35 Gain Runoff

Polls opened at 8 a.m. today as runoff elections got under way for 13 class offices and the four freshman Student Congress representative posts.

Expected to stir the most interest was the race between football player Lynn Morrison and Stan Read, Student Congress vice president last year, for the senior class presidency.

Read edged Ray Reece, assistant editor of the Horned Frog, by one vote (81-80) in Wednesday's primary election for the second spot on the runoff ballot. Morrison polled 114 and Griff O'Neil got 47.

There also was a close contest for freshman treasurer, with Fluffy Jones and Maria Alexander tying with 72 votes each to join Bill Walker in the runoff. Walker's total was 99.

Three persons were elected to office by clear majorities in Wednesday's balloting.

Howard Walsh defeated Tim Ames for the senior class vice presidency, 204 to 117.

Peggy Snider won over Robert Sloth Gilliland, 158 to 150, for reasurer of the senior class.

In the junior class president contest, David Stevenson was elected with a 182 total. Bill Denning received 96 and John Hearne 81.

Students May Decide

NSA Referendum Possible

The possibility of a campus-wide referendum on the question of joining the National Students Association (NSA) was raised at Tuesday's Student Congress meeting.

Congress President Galen Hull suggested that the November favorites election might be a good time to present the issue to the student body.

Dr. George Reeves, a faculty adviser to congress, and other members said, in the lengthy discussion that followed, that a November vote might not allow sufficient time to acquaint students with the pros and cons of the issue.

Objectives Outlined

A motion was passed to have the congressional relations committee, headed by Linda Pilcher, make recommendations at next Tuesday's meeting on four congress objectives concerning NSA:

Mothers and fathers of TCU students will be in the spotlight today as Parents' Weekend begins at 2 p.m.

From 2 to 6 p.m. parents will register at dormitories and in the Student Center lobby.

A vesper service will be held in Robert Carr Chapel at 6 p.m. with Dr. Cecil A. Jarman, professor of religion, speaking.

The quadrangle in front of the Student Center will be the scene of a torchlight parade and pep rally at 6:45 p.m.

To wind up Friday's activities the TCU Symphony Orchestra will present a concert at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Admission is free.

Registration will continue Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon. A 30-minute carillon concert from Robert Carr Chapel spire will begin at 9 a.m.

A reception will be held in the Student Center Ballroom from 9:30 to 11 a.m. to enable parents to meet administration and faculty.

Parents are invited to visit in the dormitories from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Other campus buildings open to visitors are: Brown-Lupton Student Center, where there will be a continuous showing of the film, "This IS TCU" in Room 204; Mary Couts Burnett Library, where the William Luther Lewis Collection of rare books and manuscripts is located.

Parents' Weekend banquet will be held in the Student Center at 5 p.m. Vice Chancellor Laurence Smith will speak.

The Horned Frogs will meet the Red Raiders of Texas Tech at 7:30 p.m. in Amon Carter Stadium. During halftime the TCU band will present an original jazz composition adapted for marching band routines. The routines were composed by John Giordano, assistant band director.

1. Getting the administration's opinion.
2. Having a complete Student Congress discussion.
3. Informing the student body.
4. The possibility of a campus referendum.

Liberals, Conservatives Touch Off Debate on NSA

BY JAMES MARTIN

A potpourri of liberal and conservative comment concerning an article in Tuesday's Skiff strongly criticizing the University's proposed joining of the National Students Association (NSA) has ignited a spark in normally lethargic campus politics.

The article voiced opinions of Jay Hackleman, president of the Young Republican Club of TCU.

Hackleman's criticizing of Rafael Ruiz, recent observer to the NSA convention at Ohio State University, for what Hackleman termed Ruiz's having been brainwashed by the ultra-liberals, and his inability to project a true and factual account of NSA was rebutted by students.

Commenting on the accusation, Ruiz said, "I was completely surprised to read something like that, since I have never met or talked with Hackleman."

Ruiz pooh-poohed the idea that he was brainwashed by the delegates and insisted that no group or individual tried to represent the organization in anything but reality to him.

"I am aware of the disadvantages of joining NSA, and I'm not sold on the idea that this is a perfect organization. But I do feel the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages," he said.

Ruiz noted that the attorney general's office never has been asked to investigate NSA for any subversive activities.

He feels Hackleman's statement has greatly helped to alert students to the issue, so that more information and opinions can be expressed.

Reactions from Young Democrats on campus were voiced by Roger Taylor, president, who said that as far as he knows, Ruiz "is representing his position as

Activities Workshop Scheduled

High school students of the north Texas area will be on campus Saturday to obtain practical experience through "workshops" for the Region 2 Interscholastic League contests to be held here April 19-20.

This will be the first time for the contests to be held at the University.

Workshops to be offered in north Texas Student Activities conference will include speech, debate, plays, ready writing, common sense, slide rule and science.

W. Powell Stewart, University of Texas department of English, will speak on "Writing Good Expository Paragraphs" in connection with the writing laboratory.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the University Interscholastic League and TCU, has sent invitations to 347 schools. About 100 students are expected to attend.

A journalism conference featuring several top journalistic speakers will be held in conjunction with the workshops. Jack Butcher, assistant managing editor of the Star-Telegram, and Russell Hirst, national executive officer of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, will deliver two main addresses.

Student Opinion Poll

Library on Sunday Approved

The students say, "Yes." Following up a Skiff editorial published Tuesday, several University students were polled as to their opinions on opening the library from 2 to 7 p.m. each Sunday.

With few exceptions, the students concerned agreed that the library should be open. Their answers, in fact, indicate that a campus-wide referendum on the matter would result in approval of Sunday opening of the library.

THE QUESTION was, "Do you think the library should be left open on Sunday?"

The answers:
Carl Schneider, Hammond, La. senior: "Yes, I would open the library on Sunday. I think it would get more use than on Saturday because of less distractions."

Richard Henderson, Brite College student from Denver who preaches each Sunday in Garland: "I doubt seriously whether keeping the library open constitutes a breach of moral law. I believe keeping up with one's studies is one of the most important parts of student life."

JUDY PENROD, Wichita, Kan. sophomore: "I am very much for keeping the library open on Sunday, since it's not open all day Saturday because of football games."

"I went to the University of Kansas, and they certainly keep their library open on Sunday."

Barry Post, Longview freshman: "If I had the power to open or close the library, for the benefit of all concerned, I would keep it open."

Chung Kim, senior chemistry major from Seoul, Korea: "On Sunday? It's fine! Everybody wants it. It would help a lot."

Kay Campbell, Troy, Mo. junior: "I don't think it would be a good idea because nobody would go anyway. I personally would rather get my studying done on Saturday."

Richard Shelburne, Sherman sophomore: "If they'd start keeping the library open on Sunday, there wouldn't be so many late term papers and that sort of thing."

Sam Cox, Fort Worth senior: "If it doesn't cost too much I guess they could open it. But I do think the library is open enough now for students to get their work done. I think the decision should be left entirely up to the administration."

Angel Flight Picks Officers

Angel Flight officers for 1962-1963 are Mona Lynn McDaniel, commander; Carolyn Moxley deputy commander; Bonnie McPherson secretary; Jayne Pickett, comptroller.

Also Lou Hill, operations officer; Pam Smith, information service officer; Bonnie Kingston, chaplain; Kay Johnson, drill commander, and Jackie Marshall, assistant drill commander.

The last three years the flight has gone to Mardi Gras in New Orleans, where for two years they have served as honor guard to King Rex in the Rex Parade.

Miss McDaniel, Fort Worth junior, explained that the flight entered the tri-state area Air Force drill competition for the first time this year. They placed third competing with groups from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The flight voted on five outstanding "angels" for the first time last year. This honor is based on the contributions of the girls during the year. Miss McDaniel said this will become an annual honor.

The flight gives parties for orphans at Christmas and in the spring. Other activities include the Christmas dance when the flight is presented and the Spring Ball where the Air Force ROTC sweetheart is presented.

Head Librarian Disapproves Of Sunday Library Schedule

Should Mary Coutts Burnett Library open on Sunday? Is it worth the added expense and effort?

These questions brought mixed response from faculty and staff members.

Mrs. Nell Ornee, acting head librarian, says that the library staff wishes to meet the needs of the students, but that they in turn should be more co-operative than they have in the past. She said that a Sunday opening wouldn't be necessary if students would avail themselves of the library during the current operating hours.

She pointed out that the building is almost vacant on Friday nights and Saturday mornings.

"If used to capacity," she said "we wouldn't mind a Sunday schedule. It's a big expense, though."

In response to the suggestion that student librarians might be used on Sunday, she said that they wouldn't suffice.

"We must have more than that," she explained.

She thought the problem might be solved if students would arrange their schedules to coincide with that of the library.

Mrs. Ornee commented that the library would be open again this year two Sundays before final exams.

Dr. Laurence Smith, vice chancellor of student life, said his sentiments in the matter were mixed. He said he was in favor of Sunday hours if the students would support it, but that a Sunday experiment several years ago failed for lack of support.

Dr. William C. Nunn, history professor, said there was a dual need; that students need to study, but staff members are entitled to a day of rest.

Decision to institute Sunday hours would require the joint approval of the library staff and Dr. James Moudy, vice chancellor for academic affairs.

observed to the best of his abilities."

He said his organization would endorse NSA, "not because it is liberal or conservative, but because it represents colleges across the nation, and such an exchange of views would be to the interest of the University."

"Hackleman has taken a very narrow view of NSA, and I hope he is fully aware of what direction he is taking," Taylor said.

He said that his organization has no information as to any Communist influences NSA might have, but said his group would oppose joining if any such "pinko" attitudes were uncovered.

Taylor also took issue with Hackleman's protesting of the liberal thinking of the Skiff and editor, Harold McKinney.

"The paper always has given us fullest co-operation to any program we had, and I certainly don't think it represents the liberal doctrine. I believe it follows a non-partisan policy."

Hackleman's ideas were endorsed strongly by Sara Worley, vice president of the Young Conservatives on campus.

"I am definitely against NSA, because in the preamble of the constitution it says, 'We the students of the United States . . .', and since they don't fully represent all the campuses of the nation, it's a lie."

Miss Worley said that it was entirely possible for Ruiz to have been brainwashed, "considering the past tactics of the NSA leaders."

She doubted the validity of NSA's non-partisanship, pointing to recent resolutions involving integration, nuclear tests and disarmament.

"I would hate to see TCU represented by NSA, because we are known as a pretty fair school, and would hate to see us aligned with such a radical group as that."

She agreed with Hackleman's charge of liberalism of the Skiff, and accused McKinney of "not acting what he preaches," in failing to provide a voice for minorities in news space. She charged McKinney with preventing the publication of conservative viewpoints in the paper.

BY ROBERT TAYLOR

Disgust, self-righteousness, and a "who-are-you-to-tell-us-what-to-do" attitude may be directed at the United States over the Mississippi rioting by other nations, especially South Africa.

This is the opinion of Mrs. Susan Fourie, former missionary and citizen of South Africa, as she watches the events taking place at Ole Miss.

"South Africans resent foreigners coming there for a few weeks and then returning home to write articles condemning them for their state of segregation without actually knowing the people and their background," said Mrs. Fourie, senior elementary education major.

SHE FEELS that the African could not fully understand the American and vice versa due to the fact that each is taught the history of his own country and knows very little of the other. One might understand more if he lives here awhile.

"I think I can see that in either Mississippi or Africa the whites fear being outnumbered if integration is allowed to exist," she said. "I can also see that the Negro would like to better himself."

Africa has a complex racial problem. The country has a population of approximately 200 million Negroes and 5 million Caucasians who exist in a state of "apartheid" (Afrikaans language for separateness). This segregated condition is similar to the "separate but equal" doctrine of the United States in 1896.

One example of this is that each race has its own schools with equal opportunity for education. However, school is compulsory to the whites, the Negro is free to go if he wishes. They usually do not attend due to a lack of opportunities to enter business or industry. They can only hold lower positions.

When asked about social acceptance, Mrs. Fourie answered, "The classes do not mix. There are different lines even in the post office. On the street they are very respectful...they

TCU Boosting Economy

University students and employees spend $23,329,500 every year.

That is the estimate given by Assistant to the Chancellor Amos Melton in a recent speech to the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

According to Melton, students spend $4,702,500 for school text books and supplies. For travel and recreation, people connected with the University pay $2,500,000.

Employees spend an average of $3,510,000 annually for housing, food and clothing. The University pays $2,800,000 for goods and services, including a $117,000 electric bill.

Visitors to academic, athletic and other events add $3,500,000 to expenditures.

Since 1941 the University has spent $1,200,000 yearly on buildings, while the credit generated by University funds and endowments circulates $5,000,000 in local banks.

"Conservatively speaking," said Melton, "this is our economic value to Fort Worth."

Placement Bureau Finds Employment for Students

University Placement Bureau is beginning its seventh year of helping jobless students find employment.

Through the bureau, employers meet and interview prospective employees. This service, free of charge, is available to both graduate students seeking full-time career opportunities, and undergraduates who want part-time work on or off campus.

Each year, the bureau sets up a recruiting schedule. Company representatives visit the campus and individual interviews are arranged for seniors.

Interviewers will begin Monday and Tuesday, when U.S. Navy representatives talk with students interested in aviation.

Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation representatives will visit the campus Wednesday.

Interviews with firms will continue through May 10. Notices of interviews will be given a week in advance on the Student Center bulletin boards and in the The Skiff.

About 850 part-time applications and 225 senior applications for career jobs are placed with the bureau each year, said Raymond (Bear) Wolf, director of the Placement Bureau since 1956.

Opportunities are available in most degree fields, from business to fine arts. Starting salaries range from $350 to $500 monthly, varying with the industry, Wolf said.

A 1928 graduate of the University, Wolf was assistant football coach here from 1928 to

10 People Sought For Seminar Panel

Human relations committee of Student Congress is looking for 10 students to serve on a special panel to plan the Human Relations Seminar to be held on campus Feb. 8-9.

"The seminar will be on desegregation. We are not condoning integration, we are not speaking against segregation. We're merely looking at the national issue of desegregation as it might apply to universities such as TCU," said Wayne Ewen, member of the Congress committee.

Ewen added that all opinions on desegregation are sought for the special panel. Prospective members may call Ewen at WALnut 3-9442, Billy Tumlinson at WALnut 4-1222 or Carol Campbell at WALnut 3-3551 by noon next Wednesday. Tumlinson and Miss Campbell are committee members.

Pall Mall Presents - GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

BATON-TWIRLING HIGH-STEPPER

CAMPUS TYPE I

The High-Stepper is an ideal choice for Campus Type #1 for two reasons. First, she is a fairly common species—and second, she is easy to identify.

Just as the bird-watching beginner should concentrate on the Robin, Sparrow and Cardinal before moving on to more exotic species, the girl watching beginner should master the observation and identification of types such as the High-Stepper before progressing to rarer (and usually more difficult to identify) types.

As in all fine arts, the mastery of fundamentals is the key to girl watching success. This mastery of fundamentals is just as important in the art of cigarette making. Taste Pall Mall and see what we mean!

Frogs Brace for Raiders, Charge

Tech-Purples Due 7:30 Kickoff Here

Much will be at stake when the Frogs and Texas Tech clash on the green carpet of Amon Carter Stadium tomorrow night.

This one, as usual, is no ordinary game, for the "championship of West Texas" is at stake. Most important, perhaps, the teams will be trying to prove to their fans they can rebound from early season disaster.

The Raiders have lost all three games this fall, to West Texas State, Texas and Texas A&M. They have developed a knack in the last two games of collapsing in the late crucial moments.

Last week they battled the Aggies evenly until the last minute of play then had it sacked with a field goal with 19 seconds remaining. Then an Aggie sophomore took the kickoff back for a winning touchdown.

The Frogs were kicked around by Arkansas last week, 42-14. So, both teams will try to be on the rebound for this game.

Each year when the Purples and Raiders play, the "championship of West Texas" is up for grabs. The winner takes home a leather saddle trophy. Tech won last year, 10-0.

Frog Coach Abe Martin has made changes in his starting lineup. Ken Henson has moved up to the starting center position, and either Jimmy Walker or Jerry Jack Terrell will run at left halfback.

Some Changes Made

These changes were due to injuries to regular center David Rettig and left half Donny Smith. Rettig has a shoulder separation, Smith a sprained ankle.

Other injured Frogs are No. 2 right end Terrell Taylor with a shoulder separation, No. 2 left half Larry Bulaich with a hip bruise. Only Bulaich is likely to see action against Tech.

If Jimmy Walker starts at halfback, it will be his first offensive action. He played a few downs on defense against Miami and Arkansas. Walker has been handicapped by a thigh injury since the third day of practice.

Raider Offense

The Red Raider offense revolves around three men, quarterback Johnny Lovelace, end David

Uptograph Leads Frosh Scoring

Wog halfback Gene Uptograph vaulted into the freshman scoring lead with 10 points against the A&M Fish. Uptograph latched on to a Kent Nix pass for a touchdown then added two conversions for his leading total.

The Wogs next game is against North Texas State Oct. 17 at Amon Carter Stadium. Three other Wogs are tied for second place with six points, ends Larry Perry and Joe Campbell and halfback Dan Jones.

Only two games were played in the freshman ranks last week, the Wogs beating the Fish, 28-13, on a fine passing performance by Kent Nix while the SMU Colts were outlasting the Arkansas Shoats, 6-0.

Two games were played last night, Baylor played Texas in Austin and Texas Tech battled Arkansas in Little Rock.

Parks and fullback Coolidge Hunt.

Lovelace is Tech's answer to Sonny Gibbs. He is 6-4 and weighs 215. The two-year letterman is the Raider's total offense leader with 221 yards.

Parks is a candidate for All-Southwest Conference end. He is second in pass receiving with eight catches for 118 yards.

Hunt is the leading Tech ball carrier with 120 yards on 32 totes. Hunt won the SWC rushing crown as a sophomore but finished third last year behind James Saxton of Texas and Tom Crutcher.

The Frogs hold an edge in the rivalry, 11-7. The last time Tech defeated the Frogs in Fort Worth was in 1943 by 40-20. This is the official student body trip for the Texas Tech students.

Longhorn-Sooner Battle Spices Football Slate

There is nothing like a good old grudge battle to spice up the football weekend. Such is the case tomorrow when Texas and Oklahoma get together for their annual battle in the Cotton Bowl.

Two other non-conference games are on tap, the Aggies travel to Gainesville, Fla. to engage Florida and in a night contest, Oregon takes on Rice in Houston.

Two league games are scheduled, Baylor invades the foothills of Fayetteville to play Arkansas and Tech plays TCU in a night game in Fort Worth.

Sooner Manpower Down

The Sooner manpower has been down in the past but this year they have a fine crop of sophomores. And coach Bud Wilkinson scouted the Texas-Tulane game personally to indicate he wants this game.

The Big Red has not defeated Texas in four years. Last year's 28 points scored by the Steers was the highest against an Oklahoma team since 1944.

In the series which dates back to 1900, Texas holds a 34-20 advantage. There have been two ties.

138-Pounds of Trouble

A sellout crowd of 75,504 is expected to witness the 2 p.m. kick-off.

The Aggies biggest problem with Florida will be trying to contain 138-pound quarterback Larry Libertore. Supplemented by 29 returning lettermen, the Gators should gobble up the Aggies.

Libertore is a combination James Saxton and Don Meridith. He has amazing running skill

Phi Kap Joe Rhodes uses his body to help catch this pass. Phi Delt John Wade attempts to knock the ball down. Action occurred during the second period of the Phi Kap-Phi Delt intramural game. The Phi Deltas won, 19-6.

SKIFF SPORTS

Red Flags Fly In Intramural

"Crime" doesn't pay anyone on the intramural field, fraternities gridmen have found out.

Officials at the games are being paid this year and they crash down this week in the first game of the season.

Lending to the confusion in opening games were some new rules.

The Phi Deltas' Mark Cliff wasn't too muddled, however, throwing three touchdown passes in a 19-6 victory over Phi Kappa Clifford threw a pair to Ken Anderson and one to Jimmy Lett.

In the other game, David Terry had a hand in all three touchdowns as Kappa Sigma beat Sigma Phi Eps, 20-0. Terry ran for a touchdown and passed to How Walsh and Lonnie Clover for other.

Three games are on next week's schedule. Army plays Air Force at 4 p.m. Monday. Sigma Chi faces Sigma Phi Epsilon at 3:30 Tuesday and Phi Delta Theta meets Sigma Alpha Epsilon at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

The Air Force-DSF game scheduled last week was postponed by rain.

Foe Selected For Roundball

The opening round foe for the Frog basketball team in the South Basketball Classic will be Eastern Kentucky. The tournament will be played in Shreveport, La., during the week of Dec. 26-29.

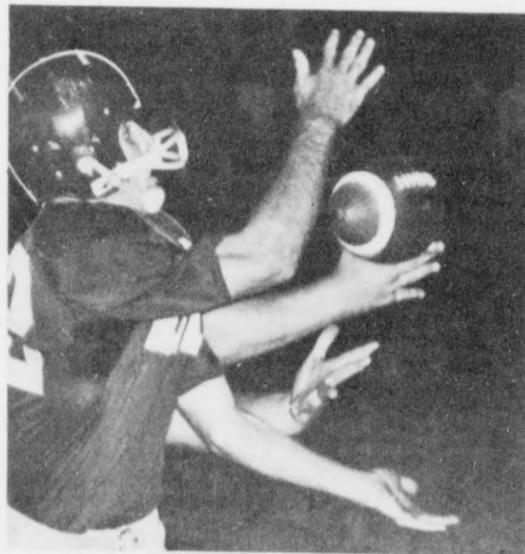

The Frogs appearance will be the first time a Southwest Conference school has competed in the tourney. Other schools entered are George Washington, West Texas, Louisiana State, Northwestern Louisiana, University of Southern Mississippi and Centenary.

Centenary is the defending champion of the tournament.
