Information and filing forms for fall elections may be obtained starting Oct. 2 at the information desk in the Student Center.

Election of class officers, freshman representatives to Student Congress and the '61 Homecoming Queen will be held Tues. Oct. 18.

Qualification for class president is a 2.2 grade average. Freshman candidates may not be on academic probation.

Queens Complete Hours

Homecoming Queen nominees must have completed 73 semester hours and have a grade point average of 2.0 or higher. There will be no campaigning for Homecoming Queen and the results of the voting will not be disclosed until the Homecoming pep rally.

At the filing meeting, 5 p.m. Oct. 4, each candidate will present a filing fee of $10 to the election chairman. This fee is refundable at the end of elections if the candidate's campaign complies with all election rules.

Posters must be stamped Oct. 15. They may not be put up before 5 p.m. and each candidate will be limited to four posters. These shall not exceed 3 by 6 feet or 18 square feet and anything as large as 8' by 10' shall be considered a poster.

Posters will not be allowed on the inside of any building or on Memorial Arch. Posters may be placed within the large quadrangle in front of the Student Center and in the area bounded by University Drive on the west and Rogers Hall on the east.

Paper Provided

The Container Corporation of Fort Worth is providing free poster paper for the campaign which will be distributed by Student Congress.

At the election rally Oct. 17, candidates for class presidents will have the opportunity to state their platforms.

Voting will be on Oct. 18 and the runoff Oct. 20. Voting boxes will be located in the Student Center, Business Building, Science Building, Fine Arts Building, Education Building, the cloister of the Undergraduate Religion Building and Harris Hall. These polls will be open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Cards Presented

Activity cards must be presented to the election officials before voting. Students who were not issued activity cards will be permitted to vote only in the Student Center polls where they will be required to sign a register.

Determination of winning candidates will be decided by a clear majority in the primary. A run-off election will be held if no candidate for a particular office has a clear majority in the primary. The number of candidates chosen for the run-off shall be twice the number to be elected for that office.

President of Midwestern To Address Convocation

Dr. Travis White, president of Midwestern University and 1932 graduate of the University, will speak at the fall convocation, 11 a.m., Oct. 5, in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The traditional convocation will feature the academic procession of the faculty in caps and gowns with Dr. Ben Procter, assistant professor of history, and Dr. Jim W. Corder, assistant professor of English, marshals.

Presenting the Borden Award to the outstanding freshman of 1960-61 will be Dr. Frank Hughes, dean of the School of Fine Arts.

Amos W. Melton, assistant to the chancellor, will preside with Dr. James M. Moudy, dean of the Graduate School, delivering the invocation and Dr. Elmer Henson, dean of Brite College, pronouncing the benediction.

Special music will be presented by Miss Linda Loftis, Fort Worth senior and 1962 Miss Texas, with Emmet Smith, assistant professor of organ, accompanying. Choral director Bev Henson will lead the singing of the Alma Mater.

MISS DOROTHY SHULER

Thomas Named Battle Commander

Billy Thomas, Killeen senior, has been appointed battle group commander for the Army ROTC. Thomas, a cadet lieutenant colonel will be in command of the 75 Army cadets in the corps.

Assisting Thomas are Cadet Majors Leo Watkins, deputy battle group commander, and Jon Jewell, battle group executive officer.

Staff officers are Cadet Capt. Don Boswell, Bobby Cloud, Robert Baker and Gene Atkinson. Cadet Capt. Herman McArthur commands the corps leadership academy.

Headquarters Co., the band, is headed by Cadet Capt. Jon Kindred. Other company commanders are Cadet Capt. Max Perkins, A Co.; Don Graham, B Co.; Alfred Heizer, C Co.; and James Whitehead, D Co.

Greeks Greet Pledges In Visiting Ceremony

"How do you do," and handshaking were the most popular activities in the fraternity chapter rooms of Milton Daniel Dorm as pledge lines began. Sept. 24 and Oct. 1 are the days the sorority pledges visit the fraternities.

A yearly event, the activity furnishes the Greeks a chance to become acquainted and plan some happenings for the coming year. This year the women are visiting the men.

Five Added To Faculty

New faces are still being added to the faculty.

Among some of this fall's appointments is Miss Dorothy Shuler, assistant dean of women. She is replacing Dr. Jo Ann James who is now dean of women.

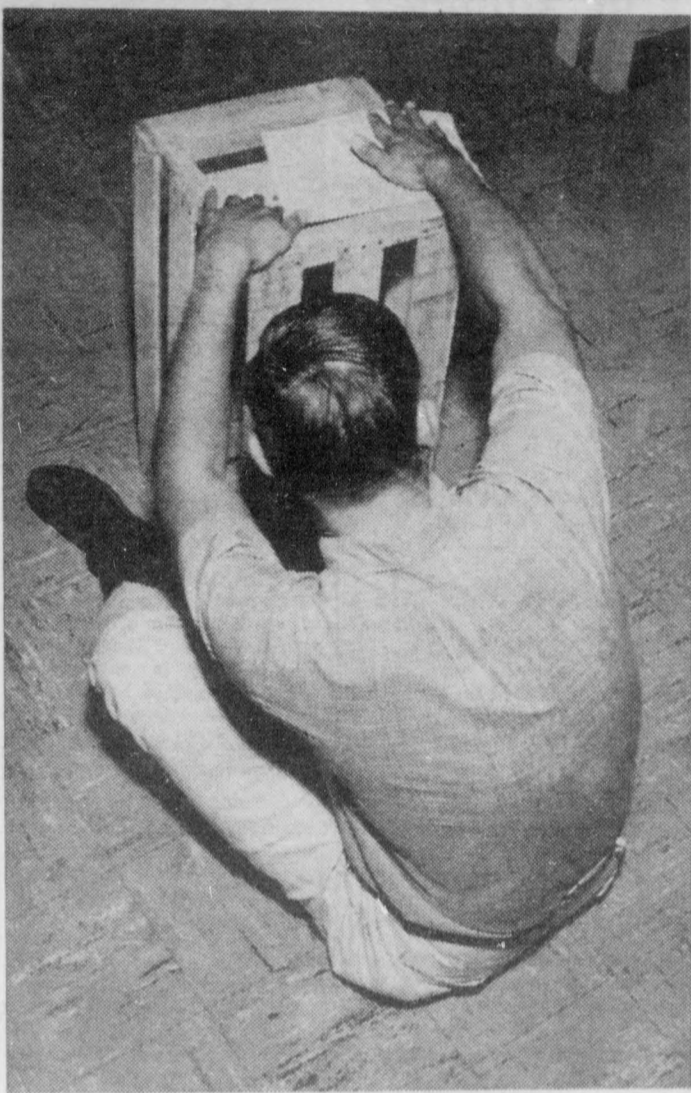

Recent appointments have expanded the faculty even further, with the addition of three professors, a new librarian and a replacement director of the news bureau.

Two new professors have been added to the foreign language department. They are Mrs. Viola G. Herr, who will be assistant professor of French and German, and Werner Pegg, who will be an instructor in German.

Miss Bettjean Richter, who comes here from Rutgers, will be assistant professor of mental health and psychiatric nursing in Harris College of Nursing.

Miss Ruth Ann Kindiger, BA '61, has been named acting director of the News Bureau in the Public Relations Department. She is taking over for Mrs. Bobbye Barratt who is on a leave of absence. Miss Kindiger was assistant Skiff editor last year.

Mrs. Martue H. Greenwood will be assistant catalog librarian in Mary Coats Burnett Library.

It isn't too early to start sanding the soapbox, making posters or writing speeches, because filing for campus offices opens Oct. 2. Election day is Oct. 18.

Little Theatre Opens Year With 'Joan of Arc' Drama

The department of theatre arts will present its first drama production of the 1961-62 season at 8 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 26.

"Joan of Arc" will be presented in the Little Theatre under the direction of Dr. Walther R. Volbach, chairman of the department.

Other production dates are 8 p. m. Oct. 28 and Nov. 1-4. Two special closed performances will be given in connection with the annual meeting of the Southwest Theatre Conference on Oct. 27 and 28.

Dr. Volbach adapted the play from the German manuscript, "Jeanne d' Arc" by Max Mell. The original translation of the play was done by Megan Laird Comini, an SMU graduate student.

"Mell was not the first to use Joan of Arc for a play," Dr. Volbach said, "but he found a new approach. His drama deals with the effect Joan's fate had on two other characters."

Sets will be designed by Henry E. Hammack, technical director of theatre arts, with costumes by Dolores Tanner.

Barnes, Hammond, Indiana, and Jamie Greenleaf, Fort Worth special student.

Credit Due Men Called By Military

The University has announced a policy giving academic credit to students who may be called into the armed forces during the school year.

This policy, now in effect, is the same one used during World War II and the Korean conflict. Students called to service prior to mid-semester, either by induction or recalled as a member of the National Guard or reserve, will be given a pro-rated tuition refund.

Those called into service after mid-semester, will be given full credit for all courses in which they are making a passing grade. Under this ruling, a student may be called to duty after the ninth week of his final semester, and still graduate in absentia.

Fifty students, mostly from day school, already have been recalled, reported Registrar Calvin Cumbie.

To apply for a draft deferment, a student must fill out a form in the registrar's office, from which a Form 109 will be filled out by the registrar's office and sent to the draft board. The registrar's office reports that the number of deferment applicants is about five times greater this fall than previously.

Seniors Receive Second Chance

Seniors and graduates have another chance!

Deadline for senior and graduates' yearbook pictures has been extended one week due to the small number of students who have been in for sittings.

Oct. 7 is the new deadline for seniors and graduates; Oct. 14 for juniors; Oct. 28, sophomores; and Nov. 4, freshmen and faculty members.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Orgain, photographers, have urged students to report now for pictures and avoid the rush always just before deadlines. Orgain's temporary studio is located in the east end of Building 2, behind the Science Building.

A charge of $2.50 for seniors provides for two sittings, one in cap and gown and the other in street clothes. All other students and faculty members will be charged $1.50.

All men are required to wear coats and four-in-hand ties.

Air Force 2nd Lt. James E. Packer, left, and his instructor discuss a history-making flight in a T-38 supersonic trainer. Packer, a '59 graduate of the University, was the first student to fly the plane.

TCU Grad Ushers In New Flight Era

A former TCU student made aviation history last week by receiving basic pilot training while flying at supersonic speeds.

Air Force 2nd Lt. James E. Packer, who logged his first hours of flight time while a member of the TCU Flying Club, made the now-famous flight in a T-38 "Talon" aircraft at Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Packer received his Air Force commission in 1959, via TCU's AFROTC program. He has been awarded a bachelor's degree in mathematics and a master's degree in English from the University.

The "Talon" is the first supersonic plane specifically designed to serve as a pilot trainer, and is now currently undergoing final testing prior to acceptance in the Air Force Command's ATC all-jet training program in the spring of 1962.

Lt. Packer's flight is actually one of many to be made by young Air Force officers who formerly held positions on the ground. The men are being given pilot training in response to an ATC directive to "qualify non-rated officers to perform the duties and assume the responsibilities of a rated pilot."

Packer was a member of the Horned Frog Band while a TCU student and was selected in 1957 as the Chicago Tribune's outstanding sophomore in the AFROTC program at the University. He was cited by the Air Force Association in his junior year.

Lt. Packer is married to the former Miss Paula Gene Buckner of Winters. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli B. Packer, live at 141 Clover Lane in Fort Worth.

Pegg Joins Language Department in German

A new face in the University's foreign language department this fall is Werner Pegg, who has been appointed instructor in German by President D. Ray Lindley.

Pegg, a native of Erlangen, Bavaria was graduated from high school in Killeen. He received his B. A. from the University of Texas and his M. A. from the University of Colorado.

'Inside' Stories

Plunge, Alimony, Toe Make News in Summer

By DENNIS SCHICK

Nearly everyone reads the front-page headlines at least — but how many people read the "inside stories? Here are a few odd items that appeared as stories during the summer. You may have missed them.

Niagara Falls Integrated

A 30-year-old New York Negro, acting on a "lover's dare", plunged 168 feet over Niagara Falls in a rubber and steel ball. He was immediately arrested for "demonstrating in Niagara Park." Thus he became only the fifth person in history to survive the plunge, and the first surviving Negro.

Man Denied Alimony

A Los Angeles commissioner ruled that the actress wife of an unemployed man did not have to pay him alimony even though she made more than he did. The man's lawyer argued that a woman's present status of equality before the law makes her subject to the same alimony requirements as men.

Little Toe Must Go

A Texas doctor reported that women's sore feet, caused by modern pointed-toe high-heel shoes, can be greatly relieved by "painlessly" removing a portion of the little toe. The partial amputation is relatively simple and quick healing, and is "the only solution for women who want to remain stylish AND comfortable."

A new fad among Fort Worth teen-agers seems to be airplane glue sniffing. An investigation led to the discovery of a "drunk" teenager who had been sniffing the glue to get "way out."

Go West, Young Woman

Figures were released showing that western states had a higher per cent of increase of marriages in 1960 over 1959. California was up 4.0, Oregon up 4.2, Utah up 6.9 and Idaho up 10.5. Don't go north. Montana was down 5.5, N. Dakota down 5.7, Wisconsin down 4.2 and Oklahoma down 4.8. Texas? Down by 0.6.

Now that you are all caught up with these gems of information, maybe you'll be more cautious about reading the "whole newspaper." How about starting with this issue of The Skiff?

Gets Silver Wings

Miss Susan Ludwig, an ex-student of the University, has been awarded the silver wings of an American Airlines stewardess. A Fort Worth native, Miss Ludwig is assigned to flight duty out of Los Angeles.

Frat Chapter Gets Decree

Williams College's chapter of Beta Theta Pi, national fraternity, recently was served an injunction by its national headquarters prohibiting it from initiating 20 new members.

This action took place after the headquarters became concerned about William's system of "total opportunity." It guarantees that every undergraduate wishing to pledge a fraternity will be given a bid by at least one of the 15 groups on campus.

Most sororities and fraternities feel this as a threat to their basic idea, that of being private organizations, and as such, have the right to decide who shall and shall not join.

Freedom of choice is a basic right says the Greeks who feel the 'rushes' have just as much choice in accepting invitations as in turning them down.

Award Will Go To Cabin Writer

A $600 scholarship will be given a graduate student in history who writes the best research paper on the log-cabin phase of history.

The grant was made available to the school by the North Texas Advertising Co., Inc. Company president W. A. Schmid Jr., made the presentation.

Schmid, also president of Pioneer Heritage Foundation of Texas, said that log cabins in this area are being destroyed by fire or neglect. He pointed out that one of the foundation's purposes is to preserve these cabins in a reconstruction project in Forest Park.

When the park project is completed, it will be turned over to the city. Nearly $100,000 is being raised to preserve and reconstruct the cabins.

It is hoped that the interest created by the grant will help the park project, Schmid emphasized.

★ Blue Genes Yet!!

Dr. George D. Hendricks, North Texas English professor, contributes these specimens from themes:

"My girl friend and I have a play tonic love" . . . "It has been said that money is the route of all evil" . . . "The sick child was given a very strong anecdote" . . . "There I stood, just a small boy with bare feet and faded blue genes . . ."

Phi Kaps Win Trophy In Grade Competition

For the third consecutive semester, Phi Kappa Sigma has won the E. J. Firkins scholarship trophy by having the top scholastic average of all fraternities on campus. The average is based on a combination of pledges and actives' grades. This will also mean that the fraternity will receive an award from its national office.

Williams College's chapter of Beta Theta Pi, national fraternity, recently was served an injunction by its national headquarters prohibiting it from initiating 20 new members. The action took place after national became concerned about Williams' system of "total opportunity," which guarantees that every undergraduate wishing to pledge a fraternity will be given a bid by at least one of the 15 groups on campus.

ADPi, Kappa Delta Send Delegates to Meetings

Alpha Delta Pi and Kappa Delta held their national conventions this summer, at Pasadena, Calif., and Roanoke, Va., respectively.

TCU was well represented at both conventions. Tahita Niemeyer, Lamesa junior; Judy Carlisle, Birmingham, Ala. senior; Mary Slaughter, Dallas junior; and Anna Lou O'Malley, Fort Worth senior, attended the Alpha Delta Pi Convention. They were gone 15 days. The group visited Disneyland and Hollywood. "We really took the scenic route," said Tahita.

Nancy Orr, Tyler junior, received a silver tray for having written one of the top three essays in the nation on "What

ADPi Means To Me."

Representing Kappa Delta from TCU were Caroline Penn and Janelle Buchanek, graduates, Lynn Swann, Atlanta, Ga.; Sue Stuter, Dallas, and Jackie Gregory, Fort Worth, all seniors.

Meeting from June 23-27, the sessions were held at the Roanoke Hotel. The TCU chapter won a progress award, given for scholarship, campus prestige, leadership, and chapter efficiency.

Four of the girls drove to and from the convention together, visiting New Orleans, Williamsburg, Florida, Atlanta, and Washington, D. C.

It's a great life, if you don't week-end.

Dallas Junior Gets Position

Miss Stephanie Schermerhorn, Dallas junior, is president of Panhellenic this fall. The position fell to Miss Schermerhorn when the past president, Miss Susan Bann, Texarkana junior, did not return to school this fall.

Acting as president until the installation will be Miss Melva Johnson, Fort Worth junior.

The first Panhellenic meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 4. Each sorority will send a senior and junior delegate to these meetings. Sorority activities as well as rules and regulations will be planned and discussed at these meetings.

Cello Recital Scheduled For Concert Opening

This year's faculty concerts will be launched with a cello recital Oct. 17.

Mrs. Harriet Woldt, assistant professor of music, will present the first program at 8:15 p. m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The series is given by members of the faculty and is free to students and faculty.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Letters

Dear Editor:

I am sick and tired of hearing "integration" and "Christianity" used synonymously.

Of hearing students proclaiming a need for racial integration on the basis of Christian principles.

Of hearing someone ridicule the John Birch Society every time I go to church.

Of hearing professors and students alike condemning patriotic Americans who are working hard to save America from international Communism.

Of hearing religion professors and clergymen questioning the accuracy of the Holy Bible, and, instead, quoting contemporary existentialist thinkers.

Of hearing professors speak of the inevitability of bigger more centralized government whether we like what is happening or not, and:

Sick and tired of hearing it said that the Christian religion is simply an ethical code.

Sincerely yours,
David Frass

Dear Editor:

This letter is to protest against the Little Man on Campus cartoon in the March 21 Skiff.

This type of humor and the laughter it evokes, are characteristic of a college campus and students whose main activity takes place in the student center and in the parking lot instead of the classroom.

I know that the newspaper is supposed to be entertaining, along with being the eyes of the reader (who cannot see all the activities happening on campus), serving as an educator, to promote community spirit, and to be a guardian of the readers' rights. But I don't think that ethically the newspaper has the right of publishing such cartoons which are below the intellectual level of the University.

I am thankful to be a student in this university and I protest against this type of humor in our campus newspaper.

Sincerely yours,
A Reader

EDITOR'S NOTE: The cartoon to which A Reader refers pictures two coeds dressing for a date. One is saying to the other, "And remember, when he pins on his fraternity pin, don't forget to give a little 'ouch.'"

Dear Reader:

Sometimes when couples get pinned, the boy as well as the girl often gets "stuck."

Sales Tax--We're Stuck With It

Texas' new two per cent sales tax can be compared to a partner in marriage. We're stuck with it, for better or worse, maybe until death do us part.

Texans, seemingly resigned to their fate, have been paying the nuisance tax for several weeks now with little trouble. However, a Houston restaurant waitress was the victim of an irate customer who threw a bottle at her when he got his check, bearing a cent or two of tax. The bottle sailed through a window after the waitress ducked. It wasn't a beer bottle, though, because brew, already taxed enough, is exempt from the sales tax — unless it's bought with a meal.

Some small merchants have voiced their preference for an across-the-board one per cent tax that would apply to everything.

One professor at the University has labeled sales taxes "a tax on poverty" and suggests state income taxes instead.

Maybe it's just because the grass is always greener on the other side, but it would appear that his idea has merit.

Like it or not, however, the sales tax is here, supposedly a measure to erase to some degree Texas' state debt. Let's hope that it can accomplish its mission and then be allowed to die as suddenly as it was born.

Fall Has Arrived

A glance at the calendar will confirm what you've been suspecting for a couple of weeks — fall is here.

Maybe you're one who prefers to say "autumn," or even "Indian summer"; it doesn't matter. Regardless of what name is attached to the season, it's picnic weather, football weather, Sunday-drive-in-the-country weather and, as an example of taking the bitter with the sweet, it's study weather, too.

This is the season when you're likely to seek refuge in an air-conditioned building during the day and wish for an electric blanket at night.

Soon you may have to go home to pick up your winter clothes. And every morning for a few more weeks you'll have to decide whether to wear short sleeves or long. But fall is great, really. It's our favorite season.

Conversation Reveals Attitudes

BY LYNN SWANN

It was a short conversation; only a few words were exchanged. But the words said a great deal about some students and about their attitude toward life.

The attractive coed broke in the lunch line.

Her friend asked how she had done on the morning's English final.

"Oh hell. All right, I guess. I copied Jane and she usually makes good grades." Then, without pause, "Where's Joe? I haven't seen him since breakfast."

Over the heart of this woman who had just cheated herself into a decent grade rested a pin from one of the "top" sororities on campus. Such pins usually are granted only after the coed has pledged to uphold the high standards of her Greek organization.

Coed Lets Down Group

The coed had let down, not only herself, but all of her sisters and the Greek system as a whole.

First of all, she broke in line. This was rude; it caused others to wait and it showed a lack of manners.

Then, she used profanity. Of course many people let a word slip now and then, but habitual cursing is just as unbecoming to a woman nowadays as it was in Grandmother's time.

And poor girl. She hadn't seen her boyfriend since breakfast. The coed had just finished a test that indirectly would influence many phases of her life. Yet she was worried about Joe, from whom she had been torn for at least four hours.

But the most disturbing fact about this conversation was that it revealed a prevailing attitude toward learning. — I'll get by. — The gentlemen's C — Never crack a book and still pass.

The Cynic

Going to the Game

BY DON BUCKMAN

A university, one would think, will probably have a high concentration of smart people in a relatively small area.

One wonders at the validity of this premise when he attends a football game here.

Let's take a look at some loose statistics. Seating capacity of the Stadium, according to the General Information Catalog: 47,000. Predicted fall enrollment, between 8-9,000. Number of ticket-takers at the students' gate: three (or was it two?).

Now we must grant, to be fair, that not all 9,000 students are going to any one game.

Conceivably, three ticket-takers could handle half of the student body, 4,500 kids, with no sweat. That they could do if non-students would stay OUT of the students' line (because students can't go in any other gate) and if the ticket-takers weren't ex-FBI agents who identify each student minutely.

And there's another thing. Did anyone else notice, on his way to Section XYZ on the two-yard line, how cars were parked?

It was a bit annoying, after parking at Dan Rogers Hall and trotting to the Stadium, to notice that cars were parked all over the lawns, but there was room for three football games on the recently paved parking lot right in front of the Stadium.

Season ticket holders, for whom the lot is reserved, didn't come to the game.

Amazingly enough, lots of people had dates last Saturday. It's hard to figure, since everybody got a ticket at registration. It came into focus, though, when we saw Aaron Aardvark holding hands with Adrian Abacus.

Do you get the idea that we are bitter, gentle reader? No, not us. No reason to be in a bad mood. But do you remember seeing that guy who folded up his binoculars and left at halftime, when TCU was trailing by three points? Well, . . .

Our society favors a practical education, one that will insure a $10,000 yearly income, a two-bathroom home in suburbia and a white-collar job.

Attitude Disturbing

This attitude toward learning for material purposes is disturbing.

Also disturbing is the fact that catching a glimpse of the boyfriend is of greater concern than a final examination.

New Restrictions Adopted, Dean Smith Announces

Because of the pressing need for additional parking space for town students, a new restriction has been added to campus traffic regulations.

Dormitory students will not be allowed to park on University lots east of University Drive from 8 a. m. to noon, Monday through Friday, according to Dean of Students L. C. Smith.

Dean Smith said this restriction was first considered four years ago. At that time, it was decided to issue separate stickers to dormitory and town students in order to check parking habits.

The considerable increase last year in dormitory students using east-side parking lots made the rule necessary.

By restricting use of the lots, Dean Smith expects to decrease traffic movement on narrow, crowded streets such as Lowden, Princeton and Cockrell as well as create additional parking facilities.

Security officers will begin strict enforcement of the new regulation Wednesday.

Fines for violating this regulation, as well as all others, are as follows:

First offense: $3;

Second offense: $6;

Third offense: $12 and suspension of on-campus driving and parking privileges;

Fourth offense: Referral to Student Welfare Committee or appropriate administrative officer.

All other University traffic rules and parking permits may be obtained in the Security Office, Room 14, Sadler Hall.

European Study Plans Scheduled

A group of three European travel and study programs designed for college sophomores and juniors is open for applications. The programs are sponsored by the Institute of European Studies.

Students who meet the minimum requirements for past academic achievement and who are recommended by the faculty, may apply until Dec. 15. All three programs are scheduled for the spring in Vienna, Frieburg (West Germany) and Paris.

Several field study trips to neighboring countries supplement each of the programs.

Students are housed in private homes and are given intensive instruction in the language of their host country.

This spring's class sails from New York in February of 1962 and returns in July. Interested students may write to the Institute of European Studies at 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill.

Giordano Is First Assistant Director In History of Horned Frog Marchers

BY SUE MORTON

For the first time in its history the Horned Frog Band has an assistant director.

He is John Giordano, a 1960 graduate. This fall Giordano is working toward his masters degree in theory and composition while working as "laboratory assistant in band" in a half-time faculty position.

After receiving his Bachelor of Music Education in 1960 he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army in June, 1960, and served at Ft. Knox.

Giordano toured Europe while playing saxophone with the Hal McIntyre Orchestra. He also played with the Ted Weems' band in 1956. Asked about his tour of Europe four years ago, Giordano said that he was most impressed by the jazz bands. "The French had outstanding jazz musicians, but it seemed that many lacked the intangible feel of swing that the better American bands have. Germany and England also had very outstanding bands. We had several jam sessions with some of the musicians from Ted Heath's Band.

Appreciate More

"For the most part the European Jazz musician seems to approach his art much more seriously than the average American dance band musician," he commented.

"The impression that I received about most Europeans was that they seemed to appreciate more what jazz artists are doing than the average American does. They were more receptive to American jazz than were many of the American audiences here in the States," said Giordano.

Hal McIntyre, who formed this band, played lead saxophone with the original Glenn Miller Band and the original Benny Goodman Band. In the late 1940s the band had a big name. It was featured in several movies during this period. "One thing that many people don't know is that McIntyre sold more records of 'Sentimental Journey' than Les Brown. 'Glow Worm,' featuring the Mills Brothers, and 'Swanee River' were other big hits of the band."

Aug. 15, Giordano was selected to make a record album with Don Jacoby, the internationally famous trumpet player, and an All-Star Inter-Collegiate Band.

One student from each of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States made up the band. The record will be released sometime in October on the MGM label, according to Giordano.

Revives Program

With all this jazz experience Giordano has been placed in charge of re-activating the stage band program at TCU, which is a lab band designed to inspire young arrangers and composers. "We hope to give students experience in this field, so that they would be qualified to perform in professional organizations in the future. It will also help give them a well-rounded musical education. We are trying to impress upon young musicians the need for learning to perform 'classical' music in conjunction with jazz," Giordano said.

As for the band prospects, Giordano says, "this year the band is capable of achieving a musical and marching quality that far surpasses that of recent years. We have a depth of quality performers in each section, which reaches to even the inner parts. This coupled with the high spirit the band has displayed so far this year will amalgamate to form an outstanding musical organization of which we can all be proud."

John Giordano, a 1960 graduate of the University, has returned to campus as assistant director of the Horned Frog Band. Giordano, who has toured Europe, has played in several orchestras.

Great Music Courses Set

The Department of Music and the Evening College have announced the development of the "Great Music Course" at the University.

The course will be offered on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 in the Little Theatre. The fee is five dollars.

"Great Music for Orchestra" is the first subject to be taught in this music appreciation course this session. Four families of instruments will be examined and demonstrated by Dr. Ralph Guenther, Kenneth Schanewerk and Dr. John Woldt of the faculty.

Besides the orchestra course, the music department will also offer in the succeeding sessions, "Great Music for the Theater," "Great Music of the Church" and "Great Music for the Concert Hall."

At the Flick

"Rififi," the first foreign film of the year, will be shown at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Student Center Ballroom.

The French film, directed by Jules Dassin, is considered to be the best crime-suspense film ever made, according to Brice Harbert, Flick Committee chairman.

Coed Named Texas Lassie

BY DEANNA LARSON

Eleanor Miles, Valley Mills junior, will officially begin her reign as Texas Lassie Queen when she is crowned by Governor Price Daniel on the opening day of the Texas State Fair. She has known since August that she is to represent Texas at the National Southern contest in Chicago.

Eleanor was chosen by the women's auxiliary of the National Southern Association, organized five years ago to give the wives and daughters of the men in the national association an opportunity to participate.

To be a Texas Lassie, a girl must have some connection with shorthorn cattle. Eleanor's father was president of the Lone Star Shorthorn Association last year, and in addition Eleanor and her sister have a small herd of shorthorns. She often surprises people by telling them she has this herd. However, she herself doesn't find it at all unusual, and is quick to point out that economically, shorthorns have no equal in Texas.

Came From Scotland

Shorthorn cattle originated in Scotland. For this reason the Scottish plaid costume is worn. These costumes are sent from Great Britain by one of the royal families and must have the approval of Queen Elizabeth. Each state has only one which is passed from queen to queen.

The Texas Shorthorn Queen has a busy schedule. On Oct. 6 she will appear on the "Date-line" show on WBAP. Following her crowning on Oct. 11, she will again make a television appearance. Additionally she will ride in the State Fair Parades.

On November 23, Eleanor will leave on an all-expense paid trip to Chicago where the national contest will be held. The contestants will be interviewed by television commentators and movie producers. Final judging will be on poise, beauty, speaking ability, achievement, and talent.

The national winner will represent the United States in the International Contest. The winner of the final contest will receive an all expense paid trip to any place on the North American continent.

Queen to Travel

As Texas Queen, Eleanor will make several appearances in Houston, and in January will appear in Fort Worth along with the national queen and the Oklahoma and Kansas queens.

Eleanor is an English major, speech minor. She hopes to finish college in three years. While fulfilling her duties as Texas Lassie Queen, she still finds time to maintain a high average and to participate in her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta.

Eleanor was named high school Homecoming Queen and Football Sweetheart in 1960. She was also

Young Conservatives Invite New Members

"The purpose of our organization is to promote conservative thought on the campus," says Jim Koch, Austin senior, president of the Young Conservatives.

Arthur Hanna, Abilene junior, is the club's vice president, and Richard Jones, Beaumont senior, is secretary-treasurer.

David Frass, Dallas senior, one of the co-organizers of the club, reports that forums, discussions and debates on welfare spending and taxation are scheduled as part of this year's activity.

All students interested in conservative political ideas and thought are invited to join the organization, which is beginning its second year on campus.

assistant yearbook editor and she received a salutatorian scholarship.

Eleanor says the Lassie Association has given her "an opportunity to keep in close contact with the shorthorn industry," and a chance to develop her love of the land which she feels is part of her heritage.

Profs Write Textbook

Drs. Jim Corder and Lyle Kendall, Jr., both professors in the English department, have written a textbook for a course in writing for college freshman.

The manuscript, to be published by Random House, Inc., early in 1962, has been given the tentative title, "A College Rhetoric."

Record Grade Scored On Mathematics Test

For the first time in TCU history, a freshman has scored 59 out of a possible 60 on the mathematics achievement test.

Emmett B. McGill from Rankin made the record grade.

The achievement test is given all students with two years of high school algebra or geometry.

Dr. Ben Goldbeck, associate professor of mathematics, said average scores on the test usually run from the middle twenties to thirties. It was given this year to approximately 1,000 students.

Dr. Sadler Makes Trip To Lecture

Chancellor M. E. Sadler left Fort Worth Thursday to begin a busy 10-day trip to the midwest and east.

In Kansas City, Dr. Sadler's first stop, he will meet with the Board of Higher Education of the Disciples of Christ and attend the International Convention of the Christian Churches.

On Oct. 2 the chancellor will speak at a banquet held for the Park Avenue Christian Church of New York, and the following day he will address the annual TCU luncheon there.

In Washington, D.C., Dr. Sadler will attend a meeting of the executive committee for the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities.

He also will attend a breakfast with leaders from various parts of the nation and will discuss the "TCU Plan" concerning the allowance of income tax credit for college tuition.

Before flying home Oct. 6, he will attend a meeting of the American Council of Education in Washington.

Campus Radio Broadcasts

The campus radio station, KTCU, introduced its new program of "Mike-side" and "Flip-side" Sept. 21, when it again began broadcasting to the TCU campus.

The "Mike-side" portion of the KTCU plan offers a new musical-news format, while "Flip-side" gives students and faculty an opportunity to see the actual programming and production that occurs behind the scene.

KTCU's programming features a combination of news, weather, and sports. Beginning its broadcasting at 2 p. m., the campus station offers the best of the current "Top 40," along with outstanding LP's, and old favorites.

For the first time this year KTCU will pipe music into the campus lunchrooms, giving students an opportunity to listen to selective dinner music and campus news while eating.

Beginning at 5 p. m., KTCU will play the dinner music for an hour and a half and then will present 30 minutes of informative programming. At seven p. m. the station presents a program designed to acquaint students with current campus activities, followed by good album music and specialized shows, known as SOCAM Productions.

Bloxom Manages

Russ Bloxom, station manager, expressed the hope of making KTCU a sound companion with the students here. "It's their radio station," he explained. "Its program is directed toward them, and the only way KTCU can better its service is through the support of the students on campus which, in essence, means suggestions for better programming."

Leonard Herring, program director, explained that the campus station is working on transmission and hopes to strengthen reception in the dormitories. He added that the broadcasts can be received at 1025 on any AM radio on campus from 2-10 p. m.

Gets the News

KTCU obtains its news from five sources: Associated Press, Texas State Network, TCU News Service, Official News Releases, and station campus reporters. Weather is gathered from the Associated Press and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Amon Carter Field.

Sports news is copied from the Associated Press, University News Service, and remote broadcasts.

The studios of radio station KTCU are located in the south basement of the Ed Landreth Building, rooms B12 and B13.

Four-thousand-dollars of new equipment obtained this summer insures increased efficiency for the radio station. A new Ampex recorder and two turntables, along with three new microphones make KTCU a modern station. A new remote amplifier enables the station to broadcast from anywhere on campus. Using this amplifier, the station will broadcast Wog games for the first time this year.

Station Remodeled

In addition to the new equipment, the station has been remodeled and another studio added. Studio C will be used as the news room with studio A, the control room, and studio B, the reception room.

Interviews Leaders

Other plans include more complete coverage of college activities with interviews with campus leaders. Bloxom emphasized the fact that the station offers free announcement service to all TCU organizations. He explained that promotion spots can be arranged by calling the Con-

Two Win Fulbrights

Miss Linda Gardner, who received a bachelor of music degree in Austin, has received a Fulbright scholarship for study abroad.

Miss Gardner, from St. Joseph, Mo., majored in church music and organ. She will spend the next year of study in Denmark.

She is the second University student this year to receive a Fulbright award. Fred Petty, a June graduate in music, with majors in music literature and French horn, is presently en route to Vienna to pursue studies under the Fulbright Act.

tinuity Director at extension 242.

During the eight hours of daily programming, the music heard on 1025 is supplied on a subscription basis by several record companies.

The new KTCU for 1961-62 and its radio recording subsidiary SOCAM is operated by the majors of the division of radio-television and the department of speech.

Radio-TV majors work at other radio and television stations. This serves to add a professional touch to the campus broadcasting. Bloxom works at KJIM and Hering at KHBR in Hillsboro. Mike Marshall, an employee of KFJZ, is the chief engineer.

Travel? Enter Cotton Contest

Some lucky lass on campus may reign as the 1962 Maid of Cotton.

The girl who is chosen should like to travel since her job will be to represent the American cotton industry on an international fashion and good-will tour.

The National Cotton Council points out that likely the girl who wins will come from a college campus. Twenty-two of the 23 Maids to date have been coeds or recent graduates at the time of their selection.

The 1961 Maid of Cotton, Linda Lackey of Forest, Miss., has returned to her studies at the University of Mississippi at Oxford. Miss Lackey will be on hand to crown her successor when she is named Dec. 29 in Memphis.

The winner will be outfitted in an all-cotton wardrobe styled by the nation's top designers. She will travel throughout the United States and Canada and to Europe for visits in leading fashion centers.

To be eligible, a girl must be between 19 and 25, at least 5-5, a native of a cotton-producing state, and must never have been married.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tenn.

Sells Directs Project

Maladjusted Children Study Underway Here

A joint research program in psychology is underway here and at the University of Minnesota to study the effects of maladjustments in childhood.

Previous study in this area has shown that children who are isolated from groups by other children usually become maladjusted adults.

The program will be directed by Dr. Saul Sells, professor of psychology.

Dr. Merrill Roff, professor at the Institute of Job Research and Welfare at the University of Minnesota, is co-ordinator of the study.

The University has received a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to finance the project.

Elementary children from widely separated areas will be used in the project. Identical methods will be used with all data processed on the campus through the new Computer Center which will open late this month.

Dr. Sells and Dr. Roff have been working together in this area for nine years, having started their studies for the Air Force.

"Previous methods of helping these children have not been successful," Dr. Sells points out. "This new project may point the way to new and better treatments."

High School Delegates Gather Here

Delegates from 310 area high schools will meet on the University campus Oct. 14, for the North Texas Student Activities Conference of the Texas Interscholastic League.

The conference, which will begin at 8:30 a. m., will hold workshops in the six areas of Interscholastic League work: ready writing, number sense, slide rule, one-act plays and journalism. All sessions are scheduled to end at 1 p. m.

Leading editors and newsmen of the Fort Worth area will lead the discussion in the journalism division, including talks on reporting, advertising and specialized writing.

A discussion and critique will follow a demonstration by Haltom High School in the one-act play conference.

The speech conference program will include workshops in debate, reading and speaking. The selecting of subject matter and the written analysis of it will be discussed in the ready writing event.

Chairman of the committee in charge is Amos Melton, assistant to the University chancellor.

Mild Corrupter

In a sociology class recently, the discussion was centered around the belief that college students are a wild bunch and that the professors are corrupters of morals.

"Well," said the professor, "I know I've never corrupted any of my students. I can't get their attention that long."

It's a little hard to see that Miss Heidi Harvey is riding a merry-go-round horse, but that's what she's doing—sidesaddle, at that. The Houston freshman, a graduate of Lamar High there, is a drama major. (Photo by Joel Council).

Dorm Hostess Likes To Travel

Traveling is one thing that has occupied the time of Mrs. Leland A. Pinkel, new hostess at Colby Hall.

She is taking the place of Mrs. M. B. Pringle who died during the summer.

Born in Marquette, Mich., Mrs. Pinkel has lived or traveled in every state of the U. S. and in parts of Canada and Mexico. She also spent four months in 1954 touring Japan, where her son was stationed at an air base.

She studied decorative design at the Art Institute in Chicago and Northwestern University.

Transferring to the University of Illinois, she was graduated from the school of journalism with an English major and a minor in the romance languages.

Mrs. Pinkel worked as publicity agent for the United States Department of Agriculture for three years in Urbana, Ill., before marrying in 1926. Her husband died in 1928.

Work toward a teacher's certificate in the graduate school of education at the University of California prepared her for high school English teaching in 1936. She was department chairman from 1945-1958 and department co-ordinator for two years.

Before taking her present position, Mrs. Pinkel was non-resident hostess for Jarvis, Foster and Waits two years.

Refinishing furniture, gardening and knitting are included in her pastimes.

Asked about her children, she said, "That's why I'm here," explaining that her son is a senior engineer in production research at General Dynamics in Fort Worth. She has three grandchildren.

Dr. Mayfield Named Geography Chairman

At least one department on campus has doubled in size this year — figuratively speaking, anyway.

The geography department now has two fulltime professors.

Dr. Robert C. Mayfield, recently named chairman of the department, has come to the assistance of Dr. Martine Emert, who has been holding it down almost singlehandedly for several years.

Pianists--All Nationalities Eligible for Competition

The world's leading young pianists — of all nationalities and both sexes between the ages of 17 and 28 — will be eligible to compete for the $17,500 in prizes during the Fort Worth Quadrennial International Piano Competition on campus in September 1962.

First prize will be $10,000.

The event, to be held each four years, is being sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, the Fort Worth Piano Teachers Forum, the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and TCU.

Application forms must be filed before May 1, 1962. They may be obtained from Mrs. Grace Ward Lankford, Chairman of the Competition, 2211 West Magnolia Avenue, Fort Worth 10.

To be eligible, the pianists must be over 17 and under 28 years of age on May 1, 1962.

A jury composed of some of the world's most famous performing artists will judge the competition. They will vote by "closed ballot" and all decisions will be unappealable, the rules state.

Plans for the competition call for preliminary tests, a semi-final round and the finals. All playing sessions will be held in Ed Landreth Auditorium and will be public.

The prize winners will take part in a concert on the same stage at the end of the final judging.

In addition to the first prize of $10,000, there will be a second-place award of $3,000, a third prize of $2,000, fourth of $1,000, a fifth of $750 and a sixth prize of $500.

A concert in New York's Carnegie Hall and engagements with leading symphony orchestras have been assured the winner.

Under the rules, contestants must assume financial responsibility for the trip to and from Fort Worth. However, all housing, meals, practice facilities will be furnished to accepted contestants during the event. The International Women's Club of Fort Worth is cooperating in this phase.

Army Nabs Prof

TCU's Dr. Clay Caught In Mobilization of 49th

"Teen-Hut"
"Sir, battalion present or accounted for."
These words will become even more familiar to Lt. Col. Comer Clay, battalion commander, Second Medium Tank Battalion, 49th Armored Division.
Dr. Clay, professor of government, was ordered to active duty when the 49th was mobilized. He has been on the faculty since 1948. He has been chairman of the Student Publications Committee and sponsor of the Rodeo Club.

Student Brings News

News of the 49th's call to active duty reached Dr. Clay when a student in registration reported the call-up. Later in the week, he received teletype communication confirming that he and his 700 officers and enlisted men would proceed to Ft. Polk, La., for training.

Col. Clay entered the Army during World War II as a private, and after attending Officers Candidate School, was commissioned in an artillery unit assigned to an infantry division.

Unit Is Needed

"It is important to have an active reserve unit, and when a person is in this type unit, he can expect a call at any time," said Dr. Clay.

Clay's family will remain in Fort Worth.

No other faculty members were affected by the mobilization.

Managing Agent Slavich Must Be Versatile in Job

By MARGARET ESTILL

"Hey, 'Duke'—Hand me a couple of distilling flasks, some centrifuges, a box of castaloy clamps—and by the way—Don't forget to order a new gas chromatograph."

'Duke'—that's S. T. (Samuel Thomas) Slavich, managing agent for the chemistry department.

Slavich came to the University in February to take his present post. His job includes ordering all equipment (glassware, machinery and chemicals) for the four chemistry labs, keeping record of all equipment and expenditures and the bookkeeping chores for the Welch Foundation.

"Duke" Fights

The 40-year-old Slavich was tagged "Duke" during his high school boxing days. Born in Shawnee, Okla., he reached the semi-finals of state Golden Gloves tournaments in 1937-38.

Slavich admits that the nickname, "Duke" stuck with him permanently.

He played football two years in high school and four years for the Air Force. In 1948 at Ladd Air Force Base, Alaska, he was team captain.

Atten-Shun

After high school, Slavich enlisted with "Uncle Sam" and donned the Air Force Blue. At 18, he attended Air Force Cadet school and was then transferred to the regular Air Force where he became a supply sergeant.

The master sergeant was a parachute rigger, a personal equipment supervisor, an air flight chief, a staff inspector and a gunner during World War II.

Slavich went on gunnery missions over Berlin during the War as a voluntary replacement for dead or wounded soldiers.

Slavich has served with the Air Force in Texas, California, England, France, Louisiana, Florida, Nebraska, Montana, Oklahoma, Alaska and Japan.

'Makes You Thankful'

During the 1950's, he spent a year in Okinawa and in Japan. "It was an education to see the living conditions of other peoples of the world," he related.

Village houses in Okinawa, he remembered, were constructed of orange crates, steel and barbed wire, and the people survived on small quantities of rice.

Japanese civilization made an impression on Slavich.

"I was grateful when I came home; I could better understand that we do have much to be thankful for."

Busy 'Short-Timer'

With only a couple of years left before completing his more than 20 years with Uncle Sam, Slavich became the staff inspector for the Second Air Force—Strategic Air Command (SAC).

In this capacity he periodically inspected 22 bases in the central United States.

In the last stretch of his career, he married Greh Gamble, Feb. 28, 1958, while stationed at Altus A.F.B., Oklahoma.

Becomes Civilian

Slavich retired from the Air Force on May 31, 1960, traveled with Greh for eight months and then, settled-down in Fort Worth.

"I was stationed at Carswell for nine years and I developed an appreciation for the town and its people," said Slavich. "It was only natural that I come back here."

Leaders Communicate

Better communication between students and administration is the purpose of the semi-monthly meetings of the administrative and student leaders.

Dr. D. Ray Lindley, president of the University, explained that the meetings would be strictly informal and that no one would preside. The first meeting was held Wednesday.

Administrative members of the committee are Dr. Lindley; Amos Melton, assistant to the chancellor; Dr. Laurence C. Smith, dean of students; L. D. White, business manager; Logan Ware, assistant business manager; Mrs. Jean Saunders, director of religious activities; Charles Peveler, student center director; and Miss Elizabeth Youngblood, social director.

Student leaders on the committee are Denny Megarity, student body president; Stan Read, student body vice-president; Galen Hull, Activities Council director; Miss Lynn Swann, Skiff editor; Miss Lynda Wolfe, Horned Frog editor; Russ Bloxom, KTCU manager; Miss Stephanie Schermerhorn, Panhellenic president; Bob Burnett, IFC president; Gilbert Couts, URC president; Miss Allie Beth McMurtry, head cheerleader; Dave Freeman, Honor Life Committee chairman; Mrs. Sue Parrish, Homecoming chairman; and Miss Diane Bundy, Parents Weekend chairman.

A good way to relieve the monotony of any job is to think up ways of improving it.

Texas Industries Make Donations

Several prominent businesses in Texas recently donated gifts to the University.

Southland Paper Mills Foundation, through W. R. Wortham, president and chairman of the Foundation, donated $1,000.

Arthur I. Ginsburg, president of the Fort Worth Pipe and Supply Co., presented a gift to apply on the Fort Worth Pipe and Supply Scholarship at the University.

Another gift was donated by Ernest Guffy of Wichita Falls to apply on the Ernest Guffy Scholarship. The donation was a $1,000 bond.

Sperry and Hutchinson (S&H Green Stamps) donated $1,100 to apply to the Sperry and Hutchinson Lectureship.

Brash Frogs Challenge Buckeyes

BY HAROLD McKINNEY

A capacity crowd of more than 82,000 will squeeze into Ohio Stadium in Columbus, Saturday, to see if Abe Martin's brash young Frogs can make history repeat.

TCU last met Ohio State in 1957 under conditions almost identical to Saturday's contest. The 1957 Buckeyes were rated the best team in the country and were expected to have little difficulty in downing the sophomore-studded Frogs.

But Woody Hayes and his big bad Bucks came out on the short end of a hard-fought 18-14 decision and were dealt a sharp blow right where it hurt the most—in the prestige. The rest of the Big Ten paid for TCU's unkind treatment because Ohio State swept through the remainder of its schedule, including the Rose Bowl date, undefeated.

The question now is—can the Frogs do it again?

The professional odds-makers say no. They rank Ohio State a 13 to 15-point favorite but they said the same thing in 1957.

TCU should enter the game with a slight psychological advantage. Abe's youngsters proved they are capable of playing fine football while cast as the underdog with last week's stunning 17-16 upset of Kansas. Also it will be the season opener for the Buckeyes.

Ohio State will field a typical Big Ten-type eleven complete with a big, strong, agile line and hard-running backs. Most of the ball carrying will be done by Negro fullback Bob Ferguson. A consensus All-America pick last fall, Ferguson racked up 853 yards rushing in 160 tries.

At quarterback will be Bill

Murkowski, a junior who seems to have ice water in his veins, and runs like a fullback.

But the key to the Buck's success has always been in the line and this year's crew has been called by Hayes "as good as I've coached."

cherub-faced, 5-9, 225-pounder, who resembles a fireplug, logged 334 playing minutes last year to lead State in that Department. Ingram was picked on several pre-season All-America teams.

Hayes coaches an ultra-conservative brand of football. When questioned about the few passes his teams throw, Hayes quipped he prefers his players to pass in the classroom rather than on the field.

He shocked Buckeye fans this season when he announced that they will see something new in the Scarlet and Gray attack — for the first time in eight years the quarterback will fade back and pass from a protective pocket.

So on paper Ohio State looks like a solid favorite but here certain intangibles, such as team spirit, become important. Coach Martin says this year's team takes to coaching well and they showed the kind of spirit they have against Kansas.

However, the Frogs will have some tangibles on the field, too.

Namely, Sonny Gibbs, the Southwest Conference's total offense leader after accounting for 123 yards against Kansas and sophomore Tommy Crutcher, who was the Frogs' leading ground gainer with 76 yards in 14 carries.

Up front the likes of Bobby Plummer, Ray Pinion, Dale Glasscock, and Bernard Bartek are capable of stopping the Buckeye thrusts up the middle. Also the sophomore defensive unit, which played such an important part in beating Kansas, will be anxious to get a crack at Ohio State.

Martin's teams have a knack of pulling off upsets against highly ranked foes on their own territory. So those thousands of Buckeyes may well jam into Ohio Stadium hoping to see our "Christians" being sacrificed to their "lions"—they may go home quite disappointed.

Rough Week Looms For SWC Members

Southwest Conference teams got off to a fine start in the season's opening grid schedule by winning four, losing three and tying one intersectional battle, but this Saturday's tough slate could dull the shine of last week's sparkling showing.

Waiting to do battle with SWC squads over the weekend are the likes of Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, Louisiana State and Southern California. The Frogs, who added a little spice to the league race by bumping Kansas 17-16, meet the powerhouse of the Midwest, Ohio State, in Columbus.

TCU's upset victory raised several eyebrows in the Southwest and a good showing against the Buckeyes could stamp the Purples as a team which will have something to say about who gets the Cotton Bowl bid come Jan. 1.

Rice is biting off a big chunk in Georgia Tech. The Ramblin' Wrecks stomped Southern Cal, 27-7, in their opener on the West Coast last week. Jess Neeley's Owls did a little stomping, too, in Houston. LSU was a 16-3 victim of Billy Cox's pin-point passing and a rugged Owl defense.

The vaunted Arkansas offensive machine gets a second chance to cross the goal line for the first time when it squares off against hapless Tulsa. Also it will be a second chance for halfback Lance Alworth — the Razorback star was hamstrung by the granite-hard forward wall of Ole Miss.

LSU will be out for revenge in its game with the Texas Aggies. The Bayou Bengals were understandably upset at their poor effort against Rice. A&M scrambled to a fourth period touchdown to gain a 7-7 tie with Houston. The Aggies, consensus choice for the darkhouse role in the conference title race, were sluggish and unimpressive in their bout with the Cougars.

Baylor prepped for Pittsburgh by swarming over Wake Forest, 31-0, in the "Baptist Bowl" at Waco. Ronnie Bull tallied twice for the Bears on runs of over 20 yards. The Pitt encounter will give John Bridgers a chance to test his explosive offense.

SMU journeys to California at the invitation of Southern Cal for a game in the Los Angeles Coliseum. SMU put up a whale of a fight before being downed by Maryland, 14-6. The Trojans spent last Saturday taking it on the chin from Georgia Tech.

While the rest of the conference tries to pad its intersectional record Texas and Texas Tech will meet at Austin to kickoff the SWC championship season. The Longhorns overwhelmed California, 28-3, last week and Mississippi State edged the Raiders, 6-0.

Gibbs, Plummer, Pinion Win Frog Club Honors

Tackle Bobby Plummer and guard Ray Pinion were named co-winners of the Frog Club's weekly "outstanding lineman" award for their play in TCU's 17-16 upset victory over Kansas.

Quarterback Sonny Gibbs was cited as the best performer in the backfield. Gibbs had a hand in both TCU touchdowns—running six yards to chalk up one tally and passing 24 yards to halfback Roy Dent in the end zone for the other.

Ready to go against the Buckeyes of Ohio State this Saturday is Tommy Joe Crutcher, the Frogs' promising sophomore fullback. Crutcher was the leading Purple ground gainer with a 5.5 average per carry in last week's game against Kansas.

Frogs Stand Tall in SWC Grid Statistics Saddle

TCU, which got off to a flying start with a 17-16 victory over Kansas last week, grabbed high spots in the statistical ranks, figures released by the Southwest Conference reveal.

Quarterback Sonny Gibbs ran for 30 yards and passed for 93 to take over the total offense lead. End Buddy Iles, a principal target for Gibbs, grabbed the pass receiving lead with an average gain per pass of 18 yards.

In rushing, Purple fullback Tommy Joe Crutcher ranks third in the conference with a 5.5 average per carry, behind Jerry Cook and James Saxton, both of Texas.

Garry Thomas, the sophomore halfback who kicked five times for a 38.6 average, is rated fourth among league punters.

In team statistics, the Frogs gained third place in total offense with 284 yards. Baylor and Texas are first and second respectively. The Purple also ranks third in average gained rushing with 91 yards, again behind Texas and Baylor.

TCU's pass defense held the Jayhawkers to 26 yards to give the Frogs second place in that department, behind Texas and Texas A&M, who tied for the first spot.

Leading scorer in the conference is Ronnie Bull, Baylor's all-American fullback candidate, who scored two touchdowns in Baylor's 31-0 rout of Wake Forest. Gibbs and halfback Roy Dent were tied with nine other backs who scored one TD each.

Baylor paced the league in total team offense. The Bears piled up a whopping 292 yards rushing to go with 150 gained through the air.

Texas got the nod as the best team defensively by limiting California to only 80 yards. The Bears managed to make just 55 yards on the ground and 25 passing against the Longhorns.
