Law Enforcement's View On Crime Among Topics

Dr. George J. Beto, Texas Department of Corrections director, will speak at the Human Relations Seminar April 17-18. He is to discuss law enforcement's viewpoint on crime.

While serving on the Texas Board of Corrections from 1953 to 1959, Dr. Beto became active in penal problems. Since then, he has studied large penal systems in the United States and in Europe.

In 1958, the Texas Foundation Heritage voted him Man of the Year for his contributions to the Texas Department of Corrections educational program.

Delinquency Film

In addition to Dr. Beto's part in the seminar, a film on juvenile delinquency will be shown and Stanley J. Rowland Jr., New York University graduate student, will speak on society's viewpoint of crime.

Rowland, author of "Ethics, Crime and Redemption" is currently feature writer and editor in the Office for Communications of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of The United Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Before this position, he was a Brooklyn, N. Y. Reporter on the New York Times. Also, Rowland served as associate director of the Presbyterian Office of Information.

He has had poems and articles published in literary and religious publications.

Discussion Topics

After talks, groups will discuss one of the following social problems: Juvenile delinquency; criminal law, the criminal mind, drug and alcohol addiction, the penal system, capital punishment, suicide, euthanasia (mercy killing), crime investigation, racketeering and sexual deviation, according to Dianne Rowland, chairman of the seminar.

These groups will be led by local persons experienced in the area of study. Among the authorities are Doug Crouch, Fort Worth district attorney; Elton Strother, state parole officer assigned to Fort Worth; and R. Wright Armstrong, Fort Worth judge.

Other resource persons from the University attending the seminar are Arthur K. Berliner, Dr.

Foreign Trade Counselor To Discuss Developments

Students interested in the field of foreign trade and international commerce will have an opportunity to discuss current developments in the foreign trade field when Carl S. Coler, career counselor of the American Institute for Foreign Trade, comes to the campus April 15.

There are increasing numbers of posts for young men and women qualified to represent United States interests abroad. In demand are people with backgrounds in accounting, finance, zoology, plant pathology, entomology, agriculture, animal nutrition and production, engineering, business administration, and liberal arts.

The course of study at the Institute prepares the students for international commerce and associated activities by providing specially trained personnel to serve business and government throughout the world and does much toward helping international understanding.

Up to the present, more than 1400 graduates have been placed in posts abroad, and an even larger number are in the services of American corporations in the United States having large foreign interests or affiliations.

Students interested in going into the field of foreign commerce are urged to make an appointment through R. B. Wolf, placement director, for an interview with Mr. Coler.

Incorrect Sum

Campus sex dressed in flashy red has been set up for ogling in a national newsmagazine's recent article.

A special letter, and an extra copy of the article in the April 6 issue, sent to student newspaper editors, gave the following description:

Newsweek magazine examines a sociological phenomenon with consequences, in their own way, as great as disarmament negotiations or a Presidential campaign. The story 'Morals on the Campus' is a serious probe of the attitudes of college men and women on sex . . . I am certain you will find it provocative reading.

This "examination" resembles one which might have been made by a hack physician oblivious to all parts of the anatomy except one.

Newsweek not only engages in flamboyant treatment of sex, but presents it as the sole criterion for discussing morality. By definition, morality is characterized by "excellence in what pertains to practice or conduct, springing from, or pertaining to man's natural sense or reasoned judgment of what is right and proper." Morals are a "science of doctrine or conduct, especially in relation to one's sense of duty."

Where was mention of honesty, exam cheating, cut-throat maneuvering for campus positions, dormitory stealing, lying, honor? Morality is not based, and can not be, solely equated with sex. Sexual promiscuity is not the only basis for judging immorality. A comprehensive report and inclusion of these as "morals" whether they are in revolution at this particular time or not is necessary to correctly label the article a "moral revolution." Some of these areas, demure in contrast to sequin-covered sex, need attention called to them, since we assume the reason for exposing a fault is hope it will be corrected.

Maybe the extra copies of the magazine with a comprehensive article wouldn't be sold, but with Newsweek treatment this seems doubtful.

Get Organized

It certainly is hard to keep up with the news around here—especially when there is a dance being planned.

The Presidential Ball with the tag "annual" on it was canceled due to what Palmer McCarter, Activities Council director, termed "lack of organization and lack of interest." The dance was scheduled April 10.

Fortunately, the cancellation was made in time to be printed in The Skiff. This was not the case with changes in the recent IBM Dance. The Games and Outings Committee in conjunction with the Dance Committee changed plans so often and so late that readers were confused as to what was happening.

Yes, the cancellation was announced this time. And, what in the future could become a traditional dance didn't even get its chance because of lack of organization. Mark Wassenich, student body president, said the dance had to be canceled because "two weeks wasn't enough time to work on the dance," indicating the length of time the Dance Committee had been working.

No wonder our all-school dances fail to draw interest. Students planning them don't show enough interest even to get themselves organized.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

On Other Campuses

Book Racket

(ACP)—The best answer to the problem of book stealing is an honest student, says Richard E. Chapin, library director at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

At present, he told Michigan State News, all the checkers manage to do is to keep honest students from stealing.

Increased checking probably would not lead to much improvement, he said. "We can check briefcases, but if you're going to steal something, chances are you'll hide it somewhere else. With bulky coats or packets, the problem is compounded. We are not allowed to search anybody without a warrant."

A possible means of alleviating the problem would be a closed-stack library where all books would be paged by attendants. "However," he said, "this would lead to much wasting of the student's time and counteract part of the education process. I consider browsing an important part of using the library."

Chapin added: "We like to think of ourselves as having other than a sheer policing function."

The department of public safety does not have the manpower or budget to investigate the methods of curbing library thefts, says Lt. Allen H. Andrews.

Andrews said many plans have been advanced concerned with a similar problem, but most haven't been sufficiently researched or have proved too expensive.

One library in Michigan is experimenting with the use of mirrors, Andrews said, but the results aren't yet available. Another proposal, which has been ruled out because of the cost, is the installation of short circuit TV cameras, he said.

He noted that many proposals call for rearrangement of facilities, such as one plan which places book shelves at right angles to the librarian's desk rather than parallel

It's Not Worth It

(ACP)—The Xavier News, Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio, is campaigning editorially for a co-educational school. But the newspaper has a columnist who seems to be campaigning against this campaign.

Fred Bernstein writes:

Some people have decided, after much careful consideration, that it might be a good idea to make Xavier a coeducational institution. It would be advisable to consider some of the drawbacks.

The immediate problem is a lack of facilities. Xavier, for instance, has no golf course. Another very practical consideration is that the ceilings in almost all the corridors are a bit too low to accommodate the ever-uplifted feminine proboscis — presuming, of course, that we might be able to draw a few of the regulars from Cincinnati's two "higher education" finishing schools.

Quite a few additions would have to be made to the curriculum here. Academic courses would have to be replaced with courses such as Home Economics, Elementary Education and sundry courses usually grouped under the title of "art."

Armed guards would have to be stationed in the library in an attempt to secure silence. A new telephone center would have to be established. A mental health clinic would have to be built.

Pet rats and cockroaches would have to be allowed in the rooms of all transfer dorm students from any of the more ancient girls' to prevent any homesickness for the old alma mater.

If these considerations would not persuade one to abandon so impractical a plan, I could only point out that things would never ever be the same at Xavier again. And a better reason to adopt this plan I do not think could be found.

A Young 81

(ACP) — "When you're young and 81, it's the time to have some fun."

This was the message on a giant birthday card presented to Herbert Collier, who may be the oldest daytime college student in the nation. Collier is enrolled in Art 4B at Santa Ana College, Santa Ana, Calif.

El Don, campus newspaper, says the card's message is Collier's philosophy of life.

LETTERS

Critic's Critic

To the editor:

I am writing in regard to an article published in the April 7 edition of THE SKIFF under the ambiguous title of "Campus Critic."

The article, "Television Still Vast Wasteland," shows me only one thing that the author, Mike Martin, is criticizing something he knows very little or nothing about. I hardly think Mr. Martin is qualified to state an opinion on a subject of this nature. Unless this composition has the backing of individuals like David Sarnoff, William Paley, David Susskind, and/or Chairman Henry of the FCC, then it is debatable whether or not Mr. Martin is an authority on the subject.

Under the category of "veritable losers" Mr. Martin has classified not only the highest rated show on television today, "Beverly Hillbillies," but also several programs nominated for high awards in television this season—"The Richard Boone Show," "The Fugitive," "Dr. Kildare," etc.

With regard to Mr. Martin's criticism of the acting and script preparation on these programs, I again ask who set him up as the dictating critic of our university? If Mr. Martin had thirty years of experience in drama, writing scripts, and general all-around content of television programs, then I might be able to understand what he is doing, or thinks he is doing.

Finally, I might add that if I were Mr. Martin I would be a little more careful in my copy writing on statements that are questionable. With some research, I find no basis for the statement that Newton Minnow retracted his comment about television being a vast wasteland.

Perhaps Mr. Martin would do better if he continued with criticism of movies. I am sure he is an expert on them.

Cut-Ups! Cut Out

To the editor:

I have become increasingly alarmed about the destruction of periodicals in the Library. More articles are being cut out of these magazines all the time.

The University spends over $35,000 each year to supply these periodicals. Some single subscriptions cost up to $1200, and what happens? Someone comes along and tears pages out of these volumes for his own use.

There is no reason why this destruction should continue. The University, if it wants to protect these valuable documents, should place more severe punishment on those few immature, thoughtless, dishonest students who are ruining our library. I feel that expulsion of such students would be appropriate. Further, these people should be reported to the police for theft, which in the case of certain valuable documents would be a felony.

This suggestion may sound extreme, but it would demonstrate a concern for preservation of important educational materials and would stop their destruction.

Fascinating Summer on Schedule For University Singer at World's Fair

By SANDI MAJOR

As summer approaches, students are beginning to look for jobs, but for some, the tedious search is eliminated.

Charles Collins, Fort Worth junior, who has worked for Six Flags for the past three years, is assured of a fascinating summer.

Instead of returning to Six Flags, he will accompany the Six Flags group to the World's Fair in New York, which opens April 22 and continues to Oct. 18 this year.

A theater arts major, he sang in the Six Flags Amphitheater Show during April and June last year and finished the season singing in the Crazy Horse Saloon.

He has appeared in several University productions. He wrote, directed and appeared in last year's Howdy Week Show, "Reach for the Stars," which placed second in a national competition, the 1963 Varsity Show Competition, won by Columbia University. He also played the Prince of Aragon in "The Merchant of Venice."

As he plans to go into the professional theater at least for a while after graduation, he has had some practical experience working for Casa Manana for the last two years. He worked during the Merry-Go-Round Theater last year, and he has worked as an apprentice first, then as an assistant property manager there.

Although he tentatively plans to work at the World's Fair this year and next, he is considering returning to TCU the spring semester to appear in the "Golden Cockrell," in which he played last year.

AFROTC Cadets Visit Elgin AFB in Florida

By BILLY HARPER

Thirty-three AFROTC cadets recently made a trip to Eglin AFB, near Valparaiso, Fla. The cadets were accompanied by Maj. Chester V. Bogle, professor of Air Science.

The cadets left Carswell AFB April 1, at 2 p.m. and arrived at Eglin late that evening. Transportation was provided by a C-123 piloted by Capt. Peter J. Webber, assistant professor of Air Science.

Eglin, billed as the world's largest Air Force base, is the home of the Air Proving Ground Center and a primary base of the Air Force Systems Command.

At Eglin the cadets visited the Climatic Laboratory, where jet engines are tested and made fit for the climatic conditions in areas where they will be used. If a plane were to be used in the polar regions, it would be tested under sub-freezing conditions.

They toured the Mathematical Services Labs where computations are made for missile firings and any research data needed in the Air Force. They visited the Santa Rosa launch area where facilities for the Bomarc and Nike missiles are located. The Santa Rosa launch area is a testing center for air defense weapons.

The group received a briefing on the Special Warfare training conducted near Eglin. This is known as Counter Insurgency Training (COIN), dealing mainly with guerrilla warfare.

The trip, sponsored by the TCU Arnold Air Society, also included a demonstration of the Air Force's modern "Gatling Gun." This is a 20 mm gun, capable of firing 6000 rounds per minute, housed in the F-105 tactical fighter.

University Music Grads Show Excellent Records

Graduates of the Department of Music have made outstanding records in many musical fields, according to a recent survey by Dr. Michael Winesanker, department chairman.

They include three members of the Metropolitan Opera, a nationally known composer-conductor, the music director of National City Christian Church in Washington, and the head of the graduate department of musicology at the University of Iowa.

The University can also claim one of the leading young singers of the nation, baritone William Walker, star of several nationally televised programs and Metropolitan Opera performances.

Lou Mercella, tenor who was graduated in 1952, has sung with the Metropolitan for several years as has William Lewis, tenor who also graduated in 1952.

Sara Rhodes Hageman, who left school to sing with Italian opera companies, is now with the City Center Opera Company in New York.

Melvin Dacus, who was graduated in 1944, is now vice-president and general manager of Casa Manana, Fort Worth's famed theater in the round.

Many University graduates hold important positions in education in conjunction with musical degrees. Albert Luper, who took a Bachelor of Music degree in 1934, heads the graduate division of musicology at University of Iowa.

Others include Dr. Preston Stedman, head of the music department at Texas College of Arts and Industries; Charles Wotton, head of the piano department at Howard Payne College; Dr. Ray Luke of Oklahoma City University and Joe Bracher, instructor of Piano at University of Texas.

Unique Speech Course To Be Initiated This Summer

A unique speech course on voice problems will be offered this summer for the first time at the University.

The course is catalogued as Seminar on Voice Problems and Cleft Palate.

Mrs. Telete Z. Lawrence, University speech therapist, said the course is being offered to familiarize speech therapy students with voice problems, and as an additional graduate program in speech therapy.

The course is at the graduate level, although seniors will be allowed to sign up if they have completed 15 hours of specialized courses in speech and hearing.

"An increasing interest in voice problems in the last five years has been displayed not only in the speech field, but also in other fields dealing in communications," Mrs. Lawrence said.

"The course will be of invaluable aid not only to clinical therapists, but also to public school speech therapists in their daily contact with 'voice disorders,' she continued.

Mrs. Lawrence will teach the course, which will be offered the first summer session.

The course will be threefold: consideration of the physiology of the larynx and efficient voice production, consideration of the disorders, and consideration of therapeutic methods.

Coach Ken Crawford takes time out from his duties at Ridglea Country Club to map plans for the remainder of the season with his tennis crew.

Tennis Crew Evens Its SWC Record

TCU's tennis crew evened its Southwest Conference record at 9-9 Saturday afternoon with a 4-2 victory over Baylor at Ridglea.

The Frog bright spots came on wins by Ken Roach, Bobby Farmer, and Mike Wolff. Roach beat Baylor's Ed Williams, 6-1, 6-4; Farmer downed Bill Ford, 6-1, 6-8, 6-4; Wolff beat Keith Rollins, 6-3, 6-3; Pat McDavitt got beaten by Jack Griffin of Baylor, 6-1, 3-6, 13-11.

In doubles Roach and McDavitt bounced Ford and Griffin, 6-0, 6-3, while other Bears, Williams and Rollins, beat Frogs Farmer and Wolff, 6-8, 6-0, 6-4.

In freshman singles Baylor's Bill Bane beat Charley Williams, 6-4, 6-4.

Non-Conference Tilt

The Frogs went down to defeat Friday, however, at the hands of Southeastern Oklahoma, 4-2, in a non-conference tilt.

Results: Ike Groce (SEC) beat Ken Roach, 6-4, 3-6, 4-1 (default); Pat McDavitt beat Jim Hilliard, 6-1, 6-3; Steve Romer downed Bob Farmer, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4; Curtis Richmond (SEC) beat Mike Wolff, 6-3, 6-1; Roach and McDavitt beat Groce and Romer, 6-3, 7-5; Hilliard and Richmond beat Farmer and Wolff, 6-4, 6-2.

Ricky Williams Receives Award

Ricky Williams, a two-year letterman on the TCU football team, will be awarded a fellowship for graduate study by the "Doolittle Raiders" during their 22nd annual reunion here April 16-18.

Doctorate Aim

Williams, a 205-pound tackle, who will be graduated in May, will work toward a doctorate in chemistry with Dr. W. O. Milligan, TCU vice chancellor for research.

The survivors of the famed 1942 air strike on Japan have awarded a grant to outstanding students. Williams' award will be made at a banquet April 18 at Ridglea Country Club.

Golfers Tie SMU in Friday Tilt

TCU golfers battled their rivals from across the Trinity, SMU, to a 3-3 tie Friday afternoon on the Diamond Oaks links.

Rod Bliss of SMU beat Eddie Smith, 1 up. Albin Johnson of SMU beat John Lawson, 1 up and Smith-Lawson beat Bliss-Johnson, 1 up.

'Beans Much Better Than Glory,' Says Wog's Track Mentor Sam Ketcham

By BENNY HUDSON

"I figured beans would be better for my health than glory so I came to TCU," commented University freshman track coach Sam Ketcham.

Ketcham turned down the national AAU track finals in St. Louis, Mo., in 1962 to accept a position on the TCU athletic staff as freshman track coach and assistant ticket manager.

The meet was held on the same day he was to report to TCU and he decided the job would be more important than anything that might happen at the track meet.

While serving as an athletic trainer and track coach at Fontana High School, Fontana, Calif., Ketcham was running for the Los Angeles Striders, an amateur track team.

Winning the 220-yard dash in a Los Angeles meet, he qualified for the national AAU meet by turning in a timing of 20.8 in the event. This time was but eight-tenths of a second off the world's record for the 220 set by Dave Sime of UCLA in 1956.

Never Considered Track

Ketcham, a 1961 TCU graduate, began his athletic career at Fort Worth Tech High. He was voted all-district honors in baseball and also played basketball.

"I really didn't think much about track in high school, Ketcham said. "I liked to play baseball and I had the second base position pretty well sewed up so track naturally couldn't be my sport."

Upon graduation from Tech, Ketcham enrolled at Victoria Junior College. As a freshman he served as a trainer and played basketball.

By the time his sophomore year rolled around, Ketcham had become interested in track. That year he ran the 100-yard dash and the 220. He won both events in the Southland Conference meet with a 9.6 in the 100 and a 20.8 in the 220.

Ketcham came to the University after completing his junior college work at Victoria.

In 1960 he joined with some of the top relay men in TCU history and set school records in the sprint relay and mile relay.

Set Two TCU Marks

Bobby Bernard, Ray-Reid, Reagan Gassaway and Ketcham set a mark of 41.5 in the sprint relay. Kelly Westled, Alfred Hiser, Gassaway and Ketcham joined talents and turned in a clocking of 3:13.0 to break the school mile relay record.

Ketcham, who received his B.A. degree in education from TCU in 1961, is currently doing graduate work with the aim of some day being a high school principal.

Aggies Collect Double Revenge

By GARY TURNER

The Texas Aggies took double revenge on the Frogs last week end, for the 14-9 decision TCU handed them previously, and slapped the Purples with a one-way ride out of prestige in the conference.

A&M seemed to be as consistent as the Frogs were inconsistent as they wrapped up both conference games, 5-1, 5-1.

Friday the Aggies scored all their runs in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings and took advantage of two of the Frogs' three errors.

Single in Fifth

Jerry Ballard singled with two out in the fifth and moved to third on an error by third baseman Ronnie McLain. Peebles hit Grochett with a wild pitch and walked Koonce to load the bases. Catcher Bill Hancock singled to drive in Ballard and Grochett.

Another sophomore from Fort Worth, Lance Cobb of Paschal, opened the sixth with a double and moved to third on an error by Mike Justice. Cobb then scored on a fielders' choice.

TCU scored its lone run in the seventh when Peebles went across on another fielders' choice.

Saturday, sophomore left-hander Steve Hillhouse pitched a three-hitter as the Aggies once again trounced the hapless Frogs, 5-1.

Hillhouse, who retired 15 straight batters from the third to the eighth innings, walked four and struck out eight in running his conference pitching record to 3-1.

Aggies at 5-2

The Aggies, who now own a 5-2 record in conference play, scored all their runs of the second game in the second inning on four hits, three walks, a sacrifice fly and a TCU error. All the runs were earned off right hander Lance Brown. Brown went the distance for the Frogs and gave up nine hits.

The Frogs now hold a disappointing 1-5 conference record with nine more league games left in which to even their mark.

While the TCU varsity was being mauled by the Aggies, the Wogs were upholding Frog baseball tradition by riding the SMU Colts all over the home diamond, with victories of 20-10, and 9-5.
