Court, Congress Report

Forum To Clarify Election Scandal

BY LYNN SWANN

Students will be able to find out what REALLY went on during the recent election scandal. The Student Congress is sponsoring a forum concerning the issue at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on the second floor of the Student Center.

Election Committee Chairman Jim Wright and Student Court Chief Justice Leo Watkins will answer questions from the floor.

"Names will be named and no holds barred," explained Jim Whitehead, public relations director for Student Congress. This will be the first formal naming of the parties involved in the fall elections fraud.

Rumors Get Around

Whitehead said, "Often rumors get around that have no real basis. The forum, however, will clear up any misinformation since the people who know more about the election than anyone can answer questions first-hand."

The forum will be held immediately following the Student Court session at 6:45. Watkins will present the Court's plans for handling the case. He will report on steps taken in the current investigation as the Court tries its wings with the first major case this year.

The forum also follows the weekly Student Congress meeting. Wright, then, will have additional information from Congress.

Ballots Noticed

Attention was first directed to the fraud when Student Body Secretary Beverly Musick noticed several identical ballots in sequence during the primary election Wednesday, Oct. 18. Wright and his committee voided the "rigged" ballots and took steps to prevent further dishonesty during the runoff election Friday.

Again infractions were discovered, and again the bogus ballots were thrown out.

The Skiff ran accounts of the fraud. Student Court set to work investigating the issue and Student Congress is making plans for enforcing rules in the next election.

Pep Rally To Encourage Noisy Students Thursday

Take some pots, pans, bugles, horns and cans, mix them together and the results? Noise!

This is the purpose of the Noise parade scheduled at 7 p.m. Thursday in front of the Student Center.

Students who will participate are urged to bring anything that shakes, rattles and rolls.

The parade will start in front of the Student Center, go between the women's dormitories, across the lower parking lot, between the men's dormitories and end in front of the Student Center.

The procession will be escorted by the Vigilante group, carrying torches.

Following the parade, a pep rally is scheduled.

Trustees Set Goals For 12-Year Plan

BY CAROL LEE

University chancellor M. E. Sadler's sweeping program for a greater bigger and better TCU was voted approval by the University Board of Trustees at its fall meeting Friday.

The plan, or a group of "Centennial Goals" which is to be in effect by 1973, the University's 100th anniversary, calls for four objectives.

(1) The construction of six new buildings at a cost of $5 million. (2) The establishment of a graduate research center costing $3 million. (3) A sharply improved academic program at all levels including highest accreditation in all departments, an increase in teachers' pay, the establishment of a doctorate degree program in philosophy in 10 major fields of study, and increased quality in all undergraduate areas. (4) Increased financial support, including a $40 million endowment.

Dr. Sadler announced that the Fort Worth Brown-Lupton Foundation is going to present a South Texas ranch valued at $200,000 to the University, and Dr. J. W. O'Banion of Garland is donating 40 acres of land on the north side of Dallas. The Dallas land is valued at $100,000.

Advance Study Grants Offered By Denver U

The University of Denver and the Social Science Foundation have announced graduate fellowships for 1962-63 for the study of international relations leading to the M. A. and Ph. D.

Fellowships range from part tuition to $2,500.

College graduates (who will hold a baccalaureate degree or equivalent by Sept. 1, 1962) with outstanding undergraduate records, and graduate studies may apply.

Completed application and supporting papers must be post-marked no later than March 1, 1962.

For further information and application forms, write chairman, department of international relations, University of Denver, Denver 10, Col.

A third gift presented to the University recently by C. B. Ames of Houston consists of a large telescope and satellite tracer to be used in several courses and in research.

In other action the board elected three new trustees and re-elected eight other members. New members are Murray Kyger, president of the First National Bank of Fort Worth; Marion Hicks, vice-president of General Dynamics, Fort Worth; and Glen Turbeville, president of Morrison Supply Co. of Fort Worth and co-chairman of the "TCU Sustaining Program" for the past two years.

Re-elected board members are Dr. Granville T. Walker, L. C. Wright and Fred Korth of Fort Worth; Bonner Frizzell, Palestine; Clyde Tomlinson, Hillsboro; Theodore Beasley, Dallas; Dr. W. Oliver Harrison, Corpus Christi; and Drew Ellis, Perryton.

Chancellor Sadler reported to the trustees that presently there are 10 major research projects underway on campus with grants totaling $484,452. He also praised the University's College Bowl team and the number of graduates to receive Woodrow Wilson Fellowships in the past three years, more than any other Southwest Conference school except Texas University.

Prospective construction includes the erection of a new women's dormitory to begin within the next 12 months, men's dormitories and residences for married students. Also planned is a communications building, which will house the departments of journalism, radio-TV, advertising and speech.

There will be another wing added to Winton-Scott Hall, a new health center, a new building for home economics and remodeling and enlargement of the small gym, which hasn't been touched since 1941.

In regard to his "Centennial Goals" to be established in the next 12 years, Dr. Sadler said, "If these goals and objectives can be achieved, and I believe they can, Texas Christian University will take its place in the front-line of privately-controlled, voluntarily-supported institutions of higher learning in the country."

District Court To View Worth Hills Controversy

BY LYNDA WOLFE

The University and the TCU Worth Hills Homeowners' League will again meet concerning the Worth Hills controversy Wednesday in Judge Fisher T. Denny's District Court.

Homeowners demanded the hearing when they failed to get a court injunction against the election Sept. 12, in which Fort Worthers voted two-to-one in favor of the sale of the golf course to TCU. The University has agreed to pay $691,600 for the 106-acre site.

L. C. White, TCU business manager, predicts "a favorable decision" from the hearing.

University Insists

The University insists that if the land cannot be obtained, however, it will be forced to limit enrollment or split the campus. Homeowners, on the other hand, contend that the golf course has more value as a recreational area than it would have to the University.

Since it began, Dec. 8, 1960, the Worth Hills argument has received much public attention.

Plans Submitted

Several suggested landscape plans have been submitted for consideration, and the University's landscape architects, Carter & Burgess, have recommended that the plans conform to the present campus.

In a booklet published by the University's public relations department, it was noted that students have .021 acre of land per student, less than any major university in the state except SMU, which has .020.

Still the homeowners deny the University's need for new land and propose that the school expand in other directions. Suggestions include moving the stadium, adding more floors to present dormitories, allowing fraternities and sororities to build houses off campus, and eliminating parking areas for further building.

Park Areas Redesignated

New regulations, allotting 21 former student parking spaces to faculty members and redesignating several other spaces, are in effect.

Sixteen spaces in front of the Student Center and on the north side of the street north of Tom Brown Hall, are now reserved for faculty from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The change was made to provide for evening college professors.

Five spaces on the street south of Foster Hall have been assigned to Jerome Moore and Jo Ann James and three disabled persons. On the street north of Tom Brown Hall, spaces have been reserved for Dr. James Moudy, dean of the Graduate School; Calvin Cumbie, registrar, and three 20-minute parking areas for professors only.

These changes were necessary because of change-over of offices to Reed and Sadler Halls.

Shake, Rattle and Roll

Cheerleaders Deedie Potter and Allie Beth McMurtry live it up. For years they have been told to be lady-like and quiet, but now they can make all the noise they want. The coeds are practicing up for the pep rally Thursday night in front of the Student Center. Students are urged to bring anything that makes noise. (Photo by Rose Ann Norton.)

Dean Describes Magazine Work To Press Club

Ladies' Home Journal now guarantees a circulation of seven millions to its advertisers, Miss Dorothy Shuler told members of Ridings Press Club recently.

The assistant dean of women here worked for two and one-half years as editorial assistant on the Journal.

The department in which she worked did original research for the "How America Lives" articles.

Miss Shuler traveled in many parts of the country interviewing families to see if they would be acceptable subjects for the series.

If the family is chosen, writers, photographers and departmental editors interview them.

Stories are prepared and planned at least a year ahead of time, she said. The series tries to show a cross section of American life and financial conditions.

When asked why she came here, she said, "I like university life." After being in New York for six years, she wanted to be nearer to her home in Tulsa.

In working for a magazine such as the Journal, she stressed the importance of having three or four years of journalistic experience and an abundance of creative ideas.

Parents' Weekend Over

Plans Underway Now For Homecoming Dec. 2

With the dust from Parents' Weekend still unsettled, plans are underway for the next big weekend—Homecoming, Dec. 2.

Telephone booths packed with fraternity men or a bed being pushed to an unknown destination may dominate the campus in accord with the theme, "It Was the Craze."

Any campus organization or dormitory may have a stationary float, according to Miss Bill Parrish, Homecoming chairman, and Leah Killingsworth, co-chairman.

Each organization has drawn for a float position and title.

Floats Rated

The floats will be rated on Dec. 1 by three judges who will not be identified. Trophies will be given for the first place winner in each class. Also, a grand prize will be presented to the most outstanding float in all categories. No float may win more than one trophy.

As in the past, floats may be entered in any one of three classes. The cost of materials determines which class to enter: Class A, 0-$50; Class B, $50-$75; Class C, $75-$100.

Queen Crowned

Homecoming Queen, chosen in the recent election, will be crowned at the Homecoming pep rally, Nov. 28.

Her name will be withheld until that time when the duchesses' names also will be revealed.

The class of 1941 is being honored by Homecoming activities this year. A Coming Home Queen will be chosen from that class.

Among the activities for this year will be a noise parade to help start the pep rally with a big bang. A bonfire, pep rally, numerous "get togethers" plus a Homecoming victory dance are planned.

Dormitory Presidents To Discuss Politics

Dorm council presidents will meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center to collect ideas on dormitory policies and to discuss Honor Life.

Dr. Wassenich Speaks

Passivism Not Adequate Answer for Christians

"Passivism is not an adequate answer," Dr. Paul G. Wassenich, associate professor of religion, said in chapel recently.

Christians should have some weapons on hand if disarmament cannot be achieved by the United Nations.

They should participate in building bomb and fallout shelters.

Christians also should "think and work for the possibilities of those who will survive" a world catastrophe, the speaker said.

"Your life is very likely to be poured out," "What will your death mean? It will mean what your life did."

He said Philippians 1:21, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain," gives meaning to life and death.

He stressed the importance of using all power for the purpose of God. "Power can be used for evil or good."

"Knowledge of what you can do is no answer to what you ought to do."

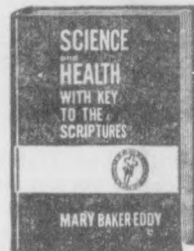

"The role of the Christian is to apply his mind to knowledge and see its relativity to God."

Chapel speaker at 11 a.m. Tuesday will be A. W. Braden, professor of homiletics.

EVERY COLLEGE STUDENT needs this book to increase his ability to learn

An understanding of the truth contained in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy can remove the pressure which concerns today's college student upon whom increasing demands are being made for academic excellence.

Christian Science calms fear and gives to the student the full assurance he needs in order to learn easily and to evaluate what he has learned. It teaches that God is man's Mind—his only Mind—from which emanates all the intelligence he needs, when and as he needs it.

Science and Health, the textbook of Christian Science, may be read or examined, together with the Bible, in an atmosphere of quiet and peace, at any Christian Science Reading Room. Information about Science and Health may also be obtained on campus through the

Convocation Rescheduled

Thanksgiving Convocation will be held at 11 a.m., Nov. 16, instead of Nov. 14, as listed in the University calendar.

The change was made in order to put the convocation nearer to the Thanksgiving recess.

Sydney Payne, Fort Worth sophomore and chairman of the convocation committee of the United Religious Council, said the program will consist of music and readings from Psalms.

Of New Jersey's land area about one-sixth is classed as urban.

Journalistic Society To Initiate Abroad

Initiating overseas chapters of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, was one of the resolutions passed at the recent national convention in Miami Beach. The first of the proposed chapters will be in London.

Don Buckman, Fort Worth senior and delegate of the TCU undergraduate chapter, said, "Much of the business was routine approval of resolutions. Important points were the election of national officers and the tabling of a motion to change the name of undergraduate chapters to student chapters."

Governor's Address

Farris Bryant, governor of Florida, and Nelson Rockefeller, governor of New York, addressed the convention. Other speakers were the Chief Adviser to the President on national security, McGeorge Bundy and Robert R. Gilruth, director of the space task force of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Also attending from the University were Bill Sheridan, instructor in journalism, Harold McKinney and Tim Talbert, both Fort Worth juniors.

Of the Hawaiian luau planned for the convention delegates on Thursday night, Buckman quipped, "There was more food than I've ever seen in one place before. There were all kinds of Hawaiian goodies, like pineapple punch and hula dancers."

Delegates Tour

Delegates toured the Miami News and Miami Herald buildings and the WTVJ television station. Panel discussions on radio and TV editorials and on Latin American problems were on the convention agenda.

Students Set UN Conference

College students from all over the U.S. will gather in New York City this weekend for a conference sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

The University may send as many as six delegates to the meeting, which features an address by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

The delegates will study vital world issues from the American angle and also will attempt to view the situations as other nations do.

The students will be briefed on national viewpoints by experts from several world areas.

Panel sessions on the final day of the conference are entitled "The Role of the Non-Aligned Nations in International Politics," "African Development and the United Nations" and "The Problems of Chinese Representation."

Registration forms for the conference are available in the office of the dean of students.

"The only hope of the nations not to destroy each other, is for them to become creatively interested in helping each other."—New Outlook.

Three Men Nominated For Danforth Fellowship

Charles Cannon and Louis Mondy, Dallas seniors, and Joe Lake, Gainesville senior, have been selected by the National Danforth committee of the University to receive financial aid upon entering the college teaching profession.

The nominating committee was comprised of Dr. Ben Proctor, assistant professor of history and chairman of the group; Dr. Gustave Ferre, professor of philosophy; and Dr. Herbert La Grone, professor of education.

Also Dr. Noel Keith, chairman of the religion department; Howard Wible, assistant professor in business administration, and Laurence C. Smith, dean of students.

"Nominees for the fellowship are required to have a 3.5 average or above," said Dr. Proctor.

Lake Makes Plans

Lake, a government and German major, plans to attend Johns Hopkins School of International Affairs after completing his courses here. After obtaining his Ph.D., he hopes to teach international affairs.

Lake participated in the College Bowl TV programs which brought national acclaim to the University.

His other activities include the Russian Club and assisting in language labs. Last year he was elected outstanding representative of the Evening College Student Council.

To Attend Seminary

After graduation, Mondy hopes to attend Yale University or Union Seminary in New York. The psychology and religion major plans to study for a Bachelor of Divinity, as well as a Ph.D. degree.

Besides being vice president of Delta Tau Delta, Mondy is in Student Congress as an arts and science representative and member of Alpha Chi.

Cannon, a religion major, also hopes to attend Yale University after graduation.

He is a former president of the Vigilantes, a member of Alpha Chi and is a weight-lifting instructor.

The Cynic

The Skiff Predicts--

BY DON BUCKMAN

Writing editorials with built-in Drew Pearson-like predictions a week in advance for a semi-weekly paper is a dangerous sport.

It will be quite some time before Skiff cohorts let us forget the editorial in last Tuesday's paper in which, neck out, we wrote, "We're willing to bet Russia won't set off this 50-megaton blast, either because it can't or because of the propaganda advantage in not exploding it . . ."

Guess when the editorial appeared? The day after the Russians pushed the button.

In Miami for a convention, we kept a wary eye on the city newspapers, knowing The Skiff editorial in question was already in type.

By the time of the positive, absolute deadline for the Tuesday paper, there was not a peep from Siberia. So we issued no kill order for the prediction.

Mysteriously a neatly printed poster appeared Tuesday on a bulletin board in The Skiff lab. With a clipping of that editorial in the center, and a heavy black border, it said, "The Skiff predicts . . ."

From the faculty offices came another copy with the "We're willing to bet" circled in red and the notation, "Well, you lose."

But we console ourselves with the editorials and news stories we DID kill in time: "Voters Will Defeat Worth Hills Sale," "College Bowl Team Will Win Again," "Howdy Week To Be Cancelled," "Frogs Certain Conference Champions," "Bookstore Closes, Yields to Book Nook," and "Honest Elections Assured by Fraternities."

Why journalists get gray!

Editorially Speaking

Publisher Peaks Audacity

BY DON BUCKMAN

Anyone — even the newest freshman on this campus has a right to criticize the President of the United States. But no one should forget his manners in doing it.

E. M. (Ted) Dealey, patriarchal publisher of the Dallas Morning News, reached new heights in audacity recently at a White House luncheon.

The President invited top executives of large Texas newspapers to Washington. Nineteen attended; two, including Amon Carter Jr. of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, declined.

Dealey, to use his words, "caused a sort of ruckus" by reading to the President a prepared statement which said, among several other things, "The general opinion of the grass-roots thinking in this country is that you and your administration are weak sisters."

"We need a man on horseback to lead this nation and many people in Texas and the Southwest think you are riding Caroline's tricycle," the statement continued. After the meeting, Dealey—in a bylined page one story in the News — called it "pretty much a water haul."

Instead, the statement ("We are awake and angry . . . we are not cowards and will not wallow in the sloughs of degradation") sounds like something Dealey whipped out in a few minutes in his second-floor Dallas office like many of the paper's editorials, which the President apparently doesn't like to read, according to wire service stories.

After the meeting, according to one report, an informal caucus showed that all the newsmen present disagreed with Dealey and thought he was out of order.

Cheating Defined

What does cheating mean?

The dictionary says it's "a fraud, swindle, deception or a sham."

It goes deeper than merely deceiving someone to gain a particular goal. A student who cheats in the classroom or in an election, in the long-run, finds he has only cheated himself out of an education or a competent student government.

Some students say, "We just wanted to see our favorite candidate win." What if their candidate isn't qualified to fill the office? Can a government be run efficiently if its officials don't recognize their responsibilities to the student body? Is a candidate who wins by such underhanded methods a proper representative of our student body?

College is the training ground for future citizens. Students who don't feel that these student elections are important must realize that these elections are part of their training.

As students, we need to recognize the need for honesty in all aspects of life, as well as in elections. As citizens, we will decide who is to head our Federal, state and local governments. The decision of whether these governments will be corrupt or whether they will be responsible, can only rest on our shoulders.

If we want an honest government, only through honest elections and honest voting procedures, can we gain one.

Skiff Welcomes Mail

The Skiff welcomes letters. Receiving them boosts our morale, makes us happy, gives us self confidence.

Seriously, the only way The Skiff can know of students' thoughts is through letters. Write them.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I WISH I COULD BE LIKE RUGPAD—TO RELEASE THOSE PENT-UP EMOTIONS—HE SITS BY TH' HOUR AN' STUDIES SEX."

Basis for Complaint Seems Unfounded

No gripe has been heard longer at TCU than the parking, "no-space problem" — not to be confused with the "romantic" version.

There is a general feeling that there are not enough convenient places to park. Some think the new ruling which prohibits dorm students from parking east of University Drive from 8 a.m. until noon is unreasonable.

But perhaps students should count their parking spaces. Opposition in the recent Worth Hills Golf Course fight claimed that TCU has more parking space than any other college in the country.

The University has 1,497 parking permits spaces— not counting stadium lots. Twelve hundred parking permits have been issued to dorm students and 400 to faculty and staff this year. That's almost a space per vehicle. Considering that faculty members are on campus only during the day and not all dorm students' cars are on campus at the same time, what's the space problem?

Including the stadium area, 5,000 spaces are available.

At some colleges in the East and Midwest, parking on campus is permitted for graduate students and faculty only. Other schools allow upperclassmen the convenience. And several universities have a minimum grade point average as a stipulation.

Suggestions have been made for solving the so-called problem. How about a three or four-story ramp in the center of the campus, stacking 'em up? Going underground might be the answer.

With the stadium area and the streets near campus for overflow, there is no immediate or serious need for parking space. Plans call for landscaped parking lots adjacent to buildings on the Worth Hills site.

In the meantime, frustrated students might try walking. Many did for a long time B.C. (before cars), with few ill effects.

The real problem is that of "outer space." Too many students want to park their convertibles ten feet from their next class . . . and not in outer space—the other side of University Drive, for instance.

Forum Good Idea

The forum on cheating to be held Tuesday is one of the wisest moves student leaders have made in a long time. Although The Skiff has tried to give all the "facts ma'am," a few questions are bound to remain unanswered for some.

Now, here's hoping that a large number of students turns out for the session.

Need someone to help you with you studies? Go to church Sunday.

TCU Donates $6,124.68 To United Fund

Amos Melton, public relations director, has announced the latest figures in the United Fund campaign just completed on campus.

A total of 442 faculty and staff members have donated $6,124.68. This is a gain of 39 per cent over last year, Melton said.

The goal for colleges and universities in the Fort Worth area was $8,300. The University donation is three fourths of the goal of the entire universities in this area.

"This is a new record of which we are very proud," said Melton.

He and Dr. D. Ray Lindley, president of the University, are co-chairmen of the United Fund on campus.

At Jackson Lake Lodge

Coeds Spend Summer In Grand Teton Park

BY JUDY GALLOWAY
Tramping through the Tetons for three months were Marcy Reiners, Fort Worth senior, and Brenda Boyd, Corsicana senior. Both spent the summer working at the Jackson Lake Lodge in Grand Teton National Park, Wyoming.

The laundry was the second home for Brenda and Marcy who folded thousands of sheets during their three months' stay. This was the second year for Marcy, who spent last summer working in Yellowstone National Park.

They left for the park on June

4, traveling 33 hours on a bus. Marcy was forced to take a cab for the last 200 miles as there was no bus on Sunday. They arrived back in Fort Worth on Sept. 8.

8,000 Apply

"More than 8,000 applied for the 500 jobs," said Marcy. "We felt lucky to have got ours. However, next year we plan to work behind the fountain. It is more fun and the tips are bigger!"

The two Delta Gammas applied to the Grand Teton Lodge Co. in San Francisco. It is owned by the Rockefeller Foundation. Workers came from 35 states and the Virgin Islands, and the boys outnumbered the girls.

Teton tea parties, where tea was served from a strange recipe, were the main recreation. There were also float trips, made on rubber rafts, down the Snake River, and movies in the recreation hall.

A fire in the main lodge was an exciting event. It began in the ballroom which was completely destroyed. Marcy and Brenda stayed up the whole night serving coffee to the firemen.

Make Trip

They made a trip to Salt Lake City to see Johnny Mathis. The trip took all night, and after seeing the 35-minute show, the group returned to the park just in time to go to work. Needless to say, there were some sleepy people in the laundry that day.

"All of us who worked in the park in our section are planning a reunion Thanksgiving in New Orleans. One of the girls is making her debut so we're all going down to celebrate."

The program is open to any one interested in the construction field. Those who would like to attend should contact T.D. Caldwell, at extension 294.

Citizens 'Cozy' About Shelters

Civil Defense officials are reported concerned about the "cozy" attitude of some citizens in regard to the degree of protection afforded by nuclear fallout shelters.

Baylor Bounces Purples, 28-14

Bears Gain First Victory Over Frogs Since 1954

Frog halfback Donny Smith is stopped for no gain in the fourth quarter of Saturday's SWC tilt in Waco. In on the tackle for Baylor are Robert Mankin (69) and Weldon Price (53). The Purple fell to Baylor, 14-28, and dropped to the cellar in Southwest Conference standings along with the Bears. Both teams own a 1-3 record.

Two Baptist gents named Ronnie — one Bull, the other Stanley — who obviously don't read The Skiff combined talents Saturday to lead the Baylor Bears to their first triumph over a TCU team since 1954.

The 14-28 loss dropped the Frogs and Baylor into a tie for the SWC cellar. Both stand 1-3 in conference play. The Waco school now owns a 3-3 record for the year while the Purples are 2-3-1.

An article in the Friday issue of The Skiff reported that both Bull and Stanley had been disappointing to Baylor partisans this season. Evidently the Ronnies didn't realize that their mediocre play was to continue for another week.

Saturday, Bull returned to his 1960 form rushing for 42 yards in 10 carries and one touchdown. Stanley had eight completions in 12 attempts to pick up 90 yards.

Stanley in Top Form

Stanley's play was reminiscent of last year when he was the league's total offense leader. The Baylor quarterback riddled TCU's pass defense which had limited opponents to only 60 yards per game through the air.

Stanley, Bobby Ply, Bull, and Goodwin covered 220 yards with 12 completions for the day.

Sonny Gibbs retained his conference offense lead gaining 124 steps. He hit on seven of 11 tosses for 105 yards and added another 19 on the ground.

Buddy Iles was the game's leading receiver grabbing six for 88 yards. Donny Smith caught one 17-yard Gibbs aerial for TCU's first TD.

Gibbs tallied the second time for the Frogs on a one-yard plunge. It climaxed a nine-play 78-yard drive.

Defensively it was TCU's tackles, Bobby Plummer and Don Jackson, who made the big plays. Plummer was credited with 12 tackles and Jackson with eight. Bill Phillips and Marvin Chipman also contributed fine defensive efforts.

Plummer's Best Game

Plummer, 6-2, 230-pound senior, played what was probably his best game at TCU. Two scouts from the National Football League Dallas Cowboys admitted they were "much impressed" with Plummer's performance.

It was Homecoming at Waco and the Bears shook off their early season doldrums and gave their fans something to cheer about. For TCU it was a story of mistakes. Baylor capitalized on three Frog miscues to score touchdowns.

The Bears got their first score when Gary Thomas fumbled the pass from center on a fourth down punt try. Baylor took over on the TCU 20 and went in for the counter.

The Baptists turned a recovered fumble on TCU's 20 into another touchdown early in the fourth period.

Late in the final period the Frogs, trailing 14-21, attempted an onside kick which almost succeeded. But a Baylor tackle fielded it cleanly and from the 49 the Bears drove in for their final score.

This weekend Baylor meets the steam-rolling Texas Longhorns at Austin and the Frogs fly to the West Coast for an intersectional bout with UCLA in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Shreveport Coed Takes Top Spot In Archery Meet

Barbara Faye White may not be another William Tell, but she won the intramural archery tournament sponsored by the Women's Sports Association.

The Delta Gamma senior from Shreveport scored 369 points, hitting the target 65 out of 72 times.

Jane Hester, Houston junior, and Lee Draper, Corpus Christi senior, won second and third places respectively with scores of 354 and 352.

Fifteen contestants entered the tournament, according to intramural director Glenda Craddock. Four ends, 24 arrows, were shot at distances of 20, 30 and 40 yards. The contest is one of several sponsored by WSA in conjunction with the intramural program.

The winners receive certificates and their teams are awarded points toward a special trophy given in the spring. First, second and third place trophies go to the intramural teams accumulating the most points throughout the year.

Miss White recently won the Deep South Women's Golf Tournament in New Orleans.

Texas Smashes Ponies; Become No. 1 in Nation

BY TIM TALBERT

In all probability, the University of Texas may boast of having the number one football team in the nation when the national polls are announced this week.

The Longhorns were ranked third behind Michigan State and Mississippi before last Saturday. Michigan State was upended, 13-0 by defending national champs Minnesota, and second ranked Ole Miss was upset by arch rival LSU, 10-7 at Baton Rouge.

Of course, the Steers put down SMU, 27-0 in the second half for their seventh straight victory.

Steers Jump to No. 1

And that should be enough margin to boast Darrell Royal's talented squad into the number one position. If so, it will be the first time a SWC team has held the top spot in the national rankings since A&M in 1957.

But the last time a SWC team (the Aggies) did make number one, the next week they were third in the conference and completely out of the top ten teams.

(Rice beat A&M 7-6 in 1957 to knock the Aggies out of the national limelight.)

So, the top ten spot is a bit precarious and the only way from there is down.

The Texas offense sputtered for two quarters before finally catching fire in the second half to put down a fired up SMU team in the Cotton Bowl. The spark was ignited on the third play of the third quarter by an 80-yard touchdown sprint by James Saxton.

After that, it was all Texas with the Longhorns scoring almost at will. SMU missed a half-time lead by inches in the second quarter and that probably cost the Ponies an upset. The Mustangs had two tries at the Texas goal from the half-yard line, but lost a yard on both chances.

Texas Meets Baylor

Texas meets Baylor this weekend in Austin. The Longhorns have not come up against an offense like that of Baylor this year. The Bears are capable of scoring from any spot on the field at any time, as TCU found out.

Baylor has the hosses to turn the same trick Rice did four years ago plus they seem to have the best chance of stopping the Longhorn's stampede.

The Bears got back in the victory column last week by slapping TCU, 28-14. This was the first time Baylor has beat the Frogs in six years. Baylor gouged out 22 first downs and 349 yards total offense.

The Frogs play a Friday night game this week against UCLA in California.

In the other two conference games played Saturday, Rice staggered Tech, 42-7 and Arkansas edged A&M, 15-8.

A brilliant one-man show was staged by Rice's Butch Blume against Tech. The stocky half-back scored 30 points, a new Rice individual scoring record. Blume ran for four TD's, caught a pass for another, then kicked six extra points for his total of 30.

Blume Plays Spoiler

Blume's performance spoiled a Tech homecoming crowd of 34,000. This weekend, Tech takes on Boston College in Lubbock and Rice plans its own homecoming against Arkansas in Houston.

Arkansas scored with 57 seconds remaining to dampen any Aggie hopes of a conference title or a possible bowl bid. The Ags were ahead, 8-7 until George McKinney tossed a TD pass to Jimmy John and another pass to Paul Dudley for the two points.

A&M entertain SMU in College Station Saturday. Both teams should do better than their scoreless duel of last year.

'Feet' Make News In SWC This Year

"The foot" has made the biggest headlines at the half-way mark in the Southwest Conference, and it isn't "athlete's foot" either.

The field goal has become a major weapon in the half-gone football season and already has won five games and played important part in three others.

Protection against the two-point conversion seems to be the most logical reason for the boom of three-pointers.

Jerry Spearman's talented toe has accounted for both of the Horned Frog victories so far this year. The son of former Frog great Blanford Spearman has booted a 36-yard field goal in the last 4½ minutes to beat Kansas, 17-16. His 20-yarder with 2:12 left beat favored Texas A&M, 15-14.

SMU's John Richey approaches the ball from an unusual angle — bare-footed. He meets the ball head-on (rather Foot-on), with his big toe taking most of the punishment. He says he doesn't mind the cold but that the mud gives him his most trouble.

Richey kicked the 30-yard field goal which brought the Mustangs their first victory in 14 games, beating Air Force, 9-7.

Butch Blume of Rice leads the conference in kicking three-pointers. He has four. He booted 24 and 31-yard field goals against Florida as Rice won, 19-0. He booted another against SMU to cinch a 10-0 victory for the Owls.

Texas Tech's H. L. Daniels shocked favored Baylor with a 34-yarder in the last 35 seconds as the Red Raiders upset the Bears, 19-17. Daniels has made good on two of three field goal attempts.

Carl Choate of Baylor has kicked three field goals. His boot against Pittsburgh proved to be the big difference as the Bears edged out a 16-13 win.

In the Southwest Conference, where football is played at its best, add a new class of well-trained foot-men to the already well-established, well-respected class of top-notch football.

TCU's Buddy Iles is all alone in the Baylor secondary as he gathers in a Sonny Gibbs pass for a seven yard gain. He was brought down by Bear linebacker Robert Mankin. Iles caught six for 88 yards in Saturday's game.
