

4-Laner To Cut Worth Hills?

By KAY CROSBY

Possibilities of extensive chopping up of the Worth Hills campus have arisen with proposed city street improvements.

Plans described by Public Works Director Milo Thelin include widening of Berry Street, Stadium Drive and Bellaire Drive South.

Improvements along Stadium Drive call for two lanes built on Worth Hills property. The new thoroughfare will come within 181 feet of dormitories fronting Stadium Drive.

A total of 13 acres will be chopped off along the Worth Hills campus between now and 1970.

Widening is part of the 1966 capital improvements program to be undertaken with bonds. Proposed cost is $450,000 for the acquisition of right-of-way and construction.

The improvements will begin at University Drive, go down Berry Street to Stadium Drive, follow Stadium to Bellaire Drive South and go down Bellaire to Westcliff Road.

The widening will make the streets into a divided four-lane highway. According to Thelin right-of-way along Stadium Drive will have to be purchased from the University, and he believes the University officials knew the street would have to be widened at some future date from the time they purchased the Worth Hills land.

Construction is conditionally slated to begin late in 1966, he said.

L. C. White, vice chancellor for fiscal affairs, said that when the University bought the Worth Hills property it agreed to sell the city any lands needed for public works for the price paid if notified of city needs within one year.

No notice was given within this time, so University officials made their plans for the Worth Hills dormitories to include the buildings set back with a large lawn in front of them.

According to White, the University did not expect the city to need so much land. "We hope the city will reconsider and not bring both lanes inside our tree line," he said.

Ski Trip Readying

Despite a train departure scheduled during finals, more than twice the number of students have signed up for the Games and Outings all-University ski trip than did last year.

Eighty-four students are planning to travel to Winter Park, Colo. for fun in the snow during semester break.

The group leaves the Fort Worth train depot at 2:45 Jan. 26, the last day of finals.

Some students planning on going on the trip faced the problem of finals conflicting with departure time.

"Even though the plans offer a problem for some students wanting to go on the trip, the committee felt that it was better to leave a little early than to miss a whole day's activities," said Mrs. Elizabeth Proffer, student activities director.

Eight train cars for the University students are to be attached to the regular train.

Activities planned for the travelers include skiing, ice skating, sleigh rides, after ski parties and evenings relaxing in front of the fire. A certified school is available at Winter Park for beginning skiers.

Seven ski lifts are available of various heights. Up-hill capacity is 6500 skiers per hour.

Students should take plenty of warm clothes on the trip. Lined parkas are available with hoods that can be tied securely under the chin. Woolen sweaters often are worn under the parkas to insure warmth. Levis and sweat-shirts are also popular garb for the ski slopes.

TROPHY FOR MOST TICKETS SOLD TO GREEK REVUE
This year's chairman Jim Carter and Peggye Breazeale

Campus Chest Creaks Open

Rules are laid out, so it's time to make your plans and get the 1966 Campus Chest Drive underway!

Greek Review, which highlights the week's activities, will have 15 sketches. Seven sororities and seven fraternities will enter the competition; Lambda Chi Alpha, sponsor of Greek Review, and Chi Omega, the sorority winner of the last Review, will combine their talents for the opening number.

Trophies will be awarded to the group selling the most tickets and to two fraternity and three sorority winners.

Slave Auction

Greek Review will be presented Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in Will Rogers Auditorium. Tickets sell for $1.

The Campus Chest slave auction will be Feb. 9 from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Student Center. Each organization may have two slaves. One of these may be a favorite faculty member provided he has consented before his name is submitted.

Names of slaves must be submitted by 5 p.m. Feb. 8 to the Special Functions Committee box in the Student Center. The name of the slave, the organization he represents and the definite contribution the slave will make to the purchaser must be specified.

All slaves' contributions involving work to be done in a dormitory must be done between 5 and 6 p.m. Feb. 10. By regulations of the dean of men the slaves must be escorted by a member of Student Congress or a dormitory monitor.

Office Receipts

Money from the sale of slaves will be collected at the auction. Other money collected by organizations should be turned in to the Campus Chest Trust Fund in the Business Office. Business office receipts should be given to Lois Tarbox, special functions chairman, and should contain the name of the organization.

Campus Chest Queen candidates may be nominated by any organization on campus. This is a change from an earlier rule allowing only female organizations to submit nominees. Filing fee is $1.

The candidate whose sponsoring organization contributes the most money will be named "Queen for Campus Chest Fund" and will be pictured in the annual.

Candidates will be introduced in the front of the Student Center at a time to be announced during the week. They must also submit an 8 x 10 glossy picture to be displayed on a bulletin board in the Student Center to the Student Congress office by 5 p.m. Feb. 4.

Rush Paces Spring Activities

Panhellenic spring rush is the first item on the agenda for the spring semester.

Since many of the sorority memberships are at maximum number, rush will be informal this time. The official rushing dates are Jan. 31 through Feb. 7. The groups eligible to participate cannot be determined until the end of the fall semester.

If you are interested in participating in spring rush, sign up in Sadler 109, so that the sororities can be notified of your interest.

Viet Views--By Men Most Affected

By JON LONG

Viet Nam has become the topic of the year among University ROTC cadets. Among University students, they are the ones who stand to be affected most by the events taking place there. The Skiff listened in on a bull session taking place among several advanced Army ROTC cadets at which the undeclared war in Viet Nam naturally seemed to take precedence over other matters of discussion.

Participating in the discussion were Cdt. Sgt. I.C. Byron Kelly and Cdt. S/Sgt. Gary Maklin of Fort Worth, Cdt. 1st Sgt. Craig McMullin of Dallas and Cdt. Sgt. Charles Jeffers of San Antonio—all third year ROTC students.

The cadets, all of whom had gone under contract and had been sworn into the Army Reserve, sat around a table in the Student Center snack bar after having come from a military science class.

"We should give Hanoi just one day to come to terms with us," Jeffers said. "If they don't we should annihilate North Viet Nam and not worry about world opinion. The communists have to be stopped."

The consensus of the group was that the United States has to hold the line in Viet Nam. The majority, however, were not in favor of stepping up the war effort against North Viet Nam.

Right Policy

"We're following the right military policy in Viet Nam, but I think it's too early to start thinking about a peace conference," Kelly said. "We always seem to come out at a disadvantage in settlements with the Communists. We had a peace settlement in Korea but our soldiers are still there."

The feeling is that an invasion of North Viet Nam is unnecessary. Policy should be a continuation of the bombing of strategic military targets in North Viet Nam and no peace discussions until the South Viet Nam government officials are in control. The American public, however, needs to realize that the United States could face a long, hard war.

"Right now the conflict is too equal for us to get a good settlement; we're doing well now if we just don't quit," Kelly added. "If we go to the peace table now, what are our guys dying for? If we had crossed the Yalu during the Korean War we wouldn't be having any Viet Nam now."

"We're in there and we are just going to have to give up our pretty notions and do whatever is necessary to win," Macklin said. "I don't think we can talk to the North Vietnamese about peace now. Our big problem is convincing them we're going to fight until they talk sense, not to us, but to the South Vietnamese. North Viet Nam owes us nothing, but they do owe something to South Viet Nam. They have been killing and destroying in that country for years."

McMullin was unsure about whether or not the U.S. should bomb Hanoi.

Strategic Bombing

"I feel the important thing is to keep bombing strategically and not geographically. There has been a lot of pressure lately to bomb Hanoi but military targets are more important."

"Bombing Hanoi won't work," Macklin added. "Hitler thought bombing London would end the war in two weeks but it just hardened British determination. People don't think nice thoughts about you when you're dropping bombs on them."

There was more concern over China's role in the war than that of the Soviet Union.

"Russia seems to be heading toward our side and not China's," Jeffers said. "Russia will be closer to capitalism in ten years although probably under a different name."

"Viet Nam is a main link in our line of defense in the Far East," Kelly said. "If we get out now, the other Asian countries would have to go along with China because it would be the only power left."

Can't Understand

"I just can't understand the minds of the people we're fighting," Macklin said. "When they shot at our destroyers a couple of years ago, the President told them not to try it again. They did and we destroyed practically their whole navy in one bombing raid. They know we can destroy them (North Viet Nam), but they keep pushing the Viet Cong on."

The war in Viet Nam is getting closer to Army ROTC cadets. Advanced cadets who graduate will receive a commission and perhaps later, an assignment to Viet Nam. Also, former members of the cadre are now serving there.

"I think there's a good chance we might go there," McMullin said. "I guess it worries me a little but probably no more than it does anyone else."

"We all know guys in Viet Nam—Johnson, Schenker, Col. Swango (referring to Sgt. I. C. Jesse Johnson, S/Sgt. Herbert Schenker and former P.M.C. Lt. Col. John V. Swango)," Kelly said.

"I have a lot of respect for Col. Swango," McMullin added. "He had been there once before and yet he asked for it again. It makes me feel good knowing men like him are over there."

Congress To Request Lowered Speed Limit

By DAVID B. STEVENS

After much discussion, argument, joking and laughter, Student Congress passed a resolution for the posting of a 25 mph speed zone on University Drive between Berry and Cantey Streets.

The resolution will be presented to Fort Worth officials for consideration and action. Evening College Student Congress originated the idea because it felt there is a greater chance for accidents at night.

Jim Sawyer, Evening College representative, who presented the motion, said the city would not post a regular 20 mph school speed zone because even the high schools of Fort Worth didn't warrant speed zones.

The unusual speed of 25 mph would attract motorists attention to the pedestrian area.

Difficult Maneuver

Some members of Congress said, however, that a reduction in speed would make crossing the street a more difficult maneuver than it now is. It was also noted that TCU is the only large school in the city that has a major thoroughfare through the center of its campus.

The city has previously declined to place a traffic light along University Drive.

In other Congress action, a motion was presented by the executive committee to abolish Congress's holding of the election for Mr. and Miss TCU, but that any organization, such as the Horned Frog could assume the elections if it chose. Congress would offer its facilities for holding elections to any group that assumes the election, if such services were desired.

Congress Opinion

It is the feeling of Student Congress President John McDonald that favorite elections are not part of the function of a legislative student government.

The Congress member said Congress is the "only one qualified to hold such elections." Another member stated that Congress was "possibly giving away another one of its responsibilities."

One of the main objections to the favorites election was that the favorites had no responsibility in their offices.

The motion failed, and Congress agreed to keep favorite elections a Student Congress function.

Cadet Drill Units Compete

The climax of a semester of drill for a cadet flight is the drill competition among other flights at the end of the semester.

So, Thursday became the day of reckoning for the Air Force drill units marching in competition on the intramural field. Six regular cadet units, a Summer Training Unit, and the Angel Flight marched in a fixed series of drill movements within a designated area, approximately 100 feet square.

The main purposes of the drill competition are to evaluate the performance of the cadets in corps training, to serve as an incentive for maintenance of high performance throughout the semester, and to provide recognition for the outstanding unit.

This was the first formal drill competition held among the flights and more are planned for the spring. The judges were cadet officers in the headquarters command.

The result of the competition will be used in determining the outstanding unit, which receives a ribbon at Awards Day in the spring.

Coed Swim Team Due In Future

Women competitive swimmers are wanted for the University's woman's swim team to participate in an Intercollegiate Swimming Meet scheduled by Texas Woman's University on Saturday, Feb. 26. The event will be sponsored by the Women's Sports Association.

J. Phillip Brouger, Frog swimming coach, has offered to help condition the women by supervising workouts from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays during the month of February.

Those interested and who have experience, are asked to call Mrs. Janet Murphy, ext. 301, or leave their name and phone number at the gym.

The University also sponsors a Coed Synchronized Swimming Team which has just recently been accepted by the Activities Council. They are planning to present a water show sometime this spring.

Spring Registration Set For Jan. 31 at Coliseum

Spring registration will be Jan. 31 to Feb. 2.

Calvin A. Cumbie, registrar, said the first meeting of classes is set for Feb. 3.

The complex alphabetical schedule of registration for the University's day schools and colleges will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each of the three days. Evening college registration will be the same dates but from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

All students are required to register at Daniel-Meyer Coliseum in person. Students entering for the first time must report to the ballroom of the Student Center at 8 a.m. on Jan. 31 for testing and orientation.

Students re-enrolling after a period of non-attendance must report to the University's admissions office prior to registration.

Class schedules and information booklets are available in the registrar's office in Sadler Hall.

Religious Culture Subject Of Minister's Week Lecture

"Culture Religion or Religious Culture" will be the first lecture in the annual Minister's Week on Jan. 17.

Dr. Theodore Floyd Adams, minister of the First Baptist Church in Richmond, Va., will deliver the first of three lectures at 8 p.m. in University Christian Church.

Dr. James M. Moudy, University chancellor, will preside over an evening worship service in the church's sanctuary preceding the lesson.

Dr. Adams, a native of New York and recipient of The Upper Room citation for outstanding leadership in World Christian Fellowship in 1960 and the National Brotherhood Citation of 1964 from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will speak on "A Spiritual Yardstick" in his second lesson on Tuesday.

Final Discussion

His final discussion Wednesday will be "Making the Most of Your Freedom" in the lectures founded in 1943 by an annual gift from the East Dallas Christian Church in honor of a former minister.

Author of a number of books and many articles in religious publications, Dr. Adams was ordained in 1924 as a Baptist clergyman. He worked with congregations in Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio, prior to accepting his current position in Richmond in 1936. A frequent lecturer on marriage, the home and pastoral problems, he has been a member of the Southern Baptist Convention's foreign mission board during 1940-50 and since 1961. He was president of the Baptist World Alliance from 1955 to 1966.

Received Degree

Dr. Adams received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Denison University in Ohio, and his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Rochester Theological Seminary. He holds Doctor of Divinity degrees from the University of Richmond, Denison University, College of William and Mary, Baylor University, Washington and Lee, and Stetson University.

The annual Minister's Week, which dates back to Disciples lectureships about 1890, will begin with registration from 2-5 p.m. on Jan. 17 in the office of Brite Divinity School. More than 500 ministers from the three state area of Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma are expected to attend the three-day event.

Journalists Take to Road

Journalism Department and Skiff personnel are keeping the highways and skyways warm this month—with conferences in South Texas.

Lewis C. Fay, assistant professor of journalism will attend the mid-winter meeting of Texas Associated Press Managing Editors in Corpus Christi Jan. 22 and 23. He has been invited to take part in a seminar dealing with newspaper recruitment.

Bill Lace, newly-elected Skiff editor for the spring semester, and Lynn Garland, retiring news editor of the paper, will represent the University at the mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio Jan. 28 and 29.

The student editors will attend the meeting as the guests of the Association, and by invitation of its president and general manager. Purpose, as stated by Vern Sanford, general manager, is to afford the students an opportunity to learn of the Association's functions and activities.

Solution for Frantic Finals?

Semester end is approaching, as are late night studying and procrastinating. Still the reports aren't done, pages not read, and disappointing grades are at hand.

Not much can be done this late, but many students will look back over their classes, either wishing they had attended them or at least listened! In true defense fashion, many of them will transfer blame to the professor—for the poor way he conducts his classes, for requiring students to be there.

A college in Illinois has heeded some students and instigated a program in which freshmen will not have to attend classes or receive grades for their next four years.

Dr. Donald A. E. Bartlett, responsible for the Lake Forest College experiment, said the program was begun because "there are always some students for whom course structures are too limiting."

The many advantages of this program include freedom to determine one's own pleasure-study time, to learn as much or as little as he chooses, and to remove "the sheepskin curtain between faculty and students."

Also the final work in a student's major is judged by a committee of experts in that particular field. And proponents argue that left to his own devices, a student will study more than if he were in class.

Such an experiment works, but only when students capable of accepting the responsibility are in it. Even at the college where this is being tried, only 24 students were picked—students whose tests indicated they were capable of "independent activity."

It's our bet that those soulfully fearing finals aren't the ones capable of "independent activity."

So it's back to the books!

University Officials Protest Closing of Mexican Consulate

By DANNY LATTIMORE

University officials recently protested to the Mexican government the proposed closing of the Fort Worth Mexican consulate.

Mexican consul S. M. Pereyra announced last week that the Mexican consulate in Fort Worth will close Jan. 31.

The consulate, which is located in the W. T. Waggoner Building, is being closed for economic reasons according to Pereyra.

In response to the announced closing of the consulate, TCU has sent a letter to Antonio C. Flores, secretary of foreign affairs for the Mexican government, asking him to reconsider.

Greatly Concerned

In part the letter states, "We have been truly astonished to see on the front page of the Fort Worth Star Telegram this afternoon, an article indicating that the Mexican government is planning to close the Mexican consulate here in Fort Worth on the thirty-first of this month."

"We are greatly concerned about this decision because TCU, which now has an enrollment of some 10,000 students and more than 400 professors, has for many years enjoyed the cultural exchange between Mexico and the United States, a program which has been facilitated and stimulated by the existence of the Mexican consulate here in Fort Worth.

"In fact, for several years (1950-1952) the Dean of our College of Arts and Sciences performed the duties of honorary Mexican consul in Fort Worth.

All Due Respect

"If there is no objection, therefore, with all due respect we ask that the Mexican Government take the aforementioned facts into consideration, and that it decide that the consulate shall continue to function in Fort Worth in order to take advantage of, and to strengthen even more, the cultural relations which exist between our respective countries."

According to Dr. Jerome A. Moore, Dean of AddRan College, the University wrote the letter because "we feel that the cultural exchange programs through the University have been aided by having a Mexican consulate in Fort Worth and we feel that the University should have a voice in civic matters such as this."

Some of the programs with Mexico in which the University has participated include TCU summer school in Mexico; Easter vacation trips to Monterrey, Mexico City, and Acapulco; and joint publication of books dealing with the cultural heritage of Mexico and the United States with Monterrey Tech.

K.C. at the Bat

The Plague Strikes

By KATHI CLOUGH

Although we've prayed to be delivered from it, the mania for "As the World Turns" has finally hit campus.

For those of you who are unfamiliar with the subject, "As the World Turns" is a daily soap-opera type television show about a group of people who consistently get into the most awful situations you can imagine.

We remember back many years ago when Penny and Ellen, two of the show's stars, were average American teenage girls. Since that time Ellen has grown up to have one illegitimate child, now an average American teenage boy, and one short marriage. Penny has been married twice. Her first husband was killed shortly after their marriage in a car wreck in which Penny was seriously injured. She is now married to the illegitimate son of the family doctor.

Bob, Penny's brother, has also been married once and divorced. In between battles for their soyug son, his former wife manages to disappear for long periods of time. She was recently secretly married and the child is currently living with Bob.

Up to Date

To bring you up to date, Ellen was recently planning to marry David, who had adopted her son who doesn't know that Ellen is actually his mother. Because David's housekeeper threatened to tell her son that Ellen is actually his mother, Ellen bopped her over the head with a statuette and is currently being held for murder.

Just average family problems—problems that have been going on for better than ten years now. And we know people who haven't missed one episode in all that time.

Real People

Anyway, as luck would have it, it's become a big thing on campus now. Depressing thought.

The way some of our friends talk about the show's characters you'd never know they weren't discussing real people. We walked in during a highly emotional conversation the other day.

UT Victims 'Washed Out'

At least 15 University of Texas students have met a watery end as they fall victim to the "thrill-kill" drama in Austin.

"The 10th Victim," starring Ursula Andress and Marcello Mastroianni, is the story of life during the 21st century in which half the people are hunters and half victims. Victims and hunters are matched by computers, making death—like birth—a chance affair.

The international effort is to eliminate anxiety, war, and birth control by legalizing murder, according to the movie.

However, UT students are fearing only soggy showdowns as weapons are restricted to water pistols, spray guns, water bombs, and glasses of water.

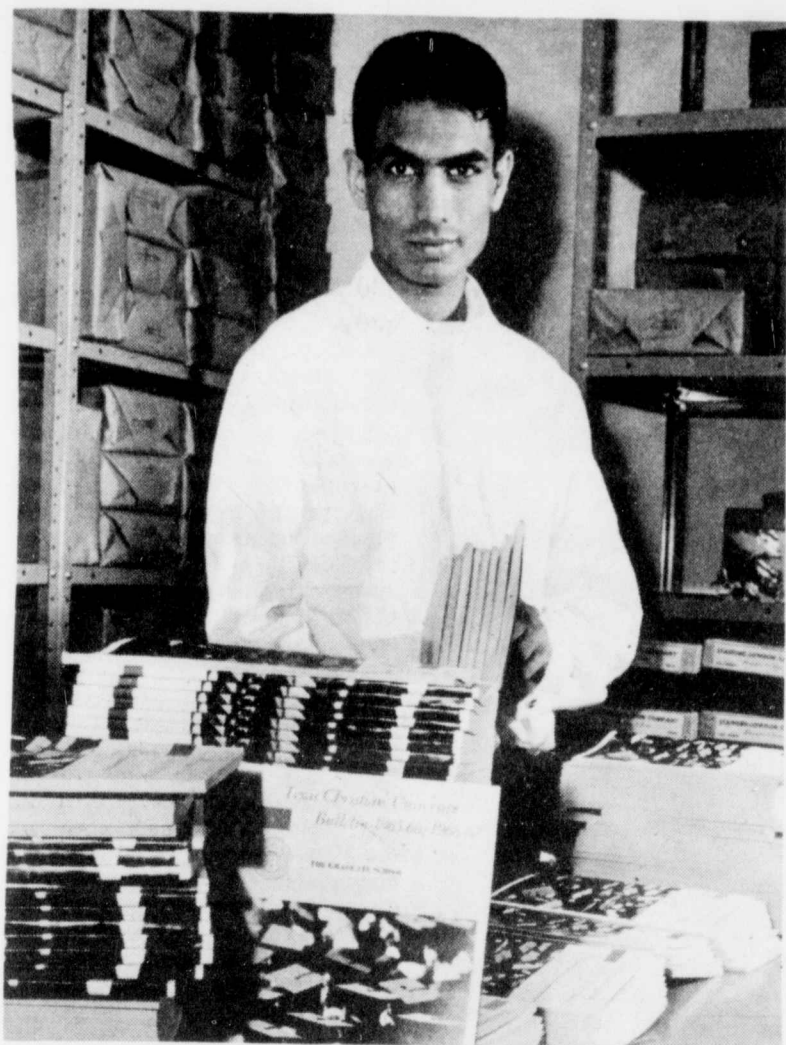

The Daily Texan counted about 50 students involved in the squirt-and-miss game, most of whom have taken to wearing plastic bags, smearing grease over their faces, and hiding behind doors to dodge the squirt.

PAKISTANI STUDENT COMMENTS ON AMERICAN LIFE
Anees Abbas, honor student working in printing and mailing

Pakistani Notices Custom Variations

By SUSAN GREGG

Anees Abbas, a junior engineering major from Lahore, Pakistan, considers Americans the friendliest people in the world. The most striking difference Abbas notices between the Pakistani way of life and the American way of life is food. "Pakistani food is highly spiced, and it took a little time to become accustomed to the mildly spiced American foods. Now that I am used to American food, I really enjoy it, and eat great quantities, but the first few days here were difficult," Abbas said.

Different Tea

The large amount of iced tea that is served here seems quite different to Abbas who is accustomed to drinking hot tea. "Since I have been in this country, I have started drinking Cokes and coffee, and don't bother with tea bags," he said.

Abbas said that there are two different types of schools in Pakistan. "The public schools are modeled after the English school system. These are similar to private schools in the United States. Grammar schools in Pakistan are similar to the public schools in the United States. Most students attend the public schools."

Similar Government

The governmental system of Pakistan is similar to that in the United States. Abbas said "The governor administers the state with the help of the Council of Ministers. The nation is governed by a president and a parliamentary type legislature. The president is elected for five years."

Abbas, who comes from a seat of state legislature, is a member of Student Congress and a member of the Congressional Relations committee of Congress. He is the Evening College representative. He is a member of Vigilantes, International Friendship Club, and is participating in the University Honors Program.

More than 150 new cars and nine beauties were seen at the seventh annual Fort Worth Auto Show. And two of the nine hostesses who appeared are TCU coeds.

The two TCU maids of honor to "Miss Auto Show," Sharon Kay Terrill, Arlington State sophomore, are Theresa McLaughlin and Susan Light.

Miss McLaughlin was a 1965 maid of honor. She is a sophomore business education major from Fort Worth, and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and Angel Flight.

Miss Light is a freshman from Oklahoma City. The government major is a Delta Delta Delta pledge, a member of the Spanish Club, and Howdy Week queen.

From pictures of the many contestants 30 girls were chosen for the final judging at Ridglea Country Club at the New Car Dealers Association luncheon Jan. 4. The 21 members of the Association were judges, and each company had two votes. The final judging was a modeling contest. As maids of honor Terry and Susan received charms and were employed as official hostesses at the show.

The auto show has been an annual event here since 1960 and is the only show at which the public can see all the new models of cars under one roof at the same time. The show was staged at Will Rogers Exhibits Building Sunday through Tuesday.

Gloves and Mittens Save Rough Hands

Cold weather is rough on hands; and what coed wants rough hands?

If you don't go in for corn husker's lotions or extra bottles of creams, you may find a solution in mittens or gloves instead of the usual coat pockets.

Mittens may sound a little

Talk Not So Cheap After All

Many coeds receiving yellow envelopes with windows in the mail before or after the holidays considered them anything but Christmas presents.

It seems that these envelopes contained one of the coed's nightmares—phone bills. Much to the chagrin of too many coeds, the bills often had three digits before the decimal.

One coed was seen carefully pulling the bill from her post office box and hiding it in a book. She whispered to her neighbor that she couldn't stand to open it until she was in the privacy of her room where she could either faint or scream.

"youngish" but they still serve the same purpose and are coming into vogue again. Mittens are made in fuzzy synthetics, soft wools, and snugly furs. Some come above the wrist and up to the elbow to insure warmth.

Mittens seem to lend themselves to designed fabrics more than gloves. They can be found in stripes, checks, and other patterns.

Gloves, of course, are a must for every coed's accessory wardrobe. Beside long twelve-button gloves for formal events, there are gloves of every other length for all occasions.

Along with the usual cotton gloves, there are leathers, knits, synthetics, and patterns. Some are lined with fur or silk and others are trimmed or embroidered.

Whether you try mittens or stay with gloves, you'll notice the difference in your hands and will have added one or more finishing touch to your wardrobe.

GINGHAM AND FINISHED CORDUROY FROM SEWING CLASS
Gail Dauphin and Ruth Ann Brown model their dresses

From drawing board to fashion show—that was the trip made by the dress designs of 35 flat pattern design and apparel production students.

Students enrolled in these home economics courses taught by Mrs. Lorraine Simpson and Mrs. Soae Paek started from "scratch" and finished by modeling their own creations in a fashion show they sponsored jointly in the Student Center ballroom Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Paek taught the girls the basic pattern types with special emphasis on style and fit. The students took these basic patterns and devised their own patterns for their dresses. The instructors then supervised the construction of a basic gingham that was used to decide fit.

The students began by sketching the design for the outfit they wished to make. Next they cut out a pattern and fitted it to themselves. Fabric was chosen along with color, texture, print, trim, and possible ideas for accessories.

From the drawing board and scissors, the dresses went to the hand work, and finishing touches.

They planned the show, decided on decorations and accessories, and coordinated the final presentation.

The show, which will become a bi-annual event, had "The Tree of Fashion" as its theme. Spring orientated decorations which included a flower-decked archway were from Casa Manana.

The fashion presentation was divided into four categories—leisure, casual, daytime, and late date. Outfits shown included jumpers, shifts, hostess gowns, and two-piece ensembles.

Winner Will Be Entered In National Competition

Glamour Magazine and The Skiff want to know who's the best dressed coed on the University campus.

Glamour's 1966 contest for the Ten Best-dressed College Girls in America, now in its tenth year, is underway. This year 100 young women will be listed as best-dressed winners. Last year 301 colleges in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Canada submitted entries.

Glamour lists ten qualifications for choosing the University's Best dressed candidate for the national competition. She should have a clear understanding of her fashion type, a workable wardrobe plan, a suitable campus look, an appropriate look for off-campus occasions, an individuality in her use of colors and accessories, and an imagination in managing a clothes budget. The list continues with good grooming, well-kept hair, deft use of make-up, and good figure and posture qualifications. An added attribute to be considered is poise.

National Winners

A panel of Glamour editors selects the national winners by using the same list of qualifications used to choose local winners and pictures submitted by the nominating college.

The Ten Best-dressed College Girls will receive national recognition for themselves and their colleges in the August College Issue of Glamour and in newspapers throughout the country. They will receive an all-expense-paid visit to New York from May 30 to June 11. A special party will be held in the winners' honor to present them to over 1000 members of the fashion industry. They will be shown New York, taken to famous restaurants, theaters, and cultural centers. They will also be entertained at fashion shows, luncheons and dinners.

Nominations Due

All best-dressed contestants will receive a certificate of merit for their participation in the contest. A selected number of young women will be chosen as Special and or Honorable Mention winners. Their pictures will appear in an issue of Glamour.

Nominations for the University's Best-dressed Coed are to be turned in to the Skiff office by 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 8. Any recognized campus organizations, including clubs, sororities, classes, or dormitories, may submit a candidate.

Five finalists will be chosen at a tea Feb. 14. The winner will be announced in a subsequent edition of the Skiff.

Next year let TCU be one of the best-dressed. Last year colleges represented were Salve Regina, Bryn Mawr, Marymount, Smith, Mississippi, Wells, Wisconsin, Penn State, Pembroke, Mount St. Mary's.

Stage Band To Compete In Mobile Jazz Festival

By BECKY GARDNER

TCU's stage band, under the direction of graduate student Curtis Wilson, has been selected one of six collegiate bands to compete in the first Mobile Jazz Festival April 2-3 in Mobile, Ala.

Chosen on the basis of a 20-minute taped performance, the group will vie for top honors at the event, which will focus national attention on outstanding musicians and educators in America. The festival is to be hosted by Spring Hill College, and activities will be covered by the American Broadcasting Company, as well as by national magazines and news services.

The 20-member stage band meets twice a week for one and one-half hour sessions in the non-credit class, under the guidance of James A. Jacobsen, University band director. Wilson, however, has been official director for three of the five years the band has been active.

Winners Featured

Winners of the festival, divided into bands, vocalists, combos and instrumentalists, will be featured on television programs immediately following the competition and in larger national music festivals during the summer.

The band is planning to travel to Mobile by bus and will play before an estimated 32,000 persons during the two-day event. National radio broadcasts will be made of the various groups, and representatives of several recording companies will be present looking for new talent.

"The distinct honor of being one of six bands invited to participate in the festival is of great significance to us in that it gives real recognition to jazz as one of the fine arts," Jacobsen said.

Judges for the festival will include such well-known "music men" as Skitch Henderson of the "Tonight" show; George Wein of the Newport Jazz Festival; and Jerry Gray, former arranger for the Glenn Miller orchestra.

The national advisory board is composed of Dave Brubeck, Pete Fountain, Jerry Gray, Skitch Henderson, Al Hirt, Henry Mancini, Dan Morgenstern, Peter Nero, Ward Swingle and Cal Tjader.

The band is currently making plans for raising about $700 needed to finance transportation.

Medical Assistants Program Continues

Part Four of a medical assistants program, offered through the special courses division, will begin Jan. 17, with a course in "Sterilization and Examination Room Techniques."

The three-year program, planned to prepare medical assistants for certification, is coordinated by Dr. Virginia Vollmer, assistant professor of nursing at Texas Woman's University School of Nursing in Dallas. She was recently cited by the Tarrant County Medical Assistants Society for her efforts for continuing education.

Mrs. Cecilia McWright of Dallas, a certified medical assistant in clinical and administrative services, will conduct the six-week course. Lectures, films and equipment demonstrations will be included.

Registration for Part IV will be held at 7 p.m. on Jan. 17 in Room 112 of Winton-Scott Hall. Tuition of $10 will be payable at that time, according to C. Dennis Schick, University director of special courses.

The course will meet from 7:30 to 9:45 p.m. Mondays, and the session will be concluded Feb. 21.

Part V of the series, "Orientation to Clinical Laboratory Techniques" will be offered later in the spring, Director Schick announced.

AFROTC Pilots Receive FAA Licenses

Gordon C. Blevins and Philip C. Bechtel were the first two pilots in the AFROTC Flight Instruction Program to receive FAA licenses this semester.

Blevins and Bechtel received their licenses Jan. 7 and Jan. 4. Each received them with five hours less flying time than is normally required.

Ten other Air Force cadets are enrolled in the program and all have soloed, according to Capt. Peter J. Webber.

Student Nominations Due

Faculty nominations of students for membership of the Select Series Committee are due Jan. 28.

Nominations should be returned to Dr. George Reeves, faculty chairman of the committee.

"We are anxious to obtain representation from as many different fields as possible. We also need students who have a broad general background in academic work and an interest in cultural events," Dr. Reeves said.

The committee, consisting of students and faculty members, chooses the performers to appear on Select Series.

Dr. Reeves suggests that student members of the committee not be overloaded with extra-curricular activities as the committee meets and works regularly.

This Sportin' Life

By BILL LACE

Baseball may not be better than ever at TCU this year, but there will certainly be more of it. This season has been expanded from the usual 24 games to 30. As of now, the schedule is incomplete with two more games needed to fill the list.

If Coach Frank Windegger's luck, or lack of it, holds up, this might mean just six more games to be rained out. Last year the Frogs had about one dry day of practice in the first two months of workouts, and innumerable games were postponed by bad weather.

The 1965 conference opener against SMU was originally set for mid-March, rained out, and reset for April. April showers forced a second postponement until May. In May . . . well, you can see what kind of a season it was.

Wet or Cold

Even when the weather was sunny, it was often too cold for diamond activity. The first Baylor game last March was reset in deference to a sudden cold front that sent temperatures plummeting into the low 30's.

Windegger probably is hoping now that Mother Nature doesn't turn out to be a tease. This has been one of the mildest Januarys in the city's history and if the fair weather carries over into next month, the baseballers and coaches will be all smiles.

If examples from the past can be considered a valid criterion, however, we predict that it will rain for three solid months (Sundays and holidays excepted) and that the sun will shine only on days when the high temperature is less than 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

No Place for Tanning

Keep all this in mind when you have thoughts about putting on shorts and tennis shoes and strolling to our nameless (still???) baseball field in hopes of getting a tan. Pneumonia would be a much better bet.

The basketball team thankfully doesn't have to worry about the weather. This is a good thing because they have plenty to worry about without it.

Whistling while you work may be okay for the seven dwarfs but not for the five giants on a basketball court, especially when the ref's holding the whistle. The Frogs' performance against Baylor last week points up just what a flock of fouls can do to a team.

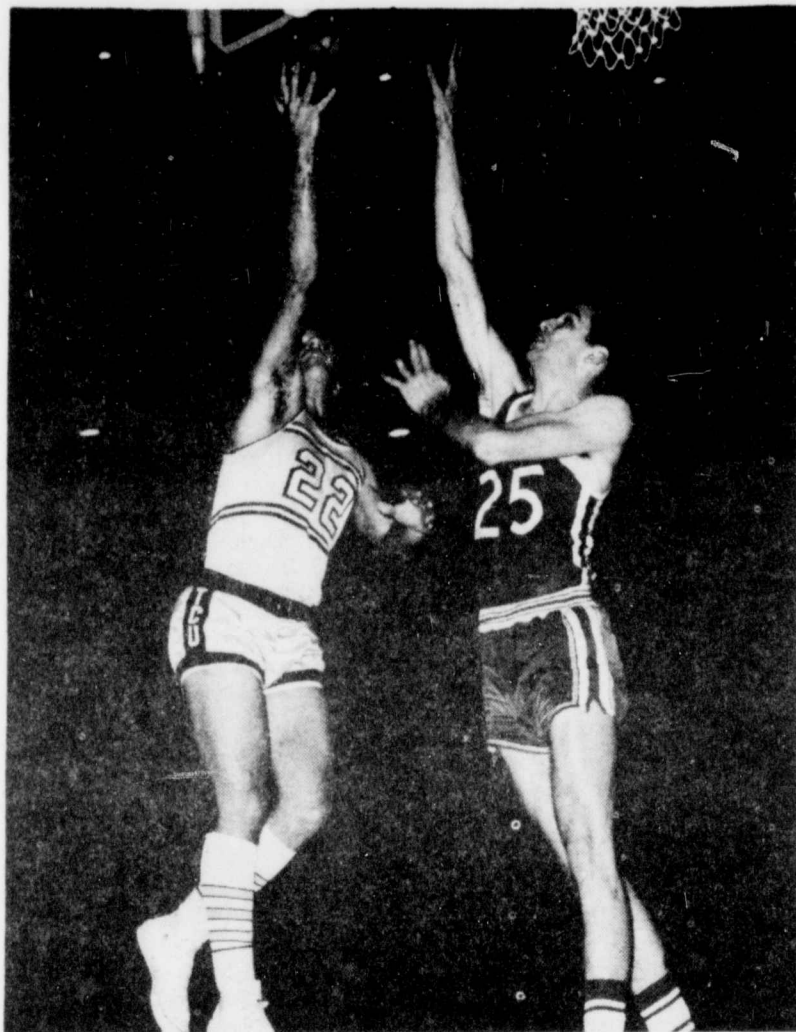

Foul or Fair

The Christians started their foul play early in the game and had their prime rebounders shackled with three personals before halftime, allowing Darrell Hardy of the Bears to work with more abandon under the boards.

With your big men having to play it close to the vest, it is essential to have adequate support from outside. The lack of a steady game in this department doomed the Frogs in Waco.

Both Wayne Kreis and Rich Sauer have had good games, but have failed to be consistent. Both had a bad night in Waco with disastrous results.

And it's as ironclad a rule as the Pythagorean theorem that if you can't work freely under the bucket and can't get the outside shots, you can't score many points. And if you can't score points, friend, you can't win basketball games.

The Frogs' Wayne Kreis goes up for two points against Rice's Mike Inselmann in the second half of Tuesday's victory over the Owls. Staff photo by John Miller.

Intramural Roundup

Air Force, SAE and Phi Kappa Sigma won their second games of the season this week to move into first place in their respective leagues.

GREEKS

In Tuesday's big game, SAE led throughout the game to down Phi Delta Theta, 57-53. The SAE's led at the half, 29-18, but the Phi Delt's narrowed the gap to three points in the fourth period before the final gun. Gary Luskie was the SAE's leading scorer with 12. Bill Tillman had 10, and John Tom Williams and Joe Ball had seven apiece. Novice Nicholson led the Phis with 22, while Ron Jenkins, Bill Justice and Gary Lee had seven each. The loss dropped the Phi Delt record to 0-2.

In the highest scoring game of the season, Phi Kappa Sigma ran past Sigma Phi Epsilon, 74-49. Dave Wheeler had 25 points for the Phi Kaps, the highest single game performance this year. Darrell Lester added 14, and Harold Rambusch had 11 for the Phi Kaps. Darrell McNutt led the Sig Eps with 24 points.

The next games in the Greek league will be played on Feb. 3 with Phi Delta Theta playing Sigma Chi, and Kappa Sigma playing Sigma Phi Epsilon. Daniel-Meyer Coliseum will be the site of several Greek league games next semester, with the first games to be played on Feb. 8.

INDEPENDENTS

After a close first half, Air Force pulled away in the second half to beat Clark Dorm, 57-42. At halftime, Air Force led by four, 25-21. The third period made the difference as Clark scored just seven points, while Air Force hit 17. Greg Campbell led Air Force in scoring with 19, while Steve Meltzer hit 15. Doug Beat-

Kilgore Trips Wogs

The TCU Wogs, playing a stalling game, lost a 47-42 decision to Kilgore Junior College in Kilgore Wednesday.

High point man for the frosh in the low-scoring affair was James Cash with 12 points.

The Wogs are now 1-3 for the season.

ly had 13 for Clark and Shan Ertel scored nine. Air Force now has a 2-0 record in the Monday independent league, while Clark is 0-2.

DSF won its first game of the season, trouncing the Vigilantes, 63-30. Richard Donley had 12 for DSF while Charles Clauson and Bill Mackie had eight each. Bill Miller had 12 points and Larry Schneider had 10 for the Vigies.

Junior College Transfer Key Man in Frogs' Plans

By JAY LANGHAMMER

The Frogs' "mystery man" finally came out in the open Wednesday night. The Purples' junior college transfer Jess Evans had his best game, hitting 23 points to lead TCU past Rice, 97-79. His previous high had been 17 points against Oklahoma City.

The Ontario, Calif. native spent the last two years displaying his talents at Chaffey Junior College in Alta Loma, Calif., where he averaged 24.7 points a game, including a high of 45 in one game.

"The main reason I came to TCU was the fact that I have some relatives living here. They told Coach Brannon about me and I visited the campus last year. I finally decided on TCU about two weeks before school started," he said. Other schools that offered him scholarships were Utah, Arizona, Montana State, San Diego State, Long Beach State, Los Angeles State, and Fresno State.

Fans Different

Commenting on the difference in junior college and college ball, Evans said, "The main difference is that instead of one or two good players on each team, the college teams usually have five". He also said that the spectators in

FROG FORWARD JESS EVANS Twenty-three points against Rice

Second SWC Win

Frogs Crunch Rice by 97-79

By MIKE FOSTEL

The TCU roundballers retire for final examinations sporting a 2-1 record for Southwest Conference play.

The second conference win came Tuesday night in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum when the Horned Frogs, led by high-scoring forwards Jess Evans and Mickey McCarty, bombed the Owls of Rice University, 97-79. Evans shook the basket for a total of 23 points while McCarty tallied 21 points.

The game started slowly as Rice took the tipoff before a meager audience of 1,974. The TCU defense was tight and Rice had to earn every point they made, but an Owl timeout with 8:25 left in the first half showed TCU holding only a one-point lead, 26-25.

Frogs Get Hot

The Horned Frogs caught fire during the last eight minutes, however, and thanks to some 10 personal fouls committed by the Owls, left the court at halftime with an 11-point lead of 51-40 that was never to be seriously contested.

Through the first half of play, Rice hit on 18 of 42 field goal attempts for a percentage of 42.9, while TCU scored on 18 of 40 attempted for a percentage of 45.0.

Margin Spreads

Throughout the second half the 11-point lead held its own, with Rice coming no closer than nine points several times in the segment. Rice committed 13 more personal fouls allowing TCU to basket 16 points in 21 attempts during the half.

The scoreboard's story when Rice called for a timeout with 2:51 left in the game was one of happiness for the Frog fans with TCU leading 90-75.

Coach Buster Brannon sent a team of substitutes in for action with 36 seconds remaining, and when the final buzzer sounded it was a clear Frog victory with an 18-point lead, 97-79.

Doug McKendrick was high-point man for the Owls with 18. Rice hit on 33 of 78 field goal attempts for a percentage of 45.2, and shook the basket on 13 out of 16 free throw attempts. They picked off a total of 50 rebounds and committed 23 personal fouls in the course of the game.

The Horned Frogs scored on 33 of 68 field goal attempts, averaging 48.5 per cent. They hit pay dirt on 31 of 38 free throw tries and grabbed 35 rebounds. The Frogs chalked up 11 personal fouls.

Defense Tough

Mickey McCarty, when asked how he felt about the Frogs' performance, said "I think we played a good game. Everybody tried real hard. Our defense was the best it's ever been."

Since the Frogs will be out of action until examinations are over, McCarty was asked if he thought the Frogs would let down before the Jan. 27 non-conference match in Houston with the University of Houston. "No, I think we will be up for the game. We won't let finals get us down."

Texas don't like basketball as much as the fans in California.

The Frogs' decision over the Owls gave the team a 4-8 mark for the season. Evans said, "We've been too inconsistent this year and we've lost too many close games that we should have won."

At the start of the season, Evans and Mickey McCarty shaved their heads, giving them the appearance of two Mr. Cleans. "I guess it was my idea. Everyone was supposed to do it but Coach Brannon stopped it," Evans commented.

Bowling Ace

Evans, an undeclared major, is also an outstanding bowler who once hit 297. His other interests include golf, cars and music. Another sport which he would like to pursue if he can get his father's permission is sky diving. He is called "Zeke" by his teammates and picked up the nickname when he first arrived on campus because he combed his hair—he had some then—like pro great Jerry West.

The Frog roundballers will take it easy for about two weeks to study for final exams, before traveling to Houston to play the University of Houston Cougars, who beat the Purples earlier in the campaign. That game will be played on Jan. 27 with a conference game against SMU coming two days later in Dallas.
