopter pilots, Edna Gardner Whyte, holder of more trophies for competitive flying than any other woman, and Dorthe Ann Horton, designer of aircraft interiors.

The four will be interviewed at the breakfast.

The Fort Worth chapter has been honored by the national organization for its work with student chapters at Texas Woman's University and North Texas. At present the group is assisting in starting a local chapter at TCU.

Seven members of the campus J. Willard Ridings Press Club plan to attend the breakfast.

Ad Fraternity Initiates Six Men

Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity, initiated six new members last Tuesday night in Dan D. Rogers Hall.

Dr. D. Wayne Rowland, chairman of the journalism department, was initiated as co-sponsor of the group. Jim Lehman, assistant public relations director, is head sponsor of ADS.

Other initiates are Robert Baker, Fort Worth junior; William Bonds, Fort Worth junior; Wayne Gattis, Wichita Falls junior; Kenneth Williams, Houston sophomore; and Dennis Schick, Fort Worth junior.

Carl Larkin, Fort Worth sophomore and ADS president, reported to the group on the National ADS Convention held in Minneapolis 28-30 April. Lehman accompanied Larkin on the trip.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 16, when election of officers for the fall semester will be held.

Kight To Receive Scholarship Key

Charles W. Kight IV, Fort Worth senior, will be awarded the Hutchinson Scholastic Key of the campus chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

The award will be given at a meeting of the organization's Mother's Club at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 6, in the chapter room.

The nationally-sponsored award is given in each active chapter to the undergraduate member who achieves a scholastic average higher than the all-men's average on campus and who makes the greatest improvement in scholarship during the year.

A special pledge scholarship key will be presented to Gary C. Dobbs, Fort Worth freshman, who maintained the highest scholastic average during his pledge-ship.

The presentations will be made by Dr. Sandy Wall of the School of Education, faculty sponsor of the fraternity.

One of the best investments you'll ever make...

You know what you invest in advanced ROTC . . . two years of classroom time and outside study.

But just see how handsomely your investment pays off

First and foremost, there's the proud moment in Graduation Week when the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant are pinned on your Army uniform . . . and deep inside the warm sense of accomplishment at having made it.

There's immediate help in meeting expenses

. . . a subsistence allowance of $535 for the two-year advanced ROTC course. Uniforms and military textbooks paid for. $117 for your six-week summer camp training, plus travel allowance. And when you're commissioned, a $300 uniform allowance.

You discharge your military obligation with the traditional rank, pay, privileges and responsibilities of an officer in the United States Army.

And later, when you're starting your climb up the civilian ladder, advanced ROTC will still be paying off. Success in the executive areas of business and industry comes earlier and more substantially to the man who can lead. Few are born leaders; but leadership can be learned. And advanced ROTC is a great place to learn it.

Talk with the Professor of Military Science at your school. Learn more about advanced ROTC. Ask particularly about the ROTC course in Leadership, with its practical experience in command responsibilities.

Southwest
Conference Corral

By TIM TALBERT

Notes about tennis, golf and baseball stars around the Southwest Conference:

Tennis coach Ken Crawford deserves a little recognition for the good job he has done this year. Last year's team had a record of 2-34. This year's squad has compiled a 7-19 slate which is a strong improvement over last year.

The netters are in fifth place behind league leading Texas in the Southwest Conference chase.

Crawford is the tennis pro at Ridglea Country Club. He was Southwest Conference singles champion while at SMU in 1945, 48-49.

The TCU doubles team of Paul Lozuk-Roy Persons are lodged in the loop's sixth place in matches won with a 2-1 record. The SMU twosome of Willie Wolf-Tommy Howorth are currently leading the league in doubles play with a 4-0 slate.

Two more conference matches are scheduled for the netmen this year. Both are away from the friendly confines of Ridglea Country Club. On May 5, they travel to College Station to play A&M. Then on May 6, the netters journey to Houston to do battle with the Rice Owls.

After a second place finish last year, the golf team has fallen to sixth place this year. What has been a mystery all year popped up again last week when the linksmen played Texas Tech in Lubbock. They have not been able to win away from their home course all year.

Week before last, the golfers licked defending champ and league leading Texas A&M, 3½-2½ at Ridglea. Then they followed the next week losing to second place Tech, 1-5 in Lubbock.

Mike Walling of TCU is in sixth place in match play. Walling has a record of 3½-1½. The leader Ralph Johnston of A&M has a spotless 4-0 record.

Walling has teamed with Nick Encke to be in a tie for first place among the four ball leaders. They are tied with Chris Blocker and David Moody of Tech and Mack Strother-Sonny Wright of SMU with 2-0 records.

The 1961 individual golf championship in the SWC appears to be a race between Tech's Chris Blocker and two of the returning tri-champions from last year, Tery Dill of Texas and John Lively of A&M. Of course, not to be counted out is Ralph Johnston, also of A&M.

TCU's best bet in the individual medalist race lies between Jack Montgomery and Mike Walling. Walling was 13th last year, and a year's experience could give him a slight edge over the sophomore Montgomery. TCU's last individual champ was Don Masengale in 1958.

The best pro baseball prospect in the league is Glynn Gregory from SMU. This talented youngster takes time out from his studies in the fall to play a little football, then comes spring time, he plays a little baseball.

Gregory is a former all-state halfback in football and was an all-state catcher for Abilene in his high school days.

Come this June, he will be listening to offers from both Dallas pro football teams and a number of pro baseball teams. Gregory favors baseball though and will probably sign a pretty fancy contract.

He started out as a catcher, then switched to centerfield and is now playing first base. The 6-2, 200 pound athlete has a good eye, speed and adequate arm, plus good reflexes.

SAE David Redford reaches first base safely as Sigma Chi first baseman Jim Wallace anxiously awaits the throw. Redford blasted a game-tying home run in the seventh inning as SAE defeated Sigma Chi, 10-9, Tuesday at Forest Park.

SAEs Tighten Grip With 10-9 Victory

Defending champion Sigma Alpha Epsilon (SAE) took a big step toward their second consecutive fraternity intramural softball championship Tuesday by downing Sigma Chi, 10-9, at Forest Park.

Willard Reynolds hurled the entire game to chalk up his tenth victory without a defeat over a two-year span.

SAE won on the strength of a seven run last inning rally. Trailing 3-9 in the bottom of the seventh, the defending champs fought back as David Redford knotted the score with a bases empty home run. This set the stage for some last minute heroics by Dwight Berry and Jimmy Pair.

Berry walked, advanced to second on an error and moved to third on a passed ball. Then Pair lofted a long sacrifice fly to right field to score Berry and win the ball game.

The victory left the SAEs with a 4-0 record and a tight grip on the league lead. Sigma Chi now owns a 2-2 slate and is lodged in a third-place tie with the Phi Deltas.

The Delts moved into a second place tie by defeating the Lambda Chis, 5-3, on the intramural field. Bob Koberg went the route on the mound for the winners.

Tuesday's action left the Delts and Phi Kaps in the runner-up spot with identical 2-1 marks. Lambda Chi dropped to seventh at 1-2.

Two Tough Foes Face TCU Netters

Frog netmen travel south this weekend to complete their SWC season against Texas A&M Friday in College Station and Rice Saturday at Houston.

TCU stands 7-17 in conference play and 6-8-1 overall for the season.

The match with the Aggies could decide the success or failure of the TCU net season. Coach Ken Crawford set his eyes on a fourth place finish early in the season. The Frogs need to take all six matches to insure a tie for fourth.

Coach Crawford feels his team's chances are pretty good. "The Aggies have not won a conference match this season and we should be able to win all six from them," he said. "If we do and then take a couple from Rice we can say we've had a successful season."

Crawford also announced he was sending two netmen, Captain Paul Lozuk and Earl Van Zandt, to the SWC tournament in Houston next weekend.

"Lozuk and Van Zandt have been our best tennis players this season and if they play up to their capabilities they should make a fine showing," he said.

Linksmen Try Bears At Ridglea

Fighting to finish in the first division of the SWC golf scramble, the Frogs take on Baylor's hard charging Bears at 1:30 p.m. today at the Ridglea Country Club.

TCU has a 17-19 conference record and Baylor owns a 16-14 mark.

Coach Tom Prouse expects the match to be close and feels that "the breaks will decide the winner." "Man for man the teams are about even, but I think we can beat the Bears," he continued.

Longhorns May Find Frogs in Bad Mood

Playing the University of Texas in Austin as the Frog baseball team is doing this weekend ranks third behind diving off tall buildings and flying with the X-15.

Statistics prove this to be true. The team will have some long standing arguments with Texas, however, and may be in an angry mood.

The last time a TCU baseball team beat the Longhorns in Austin was in 1956 when the Frogs swept a two game series. And the last time TCU whipped Texas in Fort Worth was in 1956. 1956, by the way, was the last time a Purple baseball team won the Southwest Conference title.

Out of 80 games played in Austin with the University of Texas, TCU has won 13. In fact, of the 57 games played in Fort Worth, the Frogs have won 15.

Steers Lead Series

So, the Texas-TCU baseball rivalry which began in 1897 stands somewhat in the favor of the Longhorns. Of a total of 142 games played, Texas has won 117, the Frogs 41 and two games have ended in ties.

The Austin nine coached by Bibb Faulk is riding atop the conference race with an 8-0 record, and has the hitting and pitching to carry the Longhorns into the NCAA play-offs later this month.

Five Longhorns are hitting well over .300. Second baseman Phil Hipps is leading the Orange with a .455 average. Hipps is followed by Shortstop Bill Bethea with a .375; third baseman Pat Rigby, .375; another infielder David Skinner, .350; and outfielder Chuck Knutson with a .333.

Both starting pitchers from last year's championship team, Tom Belcher and Bob Callaway are back this year along with Tery Jackson. Callaway has won three games this year and has a 3.75 earned run average. Belcher and Jackson have 2-0 records with Belcher sporting the best ERA with 1.88. Jackson has a 3.75.

Rabbit McDowell's team is out of the conference race with a 4-5 slate, but if any team is in a mood to be the spoiler in the league or help another team into the league lead, it's the Frogs.

The squad has a number of

Frog Hitters

.300 hitters of its own. Left Fielder Cliff Justice is pacing the batsmen with a mean .462. Another outfielder, Buddy Iles, is second with a .429 followed by the slugger himself third baseman Leon Baze with a .412. First sacker Don Reynolds rounds out the Frog heavy hitters with a .353.

Baze is league leader in home runs with seven. His nearest competitor is Byron Barber of A&M with five. Baze trails Hipps of Texas in RBI's by one; Hipps has 16, Baze 15.

TCU also can boast of having the pitcher with the best earned run average in the league. Tommy Boyd has a sparkling 1.29 ERA, with one conference victory and no losses. Don Schmidt is the busiest pitcher in the league, Schmidt has a 3-2 record in conference play.

Starting Pitchers

The probable starting pitchers should be Belcher and Callaway for Texas and Schmidt and Boyd for TCU.

The two-game series should be a wild run-producing affair. TCU has a team batting average of .320 while Texas has a .378. The Frogs have pushed across 75 runs on 104 hits in conference play. The Longhorns have 93 runs on 122 hits.

In other games around the conference, A&M attempts to stop hard hitting Baylor third baseman Ronnie Goodwin in College Station Friday and Saturday. All Goodwin is hitting is a .619. On Saturday, Rice and SMU tangle in a double header in Houston.

Frogs Sign Discus Star

"And it came to pass in the year of 1961, Texas Christian University lured from such track powers as Baylor, Texas and ACC a schoolboy who can throw the discus, put the shot and hurl the javelin."

Ray Ragland from Killeen is the prospect concerned.

He has whirled the discus 169-8¼ for the best distance by any schoolboy in the state regional meets. He won the Dallas Invitational Track Meet with a throw of 162-9¼, out-distancing his nearest rival by some 12 feet, last week.

Last year he placed third in the state shot put and failed by three-quarters of an inch to place this year. That isn't all.

The muscular young man also plays center on the football team.

With the Frogs' big track problem all year a noticeable shortage of points in the weight events Ragland should provide some much needed strength.
